heights aimed for, it will suffer by comparison with Californian production until such time as more attention is paid to scenario preparation. Here we have a charming romantic story, musicalized, of a princess whose country is in the throes of a revolution. She has received an offer of marriage from the king of another small continental country and, although she has never seen him, she accepts, in a spirit of loyalty on the representation to her such an alliance will save her people.

A stern, handsome, woman-hating naval officer is sent by the neighboring king to escort the princess to his country. Commander arrives while they are in the midst of a serious uprising and, in order to save the princess from being slaughtered, marries her at the embassy of his own country. As the wife of the country to which he belongs, the populace would render themselves liable to annihilation if they harmed her. Commander then escorts her to his king, who declares it will be a mere formality to annul the wedding and asks the naval officer to sign such an annulment. He refuses and he and the princess escape across the frontier.

Whole thing is neatly and amusingly worked out through the medium of Evelyn Laye as the princess, George Grossmith as the king, Yvonne Arnaud as his 'favored lady' and Max Miller as a wisecracking insurance agent who turns out in the end to be an escaped lunatic.

But the picture finishes with the lovers escaping across the border. Nothing is said of what becomes of them—whether the princess returns to reign over her own country, or whether the naval commander, having lost his job, ever gets another one.

Evelyn Laye is beautiful, sings well and is a definite draw here. Yvonne Arnaud's laugh is such a satisfactory chuckle that one is always with her and never against. Grossmith has played this type of monarch so often he can do it admirably standing on his head. He did the same part in the original stage version in New York. This Max Miller fellow, recruited from the variety stage, is forging rapidly to the front in pictures. He registers marvelously. There is a very funny satire on Hitler played by Ivor Barnard.

Picture is certain to yield a handsome profit on its native soil. Jolo.

DRUMS O' VOODO

(NEGRO CAST)

Produced by Louis Weiss, presented by Robert Mintz, released by International. J. August Smith and Laura Bowman featured. Directed by Arthur Hoerl. From play, 'Louisiana,' by Smith. Walter Strenge and J. Burgi Contner, photogs. At Loew's Seventh Ave., New York, week, May 11. Running time, 70 mins.

Aunt Hagar	Laura Bowman
Amos Berry	Augustus Smith
Myrtle Simpson	Edna Barr
Ebenezer	Lionel Monagas
Thomas Catt	Morris McKinney
Deacon Dunson	A. B. Comathiere
Sister Knight	Alberta Perkins
Brother Zero	Fred Bonney
Deacon August	Paul Johnson
Sister Marguerite	Trixie Smith
Sister Suzan	Carrie Hunt

All-Negro feature, cheaply produced and looking it; also badly acted. Fails to rate either as a film laboratory experiment in racial traits or as an entertainment, and is limited to the strictly colored playing time.

Plot comes from a play called 'Louisiana,' which died in less than a week on Broadway last year, and the picture uses the show cast almost 100%. The author, J. Augustus Smith, doubles into the lead role in the film as he did in the play.

So shallow are the settings, picture appears to have been produced in one room, not too large. Besides shallow they are too phoney in appearance to fool any audience. On the stage obviously landscape is overlooked because the limitations of the rostrum are realized, but in a picture nowadays realism on the photographic end is considered nothing less than customary.

The players do little to offset the scenery's tendency to make everything look like a throwback to the Keystone comedy days. The author-actor and Laura Bowman, co-featured, are as bad as the lesser players. Smith, as a righteous preacher, works awkwardly most of the time, relaxing only during a revival meeting. Miss Bowman, playing a Louisiana voodoo-priestess, nearly makes it a low comedy part.

Performances of most of the support players are amateurish, the one exception being that of Morris McKinney. When Morris desires the virginal niece of the minister as an attraction for his 'jook' (a southern cabaret-brothel) he just walks in, draws his razor and announces he is going to take her. Even if it's in church. A thunderstorm is raging, and when Morris is forced out of the church door while struggling with the girl's fiance, he is stricken blind by a flash of lightning. That's the anti-climax. In the climax Brother Morris is really finished, dying offstage in quicksand.

The battle of good vs. evil, with both Christianity and voodooism on the good side, is the issue of the story. The villain directs most of his villainy at the Christian preacher, and the latter, in turn, is aided by the voodoo priestess. The priestess predicts both the blinding and the death of the villain several reels before they happen, which is a big plug for voodooism.

There are snatches of jungle worship dancing, but all clean. Only spicy shot is a girl's snakehips dance in a brief brothel scene. The voodooists' tom-toms beat a monotone through the picture, a la 'Emperor Jones.'

Revival meeting sequence, in which Smith does his best work, is also the best written and most entertaining item in the picture. Typical antics of his fanatical congregation add to the effectiveness. White audiences have seen samples of the same thing through the newsreels and travelogs. To colored audiences it shouldn't be such a novelty, although at Loew's Seventh Ave. in Harlem a largely colored attendance did a lot of laughing. Smith in this scene and Miss Bowman in the opening sequence read two of the longest sides perhaps ever written into a picture script.

Poor lighting as well as the unfortunate scenery combine to make the photography look bad, while jerky cutting doesn't help either. But the sound is satisfactory and the dialog exceptionally good. Bige.

PESTI SZERELEM

('Romance in Budapest')
(HUNGARIAN MADE)
(With Songs)

Universal production and DuWorld release. Starring Franziska Gaal. Directed by Geza von Bolvary. Based on stage comedy by Aladar Laszlo and Sandor Farago; music, Nicholas Brodszky; camera, Steve Hiben. At Europa, N. Y., week May 9. Running time, 95 mins.

Balogh	Julius Gozon
His wife	Lillina Berky
Eva	Franziska Gaal
Tini	Mici Erdelyi
Paul	Paul Hoerbiger
Stanek	Szakall
Roland	Gabor Kertesz
Mogyorossy	Puffi Huszar

Geza Von Bolvary is one of Europe's finest directors, being especially known for the series of musicals he did with Robert Stolz, starting with 'Zwei Herzen' and going on through the years. Now von Bolvary is out of Germany and working on his own in Budapest. Just another of the tragedies of the post-Hitler regime. It doesn't quite explain why this is as poor a picture as it is, unless von Bolvary has grown tired in the past 18 months.

Picture has special interest in New York at this time not only because it's the first Von Bolvary film since the new German regime, but because of its star, Franziska Gaal. Universal thinks Miss Gaal is a find and has her signed for a long term contract. Has made several films with her abroad and is grooming her slowly, intending to bring her to Hollywood eventually.

But Gaal will have to show more than she does in this picture before anyone here will get excited about her. Perhaps it's not her fault. She's pretty and possibly a good actress. If so, that would perhaps take care of the fact that she seems overweight from the American viewpoint.

Beyond those two items, picture has little to offer. It's a so-so musical farce about mixed marital and inter-marital relations. Just about the best picture to have come out of Budapest thus far, however.

Helping a lot to get it places are Paul Hoerbiger and Szoeke Szakall, who a couple of years ago were Berlin's finest film comedians. They, too, semingly, are in exile now and contribute heartily. Szakall is especially effective in some comedy bits, one where he practices how to do magic tricks being a masterpiece of pantomime.

But it doesn't help much. The story is dull, the music sluggish and the acting and direction for the most part routine. Distributor didn't bother with putting on English titles figuring, correctly enough, that it's appeal will be practically restricted to the Hungarian trade in the United States. Kauf.

UNKNOWN BLONDE

Majestic production and release. Directed by Bert Hulbert Henley. From novel, 'Collusion', by Theo. D. Irwin. Leonard Field, David Silverstein, screen play; Ira Morgan, camera. Cast: Helen Jerome Eddy, Edward Arnold, John-Miljan, Leila Bennett, Claude Gillingwater, Barbara Barondess, Barry Norton, Arletta Duncan, Walter Catlett, Mischa Auer, Franklin Pangborn, Dorothy Revier, Esther Muir, Clarence Wilson, Arthur Hoyt. At Globe, N. Y., commencing April 28. Running time, 61 mins.

First of the films to be made from the professional co-respondent story cycle which was started by Beth Brown's 'Man and Wife'. Title is a misnomer, since the blond appears only once and then she is wearing even her shoes in bed.

After that the story is all swung to the upright lawyer who turned crooked to pay his wife's stock losses. She frames him when he pinch hits for a man co-respondent who weakens. Gets her divorce on what was planted on the other girl, and the husband starts in to show her he's a better bet than the man she left him for.

Story is not skillfully handled and arouses no direct appeal. Photography in and out, sound better than the dialog. Acting average good. 'Blond' may pick up some transient money in the flash spots, but dubious in nabes where more than one day is to be played. It won't build.

Acting average is better than the story deserves. The yarn is confused and illogical, and can't be helped by good players. Edward Arnold carries the major action as the lawyer who switches. Bob Parke and Arletta Duncan are the juves, and Dorothy Revier is as close to a leading woman as such a story can have. Good bits by the others, but unimportant. Chic.

THE POOR RICH

Universal production and release starring Ed. Everett Horton, Edna May Oliver. Directed by Edward Sedgwick. Ebba Havez, Dale Van Every, screen play; John J. Mescall, camera. Cast: Thelma Todd, Andy Devine, Lelia Hyams, Una O'Connor, E. E. Clive, Grant Mitchell, John Miljan, Edw. Brophy, Jas. Clifford, Ward Bond. At Loew's New York, May 1-2, on double bill. Running time, 76 mins.

Little comedy that more deftly produced would have made the grade, but script is coarsened for laughs, and the players have to fall into the same tempo. For the family trade, but should be good there. Cutting is needed for it's stretched beyond it's power to sustain.

Two impecunious cousins land at the ancestral manor they jointly

(Continued on page 30)

Incorporations

NEW YORK

Albany.

Casino Enterprises, Inc.; pictures; capital stock, 50 shares no par value. Harvey Fleischman, 76-66 Austin street, Forest Hills; Helen Teitel, 1381 Washington avenue, Bronx; and Benjamin Hemsey, 729 7th avenue, New York.

Onyx Pictures, Inc.; pictures, plays, etc.; capital stock, 200 shares no par value. Rose Eskin, 802 Eastern parkway, Brooklyn; Marshall H. Rosett, 525 West End avenue, New York; and Jos. Kaplan, 340 Roebling avenue, Brooklyn.

Frankwyre Productions, Inc.; pictures, musical productions, etc.; capital stock, 200 shares no par value. Harold B. Franklin, 30 Rockefeller plaza; Harry Harris, 580 5th avenue; and Ivan F. Kingman, 30 Rockefeller plaza, all of New York.

Cleveland B. Chase Co., Inc.; radio business; capital stock, 200 shares no par value. Cleveland B. Chase, Oliva G. Chase and Donald H. Miller, all of 424 Madison avenue, New York.

Adirondack Broadcasting Co., Inc., Fort Edward; business of radio broadcasting; capital stock, 200 shares no par value. O. Thompson Griffin, Hudson Falls; George F. Bissell, 100 Warren street, Glens Falls; and Jas. Gibson, Jr., Hudson Falls.

Castles Operating Corp.; pictures, etc.; capital stock, $10,000. J. Charles Zimmerman, Irving Figowitz and Max Gold-stein, all of 325 West 24th street, New York.

King Trading Corp.; general radio business; capital stock, $5,000. Angelo Dominguez, 1022 Tiffany street, Bronx; Harry Levy, 23 Haven avenue, New York; and Dorothy Goodman, 2169 Pacific street, Brooklyn.

Eastern Productions, Inc.; picture business; capital stock, 200 shares no par value. William E. Celestin, Harry A. Colgate and S. Bayard Colgate, all of 522 Fifth avenue, New York.

Permanent Theatre Association, Inc.; pictures, plays, vaudevilles, etc.; capital stock, 100 shares no par value. Frank R. Spitt, 207 Eighth avenue, Brooklyn; Clive Spencer Hoffman, Jr., 1327 Lexington avenue, New York; and Lucy A. Harris, 107-25 132d street, Richmond Hill.

Select Productions, Inc.; pictures; capital stock, $1,000. S. Cantor, H. O. Biele and M. Green, all of 1776 Broadway, New York.

Dissolutions

Berkova Theatrical Enterprises, Inc. Filed by Louis Ehrenberg, 277 Broadway, New York.

Fredova Theatrical Enterprises, Inc. Filed by Louis Ehrenberg, 277 Broadway, New York.

Memberships

Entertainment Apparatus Manufacturers' Association, Inc.

Change of Directors, Provisions, Etc.

Twentieth Century Pictures, Inc.

CALIFORNIA

Sacramento.

Little Theatre of the Highlands. No stock subscribed. Directors: Dion P. Collins, Rea Henderson, Charles E. Bender, Copp P. Collins.

Supreme Pictures Corp. Capital stock, 1,000 shares. Subscribed, $3. Directors: L. Ryan, Barnett Shapiro, Irving Cohn.

Royal Productions, Inc. Capital stock, 1,000 shares. Subscribed, $3. Directors: L. Ryan, Barnett Shapiro, Irving Cohn.

The Players. No capital stock. Directors: Solly Violinsky, John A. Miller, Ed Lee.

Permits to Sell Stock

Fullerton Theatre Corp. Motion picture theatre operating. Authorized to issue all of 100 shares, no par.

OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma City.

Southern States Amusement Co., Oklahoma City. Capital stock, $5,000. Incorporators: Sol Davis, M. E. Herndon and H. J. Rhoades, all of Oklahoma City.

Gavola Novelty Co., Tulsa, Okla. Capital stock, $10,000. Incorporators: H. G. Silvers, Rex B. Hendrix and G. R. Stivers, all of Tulsa.

NORTH CAROLI

Charlotte.

Greenville Theatre Company, Inc. R. B. Wilby and L. M. Savell, of Atlanta; and H. F. Kincey, of Charlotte.

Stock Market

(Continued from page

exchange control measure is more and more being considered of secondary importance.

Market was ripe for a sharp technical rally after big slump on Monday, which came as more or less of a climax to nearly two weeks of declining prices. After hitting a new low for Dow-Jones Industrial averages at 94.47, stocks came back and rose to 97.73 before close. Wednesday again found prices slipping off, but looking steadier at end. Then came a big avalanche of selling on Thursday which shot industrial averages down to 92.14, where they were nearly six points off from resistance level of 98. More than 110 new lows for 1934 were recorded on this day.

Only thing that saved stocks from experiencing a climax day in selling was action of wheat and other grains. Wheat soared the limit of 5c on news of vast damage to wheat caused by drouth and dust storm. Remarkable strength in wheat finally brought a stiffening of prices after 1 o'clock, and short-covering aided materially.

As predicted here last week that any change in Eastman Kodak dividend would be an increase, directors on Wednesday voted $1 quarterly dividend on common, raising it from $3 to $4 annually. Stock rallied early Wednesday from its previous day's low of 87¾ to 90½, but sold off a bit when actual dividend increase was announced. Stock recently has been acting as though increase in dividend rate was in offing. Eastman Kodak was unable to resist general selling of stocks later in week, and wound up with net loss of 1¼.

Of less active amusement issues, Columbia Picture certificates on big board fell off rather badly showing a net loss of 3¼ and winding up only an eighth of a point off bottom at 24⅞. Consolidated Film Industries preferred also looked weak Saturday and was off 1⅞ points net on week. It wound up on bottom at 14⅝, despite favorable quarterly report.

No Reflection on Worth

As was summarized here last week, amusement stocks are most susceptible to seasonable trends in May, June and parts of July, generally selling lower in reflection of usual slump in business during hot summer months. Numerous film issues began showing such a trend even this week though undoubtedly accelerated by general weakness throughout list.

Greatest losses suffered in amusement group follow: Columbia Pict. certificates, off 3¼; Consolidated Film Indust. preferred off 1⅞; Eastman Kodak, off 1¼; Fox Class A, off 1⅜; Loew, common, off 3½; Paramount certificates, off ⅝; Pathe Class A, off 3⅝; Universal pfd., off 3; Radio, common, off ⅝; Warner, common, off 1⅛; Warner Brothers, pfd., off 3. Westinghouse made a new 1934 low of 30⅝ on Saturday and was off 4½ points at close. General Electric, a slow mover, also dipped to 19 and wound up down 1⅝ net.

Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., and subsidiaries, for quarter ended March 31, showed net profit of $317,781, equal to 22c. on common, after dividend requirements on $2 preferred stock. This compares with $265,400 or 12c a share on common in first quarter in 1933.

Col. John S. Hammond was named chairman of reorganized board of directors of Madison Square Garden Corp., during week. Reorganization included resignation of eight directors, including W. F. Carey, former president, and R. F. Hoyt, retiring chairman. New directors included M. H. Aylesworth, president NBC; Sidney J. Weinberg, of Goldman, Sachs, and others prominent in Wall Street. Madison Square Garden stock had its rise previous week on reports of strong reorganization plan but it closed only half point from high registered week before.

Bond market, with exception of gilt-edge liens and some governments, was inclined to follow stock prices downwards. Result was that all amusement bonds excepting Pathe 7s and Loew 6s showed losses. Warners 6s were hardest hit, dropping to 54½ on Saturday for a net loss of 7½ points. Paramount obligations also were badly bent, being off 1⅝ to 3 points net. RKO debentures dropped four points in a day's transaction. Keith 6s slumped to 67⅝ and then rallied to 68⅛ where they were down 1⅝ points net for week. Pathe 7s actually showed a gain of a quarter of a point, while Loew bonds held even at 100½.

While some traders suggested that Thursday's sell-off looked like that one big day which might signal a halt to general decline, subsequent rally that day and later action of market Friday and particularly on Saturday indicated that bottom had not been reached. Market Saturday staggered badly and looked especially weak in view of way prices had slumped earlier in week. Feeling of shrewd traders is that the one big sell-off day has not been encountered and that it may be hovering around the corner. Stale bull account in market was uncovered in drives to lower levels on both Monday and Thursday.

If real crop shortage threatens nation, as time only can really tell, and wheat market continues to climb sensationally, it may prove eventually a big aid to stock market. On the other hand some issues will be hurt should shortage prove of such character as to cut down shipping, hamper farmer buying power and bring real distress. Latter hardly seems possible with huge carry-over of wheat in grain elevators of this country.

Traders expect market to establish a new resistance point somewhere around 90-point mark. A test of strength at the 90-92 level appears to be next step in market.

Summary for Week Ending Saturday May 12

STOCK EXCHANGE

High.	Low.	Sales.	Issue and rate.	high.	Low.	Last.	Net chg.
7⅜	3¼	900	American Seat	4	3¼	4	– ⅜
5¾	2¼	3,000	Consol. Film	4	3¼	3¾	– ¼
31	23	2,800	Columbia P. vtc	28	24⅞	24⅞	–3¼
17½	10⅝	4,100	Consol. Film pfd. (60)	16¼	14⅝	14⅝	–1⅞
90½	70	8,300	Eastman Kodak (4)	91	87⅜	89	–1¼
17½	12¼	12,800	Fox, Class A	15¼	13⅜	14	–1⅜
25¼	18⅜	120,700	Gen. Elec. (60c.)	21	19	19¼	–1⅝
35⅞	25⅝	89,100	Loew (1)	33⅝	28⅝	29¼	–3½
97¼	72	500	Do pref. (6½)	94¼	93½	94
7	4⅝	3,800	Madison Sq. Garde	6⅝	6⅝	6½	– ⅛
5⅞	1⅞	105,300	Paramount	5	4	4¼	– ⅝
4⅛	1½	17,400	Pathe Exchange	2¾	2⅜	2⅜	– ⅜
24½	21½	27,200	Pathe, Class A	21¾	17½	18	–3⅝
9⅛	6¼	130,300	Radio Corp	8	7	7¼	– ⅝
4½	2¼	17,900	RKO	3¼	2⅜	2⅜	– ⅛
34¾	15	111,700	Radio, pfd. B	135⅝	28⅛	33¾	+3¾
40¼	16¾	110	Universal pfd	40	40	40	–3
8¾	4⅞	65,000	Warner Bros	6⅝	5¼	5⅝	–1⅜
31⅞	18½	100	–Do pfd	25	25	25	–3
47¼	30⅝	...	Westinghouse	36⅝	¶30⅝	31½	–4½

* Paid this year. ing 10 shares. ¶ New 1934 low.

5		300	Universal Pict
11¼		2,900	Technicolor
3½		3,200	Trans Lux (10c.)
13	3¼	$61,000	Gen. Thea. Eq.	10¼	* 8¾	8½
72	51	48,000	Keith 6's, '40	69¼	67⅝	68⅛
102	85	67,000	Loew 6's, '41	101	100½	100½
98⅝	85	22,000	Pathe 7's, '37	96¼	94	95½	+¼
47	30	77,000	Par-Broadway 5½'s, '51	47	42¾	43	–3
54¼	29½	47,000	Par-Fam-Lasky 6's, '47	53	50	50	–1¾
54	28½	40,000	Par-Fam-Lasky 6's, '47	52	46¾	48	–2¼
55	29¼	107,000	Par-Pub 5½'s, '50	53	43¾	49½	–2¾
54	29	299,000	Par-Pub 5½'s, '50	52½	47¾	47¾	–3
41	18½	1,000	RKO debs 6's	32	32	32	–7½
65½	40⅜	389,000	Warner Bros. 6's	62	54½	54½	–7½

OVER THE COUNTER, N. Y.

Bid.		Class A
¼		it do

PRODUCE EXCHANGE, N.

..	4,600	Par-Pub	– ⅝

* New 1934 low.

To the Exhibitors of the United States and Canada:

On Monday, June 4th, Carl Laemmle will release LITTLE MAN, WHAT NOW? with Margaret Sullavan and Douglass Montgomery, the most important picture Frank Borzage has directed since the immortal SEVENTH HEAVEN.

J. R. GRAINGER

Variety House Reviews

ROXY

(Continued from page 21)

around and got a lot of laughs. Campo is placed in here, singing two numbers in 'one' and then going into full and a switch to a Spanishy costume for the production number, in which Nadine Gay dances with him, both registering well.

Garner Wolf and Hakins, stooges who used to be with Jack Pepper, take 15 minutes off here for clowning purposes and do it well. Jack Eagen does straight for the zanies and a girl tagged Rosemarie does a couple mild cooches and lets herself be chased around. It's rough and wild but funny. Act just back from Europe.

Wesley Eddy, knowing a good spot when he sees one, stops being master of ceremonies here long enough to sing 'The Saint Louis Blues,' which he has done at this house before. He does the song extremely well.

Girls come back in silver and blue outfits for an exceptionally effective finale number with neon-strung wands. It's their best appearance in the show, having been hampered in the big central production number by a modernistic routine which they neither understood nor could manage. This finale fixes everything up and all is forgiven.

Probably a bow on the show should go not only to the pacer, but to the one who supplied the scenery, sets being neat and tiring.

'Bugs in Love,' a Disney Silly Symphony is thrown on the wide screen, which also is used for two shots in the Fox newsreel. With 'Glamour' (U) as the screen feature and an overdose of trailers entire show occupies two hours and 40 minutes. Kauf.

PARAMOUNT, B'KLYN

With the house going dark this Thursday (17) the management couldn't see any for pegging up the nut on the current week's stage show, so that besides the regular line of 20 girls the customers have to content themselves with Milton Berle and the Nicholas Bros. The ballerinas do two routines and to keep 'em otherwise interested while the foots and borders are on is solely the business of the Berle and Nicholas combination. And judging from the deportment of the gathering at Saturday's second matinee the deluxer's fadeout week will at least be accompanied by heaps of laughter. 'We're Not Dressing' (Par) is the feature, and the business Saturday afternoon was comparatively good.

Berle spent little time off the stage, even stepping in for an exchange of toe and heel flinging with the Nicholas boys, whose outlay of tootsie rhythm at its dizziest was in itself enough to keep the customers' palms at fever heat. Everything that Berle had to give them was hilarity plus with this mob. From a blackout Berle went monolog, built up to a steady roar via a mess of clowning with the smaller Nicholas lad, maintained the laugh pace with a hotel bit and called it a performance with his hodgepodge of mike impersonations. His labors couldn't have proved more fruitful.

Opening ballet design for the Bob Alton girls was both exceptionally decorative and rhythmically effective. As his closing effort it showed off the director's talents in a big way. Odec.

RILEY, FT. WAYNE

Fort Wayne, May 11.

The type of stage presentation which has kept the Riley theatre zooming since last August. Company averaging around 25 persons, including a band which works from the stage, gives a 52-minute show. And with two films added, the program provides nearly a four hour schedule. Most audiences rebel at this in the ace houses, but class which attends this second-run theatre eats this policy up. Located on principal street, too, which also stands it in mighty good favor.

Edward Watkins' current offering is headed by James Hall, who arrived here late from Evansville due to an accident. Eight girls in line, appearing first behind cellophane screens. Most of the following bits are specialties with Warren Turley, accordionist; Anita Conrad, acrobatic dancer; Vincent Hayden, rhythm dancer, and Skeets Genaro, rubber legs feature among the best on the bill. 'Carioca' is used with Thelma Flowers leading entire company. Sets are simple with band taking up most of the extra space. Hall presides as m.c. for the most part.

Riley operates on a 15-25c scale and seats 800. Capacity business throughout week, and has been for nearly a year now. Under Peter Mallers management, which also has theatres in four or five towns around here.

CENTURY, BALTO.

Baltimore, May 11.

This is the first week since mid-February that Loew's standard-bearer is flashing a full-fledged 'name' across the foots. Also, it's the best vaude bill, as an aggregate, that has romped across the rostrum this season. There's a sock in each slot, and the 'name,' Lupe Velez, biffed the boys between the orbs.

Bill broke with Rector and Doreen, classy jaw work by man and nicely complementary aerial swinging by girl. Man hangs suspended by ankle throughout, up near proscenium, and alternates teeth with arm endurance work to lift the gal and her aero-acro paraphernalia while she swoops through the flash whirls.

Geo. Prentice deuced for six mins. with his smart Punch-Judy exhibit. Johnny Lee and 3 Lees tossed nine mins. into the trey for excellent impresh. New turn acquired since last locally surveyed. Nice change of pace noticed, and though fraction repetitious at outset, levels and levies genorous laugh quota right up to the quickening finale.

Miss Velez (New Acts) spanned 20 mins. and was the mint in the mob's julep from entrance. Of all femme pix persons vouchsafed on this town's stages, the Mex maid uncorked by far best brand of entertainment. Probably few in audience knew of her antecedent stage experience; they seemed genuinely surprised when she unwrapped a real stage presence and ability. As conclusion crowd canonaded so furiously she had to linger to appease 'em.

Closer, Peggy Taylor Kitchen Pirates, grand girl-tossing turn was ease on the eyes and a swell last lap to a swell line-up.

'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) on the screen, plus Metro news. George Wild's trenchmen overture a medley of tunes expressive of the seasonal 'Mother's Day' sentiments. Biz booming matutinal show, opening day.

MET, BROOKLYN

All the way down, including everything, it's a slowly paced show Loew's put on over here this week, while as for box office tension, the cashiers were taking naps Friday night. Not more than 200 people on the lower floor at the peak hour, nine o'clock.

House is occupied solely by a dragged-out N.T.G. revue, billed as from the Paradise restaurant. It won't be much of an ad for that nitery. Not even the showgirls with their gaudy but rare costumes drew a hand, while instead of laughs there were yawns and in place of applause there was, for the most part, silence.

Some response was shown by the small audience when something worthwhile revealed itself, including Indian dance routine by Byrnes and Swanson; Miriam Moran's rhythm number; Mickey Bradford's acrobatic specialty; dance of impressions by the assisting m.c. who was announced as Clinton Ray, or something similar, skating stuff by Mulroy, McNeece and Ridge. But at no time was there any noisy applause.

Scherr brothers do a stew song and dance that's okay, while an unbilled girl offers a novelty eccentric which isn't bad. Principal trouble with this N.T.G. show is that it is about twice as long as it should be, considering the weight of talent it carries. It runs 51 minutes.

Ted Claire acts as m.c., introducing the various people, sometimes a little unclearly, while another chap assists him. Toward the rear, Claire does a dope fiend impression, ending in a dramatic interpretation of a pop. It isn't much.

NTG isn't with this revue, one of the first occasions in which he's absent.

In addition to the feature, 'Laughing Boy' (Metro), over here on first New York run, there is a newsreel, a too long organ community singing interlude and trailers. Trailer on the coming stage show is about as poorly done as they come. Char.

PARAMOUNT, L. A.

Los Angeles, May 10.

Diversified stage show this week has the Jay Whidden band plus Arthur Tracy, and a couple other acts thrown in for good measure. Extremely humid weather probably responsible for the drop-off in trade although little on the bill spells b. o.

Sylvia Sidney in '30-Day Princess' not rated a strong draw, and this is Tracy's initial Coast stage booking, although he has considerable following among radio and record fans. Whidden is no stranger to Los Angeles.

Opening has Whidden band concealed behind drapes, front of which have been made to represent a Holland countryside. Set windmill and a pair of steps provide the background for the Fanchon & Marco femmes doing a 'Little Dutch Mill' number, excellently staged by Ada Broadbent.

Orchestra then revealed on movable platform with an attractive ballroom setting giving a sort of balcony effect. Opening instrumentation is 'Baby Take a Bow,' with Lee North vocalizing. Then follows a medley of tunes popularized over the air, with Dick Eccles doing a bit of warbling and Ted Atkinson harmonizing on the trombone. Betty Grable, onetime F&M line girl, is now featured with the Whidden band, and puts over several corking specialties.

Whidden has a pleasing stage personality and works hard all the way, including bits of vocal refrains and a few chords on the violin.

Carl Fisher, introduced as a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, who tickles the ivories with the band, played a couple of his own compositions and after a brief Whidden violin obbligato band goes into a rhumba, with the Grable girl becoming fairly hot. During the dance she broke a brassiere string and it gave her plenty of trouble.

Gary Leon and GiGi, ballroom dancers, execute some dexterous stepping. Act is tastefully dressed and both help to sell the turn. Another routine by Miss Grable and the girls and then a red hot band number featuring Lyle Hart, sax player, in a clever impersonation of Cab Calloway.

Girls back on for a tamborine routine with Leon and GiGi doing an Argentine specialty well performed. Tracy then brought on for four numbers. He was in superb voice and had no trouble clicking for a solid hit.

For finale girls on, all playing the Tracy theme sing, 'Marta,' on accordions, with a colorful effect.

Screen also carried Screen Souvenirs, News and Betty Boop cartoon. Edwa.

FOX, BROOKLYN

Mild little stage show in support of 'Whirlpool' (Col), an even milder picture. Budget of the 'Rhythm On Parade' revue can't be very high, with every evidence given that the house is trimming its stage cost. Most noticeable instance of this is the slicing of the house ensemble from 24 girls to 16.

This is the first of Flo Kelly's production efforts since displacing the Oumanskys last week. No improvement is evident, and the same mistakes that were noted here before are still evident. Screwy showmanship's one big inning here this week has Bert Frohman, m.c., doing an overlong sob spiel in commemoration of 'Mothers' Day' and followed shortly afterwards by Senator Murphy's hoke political tirade. The two speeches coming on top of each other at the Saturday afternoon show sounded like a talk marathon.

Senator Murphy, though, is the hit of this show, and running him a close second are Seed and Austin, standard knockabout comedy team with a blonde looker to assist. Their hoke went especially well with the large contingent of children in the audience, though a couple of the blue bits hardly rate juvenile attention.

A fair ballroom team, Crawford and Castle, and Martin LeRoy, singer introed by Frohman as a Brooklyn amateur find, comprise the rest of the presentation. The latter, stationed on the bandstand, delivers one song and faintly pleases. Could stand some vocal coaching to eliminate the noticeable tremolo in his voice.

It is following LeRoy that the presentation's second error comes. Without any break at all Frohman follows the novice with his own singing session. Not only is it poor show construction, but also unfair competition, Frohman's seasoning making him an odds-on favorite against LeRoy.

Ensemble is on for three routines and all of them good, their first with large rubber balls being the standout. Revue in its entirety runs 55 minutes. Biz okay.

Another of Those Spasmodic Cowboy Revivals On; Market Soon Glutted

Studio Placements

Hollywood, May 14.

Charles Judels, Leon Errol, 'Notorious Sophie Lang,' Par.

Howard Green, adapting 'Lemon Drop Kid,' Par.

William Berres, Cent Pure,' MG.

George Lewis, 'Two Heads On A Pillow,' Liberty.

Paul Moss, screen 'Big Broadcast 1934,' Par.

Dore Schary, adapting 'Mississippi,' Par.

Beatrice the Works,' Par.

Tetsui Komai, 'You Belong To Me,' Par.

Donald Meek, Sarah Padden, Raymond Hatton, Raymond Walburn, Ward Bond, John Wray, Arthur Hohl, 'The Defense Rests,' Col.

Grover Jones, Vincent Lawrence collabing screen play, 'One Way Ticket,' Schulberg-Par.

Rose Franken, adapting 'State vs. Elinor Morton,' Fox.

Sally Sandlin, writing dept., Wurtzel-Fox.

Joe Penner, of 1934,' Par.

Sir Guy the World,' Par.

Charles Brackett, 'Her Master's Voice,' Par.

Lewis Foster, scrivening '52 Weeks for Fleurette,' Par.

Harold Shumate, writing an orig 'By Unknown Persons,' Col.

Lois Wilson, Helen Parrish, Dick Winslow, 'Always Tomorrow,' U.

Patricia Ellis, 'Big Hearted Herbert,' WB.

Lyle Talbot, Eugene Pallette, Robert McWade, 'Dragon Murder Case,' WB.

Robert Armstrong, 'Kansas City Princess,' WB.

Lynn Starling, dialoging 'Serenade,' Fox.

Helen Twelvetrees, vs. Elinor Morton,' Fox.

Una Merkel, Charles Ruggles, 'Rear Car,' MG.

Andre Segurola, 'Arabella,' RKO.

Margaret LeVino, reading story material for George Oppenheimer, Goldwyn.

Alexis Thurn-Taxis, adapting 'Me and the King,' Par.

Reginald Barker, directing 'Moonstone,' Mono.

Sidney Blackmer, O. P. Heggie, 'Count of Monte Cristo,' Reliance.

Spencer Bennett, directing, Rose Reisman, supervising, untitled picture, Mayfair.

Mathew Betz, Doane comedy, U.

William Augustin, Edgar Kennedy short, RKO.

Grady Sutton, 'Bachelor Bait,' RKO.

John Eldridge, 'Big Hearted Herbert,' WB.

William Gargan, 'British Agent,' WB.

Dan Templetin, collabing with Cy Bartlett on an orig, Warners.

Dorothy Delle, femme lead with Lee Tracy, 'A Son Comes Home,' Par.

George Walsh, Tyler Brook, Eddie Borden, Fuzzy Knight, 'It Ain't No Sin,' Par.

Will Stanton, 'Bachelor Bait,' RKO.

Kay Johnson, Helen Vinson, 'Afterwards,' RKO.

George Berthelon, producing 'King Kelly of U. S. A.,' Mono.

Joey Ray, 'The Girl Friend,' which win, Rowland produces, Col.

Hardie Albright, 'Two Heads On A Pillow,' which Wm. Nigh directs, Liberty.

Robert Warwick, George Stone, William B. Davidson, 'Dragon Murder Case,' WB.

Paul Porcasi, Walter Armitage, 'British Agent,' WB.

Billy Bletcher, 'What! No Men?' short, WB.

Robert Barrat, 'Hey, Sailor,' WB.

Louise Dresser, Frank Melton, Ned Sparks, Sigmund Roumann, 'Servant's Entrance,' Fox.

Stepin Fetchit, Ned Sparks, Sigmund, 'Marie Gallante,'

Robert Lorraine, ' Hat,' MG.

Ralf Sedan, 'Merry Widow,' MG.

Henry Kolker, '100 Per Cent Pure,' MG.

George Rosener, adapting 'Skeleton in the Closet,' Mascot.

Jack Shutta, Ethel Sykes, John Rand, Broderick O'Farrell, Edwin Le Saint, Lynton Brent, Joe Young 'Half Baked Relations,' Educ.

Paul Kelly, 'Blind Date,' Col.

Mrs. Wallace Reid, supervisor, Mono.

William Lipman, dialoging 'Million Dollar Ransom,' U.

Frank Borzage, directing, Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, Pat O'Brien, 'Flirtation Walk,' WB.

Dorothy Tree, Charles Wilson, 'Dragon Murder Case,' WB.

Frank Lawton, Heather Angel, leads, 'Mystery of Edwin Drood,' U.

Edgar Selwyn, producing, Brown and Freed writing music, 'Live While You May,' Metro.

Lita Chevret, '100 Percent Pure,' MG.

Edward Martindel, 'Two Heads On a Pillow,' Lib.

Lionel Belmore, Harry Cording, 'Count of Monte Cristo,' Reliance.

Nat Pendleton, Donald Meek, Sarah Padden, Ray Hatton, John Wray, Arthur Hohl, Ray Walberg, 'The Defense Rests,' Col.

Reginald Sharland, 'Shock,' Mono.

Arthur Clayton, Charles Starrett, Claude Gillingwater, Aggie Herring, Alden Chase, Ernest Ballard, Rob-

(Continued on page 67)

Contracts

Hollywood, May 14.

Frank MacDonald, ialog director af Warners, had option lifted for six months.

Peter Milne had his Warners writing pact option taken up for another six months.

RKO gave Sterling Holloway a term pact.

U has closed with Douglass Montgomery for three pix.

Richard Thorpe gets a termer at U.

Norman Taurog gets directorial renewal at Par.

Par has lifted options on Eldred Tidbury and Alfred Delcambre.

Toby Wing's option has been picked by Par.

Par has exercised option for one picture on Carl Brisson.

Charles Sabin contracted by Columbia.

Allan Scott, H. W. Hanneman, Francis Faragoh had options picked up at RKO.

Hollywood, May 14.

Sudden boom in horse opera production has started and there now 14 companies making or about to make Hollywood's oldest type of product.

This surprising interest in mesquiters is almost sure to flood the market, and already some New York laboratories and state right exchanges which picked up the negatives have begun turning them back to producers.

Western producers are answering a demand by exhibs, particularly in the South and Middle West, made three months ago when there was a season shortage.

Only two in the group are majors, rest are indies and most are of the shoestring calibre. Among the 14 are Sol Lesser and John Zanft, who are dickering with Fox for a release on a series starring George O'Brien.

Mascot is a newcomer, preparing a series with Ken Maynard. Universal has Buck Jones, starting in August on a series, and Monogram has John Wayne.

Other producers and their stars are Supreme Pictures (Sam Katzman) starting May 15 on a string with Bob Steele; Marion Kohn and Al Mannon, starring Rex Bell; Willis Kent, due in from New York, to do some with Lane Chandler.

Mortgaged Ranch

P. McGowan, director, has started a western for Master Arts exchange here. It stars Frank Gilmore, a newcomer, who mortgaged his Van Nuys ranch, where film is being shot, to angel the picture.

Bob Hoyt is doing a string with Ed Cobb; Benny Ray alternates Tom Tyler and Jack Perrin for William Steiner in N. Y.; Bob Horner has Bill Cody; Herman Fowler turned out 'Four Bad Men' with Noah Beery, Jr.; Denver Dixon begins a Buddy Roosevelt opera this week, and Bob Tansey has finished six three-reelers for William Pizor release and starts a mess of northwest mounties shortly.

The Exclusive Rights to the Making of Motion Pictures of the

PRIMO CARNERA vs. MAX BAER

World's Heavyweight Championship Contest

to be held at the

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN BOWL

Long Island City, New York

On the Evening of June 14, 1934

Have Been Purchased by the Undersigned

Dated, Chicago, Ill., May 14, 1934

(Signed) HARRY O. VOILER

In Appreciation of 28 Wonderful Consecutive Weeks with
"Fifty Million Frenchmen"
Sincerest Thanks to My Manager and Friend
ANATOLE FRIEDLAND

VENITA GOULD

Closed for Season at
LOEW'S STATE
NEW YORK
Week May 4th

Personal Direction
LARRY PUCK

Film Reviews

THE POOR RICH

(Continued from page 27)

inherit. A wealthy titled family is to arrive, and the woman end of the duo plans to marry her cousin to the Hon. Gwendolyn. They enlist the aid of some of the neighbors, in the familiar fashion. The shooting of a fake swami blows the pretense and everyone marries and they all set up a chicken dinner place on the money realized from the sale of the antique furniture. It's little too much to expect Thelma Todd to accept a low comedian, but the story requires it. The other hitches are more probable.

Story starts off pleasantly, but begins to clutter up toward the middle, with bits kept in just for laughs. Result that the average will tire before the close. This feeling is heightened by a blundering detective whose idea of comedy is yelling his lines. He's literally a pain in the ear. Not well played by Edward Brophy.

Edward Everett Horton is capital as the comedy lead and Edna May Oliver contributes a smooth character bit that's wasted in this story. Grant Mitchell is another who keeps in character in spite of the overstress, but Andy Devine gets a horseplay assignment that handicaps him. Others are good, but they are all swamped by the script. Leila Hyams is excellent.

A little more finesse would have made this a winner. Chic.

LILIOM

(FRENCH MADE)

Paris, April 2.

Eric Pommer-Fox Europa production, directed by Fritz Lang. From the story by Franz Molnar; assistant director, J. F. Feydeau; scenario, Robert Liebman; dialog, Bernard Zimmer; music, Jean Lenoir and F. Waxman; photography, Rudolph Mate and Louis Nee. Starring Charles Boyer. Running time, 120 minutes. Presented April 27 simultaneously at Agricultures, Bonaparte and Cine Opera, Paris.

Liliom	Charles Boyer
Julie	Madeleine Ozeray
Mme. Muscat	Florelle
Alfred	Alcover
Sailor	Roland Toutain
Strong Ar	Robert Arnoux
Hollinger	Alexandre Rignault
Commissary	Henri Richard
Purgatory Cop	Barency
Detective	Raoul Marco
Knife Grinder	Antonin Artaud
Clerk	Leon Arvel
Cashier	Rene Stern

Pommer's second French-made needs recutting and shortening, and then it may turn out to be a film worth showing in the French specialized houses in America.

Its local appeal also would be greatly increased by slashing, for it runs two full hours and seems a lot longer. But even as is, it has good local b.o. value, because the trick effect of the closing sequences.

Entire value of the pic, especially for America, is in these last sequences, which show Liliom in a burlesque heaven after his suicide. Shortening operation should be applied to what precedes, so as to make first and middle parts feeders for the end, which is what really counts.

Here the Pommer ex-German outfit has put on a rare bit of screen originality. Liliom is carried to heaven by a couple of Gothic angels in sack suits to appear before his judges, chief of whom is the commissary of police who looked after him on earth. Only he has grown wings.

Musical score, sets and photography of the heaven sequences are beautiful jobs and magnificently co-ordinated by Lang. Beyond its physical beauty, the representation of heaven is a magnificent job of irony, yet handled in a way not to offend religious susceptibilities. On the contrary, it is a religious expression in itself.

Balance of film is very Frenchy, and the whole is a distinctly European production which should make an appeal to select audiences, but will be a toughie to sell to the masses. Stern.

CHEATERS

Liberty production and Hollywood release, featuring Bill Boyd, Dorothy Mackaill, and June Collyer. Directed by Phil Rosen. Story, continuity and dialog by Belle Buffington. Suggested by "The Peacock Screen," by Fanny Heaslip Lea. Harry Neumann, Tom Gallagher, camera. At the Mayfair, N. Y., commencing May 10. Running time, 65 mins.

Steve Morris	Bill Boyd
Kay Murray	June Collyer
Mabel	Dorothy Mackaill
K. C. Kelly	Wm. Collier, Sr.
Paul Southern	Alan Mowbray
Detective Sweeney	Guinn Williams

Another of those independent productions in which they pay more money for players and production, but forget to buy a proper script to start with. Might have been a story in this production if smartly written. There is excellent camera work, sets built and lighted like the majors, and good sound, but even in the middle classification it rates as an emergency film.

Story, derived from a good source, is not planned for quick movement nor to engage the sympathies. Difficult to accept the idea of a girl, out on parole after a stretch for a crime she shouldered for her brother, holding interest after planning to gyp a rich man into marriage, and still gaining sympathy because she loves the man who put her up to it. She's allbied by her extreme need and all that, but she just doesn't click, and June Collyer is not able to make her click.

In the same angle there is objection to Bill Boyd, who's going straight when he comes out this time. That's what they all say, but few believe it. Nothing in the story worked to gain real interest in the characters, so it's just some moving around, and rather sluggish movement, at that.

William Collier, Sr., never gets a chance, though he can build on half a chance, and Dorothy Mackaill is in for her name and a walk through part. Smart writing might have saved something of the play; certainly it would have helped the players. As is, it's a filler-inner that will not do better than plug a gap on the screen. It will do little at the b.o. Chic.

WEST OF THE DIVIDE

Lone Star production, Monogram release. Produced by Paul Malvern. Directed by R. N. Bradbury. Starring John Wayne. Story by R. N. Bradbury. Photographer, Archie Stout. At Stanley, N. Y., on double bill, May 10-11. Running time, 53 mins.

Ted Hayden	John Wayne
Fay Winter	Virginia Brown Faire
Gentry	Lloyd Whitlock
Dusty Rhodes	George Hayes
Hank	Yakima Canut
Spud	Billy O'Brien

Handsome cowboy stranger disguises himself to solve the long-time murder of his ma and pappy; recovers a long lost brother and intercedes as the hero for a self-possessed ranch girl who wears silk pajamas to bed, in a period when cowhands pistoled each other out of habit. Generic but amusing, getting unsuspected laughs in its most serious moments, thus befitting itself to ornament minor twin bills safely. Only two deaths.

Lots of saddle stuff against repeating scenery and for an unwittingly jolly moment allows a flash of a radio tower to be seen background against supposedly sparsely inhabited mountain region. Frank, simple and unboastful in its mechanical progress.

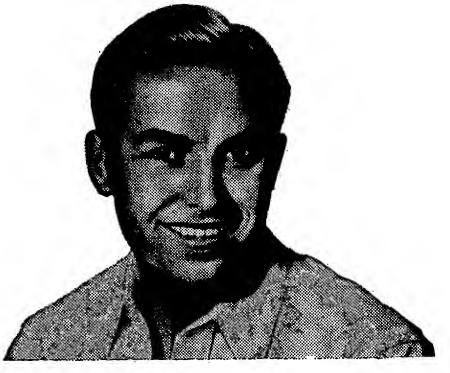
John Wayne is the hero and Virginia Brown Faire the heroine. Otherwise usually shoddy looking cowhand types presented. The chief villain wears his accustomed riding breeches. Shan.

TRANSFORMATIONS
by Pierre, famous for over 25 years, are always distinctive in style, absolutely undetectable, and exceedingly becoming.

HAIR RE-COLORING
by the well-known experts Alexandre et Jean who have specialized in this particular work for years. They create remarkably beautiful shades, uniform in color and perfect for permanent waving.

Also French experts for Permanent Waving and Scientific Facials. For appointment phone PLaza 3-1362.

Pierre
TRANSFORMATIONS
39 West 57th Street New York



LANNY ROSS

PARAMOUNT PICTURES
MAXWELL HOUSE SHOWBOAT HOUR

NATIONAL BROADCASTING CORP.

Held Over For 2nd Week at CAPITOL THEATRE, New York

Leaves for Hollywood May 18 to Start Work in Paramount's

"HER MASTER'S VOICE"

Under the Sole Direction and Management of OLIVE A. WHITE

MARK HANNA, Associate
598 Madison Avenue, New York, PLaza 3-9020

Thanks to HARRY PINCUS and PHIL BLOOM
And It Was Nice to Be with Jack Benny for Two Weeks

Picture Possibilities

'Jig Saw'—Favorable

'JIG SAW' (Comedy, Theatre Guild, Barrymore). Crisp lines give this play a chance for screen usage, but relation of some characters would probably have to be changed if reaching Hollywood. Ibee.

'Love Kills'—Unfavorable

'LOVE KILLS' (Drama, Ida L. Ehrlich, Forrest). No chance on stage; itto for films. Ibee.

'Picnic'—Unfavorable

'PICNIC' (Comedy-drama, Arthur J. Beckhard, National). Mixture of conversational ideas. No comedy nor dramatic highlights. Ibee.

'The Milky Way'—Favorable

'THE MILKY WAY' (Comedy, Harmon and Ullman, Cort).—Farcical story of unknown who becomes middleweight boxing champion. Comic situations make it likely screen material.

'I yself'—Unfavorable

'I MYSELF' (Drama, Pearson and Baruch, Mansfield).—Too funereal. Idea somewhat similar to 'Peter Grimm' and 'Outward Bound'. Ibee.

'These Two'—Unfavorable

'THESE TWO' (Drama, Casey and Liddle, Miller).—Unbelievable story of rather sad romance, and that switches from one extreme to the other, ending in tragedy. Ibee.

'Every Thursday'—Unfavorable

'EVERY THURSDAY' (Comedy, Wee and Leventhal, Royale). Rather mild play with Cinderella-type story. Ibee.

TITLE CHANGES

Hollywood, May 14.

'Great American Harem' to 'Bachelor Bait,' RKO.

'Funny Thing Called Love,' to 'Let's Talk It Over,' U.

'Fire Patrol' to 'A Man's Game,' Col

CARDINI

"THE SUAVE DECEIVER"

Held Over Second Week

CAPITOL, NEW YORK

19th Week CASINO DE PAREE

Thanks to Billy Rose

World-Telegram

"Cardini the magician, whose blase manipulations of playing cards and cigarettes is as mystifying as any of the late Houdini's sulkier feats."

ARREST 3 IN PTSBG. THEATRE SABOTAGE

Pittsburgh, May 14.

Three men were arrested here last week in connection with epidemic of bombings in independent houses. Raymond Lohr, Norman Beckley and Charles Hough, all of Wilkinsburg, were nabbed by county detectives upon information provided by Chief of Police James Harris.

Suspects were released on their own recognizance after being questioned by authorities who declared the arrests presage an early solution of bombing outrages.

Dynamiting of dozen theatres here recently reached a climax couple of weeks ago when four houses were bombed, causing about $25,000 damage to film spots and adjoining business establishments.

'SERVICE'

F+M

STAGE SHOWS

1560 Broadway New York City

A Subsidiary of

FANCHON & MARCO, Inc.

ATTENTION

A MANAGER WHO HAS SUCCESSFULLY DEVELOPED SEVERAL PERSONALITIES IN SHOW BUSINESS WOULD CONSIDER PLACING UNDER HIS DIRECTION SOME YOUNG PERSON WHOSE TALENTS MERIT SPECIAL CONSIDERATION.

IN EFFECTING SUCH AN ASSOCIATION EVERY EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO CREATE AND ATTAIN IMPORTANT RECOGNITION IN WHATEVER BRANCH OF SHOW BUSINESS THIS PERSON IS BEST SUITED FOR. WRITE, GIVING PHONE NUMBER.

ADDRESS BOX 10
CARE OF VARIETY.

Only Newsreels Okay for Chicago Fair's Theatre

Chicago, May 14.

Plans of the World's Fair for a big free open air picture spot look haywire from all angles. Picture companies have unanimously declared they won't sell product to a free al fresco spot at the Fair in competition with regular year-round theatres.

Many exchanges have also stated that they don't believe they'll sell pictures to a World's Fair spot even with admission prices. Figure that it's unfair to the Chicago theatres with heavy year-round investments.

Only angle in World's Fair picture exhibition the exchanges are willing to consider is for a newsreel theatre, whether free or otherwise. Several schemes are now hot for the erection of a small newsreel spot on the Fair grounds with the attraction to be a place to park in cool comfort for 60 minutes or so at 25c a crack.

LIQUIDATION OF D.L.S. SHOWS $1,665,000 LOSS

, May 2.

Liquidation the Deutsche Lichtspiel-Syndikat A.—G. which went into receivership in October, 1932, is reflected by the company's balance July 31, 1933. Only $28,200 assets are carried, the rest of the $1,060,000 having been written off. With a loss of $615,000 carried forward, the total loss thus amounts to $1,665,000.

Six hundred and seventy thousand dollars had to be written off on films which now figure at $32,000 only on the asset side. This sum is merely regarded as an estimate, since future receipts from distribution cannot be judged because of the difficulties confronting utilization of old stock under the anti-double bill ruling.

Stock to the amount of $235,000 has been written off altogether.

Neue Deutsche Lichtspiel Syndikat G.m.b.H., founded on the ruins of the old company in the summer of 1933, handled the utilization of the old company's assets and managed to pay off all small creditors. Negotiations are being carried on with a view of disposing the old film stock for a lump sum. In that case it seems possible that a quota of 3 or 4% may be distributed among the chief creditors hitherto unpaid.

N. D. L. S. is 96% in the hands of Tobis and a group of exhibs, the other 4% being owned by a bank.

Par's Criterion Vamping Till Dietrich Is Ready

Paramount's distributing branch, having a lease of six months on the N. Y. Criterion, is using it up in any way it can. Lease is with the receivers for the mortgagor, the Farmers Loan & Trust.

On Villa's' exit last week, Par turned the Crit into a grind, 25c at all times, marking another for an already cluttered-up Broadway, and will turn stuff product into the house until Dietrich's 'Scarlet Empress' goes in on a two-a-day basis.

Granowsky All-Star Pic

Paris, May 5.

Granowsky, Russian film director, undetered by the expense of 'King Pausole', is now announcing that in 'Moscow Nights', his next, he will make an all star pic for the first time in France.

Has already hired Annabella Spinelly, Harry Baur and Pierre Richard-Willm. Story was specially written for filming by Pierre Benoit of the French Academy.

SOUND SCHOOL

Urged by IBEW on Coast for Two Indie Antagonists

Hollywood, May 14.

With two independent groups of soundmen organized to resist all efforts to force them into any labor organization that is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 40, which holds contracts with major studios covering jurisdiction of the craft for pictures, is combatting the union objectors by endorsing a commercial school for sound recording and motion picture projection.

Endorsement of the school by the IBEW is the first instance of its kind where the union has made such a move. Behind the tieup is seen the determination of the union to place IBEW members in all sound jobs in the studios with the exception of the top positions which require highly trained technicians. IBEW local is recommending to members who are interested in the school, idea being to replace all those sounders who object to joining the union.

Unusual angle to the school's backing by IBEW is seen in the fact that instruction is also offered students in film sound projection. This despite the fact that picture machine operators are under the jurisdiction of the International Alliance of Theatrical tage Employees.

Spot Contest Winner

Hollywood, May 14.

Gwenllian Gill, Paramount search-for-beauty winner, is the lone femme in the cast for Monogram's 'Shock' (Ralph Forbes). Male contingent includes Monroe Owsley, Reginald Sharland, Billy Bevan, Clyde Cook, Douglas Walton, Alex Courtney, Ola Hytten and Montague Shaw.

B&K RENEWS ON LOOP McVICKERS TO NOV. 1

Chicago, May 14.

Balaban & Katz retains the loop McVicker's theatre, having paid off until Nov. 1. Last week B. & K. made payment for the two forthcoming periods May-August and August to November.

Total payment was $80,000, vided into groups of $35,000 $45,000 for the two periods.

THE FAMOUS CANINE COMEDIAN

PETE

THE ORIGINAL "OUR GANG" DOG

Pete, the "Our Gang" Dog, is an actor in a class of his own, and a very high class at that. You'll love him. —Washington Herald.

Now—This Week—May 11
STATE-LAKE, CHICAGO
For Open Dates Write or Wi
CHAS. V. YATES
1560 Broadway New York

BEN BLUE

WARNER BROS. COMEDIES
Dir. JOE EIYKEN
LEO MORRISON, Agency

"THE CHICAGO EXAMINER"

LAUGHTER IN ABUNDANCE MARKS NEW PRE-EASTER CARNIVAL AT THE EMPIRE ROOM

By CHARLIE DAWN

The Palmer House is glorifying jugglers in the pre-Easter Carnival, presented last night in the Empire Room. . .glorifying all for laughs.

Building a new show for the Empire Room, in view of past productions, must have been fraught with nerve-wracking moments for the officials in charge. I've seen exceptionally good floor shows at the Palmer, and, unconsciously, I've worried more than little about how the new show would be built.

The idea of having jugglers in a big role might not appear important or even interesting on the surface. Yet the Three Swifts, better-than-ordinary jugglers, with a penchant for comedy, made the houseful of guests laugh last night—and laugh heartily—with their club throwing and comedy chatter plus thrills for those who happened to be sitting at the ringside. The Palmer House management could easily produce a show along stereotyped lines, but apparently the thought of the usual revue wasn't in order.

A SWIFT TRIO

Presenting the Three Swifts, who came to Chicago after a thirty-seven week engagement at the Savoy Hotel, London, would be considered a terrific gamble if the Palmer Housers thought along the lines of the average bright spot operators. But fortunately, they sought the "something different"—and found it in far greater measure than expected when the Swifts took the floor and the complete attention of last night's diners and dancers. Indian clubs—bright red—were the only "props" of the Swifts as they went through their comedy paces. They combined comedy with artistry in juggling and their goings-on made Palmer House patrons laugh loud and long.

THE THREE SWIFTS

20 Weeks at the Hotel Savoy London

5 Weeks at the Palmer House Chicago

NEXT 9 WEEKS PLAYING THE LOEW CIRCUIT

Open for Cafe and Hotel Engagements After July 13

REPRESENTATIVES

CURTIS & ALLEN WILLIAM MORRIS AGENCY IRVING TISHMAN

JUST COMPLETED SIX WONDERFUL WEEKS IN CHICAGO—TWO YEARS IN COTTON CLUB, NEW YORK

NICHOLAS BROTHERS

ORIENTAL—UPTOWN—SOUTHTOWN—MARBORO—REGAL—GRAND TERRACE CAFÉ

WEEK MAY 4, PARAMOUNT, NEW YORK, (Last Week)
Personal Manager, HERMAN STARK

WEEK MAY 11, PARAMOUNT, BROOKLYN
Representative, PHIL BLOOM

Irving Pl. Performers Win Dismissal, But Mgr. Held on Indecency Charge

Indecent show charges against 10 burlesque principals arrested last March in a police raid on the Irving Place, New York, were discharged in Special Sessions last week on the recommendation of the District Attorney's office. But Abe Potal, I.P. house manager, arrested in the same raid, was held on the same charge for trial May 24 in bail of $500.

District Attorney's office said it had advised Mayor LaGuardia of its opinion as to the guilt of the performers, and that the chief executive had voiced no objections. D. A.'s office stated it did not hold the actors responsible. It's a state law, anyway, that actors cannot be held responsible for objectionable performances.

10 Principals

The 10 performers, mostly strippers, were June St. Claire, Ruth Tieper, Ruth Rose, Nancy Bohn, Margie Hart, Mickey Markwood, Martin Bohn, John Cook, Floyd Halicy and Bert Marion. Their appearance in court was not required, although originally they had been held over for Special Sessions after appearing and waiving examination in magistrate's court.

Reported to have some bearing on the D. A.'s lenient attitude was an official commendation of the New York burlesque managers for the manner in which they have 'cleaned up' their shows lately.

The Irving Place raid, in which License Commissioner Paul Moss accompanied members of the police department and d.a.'s office, climaxed a drive by Moss against allegedly indecent burlesque shows. It resulted in a concerted whitewashing movement by the managers, led by I. H. Herk, who ordered the scrapping of runways among other reforms.

The Irving Place is owned by the family estate of the former New York District Attorney, Thomas C. T. Crain. It is operated in stock burlesque by Max Willner, with I. H. Herk having an interest.

25c Vaudfilm Goes Into Majestic, Chi

Chicago, May 14.

Aaron Jones opens the Majestic June 1 with vaudfilm. Despite original intentions for a band show policy, house goes five acts and pictures, with the band in the pit.

Top admission will likely be 25 cents.

Bert Levey Gets Two

Los Angeles, May 14.

Bert Levey office has added the Kino, Albuquerque, N. M., and the Empire, Victoria, B. C., to its books.

Both stands are for three days each.

HERK IS NOT ELIGIBLE FOR BURLEY AUTHORITY

Washington, May 14.

Election of Code Authority for burlesque industry was reported near today as NRA officials awaited affidavit from National Burlesque Association before setting wheels in motion.

Denying that I. H. Herk, president of N.B.A., is under consideration for appointment as government member, Deputy Administrator William P. Farnsworth said today steps to set up governing body will be taken as soon as figures are received showing number of members of national trade association. Representation will be on proportionate basis, with association probably having majority of the nine places. Herk is out of the question for government post since NRA regulations provide Federal member cannot be actively connected with or have financial interest in the industry.

In New York it has been understood all along by Herk and other members of the managers' association that the Empire wheel head would be a code authority executive secretary.

Likely membership will be six NBA members and three outsiders.

NORTHWEST HAMRICK SPOTS GO NAME VAUDE

Seattle, May 14.

Keighley & Roscoe have been appointed bookers of stage attractions in Seattle, Portland and Tacoma for the John Hamrick theatres. Locally this means the Music Hall; in Portland and Tacoma, the Music Boxes.

Opening major bookings, in conjunction with Fanchon & Marco, are: Duke Ellington band, Portland, currently; Seattle, May 19, and Tacoma, May 26. Ted Lewis ork, Portland, May 19; Seattle, May 26, and Tacoma, June 2. Hamrick houses up admish from 40c to 55c at Music Hall for the stage attractions.

Plan is to have name acts at intervals of two weeks. Kate Smith, Olsen and Johnson are due to follow the Ellington and Lewis bands.

Minor, Root's Flash

Minor and Root, dance team, will head a combination of two or three acts in a minnie unit scheduled to open Friday (18) at the Albee, Brooklyn, and follow into the Palace, N. Y.

Phil loom of Rockwell-O'Keefe office, arranging the act.

Marcus Loew
BOOKING AGENCY
General Executive Offices
LOEW BUILDING
ANNEX
160 WEST 46TH ST.
BRyant 9-7800 NEW YORK CITY
J. H. LUBIN
GENERAL MANAGER
MARVIN H. SCHENCK
BOOKING MANAGER

That B'way Jinx

(Continued from page 1)

typical Broadway example. House, normally a $20,000-$22,000 grosser, grabbed $27,000 with Penner. Air comic's deal was $10,000 for himself and the show, plus a percentage split. But percentage was one of those arrangements, calling for a 50-50 division over $31,500. State's record is $40,000, established a few years ago by Jack Dempsey, but doubtful whether it has reached $31,500 since cutting its scale.

ing Arithmetic

But Penner's $10,000 straight, without percentage, increased the average stage show cost by around $5,000, and in addition $1,000 or so over normal was spent by the theatre on advertising. That $6,000 increase in operating overhead for the week resulted in the theatre losing in the neighborhood of $3,000 on the week. The picture that week was 'Catherine the Great.'

Among the radio names who have failed to knock 'em cold in the Broadway picture houses, at top salaries are: Ed Wynn, $10,000; Jack Pearl, $8,500; Roxy and Gang, $10,000. Rest of the list takes in all radio names who have played Broadway, and that means about all radio names.

When the Palace was the Palace a radio name usually meant business, but in these days there weren't half a dozen real names on the air, and these fared not so well on subsequent Broadway picture house appearances.

Some observers have sought to connect the other names' Broadway theatre weakness with the free radio broadcasts available to the metropolitan public. Between the NBC and CBS audience commerci ls, about 25,000 people are drawn to the radio studio shows in New York each week. But surveys have shown the bulk of this attendance to be the non-theatre going type, while even if that analyses were incorrect, it's doubtful whether 25,000 potential theatre-goers out of 7,000,000 could make much difference.

Reason has not been satisfactorily explained, but it remains a fact that New Yorkers won't take the trouble to ride downtown in large numbers to view a radio light in person. Further evidence of this is in the fact that when playing the New York neighborhood theatres the radio names draw as well as they do out of town.

Unlike Broadway, the main streets of the country are partial to air turns, especially local or nearby station fans, who invariably pack 'em in when playing theatres in their home territories.

Same In Chicago

Chicago, May 14.

No special draw for the downtown theatrical district of Chicago in the matter of radio headliners. They do much better, proportionately, in the neighborhood houses than when playing the variety stands on State or Randolph streets. B&K Chicago theatre archives could produce a list of radio personalities who played that big house at fancy figures without upping the grosses enough, if any.

Amos 'n' Andy enjoyed a good week at the Chicago. However this was during the World's Fair last summer and it was noted at the time that the blackface pair while drawing heavily seemed to be getting the tourists rather than native Chicagoans. Thus tending to confirm the validity of the theory that radio personalities do not duplicate their provincial magnetism when appearing at the sophisticated downtown crossroads.

Oddly enough while the radio headliners have, in general, done only fair at the north end of the loop where the big variety houses are located at the opposite end of the loop, 12 blocks away, is that number one sock of broadcasting, the perennial WLS Barn Dance show which fills the Eighth Street theatre twice every Saturday night at 75 cents top and without a motion picture.

Local Faves Okay

Minneapolis, May 14.

Local radio artists are proving ace box-office draws on personal appearances in film houses. 'Tim and Teena,' a local fav on WCCO-CBS for the past two years, has been touring Publix and other houses in the territory, playing two-day stands and clicking.

Publix theatre in St. Cloud, Minn., grossed $1,800 with the attraction on Saturday and Sunday, nearly double usual takings.

City Will Issue Summons in Agents' N. Y. License Test Case, Says Moss

Darrow Report

(Continued from page 5)

enblatt for preparation of answers to criticism about film pact. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson said as soon as all division bosses had rendered their reports he would send his report to the White House and predicted full publicity will result.

Ask Rosy's Ouster

Other developments in this important sector were:

1. Disclosure that report demands immediate ousting of Divisional Administrator Sol Rosenblatt.

2. Disclosure that Darrow group calls for sweeping changes in administrative provisions of film code.

3. Congressional condemnation of President's handling of Darrow findings.

4. Admission that NRA will abandon efforts to codify small intra-state industries and is losing momentum.

Reopening of all codes assaulted by Darrow, particularly the film pact, was under consideration as the least humiliating and most effective means of satisfying complaints investigated and substantiated by Darrow board. eventual overhauling of these pacts is foregone conclusion, but Administration's objective is to delay such action until after Congress has gone home.

A concerted drive to force the Darrow findings into daylight was loosed in Congress immediately after President's refusal to make complete report public. Senators Nye and Borah, whose attacks on Gen. Hugh Johnson's establishment led to creation of the Review Board, openly attacked the Chief Executive and derided his excuse that the report is too voluminous. Nye pointed out that document comprises only 6,000 words and threatened to reveal its contents on the Senate floor if White House does not back up in censorship effort.

Rosy Unruffled

Revelation that the Darrow crowd called for prompt removal of Rosenblatt as unfit, prejudiced, and inefficient brought no expressions of alarm from film code author. 'I'm not worrying about that, Rosy asserted, with air of complete confidence that he can override objections to his conduct and attitude.

Snarl over future of the board was matter of major significance as Darrow revealed intentions of running for several more weeks despite White House statement that board would fold at the end of this month. Another sore spot was the status of John F. Sinclair, sole friend of codes on the board, whose resignation as submitted along with a minority report but has not been accepted. Maintaining that President had accepted Sinclair's withdrawal, Darrow crowd proceeded to elect W. W. Neal of North Carolina vice-chairman in Sinclair's place.

Additional light thrown on manner in which report was prepared last week included revelation that reviewers have called for entirely new method of administering codes and particularly attacked the setup of the film C.A. Alternative plan submitted by Darrow group involves creation of Code Authorities with equal representation for large, small and Government groups. A 5-5-5 Code Authority is recommended for film industry.

Theory behind this suggestion is that capitalistic system has failed to bring stability and orderly conduct; that self-regulation under Government watching has failed; and that only solution to economic problems is equal division of control of industrial affairs. Darrow group tacitly admits that outcome would be virtual Government dictatorship, with little industry reps and Government members of code authorities joining forces to keep big competitors in hand.

Early end of entire NRA organization grew more probable in light of Gen. Johnson's retreat from field of intra-state business where thousands of code violations have gone unpunished and major obstacles have been encountered. This fact, combined with Darrow attack, is expected to result in virtual abolition of the Johnson machine as soon as the Congressional session has ended.

Scrapping of all codes is admittedly a possible consequence of the changed situation, although Johnson expressed the opinion that good features of compacts will continue to live.

Summonses to one or a group of unlicensed agents will be issued this week by License Commissioner Paul Moss of New York for a test case on the Employment Agency Law. Conferences were Saturday (12) by the commissioner with Paul Windels, Corporation Counsel, to go over the law and make sure of the city's case.

While Moss could not say on what day the summonses would be issued, he did state that he is anxious to get it over with as soon as possible, due to the fact that it is getting past the date when the licensing should have taken effect, May 1. He added, however, that around 100 applicants for licenses have come in from the B'way district in the past 12 days, or since he started to issue subpoenas to the agents to appear at his office for private questioning as to their business relations with acts.

50 Subpoenas

About 50 subpoenas issued in the past week to RKO, Loew and indie agents represented by Maurice Goodman and Harold Goldblatt were disregarded, the agents turning them over to their lawyers. Goodman, as he told Moss on May 4, called the License Commissioner as each subpoena came in to inform the city official that the agent it was aimed at would not report downtown.

It is not the intention of the agents' lawyers to abide by Commissioner Moss' test case, when it comes, if the court's decision is in favor of the licensing move and the first legal experiment subject is convicted of evasion of the Employment Agency law. Agents' lawyers contend that each rep's case is different and that Commissioner Moss' first summons may hit outside their clients and reach an agent who is really an agent and should be licensed. Their clients, the lawyers contend, are personal managers.

In the 100 license applications Moss claims to have received, none of the RKO, Loew and indie agents represented by Goodman and Goldblatt is included.

Loew Resumes Vaude In Syr.; House Mgr. To Sub for Penner

Syracuse, May 14.

Loew's State will swing over to a vaude policy on Friday (18), offering Joe Penner and four other acts.

State will do five and six shows daily during the Penner engagement, except on Sunday, when the radio star will be off the bill to fulfill broadcast obligations in New York City. Harry F. Shaw, house manager, will step in to replace Penner on Sunday. He is an old-time trouper.

INTERSTATE TO CLOSE UNTIL COOL WEATHER

Interstate's unit time folds after this week for the duration of the summer. Final unit, Janette Hackett's 'Cheer Up,' opened Dallas Saturday (12).

Sudden heat wave decided Karl Hobiltzelle and Bob O'Donnell, operators, to revert to straight pict until the fall, when units will return to the four weeks of time.

Charlie Freeman, booker, will place attractions in Dallas and Houston for occasional weeks during the hot months when available. Is dickering at present with Sally Rand for a week in each of the two towns on percentage.

Indie Houses Will Continue NVA Drive on Strength of 'Name' Short

Favorable reaction to the NVA talker short, used as a trailer during the NVA Fund drive last week has resulted in an indefinite extension of the drive. In addition to the 2,487 theatres that participated in the regular drive, which ended Friday (12), between 1,000 and 2,000 indie theatres throughout the country will play the short and take up collections during the next three weeks.

Cast in the trailer consists of Walter Huston, Jimmie Durante, Robert Montgomery, Block and Sully and Lanny Ross. Many theatres last week gave it special billing on the strength of the names.

Estimated gross on last week's collections is $200,000, which would exceed the 1933 take by $80,000. But no precise figures are available, since the only reports in thus far are from a few independents and some individual cities. The circuits haven't yet filed their returns.

Budget Obtained

At any rate, the reorganized NVA Fund feels confident that the coming fiscal year's overhead will have been obtained on the drive, with possibly something to spare. Last year's $200,000 operating cost for the Saranac Lake Sanatorium and the New York social end will be considerably reduced this year through economies already effected and more to follow. Harold Rodner, handling the NVA reorganizing for the circuits, expects to have the New York clubroom problem solved this week, with removal from the costly West 46th street clubhouse to be arranged before June 1.

Los Angeles, May 14.

NVA Relief Fund week here wound up with around $3,500 in the till. Three Warner houses collected about $2,000. All spots made four collections daily.

Paramount had a box in the lobby and the take was 30 cents.

What They Thought

Los Angeles, May 14.

Orpheum, one of several local theatres participating in the NVA drive, collected $460.71 for the fund.

Management says many of the customers thought they were dishing out for the NRA.

PERMANENT ORG FOR INDIE REPS.

Independent Vaudeville Artists Representatives' Association, new organization embracing the principal New York indie agents, has commenced to function on a permanent basis. Phil Coscia is president.

Other officers elected last week: Sid Hall, vice-president; Buddy Lee, treasurer, and Don Sherwood, secretary.

On the board of governors are Sam Shepard, Sammy Burke, Bill Schilling, Al Rickard, Lew Sharp and the four officers.

Duals and 7 Acts Is One Way a Theatre Tries to Lick Slump

San Francisco, May 14.

Fox-West Coast with its Fox Orpheum, Oakland, is instituting first-run double bills and seven acts of vaude at 40 cents top.

Oakland situation plenty tough these days. F-WC figures duals the only way to keep even, despite the Orph being the only vaude house in town. It's booked by Bert Levey.

Two pix and vaude go into the RKO Golden Gate here next week (23) at 40 cents, with Levey also booking this spot.

Publix Minnesota Goes In for Occasional Vode

Minneapolis, May 14.

The Minnesota theatre, 4,200-seat ace Publix deluxe in this territory, will offer occasional stage attractions along with pictures. This will make three local theatres with such a policy, the others being the State (Publix) and the Orpheum (Singer). Minnesota this week has Roxy and His Gang, with Mary Pickford scheduled for her first local personal appearance at the same house the week of June 15.

Since reopening, Minnesota, after being closed nearly three years, has operated straight pictures up to this week.

Scollay Out

Boston, May 14.

Scollay set to drop vaude May 19, and go double films for summer.

This will leave stage shows at only Met and Orpheum.

FISHER'S SUMMER TRIO

Arthur Fisher landed three summer spots this past week, all to open with vaude Thursday (17).

Mayfair Gardens, Baltimore, a converted theatre with a Casino de Paree policy, will play four acts on a full-week basis. Theaters in Patchogue and Bayshore, L. I., bearing the names of the towns will play five acts each on a split-week policy.

Grace Moy's Divorce

Hollywood, May 14.

Grace Moy, vaude and screen actress, has filed divorce proceedings in Superior court against Lloyd (Hib) Boston, non-pro.

Miss Moy, who has just been tested by Metro, charged extreme cruelty in her action.

RKO-WB GET $1,700 IN CHICAGO FOR NVA

Chicago, May 14.

NVA collections in Chicago last week amounted to $1,700. Collections were made only by RKO and Warners, the former getting some $750 at its sole Palace theatre, while Warners collected the remainder through its group of southside neighborhood spots.

Balaban & Katz turned down the NVA collections, claiming that it was just an annoyance to the public. Aaron Jones was not even informed about the NVA drive, he claims, and therefore the State-Lake was not included in the drive.

Murphy to Set English Unit on American Base

Bob Murphy will return to England next fall, taking some American talent over with him with a view of producing a variety unit there. He'll import the rhythm section of a stage band, a dance stager, producer and a couple of specialty acts, and build a show of native artists around the U. S. nucleus.

Murphy just got back from London, where he played 11 weeks. He played four weeks out of nine at the Palladium, three of them on repeat bookings. Last week he opened for Loew's for eight weeks, after which he'll do the usual summer lazy bones on the Murphy farm.

Sybil Vane's Cut

Sybil Vane returned to New York from Europe last week after a three-years' absence and immediately went into the Mt. Sinai hospital, where Dr. Goldstien performed an eye operation.

Actress reported doing okay. Operation was long postponed and traceable to a scarlet fever attack when she was a child.

FAY COURTNEY TO ORIENT

Portland, Ore., May 14.

Fay Courtney leaves after her engagement at the Capitol for Shanghai, to appear at the Cani Drome for three months.

CASINO MAKES FULL SWING INTO DUALS

Casino, New York, which went from straight vaude to vaudfilms three weeks ago, completes the cycle May 18, when it drops the stage shows to take on double features.

Indie combine of Haring & Blumenthal and Jack Shapiro continues to operate.

Russell Markert Music Hall's Pro Tem Stager; Leonidoff Vacationing

Markert becomes the stage producer at the Radio City Music Hall for a month, batting for Leon Leonidoff who goes to Europe on vacation this week. Up to yesterday (Monday) afternoon Leonidoff hadn't decided which boat he's going to take, but was sure of going some time during the week.

Markert stages the dances for the Hall's Rockettes (formerly Roxyettes). Like Leonidoff, he came over to Radio City from the old Roxy.

While abroad Leonidoff will combine biz with pleash, combing the Continent for production ideas.

TOM KELLY NAMED AFA REP. IN PHILLY

Philadelphia, May 14.

At a meeting Friday night (11) in Musicians' hall here, the United Entertainers' Association of Philadelphia was formed, with Tom Kelly elected president. Kelly was also appointed local representative of the American Federation of Actors.

Speakers at the meeting included Ralph Whitehead, executive secretary of American Federation of Actors; Harry Calkins, who represented the Musicans' union; J. H. Carson, and Frank Lynch.

State-Lake Returns To Sunday Openings

Chicago, May 14.

State-Lake theatre reverts to Sunday openings this week (20).

Aaron Jones originally opened this house on Sunday, but switched to Friday openings about four months ago. Figures the Sunday debut a better header for the World's Fair mobs.

Seeing No Future for Himself In Vaude, M. Schenck Quitting To Learn Loew-Metro Film End

Marvin Schenck, Loew's vaudeville booking head, is withdrawing from the vaudeville end by gradual stages, preparatory to transferring altogether to the picture and theatre fields. But he'll remain with his own organization, Loew-Metro.

For the time being, Schenck continues officially as the circuit's head booker under the exchange's general manager, J. H. Lubin, but will devote part of his time to duties in the Loew theatre and Metro picture offices. By fall it is expected Schenck will step out altogether, with Sidney Piermont in line to succeed him in the booking office.

Schenck is Lubin's son-in-law and a nephew of Nick and Joe Schenck. A short time ago he had an opportunity to join the latter through a United Artists connection, but declined. He also turned down a recent chance to go to the Coast for Metro in an undefined capacity, preferring to remain in New York and learn the business from the home-office end.

Concurring with other present-day vaudeville bookers, Schenck sees no future for himself in the variety field and feels it is time to step into a more progressive branch of the industry. Another vaudeville booking head, with the same opinion of his future in vaudeville, and who gave up a high salaried job for a change of scenery, was Harold Kemp, who left Warners to go with NBC.

Schenck has been the Loew head booker for 11 years.

One Way Out

Clifford Wayne, who heads a troupe of Sioux Indians, and Ray Shannon were standing on the Palace beach talking last halves and such.

'Well,' said Wayne, 'guess I'll go home and feed my Indians.'

'Why bother?' asked Shannon. 'Let 'em go out and hunt!'

WASH. INVASION TOUGH ON ACTORS

Washington, May 14.

Rush of 500,000 visitors to the capital during the past three weeks hasn't harmed the theatres, but the vaude acts playing it are paying for it in hardships. Crowded condition has been forcing the actors to take their choice of stopping at boarding houses on the city's outskirts, or commute from Alexandria or Baltimore, nearest towns where hotel facilities are available.

Local stage-show houses use about 15 acts a week, and the majority have been living out of town. When a Washington hotel does have an open room, the rates are so high the average act can't afford it. An illustration is the $20-a-day rap at the Willard.

The big show in the upper and lower houses of Congress is drawing most of the visitors. Last week's cherry blossom festival was another tourist attraction.

B&K Holds Cherniavsky

Chicago, May 14.

Josef Cherniavsky remains with the B & K Chicago theatre as orchestra conductor, going into his second year as baton-waver.

Cherniavsky had been set to move over to the nite club Cascades, in the remodeled Auditorium theatre, when B & K prevailed upon him to renew his contract.

Bramson Supervising B.&K. Vaude Bookings For 3 Ace Houses

Chicago, May 14.

Realignment in the booking set-up of B. & K. practically brings Sam Bramson into the main booking office of the circuit to supervise the Oriental, Marbro and Uptown.

Bramson will handle these spots in conjunction with Laurence Golde, who will submit vaude material from the William Morris office in New York. Golde was in for a day last week conferring on general policies.

GOOD ENOUGH REASON WHY PITT'S OFF VODE

Pittsburgh, May 14.

Flurry of stage shows in two downtown deluxers, Penn and Stanley, seems to have petered out as quickly as it started. Only thing in sight is Guy Lombardo's booking at Stanley May 25 with possibility that Penn may get Lupe Velez same date, although not definite.

Penn, with eight weeks of stage shows recently, made money on only two, Joe Penner and Buddy Rogers. Stanley made a little with Eddie Cantor and broke even with Sally Rand.

Aside from these, however, has been plenty costly.

Skater Reynolds as Ind. Democrat Conv. Delegate

Rensseiaer, Ind., May 14.

Earl Reynolds, of the vaude skating team of Reynolds and Donegan, has been nominated as delegate-at-large to the Democratic convention from northwest Indiana.

Reynolds will be a delegate not only to the State Democratic convention, but also to the national convention.

Delmar, Agent

Harry Delmar, actor-producer, leaves for the Coast this week to turn picture agent.

John Bonney, lawyer-backer of 'Delmar's Revels,' bought out Delmar's share in the unit and intends to revive it next season on his own.

Inside Stuff-Vaude

First known time that a white performer replaced a colored actor in an all-colored show occurred at Proctor's, Newark, for the 'Hariem On Parade' unit. He who went out was Danny Small, m.c., because his pay envelope was blank due to i.o.u.'s. His replacement was Hal Fimberg, who wrote a couple of songs for the unit and staged the dances.

Small waited until the overture had started for the last performance before he delivered his ultimatum to Jack Klotz, producer. Bill Robinson, who headlined the revue for the one week, tried to arbitrate the matter without success. So after the pit ork had gone into its third rendition of the overture, Klotz ordered Fimberg to black up.

Tab version of the opera adaptation of 'Emperor Jones' by Eugene O'Neill-Louis Gruenberg is off for the picture houses.

Idea was to get Jules Bledsoe for the titular lead, but apart from the great vocal difficulty to sing the operatic tab three and four times daily in a presentation theatre, the circuits also admitted that their average pit orchestras would be unable to cope with the Gruenberg score.

When Lanny Ross played the Palace, N. Y., some months ago, at $750, a Loew booker looked at the act as a possibility for his house. Report on Ross then was a definite n.g.

Last week Ross completed his second successive seven day stanza at the Capitol, Loew booked, at $2,500.

Minneapolis musicians union decreed that even though the stage entertainment consisted entirely of George Olsen and his orchestra, the State, Publix house, would have to employ a pit orchestra of a minimum of 10 pieces. The theatre didn't use the pit orchestra, but turned over $600, the amount that it would have cost, to the musicians' union.

While Maurice Goodman and Harold Goldblatt are working as a team in legally representing the combined Loew-RKO-indie agents' groups in their battle against the proposed New York City licensing, Goodman is getting a retainer, but Goldblatt is serving gratis.

The library at the NVA Sanatorium, Saranac Lake, N. Y., needs replenishing. Present library has been neglected and most of the books are extremely old. NVA would like actors and others to send books to the San when they are done with them.

Loew agents' association, newly reorganized, is seeking to make a deal for group life and disability insurance for its members, including both franchise holders and associates.

NEW ACTS

AL BERNIE
Impressions
10 Mi
Paramount, N. Y.

Al Bernie is a youngster who has acquired something of a rep around Broadway through (1) being Rudy Vallee's protegee and under his direct personal management; and (2) through working with Vallee at the Hollywood cabaret-restaurant, Broadway nitery. That Vallee's judgment is more than adequately sustained becomes apparent from the gong, for Bernie is an unusually clever mimic. He's a youth in his early 'teens whose stage presence is that of a veteran and whose talents are quite extensive.

He was an individual click in this presentation, although permitted to run too long. Like every youngster, he did everything in the catalog. He runs a gamut of radio numbers, with a dash of screen impressions, starting with 'The Shadow' and through 'The Goldbergs,' Vallee, a hoke soprano, Arliss, Hepburn, Durante, 'Little Caesar,' Joe Penner and a dash of Ed Wynn. It's all good, but some much better than the rest, and in toto too long.

He could forget Arliss, Hepburn, Wynn, the soprano, possibly Vallee (excepting as a salute to his sponsor), and still have plenty on the ball, for the others are the real highlights. His opening 'Shadow,' with the effects of sirens, rat-tat-tat of machine gun, plus the supplementary byplay later on of barnyard calls, etc., afford him ample opportunities for demonstration of his versatility.

Bernie (no relation to Ben) is one of the comparatively new faces around the Broadway deluxers, although enjoying something a newspaper columnist rep because of his long Hollywood nitery engagement, plus the intermittent broadcasts with Vallee. He's corking stage timber having the combined assets of youth and ability to project himself into visible acclaim. Abel.

PHIL HARRIS and LEAH RAY
Orchestra, Songs
Paramount, N. Y.

Phil Harris and his orchestra with Leah Ray as featured songstress, supplementing Harris' own vocal abilities, does not figure strictly as a New Act. As a presentation it's a vet on the air and in the smart nite spots on both coasts and in between. But as a stage act there's no record of coverage thereof.

As an indoor rostrum presentation, Harris' bandology is as adaptable to stage as it is to air, hotel or cabaret dance floor; or even to screen, for Harris has made one notable short and a not so notable feature for Radio Pictures.

Here at the Paramount he's billed as with his Palais Royal orchestra. They just closed at the Palais for the summer and have an ether rep to further bolster the booking.

As distinguished as Harris' is Leah Ray's individual performance. She's a looker with charm and a voice, who registers markedly from the front and has likewise evidenced screen ability in a short. Both are unusually effective in the vocal doubles, while Harris' own deep-voiced delivery has previously attracted ether attention and comment. His voice lends itself also to the Bert Williams school of dialectic talk-songs, but he's wise to eschew it because his rangy, romantic personality goes best with the more contemporaneous pops.

Harris-Ray belong in the new ether alumni cycle of those radio attractions who, having built up something of a mike vogue, can go into the picture houses and cash in on it. It's good for once-around for almost any of 'em and good for institutional bookings for the outstanders. Harris orchestra and Miss Ray should attain a place in the latter classification. Abel.

GEORGIE TAPPS
Dancers
5 Mins.
Paramount, N. Y.

Georgie Tapps has been around, previously with a quartet of girls and latterly on his own in presentations, but not individually recorded. He's one of the most advanced contemporaneous tapsters with a basic terp ability that compels attention and a youthful personality and style that cements the favorable impression. Tapps is one of those talented hoofing prodigies who will become an overnight sensation in some Broadway show. When the anticipated Broadway musical comedy resurrection materializes next season he may find his ultimate setting, although he's pliable and highly adaptable to any rostrum presentation.

Seemingly the Paramount customers know their taps for their hand-to-hand music interrupted him on occasion. After the first rhythmic number Tapps essayed an announced tap session to 'La Cumparsita,' current tango fav, and registered as handily. Abel.

CALIFORNIA REVELS (7)
Dance Flash
11 Mins.; Full (Special)
Academy, N. Y.

Contains nothing by way of specialties that are not generic to acts of its kind. Opens with 6 good looking girls in abbreviated sequins of black and white doing an intro verse. The 'full' drape setting is used all the way even for solo specialties that lose effect against such a broad stage setting. Trick panel above a 6-step stairway centered back ups to reveal a boy and girl who do a swinging tap duet. The one punchful moment is when a trio made up from the line does some military precision stuff. Lighting hardly commendable and the white drapes with black borders used for the setting regardless of what it backgrounds can't be termed apt staging. Finaled here on a 5-act layout and that's all. Act has a good blonde back bender. Shan.

MOORE and REVEL
Comedy Dancers
Paramount, N. Y.

This mixed hoke comedy dance combo has been around, but not previously noticed individually, according to the records. And, for the records, working into a picture house presentation, their actual clocking is difficult and must be approximated at around five mins.

The idea's not new, starting legit ballroomology and into the clowning, but Jane Moore's exceedingly funny gondolas and the way she holds those dogs is something new. Their own style, too, is impressive.

After the bright hoke start, Phil Harris' m.c. announcement of the Carioca only brings on another version of the Spanish comedy hoofing in 1934 dress. Withal they're more than averagely satisfactory as a sight laff act, ideal for the big capacities. Abel.

HELENE DANI
Singing
11 Mins.; One
Academy, N. Y.

From radio Miss Daniels comes to vaudeville as a soloist of merit and almost a certainty to please everywhere she plays. What retards her from being a definite sock is a routine of songs lacking a standout arrangement and, especially, a lilting rhythm number.

Working behind a mike and with differently tinted pin-spots for each of her six songs, Miss Daniels easily held the audience here through sheer quality of voice. Mellow, smooth timbre of the latter is perfectly adaptable to the ballads she sings. Her general delivery is far above the average of the usual run of ether performers, although she can still strive for greater ease in her arm movements.

In the middle frame here and off to good applause after a set encore.

Glucksman Producing Another Variety Short

E. M. Glucksman's Mentone company is producing another variety short this week at its New York studio.

Bob Hope and Armida top the cast. Title is 'Soup to Nuts.'

Pat West Okay

Pat West, comedian, who was injured while driving to Hollywood, was reported discharged from a Denver hospital last week. Accident happened near Denver, the car being demolished, according to word received by John J. Kemp, who handled the insurance.

Machine was a Ford owned by Bobby Connolly. West was accompanied by the director's Jap valet, who was more seriously hurt.

STOOGERY PERSONALS

Hollywood, May 14.

Howard, Fine and Howard will do two weeks of personals between comedies at Columbia.

Trio opens at the Palace, Chicago, Friday (18), and follows this with a week at the Michigan, Detroit.

DONN ON THE HUNT

Lee Donn, London vaude agent, is in New York. After two weeks will go on to Chicago and Hollywood.

Scouting for talent.

UNIT REVIEWS

MET, BOSTON
('UP POPS THE KING')

Boston, May 12.

'Up Pops the King,' announced as breaking in here has its best asset in John Murray Anderson's monicker as producer. As a show it's n. s. h., needs plenty attention, and smacks as too hastily out of the workshop. Even sets look too new-painty, like garish gewgaws in a toy store.

Before it's gone far, idea pops up it's a cross between human pygmies and grown-ups, and nil happens to change the notion; just a hybrid crossing of Singer's Midgets and man-sized talent with gaudy backgrounds, and both the Lilliputians and the big folk losing caste in the misfit on balance.

Opens with 'Pop Up Hook' number, Ernest McChesney tenoring introduction, Alton girls alding, and midgets filing out of the 'book.' Cleverest bit of business of show. As adults look on, up goes cover of book, scenic castle showing, and parade of pygmies enters from castle door, special hit being the 'beef eaters.' King is the last, the teeny-weeniest of all.

Next, Doc Rockwell comes on with his lecture on human anatomy, and he got plenty laughs with his zany patter, torso model, etc. Promising was the setting for next, a 'cage number,' stage revealed animal arena style, with boxes ranged round such as lions and tigers pose upon. McChesney is the trainer, and the snap of his whip puts the Alton girls through their routines. Meta Carlye, dancer; Delmar Twins and Nita Krebs, comely midget lass, go through a nice adagio routine.

Then a march of the midgets and the grown-ups, colorful but not much else. Rockwell next sits, with king in tiny chair at his side, and patters as Madelyn Meredith and Wes Adams do their ballroom dance stuff. Japanese Garden number is merely cute, then a yellow number, chorines (10) in that color costumes. Kay Picture danced to nice applause.

Hilarity episode was Rockwell's scissoring of titan Barbara Stoll's red gown as she tried to sing.

Flashy mirror set with two small bars for finale, brought suggestion of 'Wonder Bar' inspiration; if so, weak. More song and dance, and best was when center turn-tabled, bringing into view the midget band, which was about the only thing left of the Singer Midget original variety act. Then the ensemble to close. Libbey.

MARIE PURL UNIT
(ORPHEUM, LINCOLN)

Lincoln, May 11.

This show has two legs to stand on, but no body, so to speak. During its whole 45 minutes the Julian Stanley Collegians, eight-piece band, featuring Frankie Davis, nut drummer and a burlesquing spring dance trio composed of Billy and Jimmy Harvey and Reggie Vestal, are the only standouts. Other stuff is just fair filler. It suffers from the usual unit trouble of too much dancing and that in jaded routine.

Opus opens full up on the stage band which hots into a medley of college tunes closing with one that's closest home for a good mitting start. Bobby Dyer, m.c., and uke man, introduces the eight James dancers, line of femmes, who do some fairish leg-and-arming to clear the stage for some following funny biz with the m.c., Reggie Vestal, Mickie McGlynn and Marie Purl participating.

Harvey Brothers with four of the line do a fast tap and step aside, allowing Miss McGlynn to sing two numbers. Cute and a looker, she puts her stuff across by personality alone.

Harvey and Dally, mixed team, offer an offtime broken rhythm dance which is pushed off by a trio aping the 'By a Waterfall' pic number. Band whips up the lagging tempo of show at this period and socks over for an encore. Group has an empty bottle-steam calliope bit combined with contortions by Davis that's the gem of the show. Almost immediately afterward comes the spring dance which rated a laugh here and is about as ludicrous as three nut comics could manage.

Dance of the line after this is an Egyptian number is its best, both in lights and novelty. Then finale. Probably would have been better to get the spring dance just ahead of the final flourish, which would send the audience out still shaking.

Show bills a shadow dancer (plume waver in disguise), but she was yanked after the first performance because the powers thought the edge had gone off with five previous acts of that type considered. Haxton Sisters give enough bare flesh to the offering anyhow.

Troupe is owned and was staged by Marie Purl. Barney.

PAULINE COOKE
1674 Broadway
STADLER and ROSE
Sixth Month
LONDON—PARIS—GERMANY

Last Week, Tower, Kansas City
This Week
ORIENTAL, CHICAGO
'WHITEY' ROBERTS
Next Week, Lyric, Indianapolis
Dir. FRED ROSENTHAL

RETURN ENGAGEMENT
RKO PALACE, NEW YORK
(This Week, May 11)
CHAS STUART and HARRY LASH

RETURN ENGAGEMENT WITHIN SIX MONTHS
After a Successful Western Tour
JACK ALLEN and BETTY KENT
With Capable Co-operation of JIM and MAUD CARR
RKO PALACE, NEW YORK (This Week, May 11)
Personal Direction MARK LEDDY
RKO ILES INGALS

STILL THE GREATEST CHINESE ACT
OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD
LONG TACK SAM
Featuring His Daughters
MI-NA and NEE-SA
RKO PALACE, NEW YORK (This Week, May 11)
Direction SIMON AGENCY

FOUR FRANKS
Casino Theatre, New York (This Week, May 11)
NOTE:—We have set our European bookings back to January, 1935, due to our Fair dates, which start August 15.
Personal Direction—SIMON AGENCY

FREDDY SANBORN

VIOLET CARLSON
RKO PALACE, NEW YORK (THIS WEEK, MAY 11)
Personal Representative
WM. S. MACK, Palace Theatre Bldg., New York

Variety Bills

NEXT WEEK (May 18)
THIS WEEK (May 11)

Numerals in connection with bills below indicate opening day of show, whether full or split week

RKO

NEW YORK CITY
Palace (18)
Vic Oliver
(Four to fill)
(11)
Allen & Kent
Paul Gerrits
Violet Carlson
Stuart & Lash
Long Tack Sam
Academy (11)
1st half (15-21)

DES MOINES
Keith's
2d half (22-24)
Sally Rand
DETROIT
Fox (18)
Hal LeRoy
Ken Murray
Adler & Bradfor
(Two to fill)
Gracie Barrie

MILES INGALLS
Presents
PAUL GERRITS
ALLEN and KENT
PALACE, NEW YORK
Now
VIA LEDDY & SMITH

9 Gay Boys
Millard & Marlin
Frank Richardson
Gaynor Wolf & H
Manzone & Keene R
2d half (15-17)
Mickie & Gray Rev
Chas Chase
Keller Sis & L
Tommy Mack Co
Howard Woods Oro
BROOKLYN
Albee (18)
Jerome Mann
Harris
Leah Ray Orc
(Three to fill)
(11)
Mattison's Rhythms
James & Arno
Sims & Bailey
George Beatty
Eddie South Orc
Madison
1st half (19-20)
8 Daveys
Jack Randall Co
(Three to fill)
1st half (12-13)
Arthur Petley
Ruth Ford
Lavitt & Lockwood
Sims & Lynton
Tilyou
1st half (12-13)
Gus Dutthers
Hal Chamberlain
Pappy Ezra & Zeke
Joe Phillips
Mickles & Gray Rev
Cedar Rapids
Keith's
2d half (15-17)
Sally Rand Co
CHICAGO
Palace (18)
Show Rev
(11)
Sweet & Low
Ramona
Jack Fulton
Hal LeRoy
CLEVELAND
Palace (18)
Mr & Mrs Crawford
(11)
Sir Jesse Crawford
DAVENPORT
Keith's
1st half (11-14)
Sally Rand Co

Buster West Co
Eddie Garr
Walter Winchell
KANSAS CITY
Mainstreet (18)
George Olsen Orc
Ethel Shutta
NEWARK
Proctor's (18)
Capt Willie Mauss
Frank Conville
Eddie South Orc
Charlie Foy
Ruiz & Bonita
(11)
6 Whirlwinds
I & N Stevens
Vic Oliver
D & E Barstow
Weist & Stanton
NEW BRUNSWICK
Keith's
1st half (19-20)
Lou Duthers
(Three to fill)
1st half (12-13)
Frank Reckless Bob Nelson
Al Verdi & Thelma
Virginia Watson Co
ROCHESTER
Keith's (18)
Arthur Petley Co
Gracie Barrie
Buster West Co
Eddie Rubens
(One to fill)
(11)
Benny Davis Co
SIOUX CITY
Keith's
1st half (18-21)
Sally Rand Co
SYRACUSE
Keith's (18)
Benny Davis Co
(11)
Parker Sandino Co
Milo
Bomby Co
Arren & Broderick
Great Gretanoes
TRENTON
Capitol
1st half (18-21)
Hilton Sis Rev
1st half (11-14)
Bernard Bros & Sis
Bernard & Gray
Nell Kelly
Toto
2d half (15-17)
A Night in Harlem

Loew

NEW YORK CITY
Capitol (18)
Warings Pennsylv's
Boulevard
1st half (18-21)
3 White Flashes
Kirk & Laurence
Wm Hall Co
Doyle Donnelly
Lynn Burno Co
2d half (22-24)
Laing Bros & M
Rita White

State (18)
Casting Campbells
Gypsy Nina
Carl Shaw Co
Buster Shaver Co
George Givot
L Gay & Reiss Bros
Valencia (18)
Ed Sullivan
Harry Rose
Saxon Sis
Edna Sedgewick
Cackles O'Neill

OFFICIAL DENTIST TO THE N. V. A.
DR. JULIAN SIEGEL
PARAMOUNT BUILDING
This Week: Jane Williams; Chappelle & Carlton

Johnny Lee & 3 L
Sid Marian Co
4 Casting Stars
Orpheum
1st half (18-21)
Arthur LeFeur Co
Foley & LeTure
Samuels Bros Rev
Joe Morris Co
Bomby Gang
2d half (22-24)
Diaz & Powers
Stratt'rd & Mayb'ry
Irene Taylor
Radcliffe & Rogers
Beatwell & Tora R
Paradise (18)
Lewis & Moore
Bob Murphy
Phil Spitalny
(One to fill)
BROOKLYN
Gates Ave.
1st half (18-21)
Laing Bros & M
Robbins Sis
Johnny Lee & 3 L
Sid Marian Co
4 Casting Stars
2d half (22-21)
2 White Flashes
Kirk & Lawrence
Jerome & Ryan
Bobby Pinkus
Lynn Burno Co
Metropolitan (18)
Johnny Perkins U

Cardini
3 Scamps
Lucille Page
Sheila Barrett
BALTIMORE
Century (18)
Seller & Wills
Al Trahan
(Two to fill)
BOSTON
Orpheum (18)
4 Cards
Parker Wynne Co
Roy Smeck
Larry Burns Co
Clifford Wayne Co
JERSEY CITY
Loew's (18)
Greenwich Vil Fol's
NEWARK
State (18)
Spices of 1934
PROVIDENCE
Loew's (18)
4 Gyralis
Gene Arnsey
Stone & Lee
3 Swifts
Mann Robinson & M
SYRACUSE
State (18)
Joe Penner Show
WASHINGTON
Fox (18)
DeMay Moore & M
George Prentice
Lupe Velez
Larry Rich Co.

Paramount

NEW YORK CITY
Paramount (18)
Dave Apollon Rev
Sally Rand
BOSTON
Metropolitan (18)
Bayes & Speck
Long Tack Sam Co
BUFFALO
Buffalo (18)
Hal Sherman Co
Pichiana Tr
Eunice Healy
Poet Prince
CHICAGO
Chicago (18)
Simms & Bailey
Hal Menken
Park & Clifford
(11)
Gloria Swanson
Thurston Hall
Walter Greaza
Ray & Sunshine
Manrine & Norva
Marbro (11)
Solly Ward

Stan Kavanaugh
Harris 2 & L
4 Mullen Sis
Burns Mack Arty & B
Oriental (18)
Melson & Irmanette
Rome & Gaut
Dale Rhodes
Gine DeQuincy & L
(11)
Duncan Sis
Will Mahoney
Whitey Roberts
Vernon Craig
Earl LaVere
Rose Twins
Ted Cook
Alton Dancers
Tivoli (18)
Earl LaVere
Stan Kavanaugh
Hudson Wonders
DETROIT
Michigan (18)
Cliff Edwards
Paul Draper

Warner

ELIZABETH
Rits
1st half (12-15)
Hilyw'd M Box Rev
PHILADELPHIA
Earle (18)
Hollywood Rev
Stuart & Lash
Geo Raft
(11)
Honey Pans
Reynolds & White
Kay Hamilton

Geo Jessel
Seiler & Wills
WASHINGTON
Earle (18)
Roye & Maye Rev
Paul Geritts
F & J Hubert
Pappy Ezra & E
(11)
Jarl Renee & V
Oscar Lorraine
Van Horne Dancers
Cross & Dunn

Independent

CHICAGO
State Lake (11)
Wells & Fays
Harry Savoy
Joe Termini
'Chic' Kennedy
'Pete'
Redford & Wallace
3 Beverly Sis
Vern Buck
HOLLYWOOD
Chinese (indef run)
Gambarelli
Jack Powell

Cookie Bowers
Jackie Hughes
Billy Severin
100 Voice Ens
Grauman Ballet
LOS ANGELES
Orpheum (10)
Larrick & Knapp
Eddie Willis
Gresham & Blake
Mack Jack & Al
Al Herman
2 Little Figs

Fanchon & Marco

NEW YORK CITY
Roxy (18)
Teddy Bergman
Damsel Tr
Don Ford
Wesley Eddy
Foster Girls
(Others to fill)
PHILADELPHIA
Fox (18)
Bob Pearl
Billy Costello
Tom Dick & Harry
Chuck & Chuckies
Gladys Beck
Gilbert Diaz
Lane & Buddy
DENVER, COLO.
Orpheum (17)
Street Singer
Mack Jack & Al

Hadj Ali
(10)
F'rt'nello & Cirillini
Ada Duval
Heller & Ripley
LOS ANGELES
Paramount (17)
Kate Smith
Sunkist Ens
(11)
Street Singer
Jay Whidden Bd
Gary Nean & Gigi
Sunkist Ens
SAN FRANCISCO
Orpheum (18)
Ben Bernie Orch
(11)
Ted Lewis
Sunkist Ens

London

Week of May 14

Astoria D. H.
Elliotts
Canterbury M. H.
1st half (14-16)
Jean Florian
Strand & Wells
2d half (17-19)
Knealy Sis
Co as booked
Kit-Kat Rest
3 Wiere Bros
Co as booked
New Victoria
Marie Burke
Palladium
Mills Bros
Sophie Tucker
Dolorez Anee & D
Geo Lacy
Ted Lewis
Billy Bennett
Max & Gang
Payne & Hilliard
Will Mahoney
Hill & Hoffman
Trocadero
Guglielmatti
CLAPTON
Pink
Val Rosing
EALING
B'y Fallmadium
Fay Dawn
EALING HAM
Kinema
1st half (14-16)
Flack & Lucas
Girard & Gerard
Harum & Scarum
2d half (17-19)
Eddie Windsor
Co as booked
Premier
3 Matas
Conor & Drake
Effie & Sylvia
EDGEWARE ROAD
Grand
Reid Wayne & Dix
Shaw & Weston
Harry Wulson

FINSBURY PARK
Empire
Harry Roy Bd
Hutch
Ted Ray
Hatton & Manners
Dan Lipton 3
Low & Webster
Blondie Hartley
Red Fred
HAMMERSMITH
Palace
3 Wiere Bros
Fay Dawn
HANLEY
Regent
Al Berlin Bd
HOLLOWAY
Mariborough
Hillcrest 4
ILFORD
Super
3 Matas
Connor & Drake
Effie & Sylvia
KINGSTON
BLUE HALL
1st half (14-16)
Kenealy Sis
Co as booked
2d half (17-19)
Jean Florian
Strand & Wells
KILBURN
Grange
Reid Wayne & Dix
Shaw & Weston
Harry Wulson
LEWISHAM
Empire
3 Carlton Sis
Duncan's Collies
LEYTON
Beams Babes
NEW CROSS
Empire
Danny Malone
Florence & Clifton
Lloyd & Betty
24 Crona Babes
Donald Stuart
6 Sherry Bros

Kiraku Bros
Bennett & Williams
Kinema
Murray & Mooney
Turner Twins
Palmers Green
Palmadium
3 Australian Boys
PECKHAM
Palace
Murray & Mooney
Turner Twins
Bert Errol
4 Brownie Boys
PENGE
Empire
Carlisle & Brown
3 Van Strattons
Claude Lester
Edward Victor
Alice & J Day
Lucan & McShane
SHEPH'D'S BUSH
Pavilion
Margie Clifton & P
3 Virginians

STAMFORD HALL
Regent
Powell & Brett
Hillcrest 4
Moran & Eliof
STRATFORD
Broadway
Breams 24 Babes
TOTTENHAM
Palace
Val Rosing
WEST HAM
Kinema
1st half (14-16)
Eddie Windsor
Co as booked
2d half (17-19)
Great Gerard
Flack & Lucas
Harum & Scarum
WIMBLETON
Palais de Dance
Les Elliotts
WOOD GREEN
Palmadium
3 Australian Boys

Provincial

Week of May 14

BRIGHTON
Hippodrome
Layton & Johnstone
F & B Boston
Tracy & Vinette
Tex McLeod
Harvard M & K
Victor Moreton
EDINBURG
Empire
Gene Dennis
Tracey & Hay
Russ Carr
Claude Williams
Cable & Carr
Denver & Davis
Bobby May
Regent
1st half (14-16)
Donelli & Sutton
2d half (17-19)
Du Cross & Babette
4 Draytons
LEITH
Capitol
1st half (14-16)
Du Cross & Babette
4 Draytons
2d half (17-19)
Donelli & Sutton
NEWCASTLE
Empire
E & D Waters
Max Miller
Tom Handley Co
Lil Burgiss
Clapham & Dwyer
Fayre 4
Alec Halls
R & E Myles
NOTTINGHAM
Empire
Geo Formby
Co as booked
WOLVERHAMPT'N
Hippodrome
Louis Armstrong
Hastings
Jack Wynn Co
Addison & Sylvia
David Poole
Lucille Benstead
Ben Said
Mr. Thomas

Cabarets

NEW YORK CITY

Algonquin Hotel
Cookie F'rchild Orc
Jack King
Airane Rest
Ernie Hulst
Bal Musette
Millard & Anita
George Marshal
Pierre
Madam Georgette
Mme Yvette
Leon Bedore
Apache Orc
Bal Tabarin
Betty Calton
Paco & Estelle
Can-Can Orc
Beaux Arts
Lucien La Riviere
Thomara Doriva
Clara Larinova
Ines La Vall
Chichel Berryessa
Norman Astwood
Slitan & Marl
Maurice Shaw Orch
Lopez Escalinas
Casino de Paree
Frances Williams
Hal LeRoy
Jimmy Savo
Saxon Sis
Holland & June
Gomez & Winona
Cardini
Hinda Wassau
Leon Friedman Orc
Ben Pollock Orch
Casino Town Club
Bress Fletcher
Allan Cales Orc
Central P'k Casino
Eddy Duchin Orc
Florence & Alvarez
Chapeau Rouge
Peppy & Andrew
Frances Maddux
Marian Davis
Galli-Galli
Godoy's Tango Bd
Dick Gasparre's Or
Chateau Cresta
Sedane & Swar
Evelyne Darville
Dave Bernie Orch
Club Kentucky
Yvonne De Brier
Renee Bernardi
Doris Sax
Gene O'Reilly
Bobby Douglas
Kitty Kelly
Edith O'Hallissey
Peggy O'Day
Joe Lewis
Wilma-Novak
Honey Burns
Dorothy Maxine
Helen Jerome
Hal Thornton
Kentucky Club Orc
Club New Yorker
Jack Rees Orc
Club Richman
Jack Mason Rev
Lido Girls Oro
Commodore Hotel
Isham Jones Orc
Isabel Brown
Cotton Club
C C Rev
Alda Ward
Jimmie Lunceford O
Croydon Hotel
Charles Eckels Orc
Delmonico's
Blanche & Elliott
N Mortot & Boys
Sid Tomack
Selma King
Dorothy Van Alst
Satch & Satchel
Joe Venuti & Orch
Dubonnet
Joe Fejer Orc
El Chico
Tanco & Lorca
Las Aledas
Adelina Duran
Orlando Ricardo

A B C 3
Pilar Arcas
El Morocco
Arthur Brown
Joe C Smith Orch
Menendez Orc
Essex House
Glenn Gray Orc
Gov. Clinton Hotel
Enoch Light Orc
Ha-Ha Club
Danny Healy
Jack White
Jerry Bergan
Lillian Fitzgerald
Roth-Andrews Orch
H'lyw'd Restaurant
Ruby Valles Orch
Eddie Peabody
Moore & Revel
Beauval & Va
Mickey Pruntz
Iris Adrian
Mathea Merryfield
Marlon Martin
Frankie Klein
Gene Marvey
Jerry Lester
Holland Tavern
Florence Bender
Elinor Dade
3 Blue Chips
Hotel Dixie
Art Kahn Orc
Hotel Edison
Raginsky Ens
Hotel Gotham
P Van Steeden Orc
Hotel Lexington
Jack Little Orc
Hotel Lincoln
Pancho's Orc
Hotel Gt. Northern
Perdenando Orch
Hotel McAlpin
Sam Robbins Orc
Hotel Montclair
Harold Stern Oro
Mario & Florla
Hotel New Yorker
Charlie Davis Orc
Hastings & Harden
Leats Lane
Ruby Wright
Hotel Pennsylvania
Don Bestor Orc
Baron & Blair
Hotel Pierre
Jack Denny Orc
Hotel Roosev t
Rubinoff Orc
Kelly's
Chiquita Venezia
Peggy La Plante
Jeanne McCauley
Evelyn Thawl
Claire Osgood
Danny Higgens
Ira Yarnell
Carlos Lopez
Billy Shaw
Elaine McCoy
Carlos & Marchan
Joe Capella Orch
Kings Terrace
Sid Tomack
Rich'dson Orc
Leon & Eddie's
Chas Drew Bd
Ron Perry Orch
Maison Royale
Antobal Cubans
Marlborough House
Vivian Vance
Michael Zarin Orc
Mayfair Yacht Club
Walker O'Neill Orc
Dwight Fieke
Mori's Rest
Eddie Davis Orc
Moulin Rouge, B'kn
Larry McMahon
Connie Lang
Eleanore Gardner
Frank Morey

Martin Trini Orch
New Wonder Bar
(Union City)
Ann Pennington
Bernard & Rich
Gale Tracy & L
Lilly Lido
Noel Sherman
Billy Arnold
Joe Parks
Edith Lowe
Ernie Golden Orc
Old Roumanian
B Thomashofsky
Regina Zuchenberg
Ethel Bennet
Anna Flordorovna
Viola Cody Co
Sammy Calton
Dorothy Lee
Helen Dean
Sylvia Strauss
Frances Loring
Hy Lemberg
Ted Edwards
Grabowsky Orch
Palais Royal
Georgie Tapps
3 Ambassadors
Edna Sedgwick
Peggy Strickland
Loomis Sis
Leah Ray
Nitza Vernille
Ina Ray
Jerry Cooper
Machit & LaValle
Phil Harris Orc
Val Olman Orc
Paradise
NTG Rev
Morton Downey
J Johnson Orc
Felicia Sorel
Ann Lee Patterson
Needa Kinkaid
Bruno & Manon
Earl, Jay & B
Johnny Hale
Iva Stewart
Buck & Bubbles
Tess Gardell
Park Central Hotel
Chas Barnett Orc
Petit Palais
Dimitri & Virgil
Bilkeau Co
Nan Blackstone
Jolly Coburn Orc
Place Piquale
Dario & Diane
Marion Chase
H Rosenthal Orc
Don Alphonse Orc
Plaza Hotel
E & J Vernon
Orlando's Orc
Emil Colman Orc
Restaurant La Rue
Arthur Warren's O
Roman Tower
Nat Harris Orc
Russian Kretchuna
Kuznetzoff & N
Samovar
Mme Nicolina
Medneff
Simon Philipoff
Mon'negro & Dorita
P Zam's Gypsy Bd
Savoy-Plaza
Freddie Martin Orc
Sennet's Fub
Gertrude Moody
Zora Gale
Pat Whalen
Billy Calligan

Ann Rose
Chris Mechan
Simplon Club
Owen & White
Estelle Taylor
King's Jesters
Wm Farmer Orc
Sherry's
Harry Bush Orc
Mario & Flario
St. Moritz Hotel
Leon Belasco Orch
Wilkins & Meyers
Sheila Barrett
Vercell Sis
St. Regis Hotel
Vincent Lopez Orc
Minor & Root
Surf Club
Jack Myers Orc
Charlotte Murrie
Taft Grill
Geo Hall Orch
Tavern, B'klyn
Jack Murray Orc
Theatre Cafe
Chas Strickland Orc
Henry Fink
Tic Toc Club
Cross & Dunn
R & E Reyes
Sugar Marcel
Mimi Rollins
Pomeroy Girls
Buddy Fishers Orc
Tuscany Hotel
Bela Loblov Orc
Ubangi Club
Dave Martin Orc
Vanderbilt Hotel
Joe Moss Orch
Ward & Hopkins
Village Barn
Anthoni Trini Orc
Beth Chailis
Eddie Ray
Geo McGuire
Frances McCoy
Josh Medders
Sir Jack Joyce
3 Octaves
Ruth Delmar
Rose McLean
Village Nut Club
Cliff Clifton Rev
Nutsy Fagan
Bebe Moffee
Louise Mitchell
Allyn Reese
Walsh Bros
Eddie Clifford
Milt Spielman Orc
Waldorf-Astoria
Maurice Cordoba
Margo
Carmen
X Cugat Orc
E Madriguera Orc
Wash Sq. Club
Frank Farrell Orch
Wing Club
Weylin Hotel
Michael Covert Orc
Harriett Lee
3 Jays
Wivel Cafe
Amy Atinsan
Jack Wick
Lillian Lorraine
Ami Pax
Maidie Du Fresne
La Salle Orch

CHICAGO

Blackhawk
Seymour Simons
Earl Rickard Lo
Chez Paree
Gus Van
The Tick Tocks
Countess V'n Lossen
Maurice & Cordoba
Henry Busse Orc
Club Lasalle
Lucio Garcia
Billy Meagher
Joe Manni's Orch
Betty Chase
Jack Beaton Jr
'Sugar' Harolds Or
Club Royale
Lee Morse
3 Racket Cheers
Nellie Nelson
Saita & Annis
Dorothy Wahl
Fritz Miller Orc
College Inn
3 Evans Co-eds
Jackie Heller
Beuvell & Tova
Frankie Masters Or
Congress Hotel
(Joe Urban Room)
Kay Kendall
Robert Royce
Cherie & Tomasita
Colosimo's
Julia Lyons
Dorothy Henry
Deronda & Barry
Enrico D'Alba
Eddie Deering
Countess Horitzka
Signor Barsoni
Art Buckley
Bob Tinsley Orc
Club Alabam
Trudy Davidson
Eddie Roth Orc
Drake Hotel
Slavic Ballet
Stanley Hickman
Biltmore 3
Frances Adler
Harriet Lindgren
Ruth Lee
Ben Meroaders
Earl Burtnett Orc
Edgewater Beach
Esther Todd
DeRonda & Barry
Art Carroll
Harry Kosnik Orch
Harry's N. Y. Bar
Joe Bucklsy
Don Penfield
Germaine LaPierre
Harry Hanlis
Al Wagner
Billy Meyers
Elmer Schobel
Joe Buckley Orch
Hi-Hat Club
Sunny Gaer
Jimmy Cassidy
Effie Burton
Rick & Snyder
Ruth Barton
Dot Meyers
K-9 Club
Billy Brannon

Half-Pint Jaxon
Ed Casey Orc
Leon La Verde
Earl Partello
George Oliver
Marconi's
Rolando & Verditta
Gwen Gordon
Neecee Shannon
Marge & Marie
Virginia Buchanan
Bob Wyatt
Maurie Moret Orch
Club Minuet
Sylvia Lee
Yvonne Nova
Henry Mack
Adelina Dossena
Frank Sherman
Mural Room
(Brevort Hotel)
Earl Estes
Edgar Rice
Stan Ruloff Orch
Jaros Sis
Nut House
Moe Lee
Jo-Jo
Geo DeCosta
Harry Sherman
Jimmy Lane
"Opera Club"
Edwina Hershon
Lawrence Salerno
Tom Gentry Orch
Jose Rivas Orch
Flores & Harris
Palmer House
Ted Weems Orch
Lydia & Joresco
Stone & Vernon
4 Calif's
Larry Adler
Abbott Girls
Paramount
Dora Vaughn
Phil White
Julia Gerity 6
Edna Rush
Miss Harriett
Pearl Trio
Rainbo Gardens
Samovar
Leon Navarde
Dawn Sis
Lyle Smith Orch
Alice Rydner
Terrace Gardens
Roma Vincent
Ainsley Lambert R
Clyde Lucas Orc
Tin Pan Alley
Al Sanders
Sadie Hayes
Crane Sis
Vernon Craig
Gwen Lorry
Barnay Gugle
Stuart Woodbridge
Floyd Townes Orc
Via Lago
Bobby Graham
Crane Russell Orch
Zita & Marcelle
Jack Housh
Wanda Kay
Al Handler Bd
225 Club
Al Garbett
Edna Leonard
Billy Richard
Art West
Jean LaMarr

LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES
Biltmore Bowl
Hal Roberts Orch
Cafe de Paree
Hacker & Gray
Marguerita Lucille
Sims Sis
Wanda & Dona
Ken Willmarth
Cocoanut Grove
Velox & Yolanda
Ted Flo-Rito Orch
Club Ballyhoo
Donald Kerr
Anita Faye
Dorothy Ates
Lee McNally
2 Peaches

Donald Faverot Oro
Cotton Club
Ellington Orch
Hollywood Stables
Buchanan Co
Ted & Laurel
Ted Florito
Monia Hol
Joe Lewis rch
Paris Inn
Little Morocco
Pep Pontrelli Orch
Monte Carlo
Jan Wilde
Carla Montel
Rose Valyda
Morello Bros
Shapelle & R 2

Par. Reorg.

(Continued from page 5)

tion. Since common stock is of no legal value in bankruptcy, no one downtown or uptown will venture an opinion on possible outcome.

Kuhn-Loeb's own attorneys and the auditing firm of Price, Waterhouse will work on reorganization, with the bondholder and other committees co-operating.

Plan, when ready, will go to the trustees in Paramount, who as guardians of the bankrupt estate must decide whether it should be sent to the courts for approval or rejection. While the trustees have been co-operating in the assembling of data thus far gathered, they take no other direct part in the reorganization measures to be worked out by K-L and the banking house's associates.

Kuhn-Loeb's Interest

This gives K-L and its creditor allies, including the 12 big banks on the $13,000,000 flim-hocking deal, a bigger power than might have been anticipated. Sir William Wiseman may or may not resign from the Paramount boards of which he's a member, though at the K-L offices it was unofficially hinted there was no apparent necessity for resigning since under bankruptcy, boards do not function.

In addition to the Kuhn-Loeb house, the financial weight behind a reorganization includes many big money institutions, plus other big business. There are 12 New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and Los Angeles banks, into Par for over $13,-000,000 on the film-pawning deal.

Plus these there is Frank A. Vanderlip as chairman of the bondholders committee. Others in that group include Robert K. Cassatt, heading a large private banking house; Lawrence Stern of Stern & Co., Chicago, which formerly financed B. & K. and has had an important hand in Par matters; Duncan G. Harris, N. Y. realtor; Dr. Julius Klein and Morris L. Ernst, lawyer.

Trading in Par's common stock has not been heavy nor was there any market reaction to the letter made public by the bondholders' protective committee. This was not unexpected.

Bankers on Comm.

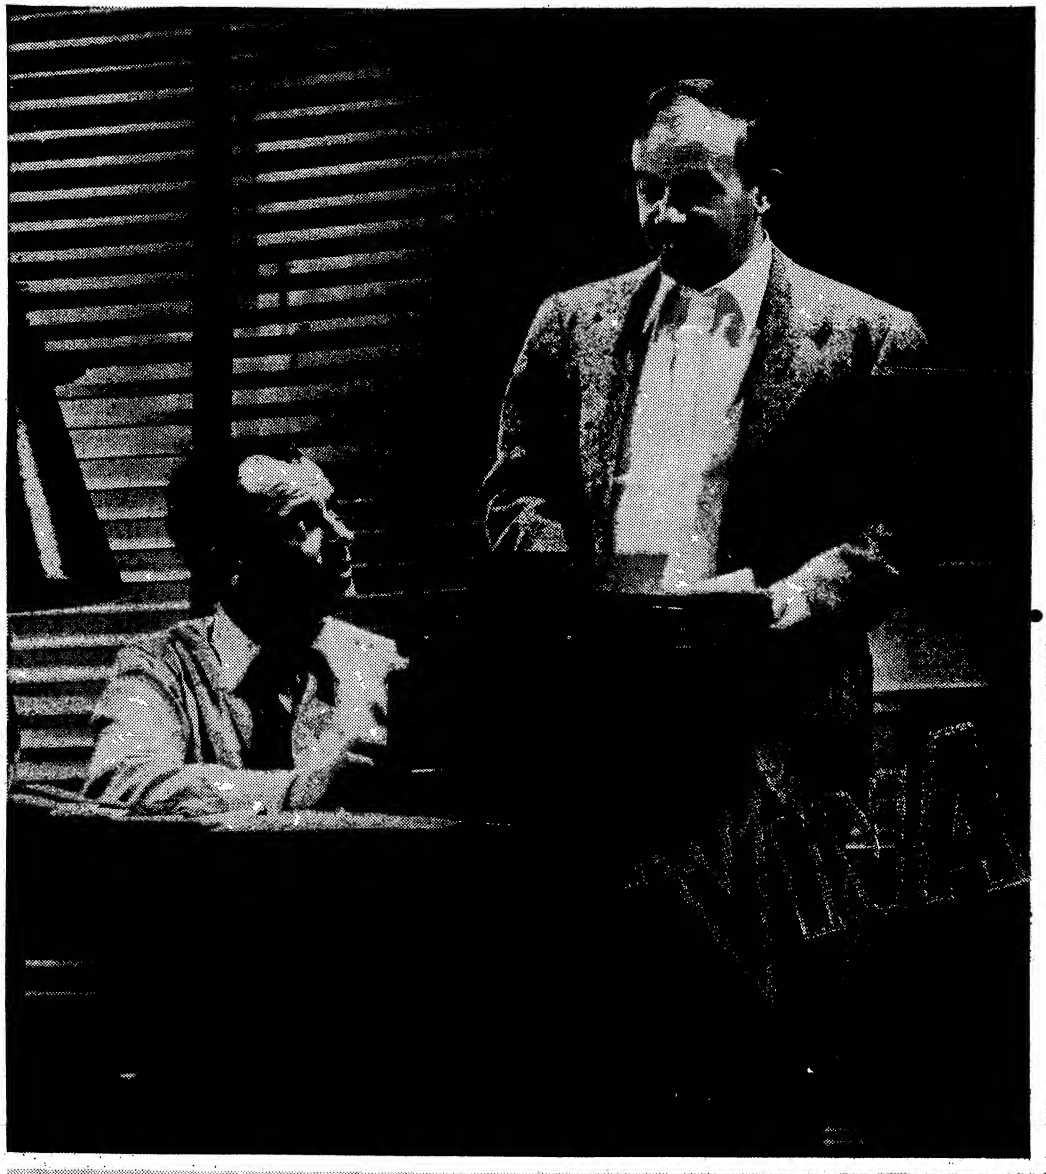
Two bankers are also on the stockholders protective committee, tee, Ruloff E. Cutten and Maurice Newton. Latter is president of Haligarten & Co., which with Kuhn-Loeb has taken an active part in private financing of Par for many years. Barney Balaban of Chicago is also on that committee.

Bondholder committee letter to bond owners stated that 'the need for early reorganization of Paramount has become increasingly apparent in recent weeks,' adding that 'the problem involves a wide range of difficulties which, in fact, have made an immediate start on the task of special importance.'

Revealing that there are more than 350 subsidiaries, at least one-third of which are in varying degrees of financial difficulty, the letter states that after elimination of duplication, the claims filed against Par exceeded $282,000,000.

Of this amount, to date, a total of around $16,000,000 has been expunged or withdrawn.

In view of the intricacy of the accounting questions involved under a plan of reorganization and various problems in trying to arrive at a fair estimate of values and earnings, the committee has brought in Frederick H. Hardman, former president of the American Institute of Accountants, with sole responsibility to the committee, to observe the data used by Kuhn, Loeb in preparing any plan and to analyze plans or drafts of plans which may be submitted. Also, Dr. Klein will continue to devote substantially all of his time solely on reorganization in behalf of the committee, keeping in close touch at all times with the affairs of Par and with its trustees.



"UNDERWORLD"

BEN HECHT and CHARLES MacARTHUR

writers and producers

Hecht and MacArthur are two of the day's most gifted and successful writers of stage and screen plays. Ben Hecht has authored such hits as "Viva Villa", "Underworld", "Scarface", "Topaze", "Design for Living". Charles MacArthur has written such film successes as "Get Rich Quick Wallingford", "Paid", "Sin of Madelon Claudet", "Rasputin". Together they have written such stage and screen smashes as "Front Page" and "Twentieth Century".

PARAMOUNT

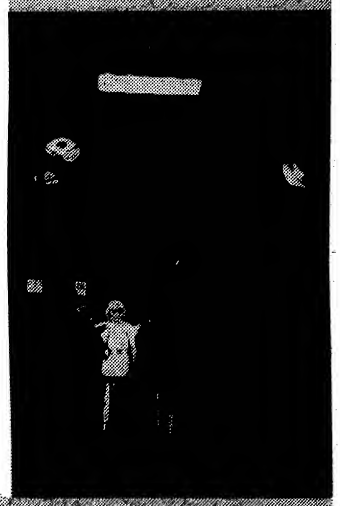
announces four pictures to be produced by BEN HECHT and CHARLES MacARTHUR

• The first of these pictures will be.

"CRIME WITHOUT PASSION"

with Claude Rains and a skilled cast of players. The thrilling and melodramatic story of an intellectual "Scarface" who called himself "Champion of the Damned"

Messrs. HECHT and MacARTHUR will be assisted by a quartette of technical specialists including Lee Garmes, ace cameraman, whose beautiful photography in "Zoo in Budapest", "Shanghai Express" and "Smilin' Thru" made these productions outstanding; Slavko Vorkapich, Hollywood's cutting genius; Arthur Rosson and Albert Johnson, famed scenic designer.



Paramount Pictures

Those Who Think You're Lousey Help Your Publicity, Sez George Burns

By CECELIA AGER

George Burns, all-around champion dipper-inner to pictures, vaude, radio and picture houses, and the boy sage of show biz, has a theory anent the frequency of a performer's appearances before his public. It goes like this, and it's as true for one branch of show biz as another; for the fundamental principles of show biz apply in all its fields: 'It doesn't matter how many pictures you make a year—if they're good. Just as it doesn't matter how long a consecutive time you're on the air—if you're good.

'The fellow who makes one picture a year—he's scared to death to make more. It's like vaude; if you can get off the stage, you've got an act. Anybody can get on—it's getting off that's the trick. Well, this fellow who's frightened to make more than one picture a year—his last picture was his forte exit. That one he knows was okay, but if he goes on again—can he get off? That's what worries him, keeps him from going on again more often. But the fellow who's got something that always gets him off the stage big, he doesn't have to worry, he can go on whenever he likes. Zasu Pitts makes a million pictures a year—and they keep right on loving her. She gets off forte.'

Gracie Allen, sitting listening all curled up in a big chair, nodded her head, said, 'That's right, George.'

So Mr. Burns, who's deeply fond of show biz and doesn't mind talking about it, went on.

'They're awfully nice to you in Hollywood,' Mr. Burns said. 'They came to me after 'Many Happy Returns' was finished and they said to me, 'Mr. Burns, do you mind if we bill Guy Lombardo above you?' So I answered, 'Look in our contract. Is there anything in it about billing?' 'No, why no, there isn't,' they said. 'That's our answer,' I said. I've always held, don't worry about your billing. It doesn't matter how big it is, how little. It's the people in the theatre that bill you; they award you the right size. It's hard to eat billing when you're hungry.'

'Yes, isn't it,' said Miss Gracie Allen politely.

'It's a funny thing,' Mr. Burns reflected. 'You feel a good picture while you're making it. You feel a good broadcast, too.'

Helpful Raps

'Radio,' he said. 'It's a good thing in radio if everybody doesn't like you. If everybody does like you, then there's no comment. They listen; when the program's over they say, 'I like so-and-so.' The other fellow says, 'I like him too.' So that's all, they're finished talking about so-and-so, they go on to something else. So-and-so's dismissed in a minute. But if everybody doesn't like you, someone says he does, someone else shouts you're louzen, there's a fight, and the argument goes on for hours. For hours they're talking about you. The audience adopts you, in radio. You're invited in to dinner, you eat with the family. They're proud of you, when you're good, and they apologize for you if you're bad.'

'Yes, I think it's terribly sweet of them to write to you when you've been bad, just as interestedly as they do when you're good,' said Miss Gracie Allen.

'Ever since we started, at the Hill Street in Newark,' Mr. Burns explained, in response to some remark about sponsor interference, 'we've never had any trouble, we've never made any complaints—we didn't know the people well enough to have trouble. We didn't know the theatre managers, we minded our own business, we got along. It's a nice thing not to know anybody, in the business end of your business. You can't argue with a man you don't know.'

'A man you don't know can't telephone you and say, 'George, I want you to do me a favor, George. George, will you please take it out,' id Miss Gracie Allen helpfully.

'We know actors—that's all,' said Mr. Burns, content.

The Jefferson Is Closed

The Burns and Allen apartment had been, meanwhile, slowly filling with interviewers. 'Publicity,' said Mr. Burns, while hospitably setting out glasses. 'The natural way is the best way. I always remember something Eddie Cantor said to us in our dressing room at the Palace. 'George,' he said, 'get that important that you're news.' When we had the Gracie Allen's brother gag, people used to ask us who was working on it for us. Nobody did. It was natural, and it grew. Let your work publicize you. We try to be a little better next week than this. My friends see me coming, dodge quick. 'Here's that Burns guy,' they whisper. 'He wants to tell a joke.' I drive them nuts, telling jokes, but I'm really breaking in gags. The Jefferson theatre's closed.'

Soon Burns and Allen are going to Europe for a vacation. Miss Allen wants to see Italy, and then they're going to London. Miss Allen's shopping for a beautiful stage dress. A stage dress? 'Well,' Mr. Burns confessed, 'we're going to play a week at the Palladium. We'd feel guilty if we went into London and didn't play a week.'

'TAXI' SCRIPT DISPUTE

WCAU Thi Story imilar

Philadelphia, May 14.

WCAU is burning at alleged similarity between the new Max Baer net work series for Goodrich Rubber and the local Philly show, 'Taxi Meter Listens,' is too pronounced to be just coincidental.

WCAU program, scripted by Arthur Bryan who also handles the CBS 'Bill and Ginger' show, has been running here for months. Show is based on what the cab driver hears in his rounds about the city. Station adds that even the opening sound effect of a taxi meter was thefted.

METRO'S COAST ETHER PLUGS; STUDIO CHORE

Hollywood, May 14.

Metro has inaugurated a regular weekly 15-minute program over KMPC, Beverly Hills, with the idea of plugging its pictures and personalities locally with an air chatter column plus occasional appearance before the mike of contract celebs.

Ernest Van Pelt, in charge of Metro's radio department, is spieling the news stuff. Also planned to use are records from sound tracks of Metro pictures.

TRADEWAYS REPORT DELAYS 711 MOVE

Transfer of the NBC Artists Service back to 711 Fifth Avenue from Radio City has been deferred until Tradeways, Inc., has submitted its report on the bureau. Tradeways spent a couple months giving the network's talent booking office an efficiency going over, observing the duties of each member of the bureau's staff and how the operations of the service interlocked with other departments in the organization.

Moving of RCA Victor into the Fifth Avenue quarters abandoned by NBC has been held up because of complications developed by the film recording phase of the Victor enterprises. Found to be in the way was the city ordinance pertaining to the storage of raw film stock.

CBS Sends Announcer Along for Naval Revue

Washington, May 14.

Fact that the U. S. fleet won't stop between Cuba and N. Y. will give Ted Church, CBS special events boss in Capital, a 10-day trip on high seas. Net is sending him aboard the U. S. S. Lexington in Cuba to sail up the coast and be on hand for a description of the review May 31.

Church will leave here May 20 accompanied by Earle Merryman, engineer. P. D Trout, CBS presidential announcer, will accompany Roosevelt up to the day of review.

NBC Survey Complete

Results of the nationwide survey taken for NBC to determine when the various members of a radio family are home and what they do while around the house are in process of tabulation. Covered by the inquiry were 38 cities.

Bill for the job will come to $20,000.

REDISTRIBUTION URGED BY WLWL

Washington, May 14.

Dispute over allocation of broadcast frequencies to educational and welfare groups, an issue which has precipitated major strife in the Senate, was laid directly before the House Interstate Commerce Committee last week as efforts to perfect the Dill-Rayburn communications control legislation were speeded up.

Proposal to revoke all licenses and redistribute facilities so that non-profit stations would receive 25% of all assignments was presented by Rev. John B. Harney of New York, Superior General of the Paulist Fathers, operators of station WLWL. Father Harney complained that under the present system church, educational, labor and welfare groups receive no opportunity to conduct their work by means of broadcasts.

Although assailed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. as too far-reaching and dictatorial, the Rayburn bill—minus most of the objectionable features of the Dill measure—received the qualified endorsement of the National Association of Broadcasters when Henry A. Bellows, CBS vice-president and chairman of the NAB legislative committee, urged passage in virtually the present form and opposed the Paulist Fathers' proposal as confiscatory and impractical.

NBC'S SALES BUILDUP PAMPHLET IN WASH.

Washington, May 14.

Inaugurating a campaign to build up local sponsored programs to replace coin lost by gradual sluffing off of night spot stuff, the NBC commercial office is getting results out of a new four-page weekly pamphlet sent to 600 advertisers, prospects and agencies.

Sheet carries week's programs, with open time or programs available set off by asterisks. Front page lead carries a banner yarn ballyhooing two local NBC stations, WRC and WMAL. Left-hand column uses pic of a current advertiser and a signed article which tells why John Zilch is on air and what success he has gotten out of it. Latter is the kind of testimonial the boys have been trying to get for years and clients fall for getting into print in a big way.

Policy of carrying a story on every new account signed has so intrigued advertisers that most of them follow a decision to go on station with 'Do I get a piece in the bulletin?'

NAB Meets Sept. 10

Executive board of the National Association of Broadcasters on Monday (14) named Cincinnati as the spot for this year's meeting of the membership.

Convention will open Sept. 10 and continue through the 12th.

Bengstons to Europe

Denver, May 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Bengston, of KLZ, have left for a six weeks' trip abroad. They are currently in New York in conferences at Columbia.

Mrs. Bengston's son, George 'Sonny' Reynolds, is accompanying them on the trip. They will land at Naples, and visit Italy, Switzerland, France and England. They will inspect every radio station possible, gathering ideas for KLZ.

Art Wooth, announcer, will sub for Mrs. Bengston as program director.

Air Line News

By Nellie Revell

WGY is a school for announcers. The Schenectady station has given Clyde Kittell, James Wallington and Frank Singiser to NBC; it gave Louis Dean, now with an advertising agency, to Columbia; Warren Munson to WDRC, Hartford; Roland Bradley to WEVD, New York; and L. J. Barnes to WLW, Cincinnati; William Fay to WHAM, Rochester; Lewis Avery to the Buffalo Broadcasting Company.

Scrambled Notes

WOR has applied to Washington for a facsimile transmitting license ....Dick Leibert and Mary Cortland start a commercial for Luden's coughdrops in the fall....'Your Lover', now a sustaining on WOR, will be brought to the air three times weekly over the NBC-WEAF network by Hines Ambrosia....Lillian Carmen, another Al Seigel protege, auditioned for NBC....Ethel Osterhout, member of the program department of WGY since 1924, is leaving to become the bride of Karl Hoffman, chief engineer of the Buffalo Broadcasting Company. Mr. Hoffman was formerly a member of the technical staff of WGY....The Dramatic Guild goes off the air for one performance May 24.

Short Shots

Irene Taylor returns to New York on the 20th, opening at Loew's Orpheum on the 22nd....George Hall will take his Hotel Taft orchestra on a three weeks' vaudeville tour of one-night stands in the South, beginning June 4....Camel cigarettes are due to leave the air June 5....Teddy Bergman is rehearsing for a humorous Chinese character who speaks pidgin English for a forthcoming broadcast....WGY, Schenectady, is originating 45 programs monthly for the NGC-WEAF network ....Ben Alley, who started on the Dill Tobacco show last Friday, is in line for a CBS evening commercial. Alley is still heard over CBS three mornings each week....Kay Seymour of NBC continuity department is in Flower Hospital....Lester Edwards is now with the Jay Faggen publicity corps....Earl Ferris will be married in July....Jerry Cooper has been signed as a CBS tenor and will be heard on his own programs.... Grace Hayes has made her 18-year-old son part of her vaudeville act and will shortly present him on her NBC sustaining programs....James Blakeley, who just went to Hollywood for Columbia pictures, formerly was with CBS in the publicity department....Vic Irwin and his Movieland orchestra will premiere at Longue Vue, Hastings-on-Hudson, with a CBS wire, May 25....Zeke and Ezra have a new 'Pappy' in their act, the former 'Pappy' got homesick and left for California, where he was formerly an an extra on a movie lot and before that a stock actor but never was a hill billy.

Jack Arthur's sponsor for his Wednesday commercial over WEAF had taken another period on Thursdays over WJZ to cover both networks. Arthur is signed to WOR, but all of his commercials are over NBC.... The fact that the Ipana Troubadours have been measured for uniforms is a sure sign of renewal of contract that was up May 12....Play Boys, three-piano team, are to be the nucleus of an orchestra under the direction of Felix Bernard that is to replace Vallee at the Hollywood restaurant....Palmolive show totals well over 100 artists....Harry Salter soon to leave the Hudson Vocalion show....Al Bernard, the NBC minstrel man, is in his 92nd week on an NBC network....Jerome Kern leaves for a six-week vacation of fishing, after which he will come back to make his air debut.

Stand By

James Montgomery Flagg spent several days in the NBC studios recently preparing sketches of artists for the coming issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine. The pictures are now on display in the concourse of the RCA Building....Bud Fisher and his orchestra, playing nightly from the Tic Toc Club of the Park Central Hotel with a WOR wire, have had their contract renewed at the club until September....Herman Timberg is under the management of Rockwell-O'Keefe....Olive White, manager for Lanny Ross, has formed a partnership with Mark Hanna and opened offices....Stuart Eggleston is leaving his present position to become affiliated with Rockwell-O'Keefe....Four Eton Boys just signed for a new steamship summer commercial via CBS....The Yacht Club Boys are playing in Galveston, Texas, and go to the Coast from there.... Announcers David Ross, Paul Douglas, Kenneth Roberts, Andre Baruch, and Harry von Zell, all of CBS, will be seen as well as heard in a short to be filmed at the Paramount Long Island studios....Doris Fisher, daughter of the songwriter, Fred Fisher, signed to sing and play the piano for Harold Stern....Leon Belasco's homecoming was delayed, but he gets in on the Paris today (Tuesday).....Starting June 1, Big Freddy Miller goes commercial for a shaving cream firm with three afternoon spots a week over the NBC red network.

Just Gossip

Charley Born, radio pianist, is to be Irene Taylor's accompanist when she goes on the road....Paul Whiteman's new 'Mystery Singer', Norman Lawlor, is a nephew of Governor Ibra C. Blackwood of South Carolina ....Morton Downey is slated for the Chez Paree in Chicago....Martha Mears is making a film test this week for RKO Pictures....East and Dumke, the Sisters of the Skillet, will stay on the air for Tastyeast all summer....Jeannie Lang may land a mistress of ceremonies-songstress job at a large Chicago hotel spot for the duration of the World's Fair.... Bennett Larson, the Katz agency man, is to handle the Ex-Lax account at CBS....Gene Marvey, WMCA tenor, goes into the Valencia theatre next week....NBC and CBS are both angling for the wire in the new Billy Rose music hall....Joe Haymes plays an engagement in Montreal May 15 as Buddy Rogers orchestra.

Short Notes

Walter Samuels, one of the Play Boys, is writing all of the music for Bobby Sanford's summer revue....Norma Talmadge retired from the screen when sound came in. Yet, according to advices from Columbia, she and Georgie Jessel begin a new CBS sustaining on June 3....Thelma Salzberg, in charge of WOR copyright department, has just returned from a minor operation....Alka Seltzer has renewed its contract with WOR for ten more weeks.

Cantor's New Scribbler

Hollywood, May 14.

Walter Schmidt, on the New Yorker staff, is writing material for Eddie Cantor's radio broadcasts to be resumed in the fall.

Schmidt came here as a junior writer with Hal Roach.

MRS. LINN EXPO P.A.

Chicago, May 14.

Martha Linn has been appointed chief p.a. for two World's Fair attractions, the 'Streets of Shanghai,' and the 'Dutch Village.'

Mrs. Lynn was previously associated with the Lord and Thomas agency.

CBS REVIVING BAND OFFICE IN CHICAGO

CBS Artists Bureau has added two men to its staff of band bookers in the New York office as the latest step taken by the network to expand its orchestra seling operations. Ralph Wonders, the bureau's manager, is slated to visit Chicago soon with a view of re-establishing a band booking office.

Two newcomers to the CBS band department here are Tom Martin and Bruce Powell. Former operated his own band booking business, while Powell once worked for RKO.

LINING UP AGAINST WLW

Engineers Strike, Picket WGAR; Patt Gets Injunction Vs. Union

Cleveland, May 14.

Strike of studio engineers at WGAR, Cleveland subsidiary of NBC, for wage increase ran into a dead-lock when Manager John F. Patt went to court and got an injunction stopping local reps of Electrical Workers Union from picketing obstructively the station's transmitting plant.

Situation became acute, according to Patt, when more than 20 pickets bottled up two engineers in the plant and refused to allow anybody to get in or leave it. At the same time six other engineers did a walk-out unexpectedly, forcing the station off the air for nearly two noon hours. Judge ruled that orderly picketing would be permitted, so union men are still on duty surrounding place.

Union engineers' fight against WGAR began five months ago and no settlement is in sight yet. According to H. J. Bufe, business agent for organization, they are asking for a wage scale of $45 a week for engineers of one year's experience, $50 for men of two year's experince, and $55 for workers of three year's experience. Three other stations in Cleveland have conceded to similar terms. Bufe claims he has been negotiating with Patt since last November, when a strike was first voted upon, and only issued orders for a walk-out when manager refused to come to any definite settlement.

Station has willingly offered engineers a scale of $160 per month for first year, declared Patt in answering union's complaint. Under his compromise they would get $180 a month for second; $200 for third, $220 for fourth year, $240 for fifth, $250 for sixth. Claims under this set-up their wages would average 85% better than the $130 per month figure set by the Federal Radio commission and NRA code.

When six of his 20 technicians engineers walked out, manager called in half-dozen from staff of WJR in Detroit to pinch-hit for the strikers.

Walter Preston Gets Chi CBS Talent Post; Engle Program Chief

Chicago, May 14.

Local CBS has rearranged its talent and program department by shifting Walter Preston to a newly formed section labelled Chicago Artists Bureau. Preston, who has been program director for several years, will busy himself assisting advertising agencies in building new programs, in finding new talent and in the possible booking of CBS talent in theatres.

Replacing Preston at the main program desk will be Holland Engle, while Ben Paley goes in as assistant. Paley, a cousin of president Bill Paley, has been daytime program supervisor. Franklin McCormick takes a step upwards from the announcing staff to become the daytime supe.

Wash.-Oregon Station Managers Talk Network

Seattle, May 14.

Western Broadcasters Association, composed of small independent stations of Washington and Oregon, held its annual convention here last week, discussing suggestions of advertising agencies for a third Pacific Northwest network.

Representatives of 12 stations elected the following association officers: R. T. Evans, KPCB, Seattle, president; Rogan Jones, KVOS, Bellingham, vice-president for Washington; Harry Reid, KXL, Portland, vice-president for Oregon; Bob Priebe, KRSC, Seattle, secretary-treasurer.

NO CBS LETOUTS

Employees Get Happy Message From the Boss

Personnel at CBS will stay intact through the summer. Network not only intends to maintain its present staff through the warm season, when business as a rule drops off substantially, but refrain from making retrenchments along other li

Assurances to this effect were conveyed to department heads last week.

ASK NRA HANDS OFF CODE FOR YEAR

Washington, May 14.

Suggestions that hours of employment be reduced further and wages boosted another notch met a blunt refusal from Radio Broadcasting Code Authority last week when counter-request was made to Gen. Hugh Johnson that the NRA take no action for at least one year to change code provisions.

Backing up James W. Baldwin, its executive officer who several weeks ago termed Johnson idea impracticable and injurious to industry, codists based their nixing of the proposal on these grounds:

(1) Employment of technicians has increased 11.9%; (2) hours of labor have been cut 9.8%; (3) Payrolls have bounded 21.1%; (4) true effects of code have not been sufficiently demonstrated; (5) commercial programs, only basis of revenue, continue to fluctuate materially; (6) employment is at record peak; (7) suggested changes would oppress and eliminate small stations and promote monopolies.

Meanwhile Code Authority was whipping into final form the second part of the report on employment of technicians fearful that document would serve as basis for reopening of code. Facts about conditions of employment do not look so good, it was admitted, and additional provisions may have to be inserted to perfect compact.

CROONER ARRESTED AS TEXAS MURDERER

Dallas, May 14.

J. McAnally, radio crooner and nite club entertainer, has been formally charged with the murder of a patron at the Golden Label cafe last week, after police broke down a fellow employee's ruse to blame an imaginary Negro hijacker.

According to testimony, McAnally, who had been drinking, arose from his seat after finishing a number and flashed a gun with the demand to 'stick 'em up.' All but one man complied. McAnally fired two shots at him when he dashed through a door.

Whether McAnally's 'holdup' was a spree of drunkenness or genuine has not been determined.

Schlitz to N. Y.

Schlitz beer program, spotted on CBS Friday nights, will likely have its point of origin moved from Chicago to New York.

Figured that by having its producing done here the stanza will have a wider range of talent to choose from for the guest spots.

WHAS-WSM-WCKY AND WSB PREPARE

Four Stations Will Sell Time Under Whatever Price WLW Sets for Its 500,000-Watt Service—Expect Cincinnati Super-Power Station to Claim Full Coverage of South

DEFENSIVE

20% Hop

incinnati, May 14.

A temporary boost of 10% in commercial rates for the 500,000-watt WLW will become effective July 1, and late in the fall there will be another boost of around 10%, announces John L. Clark, general manager of the Crosley Radio Corp. broadcasting department. The station jumped May 2 from a 50,000-watter to the world's most powerful radio churner. Its present charge of $990 per hour, after 6 p.m., is tops for air blasting.

Brewing among broadcasters in the south is a rate war that is without precedent in American radiodom. The clash is due to break as soon as WLW, Cincinnati, which two weeks ago went to 500,000 watts, announces its upped scale of rates.

In the jockeying for advantage now going on the Center of Population Group looms as the hub around which the opposition to the Powel Crosley, Jr., operation will rally. Membered in this regional network to date are WHAS, Louisville, 25,000 watts; WSM, Nashville, 50,000 watts, and WCKY, Covington-Cincinnati, 5,000 watts. Another 50,000-watter, WSB, Atlanta, has already indicated its intention to join this trio as part of a selling combination against WLW. Other high-powered outlets are expected to ally themselves with this combine.

WLW's Argument

Spread of the Center of Population combine has been prompted by the anticipation of a potent sales argument that WLW will set up after it has completed a signal survey of its 500,000-watt transmitter. WLW, the opposition figures, will assert that through its super-powered radiation it has achieved 100% coverage of the south. Armed with a survey to back up this claim, WLW is expected to eventually establish an hourly rate somewhere between $1,200 and $1,300, although first rate tilt may be below that.

To meet the competition of WLW for national and sectional business the Center of Population alliance will offer its collective station membership at a rate appreciably under that asked by Ci '' super-powered transmitter.

WLW's Bombing Threat

Cincinnati, May 14.

WLW's 500,000-watt transmitter plant, world's most powerful broadcasting station, has been guarded by deputy sheriffs of two counties and armed employees of the Crosley Radio Corp., owners, since Thursday (10), when authorities received a tip that an attempt to bomb it might be made. Report developed from a threatened strike by workers of Crosley's radio and refrigerator factories not allied with the A. F. of L.

WLW transmitter is at Mason, O., 22 miles north of Cincy. Location is in Warren county, whose officials are being helped by those of Hamilton county, which includes Cincinnati, in the protective step.

Jump of WLW from 50,000 to 500,000 watts was dedicated May 2.

Group-Bowen-World in Merger Of Spot Broadcasting Leaders Likely; ERPI Backing Possible

Merger leadi the field of spot broadcasting, Howe Bowen, Inc., the World Broadcasting System, now looks imminent. Proposition to bring these two elements together as part of the operation Group Broadcasting, Inc., served as a major point of discussion at a four-day meeting here last week of the directors of the GB organizations. Through the consolidation of the Bowen, World and GB enterprises the spot broadcasting phase of the industry, believe the advocates of the move, will be able to present a front as stable and solidified as that of the national networks.

Into the deal Group Broadcasters, a co-operative organization devoted to selling spot broadcasting on the group station plan, would toss its contractual alignment with 27 stations in the basic area. In addition to its sales and time booking setup World would contribute its sound studios, regarded as among the finest in the transcription recording business. Western Electric and its subsidiary, Electrical Research Products, Inc., looms in the picture because of the possibility of WE undertaking to finance the merged project.

In Percy L. Deutsch, head of World, and Scott Howe Bowen himself the GB directors realize that they have the two men chiefly responsible for the development of the use of electrical transcriptions in spot broadcasting as well as the creation of a selling technic for the spot phase of the industry. These two would function in the consolidated project as the idc L.en while a third figure of reputation in the advertising field would be brought in to head up the details and general management of the organization.

Nothing Definite

John Shepard, 3rd, president of Group Broadcasters, declared Saturday (12) that the merger idea had not been worked out in detail, but there was a possibility of its coming to a head within the next month. In the meantime, Shepard said, the GB organization would go along operating as it has the past two months, or since its inception. Under the present GB setup Bowen acts as the project's sales director.

Through the inclusion of the World Broadcasting interests the indie station operators as membered in Group Broadcasters feel that they would be in a position of making a more effective stand in competing with NBC's spread into the field of spot broadcasting.

For three years previous to the advent of the Group Broadcasters plan frequent gestures were made toward a merger of Scott Howe Bowen, Inc., and World Broadcasting, but at no time did these get beyond the stage of preliminary discussions.

SELLINGER JOINS NBC

Will Handle Advertising Agency Contacts for Web

Chicago, May 14.

Henry Sellinger joins the NBC program department on June 15 as talent and production contact with the agencies. In so doing he becomes assistant to Sidney Strotz, head of the program department, and takes some of the load off the Strotz shoulders.

Sellinger was previously radio exec with the Lord and Thomas agency here.

MAY CLOSE CHI DEPT., MOVE WEBER EAST

NBC may close down its stations relations department in Chicago and do all the goodwill contacting of associated outlets out of the New York office. Network's highers-up have this move under discussion.

Principally affected by the concentration of the gladhanding thing in the home office would be Fred Weber, station relations manager of NBC's midwestern division. With his department eliminated in Chicago he would be transferred back to New York and assigned to assist C. L. McCarthy, recently appointed headman of the associated station contacteer.

Underpaid Engineers, Over-Powered Signal, Jams KROW Two Ways

San Francisco, May 14.

Federal Radio Commission has hopped on the indie KROW, Oakland, for allegedly boosting the station's power over the allotted limit of 500 watts at night. Along with the commission's birch rod for the station is that of the NRA code authorities, too, since broadcaster has assertedly been paying its technicians about $60 per month, which is 'way under scale.

Bernard H. Linden, commissioner for this district, refused to deny or confirm the story that KROW's manager had ordered technicians to up the station's power from 500 to 1,000 watts at night, while continuing to log the power at 500. Station has 1,000 watts in daytime.

However, it's understood that the entire story will come up in Washington on May 23, when an oral meeting is slated before the commission on wavelength changes and power increases sought by KROW, KJBS and KQW.

Coast Fav Goes NBC

Hollywoo , May 14.

'Fran Watanabe and Honorable Archie,' a Japanese schoolboy type of daily script show which has been on KNX for three and a half years, also becomes an NBC sustainer today (Monday), being used on stations east of Chicago.

Serial has Eddie Holden, former vaude actor, in the 'Watanabe' part and Reginald Sharland, stage and film player, is 'Archie.'

Broadcast emanates from the NBC studio here Mondays to Fridays at 1:15 to 1:30 p. m. (EST).

L&F TACKING 'FAME' TO CANTOR PROGRAM

Lehn & Fink will shift its 'Hall of Fame' NBC half hour to Columbia the end of this year and tack this program on to the 30-minute show the same firm will build around Eddie Cantor.

Program with Cantor is to run from 8 to 8:30 p.m. Sundays. Then, with the addition of 'Hall of Fame,' Lehn & Fink will make it a full hour of opposition to the Chase & Sanborn presentation on NBC.

Chrysler has the Dorsey Bros. band tagged to do a series of 39 quarter-hour transcriptions. Placement will be on a three a week basis.

Journal's WTMJ-Hearst's WISN in Opp. Battle Stimulate 'Waukee's Music Biz

Milwaukee, Wis., May 14.

The battle is on between Milwaukee's two big radio stations—WTMJ, operated by the Journal and WISN, Hearst-owned.

Since the arrival a couple weeks ago of Ed Harvey from WCAE, Pittsburgh, as station program chief, replacing Harold Burke, Hearst has been pouring cash into WISN and has ordered the local sales staff to step on it.

For the past year or more the WISN forces have sought no remote control spots, because the station sported no band of its own. Now a station orchestra has been installed.

Anticipating this, WTMJ on April 1 started a round-up of spots not before on its schedule. Journal station has always had the Hotel Schroeder dining room, the Futuristic ballroom and Old Heidelberg cafe. Now WTMJ has lined up in addition Toy's chop house, Modernistic ballroom, Eagles' ballroom, Wisconsin roof and Vanities cafe.

WISN has tentatively signed the Riverview ballroom, and will soon have Pick's Club Madrid, former WTMJ; the Chateau Country club and Elks ballroom.

Break for Tooters

Since early in April the Milwaukee musicians' union has added 15 spots to its lists. So big has the demand for orchestras been since spring the union has found it difficult to supply bands for week-end jobs at the smaller cafes. As a result, for the first time in years, the books of the union are open to musicians, and 40 applications for cards have been received in three weeks.

Interest in music has been stimulated through four half-hour programs each week over WTMJ through the co-operation between the radio station and the union. The programs vary from the use of an accordion-bass viol duo to a 60-piece symphony. WTMJ supports an 18-piece orchestra.

WISN is involved in a move to get a longer wave length. If this is accomplished, WHAD, Marquette University station, will no longer cut in for two and three-quarter hours of time over the WISN wave length. At present WISN must leave the air three times daily to permit the university station to operate.

WTMJ is the NBC outlet and WISN is with CBS.

$8 DAILY WIRE TOLL TOO MUCH FOR WSGN

Birmingham, May 14.

Finding that bulletins from the Press-Radio Bureau of the National Publishers Committee would cost the station $8 per day for telegraph charges alone, WSGN has decided to tie up for its newscasts with independent news collecting sources. Through the Radio News Service of America the station will within a few days start receiving short wave bulletins three times daily. WMAZ is already on the air with a local news service. E. M. Henderson, formerly m.e. of the Birmingham News, is in charge of the item garnering and broadcasting on a three time daily basis.

Outlet has no network affiliation, which made it necessary to have the matter contributed by the major press association wired in from New York. For his station, Steve Cisler, WSGN manager, averred, the telegraph charge of around $8 a day was prohibitive.

PURE OIL RENEWS

Minneapolis, May 14.

Pure Oil Co. of this city has renewed its six months' contract for a 15 minutes' ether program six nights a week over WCCO, local Columbia chain station.

Program includes Jack Malerich and his band, a local act, and Cedric Adams, Minneapolis columnist.

NEW KMOX SPIELERS

St. Louis, May 14.

KMOX has added a couple of announcers, Charles Gussman who comes from KFRU of Kansas City, and Maurice Cliffer of Chicago.

Brings the announcing staff to an even 10.

SPOOF SAYLE TAYLOR

WSOC, Charlotte, Ki 'The Voice of Experience'

Charlotte, N. C., May 14.

As a take-off on the 'Voice of Experience,' CBS program, WSOC, local NBC outlet, has originated a local show billed as the 'Voice of Exposure.'

A. C. ('Slufoot') Lochman, blackface minstrel star, does the satire, using a pool eight-ball for the crystal gazing. The dialog is in negro dialect, answering purported letters seeking advice.

Program is sponsored by Arrow beer. A novelty ensemble of piano, marimba and violin furnish music.

2-Hour, 2-Web Show as Plug For Chi Fair

Chicago, May 14.

Radio is going to get about $35,000 of the $465,000 the Chicago State Street Association has raised to plug the World's Fair under the name of 'Keep Chicago Ahead.' Arrangements are being made for a two-hour broadcast over Columbia and National networks on the night of May 25, the night before the Fair gets underway.

Show will run 60 minutes on NBC and follow immediately on CBS. Show will be produced in the local NBC studios for both networks. Figured show will run from 10:30 to 12:30 eastern time.

Networks and the committee are working on angles whereby most of the talent will be donated by local and national sponsors with locally produced shows.

World's Fair itself is keeping hands-off on the advertising expenditure matter. Is fearful of getting involved in a position where newspapers and other media not getting any advertising schedules might kick back by cutting down on Fair publicity. As presently set up the World's Fair itself has no direct connection with the placing of any of the advertising.

SESAC Brings Infringement Suit Against Loew (WHN)

Loew Booking Agency, Inc., as operator of WHN, was instructed by Judge Patterson in the New York Federal Court last week to furnish the Society of European Stage Authors and Composers with the answers to a series of questions. SESAC wants the info in connection with an infringement of copyright suit it has brought against the Loew station.

Performing rights outfit claims that WHN used some musical numbers controlled by SESAC without obtaining a license.

Phil Spitalny Vocal Find Set for Cheramy Acct.

Maxine, a Phil Spitalny warbling discovery, starts a weekly quarter hour series for Cheramy cosmetics on CBS this Friday (18). Towns scheduled to get the program are New York, Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Washington, Baltimore and Hartford.

Lawrence C. Gumbinner is the agency and 10.30 p.m. EDST the time of release.

Mohawk's Vacation

Mohawk Carpet Mills will call it a run June 14 for the Tuesday and Thursday a.m. frame it has been supporting on NBC's red (WEAF) link since the middle of March.

Floor covering maker plans to come back on the same network when the clocks return to standard time telling.

Bernie O.K. for Sound

Hollywood, May 14.

Ben Bernie had little trouble with his tonsil divorcement last week in Good Samaritan hospital and is expected to return to the air Tuesday (15).

NBC MAY TAKE OVER VICTOR WAXWORKS

NBC's sales heads are still debating the advisability of taking over the physical setup of RCA-Victor's transcription department. As the relationship of the two RCA subsids now stand NBC has on its payroll the sales and production heads of Victor's transcription division, Frank Walker, and D. L. Egner, respectively. This pair came over when the network extended its operation to the spot broadcasting field a couple months ago.

With the radio phase of Victor's disc cutting business in the hands of NBC clients taking the transcription service would by network policy be limited to placing the Victor stencillings on outlets operated by or affiliated with NBC.

Here and There

KFRC, San Francisco, reorganization of the sales department just completed by Arthur J. Kemp, northern California sales manager for the Don Lee network, who has named Hassel W. Smith national ad chief in charge of national sales for the territory and Amory Eckley retail ad chief.

Harold Peary, reader, character player and singer, who was last in Wheatenaville's sketch and free lancing on other stations, is back with NBC, San Francisco.

Radio Bacon, WAAW, Omaha, novelty piano player, goes to the Pacific coast for part in a Fanchon and Marco unit.

KTSA, San Francisco, used by Guy Lombardo and his aggregation playing the regular Robert Burns program.

P. Duff and Sons, packer of a gingerbread dough, has had added four more stations to the list carrying its five-minute transcription, 'Mrs. Reilly.' Outlets are WBZ, Boston; WBZA, Springfield; WOR, Newark, and WTAM, Cleveland. Contracts are for 13 weeks and at the rate of three releases a week.

Lawrence King is back singing at KNX, Los Angeles, after a session at the Mark Hopkins hotel in San Francisco.

Freeman Lang is moving his discing studios from Los Angeles to enlarged quarters in Hollywood.

Ted White, formerly at KHJ, is a new staff tenor at KMTR, Hollywood.

Henry and Percy will return to the air again after being off for several months. They will be heard over WSGN, Burmingham.

Lasses White All-Star Minstrels, WSM, Nashville, started a new series May 9 for the Standard Oil of Louisiana.

Raymond C. Hammett is seeking permission to move WAMC, located at Anniston, to Selma, Alabama. It was formerly located at Talladega.

Troy Broadcasting Company has been granted a temporary permit to operate WHET at Dothan, Alabama, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Memphis Cotton Carnival will be broadcast over the blue and red network of NBC May 16 through WMC, Memphis. Confirmation has been received by Henry Slazick, WMC manager.

Inside Stuff—Radio

Latest to throw rocks at advertising's precocious child, broadcasting, is John Rorty. In a 32-page pamphlet this writer on political and economic subjects declares: 'In its essence the charge leveled against the American system of advertising-subsidized radio broadcasting is that it is drunk and disorderly'.

Rorty does not bring out anything particularly new. His summation against broadcasting follows the general trend of all previous anti-radio pamphleteering. Even some of the quotations and cases have been cited before. Americans in general will probably not be disturbed by the inequality of political opportunity for broadcasting complained of.

There are plenty of individuals and groups attacking radio. That these various elements may temporarily unite, each for a different reason, to jam through changes is possible. In attacking the general nature and quality of radio programs practically all the anti-radio groups brush aside, or ignore completely, the fact that radio, for all its admitted faults, does employ the best talent from the rest of show business.

It seems hard to believe that broadcasting is so dull or unworthy of public appreciation as the belittlers would indicate. Certainly there is a vast amount of merit seeded in the clay. If radio entertainment frequently is moronic in tone there is strong reason to believe that the bulk of the radio audience is also a bit on the under-side of intellectualism.

Hearst newspaper policy is torn between two elements as regards radio, with the ether apparently winning out through more and more space being devoted by those papers to broadcasting activities. This is predicated on local situations where managing editors ordain—and that's a common opinion—that radio news draws wider reader interest in ether programs, mike personalities, et al., than the sports pages.

On the other hand, W. R. Hearst is known to have expressed himself adversely to the idea of any Hearst employee going on the air, commercially or otherwise, on the theory that Hearst journalistic reputations are lent to the microphone and capitalized by outside interests. Opposing that, some editors of the Hearst papers present the proposition that the mike rep might well react in favor of the Hearst newspapermen and their papers.

Goodrich Tire is using both NBC's red (WEAF) and blue (WJZ) links for the round by round broadcast of the Baer-Carnera bout June 14. To make this possible Kraft-Phenix has agreed to cede all or part of its regular 10 to 11 P. M. Thursday night period on the red loop. If the fight runs over a half hour Goodrich will reimburse Kraft all talent expenses. If the ring event lasts less than half an hour the cost of time and talent will be prorated. Kraft, meanwhile, will stand by in the studio with its Paul Whiteman show.

Understanding also is that should Goodrich take up the full hour or more three minutes will be accorded Kraft at the end for a plug on its mayonnaise brand. Kraft offered $13,000 for the air rights to the fight. Goodrich is paying $25,000.

Business that NBC has already taken in this year easily exceeds the network's gross from time sales for the entire 1933 stretch. NBC's statisticians last week arrived at this estimate by adding what has been grossed since Jan. 1 to what they figure will be garnered the rest of the year from contracts now in the web's files.

Up to May 1 NBC on actual billings was only 30% better than it had been the same date in 1933. For the first four months of that year it tallied $7,300,000, while the parallel period of 1934 is responsible for a gross of $9,412,000. Comparison of the same yearly segments shows CBS with a 54% edge over 1933.

If Governor Lehman signs the bill recently passed by the New York State Legislature providing for an appropriation of $500,000 to finance an advertising campaign to stimulate the consumption of milk, bulk of the money will be spent in newspaper space but some of it will be alloted to radio. State Department of Agriculture and Markets, sponsor of the milk advertising plan, had a small appropriation used for a series of electrical transcriptions last year.

Expenditure of the $500,000 would be made through an ad agency working with the Research Council and the Dairymen's League.

Some listeners and one or two radio columnists have complained recently that WGY, Schenectady, is consuming too much air time in plugging the appearances of its acts at theatres, town halls, etc.

Station has built up a steady source of revenue through its Artists' Service Bureau, which was established about two and a half years ago. Originally, a large share of the p.a. dates were obtained through air spiels but more recently one or two act salesmen have been placed on the road to supplement the ether and letter solicitations.

Premier Doumergue of France, making his second national radio appeal April 21, got over bigger than the first time, showing the French nation is getting more used to this sort of stuff.

Took the occasion to declare war on Communists, who had been beaten out of an incipient riot the day before and who threatened trouble May 1. Figures radio will be a big weapon in fighting them.

KFAB, Lincoln, after years of being held silent through the best evening hours from 6 to 10 p. m., due to splitting time with WBBM, Chi, took to the air on a synchronized basis for the entire evening beginning May 1 with exception of the half hour between 8:30 and 9. This gives CBS competition to the NBC chains in this neighborhood. KFAB has 5,000 watts.

Professional people are generally tough enough in criticizing each other on stage and screen performances, but that goes double as concerns radio.

Which makes unusual the comment going around on Helen Menken. It sums up, amongst the show bunch, that hers is the finest volce on the air.

Protest by a WMCA, New York, artist over the use of the 'Barnacle Bill' title by sea yarn spinners working on other stations apparently had its effect. On last week's broadcast, over WGY, Schenectady, Frank Oliver called himself 'Limey Bill', while the billing of the Chicago 'Barnacle Bill' was changed to 'Salty Sam'.

Yankee network, Boston, takes the complete service of the Havas news agency, foreign equivalent to the A.P., and nominally an A.P. ally but on a non-exclusive basis.

Paulette Carlay on WJZ

Paulette Carlay, now singing at the Surf nite club, started on a 15-minute sustaining program over WJZ last Wednesday afternoon (9). Set by Larry Daniels.

Miss Carlay was brought here a year ago from Paris, where she appeared in the 'Folies Bergere,' by Earl Carroll for a 'Vanities' job that never materialized.

Chester Thomas to WINS

Cincinnati, May 14.

Chester Thomas has resigned as traffic manager of WLW to become traffic and program manager of WINS, New York. He moves into his new job May 21.

Thomas, who started in 1928 with Crosley as secretary to John L. Clark, gen. mgr., has been traffic manager for the past three years.

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

Rudy Vallée An American Institution

A TRIBUTE TO A MAN

We, who make up the personnel of the Rudy Vallee organization, deem it both a pleasure and privilege to pay tribute to him

Here's to you, Rudy . man and boss . . for your sincerity your honesty and your ability we, who follow your direction day after day, are appreciative of your kindness and your paternalism and above all your good cheer which has made our organization as happy as it is famous.

LESTER LADEN
Personal Representative
o

EVELYN LANGFELDT
Personal Secretary
o

MARJORIE DIVEN
Secretary
o

ELLIOTT JACOBY
Arranger
o

WILLIAM VALLEE
Publicity Director

BUD WEBBER
Librarian

GEO. ERICKSSON
Asst. Librarian

MURRAY PITTLUCK
Sound Technician

Rudy Vallee's Connecticut Yankees

AL EVANS
Asst. Director

CLIFF BURWELL
Piano
o

JOE MILLER
Saxophone
o

SAL TERINI
Violin
o

MICKEY BLOOM
Trumpet
o

PHIL BUATTA
Violin

SAM DIEHL
Saxophone

WALTER SCHARF
Piano
o

BOB BOWMAN
Saxophone

HARRY PATENT
Bass

HENRY CINCIONE
Trumpet

HAL MATTHEWS
Trombone

FRANK STAFFA
Guitar
o

FRANK FRISELLE
Drums
o

CHAS. BUTTERFIELD
Trombone
o

WALTER GROSS
Piano
o

BUDDY SHEPPARD
Violin

BUD WEBBER
Saxophone

BERNIE DALEY
Flute

DON MOORE
Trumpet

ZELLY SMIRNOFF
Violin

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

RUDY VALLEE

ONCE IN A BLUE MOON some one like you comes along
MAY I thank you for your swell rendition of LOVE THY NEIGHBOR and remember whenever I see a swell fellow
HE REMINDS ME OF YOU, really we think you're a swell guy and believe us
WE'RE NOT YESSING

Rocco Vocco

P. S.—Tried my best, but I can't fit in "GOOD NIGHT LOVELY LITTLE LADY"

DeSYLVA, BROWN and HENDERSON, Inc.
ROBERT CRAWFORD, President

IN SPADES!
JACK BREGMAN

RUDY
YOU'RE GREAT
AND
WE'RE GLAD

• • •

JIMMY
McHUGH
AND DOROTHY FIELDS

RUDY VALLEE

It has been more than a pleasure to work with you on your programs.

Sincerely

SMITH and DALE

RUDY VALLEE
An "American Institution"?

Positively!

WILLIE and EUGENE
HOWARD

My Sincere Wishes

ISHAM JONES

GUS
VAN

Now Appearing Nightly at

CHEZ PAREE
Chicago

Continued Success

To Rudy Vallee

George Givot

FRANCES LANGFORD

Extends Her Best Wishes to

RUDY VALLEE

Her Discoverer

As in the old days at Yale—

RUDY VALLEE Uses
SELMER Alto Sax and Clarinet

And we're right proud of it

Selmer
113 West 48th Street, N.Y.C.

It is a pleasure to publicly proclaim the ability of a great artist

RUDY VALLEE

DAVE OPPENHEIM

Gus Kahn

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

RUDY VALLEE

AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

You're telling me?

Jack Robbins

ROBBINS MUSIC CORPORATION

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

"Orchids to DICK POWELL and PAT O'BRIEN for a grand job in the WARNER BROS. picture, 'TWENTY MILLION SWEETHEARTS,' and to the song writing team of DUBIN and WARREN for the grand tunes in the picture. This is the second best, 'FAIR AND WARMER'."

What RUDY VALLEE said about songs in "TWENTY MILLION SWEETHEARTS" to twenty million nd more listeners his Fleischmann program, Thursday evening, May 3rd.

"I envy DICK POWELL for the perfect set if tunes he had at his disposal in his new WARNER BROS. picture, 'TWENTY MILLION SWEETHEARTS.' I only hope if I ever make another movie I have as fine tune as the feature song of the picture 'I'LL STRING ALONG WITH YOU'."

THANK YOU, RUDY—Words like these coming from a real artist, a sincere personality and a true connoisseur, are indeed a glowing tribute to our efforts—We hope that some day we may have the opportunity to write a motion picture score for you.

HARRY WARREN and AL DUBIN

IRVING BERLIN'S LATEST "SO HELP ME"

To RUDY

Our Best Wishes for Your Continued Success!

PLAY TO ME, GYPSY (The Song I Love)
(Europe's Biggest Hit in Twenty Years)

THE BEAT O' MY HEART—By Spina and Burke.

WHY DON'T YOU PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH.

UNLESS YOUR HEART IS MINE (England's Biggest Waltz Hit Since "Sunshine of Your Smile")

TONIGHT IS MINE
(From RKO Picture, "Stingaree."

THE WORLD OWES ME A LIVING
(From Walt Disney's Silly Symphony, "Grasshopper and the Ants")

I'VE GOT A WARM SPOT IN MY HEART FOR YOU. By Spina and Burke.

OH ME! OH MY! OH YOU!
(From RKO's Picture "Strictly Dynamite")

IRVING BERLIN Inc.
799 Seventh Avenue
NEW YORK, N. Y.

IRVING BERLIN'S LATEST "SO HELP ME"

To RUDY

SAM COSLOW

AND

ARTHUR JOHNSTON

SAY, "THANKS"

"SISTERS OF THE SKILLET"

EDDIE EAST and RALPH DUMPKE

NBC NETWORK

Extend Best Wishes to

RUDY VALLEE

GREETINGS TO RUDY FROM RUBINOFF

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

In Appreciation
of a
Credit To Our Profession

RUDY VALLEE

●

Sincerely
OTTO HARBACH

MILTON AGER
BEN BORNSTEIN
IRVING TANZ

Extend Greetings and Appreciation to

RUDY VALLEE

●

AGER, YELLEN and BORNSTEIN
INC.

★ ★ ★

RUDY VALLEE: A TRIBUTE TO THE MAN AND THE ARTIST

★ ★ ★

NBC ARTISTS SERVICE

welcomes this opportunity to pay its tribute to one whose talent and showmanship have contributed so much to the whole art of broadcasting.

Rudy Vallee is one of radio's pioneers. His personality, imagination, and vision have made a lasting impression upon the industry, an impression which forms a pattern for the future just as it has been a guide in the past.

NBC ARTISTS SERVICE

GEORGE ENGLES MANAGING DIRECTOR

RCA BUILDING, 30 ROCKEFELLER PLAZA, NEW YORK • CHICAGO • SAN FRANCISCO

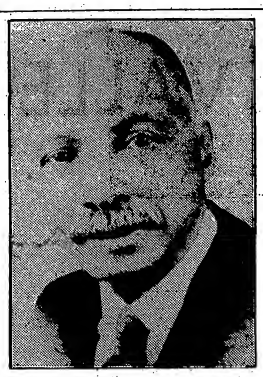
★ ★ ★

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

GREETINGS TO RUDY

A Great Artist and My Good Friend

Direction—JACK LAVIN
Park Central Hotel, New York



W. C. HANDY
"Father of the Blues"
Author of
"SAINT LOUIS BLUES"
Publisher of These Numbers
"LOVELESS LOVE"
"AINTHA GOT MUSIC?"
"HARLEM IS HEAVEN TO ME"
"GOT A NEED FOR YOU"

Extends His Best Wishes to

RUDY VALLEE
and his
Connecticut YanKees
Commemorating His Recording of
"SAINT LOUIS BLUES"
On Victor Record 22321-B

Handy Brothers Music Co., Inc.
1587 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

1894 GILMORE
1900 SOUSA
1934 RUDY
VALLEE
and His Connecticut Yankees MANHATTAN BEACH
and
IENTAL BEACH BATHS
Manhattan Beach, Brooklyn, New York City

HI THERE RUDY!

I'm proud of my various and sundry associations with you in the past. You're a good guy, and among your most sincere friends is

RAY PERKINS

PALMER HOUSE
Network—Tuesday Evenings
Thanks to Hal Kemp and Bill McCaffrey, N.B.C.

CUSHMAN SONS' BAKERIES
WOR—Monday and Friday Evenings
Thanks to Louis Witten.

Personal Management—SEDLEY BROWN

POPS and LOUIE
Doff Their Hats to
RUDY VALLEE
"AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION"
Playing Cotton Club
NEW YORK

To Rudy Vallee

In recognition of his many appearances at charitable benefits without regard to race or creed.

Wm. Morris Agency

The name of

Rudy Vallee

will survive thru many a generation because he is an American Institution.

Belle Baker

To RUDY VALLEE

The eight months of my association with you at the Hollywood Restaurant have been the happiest of my career.

Jerry Lester

Thanks to the Messrs. MOSS and AMRON
Personal Manager
DANNY DARE

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

Hi-de-ho to Heigh-ho!

Cab Calloway expresses to Rudy Vallee his appreciation of the opportunity of being identified with the Fleischmann Radio Program twice within six months!

CAB CALLOWAY

And His

COTTON CLUB ORCHESTRA

"The most amazing personality in the world of music!"

Booked exclusively by

Irving Mills President

MILLS ARTISTS inc.

799 SEVENTH AVE., NEW YORK
Telephone: CIrcle 7-7162
CABLE: JAZZ

It Has Been Conclusively Proven That

RUDY VALLEE

Is

AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

WE have been catering to the public for thirty years. We have known many stars and box-office attractions. Yet in all that extended period of time and throughout our varied experience with "stars" we are happy to say that at present we have the greatest box-office attraction of them all, RUDY VALLEE.
He is great because week after week at the Hollywood Restaurant his power to bring patronage is undimished, and because week after week the fertility of his showmanship remains always fresh.
Our business association has been very happy one and we are most gratified.

(Signed) JOE MOSS.
JACOB AMRON.

Currently

The most sensational grosses ever reached i
At during seven months' engagement at
THE

HOLLYWOOD

Cabaret Restaurant
Broadway at 48th Street, New York City
RUDY VALLEE

Opening June 29 at
PAVILLON ROYAL
America's Most Beautiful Suburban Restaurant
Valley Stream, Long Island
for Summer Season

Returning Sept. 30, 1934, to
HOLLYWOOD
Cabaret Restaurant
New York's Most Popular Rendezvous
B'way at 48th St., N. Y.
for Winter Season

For Reservations Phone
Valley Stream 1308 CHickering 4-2572
Mack Miller, Publicity Representative
Hy Blane, Stage Manager

Greetings to

Rudy Vallée

VICTOR RECORD STAR

from

RCA VICTOR COMPANY, Inc.
Camden, N. J.

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

WE are happy to express our appreciation and good wishes to Rudy Vallee, the Radio Executives of the J. Walter Thompson Company, and to the following Stars and Featured Players of stage and screen—a partial list of those whom we have placed on outstanding commercial radio programs during the last twenty months:

VERA ALLEN
ADRIENNE AMES
ROSEMARY AMES*
GLENN ANDERS*
JUDITH ANDERSON*
LIONEL ATWILL*
FAY BAINTER*
TALLULAH BANKHEAD*
EDITH BARRETT*
ETHEL BARRYMORE
JANET BEECHER
RALPH BELLAMY
SIDNEY BLACKMER*
JOAN BLONDELL*
ALICE BRADY*
WILLIAM A. BRADY*
HORACE BRAHAM*
CLIVE BROOK
BRUCE CABOT
JAMES CAGNEY*
ILKA CHASE
PATRICIA COLLINGE*
FRANK CONROY
GARY COOPER*
PEDRO DE CORDOBA
JANE COWL*
DOLORES DEL RIO*
JEAN DIXON*
JAMES DUNN
GRACE GEORGE*
MARGALO GILLMORE*
DOROTHY GISH*
CARY GRANT
RAYMOND HACKETT*
WALTER HAMPDEN*
HELEN HAYES*
KATHARINE HEPBURN*
ROSE HOBART*
PHILLIPS HOLMES*
TAYLOR HOLMES
MIRIAM HOPKINS*
LESLIE HOWARD
HENRY HULL*
WALTER HUSTON
COLIN KEITH-JOHNSON*
GEOFFREY KERR*
DENNIS KING
OTTO KRUGER*
EARLE LARIMORE*
FRANCIS LEDERER*
EUGENIE LEONTOVICH*
ROBERT LORAINE*
PAULINE LORD*
ELIZABETH LOVE*
MONTAGU LOVE
EDMUND LOWE
PAUL LUKAS
BERT LYTELL
A. E. MATTHEWS*
KENNETH McKENNA*
ADOLPHE MENJOU*
GEORGES METAXA*
THOMAS MITCHELL*
DOUGLASS MONTGOMERY*
ROBERT MONTGOMERY*
COLLEEN MOORE*
ERIN O'BRIEN-MOORE
MARY MORRIS CONRAD NAGEL*
J. C. NUGENT*
HUGH O'CONNELL
DOROTHY PARKER
OSGOOD PERKINS*
ROLLO PETERS
GUY BATES POST
TOM POWERS
ROGER PRIOR IRENE PURCELL*
CLAUDE RAINS*
HERBERT RAWLINSON
SELENA ROYLE*
MARY SERVOSS*
ANNE SEYMOUR*
HAL SKELLY
QUEENIE SMITH*
MARGARET SULLAVAN*
GLORIA SWANSON*
BASIL SYDNEY*
EDITH TALIAFERRO*
CONWAY TEARLE*
ERNEST TRUEX*
LENORE ULRIC*
HAROLD VERMILYEA
JUNE WALKER*
RUTH WESTON*
PEGGY WOOD
ROLAND YOUNG*
BLANCHE YURKA

* Radio Debut

To the Personal Representatives through whose courtesy several of the above-named actors and actresses were booked by us on various radio programs we offer our thanks for their cordial co-operation.

BRISCOE AND GOLDSMITH, Inc.
522 Fifth Avenue, NEW YORK in Association with
H. E. EDINGTON-F. W. VINCENT, Inc.
HOLLYWOOD

Many Great
Artists Prefer Capehart

RUDY VALLEE

has chosen a Capehart, for, as he says: "The Capehart most faithfully reproduces both recordings and radio." This true reproduction, this exacting fidelity is demanded by the artists who know music and who are competent judges of tone quality. No finer tribute has ever been given the Capehart than its selection by Mr. Vallee and other prominent artists, among whom the following are but a few—Norma Shearer... Elissa Landi... Paul Whiteman... Sylvia Sidney... Constance Bennett... Ruth Etting... Billy Burke, Ziegfeld... Robert Montgomery ...Claudette Colbert... Adolphe Menjou ...Bette Davis. Other owners prominent in the entertainment world include William S. Paley, President Columbia Broadcasting System... Mrs. Louis B. Mayer... G. B. Warner... Warner Brothers First National Studios.

Fully automatic, continuous playing phonograph combined with radio. Complete sets of recordings, any make, both 10 in. and 12 in., are played in their recorded sequence—an exclusive Capehart feature.

The Finest in Music
PLUS
Radio Entertainment

THE CAPEHART CORPORATION, FORT WAYNE, INDIANA

LOUIS BERNSTEIN, PRESIDENT
NO CONTRACT VALID UNLESS SIGNED BY AN OFFICER OF THE CORPORATION

Shapiro, Bernstein & Co.

MUSIC PUBLISHERS

CAPITOL THEATRE BUILDING
COR. BROADWAY AND 51ST ST.
NEW YORK

May 11, 1934.

Dear Rudy:

My Best Wishes
In Friendship.

Frank Kelton

P. S.-Do you remember this NIGHT ON THE DESERT?

TO RUDY VALLEE
PROUD OF OUR PAST ASSOCIATION

MORTON A. MILMAN
RADIO ADVERTISING COUNSEL
HOTEL WARWICK
New York City

TO RUDY VALLEE
AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION
FOR HIS PAST FAVORS
SPONSOR OF OUR DEBUT ON THE AIR
THANK YOU FOR BRINGING US BACK ON THE FLEISCHMANN PROGRAM
CROSS and DUNN

BEST WISHES TO RUDY VALLEE

ROY SMECK
RADIO'S WIZARD OF THE STRINGS

Extra Added Attraction This Week (May 11) LOEW'S STATE, NEWARK

Cordially
TED KOEHLER

My Respects
HAROLD ARLEN

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

To JOE COOK

A Lake Hopatcong Institution
An Evansville, Indiana, boy
Who Made Good in New Jersey

RUDY VALLEE

Greetings to

RUDY VALLEE

JIMMY CAMPBELL

and

REG CONNELLY

Stand Up and Cheer!

for

RUDY VALLEE

An American Institution

We Acknowledge Our Pleasant Association with You and Appreciate Your Splendid Support of Our Great Popular Catalog . . .

"HOLD MY HAND"
"NASTY MAN"
"WAITIN' AT THE GATE FOR KATY"
"BABY TAKE A BOW"
"BROADWAY'S GONE HILL-BILLY"
"STAND UP AND CHEER"
"MY DOG LOVES YOUR DOG"
"CAROLINA"
"SHE'S WAY UP THAR"
"THIS IS OUR LAST NIGHT TOGETHER"
"SIX WOMEN (Me and Henry the Eighth)"
"SWEET AND SIMPLE"
"SO NICE"
"WE'RE OUT OF THE RED"
"I'M LAUGHIN'"

NOTE:

All songs are from the Fox Film Productions—"GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS," "CAROLINA," "BOTTOMS UP" and "STAND UP AND CHEER!"

MOVIETONE MUSIC CORPORATION
SAM FOX PUBLISHING CO., Sole Agents
NEW YORK (1560 B'WAY AT 45 ST.) CLEVELAND (THE ARCADE) CHICAGO (... S. WABASH AVE.) LOS ANGELES (... S. BROADWAY)

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

SALUTATIONS
TO
RUDY VALLEE

EASY COME
EASY GO . .

YOU OUGHTA
BE IN PICTURES

GRANDFATHER'S
CLOCK . . . .

YES SIR, I LOVE
YOUR DAUGHTER

HARMS, Inc.

Continued Success to

RUDY VALLEE

AN
"AMERICAN INSTITUTION"

• • •

LEE
SIMS
AND ILOMAY
BAILEY

This Week (May 11)
ALBEE, BROOKLYN

RUDY VALLEE
H-M-M-M-M!

BOB HOPE
H-M-M-M-M!

"ROBERTA"

New Amsterdam Theatre
NEW YORK

MAY USHER
Greets Rudy Vallee—"An American Institution"

Johnny Green
and
Eddie Heyman
COMPOSERS OF
"Body and Soul"
"I Cover the Waterfront"
"Easy Come Easy Go"

EXTEND THEIR THANKS TO
RUDY VALLEE
For His Help and Friendship

RABSONS
Music and Camera Co., Inc.
1373 Sixth Avenue at 56th Street
NEW YORK

Extend best wishes to
RUDY VALLEE
Whose Records Have Been
Topnotch Sellers

To RUDY VALLEE

E. B. Marks gave his estimate of you when he chose you as his idea of THE modern big-timer in the subtitle of his best-selling book.

"THEY ALL SANG"*
(From Tony Pastor to Rudy Vallee)

Now he wants to call your and other showmen's attention to these new hit songs by such writers as Coots, Lewis, Cugat, Tobias, Klages, Berle, Greer, Adams, Sigler and others—

"MY SHAWL"
"WHAT'S GONNA BE?"
"I'VE GOT A WATCH"
"LET'S HONEYMOON AGAIN"
"WALTER, WALTER WILDFLOWER"
"TWELVE O'CLOCK AND ALL IS WELL"
"EXTRA! (ALL ABOUT THAT GAL OF MINE)"

* Copies of "THEY ALL SANG," regularly priced at $3.50, are now offered to the profession at the special theatrical rate of $3.00 postpaid and autographed.

EDWARD B. MARKS MUSIC CORP.
223 W. 46th Street New York City

If it's good enough for Rudy Vallee——

EVERYTHING BROILED OVER HICKORY LOGS
The Rendezvous of Notables
Circle 7-9524-9808
144 West 52nd Street
NEW YORK CITY

I want to say
"With Many Thanks"
EDWARD HEYMAN

Alice Faye

Jay Gorney

TO R. V.—A SWELL GUY
Proud to Be Your Exclusive Arranger
ELLIOT JACOBY
MANY THANKS FOR THE BOOST

RUDY VALLEE
"An American Institution"
He's instituted a lot of hits for me and I am exceedingly grateful
ARCHIE FLETCHER
JOE MORRIS MUSIC CO.

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

CORDIAL GREETINGS

TO

RUDY VALLEE

from

KEITH PROWSE
AND COMPANY, LIMITED
LONDON

Publishers of His

GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS

SONG SUCCESSES

for the British Empire and Continental Europe

P. S. Do You Remember 'THE STEIN SONG'?

RUDY

A Sweeter Guy I've Never Known

Always Helping Others

Unselfish and Unspoiled (Hasn't Gone Broadway)

Just Some of the Engagements Rudy Arranged for Me:

HOLLYWOOD RESTAURANT
NEW YORK
16 Weeks and Still Going

WEAF–PURE OIL PEP SHOW–N.B.C.
Every Saturday, 7:30-8 P. M.
8 Weeks and Renewed for 10 More Weeks

FLEISCHMANN YEAST PROGRAM
5 Times

And

EDDIE PEABODY

His Hollywood Playmate Is Genuinely Grateful

We Agree With Millions—That

RUDY VALLEE

Is an American Institution

M. WITMARK & SONS
NEW YORK CITY

We Deem It a Privilege
To Join In Tribute To

RUDY VALLEE

REMICK MUSIC CORP.
NEW YORK CITY

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

To Rudy Vallee

A Gentleman in the Music Profession

PHIL SPITALNY

To Rudy Vallee

The Best in the World to the World's Best

LARRY SPIER
T. B. HARMS Co.

Victor Young AND HIS ORCHESTRA New York

To RUDY VALLEE

The Impresario of the Microphone

VICTOR YOUNG
Musical Director

CHEVROLET (General Motors) RADIO PROGRAM
Sunday Evenings—WEAF Network—10:00 to 10:30 P. M. (E.D.S.T.)

Scorer and Musical Arranger for the American Movie Epic
"FRANKIE and JOHNNIE"
for which he also composed "Give Me a Heart to Sing To"

Exclusive Management
ROCKWELL-O'KEEFE, Inc.

Victor Young AND HIS ORCHESTRA New York

To Rudy Vallee

REALLY an American Institution

SHAPIRO, BERNSTEIN and Co., Inc.
MUSIC PUBLISHERS

Capitol Theatre Building, Broadway and 51st Street, New York

IF YOU WANT GREAT SONGS THIS IS THE PLACE TO GET THEM

To Rudy Vallee

In Appreciation

MACK GORDON HARRY REVEL

To Rudy Vallee

who knows that to have a friend you must be a friend.

HERMAN BERNIE

Toute Mon Admiration a
Rudy Vallee
Truly an American Institution

IRENE BORDONI

It's an Honor to Be Included

MURRAY BAKER

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION.

mills music man

Agrees that Rudy Vallee is
An American Institution

AN IMPORTANT EVENT IN OUR SCHEDULE!

The Publication of the Long-Awaited Score of the New COTTON CLUB PARADE
24th EDITION

These songs were written by HAROLD ARLEN and TED KOEHLER, who gave us "STORMY WEATHER" in their last revue

"ILL WIND" "AS LONG AS I LIVE" "HERE GOES"

Our Other Outstanding Songs

"NO MORE HEARTACHES, NO MORE TEARS" | "EMALINE" | "CARRY ME BACK TO THE LONE PRAIRIE"

"THERE'S SOMETHING ABOUT A SOLDIER" | "ONE MORNING IN MAY" | "CHRISTMAS NIGHT IN HARLEM"

MILLS MUSIC, Inc.

JACK MILLS, President
1619 Broadway, New York
Prof. Manager, CHAS. WARREN

CHICAGO
Murray Staub
75 W. Randolph Street

PHILADELPHI
Sam Myerow
4806 Gransback Street

CINCINNATI
Leonard Wilson
Im and Central Parkway

LOS ANGELES
Bobby Gross
4244 Degnan Boulevard

RUDY VALLEE

You Are an American Institution

Not because you are a major "plug" for any song—that would be too obvious!

Not because you are a performer who has remained on top —although you deserve it!

BUT BECAUSE your showmanship, your faculty of gauging public taste, your ability to pick talent as well as songs, has been one of the most important factors in the amazing development of radio as an entertai ing medium!

DONALDSON, DOUGLAS and GUMBLE, Inc.

HARRY LINK, Prof. Manager

SUGGEST

"THE HOUSE IS HAUNTED"
Outstanding Hit of Ziegfeld Folli

"I'M DANCING WITH THE GIRL OF MY DREAMS"

"I WISH I WERE TWINS
(So I Could Love You Twice As Much)"

"SWEETHEART OF MY CAMPFIRE DAYS"

You know how I feel Rudy—always grateful to you
Sincerely
Joe Bonner

I SHOULD SAY

RUDY VALLEE

IS AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

Best Wishes AL TRAHAN

RUDY VALLEE—AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

EDDIE SOUTH

"THE DARK ANGEL OF THE VIOLIN" and his INTERNATIONAL ORCHESTRA

ITY OF PAYING THEIR RESPECTS TO

RUDY VALLEE

THIS WEEK (MAY 11)
ALBEE
B'KLYN

NEXT WEEK (MAY 18)
PROCTOR'S
NEWARK

WEEK MAY 25
PALACE
NEW YORK

Management, SAMUEL SKOLNICK, Salisbury Hotel, New York

Congratulations RUDY

NBC IS GIVING ME THE AIR TOO 8-9 P. M. EVERY SUNDAY NIGHT OVER WJZ NETWORK AND EVERY THURSDAY NIGHT FROM 7:15-7:30 P. M.

ED LOWRY

NBC ARTISTS BUREAU
HAROLD KEMP

To RUDY VALLEE

In Deep Appreciation—
From His Little Protege

AL BERNIE

PARAMOUNT, NEW YORK
This Week (May 11)

Extending my sincere best wishes to Rudy Vallee—a friend and master showman.

PHIL HARRIS

PARAMOUNT, NEW YORK
This Week (May 11)

ALBEE, BROOKLYN
Next Week (May 18)

TO RUDY VALLEE
THANKS FOR YOUR CO-OPERATION

SAXON SISTERS

Featured with THE TERRAPLANE TRAVALCADE
Saturday 10 P. M., WEAF—NBC
Coast to Coast Network

AN ORCHID TO "RUDY"

"EDDIE" DAVIS
ORCHESTRAS

1650 BROADWAY
NEW YORK CITY

THANKS TO RUDY VALLEE

MARGUERITA PADULA
"TRIPLING"
FLEISCHMANN YEAST WEEKLY
Opening Pavilion Royale, June 28—Opening Manhattan Beach, July 1st

TO RUDY THE BEST TO THE BEST

RICHARD HIMBER

GEORGE BEATTY

WISHES TO EXTEND HIS SINCERE BEST WISHES TO

RUDY VALLEE

A FRIEND AND MASTER SHOWMAN

THIS WEEK (May 11) MASTER OF CEREMONIES FOR THE RKO ALBEE, BROOKLYN

Direction, PHIL OFFIN

ROYAL COMMAND PERFORMANCE

From London
Sustaini
15 Mins.
WABC-WJZ, New York

Hitting in mid-afternoon last Tuesday (8) this long distance relay skipped over the water, with far better technical definition than most other international broadcasts, and was interesting as far as it went. Both NBC and CBS had it and each chain muffed in ignoring the theory that it was either worth at least a half hour or nothing. The networks gave it 15 minutes, meaning that the subject was just warming up when it was cut off.

London's annual Command Performance is a charity event distinguished by the presence of the King and Queen. This year it was held at the Palladium, and British Broadcasting only had time to open up its theatre mikes for the arrival of their Majesties and an orchestrated prolog. None of the acts on the bill reached an American wire.

Event was particularly clear and free of interference, so much so that if planned future international commercial programs enjoy the same break their success seems assured from the novelty angle alone. This particular affair started with the usual announcements and then a sojourn in the BBC studios with a house orchestra fiddling away precious minutes because the Palladium performance was not yet ready to start. An unannounced switch to the theatre followed, in turn trailed by the customary 'God Save the King.' After which the recitative prolog, having a musical background which recalled several famous British music hall names. BBC then changed source to the actors' home for which the benefit is held, explaining a 'sight' act was opening the show and a return to the stage would later be made.

Norman Long had charge at the home and introduced a couple of old timers, Amey Knox and Alice Leemar (if picked up correctly), each of whom sang a number they presumably had helped to make popular in the past. Schedule was about due to get back to the theatre when both U. S. networks called a halt.

Unquestionably marked by its technical excellence the broadcast also evidenced a certain laxness by BBC in allowing the mike to wander without informing listeners of its destination. Instrumentality the occasion was particularly partial to the percussion section at the theatre, kettle drums coming through even unto their tones.

CHEVROLET PRESENTS

Victor Young, Alexander Grey
Bands, Songs
30 Mins.
COMMERCIAL
WEAF, New York

Curious situation that has developed in this Chevrolet backed half hour over NBC's red (WEAF) link Sunday nights is that the imitator has done a decidedly crack bit of improvement over the original. The original is Wayne King, who fills a parallel segment of the clock for Lady Esther's cold cream on CBS.

C. E. Coyle, in taking over the presidency of Chevrolet, decided that soft romantic music of the King school would be more to his liking as radio fare than the diverting didoes of Jack Benny and the comic's stooge phalanx. Coyle had his ad reps, the Campbell-Ewald agency, do the bidding for King's services, with the negotiations going so far as to offer to buy out the bandman's contract from Lady Esther. But this proved no go, and the next move was to engage a leader who could simulate the King style of dansapation.

In picking Victor Young for the assignment Chevrolet did more than acquire an imitator. With Young the slow tempo and subdued, easily flowing mood is nothing new. Rated as one of the finest arrangers in the country, Young's penchant has always been for giving the major play to the string and wood instruments. But regardless of all this Young at the present time as far as his Chevrolet program is concerned is patently designing his repertoire along Wayne King motifs and lines. And as far as general musicianship and the contriving of fine, ear-soothing melody concerned Young has created something that tops the King level by a wide margin.

Young's stanza started off with nothing but band music. Recently the program took to guest warblers. Last Sunday night's (13) designee from this category was Alexander Grey. In keeping with the program's theme Grey did a couple romantic ditties of the syruppy sentimental genre. It is obvious that the sponsor likes to have one of his old favorites rung in. Young favored him with 'Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland' for the fadeout composition of the past weekend's repertoire.

Marking this 30-minute affair is the brevity of the plug. All the copy has to say is, 'This program is brought to you by the dealer in your community who represents Chevrolet, the car with the kneeaction wheels.' Odec.

IRVING BERLIN

Lyrical Reminiscences
COMMERCIAL
WJZ, New York

Irving Berlin is doing five Sunday nights (9 p.m. EDST) for Good Gulf. He follows Will Rogers and George M. Cohan and again demonstrates that the auspices behind this program have a canny sense of values. For Berlin draws upon the rich treasure of his former and multiple hits which, with the aid of an adroit and silken continuity weaves into a pleasant whole and creates a program of considerable unction.

Songwriters are of course old hands at personal appearances wherein they revive samples of their old numbers. In theatres the identifying strain of an erstwhile best-seller when rendered by its composer invariably provokes applause of recognition. It does not, however, appear that any program quite like the one proferred by Berlin has been heard on the kilocycles heretofore.

Berlin is reported to have approached the microphone with an apprehension amounting to terror. He signed months in advance of his debut and had all that time to worry about what he would do and how he would do it over the air. As a performer Berlin is not the greatest. But he gets by. His thinnish voice suffices. Meanwhile it is the Berlin legend, the Berlin resources musically, and the Berlin brand of showmanship, that makes this series of five programs memorable and worth listening to.

A typical instance of the sort of thing Berlin is offering is the dramatized explanation of how, during the war, his violent antipathy to cantonment discipline and early hours resulted in 'Oh, How I Hate To Get Up In The Morning.' That neatly musicalized the sentiments of 5,000,000 conscripts. This led naturally into the poetic justice of the demobilized private who, back in the business world with the military distinctions removed gleatingly sang, 'I've Got My Captain Working For Me Now.'

Land.

PEBECO ON PARADE

With Block and Sully, Ted Bergman, Will Osborne
Comedy, Band, Songs
30 Mins.
COMMERCIAL
WOR, Newark

Replacing Eddie Harris and her screen gab interviews on this Friday night hookup that includes WGN, Chicago, and WLW, Cincinnati, is the team of Block and Sully. Pair got the assignment, which is for a minimum of four weeks, on the strength of the showing they made as stooges for Eddie Cantor on a couple Chase and Sanborn shows.

Last Friday's (11) appearance was the second for the duo on the dentifrice's series. On this occasion Block and Sully were provided with their own stooge, Teddy Bergman, which perhaps might be taken as indicating progress. Block and Sully borrowed a leaf from Cantor's book on broadcast studio deportment and dressed their stooge up in girl's clothes. To the studio sideline bunch Bergman in femme toggery may have been funny, but to the rockingchair element the idea of a baritone voice being referred to as 'my sister' must have been more confusing than diverting.

Punch and bolstering that Cantor gave Eve Sully's Hebe dialecting was pointedly lacking on last Friday's shindig. Some of the material clicked nicely, while some of it was mildewed. One gag the pair pulled calls for a moratorium. It's the one about the dumb guy who couldn't even hold a sales job in a 5c and 10c store, because it was hard for him to remember the prices. At least four comics used it on the air last week. Night before (Thursday) it was in Georgie Jessel's monolog for Fleischmann.

With her style now leaning heavily on the Hebe manner of speech, the Eve Sully personality still has big possibilities on the air. It's mainly a matter of the right frame and the right material. The Hebe dialect obviates any tendency to compare her dumbbell role with that of Gracie Allen. The producers of the show could help by keeping the sideline laughter toned down.

Will Osborne's vocalizing and instrumentation are the only items remaining from the original Pebeco setup. Both still make it quite pleasant for the ear. Odec.

'BLACKBIRDS'

Kathryn Perry, Cecil Mack Choir
15 Mins.
Sustaining
WOWO, Fort Wayne

Shrill harmony significant of colored singing best describes this program which was current with stage date in city. A Georgia camp-meeting idea opened the quarter hour with fragments of 'Wintergreen for President,' and other political themes worked in. Next had Kathryn Perry in a symphonic jazz aria on 'St. James Infirmary,' with choir accompaniment.

Closing was the 'I Just Couldn't Take It, Baby,' which was stretched out into a regular musical saga by the leading songstress. Rich in music and choral work.

CLIVE BROOK, LOIS WILSON

'3-Cornered Moon'
30 Mins.
COMMERCIAL
WJZ, New York

Charles R. Warner Co. has picked a natural in this program idea for its Non-Spi brand of deodorant. With the femme element as the target of interest, there could hardly be a better combination than a brightly written love story or a drama and a picture name around which to center the romantic attention. If the series can maintain the standard set by the initial sample (9) it should have little trouble slicing off for itself a hefty Wednesday night (9:30 p.m. EDST) listening percentage.

For the opening stanza the producers tagged one that was right up Clive Brook's alley. It was Michael Arlen's 'Three-Cornered Moon.' As exchanged by Brooks and Lois Wilson the dialog shimmered with the sort of sparkle and wit that passes for smartness with the femme strata that once made of Arlen a topseller.

Tuesday the first of a series of 30-minute programs emanating from the Los Angeles NBC studios under the group title of 'Love Stories' to headline name film personalities on successive weeks.

So far lined up are 13 programs, all to editions of stories by well-known authors. The initialer was by Michael Arlen. Succeeding ones are to be based on yarns by Rex Beach, Ben Ames Williams, Royal Brown and other popular book and mag scribblers.

Outstanding feature of the program is that it is the first real attempt of a commercialler to utilize film talent on such a wholesale scale. Contracted by Non-Spi for future broadcasts, among others, are Leslie Howard, Edmund Lowe, James Dunn, and Roland Young.

It is evident that the account hopes to build an appeal to listeners from the film name angle, but type of material should also have a pull, especially to the women and that's where the bills are directed.

Initial contribution leaned a little toward sophistication; Lead called for an English lord and Brook seemed quite at home before the mike in this spot. Miss Wilson was cast as a girl from Birmingham, Ala., and was oke but for an apparent occasional straining to get a Southern accent across.

Jimmy Fidler, Coast chatter writer and p.a., contributes the introductory remarks to the enactment in a nice boyish trill. He himself is introduced as the 'Voice from Hollywood.'

For the plug there's an attempt made at the narratage method of dual thought expression. Girl opens with a greeting to a friend, raving over how well the latter looks. There's a second's pause and the same voice, dropped to a slightly lower register, tells what it really thinks about the person greeted. And it's all due to the latter's failure to use the right deodorant! Announcer takes up the cudgel at this point and urges the listener to keep immaculate and odorless with Non-Spi. As done here the narratage device misses fire by a long shot. Odec.

RADIO ORACLE

Clair Shadwell
15 Mins.
Sustaining
WBT, Charlotte, N. C.

Shadwell, one of the announcers at WBT, formerly had a question and answer period that he went on with once a week, as a clearing house for the normal dribble of letters in the station's mail, asking this, that and the other. It was crowded off by a commercial spot.

Mail asking what had happened to the question and answer man was sufficient to warrant relocating the same service in a new spot. Billed as the 'Radio Oracle,' Shadwell supplies information about programs, their history and their sponsors; stars, their private lives and their biographies.

OREGON ON PARADE

With Sampietro Concert Orchestra, Gene Baker, Ruth Messmer, Three Belles, Jimmy Riddell, Bob Haines, The Rogues
Vocal and Orchestral
30 Minutes
Sustaining
KOIN, Portland, re.

Joseph Sampietro and the KOIN staff of artists hit a fast-moving stride in the 30-minute sustaining program to the Columbia network Saturday, April 28, at 1 p. m. P.S.T. Orchestral selections moved smoothly with a bright verve. A highlight of the program was Gene Baker's solo 'Temptation' and Ruth Messmer wowed them with her interpretation of 'No More Love.'

Three Belles harmoniously wafted 'Smoke Gets in Your Eyes' and Jimmy Riddell's spot 'Love Me Tonight' brought in fan calls. Bob Haines' treatment of 'You Are Free' was most outstanding. Program copy was handled by Billy Sandiford who put across a smooth m.c. job from the sophisticated continuity. The Rogues added a virile western touch to the show.

There will be three more such broadcasts.

MME. ERNESTINE SCHUMANN-HEINK

Songs
15 Mins.
COMMERCIAL
WENE, Chicago

Once weekly for Gerber's baby food this grand old lady of the operatic stage hits the ether for 15 minutes on Sundays. There is so much background, so much color, so much sentiment concerning Mme. Schumann-Heink that the actual program itself must necessarily play second fiddle to the personality of the performer.

It is a program that cannot be viewed coldly or analytically. It is suffused with the warmth of the lady and the sentimental reverence which surrounds her.

For Gerber's baby food she is a great personality and one that must attract a host of listeners. Even the most giddy of the flapper listeners must become respectful to the name of Schumann-Heink.

And yet this program is hardly aimed at the flapper. It is for mothers and parents everywhere, and presumably the parents in the upper strata, socially and financially. Those are mothers who regularly consult medicos on the diet for their children and who can afford any legitimate expense for the proper rearing of their children. For these people Mme. Schumann-Heink is a natural. Known as a wonderful mother, acclaimed for years as an operatic singer, she has an accumulation of sentiments that makes this program dovetail perfectly into the purpose of the commercial.

In her 15 minutes Mme. Schumann-Heink takes the entire range of song, religious, classical, operatic and folk tunes. Her voice is remarkable for a woman of her years. It still retains its warmth and its softness.

Erwin-Wasey agency has an excellent bet here from all angles.

Gold.

REXALL'S MAGIC HOUR

With Ohman & Arden's Orchestra, Jane Froman, Don Ross and The Tunesmiths
15 Mins.
COMMERCIAL
WGY, Schenectady

A series of waxers pressed for the Rexall-Owl Drug Stores to advertise one-cent sales. Same talent lineup, with the exception of Rolfe, and the same arrangement, on program entertainment, announcing and advertising, were used on a group of platters heard over WGY some months ago. The mistress of ceremonies is a 'Little Penny,' who, in the person of a young woman with a rather babyish voice, represents the extra cent for which merchandise can be purchased.

Discs carry more than the usual quota of 'names' for a morning household shot, and the artists deliver in competent if not sensational fashion. The programs move along swiftly.

Following the theme, in which the performers do snatches of their musical specialties, Ohman and Arden push down the black and whites smartly with their orchestra. Then the quartet harmonizes. The boys work together smoothly, but on the present batch of discs they do not offer as many novelty bids as they did on the former series.

After Ross warbles pleasantly, Miss Froman, who receives a big build-up as a star of Ziegfeld 'Follies,' sings a number. On one or two waxers Ross and Miss Froman talked as playing vis-a-vis in 'The Follies,' duet briefly. Incidentally that show is given plenty of plugging, even to a mention of the Winter Garden. Idea may be to emphasize the discs' star outlay, but at the same time it is likely to bring customers to the ticket shop's window.

'Little Penny,' who talks in the Jeanne Lang style, m.c.'s well. An announcer works opposite her, building up to the final spiel and an explanation of the 'Magic Hour.' A second announcer reels off a list of merchandise and prices, the m. c. chiming in with 'and one cent' for purchase of duplicate article. Station man signs off the plug locally. Records are a pretty good job from all angles. Jaco.

PILLSBURY'S PARTY LADY

Talks
5 Mins.
COMMERCIAL
WGY, Schenectady

The Party Lady is heard thrice weekly, on five-minute shots sponsored by the Pillsbury Company in behalf of its Minute-Mix. Broadcasts are not announced as electrical transcriptions, but the musical selection which opens them apparently filters through the mike via the wax route. Too, the Party Lady is an unusually smooth talker, for a local householder.

She speaks in a cultured tone and manner of one who 'belongs,' making suggestions about parties, dinners, etc. It is probable that she presses women listeners for there is an air of the 'right background' about everything she says.

Station announcer spiels before and after the Party Lady's brief talk. Dialers are requested to address her, at Minneapolis, for further information about parties, etc. Jaco.

EIGHT O'CLOCK REVUE

With Leopold Spitalny, Ed Lowry, Grace Hayes, Ryan and Noblette, Anita LaPierre, Elaine Arden, Newell Chase and John Young.
One Hour
Sustaining
WJZ, New York

This sustaining period is WJZ's opposition to WEAF's Chase & Sanborn hour, and extremely effective opposition. There was a great deal of merit packed in the sustaining 60 minutes, even though there were, perhaps, moments toward the end when the pace was uneven and results uncertain.

Originally launched under the title 'Kaleidoscope' and changed to 'Talk of the Town,' the program billing is poor. It's an 8 p.m. revue for Sunday night and some sort of a distinctive title is imperative. Obviously 'Talk of the Town' or 'Around the Town' or 'Kaleidoscope' is a bromide lacking the suggestion of smartness that the program otherwise strives for.

Leopold Spitalny, the former Chicago theatre maestro, is doing a crackerjack job here. Palpably he's devoting a great deal of time and thought to the arrangements. They reveal finesse and imagination. Spitalny fills in the places that need filling (several) during the hour's unfoldment and the musical department at all times stands Spitalny is certain to attract favorable comment by the musicianship he is displaying.

Lots of comedy on the program. First is Eddie Lowry, picture theatre m.c., who has previously done a radio whirl on a sustaining basis in Chicago. Lowry is versatile. He sings well, especially a certain type of song. He is a story-teller and a gagster of vast experience. As a personality he is likable. His absorption on a commercial program would seem not too improbable. It's primarily a matter of the right program idea.

Power NBC hopes to sell this hour as is and complete. It would be, as is, a good buy. But advertisers seldom buy as is. There wouldn't be any fun just taking over a completed show.

Grace Hayes is as good on the air as in vaudeville. Which is a high compliment, because she's plenty slick on the boards. Her melodic voice and poise shimmered across the ether. Newell Chase accompanied her.

Jim Ryan and Irene Noblette, who have well-learned whatever there is to the alleged mystery of microphone technique are newly back in Manhattan, from whence they previously set out on vaude tours. Now they're a radio act that probably makes 'personal appearances.' They have developed a strong comedy flair nicely suited for the radio. Pair were on the air in San Francisco some time prior to their recent return east.

A gal that will be easy to sell, or should be, is Elaine Arden. She's also theatre-trained. Her specialty is a female Greek, and she cut-Givots Givot. Her stuff is good and her delivery and tempo excellent. She grabbed plenty of giggles. Novelty of a woman dialectian alone assures her welcome.

From Chicago is Anita LaPierre, who sings with individualism. John Young announces. Land.

TIVOLI BREWERY

Fred Schmitt's Orchestra
Instrumental and Vocal
30 Mins.
COMMERCIAL
KOA, Denver

Presaging the return of big programs to Denver stations, Fred Schmitt and his orchestra opened a series of half-hour broadcasts by Tivoli, one of the local breweries. And with Schmitt's popularity, being the best known orchestra leader in these parts, together with the quality of music he demands from his musicians, this program will have the biggest listening audience of any local and many a national program.

Tivoli Beer, sponsors, after listening to numerous tryouts of this and that program, chose this as their idea of what was needed to put a smack and flavor into the ether waves and help knock the tops off a few more thousand bottles of their products.

Always popular for his arrangements of medleys in Denver theatres, it was but natural that Schmitt should make his radio bow on a program of this kind with a medley of 'Stein Songs of the World.' Clarence Moore, announcer, acts the part of a 'Western Aristocrat,' which is the trade name of Tivoli beer. Moore has a deep, chesty voice, well suited and injects hearty humor and entertainment on a par with the rest of the broadcast.

A femme trio harmonizing and a duo who do some exceptional yodeling and warbling assist in creating the necessary atmosphere of a beer garden. Schmitt steps out of his spot as orchestra leader long enough to play 'Sweet Mystery of Life' on the violin. He knows his mike technique unusually well for a first radio performance and is a master at coaxing those delicate and dreamy tones from his fiddle. Fred has been cheating the public by not playing more solos.

Radio-Theatre Idea No Click

Fanchon and Marco Find It Hard to Buck Free N. Y. Broadcasts

Fanchon & Marco's radio-theatre idea didn't materialize in the east and so Bob Collier from the Los Angeles home office of F&M has gone back to the Coast. It was Collier's pet idea that visual broadcasting programs could be capitalized from both ends—the regular commercial radio show and at the box-office in the form of an admission for seeing how a program is actually broadcasting from a stage-studio.

Roxy theatre on Broadway, which F&M operates, was the setting for several such experimental air shows. A couple of 'em were commercially sponsored but somehow the idea never got far. The renewed life which the broadcast theatres assumed such as via CBS' own Hudson theatre studio, etc., further stymied the idea educating the public to pay for seeing a radio show being put on the air.

Collier returns to the F&M h.o. in L. A. for another radio assignment. He has had better success with the idea on the Coast.

McGrath Sticks to Fights

Washington, May 14.

Jim McGrath, NBC mikeman, will announce local wrestling matches despite the fact they are now on WJSV, Columbia outlet.

Matches have been kicked around between all local stations for three years, but McGrath has gone with them despite other affiliations.

Hudson-Essex Leaving

Hudson-Essex combination has handed out notices to the cast of its Saturday night show on NBC's red (WEAF) link, effective with the May 26 broadcast. Motor company's contract for time has several weeks to go beyond that date.

Auto brand has also a program Tuesday nights over the blue (WJZ) loop. This setup remains as is. Affected by the notice as regards Saturday are Eddie Bruce and a Lennie Hayton combo.

Dave Olsen Up at WCAE; MacGregor's KDKA Job

Pittsburgh, May 14.

New program directors have just been appointed by Pittsburgh's two leading stations. Dave Olsen, long a staff artist at WCAE and station's sound-effect man de luxe, succeeds Ed Harvey, recently transferred to WISN, Hearst station in Milwaukee, taking over his new duties at once.

At KDKA, Sherman MacGregor, who has been doing free lance radio work in the east, replaces Claude Morris, who resigned recently to go to New York for dramatic work.

Another departure from WCAE is Jean Shirk, private secretary to Jesse L. Kaufman, until recently general manager of station. She goes to New York to rejoin her old employer, who is now an executive of Hearst Radio Service.

Frisco Bay District Broadcasters Elect

San Francisco, May 14.

Northern California Broadcasters' Association, comprising station managers of the bay district area, this week elected Preston Allen, of KLX, Oakland, as chairman, and Art Westlund, of KRE, Oakland as secretary.

Term is for three months, and Allen succeeds Ralph Brunton, of KJBS, Frisco.

At the meeting a committee was appointed to mull over the feasibility of opening offices and naming a permanent secretary for the body. Action is expected at the next monthly pow-wow.

RADIO SHOWMANSHIP

(Merchandizing and Program Tieups)

OUTSTANDING STUNTS:
BOYS' BASEBALL SCHOOL KEX, PORTLAND, ORE.

Sandlot Champions

Portland, Ore.

A school to teach baseball!

As might be expected the idea when actually carried through, was irresistable to the lads around Portland. Fully 2,000 rushed to register and the stunt has all the earmarks of a big success.

It's a three-way tieup between Station KEX, the sports page of the Oregonian, and Thomas L. Turner, president of the Portland baseball team of the Pacific Coast league. Kids show up at 9 a. m. every Saturday morning at the ball park and receive instruction in the fine points of baseball from Carl Mays and other team members.

It's promotion, of course, but it's good promotion, designed to popularize the exclusive baseball broadcasts and to increase the circulation of The Oregonian. It costs the pupils nothing. Added inducements are: All boys registered in the classes receive free admission cards to all Portland home games played on Saturdays; at each Saturday morning class autographed baseballs will be given to the best 'baseball students'; and finally, at the end of the 12-week school, the prospect adjudged the best will be awarded a free two-week trip with the Portland baseball club.

Continued interest in the school will be maintained by special talks during the KEX baseball broadcasts and by publicity in the sport section of The Oregonian.

At the end of the training period, one team chosen from the school will meet Carl Mays' 'Oregonians', a private team of 15-year-olds, in a series of three games preceding coast league games played here.

Credit for organization work goes to Larry Allen, assistant manager of KGW-KEX. Rollie Truitt, KGW-KEX announcer assists Carl Mays each Saturday morning giving instructions over the field's loud speaker to the horde of 2,000 assembled on the grounds.

Two sand lot baseball experts—school boys—traveled 200 miles from Umatilla, Oregon, to attend the opening session. Others came from closer points in northwest Oregon.

Penrod, Pass the Opium!

New York.

Pop-eyed fantasy is poured into Cocomalt's 'Buck Rogers' serial (CBS) in such extravagant doses that adults must find themselves perplexed at the adolescent capacity for imaginative hokum. Right now the sinister Professor Smith, a confirmed misantrophist, is plotting to express his distaste for the world (as is 1,000 years hence) by destroying it.

Here, obviously, is something to strain the youthful imagination to the bursting point. Destroy the world, throw the universe off its track, bring the heavens tumbling down, press a button and make a hillbilly out of Jupiter. It's enough to plant strange seeds in impressionable minds.

Meanwhile the incredibly gifted youth, Buck Rogers, and his strictly scientific sweetie, Wilma, match the evil professor's disintegrating molecular propulsion ray with their own devastating physic restriction knotter-upper. It's a prize-winning display of empty syllables and a nightmare at twilight.

Olsen and Johnson Tie-Up

San Francisco.

Hearst's KYA made a slick tie-up with Olsen and Johnson's 'Take a Chance' musical comedy, and Tilton's, local clothing store, that was a natural all around for guaranteed satisfaction.

KYA sold three night periods to Tilton's, who sponsored a line right to the Columbia theatre. On opening night Olsen and Johnson broadcast the proceedings from the theatre lobby, and on following two nights did the air periods directly from the theatre green room.

WMAZ Sells Spelling Bee

Macon, Ga.

WMAZ has just completed for the fourth consecutive year its annual county-wide spelling bee with the Bankers Health and Life Insurance Company as sponsor of the event. Board of Education co-operates each year by having 13 grammar schools in the county each pick two best spellers. For half-hour periods on three succeeding nights the selectees take the mike and go through the process of eliminating one another. Those that remain at the end of the three half hours split up the prize money, furnished by the contest's backer.

After the coin was divided among 16 spellers last week the station put on an extra half hour to crown the champ but at the end of this period there were six youngsters still left standing. Superintendent of Schools designates two supervisors from his staff to do the judging, while a prof from the local high schools calls off the words to be spelled.

Theatre-Station Divvy

Lincoln.

Stuart showing 'Tarzan' made a pretty neat display tieup for KFOR, radio station here, since the latter is carrying the wax 'Tarzan of the Apes' and its sponsor has provided images of all the animals and the man thing, too.

KFOR placed a big display board in the lobby of the theatre with all the images thereon calling attention to the program, the sponsor and the radio station. In turn, the radio station each night before and after the program went on the air gave the picture a plug. A mutual aid idea with no dough involved and sold nicely.

New Business

NEWARK, N. J.

Empire Gold Co., adding Wednesday night quarter-hour to its present Monday night series, for nine weeks, dance music, partly recorded. WOR.

Noxon, Inc. (Noxon Cleanser), 13 weeks, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, five minutes, 'Home Redecorating' with Christine Ray. WOR.

Poloris Co., Inc. (sunburn remedy), 13 weeks, beginning June 21, five minutes Thursday and Saturday a.m. WOR.

Dr. Miles Laboratories, Inc. (Alka-Seltzer), 10-week renewal, Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays, 15-minute recordings, 'Comedy Stars of Hollywood.' WOR.

BOSTON

Providence News-Tribune, three announcements on Merry-Go-Round started May 8. WEAN.

Henley-Kimball Co., renewed sponsorship of time signals, started May 7, through Scott Agency, Boston. WNAC.

Buick Motor Company, five announcements on Merry-Go-Round, started, May 7, through Campbell-Ewald. WNAC.

Jordan Marsh Co., 24 announcements, started May 5, through Harry F. Frost Co., Boston. WEEI.

Big Bear Market, 24 announcements in Evening Tatler, started May 7, through the Greenleaf Agency, Boston. WEEI.

Dodge Motor Car Co., six announcements in Evening Tatler, started May 7, through Campbell-Ewald Co., Inc., Detroit. WEEI.

Dr. Miles Laboratories (Alka Selzer) 39 15-minute programs, started May 7, through Wade Advertising Agency, Chicago. WEEI.

Buick Motors, five announcements, started May 11, through Campbell-Ewald Co., Inc., Detroit. WEEI.

Community Dentists, 52 15-minute programs, started May 10, through Salinger & Publicover, Boston. WAAB.

Thomas System, sponsoring baseball scores daily including Sunday for 151 times, started May 3. WAAB.

Reagan, Kipp Co., 78 temperature broadcasts, started May 7, through Broadcast Advertising. WAAB.

New England Steamship Co., 42 announcements on Merry-Go-Round, through Wendell P. Colton Co., New York, starting May 23. WICC.

Whittemore-Cleaner, 56 announcements, started May 6, through Ingalls Advertising. WNAC.

Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., renewed 13 15-minute programs through Radio Broadcasting Co., Boston, started May 4. WNAC.

Big Bear Market, 36 temperature readings, started May 7, through Greenleaf Agency. WNAC.

Reo Motor Car Co., 13 announcements on Merry-Go-Round, started May 7, through Maxon, Detroit. WNAC.

Chamberlain & Co., six 5-minute programs, through Hoyt Agency, started May 10. WNAC.

LINCOLN

Gardner Nursery, Seattle. Series of five-minute electrical transcriptions. KFAB.

Wilke Baking Company, 13 25-word announcements on KFAB Spot announcements on KFOR for a year.

Capitol Beach, daily participation in Times and Tunes WFAB and nightly orchestra pickup from ballroom over KFOR.

Brandeis stores, 40 spot announcements. KFAB.

Buick Motor Company, 30 spot announcements. KFAB.

Watchtower, one 30-minute electrical transcription Sunday. KFAB.

Krug Brewery, baseball scores each evening through summer over KFAB.

Town Talk Baking Company, daily announcements for one year. KFOR.

Clowe & Schneider Haberdashers, series of one-minute announcements on opening of new shop. KFOR.

Fred Hays BarBQ, nite announcements for six months. KFOR.

Leader Beautie Shoppe, 13 spot announcements over KFOR.

PITTSBURGH

Claffey's Beauty Salon, three announcements daily, except Sunday, for 4 weeks. Placed direct. WWSW.

Gidas Floral Co., six announcements. Placed direct. WWSW.

Hudson Chevrolet, Inc., one announcement daily except Sunday for four weeks. Placed direct. WWSW.

Betty Gay Shop, six announcements. Placed direct. WWSW.

Independent Wallpaper Co., three announcements daily except Sunday for two weeks. Placed direct. WWSW.

Northwest Radio Advertising Co., three 5-minute discs in interests of Gardener Nursey Co. WWSW.

DENVER

Ivoli Beer, 30 mins. weekly, 6 months, KOA.

Harry Huffman Theatres, radio movie reporter, 5 mins. daily exc. Sun., indefinite, KOA.

Doran Coffee Co., 140 one-min. spot announcements, KOA.

Buick Motor Co., 10 one-min. spot announcements, KOA.

Chevrolet Motor Co., 40 one-min. spot announcements, KOA.

E. K. Sweeney Electrical Co., Thor Washers, three announcements daily exc. Sun., indefinite, KFEL.

Public Service Co. of Colorado, three announcements daily exc. Sun., indefinite, KFEL.

Model Furniture Co., 15 mins., daily exc. holidays and Sun., one year, KFEL.

Channings Restaurant, announcement daily, one week, KFEL.

Golden Eagle Paint Dept., five announcements daily, one week, KFEL.

Lincoln Liberty Life Ins. Co., five announcements Sunday, one day, KFEL.

Barnett Wrecking Co., three announcements daily exc. Sun., one year, KFEL.

Hopper, Furrier, 25 night spots and

(Continued on page 58)

ORIGINAL
CALIFORNIA COLLEGIANS
Late Features of
"Fifty Million Frenchmen"
"Three's a Crowd"
NOW
"ROBERTA"
NEW AMSTERDAM
NEW YORK

Jack and Loretta Clemens
WJZ
10:45-11 A.M.
Mon., Wed., Fri.
WILBERT'S FLOOR WAX
Direction
NBC Artists Bureau
and
Ben Bocke Productions

ROY FOX
AND HIS BAND
CAFE de PARIS
LONDON
B.B.C. NETWORK

FRANK PARKER
Featured Soloist
A. & P. GYPSIES
GENERAL TIRES
First Tenor with
THE REVELLERS

LEO REISMAN
ENTERS HIS FOURTH CONSECUTIVE RENEWAL ON
PHILIP MORRIS
WEAF, Tuesday, 8 P. M.

THE
ARMOUR ★ JESTER
PHIL BAKER
EVERY FRIDAY EVENI
WJZ, NBC NETWORK
COAST-TO-COAST
NEW YORK
9:30-10 P. M.
D.S.T.
Thru Station WJZ
CHICAGO
8:30-9 P. M.
C.S.T.
Thru Station WENR

HARRY McNAUGHTON
ALIAS "BOTTLE"
THE ARMOUR HOUR
Coast-to-Coast
Every Friday Evening
NEW YORK
9:30-10 P.M.,
D.S.T., WJZ
CHICAGO
8:30-9 P.M. C.S.T.
Thru
Station WENR
Permanent Address, LAMBS' CLUB,
130 West 44th St., New York City

CHARLES CARLILE
TENOR
COAST-TO-COAST
CBS

fred allen's
HOUR OF SMILES
With
PORTLAND HOFFA
JACK SMART
IRWIN DELMORE
LIONEL STANDER
MINERVA PIOUS
EILEEN DOUGLAS
LENNIE HAYTON'S ifana
TROUBADOURS
Material by Fred Allen and Harry Tugend
Management Walter Batchelor
Wednesdays, 9-10 P. M., D. S. T.
WEAF

Always a Little Ahead of the Rest
THE
SIZZ-LERS
For Further Information:
HAROLD KEMP, NBC Artist Bureau
Personal Direction, CHARLES A. BAYHA

Editors' Cantor Problem

Don't Know Whether to Sue or Not Over Comedian's Stories on Critics

To sue or not to sue has the New York radio editors in a stew these days against Eddie Cantor, the defendant-to-be or not to be. It's all because of Cantor's now well known peeve against the metropolitan radio columnists, editors and chatterers whom he has on occasion panned for sundry reasons. It came to a head in a published story wherein Cantor attacked 'the honesty of purpose' of all the N. Y. radio eds with the exception of one.

This caused Ben Gross, radio editor of the N. Y. Daily News, Mike Porter, radio columnist of the Journal, Tom Brooks (Porter's superior and radio editor of the Journal), et al., to decide to sue for libel. Gross, a Dixie drawler, consulted both his editor and the lawyer for the News. Porter's editor, Ed Curley, of the Journal, said he didn't care one way or the other—it was up to Porter and Brooks and if they felt they were hurt they can do whatever they wanted to and he'd back 'em up.

Porter's attitude is as it has been for some time, so far as Cantor is concerned—ignore the comedian and keep his name out of his column. Porter is with Gross and anybody else among the radio eds but he also feels this is a shrewd means whereby Cantor may keep himself alive in ether circles while he's in Hollywood making his Sam Goldwyn picture and up until his return to the air next fall.

Porter would rather the radio eds didn't play into what he deems Cantor's publicity plans but that they all continue slighting the comedian entirely, especially in view of the alleged insult on their profession.

Cantor's fair-haired radio editor was first thought to be Alton Cook, comparative newcomer as radio editor of the N. Y. World-Telegram. But it develops that Cantor expressed himself as meaning the American's ether writer, Louis Reid.

Another complication to the suit is that Cantor's interview with that 'honesty' crack appeared in Radio Guide, weekly fan mag, in which Moe Annenberg has become interested.

BURNS & ALLEN RENEW

Gen, igar Deal eans 3½ Yr. Stretch On Air

General Cigar has extended Burns and Allen until June 1, 1935. Original extension for next season ran until December, '34, but this was torn up and replaced last week by the lengthened stretch. New deal set with J. Walter Thompson by the William Morris office.

Extension will give the comedy team a solid stretch of three and a half years on the air, except for a one-week layoff and time out for summer vacations.

Jeff Gill Tours

San Francisco, May 14.

Changes in the staff of Don Lee's KFRC have Jeffrey Gill, tenor, bowing out of the station this week to go on a recital tour through the Southwest enroute to New York. He'll carry an accompanist and p.a. with him.

Station has taken on for spot programs the Bluettes, fem vocal trio—Marian Peck, Meredith Gregor, Theresa Aezer—who were formerly at NBC, and is using Midge Williams and a colored choir on the Blue Monday Jamboree.

Lasses White Sponsored

Nashville, May 14.

Lasses White Minstrel show on WSM, for the past two years, sold to the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana.

First sponsored broadcast was May 9 at 8:30 CST. Witnessed by several hundred officials and representatives of the Standard Oil Company following a banquet at the Hotel Hermitage in Nashville.

Ballou Quits KMTR

Hollywood, May 14.

Dave Ballou has resigned as program director of KMTR.

He leaves June 1, but a successor has not been appointed. Ballou has been at the station six months, going there from KNX.

Hot Numbers from Mexico Irk San Diego Moralists

San Diego, May 14.

Squawks have been received by local newspapers against hot discs played after midnight on Tom and Jerry program, XEBC, Agua Caliente.

Guardians of the community's morals point to two numbers as chief offenders—'Was I Drunk, Was He Handsome and Did My Ma Gimme Hell?' and 'Gimme Some!'

Baseball Clubs Permit Hourly Announcements

Chicago, May 14.

With stations finding it difficult to clear entire two and three hour runs for baseball play-by-play accounts and the clubs themselves generally opposing running stories of the game, radio is now working on a new baseball score policy. Stations are selling announcements two and three times during the afternoon to keep the fans posted on the score at the end of the third, seventh and ninth innings.

Wheaties which has been particularly hot for baseball spots this summer has contracted through the Blackett-Sample-Hummert agency here with WSB in Atlanta for a thrice daily baseball scores. Will get announcements at 3:00, 4:00 and 5:15 p.m. Besides simple scores the station will broadcast line-up, switches in line-up and general comment.

This announcement plan is regarded by the stations as the best method of getting around baseball clubs' animosity to straight play-by-play broadcasts, and thus far several leagues approached with this system have signified that they would eve.i admit broadcasts from the field itself if restricted to this three-time announcements.

Boxing Ok'd in Capital

Washington, May 14.

Professional boxing matches will break onto a local station for the first time when WJSV airs the ring series bowing in May 28. Considerable interest has been shown in two weekly cards run just outside the D. of C. line but stations have steered clear till the sport was legalized in town.

Bout programs will be sponsored by a local radio store.

Lizzie Arden Extends

Extension o the Elizabeth Arden program on CBS to a half hour starting Tuesday (12) brings with it the addition of Fray and Braggiotti to the regular cast.

New hookup takes in a cross-country alignment of 40 stations.

Little's B.B.D.&O. Break

Continental Baking has renewed Little Jack Little for a second 13 weeks and arranged to give him a Friday night release (9:15 p.m. EDST) on CBS starting this week (18). Account previously had the warbler in a Tuesday evening niche.

Little has turned out 39 more quarter-hour transcriptions for the Niagara-Hudson Power Co. for use three times a week on WBEN, Buffalo; WFBO and WSYR, Syracuse; WGLC, Glens Falls; WGY, Schenectady; WIBX, Utica, and WOKO, Albany. Makes his second 13-week set for the utility outfit.

Both accounts are handled by Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborne.

Cecil & Sally Waxing

San Francisco, May 14.

Although Johnny Patrick, the Cecil of Cecil and Sally, vet radio team, is on a health buildup in Carmel, he and his partner, Helen Troy, are continuing to do their daily transcriptions at the MacGregor-Sollie labs here.

Patrick is writing his scripts on the Carmel sands and coming into town once a month to cut the 26 discs put out monthly to 52 stations by MacGregor-Sollie.

Petry Group Okays Merchandising At Chi Meeting; Station Surveys, Standard Contracts Also Set

Chicago, May 14.

Radio was pushed head-first into a policy of merchandising by the vote of some 34 major stations in a meeting here last week under the Edward Petry banner. It was the annual meeting of the Petry stations.

Stations in general have been battling against the steadily growing trend towards merchandising with no universal acceptance among transmitters of this extra burden. But the meeting recognized the inevitable and capitulated to an out-and-out adoption of merchandising cooperation with advertisers. Which means that the radio industry will probably follow the Petry group and will be sending letters to dealers, posting window displays and generally working behind the scenes for additional sales and distribution for the advertiser.

Merchandising started in radio by scattered stations agreeing to send letters to the local dealers on the station letterhead that the advertiser had bought time on the transmitter. But even in these cases the advertiser agreed to pay for the labor and postage. Stations under the Petry plan will set up an entire schedule of merchandising angles for the advertisers in connection with spot schedules and also state just what charges will be made to the advertiser for this extra job.

Station Surveys

Petry organization meeting also decided to follow in the wake of the NBC by having their stations surveyed for field strength and audience popularity. The Petry organization will handle the job for the stations, hiring a survey-maker to treat all stations similarly to get at a standar type of survey for all stations involved.

Meeting decided on a plan for giving corporations with many subsidiaries an opportunity to bulk time contracts in order to secure the top discount. Also a standard contract in billing for spot advertising, the standard being bill and affidavit on one sheet. Stations all agreed to adopt the standard A.A.A.A. tract.

On the eternal question of local or national rates it was decided that any program or announcements used in more than one city, when the copy is practically the same in all cities, the national rate shall be carried. Also in the matter of morning rates it was voted that this should be established at one-third the night rate for similar facilities and that the minimum schedule for such a rate will be three 15-minute periods weekly.

Lombardo Goes NBC

Deal is on the verge of being closed for the Guy Lombardo unit to replace Vincent Lopez on the Plough, Inc., show over NBC Wednesday nights. Hookup of this account will have NBC clearing the Lombardos exclusively this summer. It's to be an NBC sustaining wire for them during their stay on the Waldorf Astoria roof.

Lombardos have been solely allied with CBS since WBBM started to pick them up from Al Quodbach's niterie on Chicago's south side.

Lud Gluskin in U. S. A.

Lud Gluskin, American jazz maestro who has performed extensively in Europe, and recorded for Polydor, Parlaphone, etc., is back in America and with two air commercials.

He's slated for the General Household-NBC show and the Standard Oil-NBC program in June.

HOTEL PIERRE
JACK DENNY
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Conoco Oil Wed., 10:30 P.M. WJZ
Richard Hudnut WABC Fri., 9:30 P.M.
WJZ Sat., 12 Midnight Mon., 11:30 P.M.
WEAF Tues., 12:30 A.M.

GRACIE BARRIE
"The Sweetheart of the Blues"
NOW PLAYING
RKO THEATRES
Sole Direction
HERMAN BERNIE
1619 Broadway, New York

GEORGE GIVOT
(The Greek Ambassador of Good Will)
RETURN ENGAGEMENT
ON
FLEISCHMANN HOUR
THURSDAY, May 17
THANKS TO
GORDON THOMPSON
RUDY VALLEE
Sole Direction
Herman Bernie, 1619 Broadway, New York

HENRY THIES
Famed Dance Band Conductor
WLW Staff Artist

After an absence of more than two years Henry Thies—nationally famed dance band conductor—returns to the microphones of WLW to direct the Pure Oil Pepsters Orchestra.

Henry Thies has long been accepted as one of America's foremost dance orchestra leaders. The rare musicianship of this gifted conductor, his genius for injecting into popular dance melodies of the day a delightfully original freshness and captivating rhythm, his thorough understanding of the classical masters along with his ability to translate their works into the rhythmic form of the modern dance mode—these are factors responsible for lifting Thies to his present enviable position in the musical world.

● From the sound of footsteps to a symphony orchestra . . .

WLW "the Nation's Station" CINCINNATI

● talent and production facilities cover the gamut of radio entertainment. . .

Radio Chatter

New York

Burt McMurtrie in the State of Washington with his folks, recovering from a nervous breakdown.

Gladys Rice guesting on the Packard show this Monday (21).

Bob Cowell off to Porto Rico to finish another play.

Nick Dawson doing a hospitalization stretch. It's a recurrence of an old ailment.

Oscar Shaw auditioning a musical sketch for the NBC program board.

Colgate has just Joe Cook under a 52-week contract, renewable in 13-week periods, for the account's Saturday night stanza on NBC.

Betty Roberge Weir, wife of Snedden Weir, studio manager of WOKO, Albany, is concert pianist over WOKO every Sunday.

Radio news, especially about WOKO, Albany, and WGY, Schenectady, is getting a new break through the columns of the daily Albany Knickerbocker Press. Amusement page is split up for radio and theatre items and photos. Incidentally, more work for Royden Rand and Bill Meenam.

Dale Taylor, studio manager; Leo Boiley, production manager; Francis Broich, control room man, and Raymond Morley, announcer, all of WESG, Elmira, stepped aside in favor of four high schoolboys, who took over their jobs as Youth Week stunt.

WESG, Elmira, is going strong for street interview broadcasts. Danny Dwyer is the quiz man.

Lee Sims and Homay Bailey westward for couple of theatre dates in Detroit and Chicago and guest appearances for Palmer House commercial.

WGNY at Chester has a minister, Rev. Ivanhoe McCollum, broadcast descriptive hymn singing.

Schine's Fox theatre at Corning is co-operating with WESG, Elmira, in a search for talent, with aspirants appearing in public auditions on the Fox stage.

Forrest Willis, announcer, is rated as the Beau Brummel of the staff of WOKO, Albany.

Reggie Childs orchestra set for the weekly sustainers from Roosevelt Hotel over CBS.

Paul Whiteman into Hotel Mount Royal in Montreal before resuming at Biltmore, New York.

Bing Crosby just turned 31.

Beatrice Pons and Chester Stratton heard over WNEW Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday at 7:45 p. m.

George Jessel back sustaining for CBS starting June 3.

Dan O'Brien, 'king of hoboes,' and John Allan of Salvation Army debated over CBS whether public should give money to street panhandlers.

Goodrich Tire's 'Taxi' serial on NBC with Max Baer is being produced and cast by G. V. Grombach, Inc.

Among those in for the Group Broadcasters, Inc., meeting were John Shepard, 3rd, Yankee network; Harry Howlett, KWK, St. Louis; Ike Lounsbury, WGR-WKBW, Buffalo, and Arthur Church, KMBC, Kansas City, Mo.

This Thursday's (17) will be the last for Nikita Balieff on the Kraft-Phenix round of the clock. Event will complete his four-week contract.

After auditioning for several air programs Rube Wolfe, Fanchon & Marco m.c., returned to Los Angeles for another theatre assignment.

HENRY BUSSE
AND HIS MUSIC
NOW
CHEZ PAREE
Chicago
Broadcasting ...tly CBS

THE GREEK AMBASSADOR OF GOOD WILL
GEORGE GIVOT
LOEW'S DELUXE THEATRES
also
Fleischmann Hour, Thur., May 17
Sole Direction
HERMAN BERNIE
1619 Broadway, New York

"Radio's Favorite Mimic"
ARTHUR BORAN
APPEARING NIGHTLY
PARK CENTRAL ROOF
Impersonating Stars of the Stage, Screen, Radio, Night Club and Political Life

EMERSON GILL
AND ORCHESTRA
HIS CLEVELAND
WTAM NBC
Nightly Monday Friday Saturday 1 P. M.

GLADYS RICE
FEATURED SOLOIST
PACKARD HOUR
Monday, May 21
WJZ, 10 P. M., EDST
Exclusive Management
George E. Dilworth, Inc.
RKO Building, New York City

Joe Parsons
Radio's Low Voice
SINCLAIR MINSTREL
Every Monday 8 P. M., N.B.C.
CHICAGO

New England

Sunny South Co., colored tab show touring Vermont, broadcast over WCAX, Burlington.

Washington County Ministers' Association is conducting series of religious programs over WDEV, Waterbury, Vt.

Sid Carsley's orchestra heard over WCAX, Burlington, Vt., through remote control.

Every city in Vermont, except three, is now represented on the books of WDEV, Waterbury.

Casa Loma orchestra does season-opening honors next Sunday night at Roton Point Park, South Norwalk; jumps from there to Raleigh, N. C.; comes back to New York for Tuesday Camel broadcast and begins summer stand May 24 at Glen Island Casino, New Rochelle.

Will Harrison's band, back from Pennsylvania tour, WICCing again from Bridgeport studios.

Harry Moss handling Marge Hull's WICC orkers of Bridgeport.

Carl Loman, director of instrumental trio on Caryll Kelly's WICCasts from New Haven studios, now on a spot of his own leading a full band.

Bridgeport Calvert dramatic group augmenting Clarence Cable's 'Lines and Spaces' scripter cast on WICC.

WBZ Boston broadcast Saturday night the banquet in honor of Capt. Al Williams, Navy speed flyer.

Manager of WEEI, Boston, excuses one mental lapse per month on the part of staff members. If they confine their haywire antics to that one day, he says, all is forgiven. Del Castillo, staff organist, used up his May quota by playing 'Headin' for the Last Roundup' in honor of a woman's 96th birthday.

Ace Brigode's CBSers routed into New England rooms by Norman Campbell (Amusement Service corporation).

George Hinkel and his accompanist, Arthur Anderson, were in New York the other day for an audition. After playing a club date they left on the midnight had their audition at 11 a.m., and then took the afternoon train back for their 6:45 p.m. broadcast.

Pacific Northwest

Eddie Jansen, manager of KVI (CBS), Tacoma, just returned from business trip to California where he lined up some new accounts.

Tubby Quilliam, sales manager of KOMO and KJR, Seattle, visited in Tacoma on business. Tubby made a trip via auto to Spokane the other day with the Mrs. and the radiator went dry at midnight in the prairie. He used his hat and shoes to carry water from a bullfrog pond and a canine made him leap for safety over a barbed-wire fence with dire results.

Paul R. Heitmeyer, manager of KGW-KEX, Portland, Oregon, took plane Sunday, May 4, for Chicago to represent his stations at a meeting of executives of all stations for which Edward Petry & Company, Inc., handles national advertising. He was joined en route by Harry Wixon, of station KHQ, Spokane. Dates of the Chicago meeting are May 7, 8 and 9.

Charles Couche, former Pacific Coast theatre manager, is now engaged in promotional work for KOIN, Portland. He also edits KOIN's 'Radio Advertisers.'

New vogue in Portland is broadcasts of new store, restaurant or night club openings. Seems to have become a superstition here that a broadcast of the opening night is essential to success. Most recent 'opening' broadcast was Arab Inn—food, beer, music, floor show and Oriental atmosphere—night of May 4. Used 25-minute floor show broadcast over KGW.

North Coast Electric Company, distributors of the 'Norge Rollator Electric Refrigerators,' has returned to the air over KOIN. Helen Ernst and John Emmel furnish two piano melodies and a five-minute dramatization of far-north episodes comprise the entertainment in the three-a-week series.

'My Kingdom Come,' a drama of the average American family, written and directed by Mason Moltzner, seems destined to success on KGW Wednesday nights after four well-received broadcasts.

Billy Sandiford, senior announcer at KOIN, has taken over the 'Book of Life' programs.

A new voice on KOOS, Marshfield, Oregon—'The most westerly station in the nation'—is Fred Breene, formerly KGW-KEX continuity writer. Breene went to KOOS as assistant manager.

KGW-KEX visitor was Cliff Engle, of MacGregor and Sollie, San Francisco, representatives of Petry.

All Portland radio stations, including KGW, KOIN, and KEX, have been called into service by the Portland Gas and Coke company to promote for 15 days a special gas range campaign. Plans of sponsors consist of announcements over all city stations for period of two weeks.

George McMurphey is a new member of the KGW-KEX sales force. McMurphey comes to the Oregonian stations from Chet Crank agency for which he handled the Gilmore Oil account for the last year.

Birt Fisher, manager of KOMO-KJR, Seattle, launching a new outboard motor boat in anticipation of a fishing trip with H. J. Maxwell, NBC station relations manager, who is visiting here next month.

Hec Chevigny, chief continuity writer of KOL, Seattle, off to British Columbia on vacation.

Don Isham, KOL staff organist, gone paternal. It's a six-pound boy—his first.

KPCB, Seattle, increased to 250 watts.

Memory

Washington, May 14.

Chief Justice Hughes has even Capital announcers licked when it comes to saying what he intends to over the mike. Supreme Court boss dictates his speeches, reads 'em over twice and pays no attention to copy when he gets on the air.

Boys checked him at the American Law Institute spiel last Thursday (10). He only missed three words of copy of talk given out in advance.

Ohio

William C. Stoess, musical director of WLW, celebrated the 11th anniversary of his identify with that station and also his 32d birthday last week. Stoess joined WLW when its entire studio staff numbered four persons. Today he has more than 150 musicians and artists under his wing.

Joe Chambers, technical supervisor for the Crosley Radio Corp., Cincy, is in demand as a speaker before radio and engineering bodies since completing supervision of the 500,000-watt WLW transmitter plant. He will make an address to the Boston Institute of Radio Engineers, May 25, and May 28 he will appear before the annual convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers in Philadelphia.

Joe and Kay, students of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, have been assigned to a weekly sustaining spot on WSAI for double pianoing and vocal harmony. Former is Joe Moon, formerly of WSPD, Toledo. Kay is Kathleen Cornelius, a belle of Cedarville, Ky. Team has been playing cocktail terrace of Netherland Plaza hotel in Cincy.

Joe Emerson, 'bachelor of song,' doing evening commercials on WLW, Cincy, back on morning sustaining 'Hymns of All Churches' program, daily except Sunday, for that station. Supported by small ork and a vocal foursome.

Mail Pouch Tobacco Co., sponsoring weekday evening sports spiels by Bob Newhall on WLW, Cincy, offering three pairs of reserved seats for motor speed races at Indianapolis, Decoration Day, and $25 with each set, to three persons guessing closest to number of packages of product leaving factory May 21, 22 and 23. Same stunt was used last year and brought heavy response. Newhall interviews some of the drivers on programs originating in WLW a few days prior to the race.

Pennsylvania

KDKA, Pittsburgh, has revived once popular Strollers Matinee with Glenn Riggs as m.c.

Ruth Robin, Pittsburgh gal and sister of Leo Robin, the lyricist, has joined Charlie Barnett's band. She was last here with Huston Ray's ork.

Joe Sartory, former sports announcer at WWSW, Pittsburgh, back in town a single man via the divorce route.

Nancy Martin, latest discovery of KDKA, Pittsburgh, leading station's artists in fan mail, according to Lynn Morrow, p.a.

Feud between two of Pittsburgh's radio editors just as bitter as ever.

Elias Breeskin, former orchestra director at Penn, Pittsburgh, going to coast with Dave Rubinoff.

Bill Robson, ex-Pittsburgh newspaperman and once on Paramount's scenario staff, now writing continuity for Coast station KHJ. He's a graduate of Professor Baker's 47 Workshop.

Walt Framer, once Show Shopper at WWSW, Pittsburgh, but more recently of KQV, returns to his old spot and station this week.

It's a boy at the Lou Kays, of WJAS, Pittsburgh.

Bill Farren, former KDKA, Pittsburgh, announcer, and now at WNEW, a visitor in town last week.

Maryland

WCBM now, on average, feeding 30 programs weekly to CBS chain.

Charlie Warren, mgr. Rex, pic house, gets in some verbal licks on behalf of 'Vagabonds' coln campaign when he guest-spieled during 'Globe-Trotter' period over WFBR.

Pasquale Tallarico, concert Steinwayer, starting new sustaining series over WBAL, Baltimore.

Florence Reed answered the questions for Nancy Turner in interview over WFBR, Balto.

Harriette Weems, vet legit trouper, speaker-guest on subject, 'Mother,' over WFBR.

Ed Turnis, ether actor and an etcher of note, has been added to announcing retinue of WBAL.

Clem McCarthy came in from New York to narrate Preakness over WBAL, Baltimore, which piped it over country, via NBC blue web. John Wilbourne, of local station's staff, spoke the 'color' build-up and aftermath occurrences.

Thomas Bryan George and Ted Husing handled the CBS mike during the Pimlico classic, Preakness.

Tennessee

Male chorus of 20 voices, under the direction of Ossian Crockett, broadcast each Sunday afternoon at 3:30, CST, from WSM, Nashville.

Lawrence Goodman, presenting pianologues each Monday night at 7:45 o'clock, from WSM, Nashville.

J. T. Ward, WLAC Nashville executive, to New York to attend the annual meeting of the Board of Directors of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Aaron Campbell's Mountaineers, now to WLAC, Nashville.

Davis Ross included when 'Poet's Gold' returns to WLAC.

'The Apothecaries,' now in their third year over WLAC, Nashville, are now being heard on a revised schedule, appearing at 8:30 on Tuesday nights, rather than 7:30 as in the past.

Georgia

Robert Armstrong, formerly with WRDW, has replaced Marion Bragg, resigned, on WMAZ's, Macon, staff of announcers.

Robert (Red Cross) Crowther now on a general assignment with WMAZ, Macon.

WMAZ Macon studios are being given a complete redecorating. Station has been in its present quarters two years.

Of the 106 clients that were on the WMAZ, Macon, books during April only 20 came under the heading of newcomers.

North Carolina

Aunt Sally (Mrs. Pasco Powell), of the Foremost Kiddie Club, sponsored by the Foremost Dairies over WSOC, Charlotte, N. C., took several of her star performers and presented a program before the weekly luncheon of the Charlotte Junior Chamber of Commerce. She was aided by Bo Norris, WSOC pianist.

A hobby show, sponsored by the Asheville, N. C., Rotary Club, is being built up over WWNC, of that city. Members of the Rotary committee handle the broadcasts.

Doris Terry Andrews, of the Andrews Sisters duet, appearing for the past several months over WBT, Charlotte, N. C., has gone to WSOC, same place, where she has been given two 15-minute programs a week. She sings hot blues. Mary, the other half of the sister act, continues at WBT.

Capitol

Harold Gray, local CBS announcer, and Patricia Ickler, secretary in local Fox Film Exchange, tied the knot in Baltimore May 1.

Sidney Ten Eyck, former NBC in N. Y., now doing gag announcing for WRC and WMAL, local NBC outlets.

Ted Church, ex-Washington head for CBS News Service, given title of Assistant to Vice-President Bellows who heads Capital CBS office. Church handles net stuff out here.

Arch MacDonald, formerly with WDOD, doing sports for WJSV.

Grace Shannon, major domo of 'Three Maids on a Mike,' will forget air work with marriage June 1.

WJSV has put studio-controlled gong in Arthur Godfrey's apartment to wake him for early program. Lines run to mike besides his bed.

MGM STUDIOS
CULVER CITY, CALIF.

COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM
Presents
LEON BELASCO
MON., FRI., WABC, 12 MIDNITE
Coast-to-Coast
St. Moritz Hotel, New York, Nightly
Sole Direction HERMAN BERNIE
1619 Broadway, New York

ABE LYMAN
AND HIS
CALIFORNIA ORCHESTRA
COAST-TO-COAST
WABC
SUNDAY, 2:30 p. m.-3 p. m.
WEAF
WED., 8:30 p. m. 9 p. m.

Isham Jones Orchestra
COMMODORE HOTEL
NEW YORK
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 11:30-12 P.M.;
Saturdays, 11-11:15 P.M., coast to coast, WABC
Direction
Columbia Broadcasting System

"The Singing Lady"
IRENE WICKER
4th Year for W. K. Kellogg Co.
All Material by Irene Wicker
Music by ALLAN GRANT
N.B.C.—WJZ 5:30 Daily

RAY PERKINS
Palmer House CHICAGO
Cushman's Sons BAKERIES
NBC
WOR
Direction SEDLEY BROWN

But One Holdover Orchestra in Frisco's Changing Music Scene

San Francisco, May. 14.

By the end of the month every major dine-dance spot 'Frisco, with the exception of the Palace hotel, where Tom Coakley's band is tooting, will have changed its music.

Newest shifts were put through by Bill Stein of MCA this week, when he sold Kay Kyser to the Miramar hotel, Santa Monica, for a June 7 opening, and set Happy Felton's band to succeed Kyser at the Bal Tabarin. Felton opens at the Bal May 29.

Same night—May 29—Carol Lofner's band opens at the St. Francis hotel, succeeding Gus Arnheim, who moves to the Cocoanut Grove, Los Angeles. Arnheim follows Ted Flo-Rito, who is going on the road for 10 weeks under the MCA banner.

Lido, North Beach night club, has Val Valente's band on notice, and no successor yet named. Mark Hopkins hotel has the new Griff Williams-Jim Walsh band, one of the first local combos to play a class hotel here in some time. They followed Jay Whidden's bunch.

Leo Searight's band is new at the Kit Kat club, ex-Coq D'Or; Niles Kinney's musical crew is new at the Edgewater Beach club, and several minor changes are taking place, or have taken place in the more or less nudercover spots.

EASTERN DANCE BANDS FEAR L. A. SUMMER

Los Angeles, May 14.

Eastern name bands do not want to take a chance in Los Angeles during the summer. Ambassador hotel, for its Cocoanut Grove, has been trying to get several New York orchestras to follow Ted Flo-Rito and has Eddie Duchin booked, but he asked that his time be set back until fall.

Summer situation on the Coast in the past has been yes and no. Ted Lewis once fitted in for a couple of weeks during the heat. Abe Lyman was always a good summer draw and the Gus Arnheim outfit also played to some big Grove business during the warm period.

SECRET AMBITION

Wealthy Hotel Guest Pays to Conduct Orchestra

Minneapolis, May 14.

Ritz Hotel Spanish Village night club has a wealthy guest, who stands in front of the band with a battered drum stick for a baton and directs from two to five hours at a stretch two to four nights a week.

He pays the boys in the band for the privilege, admits he can't read a note of music, says he always has had a craving to lead an orchestra, and this is his first chance.

ASCAP Sues Va. House

Lynchburg, Va., May 14.

Another ASCAP suit has been filed in United States district court, this time naming the Schoolfield theatre, Schoolfield, Va., as defendant and seeking $250 for alleged unauthorized use of Irving Berlin's 'Say It Isn't So.'

Gene Buck filed the suit, and process was served on Leonard L. Lea, of Danville, operator of the house.

Leon Robin and Lewis Gensler writing the tunes for Paramount's 'Her Master's Voice' on the Coast.

Boston's 'Best Bet'
SAMMY LINER
and His Orchestra
appearing in the Hub at 'The Broadway' and broadcasting thrice weekly via NBC. His song features are:
"I'VE HAD MY MOMENTS"
"ALL I DO IS DREAM OF YOU"
"A THOUSAND GOOD NIGHTS"
"RIPTIDE"
"HOT DOGS AND SASPARELLA"
ROBBINS
MUSIC CORPORATION
799 SEVENTH AVENUE
NEW YORK

Chas. Stock Divorced

Milwaukee, May 14.

Charles Stock, orchestra leader currently playing in Kansas City, will find himself a single man again when he arrives in his home town, Milwaukee.

Mrs. Jean Wagner Stock obtained a divorce from Stock in Circuit court here, charging him with using profane language and associating with other women. Mrs. Stock asked no alimony. Court permitted the wife to re-assume her maiden name.

Torontoites Warm Up Razoo Again Over Pulitzer Music Award

Toronto, May 14.

After the laughable police censorship here of Sherwood's 'Reunion in Vienna,' and following Raymond Massey's blast against his home town reception' of 'The Shining Hour,' the Faculty of Music of the University of Toronto is the latest target for civic chuckles as the result of the awarding of the Pulitzer prize for music to Percival Price, of this city, for his 'Symphony of the St. Lawrence' after the university judges, headed by Dr. Ernest MacMillan, conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, had turned down the composition on the grounds it 'was dull, immature and had no beauty.'

With the exception of MacMillan, the university board of judges refuses to comment. MacMillan abides by his first decision regarding the Canadian's composition. Press is playing up the issue, and professional singers and musicians, some with international reputations but now residents of Toronto, are ridiculing 'Toronto's 'small-town standards of culture,' charging that musical recognition is controlled by a 'clique whose members have never been out of the city.'

Divot Diggers Dance In Stymied Golf Club

Lynchburg, May 14.

Golf by itself doesn't pay, Oakwood Country club has learned, so the clubhouse is being turned into a dining and dancing spot. Sanford Heard, who has leased the building, plans to install an orchestra and floor show.

Club was a popular society spot until the city grew completely around it, and a rival club, located farther out, has been snitching its members.

Under new policy, the club will continue to operate the golf course, publicly, but will emphasize the cabaret clubhouse.

MUSIC NOTES

Morton Downey goes into the Chez Paree, Chicago, next Monday (21) for four weeks with an option.

Dave Bernie's band placed by his brother, Herman, in the Nautilius Beach Club, Atlantic Beach, L. I., for the summer.

Irwin Dash, during his recent visit here, placed with Robbins Music Corp. 'Serenade for a Wealthy Widow,' 'Bit,' 'Garden of Weeds' 'Berceuse for an Unwanted Child' and 'The Duke Insists'. Feist took 'Because It's Love,'; Santly Bros., 'That's Why I Need You Tonight', and Harms, Inc., 'Gosh, I Must Be Falling in Love.'

Arthur Schwartz, Coast rep for Witmark, due in New York next week for a vacation stay. Will be his first trip East in five years.

Cato's Vagaonds has shifted from the Hotel St. Paul, St. Paul, to the Schroder, Milwaukee, with a release over WTMJ daily.

Folio tagged 'Billy Hill's American Home Songs' has been issued by Shapiro, Bernstein.

Bob Grant's unit opens at the Mounds club, St. Louis, June 1.

Most Played on Air

familiarize the rest of the country with the tunes most on the air around New York, the following is the compilation for last week.

Plugs are figured on a Saturday-through-Friday week, regularly.

Only the chain stations are listed as indicative of the general plug popularity.

Data obtained from Radio Log compiled by Accurate Reporting Service.

Tit!	WEAF WJZ WABC
Riptide	29
1,000 Good Nites	27
Love Go Wrong	24
Little Man, Busy Day	23
Beat O' My Heart	23
Cocktails for Two	21
Love Thy Neighbor	20
True	20
I Ain't Lazy	19
Play to Me Gypsy	19
Do I Know Sunday	16
Had My Moments	16
Nite on the Desert	16
Easy Come, Easy Go	15
Reminds Me of You	15
House is Haunted	14
Waitin' for Katy	14
Old Water Mill	14
Ill Wind	14
Loves My Marguerite	13
Goodnite Lovely Lady	13
Nasty Man	13
My Shawl	12
Madamoiselle	12
Touch Your Hand	12
Your Love	12

C't Scores Counsel, Refuses Mayer's Request of MDS

Max Mayer's request for a bill of particulars in the injunction proceedings brought against him by the Music Dealers Service, Inc., was turned down by Justice Carew in the New York Supreme Court last week. Jurist, however, stipulated that the information sought be supplied Mayer when the case comes to trial. Date for an airing of the complaint will be set today (Tuesday).

In his memorandum on the petition for a bill of particulars, Justice Carew took Mayer's counsel to task. Court averred that in view of the previous litigation between the two parties it would seem that Mayer was aware of the MDS claims, and that in its opinion a large part of these particulars were requested in bad faith, and also that many of the demands were wholly improper.

Justice Carew added that Mayer can be sure he will be protected from undue surprises during the injunction trial. Latter will not be by jury.

Eddie Laughton, former m.c., has organized a band and is current at the Greystone Gardens, Detroit. Band numbers 15, including male and female singer. Handled by Charlie Horvath.

SPA Wants to Attach ASCAP Funds In Royalty Litigations With Pubs

Songwriters' Protective Association is demanding that its members be allowed to attach the funds of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers for royalties overdue them from publishers. Writers allied with the SPA want their present standard contract with the publishers rewritten, and a clause making the ASCAP treasury a party to the obligation inserted into the revised document.

SPA officers feel that the only way they can restrain the minor pubs from the practice of stalling the writers on royalties due them, or attempting to settle for so many cents on the dollar, would be by involving the society in the deal. Through the clause sought by the writers, they would be free to bring charges against delinquent publishers before the ASCAP directorate, and ask that the payoffs be made from the coin due these publishers on the quarterly ASCAP split.

Writers contend that, as far as the society's jurisdiction is concerned, they are covered by Article 1 of the ASCAP constitution and by-laws. This article, which details the purposes of the society, provides for the arbitration of differences arising between members.

EMPLOY 600 MUSICIANS

Cal. Relief Takes 'Em On in Parks at 50c Per Hour

Los Angeles, May 14.

Approximately 600 unemployed musicians, affiliated with Musicians' Protective local 147 here, and around 175 actors, technicians and others identified with all branches of the stage, will be given temporary employment starting this week, provided through the State Emergency Relief Administration.

Men and women will be employed 24 hours weekly, at 50c per hour, in Little Theatres, playgrounds, public works camps, etc., in various spots in Los Angeles county.

30% Deduction Rule May Be Eliminated At AFM Cleve. Conv.

Elimination of the rule requiring a traveling band to collect 30% above local scale will be recommended to the American Federation of Musicians' convention, slated for Cleveland next month. Move will come from the heads of the international union.

Strong opposition to the proposal is anticipated from the delegates representing the New York City local, which, in the past two years, has been especially active in enforcing the 30% provision on visiting units.

Under the international's rule, traveling combos must deposit with the A.F.of M. treasurer 30% of the salaries collected on such engagements. Eventually this money is returned to the hands, providing there are no local taxes to be deducted.

Frisco's Jobless Musicians See State Relief Uncertain

San Francisco, May 14.

Although the State Emergency Relief Administration is supposed to have an ample budget to aid unemployed musicians among other citizens, officials of Local No. 6, Musicians' Union, don't expect much help from that source for the several hundred unemployed musicians.

Union execs state that the allotment as set up by the SERA for musicians is $12 per month for a single man and $36 per month per man with wife and four children. But even that has been impossible to secure for any members, since SERA officials still don't seem to have full knowledge of the setup of their relief organization.

Detroit 'Wonder Bar'

Detroit, May 14.

John Buckheimer, former manager of Luigi's here, is opening his own shop on Washington Blvd. and is calling it the 'Wonder Bar.'

Spot is located between the Book Cadillac and Statler hotels and expects to make a play for the hotel business.

MCA's 2d Deal with GM Entails 61 Bands, $100,000, to Play 1-Wk. Exhibits

Chicago, May 14.

General Motors will use 61 Music Corporation of America orchestras in 61 cities throughout the country during the week of June 2-9. Bands will play at the summer General Motors exhibits on new models from coast to coast.

This is the second time GM has made a deal with MCA to supply name orchestras for local exhibits, the previous wholesale band sale having been made by MCA in 1932.

Figured that the total fee for the orchestras will hit close to $100,000. Selection of bands for all spots has been left entirely to the judgment of the Music Corporatio

Coast Bands Get Spots

Los Angeles, May 14.

Kay Kyser's orchestra goes to Miramar hotel, Santa Monica, June 7.

Ed. Itzpatrick's orchestra will replace Hal Grayson at the Del Mar, Santa Monica, May 19.

Both orchestras remote over KFWB, Hollywood.

National Association of Sheet Music Dealers will devote their annual convention, slated for June 4 to 6, at the Roosevelt, New York, to consideration of the adoption and administration of a code of fair competition under the NRA.

Bridgeport Local Gets Tough; WICC Loses Free Music

Bridgeport, May 14.

No paying, no playing. Bridgeport musicians' local served notice on WICC, Yankee webber here, that it will no longer grant permission to its member bands and instrumentalists to perform without pay.

Means that Ferd LeJeune, Will Harrison, Marge Hull, Bob Weller, Al Christie and other leaders are off the station's timetables, spots being filled wherever possible by sustaining bands from Shepard headquarters in Boston, and CBS in New York. Yankee network is associated with latter.

Up to now WICC has paid no money for home-town sustaining music, the Bridgeport local being credited with special permission in each program. Understood order to pay up, or else, came after word from union headquarters in New York.

Possible way out for WICC seems to be a paid studio orchestra, which it has never had.

Original Mss. Figured to Bring 5G at SPA Benefit

Songwriters Protective Association has sold around $3,750 worth of tickets for the benefit it's tossing for the Authors League Fund. Affair will be held at the Casino de Paree the night of May 22.

Writers figure to garner around $5,000 from the sale of original manuscripts contributed by Ray Henderson, Irving Berlin, Richard Rogers, Sigmund Romberg, George M. Cohan, Ferde Grofe, Deems Taylor, Jerome Kern, Billy Hill, Harold Arlen, and the estates of Ethelbert Nevins and John Philip Sousa.

One collector last week $2,000 for the set.

All-Victor Show

WKBB, East Dubuque, Ill., has signed up the Rhomberg Fur Co., Dubuque, Iowa, for a unique program that will go on the air Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons at 1 o'clock. Only music of Victor Herbert will be heard in the present series and will depict many historic incidents in the life of the composer together with reminiscences regarding Victor Herbert.

MONTCLAIR REOPENS

Remodelled and enlarged, the Hotel Montclair roof, New York, opens for the season tomorrow (Wednesday) with Harold Stern and orchestra, Mario and Florla, Rosita Ortega, Bill Smith and the Promenaders on the show.

A marimba orchestra will alternate with Stern for dancing in addition to playing in the adjacent Sky Terrace cafe, which will have an open air bar.

MDS CONFUSION HURTS APRIL SALES

music business trudged wearily through the month of April without a single smash number bobbing up to give it a helping hand. Added to the plight of the retailer was the confusion of discounts and return terms that resulted from the blowup of the Music Dealers' Service, Inc. Publishers, Maurice Richmond and scores of jobbers flooded the dealer with circulars offering a wide diversity of selling conditions, so that he had two things to bedevil him—the sad state of counter turnover, and from what source to buy what music he had to have.

Though 'Wagon Wheels' (Shapiro, Bernstein) led the list for April, it showed anything but smash proclivities. There were days when 'Old Spinning Wheel,' coming from the same publishing firm, was outselling by a substantial margin. The number that steadily continued to build solidly through the past month was 'Old Dutch Mill' (Select). At the turn into May this tune had amassed close to 200,000 sheet sales. Indications are that it will nudge over the 300,000 level.

Among the other comparatively solid sellers in April were 'A Thousand Good Nights' (Robbins), 'True' (Santly Bros.), 'The House Is Haunted' (Donaldson), 'Carioca' (T. B. Harms), 'She Reminds Me of You' (DeSylva), 'Neighbors' (Engel) and 'Nasty Man' (Fox). 'Why Do I Dream Those Dreams?' (Witmark) was moving up fast toward the finish of April with 'A Thousand Good Nights' close behind.

Mechanical field buzzed along nicely through April. The pickup was slight but ample enough to bring on that optimistic glow. Bing Crosby held the second, third and fourth places on Brunswick's best selling table. Fred Astaire popped into ace favor for Columbia and a Ray Noble orchestration, with Jack Johnson doing the vocals, took top rating with Victor.

Chicago.

Annual spring slump is in with the entire music catalog feeling the slowing down due to the warmer weather. They're taking to the open road and haven't much time for the tinkle-box or the phonograph. It has been an excellent winter season, however.

Other than the six headliners in the music field the runners-up are 'Carioca' and 'You Ought to Be in Pictures.' Surprising to the music men is the click of 'Carioca,' which is a tune difficult for the ordinary player. In the past the music biz has found that no matter how good a tune it never got across the counter if it was difficult. 'Carioca' is proving an exception to that rule. 'Dutch Mill' is a sure click and riding fast. 'Smoke Gets in Your Eyes' makes another recent exception to the rule.

Crosby grabs all the noise in the record biz by taking four of the leading positions in the Brunswick catalog.

Leaders

Los Angeles.

ing Crosby recordings led the Brunswick list for southern California distribution during April, with 'Little Dutch Mill' topping sales by a comfortable margin in all three platter divisions. Demand off somewhat, probably due to advent of hot weather, which sent buyers to the beaches and outdoor spots.

'Old Spinning Wheel' and 'Little Grass Shack' dropped a notch behind 'Dutch Mill' in the sheet music sales, though still more than holding their own. Other three leaders were 'Why Do I Dream Those Dreams?', 'Nasty Man' and 'Good Night Lovely Lady.'

Also in the running were 'Thousand Good Nights,' 'Waiting at the Gate for Katy,' 'Wagon Wheels' and 'Carioca.'

Little Jack Little orchestra's recording of 'You Oughta Be in Pictures' led the Columbia platters, and Eddie Duchin records continue in big demand on the Victor list.

AARONSON, GARBER SET

Los Angeles, May 14.

Irving Aaronson and his Commanders orchestra open a seven weeks' engagement tomorrow night (Tuesday) at the Casino, Santa Catalina island. Combo comes here from St. Louis.

Jan Garber orchestra follows Aaronson July 15 for eight weeks.

Jack Mills has acquired the American rights to two Irwin Dash publications, 'Strange' and 'Who's Going to Take You Home Tonight.'

APRIL MUSIC SURVEY

THIS TABLE SHOWS THE LEADING SIX SELLERS IN SHEET MUSIC AND PHONOGRAPH RECORDS GATHERED FROM THE REPORTS OF SALES MADE DURING APRIL BY THE LEADING MUSIC JOBBERS AND DISC IBUTORS IN THE TERRITORI

6 Best Sellers in Sheet Music

Reported by Leading Jobbers

	NEW YORK	CHICAGO	LOS ANGELES
SONG—No. 1	'Wagon Wheel'	'Little Grass Shack'	'Little Dutch Mill'
SONG—No. 2	'Little Dutch Mill'	' ld Spinning Wheel'	'Old Spinning Wheel'
SONG—No. 3	'Old Spinning Wheel'	'Wagon Wheels'	'Little Grass Shack'
SONG—No. 4	'Little Grass Shack'	'Little Dutch Mill'	'Why Do I Dream Those Dreams?'
SONG—No. 5	'Boulevard of Broken Dreams'	'Piggie Went to Market'	'Nasty Man'
SONG—No. 6	'Why Do I Dream Those Dreams'	'Boulevard of Broken Dreams'	'Good Night, Lovely Lady'

3 Leading Phonograph Companies Report 6 Best Sellers

Side responsible for the major sales only are reported. Where it is impossible to determine the side responsible for the sales, both sides are mentioned:

BRUNSWICK—No. 1	'Champagne Waltz,' 'House Is Haunted' (Glenn Gray and Casa Loma Orch.)	'Little Dutch Mill' (Bing Crosby)	'Little Dutch Mill' (Bing Crosby)
BRUNSWICK—No. 2	'Good Night, Lovely Lady,' 'Once in a Blue Moon' (Bing Crosby)	'She Reminds Me of You' (Bing Crosby)	'Good Night, Little Lady' (Bing Crosby)
BRUNSWICK—No. 3	'May I?' 'She Reminds Me of You' (Bing Crosby)	'Good Night, Lovely Little Lady' (Hal Kemp Orch.)	'Little Grass Shack' (Ted Fiorita Orch.)
BRUNSWICK—No. 4	'Love Thy Neighbor,' 'Ridin' Around in the Rain' (Bing Crosby)	'Good Night, Lovely Lady' (Bing Crosby)	'May I?' (Bing Crosby)
BRUNSWICK—No. 5	'Good Night, Lovely Little Lady,' 'She Reminds Me of You' (Hal Kemp Orch.)	'Love Thy Neighbor' (Bing Crosby)	'Man on the Flying Trapeze' (Bing Crosby)
BRUNSWICK—No. 6	'Jungle Fever,' 'I Found a New Baby' (Mills Bros.)	'You Oughta Be in Pictures' (Guy Lombardo Orch.)	'You Oughta Be in Pictures' (Guy Lombardo Orch.)
COLUMBIA—No. 1	'Music Makes Me,' 'Flying Down to Rio' (Fred Astaire)	'Carioca' (Enric Madriguera Orch.)	'You Oughta Be in Pictures' (Little Jack Little)
COLUMBIA—No. 2	'Orchids in the Moonlight,' 'Carioca' (Enric Madriguera Orch.)	'You Oughta Be in Pictures' (Little Jack Little)	'Carioca' (Enric Madriguera Orch.)
COLUMBIA—No. 3	'You Oughta Be in Pictures,' 'Nothin' But the Best' (Little Jack Little)	'Tear It Down' (Clyde McCoy Orch.)	'Little Grass Shack' (Ben Pollack Orch.)
COLUMBIA—No. 4	'Beale Street Blues,' 'Basin Street Blues' (Benny Goodman Orch.)	'Play to Me, Gypsy' (Henry Hall Orch.)	'Wagon Wheels' (George Olsen)
COLUMBIA—No. 5	'Alone on the Range,' 'Play to Me, Gypsy' (Ben Pollack Orch.-Henry Hall Orch.)	'Basin St. Blues' (Benny Goodman Orch.)	'Emaline' (Benny Goodman Orch.)
COLUMBIA—No. 6	'Great American Tourist,' 'Sing Sing Isn't Prison Anymore' (Yacht Club Boys)	'Serenade of a Wealthy Widow' (Reginald Forsythe Orch.)	'Smoke Gets in Your Eyes' (Emil Coleman Orch.)
VICTOR—No. 1	'Who Walks in When I Walk Out,' 'Play to Me, Gypsy' (Ray Noble Orch.-Jack Johnson)	'She Reminds Me of You' (Eddie Duchin Orch.)	'Ill Wind' (Eddie Duchin Orch.)
VICTOR—No. 2	'Ill Wind,' 'As Long As I Live' (Eddie Duchin Orch.)	'Neighbors' (Isham Jones Orch.)	'Little Dutch Mill' (Don Bestor Orch.)
VICTOR—No. 3	'Hold My Hand,' 'Nasty Man' (Rudy Vallee)	'Ill Wind' (Eddie Duchin Orch.)	'May I?' (Eddie Duchin Orch.)
VICTOR—No. 4	'Wagon Wheels,' 'If I Love Again' (Paul Whiteman)	'You Oughta Be in Pictures' (Rudy Vallee)	'You Ought to See Sally on Sunday' (Ray Noble Orch.)
VICTOR—No. 5	'Long About Midnight,' 'Jitter Bug' (Cab Calloway Orch.)	'Roberta' Selections (Fray and Braggiotti)	'Why Do I Dream Those Dreams?' (Eddie Duchin Orch.)
VICTOR—No. 6	'Thousand Good Nights,' 'Little Dutch Mill' (Don Bestor Orch.)	'Little Dutch Mill' (Don Bestor Orch.)	'You Oughta Be in Pictures' (Rudy Vallee)

All Gals Must Hostess In Detroit Nite Spots

Detroit, May 14.

Shows booked into local night clubs include a must on gals sitting with the customers. Several acts were cancelled here last week as they felt the table work too degrading.

Most spots have entirely eliminated hostesses, with the line girls and principals called on to do the hospitality work.

Gals get nothing extra for either drinking or steering. With the spots insisting on the acts and girls staying sober the situation is that much worse.

'Drunkard' in Philly

Philadelphia, May 14.

Walton hostelry, which has been the Philly popular spot for the last couple of years, has joined with Samuel Nixon-Nirdlinger to produce something new in nite clubs locally.

Idea calls for an auditorium and open-air cafe to commence June 1, after the whole first floor of the hotel has been remodeled. Running in conjunction with the sidewalk affair will be the initial Philly offering of 'The Drunkard.' Cast of the show is being set now, with an embellished book being penned by T. D. Wilson.

Place will be called the American Garden and will seat about 400.

Lombardo in Waldorf

Chicago, May 14.

Guy Lombardo orchestra opens at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York on June 14.

Will stick through the summer season.

Night Club Reviews

Dorchester, London

London, May 2.

There is little doubt the Midnight Follies from N. T. Granlund's Paradise Club, produced here by Cli ord Whitley at the Dorchester, will be voted the brightest and most successful show yet produced here. In addition to Sunny O'Dea, Marguerite and Leroy, Wanda Allen, Edith Roak, Fay Carroll and the show girls and dancers, Naunton Wayne acts as master of ceremonies. He is very gifted in this direction and came prepared with a choice line of witty chatter.

Midnight Follies has now become an accepted part of London's night life. Since last October more than 50,000 people have visited the Dorchester restaurant to see these shows. Usually running 45 minutes this one carried on, without any encores, for a full hour. It has been gorgeously produced with requisite lighting effects and daringly ungowned. Vast improvement is the installation of a platform for the entertainment, raised to the height of a boxing ring, which enables the spectators to see clearly from every seat at every table.

An importation from the Paris shows is the absence, in one number, of brassieres, to which there was no apparent objection on the part of the spectators.

Whole show was a continuous wow but the outstanding hit, altogether different from the undraped females, was Marguerite and Leroy with their ballroom dancing. They bring to mind Maurice and Walton. Leroy is a cross between Maurice and Valentino and probably a better dancer than either.

Nils Granlund was 'reluctantly' brought upon the stage from the audience by the m.c., and said the place reminded him of his Paradise Club. He added that he personally recognized 80 people at the tables.

Clifford Whitely will not find it necessary to look for a successor to the present cabaret for some time to come. Jolo.

COLUMBIA GARDENS

Portland, Ore., May 14.

Portland's newest place of entertainment, the Columbia Beer Gardens, is presenting something new and different to fun seekers. The gardens are in the building formerly known as the Columbia theatre.

Main floor seats have been removed and a hardwood floor laid. Tables and chairs are in place in the front of the house, nearest the stage, and padded benches and tables are in the rear. Paintings have been placed on the walls and drapes of Spanish shawls have been tastefully arranged throughout the room.

Entertainment for patrons is varied. A long bar has been placed on the south end of the building, where beer and sandwiches are available. On the north side is a space reserved for the 11-piece orchestra directed by Harry Linden. The organ has been put in shape and Arlington Laity, formerly organist at the Paramount, has been engaged.

At the preview opening, the orchestra presented a symphonic arrangement. Then came the dancers and singers, headed by Victor Alfaro, tenor, who presents operatic and classical numbers. In addition he presented the 'Carioca,' with Barbara Weeks and Bonnie Granger as his partners.

Other entertainers include the Singing Waiters, formerly with the American theatre. This quartet, composed of Frank Confer, Bill Barardenelli, Gil Van Alst and Tom Jackson, took most of the applause at the preview.

A new daylight screen has been installed, on which is featured short subjects. The gardens will present no full length films, but will cater with comedies and shorts. Screen is the only one of its kind in the Pacific Northwest.

Management has installed a cooling system and equipped a cooler room that will hold 80 barrels of beer.

MYRIO and DESHA

"Fascinating, marvelous as a dancing team."—PARIS MIDI, PARIS.
"Dancers superb—two remarkable artists."—ERA, LONDON.
"Virtuosos of the dance."—8 UHR ABENDBLATT, BERLIN.
"Bringing to their audience the surest note of beauty."
—THEATRE MAGAZINE, NEW YORK

And Last Week at the Commodore Club and Fox Theatre, Detroit

"Their dancing is the last word in grace, beauty and rhythm."
—DETROIT FREE PRESS

7551 Jeffrey Avenue, Chicago

VARIETY
Trade Mark Registered
FOUNDED BY SIME SILVERMAN
Published Weekly by VARIETY, Inc.
Sid Silverman, President
154 West 46th Street New York City

SUBSCRIPTION
Annual.....$6 Foreign.....$7
Single Copies.....15 Cents

No. 9

15 YEARS AGO

(From VARIETY and Clipper)

Big talk was a half-billion investment by Standard Oil in 300 theatres. To make its own film at $75,000 per feature. Too good to be Famous Players-Lasky stock to be listed by Stock Exchange. Had been down to 22½ and up 85.

John Drew refused a film offer on the grounds that he might be regarded as trying to trade on the reputation of the late Sydney Drew.

Fifth Liberty Loan drive on and N. Y. theatres had more than doubled their quotas.

Broadway was dropping off for the summer rest. Best season in years. Still houses open and doing business.

One night stand managers on the war path. Road producers wanted 70% of the split instead of the 40% they were receiving. High cost of traveling, but house men said it cost them more, too.

Circus men in the A. E. F. were touring France and German military spots with a one ringer. Y. M. C. A. had charge, but the K. C. paid the bills. No tent. Just a ring and blues.

Brunton Studios plastered Ned Wayburn with an $850 body attachment. Flo Ziegfeld paid to retain his dance director.

Edward S. Keller, booking agent, angeled a musical comedy, 'While You Wait.' Don't remind him.

50 YEARS AGO

(From Clipper)

Theatre men were reviving the idea of a mutual fire insurance company. Figured it would save money. Old idea often revived.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., slapped a $500 per day license on tent shows. Marion, the nearby county seat wrote the Clipper it would make a reasonable rate and that all Cedar Rapids would come over.

French circus was giving tableaux in the ring with the same circular style curtain now used in the Ringling show. A novelty then.

Henry Irving sued for $2,000 by a musician who asserted he had written incidental music in 1876 for which Irving had not paid him.

Season was waning, with a number of houses already closed. The People's theatre planned to keep open to July 5.

Season of music festivals starting. Cincinnati already had one. Most large towns ran one three days to a week.

George K. Fortesque, 150 pound female impersonator, doing a burlesque on 'Fedora.' Called 'Well-fed Dora.' Touring it and cleaning.

Phila museum had a 'sacred white hog.' Prize porker eventually given the patron most accurately estimating its weight.

Clipper told a new play 'Becky' had been improved by pruning. Still a prolog and five acts.

Chicago Opera Festival Ass'n was negotiating with Col. Mapleson for a season of opera for next season. Auditorium seated 6,000.

Inside Stuff—Pictures

Westchester, long considered one of the ace film boxoffice territories in the country, appears to be upholding its reputation. Reports, at least, are that the county is to date running substantially ahead of 1933 on picture attendance. And the reason may not be entirely due to a better product.

Despite that the district is dominated by chain operation there are some indies up there who give the circuits the jitters on showmanship. For instance there's Nick Paley's Scarsdale theatre, about a 1,200-seater, nicely appointed with a one price scale all over the house and no loge section. This spot recently played 'Wonder (WB) and as the film went into its big musical numbers the screen borders widened out, the change over to the wide angle machine was made and the audience got a good look. Management also gives the better newsreel clips this flair. That's showmanship and something these suburbanites seldom, if ever, see in the circuit chalets. It also indicates what an indie can do if he wants to and why Scarsdale residents are prone to pass up driving to nearby towns for their flicker entertainment. They have come to know they're going to see it the best way at their own house which also may be drawing from those same nearby towns.

The concentration which the Paley house gives its program is in direct contrast to one of ig New Rochelle spots, circuit operated, which recently allowed a seven-reel picture to run for six reels with the right hand projection machine out of focus. Not enough to cause cries for correction but enough to give the audience an eye-strain headache and cause comment on the 'bad photography'.

That carelessness is not so minor for the chains when they've got to go up against operators like Paley. And he's got another house in Bronxville.

Delay of important decisions from Special Master Thomas D. Thacher, in the RKO receivership, makes it look to Irving Trust representatives as though they won't get out of RKO by Christmas. Although some big claims were argued as far back as last January, the Special Master has rendered no decisions.

Notable are the Rockefeller claims, originally of an indeterminate amount but now set at around $12,000,000, and the Mayfair theatre, N. Y., claim of over $3,000,000, both for rent. In each case the receivers believe there'll probably be litigation on appeal from whatever decisions the Special Master reaches. One of the difficulties may be that since RKO is a receivership rather than a bankruptcy, the U. S. Supreme Court ruling against future rents and damages under leases will not apply to where an equity receivership exists.

This all has the effect of stalling any possibility of a reorganization plan which in computing the value of a receivership estate has to take into rather close account the total amount of liabilities. The big ones that are being contested make a vital difference.

One of the big studios is having so much trouble with a male star it is making more than the usual effort to effect an exchange arrangement with other plants. And not much luck to date because the boys are wise to the lad.

Star has gone the hard way in rating his own importance and has been driving his directors frantic. Smart, too, in that he waits until his pictures are in work a couple of weeks before turning on the temperament. When a studio is that far into a film on coin it's got to go through or be on the nut for plenty. One director couldn't understand the reports on this player when they began a film, but he suddenly found out at the end of the first fortnight.

Surprise angle is that this star has even turned on close friends, both in and out of the studio. They're finding him as hard to get along with as the working crews.

Teaching picture players how to sing through the medium of records which he has made specially for such instruction is among the items in Claude Austin's coaching repertoire. He used this system for Mae West.

Austin, who is the Billy Pierce of the music world, is a colored lad who is commissioned from time to time by the studio people to show them how to 'talk in tune'. Among his clients have been Joan Crawford, Kay Francis, Gertrude Niessen, Tamara Vega, Mary Chapelle, Polly Walters, the Three X Sisters, Rosemary Lane, Lola Lane and others. Austin once was on the rranging staff of the Capitol theatre, N. Y., and also did some arranging for the Philharmonic.

Organization calling itself the American Society for the Protection of the Motion Picture Theatre is sending out a broadside urging independents to wire their Congressman and Senator to support the Dill bill for an investigation of the A. T. & T.

Touted as the only way to get rid of score charges, exorbitant service charges, restricted buying 'and all other unfair competition arising from public utilities' operations n private fields'. Signed by Robert Robbins as executive secretary.

Paramount disclaims the recent report that it is refusing to co-operate with foreign correspondents on the Coast. Claims, to the contrary, that it does all it can with and for the foreign scribblers.

One recent run-in, which is acknowledged, may have started the story. In that case, Par says, the correspondent in question was known to get pictures from the studio and sell them to commercial accounts abroad. Par says it warned him a few times and then turned down his credentials and refused him further recognition.

Recent drive by the Music Publishers' Protective Association against synchronized films, for which no licenses have been obtained, has resulted in attachments being placed on the negative of 'Trapeze', 'The Dance Parade', 'Gold Diggers of 1943' and 'Taming of the Juggle'.

Court order also affects money due to the producers on these pictures. On the foursome the MPPA is seeking to collect $2,000, which is claims is due in synchronization fees.

Offer of $50,000 is understood to have been made by a major studio to Dr Robert E. Corneish to exploit in a picture the experimental attempts the latter has made at the U. of California, Berkeley, Calif., where he successfully revived a clinically killed dog. Dr. Corneish refused on the ground that he wished to keep his scientific investigations on the so-called 'live dead dog' confidential until experiments have been conclusively completed. Canine case received ide news play and comment.

Filmdom's biggest proxy grab was staged by Charlie Pettijohn in the election of Jack Alicoate as his successor to the generalship of the Kaintuck colonels. Pettijohn didn't ask a single picture colonel who didn't attend the darby how they wanted him to vote.

He pooled all the names together in favor of Alicoate and the Film Daily publisher won hands down, since he had the backing of Tammany, as well, in Jim (Col. for the occasion) Farley.

Governor Rolph of California has officially designated May 18 (Friday) as Mexico Day in the state. Deal arranged as part of Metro's exploitation for 'Viva Villa', which opens at Loew's State in Los Angeles May 17. Metro exploiteers are trying to get governors of other western states to also designate Mexico Days to help along the b.o. of the picture.

Metro set a new speed record with the production of 'Thin Man', recently finished. Screen play and script was finished by Albert Hackett

Inside Stuff—Legit

Incident in 'The Milky Way', which opened at the Cort, N. Y., last week, in which the middleweight boxing champ is knocked out by an unknown, is the fictionized version of a mixup in which Mickey Walker took the full count from a sock delivered by a lunch wagon counterman near Elizabeth, N. Mickey had been celebrating and with friends decided on having a snack. They kidded the short order server, Walker making so many cracks about the man's German origin that he became infuriated. 'Twas a cold night and Mickey slipped on the ice outside the joint. It took six stitches to close a gash on the back of his head.

Sidney Harmon, who produced 'Way' ith James Ullman, never saw a professional boxing bout until after the show opened. He queried mention of Ross and McLarnin in the script, thinking it referred to a vaude duo and wanting the line deleted.

Reaction to panning of her 'Love Kills', Forrest, N. Y., has Ida Lublenski Ehrlich, who wrote and presented the play, insisting that the method of reviewing is wrong. She believes that plays written by women should be reviewed by women and offered $25 for the best criticism of her play by a woman.

Shortly after the show opened the boxoffice sold one 55c ticket for night performance, Leblangs selling about $27 in cut rates. Pace of show is slightly over $30 nightly. Vivian Niesen, the lead, was replaced by Evelyn Byrd last week. 'Love' was withdrawn Saturday (12).

Malcolm L. Pearson and Donald E. Baruch, Wall Street youngsters, have formed a managerial partnership, firm's first effort being 'I Myself', which came in at the Mansfield, N. Y., last week. Entering show business is not just a flier for them as they intend to stick.

Pearson's kin are Brooklynites, interested in gas and other utilities. Baruch is one of Sailing Baruch's sons.

'Myself' was considered for presentation by John Golden. It was written by Adelyn Bushnell, a Boston stock actress. Previously she wrote romantic Irish plays.

Moss Hart is another playwright who went to Charleston, S. C., but didn't accomplish much on his planned rewriting of a script. He tells a weird story about staying in a mansion owned by an old man who frequently declared: 'Things ain't so good since the war'.

Hart swears it wasn't until he was about to return that he discovered the a.k. referred to the Blue and Gray.

Following an elaborate yarn about Max Gordon's 'Roberta' in Fortune, the manager receives additional magazine attention in the June issue of Cosmopolitan.

Latter article is a somewhat intimate story on Gordon by O. O. McIntyre, who calls him 'the new Charles Frohman.'

New managerial duo is Leslie J. Casey and James W. Liddle. Latter was interested in a Buffalo stock, former having handled theatres for Fox. Firm's maiden effort, 'These Two', opened at the Miller, N. Y., last week but closed Saturday (12).

At the premiere half the critics looked like athletes, result of the first pre-summer Sunday.

Owners of theatre buildings in New York State still must stand the gaff for immoral shows. Governor Herbert H. Lehman has vetoed the bill, passed by the Legislature, to exempt the owners or licensees from provisions of the penal law. The measure would have placed the responsibility upon the managers or producers.

Joseph W. Gaites, who left the Shuberts on a supposed leave of absence about a year ago, is through with show business. He heads the Bell Manufacturing Co., an Ohio plant which makes church bells.

Shortly after leaving New York last spring, Gaites married and took up residence near Cincinnati.

Bob Sisk departed for the Coast hurriedly Tuesday (8) when he got sudden word his company figured his services would be required to help map out the new season's program. Sisk left by plane with Ned Depinet, president of RKO pictures.

Iness of Referee Henry K. Davis caused trustees to obtain permission that Oscar W. Ehrhorn sit as referee in Paramount bankruptcy matters until June 5, when it is expected Davis will be back.

Before Fox releases 'Marie Gallante' studio will be compelled to get an okay from the Government. This is due to the amount of footage taken for the film in and around the Panama Canal zone.

and Frances Goodrich in three weeks, and Director W. S. Van Dyke brought the production under the wire in a total of 18 shooting days.

In addition, negative cost of the picture rates around the $200,000 mark, very moderate figure for any production turned out on that lot.

In composition and type of ads, plus illustrations, the Music Hall is trying to get away from the theatrical by going strong for simplicity. Lord & Thomas, doing the ads for the big house, swung to the conservative side this week on 'Change of Heart' and the 'Madame Butterfly' stage show.

Agency and house operators believe that the departure will mark a welcome change to the public.

Radio crooner, now in films, is trying to stir up the press with stories that he's peeved to the point of legal action over a recently released picture assertedly based on his career. He isn't really sore, but figures he may get a little publicity.

When bought by the studio, story was supposedly based on some incidents in the crooner's career. Adaptors, however, changed it until there is no similarity.

Graham Baker and Gene Towne were loaned to Fox for six weeks by Darryl Zanuck during a production lull. So they've been there almost 24 weeks, the team doing three instead of one original. Set to wind up June 18.

Baker and Towne then go to Metro and Radio on a Zanuck loan for the summer.

If Warners is considering bidding for the Fox Metropolitan theatres, it will have to bid pretty high. With $1,500,000 cash on hand, the Fox Met houses are stated to be in favorable state. Figured it would take anywhere from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 to grab the houses. There are around 100 theatres in the group.

E. V. Richards, Adolph Zukor, the Balabans and George Schaeffer huddled in Chicago last week, while Zukor stopped over there en route to the Coast.

Richards then came on to New York to talk some matters over on his own southern theatre deal at the Par home office.

Trade curiosity on how many so-called receivership certificates Paramount may have issued, since going into bankruptcy, seems uncalled for.

No such certificates are out, the company having been able to progress with its own funds.

Connelly Finds New Way for Authors To Get Coin, Cut on Souvenir Books

New angle in the realm of playwright royalties was disclosed when Marc Connelly claimed the profits on souvenir booklets sold in connection with 'The Green Pastures,' which he dramatized from Roark Bradford's book and which has been on the boar During most of that period booklets were sold and Connelly contends Rowland Stebbins, who produced the show under the corporate title of Laurence Rivers, was not rightfully entitled to the proceeds.

Case was settled by arbitration last week and Connelly was given the award. Whether Bradford will share in the coin, not stated. It is the first instance where an author has gone into that phase of possible managerial gain; sales of similar books generally being regarded as netting small money.

Under the Basic Minimum Agreement between the Dramatists Guild and the managers it is set forth that all publication rights belong to the author. Connelly successfully argued that, since the souvenir booklet's illustrations carried quotations from the play's script, it was a form of publication. Author related that he had talked the matter over with Stebbins early in the play's run and he claims it was agreed not to issue the booklets. Later, he claims, the booklets were printed and sold regardless. Connelly did not press a claim until recently, when it is understood differences arose between the author and the Rivers office.

Stebbins, who also produced 'The Pursuit of Happiness,' and Charles G. Stewart, will sail Wednesday (16) with the company, show opening in London at the Vaudeville theatre May 28. Stewart, general manager for Stebbins, will remain for a time in the hope that the British censor will lift the ban on 'Pastures.' One argument to be put forth in this attempt is the fact that the colored dramatic classic played successfully in Canadian stands.

'Pastures' will open on tour over here in September. In addition to regular bookings, two men will be in advance to arrange additional time. Beverly Kelly will handle spot bookings in the middle west, with William Schneider assigned to northwestern territory. William Fields, general press representative for 'Pastures,' will act similarly in southern stands.

Arbitration awards being recognized by the courts, the Connelly-Stebbins case establishes a precedent on which other authors will likely make claims against managers. Not clear whether claims would apply on past seasons, but there are several shows current on Broadway for which souvenir booklets are sold, including 'Mary of Scotland,' 'She Loves Me Not' and the 'Follies.' Award will probably result in managers making terms with authors on the matter of booklets when accepting plays for production.

'Wednesday' 3d Play in Sistare's Loop Stock

Chicago, May 14.

Third play on the Horace Sistare stock list is slated to be 'I Loved You Wednesday,' by Molly Ricardel, to open this coming Monday (21). 'Affections, Ltd.,' will close after a poor five-week showing, having been hurt from the start by a badly arranged admission chart.

Sistare is still negotiating for another theatre in which to start his 'play of the month' club.

BIRMINGHAM STOCK FOLDS

Birmingham, May 14.

After 20 weeks at the Jefferson the Marco Cavanaugh players closed Friday night (11). Business was fair, after starting out in great style. Greatest business was done with 'Men in White,' when it ran three weeks.

Jack Marco is planning to take the company on the road, playing two and three nights stands in the larger cities of the South. 'Men in White' will be the play.

San Diego Stock

San Diego, May 14.

San Diego soon will have a new stock company of its own to be known as San Diego Theatre Guild Players. Repairs and improvements are under way at Savoy theatre, where in former years several successful stock groups held forth.

Mike Cohen, manager of the new organization, expects to open early next month with a company of players recruited, for the most part, from Hollywood. Weekly change of bill and popular prices.

ONLY 2 LEGIT TENT SHOWS READY

Chicago, May 14.

Current summer season may see the final extinction of the tent legit business, according to all indications. It is certain that the summer will see another new low in the number of tent shows, with only two tents apparently set for the entire Midwest.

Early huzzahs of possible pick-up have all died out and, at best, the country will see perhaps a half-dozen tents bucking the wind. The couple tents going out belong to George Sweet and George Roberson, old reliables.

Sweet will stick to his old haunts in the Iowa country while Roberson continues in the Wisconsin-Illinois territory.

DeFOREST FOLDS DET. TO OPEN LOOP STOCK

Chicago, May 14.

Local office of Equit last week paid, out of the bond, the salaries of the Jack de Forest stock venture which folded after two weeks in the Wilson theatre, Detroit. Salary list was about $600.

New move by de Forest is the taking over of the Harris here for stock productions, starting June 4. Has been conferring with Lee Shubert and Sam Gerson. Will likely open with 'Wind and Rain' as the initial production.

Omaha Playhouse Ends Season Without Loss

Omaha, May 14.

Omaha Community Playhouse is presenting 'Three Cornered Moon' for six performances beginning Friday (11), excluding a Sunday show, as the season's finale. This closes the most successful season in three years, and leaves the company without a deficit, as the year's production netted an even break.

Outstanding success of the year was Ibsen's 'A Doll's House.' Support of the classic here and reported successes of classics elsewhere has led the board to determine upon a program of international classics for next season. Productions will include one each of Italian, Hungarian, French, English and American classics with Moliere, Molnar, Shaw and Barrie some of the authors from which the scripts will be chosen. This, in addition to a musical, an original, a current success and a revival, will most likely comprise the season.

New Hedgerow Piece

Philadelphia, May 14.

Hedgerow theatre in Rose Valley will present the 104th play of its ever-growing repertory this week.

It is 'Let the Punishment Fit the Crime,' Italian farce by Gian Capo and Arturo Rossato. Has been popular in Italian repertory programs since 1929.

Out of Town Reviews

THE ONLY GIRL

Philadelphia, May 11.

Eighteen years is a long time in the theatre and that lapse of time makes the current production of Victor Herbert's musical play, 'The here, almost a new show instead of Only Girl,' at the Forrest theatre the usual hackneyed revival.

Play, presented here at popular prices ($1.50 top) by Lawrence Shubert Lawrence, won rave notices on its score and the usual equivocal comments concerning Henry Blossom's book. Some day, somebody will find a good book for a Victor Herbert show and that will make the revival task much easier.

Robert Hallilday, Bettina Hall, George Meader, Betzi Beaton, Billy Taylor, Robert Emmett Keane, Richard Keen and Dorothy Dare have the principal roles. First two named play the romantic leads with Halliday showing to much greater advantage than Miss Hall, who doesn't seem to have worked her way into the heroine's role as yet. Meader, cast as the butler, has practically no chance to display his swell, Metropolitan Opera Company voice. Miss Beaton has one number, 'I Should Always Go to Parties All Alone' which went over with a bang at the opening.

Big song hit of the show is still 'You're Away,' waltz which is plenty reprised. 'Here's the Land We Love Boys,' 'You're the Only One For Me,' 'The Compact,' and 'I Paused, I Looked, I Fell' are other crackerjack tunes.

Plot, based on the straight farce called 'Our Wives' by Frank Mandel, is stilted and sickish. It concerns a young composer (female) who lives in the flat above a librettist who has many amours. Some mild suggestions of sex (but very mild), and the usual farcical mix-ups.

R. H. Burnside staged this revival and did as good a job as possible with worn material. However, the Herbert melodies, and among them some of his best, help hold up the whole thing and make it a good evening's entertainment. Waters.

THE DRUNKARD

(Coast Road Company)

San Francisco, May 10.

The No. 2 show, out on the road while the original enters its sixtieth week at the Theatre Mart, Hollywood, opened big in the grill room of the exclusive Palace Hotel here, and looks to get its full quota of business during the week. Produced by Preston Shobe and Galt Bell, and directed by the latter, the carbon company acquitted itself commendably before the well filled dining room, class audience, many of them dressed, falling into the spirit of the broad performance, and booing, cheering, hissing, etc.

Many of the cast are drawn from ex-ranks of the Carmel, Stanford and other little theatres, Peggy Converse, among them, standing out as the heroine. Vallejo Gantner as the villain, Klyde Kraft as the hero, and June de Roche as the mother were also topnotchers. Remainder of the cast included Fred Cady, Ca'arter, Conle Clampett, Charles Rice and Nestor Paiva.

After the show there was an olio that featured Marie Duval, a soprano, who worked straight and a la the Barnum era, clicking so well in each that she was easily the night's hit. Neeley Edwards m.c.'d and the old time vaude team of Rice and Cady mopped up with their old routine and the Schnitzelbank song. Community singing of all the hoary numbers wound up with the house one of the most enthusiastic ever seen in Frisco.

There was plenty good, cold beer and fresh pretzels included for the tap of $1.65, and Palace is due to come out of the deal with some good publicity and exploitation at least. Bock.

Murder at Crossroads

Portland, Ore., May 14.

Walter Siegfeld and his crew of thespians from Seattle took over the American theatre with a melodrama entitled 'Murder at the Crossroads' and infused new life into the old joint. Hilarity was cumulative as more and more barrels of beer were opened and poured into the receptive throats of the customers.

Play, which was the least important part of the occasion, is a western, to judge from the costumes. Dick Frazier easily tops the cast as Richard Barrington, also known as Dick Scott, the hero of this burlesque melodrama. He played it for all its melodramatic value, with flowery speech and overdrawn gestures that, time after time, brought cheers and thunderous applause from the crowd that jammed the showhouse. His characterization is really worth seeing.

Miss Blakley and J. Lytton fill Mexican roles, the former as the wife of the hero, married in a weak moment after he had come West, disappointed in love in the East. Too, she is the crafty girl who lets her husband assume blame for the

(Continued on page 64)

Plays on Broadway

I, MYSELF

Drama in three acts. Presented at the Mansfield May 9 by Malcolm L. Pearson and Donnld E. Baruch. Written by Adelyn Bushnell. Staged by Charles Hopkins.

Annette Trent.....Eleanor King
Alice Trent.....Regina Wallace
Arthur Hanson.....Edmund MacDonald
David Martin.....Frank Wilcox
Bill Trent.....Charles Trowbridge
Harry Sim.....Harry M. Cooke
Dan O'Brien.....Walter Baldwin
Andrews.....William Bonelli
Jerry.....Larry Bolton
Connelly.....Robert J. Mulligan
Charlie Trent.....Warren Trent
Squire Anderson.....Frank Roberts
Jim Kallock.....David Bern
Mike Butler.....Frank Verigun
Dagood Williams.....Martin Howe
Rev. MacDonald.....David Rushes
Merrifield.....William David

Two young men of financial substance enter show business with this, a play much too serious to attain popularity even were it better written.

'Myself' is anything but a spring revel, and the tail end of the season is no time for stories so funereal. Idea of a dead man coming back to his family an invisible person has been used on the stage before, as has the idea of humans who have passed into the beyond performing much as though alive; as, for instance, in 'Outward Bound.' Fantasy angle of the play probably brought in Charles Hopkins to direct, that being his flair.

Bill Trent is a middle-aged New England attorney with maturing son and daughter. Being a failure, he feels that his wife and children would be better off if he dies leaving an insurance policy for 50G's. Down and outer asks for food and tells the sad story of his wife in Scranton, about to become a mother. Unwilling to commit suicide, Trent virtually forces Stimpson, the tramp, to shoot him, giving the man money so that he can return to the sick mate. Deed is carefully planned, but the district attorney accuses the widow.

Trent, in tow of another ghostly ex-service man who suicided in the trenches, is present during the funeral, which consumes the second act, and the pair are still around when the d. a. has the wife confess in order to shield the daughter, who is in a delicate condition.

Ghost is able to advise his widow on answering of questions, but realizes his death has gotten the family into trouble instead of helping. After the confession Stimpson arrives to declare that he did the shooting. That guy's wife had died in childbirth and he cares little about what happens. Ghost Trent had been unable to save his widow, yet the story ends with him saying he has qualified to serve in that great courtroom in the beyond.

Third act is best, because there is some spirited dialog during the investigation. Second act, with its burial proceedings, singing of hymns by a quartet, and the intoning of the minister is not easy to take as stage fare.

Charles Trowbridge, as the man who dies and comes back, and Regina Wallace as his wife, do their best with this heavy story, with other participants okay, too, but it all seemed a thankless task.

Title is taken from a line in 'Omar Khayyam' ending with 'I Myself am Heav'n and Hell.'

EVERY THURSDAY

Comedy in three acts presented at the Royale, N. Y., May 10, by Wee & Leventhal. Written by Doty Herbert; Queenie Smith starred; Leon Janney featured; staged by Theodore Viehman.

Mr. Thomas Clark.....George Carleton
Mrs. Thomas Clark.....Jean Dere
Sadie.....Queenie Smith
Raymond Clark.....Leon Janney
Fern Adams.....Tucker McGuire
Dr. Adams.....Frederick Forrester
Ferguson.....Jack Adams
Florence.....Sheila Trent

Mild little comedy played in one set and a short cast, 'Every Thursday' is patently presented to operate at light grosses. Cut rates should get it by for perhaps two months.

Wee & Leventhal are the presenters, firm being specialists in what is called rotary stock. Road rights for some shows not touted from Broadway are purchased and economically shown in seven spots on the eastern coast. Firm also occasionally puts on new shows, and 'Every Thursday' is one, coming to New York after playing around the stock wheel.

Doty Herbert, whose 'Thoroughbred' was used by W. & L., is the programed author of 'Thursday.' Day of the opening here Francis Verdi appeared claiming it was his story. There was a reported agreement to split royalties, to prevent a court restraining order.

'Thursday' is better on performance than playwrighting.

There is Queenie Smith, formerly of dancing note in musical comedy and vaudeville. She makes Sadie, the hired girl who comes to the small town Clark home to clean every Thursday, an appealing little person. Sadie is ungrammatical, but she has traits of a thoroughbred, Cinderella-ish without such compensation.

Play has sex—an affair between Sadie and Raymond, the adolescent Clark boy—which, in the end, dissipated as though nothing ever happened. Sadie knows he is just a boy but that day she had her fortune told by a machine which also told her weight. The card gave the right poundage and on the other side it stated a man would come into her life—she wasn't sure about that until the lad became affectionate. Sadie and Ferguson, chauffeur for the understanding friend of the family Dr. Adams, are to be married, doc giving them a cottage for a wedding gift. Scene supposed to supply spice has Raymond bringing a prostie to the house when the parents are away.

In support of Miss Smith is Leon Janney, featured as Raymond. Sheila Trent plays the scarlet one and the elder parts are taken care of well enough, but it is Miss Smith who gives the show a chance.

THE MILKY WAY

Farce comedy in three acts. Presented at the Cort May 8 by Sidney Harmon and James R. Ullman. Written by Lynn Root and Harry Clork. Staged by William W. Schorr.

Spider.....William Foran
Anne Westley.....Gladys George
Gaby Sloan.....Leo Donnelly
Speed McFarland.....Brian Donlevy
Burleight Sullivan.....Hugh O'Connell
Mae Sullivan.....Emil Lowry
Eddie.....John Brown
Willard.....Edward Emerson
Wilbur Austin.....Bernard Pathe

As a prizefighter comedy Milky Way, also known as 'Cheese Champ,' primarily aims for laughs. It delivers moderately, and a fairish engagement should result.

But the new farce is not a contender for the record of 'Is Zat So.' It is too spotty. Presentation was made with an eye to production economy. Show has the merit of springing a number of telling lines, mostly late in the performance, some cracks being bawdy though perhaps native to the atmosphere. Still, there are too many G. D.'s for the average playgoer's taste.

Reports that the play is biographical of Mickey Walker are not substantiated, although there are relative incidents. Speed McFarland of the story is middleweight champion, so was Mickey. Speed is kayoed outside the ring and so was Mickey, but the incidents are dissimilar. Speed has a wily, unscrupulous manager, Gabby Sloan, who, however, seemed a far cry from Doc Kearns.

Story idea is comic, having to do with Burleigh Sullivan, a milkman, whose sister is cigaret girl in a Jersey roadhouse. Speed wanted to ake her home, but Burleigh wouldn't stand for that. When he interfered, the fighter's trainer, Spider, swung. Burleigh ducked, and Speed was knocked cold. Speed also had swung, with the result that Spider, too, went out.

Papers carry the story that the champ was upset by an unknown and Burleigh calls at Speed's flat to explain how it all happened and how he, being essentially a ducker, eluded the socks thrown at him. Gabby is all steamed up about the affair, but gets the bright idea of making a fighter out of the milkman. That mild fellow is hard to convince, but Gabby's blond girl friend, Anne, is a fixer, and Burleigh's sister, Mae, who now likes Speed, is assured that he won't get hurt.

Gabby fixes a match for Madison Square Garden, and sure enough Burleigh wins with a wild wallop in the first round. Right off Gabby takes him on a six-week tour of setups. Fight fans are engrossed watching Burleigh duck that they don't notice the unknown's crudeness. The scheming manager sells his contract to a Milwaukee society man so that Burleigh can be matched with Speed for the title at the Yankee Stadium.

Everything is primed for a cleanup, and the match is held—reported by radio to the audience. To the amazement of Gabby's camp, Burleigh wins by an 18-second knockout. Speed launched a left hook. Burleigh ducked and, as he straightened up, butted the champion on the chin, and they had to drag him to his corner.

Yarn is plenty screwy and of the least of its improbabilities is the victory of the phoney fighter by butting the champ on the chin. That should call for disqualification and the win would go to the other way on a foul. However, it is farcial and the authors used rubber license in the writing.

A disc record made by those two boys, Sam Taube and Angelo Palangi, who plugged a pop price hat on the radio when airing the Carnera-Loughran fight at Miami this winter is used for the other account of the show's bout.

Development of Burleigh Sullivan as played by Hugh O'Connell is akin to that in 'Once in a Lifetime'—from a complete sap he turns out a near-hero. O'Connell is the right choice for the part.

Leo Donnelly as the nervous Gabby injects the most action, and he injected much energy into the

(Continued on page 66)

NATIONAL FREE SHOWS

Equity's Youth Faction to Meet; Faces Battle on Its Proposed Amendments

in Equity, which named six candidates for the Council recently, will hold a general meeting at the Union Church Hall, in W. 48th street, N. Y., Wednesday night (16). Purpose of the session is to hear reports from committees appointed some time ago to offer suggestions strengthening the group.

Group denies that it is opposed to Equity's present leaders. Apparently satisfied with its progress so far, it was stated that there is no plan to write in additional choices of its own on Equity's ballot for councillors.

Several meetings with Frank Gillmore ironed out some of the differences over the four amendments to Equity's constitution, which will be voted on June 1. Equity leaders, however, will contest two of the group's proposed amendments, and will offer an alternative for still a third amendment.

Amendment which would give the general membership the right to amend the by-laws, calls for a decision by a two-thirds vote at the annual meeting. Group wants a majority vote decide, with Equity's officers opposing that change.

Equity will fight the group's plan to have the general membership appoint all nine members of the nomination committee. Its alternative amendment counters the group's proposal to permit members in arrears of dues for not more than one year the right to vote. Equity would permit such delinquents the right to attend meetings, but without the privilege of voting.

IATSE TO INVADE SUMMER THEATRES

It is claimed that the national stage hands body (I.A.T.S.E.) aims to invade the summer theatre field, looking to the rural show shops to aid its unemployment problem. Delegates have approached managers of the country houses, stating that the revised legit code will embrace summer show activities.

Code revision has not been completed, but when Washington was queried the reply was that rural summer theatres would remain outside the code. At the recent open hearings showmen and authors told deputy administrator William P. Farnsworth that the country show shops are usually non-profit projects and mostly experimental theatres which should not come within commercial theatre regulations.

Stage hands' delegate asked the manager of a Long Island summer theatre to install a crew of five men, each to be paid $30 weekly. House gives four performances weekly, management saying the receipts are so limited that it could not operate if saddled with a $150 stage hands' bill.

Actors in this spot play co-operatively, which is true of most other summer theatres. In some instances little more than the board bill goes to the players. Only know summer theatre employing union stage hands is at Westport, Conn. House is the best grosser of the summer stands, drawing a virtual metropolitan audience. Usually youngsters ambitious to be stage directors and designers handle the backstage assignments, working co-operatively with the actors.

McGowan-Henderson's Musical with Richman

Jack McGowan and Ray Henderson will produce a musical of their own writing in early fall. It's tentatively titled 'And So Are You,' and will star Harry Richman.

Ted Koehler is writing the lyrics to Henderson's music and McGowan's book.

Little Worries

Hollywood, May 14.

California little theatre producers are generally in a state of anxiety during rehearsal and production for fear cast principals will walk out on them for picture jobs. The little theatre players are unpaid and chiefly work in hope of getting a picture break. This happens frequently.

'Bella Donna,' with Theda Bara, which opens May 21 at the Little theatre, Beverly Hills, started rehearsals four times and on each occasion with an almost new group. Casting directors and agents had grabbed off all likely talent. 'Thirty Thousand to Go,' at the Hollytown, was also forced to close for a week when doing good business, as three principals left for film spots.

Muir Gets a Legacy, W&L Get Their Coin, Equity Gets a Case

Charges against Gavin Muir will probably be considered by Equity's Council today, case against him having been pending since February. Actor was ordered to repay $200 which he insisted that Wee & Leventhal pay him before going on in the final performance of 'Dangerous Corner' at Washington. When Muir demurred he was temporarily suspended and advised that, until the money was given back, the case would not be disposed of.

Actor claimed it would embarrass him to pay back the coin, but recently he came into an inheritance, bequest coming from an aunt who died in Scotland. An Aberdeen barrister formally advised Muir of her death, stating that he was willed a grandfather's clock which had been in the family for generations. Muir was disappointed but, later, the lawyer sent word that he would also receive the residuary estate, value not known. It appears now that a considerable sum is held in trust for Muir, but he received a cash settlement also.

With a fresh b.r., Muir refunded on the 'Corner' matter.

Show's road tour ended at the capital but a stock company playing 'Corner' also under W. & L. management opened in Philadelphia. Muir contended it was not stock and sought additional money in lieu of notice. He held the curtain for 25 minutes and it was that action which resulted in the management filing charges. Actor claims that $200 is due him for extra Sunday performances during the tour, also that W. & L. agreed to double his salary every week the show played to a profit.

WILSON TO N. Y. WITH LUNT-FONTANNE PLAY

London, May 5.

John C. Wilson, who is producing shows here in association with Noel Coward and Alfred Lunt, has left for New York to produce 'Laura Garnett,' an English play, written by Leslie and Sewell Stokes.

Lunt and Fontanne will probably be in the cast.

Pasadena Revivals

Pasadena, May 14.

Community Players will revive Shaw's 'Saint Joan' for two weeks starting tomorrow (15).

Barrie's 'The Little Minister' wound up two weeks last Saturday night.

GOV'T EXPANDS LEGIT PROJECT

CWA Gratis Drama to Be Sent to Civilian Concentration Camps—Used Now in New York Area Camps, Schools, and Sing Sing

1,750 LIKELY SPOTS

Gratis legit shows under the aegis of the government's Civil Works Administration may become nationwide, supplying much more summer employment to players than rural show shops could possibly offer. Dozen shows operated by the CWA in New York's high schools and Civilian Concentration Camps comparatively close to the metropolis furnish the basis of the plan to expand the federal drama project.

There are 1,750 CCC camps from coast to coast. Problem of furnishing diversion to a majority of these groups is believed solved by expansion of the drama department. It is now certain that the free shows will continue in New York through the summer, however.

Decision on whether to turn the CWA shows into a national drama project is expected to be made this week. For the specific purpose of demonstrating the merit of the shows 'The Patsy' will go to Washington, Thursday (17), and a performance will be given at the National Press Club to an audience consisting of national CCC administrators. Same play was especially performed before CCC heads in New York after which the shows were routed into the Bear Mountain camps.

Theatre

Should the drama project be expanded as now indicated it would be a response from the government to the various appeals to aid the theatre financially. CWA officials have expressed the opinion that the free shows are making citizens theatre-minded — developing potential playgoers despite the fact that most of those who attend the performances are unable to pay admissions at this time.

In addition to performances in school auditoriums, three circuits of four days each are being covered in the Bear Mountain and upper Hudson camps. Performances are given from Monday to Thursday, inclusive, Fridays, being booked at Sing Sing, prison having been added last week.

Other institutions will be added later. CWA heads state that during the summer there will be ten circuits through New York state. Transportation is supplied by army cars and buses, each camp sending the players to the following 'stand.'

When schools close for the summer, the shows, too, will be given outdoors in New York City's parks, portable stages being built, which will be traveled as trailers hauled by trucks. Because of some criticism by Broadway managers that the CWA dramas tend to injure regular theatre attendance, tickets for the free shows will be handled exclusively by welfare agencies. Only needy persons will be admitted, and one ticket will be good for an entire family.

CWA shows will probably also be played aboard ships when the fleet comes in. Greatest assembly of U. S. naval craft ever grouped on the Atlantic coast is due to drop anchor in the Hudson late this month.

Milwaukee, May 14.

Open air operettas will be offered free by the Milwaukee park board here this summer, despite objections from theatre men that such programs will harm the show business.

In the past the park board has provided free outdoor concerts in the various parks during the summer but never before has attempted any other entertainment. Operettas will be presented by the International Opera Chorus, which is charging only actual operating costs for the presentations.

Due to a cut in appropriations for outdoor concerts this year, only 11 instead of 15 will be given. The city has appropriated $4,000 and limits all concerts to Milwaukee musicians.

In addition to the concerts, public dances will be offered in four parks during the summer. The music program starts July 4 and closes Labor Day.

Farnsworth Says Compromise Set, With Code Action Due This Week

Cynical Lady

Day after the rumpus over the Pulitzer prizes a little old lady appeared at the Broadhurst b. o. and wanted a pair of seats for 'Men in White.' She insisted they must be in the center of the house, and cashier reassured her.

"All right," she said. "Though I don't know why I should believe you. Anyone who can steal the Pulitzer prize can't possibly tell the truth about other things.'

Omaha Goes Critical; Pans Eva Le Gallienne Troupe as Inartistic

Omaha, May 14.

Director Bernard Szold, of the Community Playhouse, is the butt of an attack staged by his clients after he had advised them to see Eva Le Gallienne in her production of 'The Master Builder' in a one-night stand here.

Legit company proved a disappointment, local clique of drama lovers feeling it was not a polished performance. As a result they point the finger at Szold as an authority whose word they took, not caring a bit about the rest of the country, where in almost all cases Miss Le Gallienne met with acclaim.

Szold has explained that he had not seen the actual presentation of 'Builder,' but that it was not too much to expect the company to present a top-notch performance.

Omaha Drama League, sponsors of the production, have definitely announced they will not take a repeat on Le Gallienne at any time.

FAGAN FILES CHARGES VS. HELEN MORGAN

Los Angeles, May 14.

Charges that Helen Morgan was unruly during rehearsals and refused direction have been filed with Charles Miller, Coast rep of Actors Equity by Myron C. Fagan, producer of 'Memory,' which closed at the Biltmore Saturday night (12) after six days, according to Arthur William Green, attorney for Fagan.

Green alleged two dress rehearsals had to be called off due to Miss Morgan. Actress' attorney filed an answer to charges with Miller, and in view of an anticipated arbitration Miller refused to make the allegations public.

Williams' 2 Plays

Charlie Williams, screen actor-author, is back on Broadway with two legit plays. His 'You're On Next' has been optioned by Gene Buck.

Joe Gaites (Shubert) is interested in the other play, 'The Social Lion.' Both co-authored by Williams with Marcy Klauber.

Washington, May 14.

inal action on legit code revisions is anticipated this week as an outcome of high-pressure attempts to reach compromises on key points at issue.

Denying any intention of imposing NRA ideas, Deputy William P. Farnsworth Saturday (12) said that satisfactory progress had been made in straightening out ticket troubles and that a workable plan embodying features of three alternative schemes will be submitted to the Code Authority late this week for approval. Details of the final draft were not revealed.

Changes in composition of the Code Authority look likely, although certain details have to be ironed out and labor won around. Revision probably will give equal representation to managers and labor and provide for settlement of all matters by a majority vote. Present arrangement, which requires submission of all divided votes to Washington is out.

Idea doesn't get a very big hand from the unions, who fear they will lose if numerical proportions are altered, but the NRA slant is that labor will gain because of the possibility of speedier action by industry alone, instead of protracted delays and ultimate settlement by the government.

CA setup probably will include provision for representation for stock operators whenever matters pertaining to stock, directly or indirectly, come up. Will not restrict stock members to only those matters of immediate concern, but will give them a chance to voice opinions and exercise weight in subjects such as royalties, tickets, competition, picture rights, and assorted phases of the business.

Throw-away and cut-rate issues remain in the air, but headway has been made toward getting a more satisfactory provision. Revision will not bar these types of ducats entirely but will hedge them about with conditions designed to protect consumers, and do away with the use of deceptive pasteboards.

Details of labor mediation also are unsettled, due to illness of the labor advisory board member who has been handling this situation. Scheme in rough form calls for a series of regional boards with equal membership for managers and workers to handle scraps over working conditions, contracts and related topics.

HAYES, MERIVALE OUT, BUT 'MARY' CONTINUES

'Mary of Scotland,' Alvin, N. Y., Theatre Guild's best grosser this season, will hold over into the summer with some cast changes, although last three weeks of the engagement was announced. Margalo Gillmore and Stanley Ridges will replace Helen Hayes and Philip Merivale on June 4.

Show's pace averaged $24,000 for the first four months and it topped Broadway's dramas until 'Dodsworth' opened. Recently, takings approximated $20,000 weekly, show holding up despite general theatre decline since the first of May. For the final three weeks of the Hayes-Merivale appearance there will be an extra matinee weekly. Afternoon performances have uniformly drawn capacity.

Miss Hayes and Merivale will rejoin 'Mary' in the fall, show being extensively booked to tour with the name leads.

Rogers in Hollywood

Hollywood, May 14.

El Capitan lights up Monday (21) after being dark two weeks, with Will Rogers in Henry Duffy's production of 'Ah, Wilderness.'

Limited engagement, here, following three weeks in San Francisco, calls for Rogers to do seven night shows and a Saturday mat each week.

'Cheer,' 22 G's; 'Roberta' $15,000, as Season's Worst Week Hits B'way

With attendance nose-diving along Broadway, the May slump continues and last week was regarded as 'the worst' of season. Additional closings Saturday (12) jumped the total to 10 departures, inclusive of several revivals.

Despite the slump, however, showmen are hopeful of a lively summer. Optimism is based on general indications, with hotel operators similarly impressed. Latter look for the best summer since the depression started, backed up by advance reservations. Influx to New York expected to begin with the arrival of America's naval armada, due on the Hudson in two weeks.

Musicals were walloped harder than straight shows. 'As Thousands Cheer' to $22,000, with its Saturday night strength being a saver. 'Follies' was reported way off and expectations of holding over into summer dimmed. 'Roberta' claimed no more than $15,000.

New low gross marks were general, with 'Dodsworth' and 'Mary of Scotland' the leading exceptions. 'She Loves Me Not' slipped down to $12,000, while other early successes nearly touched bottom, such as 'Sailor Beware' with takings around $6,000.

Last week's quartet of premieres unfolded one likely winner in 'The Milky Way,' Cort. New laugh show figures as moderate money winner. Got about $7,000 in seven performances. 'These Two,' touted good thing, drew adverse notices and was yanked at the Miller; 'I Myself' is doubtful at the Mansfield, while 'Every Thursday' is strictly for cut rates. Added closings Saturday were 'The Wind and The Rain,' Ritz and 'Love Kills,' Forrest.

Estimates for Last Week

'Ah, Wilderness," Guild (33rd week) (CD-914-$3.30). Affected in May decline like most others; around $7,000.

'Are You Decent?' Ambassador (5th week) (C-1,166-$3.30). Principally dependent on cut rates; small cost one-setter able to get by at less than $3,000.

'As Thousands Cheer,' Music Box (33rd week) (R-1,000-$4.40). Slipped markedly first half last week; finished well for claimed gross of $22,000.

'Come What May,' Plymouth (1st week) (C-1,036-$3.30). Presented by Hal Skelly; written by Richard Flournoy; opens tonight (15).

'Dodsworth,' Shubert (12th week) (CD-1,387-$3.30). Advance sale protected dramatic leader against slump; claimed pace of $22,000 last week.

'Every Thursday,' (Royale (2d week) (C-900-$2.75). Opened late last week drawing tepid mention; indications are for limited grosses.

'Follies,' Winter Garden (20th week) (R-1,483-$4.40). No exception; receding attendance dropped takings to lowest mark since opened; estimated under $18,000; reported likely to fold.

'I, Myself,' Mansfield (2d week) (D-1,097-$2.75). Opened last Wednesday; most notices unfavorable; chances of serious play doubtful.

'Invitation to Murder,' Masque (1st week) (D-789-$3.30). Presented by Ben Stein; written by Rufus King; strong cast for meller opening Thursday (17).

'Jig Saw,' Barrymore (3rd week) (C-1,096-$3.30). Business last week looked okay in face of general sluggishness; takings claimed around $10,000, well above the subscription level.

'Love Kills', Forrest. Withdrawn Saturday; less than two weeks to hopeless business.

'Mary of Scotland,' Alvin (25th week) (D-1,387-$3.30). Final weeks with name leads (Helen Hayes, Philip Merivale) provides strength to draw; extra matinee added for balance of month; quoted over $19,000.

' en in White,' Broadhurst (34th week) (D-1,118-$2.75). Pulitzer prize winner somewhat benefited by publicity, takings going to around $12,500.

'Moor Born,' Playhouse (7th week) (D-896-$3.30). Eased off to about $6,000; betters even break at that pace; Bronte play getting limited class draw.

'New Faces,' Fulton (10th week) (R-900-$3.30). Little revue slipped to $6,000 last week; about breaks even; expectant of holding over into summer, however.

'No More Ladies,' Morosco (17th week) (C-$2.75). Class comedy holding up to profitable business with last week's gross claimed around $10,000.

'Roberta,' New Amsterdam (26th week) (M-1,717-$3.30). Dived like other musicals last week; quoted around $15,000; lowest mark since early weeks.

'Sailor Beware,' Lyceum (33rd week) (C-923-$3.30). Took it on chin; around $6,000 last week; lowest mark of engagement.

'She Loves Me Not,' 46th St. (30th week) (C-1,413-$3.30). Slump playing few favorites; comedy leader slipped to $12,000; lowest gross since opening; even break.

'The Milky Way,' Cort (2nd week) (C-1,059-$2.75). Mostly excellent notices drawn by new laugh show; estimated around $7,000 in seven performances.

'The Shining Hour,' Booth (14th week) (D-708-$3.30). Imported drama slipped down to around $5,000 mark; doubtful after this month.

'The Wind and the Rain,' Ritz. Added to Saturday's heavy outgoing card; played 15 weeks to moderate coin.

'These Two,' Miller. Taken off Saturday; adverse notices; one week.

'Tobacco Road,' 48th St. (24th week) (D-969-$3.30). Eased off, too, last week, but not as much as most others; slightly under $8,000, which is good here.

Other Attracti

'Stevedore,' Civic Rep. theatre; independent attraction doing very well on 14th street.

'The Drunkard,' American Music Hall; melodrama and beer in old church drawing excellent business.

'Bitter Sweet,' 44th Street; revival; 'The Only Girl' due next week.

'The Chocolate Soldier,' St. James; withdrawn Saturday; may try road.

Gilbert and Sullivan revivals, Majestic; 'Pinafore' and 'Trial by Jury,' current.

'The Lady from the Sea,' Little; revival, withdraw Saturday.

Grand Opera, Hippodrome; scaled at 99 cents top.

'MAN' SURPRISE PHILLY FLOP, $5,000

Philadelphia, May 14.

Last week's two shows didn't help Philly's legit situation to any great extent.

Surprising thing was sharp nosedive of 'The Second Man' at the Broad. This one had had a very big week—topping most of the biz in this cut-rate house—and was figured to do even better in its second week because the Erlanger would be closed and the Forrest open only half the time. Instead, all by itself, 'The Second Man' skidded to a scant $5,000. Upstairs trade was very, very weak.

Revival of the Victor Herbert opera, 'The Only Girl' won considerable attention Thursday night (14), but chances for this production to stay the hoped-for two and a half weeks at the Forrest are considered dubious. Notices, as usual, lauded the score and panned the book. Trade the first part of this week will decide the question of further continuance. 'Bitter Sweet' is definitely announced for the May 21 but if 'The Only Girl' is an actual flop idea of popular-priced operettas to extend into the summer may be given up.

The Erlanger relights today (14) with a return of 'Biography' for its third local engagement. 'The Wind and the Rain' is the Broad attraction. The Latter stays only a week, to be followed by 'Big Hearted Herbert,' which is figured for some dough because of local following of Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield.

Estimates for Last Week

'The Only Girl' (Forrest). Opened Thursday and got almost $6,000 in four performances. Continuance beyond this week in doubt.

'The Second Man' (Broad, 2d week). Flopped surprisingly after fine first week. Scant $5,000 despite lack of opposition. 'Wind and the Rain' this week.

Anglin's Chi Show

Chicago, May 14.

Margaret Anglin is set to come into the Blackstone here on June 4 with a play labeled 'Fresh Fields.' Cast is being assembled in New York.

Lee Elmore, Miss Anglin's personal rep, is understood to be handling the casting and booking details.

Hampden 18G Boston

Boston, May 14.

Walter Hampden's week at the Colonial was the swellest legit week here in moons, grossing $18,000. With his departure that house shuts up for the season. Two new plays come in tonight, Conrad Nagel and Violet Heming in 'The Shining Hour' at the Plymouth, and 'The Green Bay Tree' at the Hollis.

Former should do well, as both Nagel and Miss Heming have big followings in the Hub. Last fall Conrad was fairly mobbed by fans during his long stay at the Shubert in 'First Apple.'

L.A. Choosy; Nixes 'Love Me Not' and Morgan's 'Memory'

Los Angeles, May 14.

Three legits functioning in town last week fared mildly, with 'She Loves Me Not,' bowing out Saturday night at the Belasco, after two and one-half weeks of discouraging biz.

Only new arrival was Myron Fagan's production of 'Memory,' featuring Helen Morgan in her first dramatic part. Initial week proved unsatisfactory, both from standpoint of production as well as response at the box. Closed Saturday.

'Shim Sham Revue,' with Jack Osterman prominently featured, has apparently caught on at the Music Box and second week's take showed a substantial jump over the first stanza.

Estimates for Last Week

'Memory,' Biltmore (1st week) (CD-1,656-$2.20). Figured for a smash prior to opening, this Helen Morgan dramatic opus failed to get away well. Numerous theatre parties, in compliment to the torcher, helped the take, but $8,000 not too healthy. Rain six days.

'She Loves Me Not,' Belasco (3rd-final week) (C-1,103-$2.20). Just couldn't click here, despite its New York rep, which apparently doesn't mean a thing out here. Weak cast also blamed for lack of interest. Final seven days little better than $5,000, which means plenty headache.

'Shim Sham Revue,' Music Box (2nd week) (R-965-$1.65). Only show in town that has been pulling down consistent pi'udit'. Got off to a bad start, but the word spread gradually and now looks as though Producer Moe Morton is in for a run. Second week jumped nicely to around $2,800, with considerable nibbling on the advance.

FLORENCE REED $4,400 AT FORD'S, BALTIMORE

Baltimore, May 14.

Charles Emerson Cook Players scooped a sound $4,400 from 'Thoroughbred' at 85c top at Ford's last week. Fact that Florence Reed read the regal role considerably hypoed the take as the star invariably does on Baltimore bulwarks.

Currently, Miss Reed is leading the stock troupe's lineup in 'Her Master's Voice.' That will sound taps for the Cook coterie this season locally.

House is not definitely set, but a deal appears certain that will send Cook to Chicago with Miss Reed in 'Thoroughbred' and will attempt a summer run at $1.50 top. Company other than the current resident one will be mustered for the Chi try.

Future Plays

'And So Are You,' musical, to be produced by Ray Henderson and Jack MacGowan in August. Harry Richman starred.

'Sinecure,' play by Alfred L. Golden, is listed for try-out by Harry L. Cort and Charles Abramson. Author has two other plays being considered.

W&L Fold Newark

New Haven, May 14.

Wee & Leventhal's pop price policy at the Shubert folded Sat. (12), after seven weeks. Starting with a couple of red weeks, policy built to satisfactory grosses, although no fortunes were made.

House goes dark till May 24, when former policy is revived, with Katharine Cornell in for three days at $2.75 top.

Loop Legit Waiting for Expo Bell; 'Herbert' $3,300; 'Bordeaux,' 'Hour' Out

Chicago, May 14

'All the world is waiting for the sunrise', That's the theme song not only of legit and the rest of show business but also of the entire territory known to the Chamber of Commerce as Chicagoland. Sunrise is dated to occur on May 26, when President Roosevelt presses a button and the second edition of the World's Fair opens with a huzzah and a couple of hotchas.

Town has slowed down perceptibly for the lull preceding the Fair. Shows are quiet and managers are all waiting for the Fair date before getting under way with new pieces. Four plays are scheduled to get going in the week immediately following the opening of the Fair. Margaret Anglin is due at the Blackstone on June 4 in 'Fresh Fields'; Horace Sistare is readying 'I Loved You Wednesday' for the Studebaker; Fritz Blocki and Charlie Niggemeyer are set for 'The Dashing Widow' about June 1 and Jack deForest is in conference with the Shuberts for a stock try at the Harris on June 4.

'Richard of Bordeaux' is the outstanding click of the 1933-34 legit season in Chicago. Coming into town for a short fortnight under the American Theatre Society auspices the show held over three successive weeks and will clear out of town after a wallopping five-week stay.

'Shining Hour' quit Chicago after six so-so weeks and skipped to Boston. 'Master's Voice' comes into the Selwyn to replace on May 27 under the same Max Gordon banner and with Blanche Ring in the lead.

Estimates or Last Week

'All the King's Horses', Grand (M-1,207; $3.30) (1st week). Opens tomorrow (15). Advance fair.

'Affections Ltd.', Studebaker (C-1,250; $1.50) (5th and final week). Slated to fold this Saturday (19). Business opened badly on a mistake in admission scaling and has never recovered sufficiently to make it worthwhile. 'I Loved You Wednesday' scheduled to replace on May 21. Under $2,000 at present.

'Big Hearted Herbert', Cort (C-1,100; $1.50) (3rd week). Fell off somewhat last week to $3,300 but has nothing to worry about, with the trade starting to stream in steadily. Set for a run which will probably not vary more than a couple of C's on either side of $3,000.

'Richard of Bordeaux', Erlanger (D-1,318; $2.75) (5th and final week). Closes this Saturday (18) after an excellent money stay. On pace was the best thing of the current season. Over $11,000 last week and hardly less in the cards for the final session.

'Shining Hour', Selwyn (D-1,200. Closed here on Saturday (12) after six up-and-down weeks. Hit as high as $8,000 and as low as $4,000. Goes to Boston for opening today (14). 'Her Master's Voice' with Blanche Ring arrives here on May 27.

R. M'LAUGHLIN'S NEW STOCK CO. FOR CLEVE.

Cleveland, May 14.

Robert McLaughlin, stock producer here for nearly twenty years, is returning to the field again by taking over Loew's Ohio and launching a season May 26 with stock, 'Dinner at Eight.'

Deal has been hanging fire for nearly a month due to insistence of Loew's New York office and H. M. Addison, its local rep, on a guarantee for a three and one-half-year optional lease of house.

Dr. Charles E. Briggs, wealthy surgeon and father of Jean Briggs, local actress, is reported to be chief figure in the new company financing the venture.

Originally McLaughlin planned to build a rep theatre of his own, with an adjoining English tap room and night club, but idea was abandoned because of lease troubles and differences among backers.

It will be his first production in two years, since the time McLaughlin retired from producing with Sam Manheim to become entertainment director for city's public Auditorium. House will have a $1 top, with George Fox as stage director and Russell Harris as treasurer. 'Dinner at Eight,' first play, will be followed by Conrad Nagel and Violet Heming in 'Shining Hour' and a rotating guest star policy for succeeding shows.

ROGERS $25,000 ON 2D WEEK, FRISCO

San Francisco, May 14.

Although Will Rogers knocked the box office for a loop on his first week in 'Ah, Wilderness' at the Curran with slightly under $24,000 on the stanza, his current and second week closing tonight (14) looks good for more than that.

Take on the second week probably will be close to $25,000, which is virtual capacity for the house at $2.75 top.

Another house with a $2.75 top is the Columbia, with Olsen and Johnson in 'Take a Chance.' Comics opened lightly in a blaze of hot weather over the week-end, but, aided by good newspaper treatment, they blossomed out a bit as the days went on, and week and the engagement will wind up with about $7,500, okay, though not big. 'The Drunkard' is getting class customers at the Palace Hotel for $1.65, including plenty of beer, and week's take will be good.

Molly Picon is coming into the Tivoli for a couple of days in a Yiddish play; 'Men in White' is on the cards for the Curran, following Rogers, but otherwise the calendar is fairly clean.

Murder at Crossroads

(Continued from page 62)

murder of Jose Villa (Lytton), the menace, in the belief that he is protecting the girl he loves, the Eastern miss from whom he had parted due to a misunderstanding and who had come to visit the owners of the ranch of which he is employed.

Dorothy Miller is attractive as another Mexican girl and Ralph Welch, Jack Cassidy and Dick Taylor cause welcome laughs as cowboys. Warren Coffeen, as the rancher, is also comical and Ada Daniels as his wife is buxomly satisfactory. Grace Fields, as the Eastern girl, lacks a voice of sufficient power to overcome the noise, which is prevalent as ever, and the public address system, installed to help out the actors, failed to function to the best of advantage, making it difficult to follow her words. Dick Lackaye completed the cast as the sheriff, a bit part.

Play was enlivened, or at least interrupted, by inter-act numbers, which the bibulous audience took good-naturedly, even to singing the 17 songs on the advertising curtain.

New company is in for an indefinite stay and, inasmuch as willing customers with money in their hands were turned away from the opening performance, the tenure is likely to be long and joyous.

Current Road Shows

Week Ending May 20

'Affections, Ltd.,' Studebaker, cago.

'Ah, Wilderness,' Curran, San Francisco.

'All the King's Horses,' Grand O. H., Chicago.

'Beyond Bengal' (film), Shubert, Cincinnati.

'Big-Hearted Herbert,' Cort, Chicago.

'Her ,' Ford's, Baltimore.

Katharine Cornell Repertory, Erlanger, Buffalo, 14-15-16; Royal Alexandra, Toronto, 17-18-19.

'Memory,' Biltmore, Los Angeles.

Molly Picon Repertory, Cass, Detroit, 13; Blackstone, Chicago, 14-20.

' ichard of Bordeaux,' Erlanger, Chicago.

'Shim Sham Revue,' Music Box, L. A.

'Take a Chance,' Columbia, San Francisco.

'The Shi Plymouth, Boston.

Walter Hampden Repertory, Shubert, Newark.

'Yoshe Kalb,' English, Indianapolis, 14; Emory, Cincinnati, 15; Hartman, Columbus, 16.

SAUGERTIES SUMMER STOCK

Albany, May 14.

A summer theatre is under construction at the Schoentag estate in Saugerties. It has been named the Matoaka Manor theatre.

Dorothy Deer-horn and her drama repertory players will open the season after the building has been completed.

Hyde A Gannett Exec

Cameron W. Hyde has been appointed executive editor in charge of the Albany Knickerbocker Press and Evening News, Gannett twins. But 32 years old, Hyde started with the Press as an office boy. Until his new appointment he had been managing editor of the News.

Allen Eddy continues as editorial director. Jack Andrews has switched from the Hearst Times-Union sports department to the News, while Joe Mahar is out after several years as Times-Union sports editor. Art Wood, from the Troy Record, is the new night state editor of the News.

Purchase of The Saratogian by Gannett Company, Inc., gives that corporation, headed by Frank E. Gannett, Canadian-born publisher, 18 newspapers, fifteen of which are printed in upper New York State communities. It is the second addition made to the Gannett string this year, the first being that of the Danville (Ill.) Commercial News.

Gannett bought The Saratogian from Mrs. Joh K. Walbridge, widow of the founder, who died suddenly in his office last August.

Novelists Also Get Re-editing

Scribblers for both stage and screen, who have to contend with a great deal of rewriting and fixing of their works even after their acceptance, frequently express envy of the fiction writers, who seemingly have nothing like this to face.

Actually, however, as much rewriting and alteration goes on in the offices of the book publishers as in those of the play of film producers. Idea that a work of fiction goes into print exactly as originally written is due to the fact that the true condition is somehow never publicized.

It's a fact that practically every first novel is worked over plenty by its publisher before being put on the press. And there are instances of novelists with many published books to their credit whose every new work gets a going over.

Ferber's Italian Tome

Finishing a picture engagement at Metro, Nat Ferber has started writing a book based on careers of prominent New Yorkers of Italian descent. Italian government is subsidizing the Hearst writer for this job.

Book will deal chiefly with Judge Salvatore Cotillo, one of New York's first important legisaltors of Italian lineage. Ferdinand Pecora is also due for a chapter.

Farrar and Rhinehart will publish the volume in June. Same house brings out Ferber's 'Happy Jew' last of this month.

Story Mag Lands 9

Nine short stories from the past year's editions of Story Magazine have been picked by Edwin J. O'Brien for his 'Best Short Stories of 1934.' Book is due late this summer.

Story, which began in 1931, had four short stories that year in the 1931 O'Brien book. In 1932 they published seven yarns which made the grade, and in 1933, six. The nine this year sets a record for any magazine's representation in O'Brien's annual collection.

Houghton, Mifflin publishes the rien book.

Shively, Carrick Move

Two editorial changes among as many book houses are due. George Shively, who for the past seven years was the New York editorial representative for Bobbs-Merrill, goes to Frederick Stokes in an important capacity.

Shively will be succeeded at the Bobbs-Merrill offices by Lynn Carrick, who quits a similar post with Putnam's. Carrick moves over June 1, with no successor to him at Putnam's named as yet.

Harry L. Pangborn Passes

Harry L. Pangborn, 64, book reviewer and former editor of Webster's Dictionary, died of cancer of the throat at his home in West Caldwell, N. J., May 8. He had contributed book reviews to the N. Y. Times and Herald Tribune, and also had been an editor on the Newark Daily Advertiser.

Survived by a wife, and daughter.

Lewton Finales Tome

Val Lewton, who quit Metro to devote all his time to writing, has finished 'Head of the House' for Vanguard.

In addition to doing novels, Lewton is writing for the mags, but mostly on order.

Modernity Hits Quais

Paris quais are no longer the mecca for bargain hunters in rare books that they used to be, but items of contemporary literary interest turn up there every once in a while.

Leigh Hoffman, one of the leading expatriate scribblers, has a look at the world's most famous second-hand stalls from time to time, and recently picked up a flock of books dedicated to Ludwig Lewisohn, who is sailing for America after years of residence here and apparently liquidated part of his library before breaking up housekeeping.

Also a number of volumes scribed to the late John Reed keep bobbing up. This apparently is due to current difficulties of Louise Bryant, Jack's widow and the divorced wife of Bill Bullitt, admassador to Russia, who is struggling along among the last Left Bank American survivors.

McFadden, Fawcett Competish

Grouping of five of the Fawcett mags into what is known as the Fawcett Women's Group, has had a response from the nearest Fawcett competitor, Macfadden. The Macfadden publications, formerly known as the Romance Group, have been given a quick change in name to the Women's Group.

Competish between the two is as close as the similarity in names. Fawcett, with five mags, Hollywood, True Confessions, Radioland, Screen Play and Screen Book, claims a circulation of 1,500,000 copies. Macfadden, also with five periodicals, True Romances, True Experiences, Dream World, Movie Mirror and Radio Mirror, also claims 1,500,000 copies sold.

Ace Continues

Instead of scrapping Ace High Magazine, as reported, Dell has decided to continue the mag. However, it's to appear every other month, instead of monthly. If warranting, it will go back to monthly publication.

Ace High is one of the Clayton mags acquired by Dell when the Clayton properties were put on the auction block.

Razz Sheet in Syracuse

Syracuse has a new weekly sheet, dubbed the Saturday Night Bugle. Proprietorship and editorship not revealed, but is said to rest with G. Carlton Brown, former executive secretary to Mayor Rolland B. Marvin.

It's a tabloid, running to gossip and caustic razzberries, and selling for a dime.

Lowell Thomas, Editor

Lowell Thomas, in addition to his numerous other literary activities, is now a mag editor. Editing Saga, published by Albert Buranelli.

Mag, a large-siged pulp, understood to use reprints of adventure stuff, both fiction and actual-account. Publication will be monthly.

True Crime Stuff

George C. Johnson and Jay P. Cleveland have formed a new publishing company under the name of Artvision. Initial effort is a mag called the American Detective Magazine.

Carries true-fact accounts of important crimes, all of it staff-written. Hugh Layne editing the new periodical.

Kraemer's New Job

Urban Kraemer, former business manager of Baltimore Post, Scripps-Howard sheet, which was recently peddled to Hearst and absorbed, has been appointed prexy and biz mgr. of the Youngstown Telegram by S-H, succeeding John T. Watters.

New Radio Mag

Detroit to get a new locality radio mag soon, to be known as the Broadcast News.

Publishers are a former theatre exhibitor, Elliott S. Kinney, at one time with Allied Theatres of Michigan, and George O. Hackett.

Another Pinchon Novel

Edgcumb Pinchon, author of the novel 'Viva Villa,' has sold another to William Morrow & Co. for fall publication. Novel is only half finished.

William Morrow has also optioned Pinchon's next two efforts.

Prose by Ruth Donnelly

Ruth Donnelly is writing a novel based on her career as an actress. Calls it 'Tripping Along.'

Miss Donnelly has had a book of poetry published.

Best Sellers

est Sellers for the week ending May 12, as reported by the American News Co., Inc.

'Anthony Adverse' ($3.00) ..... By Hervey Allen
'Five Silver Daughters' ($2.50) ..... By Louis Golding
'Seven Gothic Tales' ($2.50) ..... By Isak Dinesen
'Tender Is the Night' ($2.50) ..... By F. Scott Fitzgerald
'Oppermans, The' ($2.50) ..... By Lion Feuchtwanger
'Private Worlds' ($2.50) ..... By Phyllis Bottome

Non-Fi

'While Rome Burns' (2.75) ..... By lexander Woollcott
'100,000,000 Guinea Pigs' ($2.00) By Arthur Kallet and F. J. Schlink
'Nijinsky' ($3.75) ..... By Romola Nijinsky
'Life Begins at Forty' ($1.50) ..... By Walter B. Pitkin
'New Dealers, The' ($2.75) ..... By Unofficial Observer
'Robber Barons' ($3.00) ..... By Matthew Josephson

rices to Jump

While prompt action by the book publishers against certain clauses of the graphic arts code averted a rise in book prices, mag publishers did not stand up against the threatened danger. Hence, the certainty of a rise in mag prices all along the line.

A number of chain publishers have already put price rises into effect. Street & Smith has upped the price of some of its ten-centers. Standard Magazines is considering a price rise on at least six of its eight publications.

Since the sales price is the most important, and in many cases the sole means of revenue to the pulps, their existence is figured on that basis.

Burman's Re-'Mississi

Ben Lucien Burman is in Hollywood writing another novel around the Mississippi river. He says he has no desire to do film work, although a previous story of his, 'Mississippi,' was bought by Universal.

He will stay on the Coast for the summer and is scheduled for a lecture tour through the middle west in the fall.

Eleanore Griffin Sells Tales

Eleanore Griffin, who started as a fan mag writer, has sold two more short stories. One, the yarn of a child film star, was bought by Delineator, and McLean's took the other.

Miss Griffin is the wife of Neville Reay, Paramount press agent.

Chatter

The Nelson Doubledays back from Europe.

Katharine Brush going to South America.

Louis Adamic back from that lecture tour.

Edith Olivier to do a biog of somebody or other.

Nancy Hoyt doing a biog of her sister, Elinor Wylie.

Second printing for 'Journey to the End of the Night.'

Jerry McQuade, N. Y. mag. publisher, is on the Coast.

'Men Never Know' is the title of Vicki Baum's next novel.

Wallace Smith recovering in Hollywood from a broken leg.

American Spectator now quartered with the Tower mags.

Eric Hatch starts a series of short stories in the June Red Book.

Lloyd Birkin, British publisher, in New York to see what's what.

Preston Moore, writer from Papeete, Tahiti, is ogling Hollywood.

Alan Villiers has finished those two books and goes abroad shortly.

John Strachey coming to New York for a lecture tour—but not till 1935.

Sheila Gaye-Smith will come over in the fall for her first visit to this country.

Max Miller back to San Diego with a contract for three more books for Dutton.

Richard Aldington almost finished with his new novel, 'Women Must Work.'

Albert Payson Terhune guest of honor at Stern's last Friday at a special tea.

Farrar & Rinehart has the first novel of Dale Eunson, who is Rupert Hughes' pal.

The novel on which Thornton Wilder is now working is about a traveling salesman.

Isak Dinesen, author of 'Seven Gothic Tales,' is really the Baroness Blixen, of Denmark.

Elissa Landi's fourth novel, 'The Ancestor,' will be published in June by Doubleday-Doran.

Herbert Gorman left London for Paris. He'll spend the summer working in Normandy.

John O'Hara, of The New Yorker, has written his first novel and Harcourt, Brace will publish.

William P. Rodgers, 67, former feature writer for New York World, died in Springfield, C., May 8.

Newton Brunson, of Yuma, Ariz., who does a colyum on the Arizona Sentinel, looking over Hollywood.

William H. Hewitt, publisher of the Courrier des Etats Unis, New York French daily, off to visit Paris.

Hervey Allen will start a new novel when he gets back to Maryland. Has been wintering in Florida.

Rian James' newest novel, 'Young Lady in White,' in the hands of Alfred King. To be published late in July.

Doris Denbow has joined the Fawcett Publications office in Hollywood to work out biz ties for fan mags.

Elsie Finn, pic writer for N. Y. Post, Philadelphia Record and Camden Courier, on the Coast gleaning material.

Caroline Miller and Tyler Dennett, two of the Pulitzer Prize winners, were partied by their respective publishers.

Harold Scarborough, London rep of the N. Y. Herald-Tribune, back to his post after a couple weeks in New York.

Thomas Mann coming over for his first visit next month. Alfred A. Knopf planning a dinner to introduce him formally.

Harcourt, Brace has lost John Preston to the John Day Company. And James Hilton goes from Morrow to Little, Brown.

Thomas Mann's new novel, 'Joseph and His Brothers,' will be brought out by Knopf, June 6, Dr. Mann's 56th birthday.

George Lewys, the femme scribber who sued Eugene O'Neill for plagiarism, but to no success, discharged from bankruptcy.

'Tin Soldiers,' West Point novel by Robert Wohlforth, will be released by King June 12, date of the West Point commencement.

Bobbs-Merrill's publication party for Helen Worden's book, 'Round Manhattan's Rim, took the form of a tugboat trip around Manhattan.

Publishing biz gets funnier all the time. Catherine McNeils, Tower mag head, feted the literary agents, instead of the other way around.

Best-selling play in book form in some years, with the exception of the Eugene O'Neill plays, is Maxwell Anderson's 'Mary of Scotland.'

DuBoise Heyward working on a novel now that he's finished the libretto for his 'Porgy,' which will be an opera with George Gershwin music.

After selling over a million copies, Lillian Eichler's 'Book of Etiquette' is going into a revised edition. Made necessary by the fact that the original had nothing about liquor.

New class women's mag for metropolitan distribution only is in preparation and will make its initial appearance this summer. Is to be known as the New York Woman.

Dept. Store Show

(Continued from page 1)

who are familiar to vaude in their jungle life act. Here they were made up in monkey and cannibal outfit. They perform comedy contortions.

Show runs around 45 minutes, which means that the performance is regulation theatre time, too.

Show is placed in Hearn's theatre. Small stage with four large arc-lights suspended from the ceiling. It, in every essence, is reminiful of old-time drop-in tourist shows, except that customers can sit at Hearn's.

Same theatre is used for Hearn's broadcasting hour over WHN so that place has a p.a. system, but it's not a perfect one. Ventilation is another problem, although a mechanical contrivance for this purpose is fixed under the ceiling.

Shan.

Book Reviews

A Mature Fitzgerald

Probably most underestimated American writer is F. Scott Fitzgerald, despite the fact that his name is generally recognized as one of the leadi r erally writing, all current Americans, will most likely live as truly representative of his era.

itzgerald not prolific as some writers. His newest book, 'Tender is the Night' (Scribner's; $2.50), is only his fourth. It more mature than either 'The Great Gatsby,' or 'This Side of Paradise,' which is as it should be. It's not that Fitzgerald is growing up, but the world he lives in, and thus his characters, are growing up. They're not sheenly sophisticated any longer; they're just a bit tired, with some pretty gruesome and down-to-earth life under the hotcha surface.

The of Dick, brilliant doctor who married a psychopathic case which blunted his career and eventually ruined his life, is not a pleasant one. Too sordid for filmization, but it will probably be a best seller and go up on the shelves as a classic of Americana.

Belated Best Seller

Almost overnight a book written 85 years ago has leaped into the best seller class, with orders for 40,000 copies before its release date, largely through the tremendous advertising given through two newspaper syndications.

It is Charles Dickens' ' ife of Our Lord' (Simon & Schuster, $1.75), which was written for his own children, and by his direction withheld from publication until the last of his progeny had passed on. The death of Sir Henry Dickens last winter droped the bars.

The simple, almost colloquial, story of the New Testament has been read by millions of newspaper readers, and seems destined to find a permanent niche in juvenile literature. To older persons it possesses the appeal of simplicity and sincerity.

For the permanent covers Simon & Schuster have published two editions, one at a popular price, designed by Ernst Reichl, and a limited edition planned by Updike, of the Merrymount Press, to sell for $10. The latter is a collector's item, but the popular version has been done with a care that makes it notable if merely as an example of book manufacture. A special antique paper, and a chaste binding in the style of the mid-Victorian period, give the volume the appearance of belonging to the era in which it was written, which lends itself admirably to the subject matter. The typography matches the treatment to make an harmonious unit. Quite apart from its subject matter, it is a volume to be treasured for its excellence of manufacture.

Cantwell Just Misses

Robert Cantwell's second novel is 'The Land of Plenty (Farrar & Rinehart; $2.50), a fine piece of work which is vaguely unsatisfactory. But it is a book not easily forgotten.

It's the story of a strike in a mid-western factory. The lights go out during the night, a simple thing like that, and the incident results in a heartless and bloody industrial war, with many wounded and some killed. Cantwell tells his story through the medium of his various characters, switching from the eyes of one to another and back. It's well told and realistic, and one becomes quickly aware of the fact that nobody is much to blame for the terrible things that happen, each in his own province, and from his own special standpoint, being right. But the book shoots off into space at the end, leaving the feeling of 'What happens now?' It isn't quite complete enough.

Stephani's Experiences

Although Frederick Stephani is now a Hollywood script writer, there's not much about pictures in his 'My Candle Burns,' (Maccauley, $2.50), a more or less biographical sketch of the writer's post-war experiences.

Good stuff, and vividly told, but still unimportant save as a sidelight to the demoralization after demobilization.

Going Places

By Cecelia Ager

impled 'Cheaters'

When 'Cheaters' run its course, nobody is going to be bitter enough to deny that June Collyer a fine lot of dimples. may those around who'll maintai that acting comes hard to her, in and there'll be those who'll argue that her personality wants for a certain but nobody can say that as a lady with dimples she's not a young lady with dimples.

Nor can anybody complain that she wields a niggardly eye-pencil. In the beginning she's a shabby, wrongfully convicted jailbird; she becomes, the cast exclaims, a ravishing, talented, exquisitely groomed beauty — but either way her lower eyelids are ringed with black, intended to enlarge her eyes, but which in fact only defines their actual boundaries. And in so doing it rigidly marks their limits. Nice enough eyes, pushed close together, and belittled by over-zealous use of eye-pencil, in the wrong direction.

The hero, rehabilitating ex-convict Miss Collyer, takes her to a shop where the manikins model step-ins. Its fantastic nature thus established, it is not too surprising to see Miss Collyer leave the shop clad in an ankle length black and white street frock with a too-tiny off-the-face hat, holding a pair of silver foxes gingerly about her shoulders, perhaps in care not to wear them out. Miss Collyer plays tennis in slacks, rather well, for she's sufficiently slim. She wears, too, a black velvet dinner dress with a white lace back, or maybe it's a negligee.

Dorothy Mackaill plays a slangy wife and belts her frocks characteristically at a low waistline. She pours tea in a dog-breeding Santa Barbara millionaire's hacienda, but the property man forgot sugar, cream and lemon. Maybe he likes his tea neat.

Two Kinds

'The Crime Doctor' acknowledges two kinds of women; the wife, Karen Morley, and the other kind, Judith Wood.

The wife, an unhappy, throaty-voiced lady, spends a lot of money on her clothes but gets nowhere. Preoccupied with her marital problems, she buys what her vendeuse has got to sell, and winds up with a lot of fancy clothes worked with beads, sequins and odd necklines, and a batch of fancy hats with strangely jagged brims. One of Miss Morley's hats has a plain brim; the becoming one.

The wife, furthermore, is so distrait that she can't put her mind to devising a becoming hairdress, but entrusts this important point to someone else who, it turns out, hasn't her best interests at heart, and sends her out into the cold world with unimaginatively waved tresses whose one virtue is their neatness, which is not the virtue that counts. There's too much neatness about Miss Morley, anyway. That's why the detail of her clothes does her in. She hasn't the abandon to make their fanciness subjective; she yields to their insistence upon trimming. But once, in a trim tailored suit with a deep square collar of fox and a simple, dark blouse, she escapes trimming and shines herself, very smartly. So she has style, but is too noble to care.

Judith Wood, the other kind, proves it with the badge—black lace chemise, lots of little blond curls bunched on top of her head. Miss Wood has a very fine figure, and little timidity about here. But since 'The Crime Doctor' is set in its ways about the two kinds of women, Miss Wood soon dies the death of a dog. Too soon, the more tolerant ience will be inclined to think.

Series of Coiffures

Uncertain as to what sort of accent bespeaks a princess of a mythical kingdom, but it's sure that some sort of accent is essential. So Sylvia Sidney talks in a peculiar manner in 'Thirty-Day Princess,' meanwhile displaying a series of interesting and becoming coiffures.

Miss Sidney looks very little and very appealing as the princess. The kingdom that spawns Miss Sidney is frightfully up in the art of the coiffure, deplorably inept in the magic of making its reigning beauties chic little personages. It realizes that Miss Sidney's hair must be massed in a definite line, whether in a banged, old-fashioned hairdress or in an Empress Josephine arrangement of high puffs and curls. But its couturiers are timid about discovering a silhouette as distinctive as the lead given them by its hairdressers, and so the princess goes to receptions in trite white net, with ruffled peacock train or black, with a back T-strap decolletage of white gardenias. They thought up chenille dots on a dark sheer tailored frock with a little white turn-over collar, saw that it was good, and gave up. Though she's a princess, maybe there's something about Miss Sidney's own way with clothes that doesn't inspire them.

idemic of Boops

All of a sudden the Four Betty Boop Girls become actresses, with individual names, individual dresses, individual specialties. It happens on the stage of the Paramount theatre, where the suddenness of it all is terribly aparent.

What do the girls behind the Betty Boop voice look like? Does the possession of a Betty Boop voice entail certain characteristics common to all Betty Boop voices? Well, yes and no. All Betty Boop Girls want to be cute, and about half of them succeed. Betty Boop Girls do not necessarily resemble Helen Kane. None of them understands motion picture makeup, gleaned from their newsreel clips. A quarter of them have chic, as established by the girl in the yellow lace dress and jacket, and the other quarter are cuddley and know how to make the most of it, as proved by the girl in the bois de rose taffeta frock with the shaded net flounces, who also does imitations. Others are apt to wander away from the mike, moved by a frenzy of booping—witness the girl in the pale blue net—and most of them should not be allowed to use their own judgment about their stage costuming, as evinced by the girl in the carmine velvet jacket with printed white chiffon skirt, and the girl in the blue net again. And if Betty Boop Girls were dressed alike, that would be better still.

Jane Moore, of Moore and Revel, wears black and white printed satin for her amusingly grotesque dance antics. Leah Ray looks very pretty and cool in white chiffon sprinkled with sequins, designed with a cape scarf thrown high across her neck, and to show how conscientiously she takes her grooming—there's a red bow in her hair to match her red bracelet.

Ladi , usicians and Costumes

A gal band is no novelty to vaude, but a gal band that can play sweet, then play hot, then give out mighty forte flourishes, yet always remain a unit—a gal band that has learned to overcome the femme musical tendency to play with expression rather than with attack and tempo—that kind of a gal band is so novel it's just never been—until Phil Spitalny understook to prove it could be.

He's proving it this week at the State, where his thirty Musical Ladies are startling the customers with their skill, not as lady musicians, but as first-class musicians—never-mind-gende.. They're femmes, but there's nothing femmish about their interpretations except in their vocal harmonies and costumes.

They stress their femininity in their uniforms, white embroidered lawn dresses with full ruffled shoulders piped in red; narrow red ribbon belts with streamers to the hem of the skirts—that's to make the plumper ones seem slim—and clusters of cherries at the V-necklines. Having thus made it clear that gal bands should never wear pajamas, because some lady musicians' hips do not adapt themselves to pajamas, they devote themselves to the best possible rendition of their interesting arrangements, and, due to Mr. Spitalny's guidance, achieve that best possible rendition. It must be because of his guidance, for it is not the way of thirty Musical Ladies, amongst them many soloists, to fall into line with an all-for-one aspiration unless there's someone at hand to sort of coax them.

The State presents, too, Dave Jones and Company, which latter means Dean and Joyce and Peggy Lee. Peggy Lee dances first in aquamarine taffeta leotards with tiny deeper-colored chiffon godets that reveal a long expanse of white flanks more alluring when sheathed in her second costume, a white satin princesse gown. The bouncingly acrobatic miss of Dean and Joyce is admirably concerned with the fresh appearance of her little dancing costumes; one is white crepe with red checked taffeta scarf and cuffs, the other is made of apple green satin.

THE MILKY WAY

(Continued from page 62)

part. He knows the fight game, so a great deal of his stuff is authentic. William Foran as the trainer, Spider, was also well cast.

Brian Donlevy is Speed, the most horizontal champ ever on the stage. He has been in plenty of shows this season, but this time he has the best chance to stick around the same theatre for a while. Gladys George, on the road for some time, comes through as hardboiled Anne. Her line about the pot drew the best laugh of the premiere, which is something, despite its implication. Emily Lowry is the other well-chosen principal, playing Mae just about the way the authors intended—nice girl with a yen for home and babies.

'The Milky Way' at least is in tune with the latter end of the season, its irresponsibility adding to its sticking chances. Ibee.

THESE TWO

Drama in three acts presented at Henry Miller's May 7 by Lucile J. Cassy and James W. Liddle; written by Lionel Hale; staged by A. E. Matthews.

Tom Rowlands.....A. E. Matthews
Miss Butterworth.....Hilda Spong
Mr. Gregory.....Edward Emery
Simon More.....Bramwell Fletcher
Celia Desmond.....Helen Chandler
Fay Carlile.....Kay Strozzi
Taxi Driver.....Egbert Jones

These new producers had what looked like the right set-up and first nighters were expectant of a click, only to have 'These Two' turn out another spring disappointment.

Author is an Englishman, but the play was not publicly presented abroad. Claimed that one prominent Broadway manager had the rights, letting them go because of casting difficulties. Also that manager is considering another play or two by the same writer, Lionel Hale.

Nevertheless the story did not seem well written, its ideas being muddled, with audience interest decreasing as the play developed. At the premiere several mishaps of no great importance tended to mar the performance. Two British male leads, A. E. Matthews and Bramwell Fletcher, had attractive opposites in Helen Chandler and Kay Strozzi, so the fault lay in the play and not the playing.

'These Two' has its young lovers starting off badly. Simon More is wholly in love with Celia Desmond but she has an open heart and is at the moment engrossed with another chap. They are to dine together and he to propose marriage but she breaks the date. Several months later, during which time Simon pines around the flat, Celia comes to him in desperation—she is to have a baby—the other fellow being involved.

Gallant Simon takes the slap rather placidly. He insists they wed platonically and after the child arrives they can divorce. That is not the first stage situation of the kind, but the switches in their relations is puzzling. Infant dies at childbirth and thereafter Celia goes to nightly parties and dances, but without Simon.

Within a year Celia realizes she has fallen in love with Simon. There is a tender scene, perhaps the most effective in the play, spoiled by a bedroom trek. In the six months that follow, Simon is promoted and is drawing an excellent salary. Celia is all devotion, perhaps too much so. Maybe that is why the young husband tires of her attentions and turns to Fay, who was the mistress of his best friend, Tom Rowlands. Tom had warned Simon not to fall for that type of woman and why he should seek extra-marital relations so quickly is unexplainable because the author carefully built up the man's character and made it seem that Celia was the only woman in the world for him. Final scene has Simon exiting, saying that if it were not Fay it would be some one else and Celia is toying with a bottle of poison, suicide bent.

Matthews directed the play with some skill and also some errors. His own performance was generally smooth while Fletcher as the baffling Simon, Miss Chandler as Celia and Miss Strozzi in the less important part of Fay, give the show what charm it may have. It wasn't their fault that the play resembled a sherry drinking tournament. Naturally there was no stew stuff.

New firm could have had better first night luck, but the result could hardly have been different with this play. Ibee.

(Withdrawn Saturday (12); played one week; printed for the record.)

Among the Women

By The Skirt

The Best Dressed Woman of the Week:
CONSTANCE CUMMINGS
(ROXY)

Nice Clothes

lamour' the Roxy this week. Cummings starts off as a chorus girl, stardom shortly after and at least has revised the line met only too often in pictures. Wher others have said, 'I'm this miss 'I want a baby'.

She gets her wish.

Miss Cummings wears some One black dress trimmed with tiny buttons running up the sleeves over the shoulders gave her a peculiarly square look, but in a white spangled ballet dress Miss Cummings did look nice. A flowered watered silk evening gown had a flounce bottom. A street outfit was trimmed at the neck with mink, the same fur bordering the A traveling frock was a dark material trimmed at the neck and down the front with a frilling of lace. A black wig was worn with a white evening gown. gown was ruffled with black edging. A white wig enhanced a hooped costume of black velvet. Another black velvet gown was cut off the shoulders with the bodice held in place with shoulder straps. ilver fox trimmed one coat.

Stage show at the Roxy starts off with the Gae Foster girls in red dresses made long and flaring at the knees. White lacy frills were at the front with white belts around the waists. Large picture hats were red and white also. Another number was done in black velvet with brilliant sleeves, red collars and berets. Some of these costumes were pajamas and some slit skirts. The girls looked very nice in white satin gowns with silver sequin tops and blue sashes. They carried radium canes, using them effectively in the dark.

The little miss of Nash and Fately was on first in a very short dress of mauve satin and a blue belt. She changed to green pajamas. Nadine Gae wore a good looking frock of cerise satin. It had long sleeves but no back. Two long ends hung from the waistline.

Fashionable Opera

Radio City Music Hall is stepping out of its character and presenting grand opera. 'Madame Butterfly' is presented in two scenes and a more beautiful picture has never been shown on the enormous stage of this theatre. The exterior of Pinkerton's house represents a garden with full size trees, bridges and flowering plants in enormous bowls. The interior of the house is equally beautiful, with its altar and many colored cushions. Anna Roselle as Butterfly wears the most gorgeous kimonas, all colorful, heavy with exquisite embroideries. A voice far above the ordinary is displayed by this artist, but how is she going to stand singing the difficult arias four times daily.

Edwina Eustis as the servant sang her tragic role in a brown kimona. Doar Rinehart, seen but for a minute, was in a summery chiffon frock with a large picture hat.

The picture this week brings together again the well known team of Gaynor and Farrell and, although the picture ('Change of Heart') is very weak, it is made enjoyable by the comical antics of James Dunn and snootiness of Ginger Rogers. Miss Rogers is far better dressed than Miss Gaynor. But the picture dealing with the struggles of these two misses in the Metropolitan city, are what is known as the simple sports type. Two girls, however, look adorable.

Light and dark materials are all more or less collar trimmed in white. A cocktail dress worn by Miss Rogers had a silver sequin blouse with dark skirt. Small hats were shown in various styles.

The Casino Varieties has a unit this week called ' roadway Merry-Go-Round'. A line of girls start proceedings in full black satin skirts with jet bodices. Different colored ruffles line the skirts. In long green frocks with jet capes the girls do a number with a soloist in a silver gown with jet sleeves. In a cafe scene the girls are in ruffled frocks of many colors.

Medley and Duprey, featured in this unit, has the girl in a blue frock. A small blonde miss, unnamed, looked well in a gown of brilliants in a latticed design.

The picture, 'In Love With Life', is rather an indifferent affair, featuring Dickie Moore. Lila Lee, as the mother of Dickie, is seen first in a black suit with a dotted satin blouse. A dress made sailor fashion was of black with white braid.

Good Show

A large and more than usually enthusiastic audience greeted the Palace bill Saturday matinee. Allen and Kent opened, with the young miss in a white full skirted dancing frock. The older woman was in black.

Paul Gerrits is more than a roller skater. This young man should be tested for the screen. With looks and poise he should make the grade easily.

Violet Carlson in a tomato red taffeta frock, after the first number was what used to be known in the old days as a wow, a comic operatic number was fittingly garbed with the usual trimming and a comedy dance routine had Miss Carlson in a gold colored satin frock.

Stuart and Lash were a young riot. Bernice Tishman, more beautiful than ever, assisted these two men in a pale green satin gown with but a diamond pin as ornament.

Long Tack Sam's two daughters were lovely in their Chinese embroideries. One did a toe dance in a white chiffon made very full. The bodice was trimmed with white coque feathers. A violin number was by one of the sisters in brick colored satin pants with beaded blouse. The Carioca had a girl in boy attire and the other in a ruffled skirt bare of waist with but a brassiere. They were in pale pink long straight robes for the finish.

Gladys George's Break

'The Milky Way', at the Cort theatre, got away to a good ready causing pleasant comment on the street.

Resembling somewhat Jimmy Durante's 'Palooka' film, 'Milky Way' is one laugh after another. Gladys George has the role of a young woman who hangs around prizefighters and knows all the answers. Every line she utters has the house in stitches. Miss George is signed for pictures and must leave the show shortly, but she is a chump if she does. There will always be pictures. There is but too seldom a good play.

Miss George wore very good looking clothes. A green suit was trimmed with summer ermine, a white linen suit was smartly cut and a white jacket worn with a black gown was trimmed with silver fox. An evening gown was of black beaded material with a matching sequin jacket. Over all she wore a black velvet coat with ermine collar. All hats were of the small model.

Emily Lowry was neatly dressed in cloth ensembles, mostly. She chose the browns, blues, tans and one emeral green. A color once known as crushed strawberry was used in one dress made with a double pleated frill at the neck.

23 Anti-Censor Reasons

(Continued from page 5)

contributed to its construction before it was formally presented by C. C. Pettijohn, Hays counsel, who assembled it.

Of its 66 printed pages over 20 are given to excerpts from newspapers throughout the country decrying censorship.

Bills such as that introduced by Patman would cost the industry some $8,000,000 a year in production tribute. Illustrating this, the brief recites:

In , 520 feature pictures were released for general use throughout the United States. These features averaged eight one-thousand-foot reels each. Between 150 and 250 prints (positive copies for theatre use) were used for each feature in the United States, or an average of about 200. Under this bill, at $5 per reel, the cost to the industry would be $40 per print, or, for the necessary 200 prints, $8,000 per feature for prints alone. Cost for the original (studio negative) at $10 per reel would equal $80, or altogether $8,080 per picture; 520 times $8,080 equals $4,201,600, the Commission's fees for censoring features.

The number of reels of 'shorts,' including newsreels, travelogs, comedies, cartoons, etc., manufactured each year exceeds the number of reels used in feature pictures, but figuring them at the same amount would indicate a grand total for censoring under this bill of $8,403,200 plus.

The five newsreels, namely, Pathe, Paramount, Fox, Hearst-Metro and Universal, issue each week a total in excess of 2,500 reels. On this basis, the minimum contribution of each newsreel company toward the maintenance of the Commission would be at least $130,000 annually.

Arguing that good taste cannot be legislated into pictures, the Hays writing, in decrying such taxation as well as the censorship phases embodied, observes:

'The true nature of the problem has eluded the sponsors of these measures. The expenditure of time, money and effort has brought them no nearer the heart of the matter than they were at the beginning.'

Evoluti of an Industry

Touching on the evolutionary stages of filmdom, as one of the principal arguments for pictures retaining their freedom, the brief declares:

Because of its vast world audiences the motion picture obviously could not be dissociated suddenly and completely from the entertainment taste of its patrons.

The humble origin of the motion picture as a form of entertainment constituted another handicap in the struggle for self-improvement. Thirty years ago it came from the peep show into the side door of the nickelodeon bringing none of the great traditions that belong to the stage, the press, or literature.

Its pioneers were business men who sprang from the people. They were by nature showmen and understood what ordinary folks like themselves would enjoy. They were not primarily artists. Their product was treated with disdain by the upper strata of society.

In the process of improving public taste, which is a necessary corollary of progress, the motion picture has too often, even in later years, suffered lack of appreciation by the arbiters of culture and refinement in the average community.

It is difficult to over estimate the importance of this factor in the earlier stages of development. It required two decades for the motion picture to pass from a mechanical novelty to a recognized medium of entertainment. It was not until 1920 that it began to assume its full stature as a national institution. The growing realization of responsibility apparent in the industry itself lacked the stimulus that the conscious support of public opinion provides.

Lack of experience in the adaptation of dramat material offered a further difficulty. In point of training and equipment the industry was likewise deficient. Neither players nor technical personnel had sufficient knowledge of the new medium of expression. Progress by trial and error was difficult and costly, since each step forward was in the nature of pioneer exploration.

A further initial obstacle was the incipient downward drift of post-war entertainment taste—a tendency already apparent in 1922. Subsequently this trend has assumed the proportions of a widespread 'moral subsidence' that presents a continuing problem from the standpoint of motion picture betterment.

Twenty-three highlight reasons for filmdom remaining its own boss are skeletonized as follows:

1. It destroys initiative and self-restraint within the industry, demolishes the far-reaching and efficient machinery that has already been built up for the concurrent development of higher standards of taste and production, and forestalls further growth of a sense of responsibility on the part of the public in the choice and support of worthwhile entertainment.

2. It repudiates the NRA and creates a conflict of authority. Ninety-five percent of the motion picture industry has already signed a Code of Fair Competition under the National Recovery Act which legalizes the machinery already set up to carry out the purposes of this bill.

3. It does not, as is claimed, 'prevent the necessity of State censorship' nor does it eliminate '48 standards for motion pictures.' It abolishes none of the six existing State censor boards nor can it prevent the creation of 42 additional boards should the remaining States see fit to establish them.

4. It trebles censorship by adding Federal supervision, both before and after production, to existing State and municipal censorship.

5. It establishes a national censorship identical in principle with European political controls which prescribe in advance what news may be printed and what films produced.

6. It is confiscatory. No limits are placed on the expenditures of the commission. The fees stipulated in the present bill would amount to more than $8,000,000 annually. The cost of the commission must be borne by the industry in addition to the cost of maintaining the existing Motion Picture Code Authority, and the State and municipal censor boards.

7. It is discriminatory. By far the greater part of the motion pictures shown in this country are produced in California. Some are produced in New York State. All films produced in those States could be shown there without reference to the commission. The remaining States would be confined to commission films. This situation presents a fruitful source of trouble for all concerned.

8. It is unenforceable. It would require constant Federal supervision of 15,000 theatres scattered throughout thousands of communities.

9. It invites evasion by placing a premium on indecent and salacious films. Passage of this measure would result in the appearance of bootleg product which neither the commission nor the industry could control.

10. It is impracticable. It would be a physical impossibility, for example, to control all advertising used in connection with motion pictures. The motion picture industry already maintains effective supervision over motion picture advertising in so far as it is susceptible of centralized control.

11. It is a paternalistic measure whereby the Federal government assumes entire responsibility for the nation's screen morals and tastes.

12. It automatically imposes class standards upon a mass audience. The futility of attempting to legislate morality has been abundantly demonstrated in recent years. Good taste in motion picture entertainment, as in other things, is a matter of education, not of legislation.

13. It gives the commission authority over newsreels that is tantamount to the censorship of a pictorial press seen by some 60,000,000 people weekly.

14. It is unconstitutional in depriving citizens of their property without due process of law.

15. It violates the fundamental principle of American jurisprudence which assumes innocence until guilt has been established. Federal legislation already exists penalizing interstate commerce in obscene motion pictures.

16. It is an old bill in new disguise. Congress and public opinion have already rejected the proposal.

17. It puts politics into the motion picture industry and the industry into politics.

18. It creates confusion and disorder within the industry, and opens the way to extensive and unnecessary litigation.

19. It requires the proposed commission to find something to eliminate from scenario or film in order to justify its official existence. This not only puts the commission in an equivocal position, but automatically nullifies voluntary efforts that the producers might make to free films from all objectionable elements.

20. It is wholly negative. It destroys but it does not create. It contributes nothing toward the content of motion pictures or the development of the cinema art.

21. It is wasteful. The detailed supervision and cataloguing of a great majority of motion picture films serves no useful purpose.

22. It rests upon a false conception of the effect of motion pictures upon human and especially juvenile behavior. The data upon which it is based are not accepted by qualified and disinterested social scientists.

23. It does not have sanction of the majority of the persons directly affected, namely the theatre-going public.

New York Theatres

RKO THEATRES

86TH ST. AT LEXINGTON — Wed. to Fri. May 16 to 18 — WHARF ANGEL with Victor McLaglen and LET'S BE RITZY with Lew Ayres

81ST ST. ON BROADWAY

LOEW'S B'WAY at 45th STREET — STATE — 25¢ MON. to FRI. 10 A.M. to NOON — Screen Johnny WEISSMULLER, the New 'TARZAN and His MATE' Stage—Phil Spitalny, Oths.

2nd Week!—Clark GABLE William Powell in "MANHATTAN MELODRAMA" In Person—CARDINI JACK BENNY LANNY ROSS — B'WAY at 51ST ST. CAPITOL

Studio Placements

(Continued from page 29)

ert Fraser, 'Green Eyes,' Batcheller-Chest.

Phil Irtation Walk,' WB.

Francis MacDonald, 'Em Up Barnes,' Mascot.

Vince Barnett, 'Kansas City Princess,' Par.

Caesar Romero, 'British Agent,' WB.

Margaret LaMarr, 'Redhead from Sundog,' U.

Herbert Marshall, Painted Veil,' MG.

Tiffany Thayer, adapting 'The Duchess of Delmonico,' MG.

David Butler, directing untitled pic, MG.

Ben Bard, MG.

Irvin Cobb, ialoging 'Fisherman's Luck,' Roach.

Eve Greene and John Larkin collabing on script 'Excess Baggage,' MG.

Marguerite Roberts, writing 'Tony's Wife,' with Robert Sparks, Par.

Eddie Gribbon, Clark and McCullough short, RKO.

ILL AND INJURED

Buford Cranch, assistant manager of Loew's Nashville, operated for appendicitis.

Billy La Hiff, proprietor of the Tavern who underwent an emergency intestinal operation recently, is reported improving at the Medical Arts hospital. No visitors, though.

Cal. Strippers Toss Nude-a-Thon For $1.50; Yokels Gained Thru Ads

Los Angeles, May 14.

California nudist colony gag has invaded the entertainment field. Newest coin-gathering scheme is to charge admission for clothes-wearing a.k.'s to ogle the nudes. It's proving a bonanza to the operators of a woodland dell, 45 minutes from here, who are appealing to the curious through daily eight inch ads in downtown papers.

It's a sure cure for boredom to get out under nature's sun and see the nudies in the flesh, the ads point out. 'If you are sick or sixty, you'll be dee-lited,' read the comeons.

That the strip boys and girls have put showmanship into the undress thing is manifested by the ads' description of its nude-a-thon; 'new, spectacular and volatile,' read the plugs. Floor performance is $1.50, but no further description of the 'nude-a-thon,' is given but those in this section who play the walkathons and danceathons can use their imaginations and it's worth a buck and a half to find out what type of endurance contest it could be without garments.

Plus this is a no-fan dance, which, it is promised, goes the Chicago World's Fair and Sally Rand several better.

Beer Joint Owners Bill Bards Playing for Tips

Tacoma, May 14.

With beer parlors every few feet in the city, and owners trying every conceivable way to bring in the crowds to drink the suds, unemployed musicians are beginning to get a break.

Banjo players, ivory ticklers, etc., are passing the hat for what they can get, with the owners ballyhooing the talent.

HASH SLINGERS MOUNTING IN CHI

Chicago, May 14.

An outstandinig industry in Chicago at present is the restaurant trade. Unofficial estimates have placed the growth of restaurants in town since 1932 at a 35% increase. Randolph street alone now has 17 restaurants from State street to Wells.

Hotels, which formerly got along with one or two eating spots, have jumped their dining rooms to seven and eight. Restaurants have nearly all increased their seating capacity, some of them by opening up second and third floors, such as the Triangle, Henrici's and Old Heidelberg. Fair Grounds will see about twice as many eating spots as last year.

Fair itself is the immediate cause of the hop in eating interest. Follows the terrific jam of hungry citizens in the restaurants last summer. Every eatery, from the nickel hamburger joint to the Blackstone, had the ropes up to keep the public from climbing over the tables.

REORGANIZED FRIARS HOLD FROLIC SUNDAY

First Frolic of the reorganized Friars Club will be staged Sunday night (20) at the 44th Street theatre, New York.

Instead of the usual single Frolicker, there will be three emcees on top of the show this year—George Burns, Jack Benny and Lou Holtz. Irving Caesar is writing the lyrics. Abe Lastfogel arranging the show.

Cut-Rate Drunks

Mexico City, May 11.

Cost of getting drunk in Ciudad Juarez, across from El Paso, Texas, has been cut to 28c per offense. Cut rate applies to Americans, only.

Former nick was $2.80 per drunk, but mayor decided to reduce the chastisement 90%.

JEANNE GREENE BANKRUPT

Jeanne Greene, actress, took the bankruptcy veil in the New York Federal Court last week, giving her liabilities as $2,045 and assets none.

Petition said she was also known as Jeanne Greene Gottheimer Hilton.

MARRIAGES

Marjorie Crawford to Danny Dowling, in Yuma, Ariz., May 3.

Elsie Bartlett Porter to Michel Picard, in South Salem, N. Y., April 10. Bride is legit actress and former wife of Joseph Schildkraut and Horace Liveright. Groom is nite club manager in Westport, Conn.

Helene Robbins Malone to Lewis Nichols, April 12, at Palisades, N. Y. Groom is in dramatic department of N. Y. Times.

Harriett Beatrice Annenberg to Bernard Aronson in New York April 13. Bride is daughter of newspaper executive, Moses L. Annenberg.

Victoria Hopper to Basil Dean in London, May 13. Bride is British stage actress; Dean is London producer.

MEXICO KID WINS; BELLOISE ON BIKE

By JACK PULASKI

Those decisions at the Garden continue to look weird to the fans. Friday (11) Mike Belloise was in his bicycle for seven out of 10 rounds, but the judges said he beat Petey Hayes. There weren't many people in the house but the squawking was loud and long. Just as well there is a boxing lull for two weeks, outdoor season starting with the Ross-McLarnin match.

On the other hand, the 126-pound Mexican known as Baby Arizmendi socked his way to a decision over Al Roth, which bout should have been the main event. Looked like the Baby could have licked either Hayes or Belloise, or both.

But the brown skinned Babe didn't have any cineh. Out on the Coast he had the habit of knocking out most contenders within the first few rounds. But he was up against one of the best boys in the featherweight division. Roth gave an excellent exhibition, so much so that had it been declared a draw few would have demurred. Roth took the defeat with a smile.

The card of little men provided more action than previous shows at the Garden. Last week's group of fights started an elimination contest, which will eventually put forth a new champion. Indications are that Arizmendi has one sweet chance at the title.

The Good Old Lam

Belloise took it on the lam for the first six rounds. He poked timidly as though under orders or wraps. He stopped pedalling in the seventh round, by which time he realized that the left lamp was damaged. Hayes crowded him most of the way, possibly because Belloise waited to counter and refused the lead. In the last two rounds Mike did show something with both hands, but it looked like Hayes had plied up too many points to lose.

The Mexican's debut was not quite up to the expectations of those in the know, although the kid made good. He waded in, took everything that Roth threw and then belted away with both hands. Babe's change of range attracted attention. He started belting the body, then raised the attack to the head. Looks like there isn't much color in the division, yet Arizmendi should mean something in the east even if he doesn't cop the title. Kid Chocolate just let the championship slip away. Unless he has gone away back, he's better than any scrapper on the card with the exception of the little Mex.

Belloise and Hayes have met several times. Score is about even, but according to the razzing of the customers it doesn't matter.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes, son, in Los Angeles, May 7. Father is film editor at Warners-F. N.

News From the Dailies

This department contains rewritten theatrical news items as published during the week in the daily papers of New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Hollywood and London. Variety takes no credit for these news items; each has been rewritten from a daily paper.

East

Ban on shirtless bathing at Atlantic City will be continued this year.

Danny Ahearn, writer, arrested Wednesday (9). Henry Schiengold charged Ahearn with swindling $200 from him. Pleaded guilty to attempted grand larceny in General Sessions. Sentence May 25.

Fritz Kreisler's new opera, 'Sissy,' has been withdrawn from the program of the Prague German theatre for political reasons.

Ben Riley opened his Arrowhead Inn Wednesday night (9).

Palisades Park opens May 19.

Deluxe house being erected in Managua, Nicaragua, reported the largest in Central America.

Prosecution against John K. Winkler, author, at Hartfort, Conn., for alleged violation of Mann Act, dropped by George H. Cohen, Assistant U. S. District Attorney.

Madeleine Carroll, British actress, arrived in New York from the Coast Wednesday (9) and sailed for England Saturday (12).

Albert R. Johnson replaces Watson Barratt to design settings for new musical, 'Life Begins at 8:30.'

Max Gordon arrived from Europe Friday (11).

National Educational Committee of Motion Picture Research Council announced the appointment of 10 N. Y. educators to their council.

Question of what plays the Abbey Theatre Company of Dublin will present in their fall visit to the U. S. causing friction between the directors of the company and the Irish Government.

Rita Lee, dancehall entertainer, and two taxicab drivers held in $1,000 bail each Wednesday (9) when arrainged in Yorkville Court on disorderly conduct charge brought by George Simon. Simon alleges the three tried to blackmail him for $1,000 but settled for $25. He went to get the money but came back with cops.

Cuba, determined to get some of divorce trade from U. S., is amending her divorce laws.

Trial begun Wednesday (9) before Surrogate James A. Foley on action to set aside will of late Charles A. Levy, former head of Broadway Ticket Co. Action brought by nine brothers and sisters of Levy.

Joe Zelli, Parisian nite clubber, has returned to New York. He plans opening another Zelli's here.

'Furnished Rooms,' long postponed, will be at the Ritz theatre May 21. Edgar Allen sponsoring, having taken over the play from Miller and Pascuier.

Mary Brian arrived in New York from Coast by plane Wednesday (9).

Nathan Zatkin's revival of 'Lady From the Sea,' which opened May 1, went back Saturday (12).

Chamberlain Brown's vaude and tab stock venture at the Lyric, due to open last night (Monday). Fritzi Scheff and Ann Pennington on bill.

A Miss R. E. Cardani has leased the old Vanderbilt stables, on west 54th street, and will convert into a cabaret.

Antonio Ortega, husband of Alda Luciano Ortega, night club dancer, arrested for bigamy, convicted and deported to Spain. Second wife sues for annulment.

Teddy Spector, former husband of Olive Borden, film actress, freed in night court Wednesday (9) under $100 bail after being arrested on charges of operating a bucket shop in securities.

Mrs. Virginia Allen Ball, former showgirl and wife of Thomas Ball, supposed booking agent, found dead on operating table as the result of a criminal operation at Dr. Julius Phillipe' office in Brooklyn. Doctor found unconscious and held in prison ward of Kings County hospital on charge of homicide.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loew returned from European vacation Thursday (10).

Suit brought against Pola Negri by by Bertram y Masses, artist, in Paris, for payment on a painting of actress. Case has been dragging through courts for three years and now Miss Negri has filed countersuit against Masses asking $6,600 because she objects to inclusion of shadowy impression of late Rudolph Valentino in portrait.

Richard Arlen and family arrived from Europe Thursday (10).

Harmon & Ullman now casting for Chicago company of 'The Milky Way.' To be produced there in July.

Lee Ephraim, London producer, here to inspect Broadway offerings.

Hadley Waters new play, 'She Cried for the Moon,' to be produced next season, starring Selena Royale.

Russell Morrison staging 'Furnished Rooms,' opening at Ritz theatre May 23.

Boulevard theatre in Jackson Heights to remain open for summer as tryout house. Announcement made by Louis F. Werba.

Joseph G. Geiger will revive Ibsen's 'Hedda Gabler' June 4.

For summer Wee & Leventhal have dropped two more houses from their circuit, the Broad Street, Newark and Shubert theatre, New Haven. Baltimore, Providence and Hartford are others recently eliminated.

Murray Kreindler, Assistant U. S. District Attorney, instructed to begin investigation of the of sheets containing words of popular songs being hustled by boys on street corners.

Performers arrested May 5 in raid on Irving Place theatre, burley house, were discharged in Special Sessions. Manager Abe Potal supplied $500 bail for trial May 24 on charge of producing indecent show.

House of Representatives decided to indorse an appropriation of $200,000 for the World's Fair. Debate stirred up as to whether the Government should indorse fan-dancing and Streets of Paris exhibit, but question speedily quashed and house voted in favor of proposition.

Changes in system of awarding Pulitizer prizes announced at School of Journalism, Columbia U. Two new changes are that prize winning novel and drama must preferably deal with American life. Other relieves juries from making recommendations. In future jury will submit eligible list to Advisory Board.

Paul McGrath will head summer stock at Carmel, N. Y., opening July 2.

Final accounting of estate of late Jack Donahue shows that assets declined under $200,000 in period between October, 1930, to December, 1933, leaving a balance of $92,805, plus an income balance of $7,910. Accounting filed in Surrogate's Court Thursday (10).

In reversing decision of 5th District Municipal Court, Supreme Court Thursday (12) ordered Peter Arno to pay debt incurred to Waldorf-Astoria. Judgment granted for $732.15 for party given there.

Greta Nissen heard an 18-year-old peddler, charged with robbing her London apartment of $5,000 in jewelry, testify that he dropped her valuables into the Thames thinking they were worthless. Defendant also testified that he threw away Miss Nissen's fur coat.

Alexander Olshanetzky signed by Boris Morros as permanent musical director of Paramount-Publix Circuit.

Business men all over world are protecting themselves against possibility of death of President Roosevelt and possible incapacity before his recovery program is completed. Lloyd's, of London, revealed these facts Thursday (10). Insurance policies taking folowing forms: A 5% premium against death by assassination or accident, 7.5 against death by natural causes and premium of 12.6 against total incapacity for work.

Result of surveys completed by Park Department disclosed a polluted condition in waters around Pelham Bay. Consequently bathing will be prohibited. Similiar chemical analysis being taken at other local beaches.

Jack Kirland returns from England today (Tuesday). Bringing in a new play to be produced in the fall.

Gov. Lehman signed the Esquirol bill banning slot machines Monday (7). Cops then confiscated 1,800 machines to be dumped at sea.

Fire broke out on 11 story extension of RCA Building, Radio City. Firemen extinguished burning tar paper used as cover for ventilator.

Frank E. Gannett has purchased The Saratogian, upstate N. Y. paper, making this the 18th to be added to his string. Bought from Mrs. John K. Walbridge, widow of the founder.

Iron Health Baths Coney Island razed by fire. Some 25 fire companies required to control blaze. Damage estimated at $25,000.

U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals heard argument on appeal filed by Myra Page Wiren, author, from an order signed by Judge Goddard dismissing her suit for alleged plagiarism against producers of 'Death Takes a Holiday.' Defendants are the Shuberts, Samuel French, Ltd., Alberto Casella, author, Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corp., and United Artists Corp. Miss Wiren claims having written a play called 'Most' which was copyrighted in 1910. 'Death Takes a Holiday' is an appropriation of her play is the plaintiff's plea.

Saul Heller will present a road company of 'She Loves Me Not' in Cleveland May 20.

'Her Master's Voice' to begin road tour in Buffalo May 25 for Wee & Leventhal. From Buffalo show goes to Chicago.

Doug Fairbanks, Jr., co-starred with Gertrude Lawrence, had premiere of 'Winding Journey' at Manchester, England, Monday (7). Play to reach London.

Felix Basch, German stage director, in New York from Europe. Plans to do two plays before going to Hollywood.

Jerome Rosenberg has taken a 21-year lease on the Manhattan Opera House, N. Y., and will inaugurate a vaudfilm policy Labor Day.

C. B. Dillingham and Leonard Sillman will join forces again to produce Sillman's 'Wasn't It Wonderful' late this summer.

Richard Aldrich sailed for London. He will be joined there in a month by the other half of the act, Alfred de Liagre.

Elizabeth Allan returned to New York from England last week.

Nick Long returned from London last week.

Ludvin Neumann and Herbert Keresel, German film photographers held at Belem, Brazil, on complaint of Henrique Pongeti of Continental Film Co., that they had taken pictures detrimental to that country.

Cecilia Gerner, assistant to Richard Pitman, sailed for England May 12. She will confer with Gilbert Miller and Arthur Margetson on three new plays.

Jesse Long and Irving Cooper will operate Lyric theatre at Summit, N. J., for 12 weeks of stock opening June 18.

Playhouse at Milton-on-the-Hudson taken by S. M. Chartock and B. F. Kessler for summer season. Sidney Salkow will stage.

American Children's Theatre certificate of incorporation signed by Justice Levy of Supreme Court. Is first permanent professional children's theatre in the U. S. Non-profit organization.

Pascha Heifetz returned to New York from Russia Thursday (10).

Proposed play called 'The Mrs. Thomas,' with Irene Rich, postponed.

Katharine Cornell will end her tour at Brooklyn Academy of Music June 20.

Ray Henderson and Jack MacGowan have merged to produced a musical this summer. Entitled 'And So Are You,' it stars Harry Richman.

Edward Laurillard to be associated with London production of 'Pursuit of Happiness.' He sailed for England last week.

Drama Repertoire Players to open 6 week summer theatre, beginning June 1, at the Matoaka Manor theatre, Saugerties, N. Y.

Suit in Federal Court by Alfred Kreymborg against Jimmy Durante and NBC for $100,000 for alleged distortion of Kreymborg's poetry. Durante allegedly first used the poems in 'Show Girl' in 1929 and in a comical recitation on the radio, on which the suit is based. Motion brought by Durante to dismiss action for infringement of copyright. Decision reserved by Judge Patterson.

S. S. Leviathan, out of commission for over a year, goes back into service June 9.

Aldermanic Committee on License Survey recommends increased fees for illuminated signs. To raise additional revenue for N. Y. city.

Mother of late Anna Pavlova seeking a share of the dancer's estate in Russia. Mme. Pavlova challenging Victor Dandre, widower of Miss Pavlova, who claims the entire estate. Mme. Pavlova obtained an order from London Court of Chancery to make application in Russia.

Johnston Hurd, formerly Rudy Vallee's secretary, ordered to pay back alimony or go to jail for contempt. Hurd given 24 hours by John A. Matthews, Advisory Master in Chancery, at Newark, N. J., Tuesday (8).

Newspaper Guild issues warning to public against bogus solicitors of funds for unemployed newspapermen. Guild states it does not solicit funds.

Former Presidential yacht, Mayflower, will be converted into an amusement craft by owner, Henry Gielow of New York. Ship now at Norfolk, Va., will be turned into a night club.

Mary Garden tells Parisians no man is interesting until he is 50. Women qualify at 35. She's 57.

Eva Tanguay, recovered from her eye op, plans a N. Y. invasion.

Playland, Rye, opened Sunday (13) for the season.

Steuben Tavern at Broadway and 42nd will be opened shortly. Place has been boarded up for so long it has attracted comment. Delay due to structural changes, including removal of subway entrance to Seventh avenue side and building three sub-sidewalk floors.

Doug Fairbanks, jr., tells London reporters that with his divorce becoming final he still isn't thinking of marriage.

Mary Pickford notifies Brock Pemberton she will not be able to make a dramatic appearance under his management.

Estate of the late Ring W. Lardner grosses $227,083.28. Net is $192,927.63.

Police gathered 106 alleged gamblers in a Brooklyn raid Saturday (12). Blind gambling joint.

New York School of the Theatre presenting Noel Coward's 'Hay Fever' at Roerich Hall tonight (Tuesday).

Beau Rivage, summer nite club, opening tomorrow night (Wednesday) at Sheepshead Bay.

Petition to Gov. Harry A. Moore and the New Jersey Legislature to set up censorship board on films voted Friday (11) by the Knights of Columbus convention at East Orange, N. J.

Convention of 700 distributors of the Philco Radio Corporation, from all parts of country sailing today (Tuesday) for six-day convention cruise to Nassau and Bermuda. Films will be shown in liner's theatre to illustrate lectures at meetings.

As an added front page grab for his forthcoming encounter with Carnera, Max Baer will prosecute Bee Starr, circus aerialist, who recently sued him for breach of promise. Miss Starr confessed that her suit was a space grabbing stunt engineered by Hal Olver, p.a., for the winter circus playing the Hippodrome last winter. Confession will be turned over to distriet attorney's office for action.

Nils T. Granlund (N.T.G.) and wife returned from Europe Friday (11).

Hudson River Day Line will resume operation of boats to resorts May 20.

Knickerbocker Productions, semi-professional group, will present Ban Hecht's and Charle MacArthur's 'The Front Page' early in June.

Elise Bartlett Porter, former wife of Joseph Schildkraut and Horace Liveright, and Michel Picard, manager of Long Shore Beach club, exclusive nitery at Westport, Conn., were married in South Salem, N. Y., Thursday (10).

Garrett Becker, mask maker, affiliated with Brooks, costumer, announces having invented a rubber, flexible mask which he believes will supplant make-up in the theatre.

New York Public Library experimenting with the use of photographed newspapers, projected to screen, substituting film for newsprint.

Elissa Landi accused of smuggling shoes into the country to avoid tariff. Reported she has made an offer of $350 to the Treasury Dept. in Washington to settle charges.

New open-air sidewalk cabaret, continental style, will be opened at St. Moritz hotel around May 20.

Fire swept the stables of John Hertz, former Paramount exec, at Belmont, L. I., Friday. Six horses saved as interior of building completely destroyed.

Dr. Bernard Sachs of N. Y. Academy of Medicine told Motion Picture Research Council at Philadelphia that 'gangster films are the supporting pillar, if not the foundation, of the modern school of crime.'

Richard Becher, 61, unemployed musician and former member of Sousa's band, found shot to death in his home in Elmhurst, Queens. His wife also seriously wounded by unknown assailant.

Ben Hecht's home in Nyack, N. Y., damaged by two youths. Statuary and furniture were thrown into the Hudson River by boys. Extent of damage estimated at $1,000.

Daniel Frohman re-elected president of the Actor's Fund at 52d annual meeting held at Lyceum theatre Friday (11), his 30th election to this office. Treasurer's report at meeting showed an income of $127,998.06 for the year and expenditures of $155,204.24, leaving a deficit of $27,208.18.

Friars held house-warming in their new quarters atop Hollywood theatre building Saturday (12).

Repertory Playhouse Association, Unity Theatre, Theatre Collective and the Workers' Laboratory Theatre, will join in presenting a 'theatre night' May 20 at Civic Repertory Playhouse.

George C. Kremson, Jr., and William Williams conducting summer theatre at Oceanside hotel, Magnolia, Mass., beginning July 25. First offering will be 'Oliver Oliver,' with Ann Andrews, five new plays to follow.

Periwinkle Players will have a cruising showboat on Long Island Sound this summer. First performance will be 'Ten Nights in a Bar Room,' to be given at Pelham, June 10.

Darryl Zanuck sailed Saturday (12) for Naples, Italy, whence he will fly to British East Africa.

Largest play exodus of the year Saturday night (12). Total of nine plays closed, including two revivals.

Suit by Mrs. Blanche Rubinoff against her former husband, Dave Rubinoff for a quarter of his reported earnings of $690,000 since Nov., 1927, was revealed in Apellate Division Friday (11). Mrs. Rubinoff contends she received only $3,000 of $172,000 due her since date specified. Decision reserved.

Pathe newsreels showing police inactivity exhibited at Police Academy in New York, introduced as evidence against four officers charged with neglect of duty during recent taxi strike. Reels show mounted policemen, apparently unperturbed, a few feet from strikers who were tearing doors from cabs of strike-breakers, breaking windows and assaulting drivers. Trial adjourned until next week.

Hearing was ordered Friday (11) on the master code for book publishers, May 24, with hearings at same time on divisional codes covering trade books, subscription and mail-order book, play and dramatic scripts.

Ignac Paderewski petitioned Boar of Tax Appeals at Washington Friday (11) for a determination of a 1931 income tax claim of $4,101.

Gus Edwards will be tendered a testimonial dinner at Hotel Warwick, Decoration Day, by his proteges, among whom are Eddie Cantor, George Jessel and Jesse Block, who are sponsoring the feed.

Taxes collected on beer, wine and liquor by the State since legalization of beverages amount to $7,083,846.05, according to official figures made public Friday (11).

Barney Baker arrested May 1 for possession of a stench bomb as he entered a Bronx theatre, remanded to Bronx County Jail in $3,500 bail by Magistrate Ovington Harris in Morrisania Court Friday (11). A Manhattan indictment against him for simlar offense was given to warden for service.

Terrenbe Anderson, 12-year-old son of Maxwell Anderson, playwright, seriously injured in automobile accident at Nyappan, N. Y. Collison occurred while returning to his home in New City, upstate, with his older brother Alan, from school in New York. Taken to Nyack hospital for treatment for head lacerations.

Governor Lehman okayed the Kleinfeld bill, establishing permanent liquor-control system for the State. Bar drinking will be legal July 1.

Revival of 'Pagan Lady' opened at Boulevard theatre, Jackson Heights, yesterday (Monday) for week's engagement. Lenore Ulric stars.

Shore Players of Spring Lake, N. J. will begin their summer season July 2. Priestly Morrison will direct.

Julius Weiner and Jay G. Stein will direct summer season of White Roe Players, at White Roe Lake, N. Y.

Walter Hartwig's summer theatre at Ogonquit, Me., will open July 2.

Season of the New York Players at Ivoryton, Conn., directed by Lawrence J. Anhalt, opens July 2.

Opening of summer Civic Playhouse at Clayton, N. J. scheduled for June 27. Kent McKinley directing.

William C. Jackson plans to open his summer company at Griswold Play House, New London, Conn., last week of June.

John C. Wilson arrived last night (Monday), from Europe. Mr. Wilson represents new producing combination of Noel Coward, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne and will make arrangements for firm's planned presentations next season.

Ensemble Theatre has aquired 'When the Crash Comes,' by Beverly Nichols, for fall production.

Mount Desert Playhouse at Bar Harbor, Me., will have a seven-week season opening July 17. Leighton Rollins directing, Clara Weiss general manager.

Group Theatre rehearsing an anti-Fascist skit to be given at Webster Hall June 3.

Wilbur Bates underwent an eye operation at Presbyterian Hospital Sunday (13).

American Association of Advertising Agencies will hold 17th annual convention at Washington, May 22-23.

Republican County Committee will sponsor a three-county fair to alleviate distress in their leader's districts. Fair will include a circus, dog show, sport carnival and vaudeville. Event taking place May 25-26 at 71st Regiment Armory.

Coast

Asserting she was persuaded to enter the apartment house business through misrepresentation, Margaret Livingston Whiteman has filed suit in Los Angeles Superior court against her biz associates seeking $50,000 damages.

Ruth Helen Davis, N. Y. playwright now living on the Coast, has received the honorary degree of Officer d'Academie from France for her translations of French classics.

Los Angeles city attorney struck at the Mexican divorce traffic by issuing misdemeanor complaints against four men, each charged with advertising to obtain split biz.

Lucile Webster Gleason has been elected prez of the Dominos Club, composed of femme members of the theatrical profesh, for the sixth consecutive time.

M. C. Meigs, publisher of the Chicago American, is on the Coast vacationing.

The stork announced for Joan Blondell and George Barnes in October.

Agnes DeMille, niece of Cecil B., has left Hollywood for New York and England.

Neil Hamilton escaped injury in auto accident in which two persons were hurt.

Burglars ransacked the wood home of Charles B.

(Continued on page 70)

CHATTER

Broadway

Rube Wolf back to the Coast.

Lawrence Schwab from Miami.

Maurice Bergman tooth trouble.

Hellen Roy off to Reno to divorce agent-hubby Hal.

Phil Adler's new pocketbook is something to see.

Jane Wheatley back after a month in Paris and London.

Vic Oliver and Cliff Edwards back from British vaude dates.

Bernard Simon has the United Artists' p.a. staff.

Johnnie Phillips has new partner—another Philadelphia guy.

John Charles Thomas to Florida on his yacht for a fishing trip.

Monogram has sent out a broadside against elimination of duals.

Halsey Raines is batching for a month while the missus is in Ohio.

Gus Eyssell has moved out of the Lincoln into an uptown apartment.

Lillian Bloom stooging for hubby Phil in the Rockwell-O'Keefe office.

William and Tillie (Leblang) Jasie to West End, N. J., for summer.

Mary Brian is at the Waldorf for a 10-day vacation in New York town.

San Francisco was as far as Max Plohn got on his planned world cruise.

UA and Joe Schenck tossed a party for Darryl Zanuck while in New York.

Ida (Mrs. Eddie) Cantor to the Coast the end of this week to join the comedian.

John Bonney, lawyer backer of units, set for that trip to England early next month.

Cardini, the magician, bought his Mrs. a roadster for her birthday—and she can't drive.

St. Moritz's new sidewalk cafe in the Parisian manner cornering Central Park South opens May 20.

Comparing letters received from Joe Shea, the boys here in the East find they are all worded the same.

Margaret Ettinger, Hollywood p.a., reaches New York Friday (18) for combined business and pleasure trip.

Harry Puck, Arthur Ischer and Harry Shiffman went fishin' last week, but the fish couldn't catch them.

Harold Rodner and Harry Charnas do a double W. C. Fields on a golf course until the fairways yell for help.

Knox College (Galesburg, Ill.) will give its '95 alumnus, Otto Harbach, librettist, a Litt. D. honorary degree on its 89th commencement.

Par trustee employees are not observing the five-day week at Par, some of them coming in Saturdays regardless.

Been swell on the Palace beach these sunny days—for the layoffs, but not those trying to reach a destination in a hurry.

Harry Kalcheim did a quickie 18 holes last Thursday (10) in little more than two hours and was back at his Par booking desk before most of the agents had awakened.

The heat drove so many '50,000,000 Frenchmen' chorines in makeup out to the sidewalk at Loew's State stage entrance last week, it looked like a ballyhoo for Max Factor.

Everybody invited to Marc Lachmah and Monte Proser's cocktail party last night (Monday) at Leon and Eddie's was advised, 'You will be the guest of honor.' It's the boys' debut as a publicity partnership.

Another suit for injuries has been instituted against Madison Square Garden, this time by a lady who got hit in the eye with a puck during a hockey game, similar to a suit Peggy Rich once brought and lost.

With everything else cut rate, bus lines are now going in for it. On one indie line you can go from New York to L. A. for $30. To other points, it's equally as cheap: Chicago, $12; St. Louis, $14.50; Detroit, $10; Cleveland, $8; Pittsburgh, $7; Washington, $3.

Madrid

Eliseo Grenet off to Paris.

Ken Maynard back to Paris.

W. Somerset Maugham in town.

Jayne Shadduck collecting bullfight posters.

Actors, actresses and writers banqueting Catalina Barcena.

Circo Price back to circus acts after a try at flamenco opera.

Maria Victoria, class Spanish dancer, headlining at the Gong.

J. H. Hoffberg calling on the trade and making a survey of conditions.

Lester Ziffren down to Seville for the fair with Juan Belmonte, the bullfighter.

Spanish pic 'Se Ha Fugado Un Preso' ('Prisoner Escaped!'), in its third week at the Alkazar.

S. J. Perelman and Arthur Kober studying up on Hemingway and bullfights with Laura Perelman looking on.

Dr.Fried Goldstaub and Adolfo Frotz, German pic men, looking over the field for possible productions in Spain.

Slow biz taking it on the chin in Zaragoza and Valencia, where general strike's been on for some time. Zaragoza's rounded out a full month.

General strike April 22 tied up the town. Labor Day, May 1, tied up the nation. No theatres, street cars, subways, taxis, nor anything else operating.

Pedro Chicote, town's favorite bartender, getting ready to put a high class bar in Congress with cocktails named after the deputies. First of its kind anywhere.

Jose de la Cruz sending a film crew to Ifni on the west African coast for a travelogue of the newest Spanish colony. Been a Spanish possession for over four centuries but wasn't occupied until recently. Iberia Films will distribute.

Berlin

Gustav Froehlich back in town.

Friedrich Kayssler 60 years old.

Martha Eggerth with Cine Allianz.

Willy Forst with Cine Allianz for two years.

German Fox opened a branch office in Hamburg.

Eighteen pictures censored in March, two American.

Berlin-Witzleben carrying out new television experiments.

'Night Flight' (MG) artistically valuable, says German censor.

Geiselgasteig reviving, with Bavaria dubbing 15 United Artists films.

Dolly Haas with British International. To start work in London next month.

Kiba, Vienna, to take 25 Cine Allianz and other German films through Cine Allianz.

On May day German cinemas didn't open before six o'clock, when great meetings were over.

Paul Wegener left with a staff for Teneriffa, shooting 'A Man Wants to Get to Germany,' Ufa pic.

Hans Albers with Bavaria, after leaving Ufa. Bavaria will produce Albers pics in joint production with a Berlin group at Geiselgasteig.

Ernst Baumann, who opened first Berlin cinema in 1905, 70 years old. Baumann was also first 'sound film' producer. Made a short of a pseudo Caruso and had a disk supply the music.

The Hague

By M. W. Etty-Leal

Dutch National Revue on tour to Antwerp.

Lowest tender for new AVRO-studio was $130,000 (at par).

Groot Netherlands Legit Co. reviving 'Journey's End.'

At City Cinema, the Hague, gala premiere of 'Private Life of Henry VIII.'

Irish sweep not doing so well; now touting tickets via Luxemburg Radio.

Dutch opera singer, Fritz van Dulmen, celebrated 75th birthday. Left stage nine years ago.

French Film 'La Maternelle' in 11th week in two cinemas in Groningen, which sets a record here.

As a special attraction for Dutch book week, book sellers offer, with books, a series of photos of 12 authors.

'Nova Zembla,' by Dutch author Veterman, such a flop that at one of the performances there were 500 free passes.

Tour of Frankfort Opera Company, managed by impresario Dr. Krauss, such a success that opera returns in fall.

Buma Bureau still stirring trouble over copyright and now suing a small string of orchestras of bars and restaurants.

Dr. Friedrich Weissman from Amsterdam to Buenos Ayres, where he is signed for engagements in operas and concerts.

Papers criticizing fact that whereas many Dutch artists are jobless, German companies are in Amsterdam this week.

Holland to have world premiere of Molnar's new 'Wunder der Berge' ('Wonder of the Mountains'). Author coming here for rehearsals.

Bad accident took place at opening performance of circus Amar in Leyden; a trapeze artist fell from height of 25 feet and badly injured.

Premiere this week by Hofstad Tooneel of Sidney Kingsley's 'Men in White.' A medical professor helped out during rehearsals, so as not to spoil the scene in operating room.

Roman Catholics wanted their own film producing concern so that they could produce films with a real religious angle, and got it by establishing International Eldophone, Ltd. One of the films made by this concern was a bad flop in Holland and concern now on brink of ruin.

London

liver Messel on the sick list.

Daughter born to Eric Linklater.

Billy Hill due here in May; just a vacation.

Nelson Keys all dolled up for his son's wedding.

Dan Fish running up a series of motor accidents in 10 days.

Herbert Brenon just in and trying to connect with Gaumont-British.

Isabel Jeans' London home robbed, with $40,000 worth of furs missing.

'Pursuit of Happiness' scheduled for the Vaudeville theatre May 28.

Maudie Edwards signed by the Shuberts for a new Ziegfeld revue.

Byran Wallace, Edgar's elder son, announced to marry Margaret Lane.

Percy Burton latest to vacate managerial post to Leon M. Lion.

Ralph Ince to direct Will Fyffe in first starring vehicle at Sound City.

Rita John throwing a bottle party, with the William Mollisons in on it.

'Dark Tower' goes into the Shaftesbury theatre, opening May 10.

Reginald Forsythe with Irwin Dash on a two years' exclusive contract.

Binnie Barnes and Gregory Ratoff slightly hurt in taxi collision April 30.

'Private Room' closed at the Westminster April 28, after two months.

Elizabeth Bergner signed contract with Cochran to do a new show in London.

John Sothern telling mugg he is not broke and can get any bankroll he wants.

George Arliss giving the impression he has come home for keeps this time.

Richard Tauber turning down $3,500 per for week's work at the Palladium.

Gene Dennis being consulted by Charles Woolf as to the future of British pictures.

Greta Nissen latest victim of thieves; claims $5,000 worth of jewels missing.

Shooting of 'Private Life of Don Juan' held up due to illness of Alexander Korda.

Gaumont-British to do another vehicle starring Jan Kiepura. Subject not yet chosen.

Yvonne Vyntner replacing Nicholas Hannen in 'Without Witness' at the Duke of York's.

Noel Coward now president of Actors' Orphanage, post held by Sir Gerald du Maurier.

Francis Sullivan taking a look at himself in the 'Return of Bulldog Drummond' at the Regal.

Fred Duprez returned to his old meal ticket. Taking 'My Wife's Family' on the road again.

Clayton Sheehan telling the press boys all about international film conditions, and off to Paris.

'Finished Abroad' closed at the Savoy April 21 after six weeks, with no successor in sight.

A. E. Newbould off to the Tegt for fly-fishing week-ends. Only dry fly-fisher in the film trade.

Charles Cochran elected president of Actors Benevolent Fund in place of Sir Gerald du Maurier.

Francis Coslow here to write a film musical for Gaumont-British, with Jimmy Campbell having fixed deal.

Paddy Carstairs giving a housewarming party, and pulling practically the entire American contingent.

Ambassadeurs restaurant, Paris, wants Adelaide Seamon (Forsythe, Seamon and Farrell) for its cabaret show.

Roy Fox vacating Cafe de Paris May 19 to take up vaudeville in the provinces for General Theatres Corp.

William Mollison back from New York, and will do a couple of American shows, including 'The Man at the Zoo.'

Eric Maschwitz, of British Broadcasting Corp., back from a talent hunt in the provinces. Very few catches.

Kimberley and Page unit starting on five weeks' provincial tour; now considered quite a route here these days.

Sydney Fairbrother replaced Mary Brough at the Aldwych in 'Indoor Fireworks,' April 30, owing to latter's illness.

'Jack and Jill,' musical now touring, likely to be presented by John Southern, either at the Garrick or Victoria Palace.

London Pavilion opens Sept. 15 under United Artists regime, with 'Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back' as opening feature.

Marion Lorne will take extended vacation on closing of 'Afterwards' at the Whitehall May 12. Show has been on six months.

Claiming to be oldest department store in world, Whiteley's (now under control of Selfridge's) celebrating 71st birthday.

Gertie Lawrence, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and James Laver discussing final touches of their new play at Mapleton House.

Charles Cochran's new revue will be titled 'Stream Line,' with Palace as likely house. Tom Webster doing some sketches for revue.

Ed Cahn here from Hollywood, with several producing firms making offers for his services, but holding out for biggest dough.

Leni Riefenstahl, German film actress, known as Hitler's only woman friend, here lecturing on film technique at the Universities.

Max and Harry Nesbitt admit that Michael Carr is co-author of 'Mademoiselle' and 'Without That Certain Thing' to avoid legal action.

Eddie Fields staging comeback as blackface combo, assisted by Sammy Wilson. Billed as 'Two Black Knights,' America's Greatest Radio Stars.'

Paris

By Bob Stern

Sophie Tucker arriving.

Eddie Lewis to America.

Ghezi Bros. playing the Medrano.

Irvin Marks in London for a week.

Michael Farmer ducking over to London.

Bo Dowling here from London, at George V.

Harold Boyd and 3 Jigsaws playing Rex.

Hal Young sailing to open in New York May 11.

Gelett Burgess lecturing on how to write 'em.

Ernest Bloch here from U. S. boosting radio.

Jim Witteried splitting with Harry Leasim.

Dubbing of Parade' (WB) has begun.

Oertlandt Bishop expected soon, after motor trip to Italy.

Pitoeff reviving Ibsen's 'Wild Duck' at Vieux Colombier.

Gertrude Hoffman looking for French girls to join her troupe.

Bourdet's 'Temps Difficiles' still playing to capacity at Michodiere.

Ambassadeurs holding lapdog contest Friday (25) as press stunt.

'Unfinished Symphony' hitting seventh month at Studio de l'Etoile.

Andre Maurois citing U's 'Back Street' as proof that cinema is an art.

Sacha Guitry buying Napoleon's portfolio at Hotel Drouot auction sale.

Abel Gance finishing 'Poliche,' film, with Marie Bell and Constant Remy.

Local society turning out for opening of 'Nana' (UA) at Lord Byron.

Sculpture of dancers being shown by Archives Internationale de la Danse.

'Phantom President' (Par) still kicking around town. At the Artistic now.

Film version of 'Banque Nemo,' Louis Verneuil comedy, opening in Brussels.

Barbara Newberry dancing at Ritz gala, where Willie Lewis' orchestra plays.

Mary McCormic booked for a recital at Champs Elysees theatre Wednesday (9).

Georgia Graves doing her balloon dance at Saisons de Paris gala at Bagdad, nitery.

Leon Volterra's horses cleaning up $35,000 in prizes in one week at local tracks.

Jack Payne broadcasting number by Vincent Scotto, French composer, for first time.

Henry Bernstein's 'Assault' opening Tuesday (8) at Gymnase. Victor Francen in lead.

Capucines signing for a revue by Leon Daudet, royalist son of Alphonse, for next year.

'Wonder Bar' (WB) getting a big hand at opening Wednesday (2) at George Hirch's Apollo.

Lily Pons, who is relatively unknown in her native land, doing well in a Paris concert.

Jenny Dolly fighting French government suit for $35,000 tax on her $1,500,000 diamond ring.

Hoffman girls debutting as circus performers in Racing Gals benefit at Cirque d'Hiver, Saturday (5).

Andre Gide writing a ballet for Ida Rubinstein's season at the Opera, with music by Stravinsky.

Christiane and Duroy, back after a world tour, soon to hit the road again, this time with Marie Dubas.

Bob Murphy and son Dick putting on a show with Ralph Barton at Harry's Bar before sailing for home.

Francois Perans, stage manager of Gaite-Lyrique, winning 200-franc prize in 10th slice of French National Lottery.

Franz Lehar, passing through Paris, seeing 650th performance of this 'Land of Smiles,' operetta at Gaite Lyrique.

Max Schmeling studying statues of Greek boxers in Louvre as he passes through with Anny Ondra on way to Barcelona.

Traveling Institute of Wine and Gastronomy taking groups of Americans around France for laboratory course in wine tasting.

Vienna

By Erich Glass

Essad Bey in and out of city.

Josef Schmidt recovering from ear trouble.

Festival concert in honor of Strauss' birthday.

Leo Seidl eager to star Leo Fall's 'Empress' in London.

Charles Bennett's 'Big Business' doing big biz in Poland.

Stephan Wagner to go into management of Burger theater.

Anton Webern conducting a special radio concert for London.

Playwright Rudolf Heinz receiving Writers' Union prize of 1933.

Bronislav Hubermann starting to teach at Stakes Academy in May.

Monument to be erected in honor of late comedienne Hansi Niese.

Talk of J. B. Priestley's 'Laburnum Grove' for both here and Berlin.

Xenia, Field of London dramatizing Arthur Schnitzler's short story 'Dawn Break'.

Drastic cuts for admission at Reinhardt's, with tickets ranging from 20c to $2.

Salzburg Marionette's Theatre to go on tour to Istanbul, Athens, Beograd and Zagreb.

Marylebone Players giving one night performance of Shakespeare's 'As You Like It'.

New theatre in Oslo contracting W. O. Sormin's two character drama 'Assassination'.

Managers' Union negotiating to cut tax for private theatres during spring and summer season.

Radio City offering contract to Erwin Straus, who is the composer son of composer-daddy Oscar.

John Van Druten's 'There's Always Juliet' under contract at the Renaissance theater in Berlin.

Dark Volksoper attracting attention of Lustig-Prean, who is now manager at Bern, Switzerland.

Leon Gerstel, exiled from Germany, tripping from here to London in hope of getting big parts there.

Eva Hadrabova recovering from pneumonia, reappearing at the State Opera as Gulietta in 'Tales of Hoffman'.

Ballet mistress Margarete Wallman to London to rehearse dances in 'Schwanda' and 'Arabella' at Covent Garden.

Jarmilla Novotna now filming in London and studying 'Manon' for purpose of co-starring with Gigli in Massenet's opera.

Lothar Wallerstein, now at Venice, directing the Viennese Opera at the Teatro Fenice, sailing from there to South America.

Gregor Fitelberg coming from Bucharest to introduce and conduct prominent Polish works as he did also in the Rumanian capital.

This year's Mephistofeles at the Salzburg festival production of Goethe's 'Faust' will be played by Raoul Aslan in lieu of Pallenberg.

Lee Shubert among others nibbling for Broadway rights of 'Business with Royalty,' adapted from the Viennese by Anthony Armstrong.

Italian Government aiding current negotiations of local State Opera to produce 'Cosi Fan Tutte' and 'The Woman Without a Shadow' at La Fenice theater in Venice.

Franz Ulbrich, manager of the Berlin Schauspielhaus, on official mission in Vienna to study local theatre. From here plans to visit Rome, Paris and London.

Mussolini's twenty-four-year old nephew, Vito Mussolini, who is editor-in-chief of 'Popolo d'Italia' for a few days stay in Vienna on a motor sight-seeing tour through Europe.

Burg Theatre invited to play at Rome, Milan, Budapest and Zurich, with Mussolini-Forzano's 'Campo di Maggio,' in Italy, Madach's 'Tragedy of Man,' in Hungary and Schell's 'Forest Man' in Switzerland.

Hollywood

Ben Holzman due in May 19.

Jean Hersholt on N. Y. vacash.

Sam Briskin on biz in Vancouver.

Edith Van Cleve summering here.

Fay Wray's homing pigeon won a cup.

Kathryn Scola on six weeks' cash.

Charles Butterworth sinus.

Solly Violinsky's club, the Players, opens.

Dick Powell bothered with sinus trouble.

Henry King home from Panama via plane.

Gertrude Michael recovering from bronchitis.

Victor Milner yachting in the South Seas.

W. S. Van Dyke recently finished his 70th pic.

Frank Ramsey is going to Tahi next month.

Andy Hervey home under a physician's optic.

Clark Gable fishing again at Pyramid Lake, Nev.

Al Jolson broke a finger playing beach baseball.

Jeanette Rex now assistant to Lon Young at Mascot.

Larry Weingarten looking over the shows in New York.

Rita Kaufman free lancing fashions on quitting Fox.

(Continued on page 70)

OBITUARIES

DAN ASTELLA

DeLos Asprill (Dan Astella), 48, died at the General hospital Saranac Lake, May 4, after a fourth intestinal operation. He had been an N.V.A. patient for the past two years.

In vaudeville he was with the Astella's, a well-known acrobatic troupe, and for years was connected with the tab musical comedy field, touring the Southern States.

A daughter, son and sister survive. Interment Saranac.

LENORE DE LARSH

Lenore De Larsh, of the one-time sister team of Lenore and Vivian, died in Minneapolis May 4. She has been engaged out of the profession for several years. She was well known in dramatic stock and repertoire. She is survived by two brothers, James and Alford; Mrs. Julia Swarthout of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Vivian Bulmer of Minneapolis.

THEODORE P. ZADRA

Theodore P. Zadra, president of the International Amusement Co., died at his home in Denver May 10. Zadra was also a mining operator. Death was caused by pneumonia. Survived by his wife, five children and a brother and sister.

Zadra's company owns the Ogden and Hiawatha, Denver, and the Liberty Bell, Leadville.

CRISS WILLIAMS

Criss Williams, 64, burlesque actor and manager, died of kidney trouble May 12 at Manhattan General hospital, New York.

Williams was a Mutual and Columbia wheel franchise holder for years, producing and managing his own shows and also playing in them. Widow survives.

DOROTHY HARVARD

Dorothy Harvard, 22, died at the N.V.A. lodge, Saranac Lake, May 11, after an illness of five years. She was in 'Lovely Lady' and 'Broadway Ramblers' companies. At the time of her breakdown she was in vaudeville with Blake and Howard act. Survived by a father, mother and sister. Interment in New York.

PHILIP BRAHAM

Philip Braham, 52, composer of light music, died of heart failure at his London flat, May 2. Had acted as musical director, and composed many of the early Andre Charlot revues. His latest work was theme songs for films, two of which he left unfinished. Survived by widow and young daughter.

MRS. JACK DUNCANSON

Mrs. Jack Duncanson, 63, chairman of Los Angeles Philharmonic women's committee, died at her home in San Diego May 7 after a 13-day illness. For 11 years she provided San Diego with L. A. Philharmonic orchestra concerts, aided deserving musicians. Survived by her widower, two cousins.

GORDON HOEYE

Gordon Hoeye, 43, veteran coast film salesman, died May 6 in Denver, of pneumonia. Deceased for years was with the Pathe and FBO sales forces, and at one time operated a picture house in Wilmington, Cal. For a number of years he made his home in Los Angeles.

No immediate survivers.

BERTRAM H. CURRIER

Bertram H. Currier, 59, musician and composer, died at his home, Newton, Mass, May 9. He was a member of the first orchestra of the Boston Opera Co. and played with the People's Symphony Orchestra.

His widow, three sons and two daughters survive.

ALFRED ALDRIDGE

Alfred Aldridge, 58, Shakespearean actor, died in Hollywood, May 4. He was born in New Orleans and toured with Frederick Ward, Julia Marlowe and William Thorton. He also played picture bits.

Survived by a cousin and an aunt.

KATHLEEN GILISKA

Kathleen Marian Piper, known professionally as Kathleen Giliska, died in Halifax, N. S., recently, after a long illness. She was a professional stage dancer, and later a dancing instructress at Halifax. Interment in Halifax. She was unmarried.

IGRUM SALVASON

Sigrum Salvason, 25, who doubled for Greta Garbo under the name of Rae Randall, committed suicide in Hollywood, May 7.

She played bits in several pix. Her husband survives.

MRS. SARAH ROBINSON-DUFF

Mrs. Sarah Robinson-Duff, famous singing teacher, died in New York May 11 after a long illness. She counted among her pupils Mary Garden, Nora Bayes, Freda Hempel and Mary McCormic. Surviving are a daughter and two sons.

TOM QUEEN

Tom Queen, 73, veteran of the minstrel days, died in Glendale, Cal., May 11, following a performance for the American Legion.

He is survived by an invalid brother.

CARR LYNN

Carr Lynn, 49, animal mimic on vaudeville stage, died in London April 20. He had been ill for some time, following an operation.

Mother of late Henry White 3d, playwright, known professionally as Roland Oliver, died at her home here May 11.

Michael Duffy, 7-month-old child of Al Duffy, Boston publicity director for the Shuberts, died last week of pneumonia. Mrs. Duffy was Beth Stuart of the stage.

Father, 75, of Joe Cornbleth, vaude booking agent, died at his home in Los Angeles, May 5, following a lingering illness.

Frank R. Macauley, Santa Cruz exhibitor, died of heart trouble May 14, aged 54.

New Business

(Continued from page 56)

26 announcements on Luncheon Melodies, KLZ.

Denver Buick Co., seven announcements daily, indefinite, KFEL.

Denver Buick Co., seven one-min. spot announcements, KOA.

Dupler Furs, 21 preferred evening announcements, KLZ.

Dodge Motor Co., six one-min. spots, KLZ.

Shell Oil, 100 announcements, KLZ.

Lewis Medical Co., 'Tums,' 26 announcements, KLZ.

Buick Motors Co., 26 announcements, KLZ.

Ford Motor Co., 26 announcements, KLZ.

Pontius Shoe Co., 13 announcements, KLZ.

Waltere Beer, three 15-mi programs, KLZ.

DUBUQUE, IOWA

Lorenz Laundry, quarter hour daily for 26 weeks, with Lorenz Laundrymen and tenor. WKBB.

Trenkle & Co., three fifteen-minute periods weekly for 26 weeks, using 'Organ Melodies.' WKBB.

Rosheks Department Store, two quarter hours daily, one at noon, the other evening, for 52 weeks using news flashes. WKBB.

Hartman'c Furniture Store, daily ten-minute period for 13 weeks with 'The Inquiring Reporter.' WKBB.

Kelly Springfield Tires, quarter hour daily for 26 weeks presenting 'Band of the Week.' WKBB.

Skelly Oil Company, quarter hour nightly except Saturday and Sunday with transcription series 'Jimmie Allen, for 13 weeks. WKBB.

Star Brewing Company, quarter hour nightly for 26 weeks. Sports Review. WKBB.

Kraft's Clothing Store, one fifteen-minute period weekly using 'The Mississippi Male Singers' for 13 weeks. WKBB.

Dubuque Safety Deposit Company, two announcements, one day, one night, daily for 52 weeks. WKBB.

Key City Gas Co., one announcement daily for 13 weeks. 'Mail Bag Hour.' WKBB.

NASHVILLE

Armand Company, begin Monday May 21 for 13 times. Electrical transcriptions. Placed by N. W. Ayer & Son, Inc.

Buick Motor Company, May 7, through May 11, 6 each day—30 word announcements—Campbell-Ewald Co.

News of the Dailies

(Continued from page 68)

cameraman. Escaped with $1,500 in rugs and clothing.

Superior Judge McComb, Los Angeles, approved contract between Metro, Wanda Perry and William Henry.

Pauline Frederick spent 12 hours in Los Angeles, coming out from New York to testify in her bankruptcy suit held for the purpose of discharging her of liabilities.

Ruling that a husband who obtains a divorce need not pay alimony, Superior Judge Valentine, Los Angeles, refused to order C. M. Caskey to pay his former wife, Connie, actress, $300 awarded her at the time of the decree.

Betty McMahon, picture extra, has filed suit for divorce in L. A. from F. C. Stevens, Beverly Hills broker.

Superior Judge Pacht, L. A., has granted a non-suit in the $25,000 heart balm action of Earl W. Estes, musician, against James and Jennie Vance and William Coffee.

Margherita Sarfatti, Italian authoress, has left for New York, after visiting Los Angeles.

Emmett Flynn, 42, former director and film writer, sentenced some time ago to San Quentin on a charge of escaping from Riverside, Calif., jail, has applied to Gov. Rolph for a full pardon.

John Cromwell and Kay Johnson have been relieved of payment of $1,850 in fees to an architect for designing their ranch house by a L.A. judge.

Retrial of Princes David and Serge Mdivani, on theft charges growing out of their promotion of the Pacific Oil Co., postponed until June 25.

Mrs. Helen Cooke has filed suit in L. A. against Mrs. DeEtta DeGroff for $100,000 damages, charging she posed as her husband's wife.

State Supreme Court, Chihuahua, Mex., has issued a statement upholding its much-discussed divorce law.

Lewis Borzage and his wife are seeking $2500 damages in the L. A. Superior Court from Florence Carlson for injuries in an auto accident.

Emerald Littlefield, radio entertainer, granted permission in L. A. to apply for probation on conviction of attacking a woman.

Five years ago Frances Hamilton, daughter of a then millionaire lumberman was a deb. She was offered $350 a week at Paramount, but spurned the offer for marriage. The marriage failed and now she is an extra to aid in paying off a $36,000 mortgage on her parent's $125,000 home in Pasadena.

Amalie Baruch, niece of Bernard Baruch, is in Hollywood arranging screen tests. Her father, H. N. Baruch, was an actor at one time. She recently was divorced from Perry B. Frank, banker.

Jean Harlow announces she intends to sue Hal Rosson, cameraman, her third hubby, for a divorce.

Aida Polo Hopper, dancer and niece of Eddie Polo, divorced in Los Angeles from John Hopper.

Warren Williams has purchased an estate at Encino, Cal. Gary Cooper, E. E. Horton, Ann Nichols and Frances Lederer as neighbors.

Bob Robinson, 40, former actor, stabbed several times during an altercation in Hollywood.

Valley of the Moon, near San Francisco, written of by Jack London, will become a dude ranch.

Conway Tearle must appear in San Francisco May 15 to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court for not paying alimony to the estate of his deceased wife.

Three household workers have filed suit for $729 in Los Angeles against Evelyn Brent and her husband Harry D. Edwards.

Legislation to combat unethical radio advertising, by what are described as 'medical fakers', urged by the Calif. State board of Medical Examiners in a report to Gov. Rolph.

Francis X. Bushman and Owen Atkin, a West Los Angeles inventor, have announced completion of a device worked by the trigger of a revolver which photos a bullet fired from the gun.

Byron Gay, song writer, who hopped with Admiral Byrd to Little America, has returned to Hollywood.

Elsa Luhmann, 21, German actress, has arrived in Hollywood.

Leon Beaumon, film extra, was served with legal papers in a suit for $250,000 in Hollywood. Beaumon is an inventor-engineer and has several patents netting him $15,000 yearly, according to the plaintiff, and it is on one of these that he is being sued for infringement.

Virginia Ruth Roberts, actress, divorced in Los Angeles, from Orrin W. Roberts, picture technician.

H. H. Van Loan appeared in Los Angeles Superior Court and announced he would pay $250 back alimony as quickly as he receives a check for collaborating on a New York play to be produced in the fall.

Mrs. Daisy Canfield Chapman, daughter of the late Mrs. Antonio Moreno, and Harry Fickelsen, both of Los Angeles, married May 2.

CHATTER

(Continued from page 69)

Jean Harlow and her mother hopping to Honolulu soon.

Carl Laemmle, Sr., missed his first Kentucky Derby in years.

Joe E. Brown cabling from Hongkong he'll return in a month.

Maurice Kosloff sole operator of the Shelton & Edmunds Agency.

Diana Wynward will spend the three summer months in England.

If Wini Shaw's good in a Warner short she goes into 'Sweet Adeline.'

Estelle Clark given a party on a Honolulu-bound boat by Leo Robin.

Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler are slipping away via the canal May 18.

Andy Levine 'King of the Ball' at the Little Rock, Ark., cotton festival.

Bing Crosby bought an interest in Freddie Steele, Tacoma fighter, for $7,500.

Suzuki Demi, Jap actor, will come to Warners if Mervyn Le Roy has his say.

Sally O'Neill is being sued for $653 rent, etc., by Hotel Park Central, N. Y.

Mozelle Brittone will be in Alan Dinehart's (her hubby) play, 'Alley Cat,' in N. Y.

Rebecca and Silton are suing Marian Nixon for $393 commish on an RKO job.

Joan Blondell and George Barnes expect to join Norman Foster in Tahiti in July.

Ethel Borden, from legit, and Mercedes De Acota new scribblers on the Metro staff.

Ross and Stewart, King's club chanters, doing ditties in 'Stamboul Quest' at Metro.

Herbert Marshall, Hugh Williams and Henry Stephenson have reniged on European treks.

Jack Haley is jumping to his shack on Lake Mahopac, N. Y., on completion of pic work.

Meta Carpenter quits Wm. Perlberg and joins Irving Starr with Edward Small productions.

NVA shuttering office. No funds. Harry English, in charge, and Mrs. English vacationing in Boston.

Julius S. Fisher, p.a. for Amalgamated Theatres in Singapore, and brother of Joe Fisher, ogling studios.

Patsy Kelly suffered contusions about the feet in making a Roach picture, but continued work after medic probing.

Ramon Novarro, on a concert tour in South America, learns that Metro takes up its option on his services starting in October.

Municipal court Judge Blake, friend of show folks, has two beds set aside at the County hospital for people of the profesh.

Alleging plagiarism of her story, 'An Exiled God,' Claire Evans Donahue has brought suit for $50,000 damages against Par.

Mona Maris and Anita Campillo entrained for N. Y. for the Hecht-MacArthur picture, 'Crime Without Passion,' filming in Astoria.

E. Bruce Johnson has become associated with Sam Berkowitz and Mel Huling in Majestic-Far West Exchanges, and will run the 'Frisco office.

Sultan and Sultana of Johore, who are visiting here, were dinner guests of J. J. Murdock along with Frank Buck. Following the dinner, the Indian royalty viewed Buck's 'Wild Cargo' film in which the Sultan is picturized.

Mexico City

By D. L. Grahame

Very warm. Drinkeries report unprecedented demand for cocktails.

Government advising Mexican laborers not to go to the U. S. A., explaining that jobs are scarce there.

Chihuahua state government has drafted a law forbidding its divorce lawyers from advertising in American newspapers.

John Barrymore, his wife, Dolores Costello, and their children, visited Guaymas on their yacht. Second trip since Easter.

Twenty eight hundred divorces were granted, mostly Americans, by civil courts of Ciudad Juarez, across from El Paso, Tex., during the past 19 months.

Frank Beas, owner of the Beas Model Circus, robbed of a valuable gold watch presented by a fond municipality, while counting the house during a show at Guaymas, a Sonora state port.

Foreign Club, backed by an American-Mexican syndicate, costing $600,000, a luxury spot featuring gaming halls, completed in a local suburb and to be inaugurated soon. First club of the kind to be opened here in years.

Barcelona

By Lawrence A. Farnsworth

Juan de Landa's picture, 'Dale de Betun' ('More Shoe Polish'), will soon be released here.

'Queen Christina of Sweden' entering its fourth week at the Urquinaona and still going strong.

Hungarian artist, Helena Banhidy, has been contracted for the new Spanish picture 'Que te Quieres Apostar.'

Actualidades, newsreel picture house, finishing third week of special Mickey Mouse programs. Only Disney creations used on hour's program.

Etienne Pallos, director of London Flims, spent several days in Barcelona last week. While here he was the guest of Associated Artists at a luncheon at the Ritz.

'Dos Mujeres y un Don Juan' ('Two Women and One Don Juan'), new national production, will be released in Barcelona next week. Distributed by Cinnamond Flims.

National production in full swing. Seville all hot and bothered over the opening of new studios there. One picture now being filmed. At the Orphea two pictures are nearing completion.

Vilches, one of Spain's most popular actors, had to retire from a performance of 'Jabail' during the second act because he completely lost his voice. Actor is now resting and has greatly improved.

Anny Ondra and her husband, Max Scheiming, returned to Barcelona from Paris. They stopped just long enough to call on the President before leaving for Sitges, where Scheiming has his training camp.

First film to be finished in the new studios of C. E. A. in Ciudad Lineal, has just been released. It is titled 'Agua en el Suelo' ('Water on the Floor'). Opening was at the Coloseum in Barcelona and picture is now finishing its first week's run to good business.

Salvador Gervas, impresario of the Olympia Circus, was killed in a motor accident in Barcelona. He was riding in the car of Rafael Belda, member of the Human Eagles, troupe who were playing the circus at the time of the accident. Belda escaped serious injury.

Sydney

By Eric Gorrick

Dance season starts.

Sir Ben Fuller to London in May. Joe Joel handling Columbia exploitation here.

Par tickled over the big success of 'Alice in Wonderland' here.

F. W. Thring will produce 'The Beloved Vagabond' in Melbourne next week.

Everybody agreed past Lenten was the best ever experienced in Sydney since back in 1927.

'I Was a Spy' (G-B) has turned out the biggest hit scored by a British picture in Australia.

'Viennese Nights,' after a good return season in Sydney, will again be screened in Melbourne for a run try.

Charles Munro, co-director of G. T., still sticking to vaude acts at the Regent, Sydney. Latest importation is Al Priora.

'White Horse Inn' predicted to chalk up the biggest success yet scored by W-T. Seats are selling two weeks in advance.

Joe McCurdy successful in getting ace Columbia product into the G. T. circuit. Will preview 'It Happened One Night' for the trade.

Film probe thing is still continuing, but its mostly chatter by the lawyers now. Will be some weeks before a decision is handed down.

Metro is all set to open its new Melbourne theatre. Recently advertised for girl ushers for the theatre and hundreds rushed to grab the jobs.

It was thought by some that 'I'm No Angel' would only stay around two weeks at Prince Edward, Sydney. But that West personality has fooled them all. Picture is in 6th week and will stick longer.

DOROTHEA ANTEL
220 W. 72d St., New York City
My New Assortment of GREETING CARDS Is Now Ready. 21 Beautiful CARDS and FOLDERS. Boxed. Postpaid, for
One Dollar

I. MILLER
INSTITUTION de INTERNATIONALE
Shoes for the Stage and Street
SHOWFOLK'S SHOESHOP—1552 BROADWAY

Restaurants, Foreign Villages Top Concessions Set for 1934 Chi Fair

Chicago, May 14.

Concessions are practically set for the new World's Fair. Two types of concessions show a decided increase—foreign villages and eat-

Restaurants couldn't handle the mobs last year. Villages coined money last year, but may be due to the small number of such attractions. This year may be tougher as competition grows. Good proportion of the concessions this year are holdovers from 1933.

Following is a 'list of aires for 1934, the list being as of April 23. Information conveys the name of the concession, the type of concession and the man who serves as the contact for the spot.

American Badge Co., store for novelties, Frank Smith.,

Armour & Co., special structure exhibit and sales, Mr. Russell.

Art Metal Works, Inc., sale of products, Mr. Gear.

Banks, Heyman & Rothstein, Cafe du Gourmet, Wm. Rothstein.

D. G. Barton, Adventureland, D. G. Barton.

Belgique Pittoresque, Inc., Gian Village, George Rolfe.

Joseph Beuttas, Colonial Village, Joseph Beuttas.

Joseph Beuttas, production, Joseph Beuttas.

R. V. Blanchard, children's magazines and books, R. V. Blanchard.

Borden Farm Products Co., ilk stands, W. F. Kettell.

Brookhill Labs., Inc., luncheonette, Russell Gage.

Admiral Richard E. Byrd, 'City of New York,' Col. L. McDonald.

California Prune and Apricot Grocers' Association, dried fruits and prune juice, Lou Buckeley.

Carlson Amusement Enterprises, Inc., 'Buck Rogers,' John Dille.

Casino de Alex, Inc., Casino de Alex, A. D. Berkey.

Century Homes, Inc., House of Tomorrow, George F. Keck.

Century Water Co., drinking water, I. D. Groak.

Chicago Concessions Co., carbonated drinks, C. B. King.

Chicago Steamer Lines, steamship transportation, W. K. Greenbaum.

Citrus Fruit Juice Co., still drinks, W. B. Wiken.

C. L. & M. Co., silverware and jewelry, Martin Lenz.

Contal bakery goods, E. Campbell.

Continental Concession Co., Lincoln group and Rutledge Tavern, R. Bonnell, Jr.

Continental Concession Co., Solomon's Temple, R. Bonnell, Jr.

Continental Concession Co., beach house, R. Bonnell, Jr.

Continental Conce nite club 'Mexico,' Abe Raymor.

J. F. Cornelius, penny stamping machines, J. F. Cornelius.

Crown Food Co., ice cream, E. L. Morris.

Crown Food Co., sandwich stands, E. L. Morris.

Crown Food Co., seven restaurants, E. L. Morris.

Czecho - Slovak - American Chamber of Commerce, sale of merchandise, John Sokol.

Czecho - Slovak - American Chamber of Commerce, restaurant, John Sokol.

Daggett Roller Chair Co., roller chairs and rickshas, Whitney Elias.

Walker I. Dickerson Co., footwear, R. M. Vosburgh.

Doodlebug, Inc., restaurant, Earle Morris.

Doughnut Machine Corp., Mayflower doughnut, B. L. Marsh.

Dufour & Rogers, 'Hawaii' (nite club), Law Dufour.

Dufour & Rogers, 'Life' (show), Joe Rogers.

Durkee Famous Foods, Inc., Durkee Products, J. Albert Califf, Jr.

Clemmensen & Roefie, Edwards' Rancho, W. F. Clemmensen.

Eitel, Inc., 'Rotisserie,' Robert J. Eitel.

Espana Touristic, Inc., Spanish Village, N. Arias.

Espana Touristic, Spanish restaurant, N. Arias.

Fred Evans, popcorn and caramel corn, Fred Evans.

R. B. Fageol, miniature railroad, R. B. Fageol.

Flying Turns Operating Co., ride, H. Edsall Olson.

Attilio Forte, conical slide, Attilio Forte.

Paul F. Gaus, Swanee River Boys, Paul F. Gaus.

General cigar store, S. Adair.

Murray Goldberg, gue weight scales, Murray Goldberg.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., dirigibles, K. I. Fickes.

Greyhound Corp., bus transportation, R. A. Bogan.

Gray Line Sight-Seeing Co., sight-seeing tours, Harry Dooley.

H. & K. Enterprises, ,, auto skooter, Roy E. Tullgren.

H. & K. Enterprises, auto ride, Roy E. Tullgren.

H. & K. Enterprises, Inc., ride, Roy E. Tullgren.

Luther Harmon, headlight proving appliance, Luther Harmon.

Harvey, Inc., Toy Town Tavern, D. C. Plummer.

Chr. Hanson's Laboratory, Inc., sale of junket, Karl J. Monrad.

Hoffman & Lockwood, 'Puzzlecraft,' Carl Hoffman.

House of David, sale of manufactured products, H. T. Dewhirst.

Illinois Bell Telephone Co., public telephones, A. D. Swanson.

Illinois Hollywood Corp., 'Hollywood,' J. S. Markstein.

Illinois Hollywood Corp., 'Mexican Village,' J. S. Markstein.

Harry A. Illions, Hey Dey and Lindy Loop, Harry A. Illions.

Infant Incubator Co., infant incubator, Dr. Martin Cooney.

International Oddities, Inc., Ripley's, John E. Cornell.

Irish Village Corp., Irish Village, W. E. Ray.

Italian Village Corp., Italian Village, Thomas White.

Kamin, Herbert, 'Catapult,' Miss F. Shapiro.

Kamin, Herbert, 'The World Beneath,' Miss F. Shapiro.

Kaufmann & Fabry, photographer, Herman Fabry.

George Fred Keck, modern house, George Fred Keck.

E. Bernard Ki 'Streets of Shanghai,' K. Bernard Kim.

La Suisse Pittoresque, Village, Georg Potte.

A. C. Lawrence Leather Co., stuffed animals (Enchanted Island), E. L. Morris.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, tomato and pineapple juice stands, F. P. Slivon.

Lion Motor Drome, Inc., motordrome, T. A. Loveland.

T. A. Loveland, auto skooter, T. A. Loveland.

T. A. Loveland, House ystery, T. A. Loveland.

T. A. Loveland, draft root beer and pies, T. A. Loveland.

T. A. Loveland, ,

T. A. Loveland.

T. A. Loveland, Loveland.

T. A. Loveland, carrousel, Loveland.

T. A. Loveland, zoological garden, T. A. Loveland.

Henry C. Lytton Sons, ,

Ernest Gluck.

Marohand & Calas, Television show, Henri Marchand.

Match King, Inc., articles, Mr. Lee.

Mesemore & Damon, trip down Lost River, Mesemore.

Midget Village, Inc., Midget Village, Stanley Graham.

Royal R. Miller, gravity coaster, Royal R. Miller.

Lucy Morgan, Carolina cabin, Lucy Morgan.

Charl Charles Muller.

Charles Muller, Cafe, Charles Muller.

Barney Nathan, store for sale of baby clothes, Barney Nathan.

Barney Nathan, store for sale of baby clothes (Enchanted Island), Barney Nathan.

J. Gilbert Noon, shooting gallery, J. Gilbert Noon.

R. H. Norton, maple products.

Oasis Co., Mediterranean Village, Felix Strykmans.

O'Connells, Inc., restaurant, 'Connell.

T. Ohta, Japanese merchandise, T. Ohta.

Old England, Ltd., English Village, Ed. Vogelback.

Old Heidelberg Corp., eidelberg, Robert J. Eitel.

H. Edsall Olson, Hum All Instruments, H. Edsall Olson.

Pal Waukee Airport, Inc., airport, Owen Jones.

Parkwood Trading Corp., Pantheon de le Guerre, Mr. Chadwick.

Patent Exhibits, Inc., exhibit of patents, copyrights, etc., Lawson Jaffe.

Peck-Hafeyette Shop, dolls and doll accessories, Mrs. Rene Lavenant.

Person Exhibitors' Co., exhibit of malt beverage products—restaurant and dancing, George H. Grear.

Polly Grills, Inc., tea rooms, A. Friedman.

P. R. Enterprises, Inc., Idway Beach restaurant, Jos. Fagano.

Quaker Oats Amusement Corp., lagoon transportation, Harry Rice.

Quaker Oats Co., Aunt Jemi ,

M. S. Slive.

R. & B. Amusement Co., cyclone coaster, Harry Rice.

Reed Steel & Mfg. Co., coaster wagons, E. M. Wallgren.

Rankin Roberts, pony ride, Rankin Roberts.

Rosenthal, Cornell & Dwyer, casino, J. S. Markstein.

H. H. Shuart, outdoor : H. Shuart.

Simon, Leo, voice recording, Leo Simon.

Simons, H. D., metal and leather novelties, H. D. Simons.

Simpson's Flower Shop, florist, G. S. LeMar.

Sinai Kosher Sausage Factory, Kosher sandwich stands, Jack Levin.

R. J. Sipchen Amusement Corp., lack Forest Village, R. J. Sipchen.

Mrs. Snyder's Home-Made Candies, store, Mrs. Ora Snyder.

Sterling, Edw. J., Gift Shop of the World, Edw. J. Steinberg.

Sticha & Svator, Hungarian goods, Rudolph Sticha.

Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulture, garden and flower show, John Servas.

Carl Stockholm, barber shop, Carl Stockholm.

1934 Streets of Paris, Inc., treets of Paris, John C. McMahon.

Swedish Produce Co., Mr. Friedlander.

Swift & Co., 23d Street project, L. Morris.

John R. Thompson Co., restaurants at Grandstand, John R. Thompson.

Mrs. James Ward Thorne, imiature rooms, Mrs. James W. Thorne.

Hazel M. Thorud, Miller High Life, Bert Thorud.

Toffenetti Restaurant Co., Triangle Restaurant, D. L. Toffenetti.

Touristic North Africa, Tunisian Village, Rene Bouary.

E. E. Truscott, Drive Yourself boats, E. E. Truscott.

Paul Turner, World's Fair Pocketbook Shop, Paul Turner.

Victor Unterreiner, store — Hungarian goods, Victor Unterreiner.

Victor Vienna Garden Cafe, Inc., Victor Vienna Cafe, Victor Deisenhofer.

Walgreen Co., stores and luncheonettes, Mr. Bowes.

Mrs. Wenger, cotton candy (Enchanted Island), Max Wenger.

Wilson & Co., food stands, Wm. Grove.

Wilson & Co., sale of products, Wm. Grove.

Winston Corp., auto track, Charles S. Winston.

Woodlawn Service Co., souvenir stands, Fred Becker.

MIX GOES OVER

Oklahoma City, May 14.

On agreement between the state and defense council, an old 'horse embezzlement' case against Tom Mix, one-time cowboy on the 101 Ranch near Newkirk, Okla. was postponed in district court Saturday until May 25.

SHIFTING

Fort Wayne, May 14.

George Trier has closed his Minuet hall downtown and is now getting Trier's Amusement park on west side of city in shape for opening Decoration Day.

DILL-MIX CIRCUS

Wooster, O., May 11.

Sam B. Dill-Tom Mix Roundup, which launched its 1934 season at Hot Springs, Ark., only two weeks ago is already in Ohio and is heading east at a rapid pace to make its regular territory ahead of the railroad shows. Tom Mix, film star, is being given top billing over the Dill title. Show this season is considerably enlarged, due to the presence of Mix's own fleet of trucks. Outfit is completely motorized, moving on about 50 trucks, 38 trailers, 26 house cars and 16 private cars. A very elaborate and modern living car for Mix was delivered to the show recently at Memphis. All equipment is newly painted, interior of the tents spick and span and props are on par with the larger shows. New big top is 120 round with three 40's. The menagerie, also new, is a 90 with three 30's. The kid show also is new and larger than last season. Dill, as usual, looks after the front end and Mr. Mix has complete charge of the performance, with his old side kick, John Agee, as equestrian director.

Program opens with the customary pageant, headed by Mix and Tony, band cowgirls, stage coach, clowns and performers on foot, with Mix in center ring during the progress of the procession. Show runs: Mrs. Helen Ford, dogs and monkeys; Roy Hilbert, dogs, tight rope and high jump; Mrs. Hilbert, dogs, monkeys, wire swinging ladders. (2); Arbaugh troupe, three people, acrobats; Jordan troupe, seven people, high ladder, pyramids; Bell Bros. and Wanda, acrobats; clowns first appearance. (3), Hobson family, Homer, Herbert and Juanita, principal riding act. (4), Mrs. Joy Myers, Ethel Harris, single trapeze and muscle grinds; funny Ford on track; Herbert Beeson on the wire. (5), Roy Hilbert, ponies; Mrs. Hilbert, elephant; Mrs. Ford, ponies; clowns, baseball. (6), Walter Jennier, with "Buddy," trained seal. (7), h. rage number—, ds o. track, John Agee in sulky; Irma Ward, one-arm endurance swing, spotted near the closing, but a decided hit. (8), clown walkarounds; Hobson comedy riding. (9), Tom Mix and Tony and high school horses; clowns; Arbaughs and Bells, flying act, with Ward working with the Bells.

In clown alley are Jack Knapp (producing clown), George Jennier, George Harmon and J. Thomas.

Concert: Tom Mix, Herman Nolan, Boots Sallee, Ralph Clark, Ed Hendershot and wife, Augie Gomez, Frank Gusky and wife and John Agee.

Sideshow: W. E. De Berrie, manager; Fred Voss and Dan Moore, ticket boxes; Rex Omas, inside lecturer; Charles Perkins, boss canvas.

Entertainers: Ada Moore, snakes; Norma Estelle, mentalist; Jerry Adkinson, torture cabinet; Presto (De Berrie), magic; Hilda De Berre, birds in toyland; Mary Perkins and company, dancers; Harold Riley, hillbilly act; Marie Martino and Dorothy Voss, fan dancers; Simmons-Regan and company, ten-people minstrel troupe.

Executive staff: Sam B. Dill, co-owner and business manager; Tom Mix, co-owner and managing director; Dale Turney, assistant manager, secretary and treasurer; Albert McCabe, legal adjuster; C. A. Lawrence, general agent; Harold Manheim, advance press; Mrs. McCabe, press with the show; Buck Reger, 24-hour man and banners agent; Mike Pyne, in charge of advance trucks and billers; Mrs. Sam Dill, Mrs. Dail Turney, Albert McCabe and Mrs. Jerry Flowers in charge of front door; John R. Agee, equestrian director, assisted by James Arbaugh; Mrs. Espee, reserved seats tickets; Mary Hilbert, wardrobe mistress; Dennie Helm, superintendent big show canvas; Calvin Spike, assistant; Ed Henderson, superintendent ring stock; M. Campbell, assistant; Frank Crandall, charge of dogs; Marion Graves, superintendent menagerie; Bob Kelly, boss props; Joe Ford, master transportation; A. (Baldy) Allister, cookhouse superintendent; Ralph Peterson and Leroy Rokus, assistants; Edward Austin, blacksmith; Chuch Langford, superintendent privileges; Rand Taffe, and Joe Bowers, in charge of Tom Mix's private mechanical department.

Show again this year is making the noon-day parade a much-improved pageant over last season, with mostly all General Motors equipment, being used for the cages and tableaux.

Chi Expo Concession Space 100% Sold; Many Applicants Rejected

icago, May 14.

World's Fair is sold to the limit to concessionaires. All available space, both in the open and in the villages, has been gobbled up.

still there are people hanging around the gates with greenbacks sticking out of their ears begging for a chance to angel anything or everything.

Gotten so that the Fair has been placed in a position where it is able to say yes or no to would-be exhibitors. Many concessions have been refused by the Fair. And included in the rejections are such well-knowners in the concession field as the Waggnor Brothers of Coney Island, who wanted to bring in a war show; Charlie Newman, with a Florida sea serpent, and Bill Rice, who wanted to spot a water circus featuring swimming monkeys. Even the Pabst beer company is not set for a display for this coming summer.

Jack Morrison, chief of the World's Fair publicity troupe, has topped stories in some 1,417 newspapers and mags throughout the world in one of the smartest campaigns for effectiveness and coverage yet. Job has been done thoroughly as far as publicity and concessions are concerned. Everybody seems certain that the Fair's going to make a lot of money, more than it did last year. But, as everything in show business, the final checkup is still a hearty question mark.

Catholic Verdict

(Continued from page 5)

booking' system, saying it enforced exhibs to show harmful pictures as well as good ones. He expressed the thought that the Assembly of Bishops in Cincinnati next month would devise a means of distributing lists of acceptable films to all church members, and that flicks not recommended should be considered unworthy of Catholic patronage.

An effort was made by a high motion picture official to stop this Bishop from making his attack but His Excellency would not reveal to VARIETY the name of the visiting pic man. He further lamented that he received no co-operation from quarters he had expected it in this part of the country, meaning Catholics in the industry. He voiced objection to the erstwhile policy of the National Catholic Alumnae, 'Boost the best and ignore the rest.' Said that often a good feature is nullified by fact shorts on same bill are immoral and degrading. Asserted films could be made into uplifting influences.

According to the Archbishop a published pledge is being circulated throughout the country, known as 'Pledge of the Legion of Decency,' which Catholics are being asked to sign and abide by the moral stop-go signals as regards picture attendance.

GETS MEMPHIS DATE

Birmingham, May 14.

The Dodson's World Fair Shows wintering at Clarskdale, Miss., has been booked for the Memphis Cotton Carnival during the week of May 13.

BARNES SHOW NICKED

Takes Out Animal, Show Permit But Has to Pay for a Circus

It cost the Al G. Barnes show an extra $1,080 for the four days here last week because one of the city dads decided it wasn't a wild animal show but a circus.

The trick first applied for and got a wild animal show permit at $100 for the first day and $70 for each day thereafter, or a total of $360. But the city supervisors made the police change it to a circus permit at, $500 the first day and $300 per day thereafter, or a total of $1,440, with an extra ten bucks for each side show.

Barnes, incidentally, set a new high for the season with a smashing business on Saturday. Total four day's bis reported to have hit around $25,000, plenty big.

Vagrancy Arrests

Milwaukee, May 14.

Three stranded circus performers will have no worry about the near future. Caught on the blind baggage of a freight train here, Arthur Converse, 22, San Antonio, Tex.; Frank Talbot, 27, Houston, and Elizabeth Brownie, no address given, are in the lock-up charged with trespassing and vagrancy.

They told police their show went broke in Texas and because they like to travel hit the blinds. They will spend the summer months in the house of correction.

RESORT PAYS 50%

Charlotte, N. C., May 14.

Cash is in hand for immediate payment of 50% dividend to the 250 common creditors of Carolina Pines, Inc., elaborate resort and amusement center, according to R. Roy Carter, receiver. The enterprise has been turned over to private interests for operation. Common claims totaled $93,000 and preferred claims were $5.750. Superior court is expected to approve an order of sale to P. J. and L. E. Carlton and Mrs. Nannie C. Parrott, brothers and sisters of the founder, H. A. Carlton.

Midwest Amusement Parks Lifting Lid Due to Expo's S. A. Competish

Chicago, May 14.

Amusement parks in this territory are getting ready for a genuine fight in order to save their skins from the competition of the World's Fair. Parks suffered brutally last year and are trying to stave off a repetition of that disaster. All parks are figuring on plenty of free shows and giveaways.

Particularly are they all looking for good sex appeal stuff. They learned their lesson last year when they tried to operate a strictly clean family park. The public went for the Fair with its strip shows and fan dancers.

Riverview Park has already announced its 'Follies' show with the publicity containing plenty of flash femme photos. White City has plans for a similar production, as have amusement parks in the vicinity, reaching from Milwaukee to Fort Wayne and south as far as Danville.

Concessionaires will be permitted to ride a bit more openly this year, and especially are inducements being offered to concessions with song and dance sho

N.Y. Fair NG's 'Romance'

Syracuse, May 14.

New York State Fair has turned down the suggestion of Mayor Roland B. Marvin that 'The Romance of a People' be produced as a feature of the 1934 exposition.

FINIS FOR A FAIR

Newton, Ia., May 14.

Its curtains for the Jasper county fair, Ira Livingston sold the grounds and all buildings for $16,000 in satisfaction of a mortgage to George Eggert who will transform the grounds into an amusement park for year round entertainment.

SMALL, BUT BLACK

Dubuque, Ia., May 14.

Final reports of the Dubuque centennial celebration, expected to go plenty in the red, due to elaborate entertainment plans, has gone black according to final reports, a net profit of $8.51 being shown.

LETTERS

When Sending for Mail to VARIETY Address Mail Clerk.
POSTCARDS, ADVERTISING or CIRCULAR LETTERS WILL NOT BE ADVERTISED
LETTERS ADVERTISED IN ONE ISSUE ONLY

Bayard Vic
Betts Dorothy
Drake R S
Gordon Abe
Jackson Warren
Kane Albert
Lawton Frank
Martinez Santiago
Mierre Walter
Rothacker W

THE MOST CHEERING NEWS YOU'VE HAD THIS Spring

With "STAND UP AND CHEER!" standing them up and cheering them up in dozens of key cities . . . with "SUCH WOMEN ARE DANGEROUS" proving itself one of Warner Baxter's most popular pictures . . . Every exhibitor is looking forward to the rest of the great FOX spring group.

Watch these releases go places!

Never has Spencer Tracy been greater!

The full force of Spencer Tracy's power is unleashed in this vivid drama of a high-stakes gambler . . . who, too late, discovers he has played a sucker role in the game of life.

SPENCER TRACY

Now I'll Tell

by

Mrs. Arnold Rothstein

HELEN TWELVETREES

ALICE FAYE

Produced by Winfield Sheehan

Directed by Edwin Burke

Adaptation and Dialogue: Edwin Burke

Says "Variety Daily"

"From Every Angle a Box-Office Bet..."

What Gaynor-Farrell partisans have been looking forward to for over a year . . . one of the best love stories they've ever done!"

JANET GAYNOR • CHARLES FARRELL

in

CHANGE OF HEART

with

JAMES DUNN • GINGER ROGERS

Produced by Winfield Sheehan

Directed by John G. Blystone

Screen play: Sonya Levien and James Gleason • From the novel "Manhattan Love Song" by Kathleen Norris

Springtime Fancies of a Footloose Bachelor

Merry with the madness of springtime romance! A gay bachelor who has dodged the altar for years finds the halter near his neck as two beauties try to harness him for life.

A Jesse L. Lasky Production

SPRINGTIME FOR HENRY

with

OTTO KRUGER • NANCY CARROLL

NIGEL BRUCE • HEATHER ANGEL

HERBERT MUNDIN

From the play by Benn W. Levy. Screen play: Keene Thompson and Frank Tuttle

Directed by Frank Tuttle

FOX Spring FESTIVAL

RADIO SCREEN STAGE

VARIETY

PRICE 15¢

Published Weekly at 154 West 46th St., New York, N. Y., by Variety, Inc. Annual subscription, $6. Single copies, 15 cents. Entered as second-class matter December 22, 1905, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879.
COPYRIGHT, 1934, BY VARIETY, INC. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.
Vol. 114 No. 10 NEW YORK, TUESDAY, MAY 22, 1934 56 PAGES

RESORTS' 10,000 ACTORS

Par Financiers Considering Getting Sid Kent Back with That Company

Financial powers within Paramount are considering making a bid for the services of Sid Kent. Not having yet renewed his deal with Chase-Fox, Kent, now president of Fox, is free to consider the Paramount proposition. Paramount proposal, it is believed, will be a big minimum salary and percentage over a term of years.

It is fairly certain that Kent has no inclination to rejoin Paramount under the present management setup. When accepting the original offer from Chase Bank to head the Fox company, Kent insisted upon a free hand.

Fox Film under Kent has emerged in one year from a $15,000,000 loser to a profitable firm. Fox's affairs at Chase are controlled mostly through Herman Place and E. R. Tinker, Chase officials. Tinker was Kent's predecessor as head of Fox.

Concerning the Par trustees, it is known that only Eugene W. Leake of the trio may remain after reorganization takes place. He is a lawyer by profession. Charles E. Richardson has no inclination to fulfill other than what his present job calls for, as he is known to have long desired to take up certain private business, eve before going to Paramount. Neither does Charles D. Hilles aim to remain after reorganization.

The bankers' idea seems to be Adolph Zukor, Sid Kent, George Schaefer and S. A. Lynch as the desired foundation.

Roxy Pulls an Eva Le Gallienne; Pans Crix And Audience in Mpls.

Minneapolis, May 21.

S. L. Rothafel (Roxy) stirred up some excitement here, his former home town, during the week's engagement of himself and his Gang at the Minnesota theatre. Besides ripping into the newspaper critics, who weren't too kind, he added himself to the list of stage celebrities who have vexed local citizenry on the occasion of public appearances by speaking of the town or its residents in uncomplimentary terms.

Roxy's overt act was to pan, from the Minnesota stage during a performance, a lengthy poem written in his honor and read as part of a ceremony making him an honorary member of local Shrine temple. After the conclusion of the reading of the poem by its author, Roxy, replying, said it was 'lousy' as a piece of poetry but that he appreciated the 'sentiment' behind it.

Theatre did around $19,000, good, on Roxy's week.

Royal Crasher

London, May 12.

King of Siam and his retinue of six crashed Metro's Empire, where 'Viva Villa' is in its pre-release.

His Highness claimed immunity from paying on account of being an exhibitor himself. He is the owner of a picture theatre in Singapore.

SOCIETY'S YEN FOR SPICY DISCS

The smarter phonograph shops in the fashionable east side sectors of New York have built up a sizeable private recording business. It's either with hyper-sophisticated artists who are not known to the general public, but who enjoy a vogue among patrons of the smart cafes, or sometimes it's an ambitious socialite who likes to have her voice or pianologing recorded.

The retail music shops are equipped to make regular phonograph recordings of these types of artists and sell around 2,000 disks to a limited class patronage at $1 a copy. It's imprinted with a special label and, since the class artist or the amateur talent performs chiefly for the glory, the margin of profit is obviously wide.

Delving into this type of class recording discloses that there are a half dozen to a dozen little-known artists who enjoy a decidedly firm hold on their limited class patronages to the degree that their disks sell at $1 each, as against the top-notch 10-inch recordings at 75c. The compositions are usually unpublished, often spicy ditties, chiefly of the vocalists' own creation.

Dillinger's Double

Minneapolis, May 21.

Ralph Alsman, Brookville, Ind., has been able to capitalize a resemblance to John Dillinger, the bandit, by getting night club engagements. Local loop night club is featuring him as 'Dillinger's Double.' Signs in front of club state 'Dillinger Is Appearing Here,' then in small type, 'in person of his double.'

Stunt has to get Alsman arrested on suspicion that he's Dillinger and thus crash the newspapers. It worked here.

SUMMER TALENT BULL MARKET

New High of 1,200 Eastern Spots Going in for 'Life of the Party's Staffs—Attracting Many Standard Acts—Chorus Lines First Time—Legal Booze Angle Figures Big

AND GIGOLOS

Everything in the entertainment line from gigolos to union picture operators will be included in the social staff personnel of eastern hotels, resorts and camps this summer. It is estimated that 1,200 spots will maintain resident social staffs and that 10,000 individuals will be employed for the specific purpose of keeping the paying guests in a paying mood.

For the first time since the advent of the 'life of the party' racket six years ago, chorus girls are being booked. About 25 of the largest spots in the east will employ permanent lines ranging from six to 10 girls, plus a dance director to change the routines weekly.

The complete social staffs will consist of social directors (m.c.'s), stage hands, electricians, scenic artists, wardrobe women, costumers, stage directors and coaches, musical directors, one or more dance orchestras (swanker spots also have Argentine tango bands), soubrets, blues singers, mammy singers, gigolos, dramatic actors, sister

(Continued on page 51)

NOT ENOUGH HILLBILLIES?

Crazy Water Crystals Seeks To Uncover More 'Talent'

Charlotte, N. C., May 21.

Crazy Water Crystal Co. of Charlotte, which does the distributing of the product for the two Carolinas, has embarked on an idea for building up its own talent supply. With the intention of making the account's two-and-a-half-hour Saturday night barn dance over WBT the tryout ground for hillbilly bands, the CWC distributor in that territory has retained Fisher Henley, manager of the North Carolina Fiddlers Association, to organize and whip the units into shape.

Best of Henley's crop will be assigned to regular spots on the WBT marathon and the residue will be offered around to Crazy Water branches in surrounding territories. An office has been set outside in the Mayfair hotel for Henley's use in building and booking his hillbilly combinations.

Entire Equity Membership Could Be Used in National Free Shows

With Emphasis

Washington, May 21.

Objectionable feature of Government admissions tax was brought home sharply to members of Congress last week when the Ringling show attracted nearly all of the nation's legislators here.

Handing out ducats to prominent officials, John Kelly, Ringling general manager, made certain that members of Congress responsible for tax laws were on the free list. But he emphasized the importance of the 10% tariff by writing on the back of these pasteboards 'Be sure this guy pays the tax.'

HEALTH FORCES SCHILLER OUT OF LOEW'S

The future status of Col. Edward A. Schiller, general manager of Loew's, Inc., has the other heads preparing for the circuit's first important executive personnel shift in years. Schiller last week departed for the Coast under doctor's orders, and from there goes to Hawaii. There is no date for his return to active participation in Loew's theatre operation.

Unofficially but actually stepping up into Schiller's post as the theatre general manager is Joseph Vogel. He has been shouldering Schiller's duties since the latter went to Florida for his health last winter. Understanding within the organization is that Vogel's successor will be Marvin Schenck, moving over from the vaudeville department of which he is booking head under J. H. Lubin. Sidney Piermont, Loew booker, is expected in turn to re-

(Continued on page 54)

Golf Pro's Fright

Philadelphia, May 21.

Leo Diegel, golf pro at the Philly Philmont Country Club, set for a commercial show via WCAU commencing Friday (25). Program bankrolled by Silver King bait through the John Wanamaker store.

Mike so flustered Diegel during audition that he was ready to give up in disgust. Acting on the principle of giving taffy to a baby, the studio supplied the pro with golf club to juggle while he spoke his piece. Everything was okay from then on.

Decision on expansion of the Civil Works Administration's drama project into the most comprehensive emergency employment project in the history of show business, is awaited from Washington. Plan is to provide diversion in the 1,750 Civilian Concentration Camps throughout the country.

Project would entail federal expenditure as high as $1,500,000. Estimated that 200 troupes or companies would be required if the full program is carried out. With each unit or company averaging 12 players, were the CWA-CCC plan to be attempted, total would amount to virtually the entire paid-up membership of Equity.

That in itself would entail an employment or engagement problem. No Equity restrictions, however, apply to the CWA shows and unaffiliated players from other fields would be acceptable. There are, too, many legit actors who are outside of Equity because unable to pay dues, but eligible for CWA casts.

As a starting schedule which will blanket a considerable portion of the country, CWA heads in New York suggest the formation of 100 companies, carrying a weekly budget of $31,800. It is expected that the usual red tape will be avoided and the camp diversion expansion be speeded because of oncoming summer.

Proposed to form 40 companies in New York, 30 in Chicago, 15 in Los Angeles and 15 in San Francisco. Players are to receive $24 weekly, with a director accompanying each troupe, he to be paid $30 weekly.

Likely the CCC heads will not

(Continued on page 25)

World's Largest Sidewalk Cafe Planned for N. Y.

World's largest sidewalk cafe—the Cafe de la Paix of Broadway—is planned to open the end of June on Broadway, between 52d and 53d streets, on a 125-foot frontage and backing into Seventh avenue.

It's a part of a gigantic sunken gardens, sidewalk cafe and one-flight-up eatery which Ben H. Uberall, veteran cafe man, is working on. Uberall was previously owner of the old Reisenweber's and one of the founders of the Hollywood restaurant. Site is at 1580 Broadway and covers seven Broadway front stores for the sidewalk cafe venture.

Hotel St. Moritz, on Central Park South, today (Tuesday) formally opens its Cafe de la Paix sidewalk spot, patterned after the famous Parisian cafe, with a no-tipping service (instead 10% of the check is added for service).

Berkeley-WB-Goldwyn Trial Brings Out Need of Film Glossary for Courts

Hollywood, May 21.

A glossary of technical picture terms for use in contracts is one of the crying needs of the industry. This was sharply brought out at the long and heated injunction proceedings by Samuel Goldwyn against Warners for the dance direction services of Busby Berkeley, decided in favor of Warners last week by Superior Judge Frank M. Smith.

What, precisely, is meant by the term 'actual rehearsal' of a picture, for instance, became a major dispute in the court arguments, taking up days and the so-called expert testimony of many of the industry's ace producers and execs. In the end, the matter wasn't much clearer to the court than at the beginning, although Irving Thalberg, Eddie Cantor, Lou Brock, Winnie Sheehan and Darryl Zanuck had testified for Goldwyn, and Jack L. Warner, Hal B. Wallis, Lloyd Bacon, Mervyn LeRoy, Busby Berkeley, Robert Lord, Harry Warren and Al Dubin were among the Warner witnesses.

Lack of precise definition on this score is what virtually forced the issue into court, and was a big contributing factor in the court's surprise invalidation of the entire contract whereby Warners had agreed to loan Berkeley to Goldwyn for two films a year, whenever the dance director wasn't in 'actual rehearsal' directing numbers for Warners. Ruling on the contract is likely to prove costly to one or the other of the contending parties, since further legal aftermath of the injunction refusal is in immediate prospect by the Goldwyn attorneys.

What' a 'Rehearsal?'

Although Judge Smith ruled that Berkeley wasn't in actual rehearsal on the Warner picture, 'Dames,' when Goldwyn made his written demand for the director's services, in compliance, as he figured, with the contract the injunction issue was actually decided on a different point. This leaves the rehearsal definition minus a clear-cut legal precedent.

Prevalent opinion by the experts was that actual rehearsal embraces that period when the principals and cast are assembled, under pay, and go through the continuity routine as it will substantially be placed before the camera. But there were too many ifs and buts to make it conclusive in a legal sense.

Tilt Jean Parker

Hollywood, May 21.

Jean Parker draws a new contract at Metro with a substantial tilt in salary.

Ticket calls for her to be featured in all future pictures, studio execs figuring she will be ready to star in another year.

DIALOG 'INDO-CHINA'

Hollywood, May 21.

Oscar Sheridan, recently at Fox, has checked in at the Metro writing department.

He will write dialog on the script of 'Indo-China,' to be produced by Bernard Hymen.

INDEX

Bills	44
Chatter	53
Editorial	45
Exploitation	19
Film Reviews	15
Foreign Film News	12-13
Foreign Show News	49
House Reviews	17
Inside—Legit	46
Inside—Music	45
Inside—Pictures	45
Inside—Radio	30
Inside—Vaude	45
Legitimate	46-48
Literati	50
Music	39-40
New Acts	43
News from the Dailies	52
Nite Clubs	39-40
Obituary	54
Outdoors	55
Pictures	2-29
Radio	30-38
Radio Reports	34
Unit Reviews	43
Vaudeville	41-44
Women	51

AGENCY CHANGE

Walter Myers West for Own Office —Goldstein Acts for S-L

Walter Myers' agency in New York having split with the Ed Small-Arthur Landau agency in Hollywood, Bob Goldstein (Abe Lyman's manager) is now repping Small-Landau. Myers is due on the Coast shortly and may establish his own Hollywood office, as before, and possibly remain West to supervise.

The Bestry-Myers-Romm-Scheuing combo in the East continues to function with Eddie Myers staying in N. Y., while Walter Myers is West.

AGENTS WARNED ON CLIENTS' U. S. TAX

Hollywood, May 21.

Expansion of motion picture agencies into the business of management service for clients as part of the regular contractual coverage has brought warning from U. S. Treasury Department as to how far the 10%ers may go in making promises regarding income tax matters.

Actor reps have been reminded of the regulation which prevents any member or representative of an incorporated agency or business bureau from appearing before the Treasury Department in connection with income tax disputes. In such controversies responsibility for the return must lie directly with the individual taxpayer. The latter may then be represented officially only by persons the Treasury Dept. recognizes as eligible to act. This excludes anyone identified with or nominated by an incorporated agency.

Warning was issued to agents following recent advertisements and representations that certain 10%ers are prepared to handle income tax and other business matters as part of the regular routine for artists.

Federal agents said the caution was sounded to prevent agents inadvertently contracting to do more for clients than they could fulfil.

COL. TALENT INFLUX

Bunch of New Contractees Begin to Reach Coast

Hollywood, May 21.

Advance members of the group of people contracted by Columbia in the past month have started arriving in Hollywood.

Inez Courtney was the first, coming in Saturday (19) on the S.S. Pennsylvania. Leo Bulgakov, stage director, whose last job was 'Come What May,' came in yesterday (Sunday) for his first try as a picture director. No assignment for either of them.

John Buckler got in today. He was Katharine Cornell's leading man. Others due shortly are James Blakeley, socialite, expected this week; Robert Allen, former model, in two weeks; Florence Rice, legit actress, July 1; George Murphy, in 10 days, but will do the Eddie Cantor picture for Goldwyn first. Charles Sabin is already here.

Harry Cohen and Bill Perlberg signed the players in New York. To date they are without assignments.

RKO Looses Wm. Gargan

Hollywood, May 21.

RKO has released William Gargan from his contract, having three years yet to go.

Player will freelance. Currently he is in Warners' 'British Agent.'

KEATING'S 6 MONTHS

Fred Keating has been signatured by Columbia on a termer starting at six months. He heads for the Coast around June 1 to go into Lewis Milestone's 'The Captain Hates the Sea.'

Walter Meyers booked.

WILL MAHONEY

The Detroit Evening Times said: "The one and only Will Mahoney has committed another crime. The inimitable dancing clown has stolen another show from two other groups on the same bill with him, and has even succeeded in eclipsing some of the very funny situations in the screen feature 'Convention City'."

Direction
WM. MORRIS AGENCY
Mayfair Theatre Bldg.
New York City.

Peggy Joyce Note Echo In Suit Filed on Coast

Los Angeles, May 21.

Note for $20,000 given by Peggy Hopkins Joyce to Pat Powers as security for an advance of salary for her role in 'Skyrocket' over two year ago has thudded back into Superior Court here in a suit pending against Miss Joyce.

Case will come to trial after Attorney Gene Behymer for the plaintiff, an assignee for Powers, returns with depositions from Miss Joyce and other witnesses now being taken in New York.

Milton M. Cohen, attorney for Miss Joyce, asserts that her salary on 'Skyrocket' approximated the $20,000, and that she was promised return of her note, which was then in New York, by Powers, who was her manager and producer. Jewelry, which supplemented the note as security, was returned.

Plaintiff charges that note obligation has not been entirely discharged.

Al Singer, Former Champ, Studying Picture Biz

Hollywood, May 21.

Al inger, former lightweight champ, is picture-minded. Wants to learn the business.

He is now located with M. H. Hoffman, who makes Liberty pictures at Pathe. Singer's first assignment was to watch the time it takes to make each shot and keep his eye on the number of takes for each scene.

Option Johnson

Hollywood, May 21.

Although Nunnally Johnson's contract still has eight weeks to go, 20th Century optioned him for another year. Short story writer is at present on loan to Sam Goldwyn for the Eddie Cantor film.

Bess Meredyth, also under contract to 20th, will finish scenario of 'Red Cat' and depart June 1 for Europe.

TEARLE STALLS ALIMONY

San Francisco, May 21.

Conway Tearle was granted a continuance until July 17 on the back alimony payment brought against the picture player by the estate of his late wife.

Tearle must show why he shouldn't be held in contempt for failure to pay $14,000 alimony.

WALLIS' MONTH ABROAD

Hal Wallis, Warner studio executive, sailed Saturday (19) for a European jaunt of about four weeks, accompanied by Mrs. Wallis (Louise Fazenda), who flew in from the Coast.

While abroad, Wallis will look over the talent and story market.

ERROL'S VITAPHONES

Hollywood, May 21.

Leon Errol has signed with Sam Sax for two Vitaphone shorts to be made in New York.

Comedian leaves June 15.

Touching Up 'Stills'

Hays Office Burns at Nat'l Advertisers' Use of Okayed Photos

Hollywood, May 21.

Hays office here is on a rampage against national advertisers who, i tie-ups with studios, have taken Hays office okayed stills and retouched them in such a manner that they appear to be semi-nudes when reproduced in mag advertising.

Current burn is against a bread concern that has a tie-in with Warners and in which line of girl presented in advertising in a national magazine, are made to appear almost in the flesh.

As a result of this, and other asserted misuses advertisers of stills, the Hays office hereafter will insist that studios making such tie-ins will make explicit contractual agreements that in no way must the photos be changed.

Extras Way Off

Hollywood, May 21.

Mobs were given the go-by again last week, studios using only 2,804 extras from Central Casting for the week ending Friday night (18).

Last Wednesday (16) only 269 extras dribbled through the studio gates.

Allen Declares L. A. Indictment Is a Frameup

Los Angeles, May 21.

Dave Allen, head of Central Casting office, who obtained a leave of absence from his duties after his indictment by the grand jury on what he declares is a framed 'morals' charge, will appear before Judge Bowron in Superior Court this Thursday (24) to enter his plea of not guilty. Indicted with him is Gloria March, who has not been apprehended.

Allen refused to testify before the grand jury on May 15. Others who testified were June Delong and Pearl Owings.

Immediately after Allen posted his bond he wrote to Fred W. Beetson, head of Central Casting, requesting a leave of absence until he could clear himself of the charges which he claimed were groundless, viciously false and originating from interests he stated that are not only trying to get him but the organization itself.

Beetson replied that the organization had confidence in Allen and allowed him the leave.

During the 10 years Allen has headed Central, which handles all extras employed by the major studios, he has been subjected to several frameups from disgruntled extras and has even fought off armed attacks on various occasions at his office, home and in the studios.

Geo. Roesners East

Hollywood, May 21.

With breaks not to his liking during the past six months, George Roesner has passed up Hollywood and Saguna. He is now on his way to New York by motor accompanied by his wife.

Roesner says he will return to the coast when they give him one of those studio tickets for at least a year without options. Likely that he may rejoin the Shuberts, with whom he was connected prior to coming to the Coast.

ORIENTAL WILL HAYS

Chinese Film Savant Looks Over Coast and European Studios

Hollywood, May 21.

Lo Ming Yau, considered the Will Hays of the Orient, arrived here Saturday (19) to investigate the picture industry here and in Europe.

He will check the studios here with Yi-seng S. Kiang, vice-consul at Los Angeles, who represents his government on picture matters.

Get 'Winning Ticket'

Hollywood, May 21.

Leo Carrillo and Louise Fazenda will have the leads in 'Winning Ticket,' an Irish Sweepstakes yarn, to be produced by Harry Rapf.

Script for the comedy is being written by Ray Doyle and Robert Hopkins.

MG SIGNS YOUNG CHANEY

Hollywood, May 21.

Metro has placed Creighton Chaney, son of the late Lon Chaney, under a term contract.

Execs decided to tie him up after seeing him in a sketch, put on by the students of the Metro dramatic school.

Bronc Pic's Injury Jinx

Hollywood, May 21.

Injury jinx hit Universal's Buck Jones' 'Red Rider' serial company three days in a row during the first week's filming.

Troupe had just reached location at Aguora Rancho the first day when Janet Chandler, femme lead, was bitten by a venomous spider, necessitating emergency treatment. She continued playing in bandages.

Second sock hit Monte Montague, cowboy actor whose horse, blinded by a reflector, lammed into a tree knocking both player and animal unconscious.

Third casualty was Al Ferguson whose mount, also blinded by reflectors, dashed under a tree lacerating him severely and putting him out of the picture for half a day.

'Red Rider,' from a W. C. Tuttle tale, is being directed by Louis Friedlander.

Resents Being 'Mr. Elissa Landi'; Actress' Divorce

Hollywood, May 21.

Charging mental cruelty, Elissa Landi filed suit in Superior Court today for divorce from John Cecil Lawrence, British attorney. Charges husband, who favored her acting and writing career for a long time, now refuses to submit to any situation that might entail his being called 'Mr. Elissa Landi.' Also charges he refused to make his home with her, with result she has to live life of hermit and be stigmatized as 'the coldest woman in Hollywood.'

Couple were married in London six years ago.

Par Wants Robinson

Hollywood, May 21.

If Paramount is able to close current negotiations with Edward G. Robinson, for starring spot in 'Shoe the Wild Mare,' company will materially increase production budget on that picture and set it as a special for the 1934-'35 program.

Robinson will be available to make the picture for Paramount, and it is understood the player and company have reached an agreement on salary, but other conditions of the contract are now being worked out.

SAILINGS

May 19 (New York to Hollywood) Benjamin F. Holtzman, Hy Daab (California).

May 26 (New York to London), E. Lloyd Sheldon, Wolfe Kaufman, Nat Karson (Ile de France).

May 19 (New York to Paris) Charles Doble, Hal Wallis and wife (Louise Fazenda), Virginia Valli (Paris).

May 19 (New York to Genoa) Oliver H. P. Garrett (Saturnia).

May 23 (New York to Paris) J. J. Vincent (Hamburg).

May 19 (New York to London) Genevieve Tobin (Aquitania).

June 2 (London to New York) Monty Goldman, Earl St. John, J. C. Graham (Aquitania).

May 20 (Los Angeles to Honolulu) Harry Joe Brown and wife (Sally Eilers), Merian C. Cooper, Hobart Henley, Roszika Dolly (Furline).

Film Stars Inaugurate New Coast Stadium in War Chest Drive

Hollywood, May 21.

Hollywood's newest outdoor amusement venture, the Gilmore stadium, was given a somewhat mild baptism Friday night (18), when the Screen Actors Guild presented the opening performance of a Film Stars' Frolic before an estimated audience of 5,000. Amphitheatre seats 20,000.

Three-day affair, by which the Guild hopes to raise funds for its war chest, is a combination carnival, pageant, circus and rodeo. Every conceivable type of concession has been given ground space with a wide open beer garden also functioning.

Stadium performance opens with a pageant, participated in by several hundred persons, including screen celebs, near celebs, horsemen, clowns, circus and rodeo performers. Opening night had Ann Harding as queen, transported around the hippodrome in an old-fashioned barouche draped in purple. Queens for the four remaining performances will Mary Astor, Miriam Hopkins, Jeanette MacDonald and Elissa Landi.

Participating in the pageant and hippodrome parade were Eddie Cantor, who drove a four-horse Roman chariot garbed in a white toga, and puffing a cigaret; Fredric March, James Cagney, Ralph Bellamy, Charlie Chase, Bob Woolsey, astride prancing horses; Adolphe Menjou, John Boles and Boris Karloff in old-fashioned carriages, and Jimmy Durante, riding a sulky drawn by a huge steer.

Back of the screen celebs came the Junior Screen Actors Guild, the Troupers Club, garbed in Shakespearean attire; the Thalians, with a Nursery Rhyme theme; the Dominoes, with six of the members masked and riding on a portable stage; the Maskers in a Minstrel Parade, led by Sam Hardy; the Singers Guild and a Gypsy singing chorus; Sheriff Gene Biscaulz riding at the head of 30 mounted deputy sheriffs; Victor McLaglen and his troupe of Light Horse Cavalry, the American Legion band, the Southwest Patrol, made up of picture players, and most of the performers.

In Two Parts

Amphtheatre performance was divided into two parts, first section being a grouping of circus turns including tumblers, wire walkers, bar and trapeze performers. This was followed by a rodeo.

Gilmore interests are drawing 10% of the gross for use of the new stadium and it is reported Richard Tucker, director-general, gets a 10% share for staging and promoting.

Special Dispensation to Reisner from Supers

Hollywood, May 21.

Charles (Chuck) Reisner was given a new year's contract at Metro, with provision he has no producer supervisorship on his pictures.

This is first time Metro has issued such a contract.

TOO MUCH AIR

MG's Erstwhile Vaude Pic Turned Etherer Is Off

Hollywood, May 21.

Metro has abandoned the idea of remaking 'Excess Baggage.' When undusted it was believed, inasmuch as vaude was unfamiliar to the younger generation, the theme of the yarn should be radio. It goes back on the shelf, on the theory there are too many air pictures currently.

John Larkin, writing a new treatment of the old stage play, is off the studio staff.

Spot Wera Engels

Hollywood, May 21.

Wera Engels gets the lead opposite Eric von Stroheim in 'House of Strangers,' which Maury Cohen is producing for Invincible. Actress was borrowed for the picture from Edward Small. Leslie Fenton also prominently spotted.

'House of Strangers,' an original by Charles S. Belden and Robert Ellis, is skeded to start tomorrow (Tuesday) at the Universal lot under Frank Strayer's direction.

KAY FRANCIS INJURED

Pushes Hand Thru Windshield and Gets Nine Stitches

Hollywood, May 21.

Suffering a severely lacerated wrist when she pushed her hand through the windshield of her car, Kay Francis has been home since Thursday (17) while Warners has been shooting around her on 'British Agent.'

Actress was due to return to work today (Monday), but it is unlikely she can work as her arm is heavily bandaged.

Miss Francis was entering the driveway of her home when her car got out of control. A tendon in her right arm was completely severed, nine stitches being necessary.

Kay Francis returned to the Warner studio today (Monday) with her injured arm muchly bandaged.

LeMAIRE TO BE INTERN'L AGENT

Rufus LeMaire, in from Europe, flew to the Coast Friday (18), and will probably open offices as an international agent with affiliates in New York, London and Paris. He remains George Arliss' personal manager, having just set that actor for one with Gaumont-British.

LeMaire's new move means he will in future handle a limited number of people for engagements here and abroad.

Binnie Barnes Hastens To H'wood in 6½ Days

Hollywood, May 21.

London to Hollywood transit record is jarred if not broken by Binnie Barnes, who arrived here Saturday (19).

Actress finished in Douglas Fairbanks' 'Don Juan' at 12:30 Saturday (12) noon and checked in at Universal studio 6¼ days later to start work on 'There's Always Tomorrow,' planing from New York on close steamer connections.

More 'Thunder'

Hollywood, May 21.

With 2,000,000 feet of film from which to draw, Principal Pictures will carve out its third short from the footage of Sergei Eisenstein's 'Viva Mexico.' Principal has already made 'Thunder Over Mexico,' a feature, from the Eisenstein effort, and expects the negative, which it owns, will supply more pictures during the years to come.

First short, 'Death Day,' depicts religious customs of Mexican Indians. Other two are travelogs; latest, which Walter Anthony will write the narrative for, being of the Tahauntepec country.

Scully Scripting with 'All The Comforts of Home'

Hollywood, May 21.

Frank Scully, on the Fox writing payroll, is the only contract writer allowed to do his stuff off the lot.

In order that he would not lack for anything the studio sent up to his new home in the Hollywood Hills, a desk, typewriter, swivel chair, filing cabinet and the rest of the fixings.

WB's Comedy Quartet

Hollywood, May 21.

Hugh Herbert, Guy Kibbee, Frank McHugh and Allen Jenkins become a featured comedy quartet in at least two pictures, and possibly four, by Warners.

PAR ENTWINES NOLAN

Hollywood, May 21.

Paramount has placed Lloyd Nolan, stage actor, under contract. He is due from New York in a week.

Small Landau agency in conjunction with Jane Broder of New York made the deal.

Agent Gives In

Hollywood, May 21.

Charlie Feldman was trying to sell Bill Rowland talent for 'The Girl Friend.' Salaries submitted by Feldman sounded to Rowland like phone numbers.

Finally Feldman asked why he couldn't do business, Rowland told him he was too good an actor to sell people. So when Feldman phoned again Rowland hired him for $100 to do a bit in the picture.

Benny's Two Films, With One Heavy On Radio Names

The Edward Small - Reliance 'Transatlantic Showboat,' for United Artists release, will be bullish on eastern radio names. Jack Benny is in and signatured at $35,000 for the film. Benny is also set for another film for UA (20th Century) at a tilt.

Benny with Arthur S Lyons, of Lyons and Lyons who placed him, departs for the Coast next Saturday (26) Harry W Conn, Benny's radio author and Mary Livingstone (Mrs. Benny) go along. Latter will not be in the film but Conn may contribute to the dialog in between scripting the air programs which will be picked up from Hollywood.

General Tires has agreed to an eight weeks' Coast siesta for remote-control pickup, but no longer. Benny must then come back east for his future radio dates and then go back to Hollywood for his second UA film.

Jean Sargent, also from radio, is already on the Coast and set for the same picture. Frank Parker, who works in Benny's air show is another Coast departer but will do one picture for Radio although possibly also working into 'Transatlantic Showboat.' Gene Raymond, Edmund Lowe and Madeleine Carroll are to be in it with Ben Stoloff directing.

Hollywood, May 21.

Helen Morgan and the Mills Bros. join Jack Benny in Edward Small's Reliance production of 'Transatlantic Showboat.'

Par Loses Point in 150G Libel Suit Over 'Tragedy'

Albany, May 21.

Appellate Division of the Supreme Court on Friday (18) refused to grant Paramount a dismissal of Mrs. Minerva Brown's suit for $150,000 based on the film, 'An American Tragedy.' Par had petitioned for the right to appeal to the Court of Appeals from a former decision of the Appellate Division that reversed the dismissal of the suit, granted in the lower trial court. Mrs. Brown asked the Appellate Division to refuse permission to Par to appeal to the state's highest court.

Justice Daniel V. McNamee was the only one of the five jurists of the Appellate Division who favored Par's petition. In his opinion, he wrote that the film company should be granted permission to go to the Court of Appeals because of the novel points involved in the suit.

Mrs. Brown, mother of Grace Brown, murdered by Chester Gillette, 30 years ago, which case was allegedly reproduced in the film, 'American Tragedy,' is suing Par on the ground that the character alleged to portray her in the picture was depicted in such a way as to constitute libel and that she has suffered humiliation by screenings of the film in Norwich, where she lives, and adjacent territory.

When the Appellate Division on March 23, last, refused to dismiss Mrs. Brown's action, Justice F. Walter Bliss, in the majority opinion, discussed sound motion pictures as a possible new form of libel.

GLORIA STUART DIVORCED

Hollywood, May 21.

Blair Gordon Newell, sculptor and ex-husband of Gloria Stuart, beat the Universal star through the divorce courts, marrying Amelia Rubeshko, non-professional, Saturday (19) one day after he had been freed by a Juarez, Mexico, judge.

Miss Stuart filed her complaint here three days before, alleging incompatibility. The Newells will take a post-honeymoon trip to China.

N. Y. Public Library's Visual Screen Experiment; 'Variety' First Filmed

If an experiment now being made is successful the N. Y. Public Library can move into a loft building and patrons can forget all about thumbing musty files and simply sit back and get their periodical reading matter right off the screen.

One foot of film covers slightly over eight pages of daily newsprint. VARIETY is being shown from cover to cover in about 10 feet of regular 35 mm film. This paper was used as the library's first subject.

Literally, miles of storage space will be saved if the library deems film the practical medium. But they want to be sure it won't be too costly; that prints won't have to be renewed too often.

There is no extra cost for a browser who wants his reading on the screen. Whether he be one or a dozen who wants to see the same film file, the library operator threads the machine for the job.

Eastman Kodak is donating all film being used during the experiment. Method is known as the Recordak system.

News on the screen, as used by the library, is not in regular motion picture form but more in the class of still photography.

LINED UP FOR SHORTS

Half Dozen Signed and Downey May Continue to Coast

Booked for Vitaphone (WB) shorts, one each, are Morton Downey, Jack Denny and Charlie Davis' bands, Donald Novis, Vera Van and the Will Osborne orchestra.

Downey and Novis may make more than one, former possibly going to Hollywood and Paramount for 'Collegiate Rhythm,' out of which picture Lanny Ross has been switched to 'Her Master's Voice.'

Downey also has a bid to follow Harry Richman into the Riviera, Englewood, N. J., roadhouse.

DeSYLVA, METRO PIC DEAL OFF

Culver City, May 21.

Buddy DeSylva and Metro were unable to get together on a deal for him to take charge as associate producer of all musicals made on the lot here. Likely that another proposition may be worked out later in the summer when Eddie Mannix goes east.

Understood that in the meantime DeSylva is going ahead, in association with Max Gordon, on a musical, Lou Shurr has been active on the phone trying to get picture people for the cast. Jack Haley is among those contacted.

JIMMY SAVO WILL DO 3 FOR HECHT-M'ARTHUR

Ben Hecht and Charlie MacArthur who will produce for Paramount in the east, have signatured Jimmy Savo, comedian, for a series of pictures to be especially written for him. Savo is set for three with options on eight more, first to start shooting around Aug. 1.

Margo, Spanish dancer at the Waldorf-Astoria, N. Y., has also been contracted by this new producing unit.

Tallulah's 'Mary'

London, May 12.

Tallulah Bankhead will be starred in 'Mary, Queen of Scots,' which is to be produced here by Clifton Hurst.

After that the film company will make Wilde's 'Picture of Dorian Gray' with Raymond Massey in the title role.

Clifton Hurst's 'Tell-Tale Hearts,' which was distributed by Fox in England, will be distributed in the U. S. by DuWorld.

Heart Attack Fatal To Mrs. Chas. Judels

Hollywood, May 21.

Charles Judels left Sunday (20) by plane for his home in Nutley, N. J., when receiving word his wife died there that day from a heart attack. Couple were married 24 years, deceased being an invalid for 10 years.

Judels just finished an assignment at Paramount on Saturday and was to have started Tuesday (22) for Invincible. Deceased non-pro. No children.

Seeks Mayhem Duo

Hollywood, May 21.

Mitchell and Durant, currently in Fox's 'She Learned About Sailors,' have an offer from C. B. Cochran for a revue at the Palace, London, in August.

Pair have tentatively accepted, final decision waiting until they can get a leave of absence from Fox.

CHESTER HALE'S FIRST

Hollywood, May 21.

First assignment for Chester Hale, recently brought from the East by Metro, will be guidance of dance numbers for 'Student Tour.'

Charles Reisner directs.

H'WOOD THALIANS D'ING PERSONALS AT CHI FAIR

Hollywood, May 21.

Troupe of players from the Thalians Club, organization of young film actors, departed by train Friday (18) for Chicago to do four weeks of personals in the Hollywood-at-the-Fair auditorium.

Unit rehearses a week prior to opening of the Fair Sunday (27). Illinois-Hollywood Corp., made the deal for the young players through its Hollywood rep, David Schwartz.

One, and possibly two, shorts of the Thallan series of six for Universal release will be filmed at the Fair in June, Jack Townley, who produces and directs, is writing the first and leaves this week to join the company.

There is no connection the film and personals deal.

Penner Out of 'B'dcast,' Into 'College Rhythm'

Hollywood, May 21.

Joe Penner, holding contract with Paramount for one picture, will have the comedy lead in 'College Rhythm' instead of 'Big Broadcast of 1934,' as originally planned.

'Rhythm' is due for production in July, with Lanny Ross, Joe Morrison, Lyda Roberti and Ida Lupino featured with Penner.

Cully Richards Slated For Goldwyn's 'Barbary'

Hollywood, May 21.

Cully Richards, comic appearing in the current 'Shim Sham Revue' at the Hollywood Music Box, has been given a contract by Sam Goldwyn.

Richards will first be used in 'Barbary Coast,' in a spot previously scheduled for Buster Keaton.

Oumanskys West

Alex and Peggy Oumansky, unit stagers, left by car yesterday (Monday) for the Coast. Possibility of going into the Paramount studio to work on pictures requiring dance direction.

Oumansky several years staged units for Par Pacific de luxers under Al Kaufman. He also has directed pictures abroad for British-Gaumont, Gainsborough and British-International.

For the past 21 weeks he and Mrs. Oumansky, ballet mistress, have been putting on shows at the Fox, Brooklyn.

READYING W&W'S NEXT

Hollywood, May 21.

Bert Wheeler came in from New York over the weekend to join Robert Woolsey, preparatory to starting their next Radio musical.

Film has been titled 'Kentucky Kernels.' H. N. Swanson supervises.

Overbuying No Reason for Picture Dearth; Shorter Runs Prime Cause

Despite the zeal with which it is already being attacked by NRA grievance boards, overbuying is not the answer to product shortage clouds throughout the country, say film men. Neutral major spokesmen, while conceding that a curtailment of overbuying will ease famine picture threats in some highly theatre-populated territories, maintain now that film life in the first-runs must be lengthened or else house policies in many spots must be changed.

Within the past five years, a current survey shows, the life of the average first-run has been severed in the middle. Houses that ran a picture for two weeks are now showing the same product for a week. Other first-runs which used to stand for a week are now split-weeking.

Drop in attendanee is held responsible for shortening picture life. The more optimistic of the industry's overseers see in a return to normal-size audiences the automatic longevity of pictures, especially of the first class.

While attendances are increasing almost monthly, according to the business weather bureau, they cannot be counted upon to heal the picture shortage in various parts of the U. S. until after next fall. In the meantime, they hold, there is no immediate aid upon which exhibitors in such predicaments can call, except to change to a lesser run or darken.

Regarding NRA relief through the overbuying provision, it is becoming evident to major spokesmen that there is no such thing as a precedent, and that because each case is different and must be tried separately, the Eagle patch is necessarily a long one.

In substantiation of this the S. Ashley case in Milwaukee, which was sustained immediately by the Code Authority, is now being compared to the F-WC-Alhambra case which the Authority is investigating.

Still a different situation, it is also maintained, showed up in overbuying charges brought by Rogowsky, Port Chester (N. Y.) independent, against the Skourases, which last week were found true by the N. Y. Grievance Board, and still are open to appeal and possibly another version by the CA.

PAR'S GB REORG. CLEARS DECK FOR OTHERS

Court has okayed a new deal for Paramount on the Goldstein Brothers' circuit in western Massachusetts, formerly operated by Olympia Theatres of New England. Under this deal a new company is formed for G-B which will be operated by the Goldstein Brothers operating partners of Paramount. Par achieves a buy-back privilege as in other deals which were made by the advisory committee on reorganization of Publix Theatres under S. A. Lynch.

The G-B deal is among the best trades made by the committee and brings back into the clear and under the Par aegis some 17 important houses in 12 Massachusetts towns, including another theatre in Utica in upstate New York.

The new company which is to be formed will have a stipulated issue of common stock of which Par will own 52% and the Goldstein Brothers 48%. The bonded indebtedness of the G-B circuit is to be relinquished under a plan whereby the old bonds will be exchanged for new debentures as guaranteed by the Goldstein Brothers.

Par is further protected by the fact that the Goldsteins must put up a cash indemnity if defaulting on this guaranty to fulfill this exchange.

Goldstein Brothers will reecive a weekly aggregate salary of around $500 for operating the theatres and it is more than likely that Par will be amply represented in the officers of the new company as well as the

(Continued on page 55)

800G 'Buccaneer'

Hollywood, May 21.

Paramount has signed Maxwell Anderson and Laurence Stallings to write an original, ' ,' based on the life and exploits of Sir Henry Morgan, pirate chief.

Company has assigned the picture to Cecil de Mille to produce as his next for Paramount, with advance budget set at the $800,000 mark. Production is slated to be made in the early fall for spring release.

RADIO PRODUCT DEAL SET FOR MUSIC HALL

icture deal is closed between Radio City Music Hall and RKO this coming season. Means that the RKO and the Rockefellers will traipse hand in hand for the next year and that things are hunky-dory between the two sides. Likely that before the summer is out a new leasing arrangement will be in tow for the big house by RKO.

The RKO product deal for the M. H. is understood to be a percentage arrangement against a minimum. It's for a stipulated number of films with an option in favor of the M. H. for others. So far the Music Hall people have not clinched any other film deal with other companies but talks are on with Fox.

The present Fox franchise runs out with the close of the season when a new deal must be on the tapis. Probable also that the M.H. will subscribe to certain Columbia and Universal films as in the past. That would give the big house about the same film representation it has had since it entered upon the present stageshow and film policy.

KEITH CLARK

'The Man with 1,000 Cigarettes'

Empire, Paris, 12 weeks; Earl Carroll 'Vanities,' Grauman's Chinese, Hollywood; picture, 'Trick for Trick,' Fox; RKO, Paramount, Fanchon & Marco tours; Capitol, Roxy, New York.

Now Palladium, London, Moss Empires and G. T. C. tours. Soon U. S. S. R.

Booked Exclusively by O. L. Oz (Jenie Jacob's Office)

RIALTO, N. Y., BUILDING PROPOSAL LOOKS COLD

Offer has been made on behalf of realty people to the owners of the Rialto theatre, on Broadway, to take over that property and on its site erect a new three-story structure and theatre. Theatre would be a 600-seater. Understood the offer carries a proposal of $85,000 yearly as rental. This is outside of taxes, which amount roughly to around $75,000 a year presently.

However, whether this deal goes through is open. Paramount has a lease on the theatre which still has around a year and a half to go. Par pays around $40,000 yearly as rent and covers taxes itself. Arthur Mayer operates the spot for Par.

Par even now is angling to extend its lease on the property an additional five years, hence the outside realty deal becomes one of those things.

A Cartoon

Reprinted from Chicago "Daily Tribune," May 17, 1934

THE SALACIOUS FILM PRODUCING COMPANY DEBATES WHETHER OR NOT TO GET WORRIED

Chicago, May 21.

Accompanying cartoon appeared on page one of the Chicago Tribune last Thursday (17). It drew an immediate protest from the local Film Board of Trade, which addressed its complaint to Col. R. R. McCormick, publisher of the Tribune. Cartoon is by John T. McCutcheon.

While the Chicago Tribune has arbitrarily indicted an entire industry through an unnecessarily rough cartoon, it should draw the attention of Hollywood's recalcitrant faction to the growing storm.

Exhibitors and circuit theatre m n have become aware of the severity of the agitation within the past two months. It started two years ago

Allied in N. Y. Conclave Talks a '9th Major Prod. Co.' to Make 'Clean' Films

MG's $3,037,698 Net

For the 28 weeks ended March 15, 1934, Metro's net profit after taxes was $3,037,698, officially announced through David Bernstein, v.p. and treasurer of the company. Figure represents half year's earnings. Company's net operating income, including $452,453 in miscellaneous income, was $16,599,718.

Amortization of negative and positive costs and depreciation amounted to $13,040,088. Federal taxes, $521,932.

PAR WORKS ON NEW DEAL FOR L. I. STUDIO

An entirely new arrangement is to be worked out between Paramount, Erpi and Prudence Bond in connection with the Paramount, L. I., studio, on which Par is in default on a mortgage of around $930,000. Plan on which preliminaries are being approached looks mainly to the retention of the property by the Seneca Holding Co., a wholly owned subsidiary of Par. (Seneca also controls the big 44th-45th and Broadway block front taking in the Criterion-Loew's New York theatre property.)

The Astoria studio is under foreclosure following proceedings brought some time ago by Prudence, but by mutual consent the foreclosure has been standing still. New arrangement would direct itself principally to some means of discontinuing the foreclosure the same as has been engineered for the Criterion-New York property, with temporary receivers there now out.

Erpi is now tenanting the Par Astoria studio under prior arrangements which take into account Erpi's large claim against Par of around $1,140,000. This claim and the financing by Erpi of a series of pictures at Astoria for release by Par will become a part of the general scheme to be worked out, it is said.

The Seneca problem is one of many requiring special attention from the Par trustees and their attorneys.

During the past week two steps were taken in connection with property behind the Criterion which was taken over several years ago when Par wanted to build a big house on the site. An order was signed Thursday (17) by Referee Eichhorn authorizing the Par trustees to advance up to $12,500 as taxes on the Lenox hotel and for interest on a mortgage.

Of this amount $2,400 goes to pay interest, the balance as taxes. At the same time trustees obtained a reduction on interest applying to the first mortgage and a cut from $150,000 to $100,000 of principal of the second mortgage.

FOX TAKES 6 ERPI FILMS FOR '35 RELEASE

Hollywood, May 21.

Deal whereby Fox will release features financed by Erpi, and made at the latter's studios on either coast, is limited to six productions for the 1934-35 season, according to information here.

Although the tie-in of Erpi with Fox Film is particularly strong, Sidney R. Kent is said to have placed a limit on the number of pictures coming from Erpi sources at six as he does not want to have too many outside pictures being saddled on the sales organization.

KENT'S COAST QUICKIE

Hollywood, May 21.

Sid Kent, prez of Fox Film, is expected to leave for New York around the latter part of the week.

Expects to plane back.

Syracue, N. Y., May 21.

Tentative plans for the organization of a ninth major production company 'before the end of 1934' to give 'clean' film to exhibitors were drafted at two meetings held by Allied groups here last week. In session were the Allied directors from seven Atlantic Coast states and the New York State exhibitor body.

Whether the plans are transferred into definite action rests with the result of a survey now being made both in the United States and abroad by a committee headed by Edward Ansin, of Boston, Mass.

'If we get the right answer, we go into production this year,' announced Sidney E. Samuelson, Allied president. Samuelson added that there was no intention of taking over an existing producing organization, and assured that 'the financial backing for independent production will be there when the time comes.'

Both sessions blasted block booking, screen 'filth,' the defects of the NRA, particularly as an agency for the improvement of screen morals, and the shortcomings of the Hays organization. The Motion Picture Research Council came in for praise, so, too, the various church organizations campaigning for clean films.

Speakers at the meetings included Abram F. Myers, chairman of Allied's board, and Nathan Yamins, of Fall River, Mass., president of New England independent exhibitor.

Schaefer Warns On Organization Film Agitation

Something should be done to impress those womens' clubs, civic organizations, and church elements concerned with pictures the danger of permitting a interjection of intra-industry problems and propaganda motives.

This is the admonition of George J. Schaefer, general manager of Paramount, who last week attended and spoke at a meeting of women's clubs in Boston. His belief is that these groups may become an instrument for those in the industry whose interest is rooted in picture politics and self aggrandizement.

Schaefer told the Boston gathering that they should disassociate themselves with intra-industry problems and confine their efforts to the question of morals and standards of picture entertainment. His audience was not inclined to accept this suggestion, an attitude which was significant to Schaefer as to the headway which has been made in taking industry problems out of the hands of the industry and into the laps of organizations concerned with public interests. It is headed by the question of block booking, the subject of recent complaints from women's organizations and others.

The morals faction will evidently have to discover for itself, Schaefer declares, the motives behind the propaganda which is being fed them.

PAR ADVISORY BOARD MAY EXTEND TO 10 MEN

Original plans to limit the national advisory council of Par theatre partners to six, have been altered to permit wider scope of representation. With selection of M. J. Mullin, representing New England partners, and M. E. Comerford for Pennsylvania, the board numbers seven.

May be that the board will eventually number nearer 10 and include someone from the northwest, the Colorado-Utah territory and other portions of the south, which is thick with Par theatre partners. Likely John Friedl would be the northwest's choice and that Louis Marcus would represent the far west in such an event.

FILMS-CHURCH BATTLE NEAR

Foreclosure Trial on the Roxy, N. Y., Up May 28; Rothafel, Others Bid

Foreclosure trial on the Roxy theatre, N. Y., comes up before Federal Judge Francis Caffey on May 28. It is likely that at that time any reorganization plan which the bondholders of the theatre may have under consideration will also be discussed. For the present there is no signed deal with anybody for the spot, and it continues until further notice under Receiver Howard S. Cullman.

Cullman's term expires June 15 and if the hearing of the 28th resolves into anything it still is possible that Cullman's tenure may be extended until an actual reorganization gets an ultimate okay from the court.

However, S. L. Rothafel (Roxy) is confident of landing the spot under a proposed reorganization plan. Certain of Roxy's reps have been around the Radio City houses operated by RKO, lining up certain help to go with Roxy, and the date as stated to be handed these employees is June 1.

In the meantime, it also has been learned that Herbert L. Lubin, who has been on the financial promotion for Roxy, has been scouting downtown with banks relative to finances in connection with certain details of the proposed reorganization. Lubin, with one of the Chanin Brothers, is stated to have been looking over the Roxy theatre relative to the Chanins doing some reconstruction work on the spot. Understood that the Lubin-Chanin reconstruction angle is to do considerable repairs. These repairs if done on a cost-plus basis are stated to run around $200,000.

Depends on Roxy

Since no papers have actually been signed on the proposal there is still the chance that one of the other bids for the theatre may ride in ahead of Roxy's own deal for the theatre. Much seems to hang on what kind of salary arrangement can be made with Rothafel himself. Newly proposed financial overseers of the theatre aim to hand Roxy a weekly salary of $500, plus stock, which may be issued in connection with the reorganization.

The interests which Lubin and Rothafel are dealing with and in which group the downtown firm of Hayden, Stone is interested, are ready to put up $1,300,000 for reorganization purposes. However, there still must be worked out whether this money goes ahead of the mortgage on the building, which runs around $4,000,000, and whether a moratorium, so-called, against foreclosure on the theatre in favor of the new financiers under conditions could be had. The idea is to protect the first mortgage bondholders. Junior equity holders also have an interest of around $2,500,000.

Meantime, Fanchon & Marco continue to operate the spot for Receiver Cullman, although they withdraw, regardless, by June 15.

'CLEAN FILM' SPOTS CAN PICK THEIR PICTURES

Exhibitors who will play only pictures recommended by public groups in their territory can forget all about block booking and go on an individual rental basis with majors, anyway, for 1934.

The Hays office makes such a pledge for its membership. It holds itself up as weary of exhibitor cries to women's organizations that they can't show the pictures the people want because Hays won't let 'em.

In the presence of a group of exhibs and women last week in Boston, C. C. Pettijohn, Haysian right bower, took Allied Exhibitors' general manager, Abram Myers, by surprise with this declaration. But not an exhib in the room, including Myers' lieutenant, Sid Samuelson, would okay the idea of letting women in the neighborhoods oversee film bookings.

RADIO'S SCHEDULE SET

Depinet-Sisk Fly Back—Doyle Arrives Under Escort

Hollywood, May 21.

Radio's production schedule will probably be settled today (Monday), with Ned Depinet and Bob Sisk heading east by plane tomorrow.

Ralph Doyle, Radio's general manager for Australia, arrived Saturday (19) by boat and will spend some time at the studio before going to Chicago for that company's convention June 18.

Owing to the tumult caused by the longshoremen's strike, studio sent three husky guards to escort Doyle through the danger zone.

Say FWC, Others Held Off Films In $300,000 Suit

Los Angeles, May 21.

Charging conspiracy on the part of Fox-West Coast Theatres, Spyros and Charles Skouras, the three F-WC trustees in bankruptcy and all major distributing companies, to deprive the Parisian and Ravenna theatres of film product, H. W. and M. C. Chotiner, doing business as Chotiner Theatres, Inc., filed a $300,000 damage suit in U. S. District Court here.

This Federal court action is first filed against Fox-West Coast and major distribs since the Government launched a restraint of trade action in 1929, which terminated in the 1930 consent decree under which defendants have since been presumed to be functioning.

Action, brought under the provisions of the Sherman-Clayton Anti-Trust act, asks that an alleged monopoly and restraint of interstate trade and commerce be adjudged illegal and in violation of the anti-trust act; that the defendants be enjoined from continuing to carry out the practices complained against; that mandatory injunction issue commanding and enjoining the defendants to lease to plaintiff a fair and just proportion of its product for suburban first-run exhibition in the plaintiff's houses; that a mandatory injunction issue commanding and enjoining defendants to lease unto plaintiff their pictures for subsequent runs; that a mandatory injunction issue commanding and enjoining defendants to exhibit its motion picture films in plaintiff's theatres prior to exhibition in theatres in competition when the admission charged is lower than the admission in plaintiff's theatres; that $10,000 be awarded plaintiff for attorney fees, and that plaintiff recover judgment against the defendants in the sum of $300,000.

Complaint charges that defendants are taking away from the Chotiner houses first run of product which they have had for years.

Distributors are charged with permitting F-WC to run pictures ahead of the Parisian and Ravenna, although at a lower admission, and they are further charged with booking their feature product in such a manner that all F-WC houses in the western section of Los Angeles are enabled to play them before Chotiners get a chance at them.

Cohn Pulling Out

Harry Cohn, Columbia prez, back to the Coast the middle of this week, probably Wednesday or Thursday.

Cohn has been east setting his next season's program.

PIX ANXIOUS TO WIN CATHOLIC OK

But Meantime Reconciled to the Church's Offensive the Industry — To Propagandize for Local Parish Survey of Sundry Types of Pictures

NRA SOLUTION?

With a fuse extended and ready to touch off the morals issue with the NRA as soon as a properly drawn complaint is recorded with the Code Authority, the major dustry this week is launching its own defensive throughout the country for Hollywood.

The Catholic situation is virtually in the stage of crisis. Major filmdom, according to spokesmen, is reconciled to a battle with the Church. All it seeks, emissaries say, is an even break—that the Church recommend pictures which it does not ban. There are some film leaders who privately see a crusade of this kind as beneficial to the entire business and a certain washout, if judiciously and wisely conducted by the Church, for the dubious in production.

No ultimatum for a national Catholic stand has yet been reached. Bishops postponed their Cincinnati convention last week, where the picture campaign was to have been drafted. Formal reason given was that Bishop Cantwell of Hollywood could not be present with main facts regarding production conditions.

Another version for the postponement heard in film political circles is that the Church leaders are debating what course to follow; that experiments with lists of objectionable pictures in various parts of the country so far have been involved and not sufficiently satisfactory for

(Continued on page 21)

WOMEN'S CLUBS ABROAD SLAP YANKEE FILMS

Paris, May 21.

American films came in for some rough handling at the current convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs in Europe, held at the American Women's Club here.

Mrs. F. von Treschow, wife of the U. S. Consul General at Zagreb, Jungoslavia, complained to the others assembled that the Continent is being flooded with pictures that give a wrong impression of the United States.

Chi Mayor Eases News Censorship On Merchants; Expo Intervention

, May 21.

icture companies and Mayor Kelly have their dispute over the censorshi of newsreels with the mayor easing up on the slicing of the reels by censorship supervision in view of the squawks for freedom of the press.

Newsreel question was brought to a head by the leading Chicago merchants and the World's Fair offici both groups asking the mayor to co-operate with the picture companies in the matter of newsreel censorship. World's Fair was particularly interested in the question in view of the tremendous co-operation the Fair drew from the newsreel outfits in 1933.

M-G Gives Each Supe One Pic to Combat Indies on Dual Bills

Just Asking

They were discussing the office layout of the Rockefeller quarters on the 56th floor of the RCA building Radio City. Among those present was John D. Rockefeller, 3d, son of John D., Jr., who spends much time in connection with the family investment in the R.C. Music Hall.

It was suggested that the reception room be 'impressive.'

'Whom are we trying to impress?' asked John D., 3d.

Hollywood, May 21.

Metro, in setting tentatively 10 pictures each to be made for less than half the usual cost, has notified each supervisor to find one yarn and turn in a film as near the $100,000 mark as possible. Metro plans to be able to compete on the lower sides of dual bills with independents.

Most of the material forming the basis of the cut-rate productions are to be remakes of former silents, thus saving an original yarn buy.

First two yarns chosen didn't work, however. 'Excess Baggage' was started for the bargain route, but was discarded after it was decided that the new theme for the stage play, a radio station, was currently too common in pictures.

Other one, 'Four Walls,' reached the final script stage only to have the execs figure that the yarn offered bigger possibilities.

WANGER QUITS MG TO PROD. INDIES

Hollywood, May 21.

Walter Wanger obtained his release as producer from Louis B. Mayer and leaves for New York Wednesday (23) after setting himself in as an indie pic maker. In New York he plans to confer with his attorney, Nathan Burkan, on the indie project. End of this week he intends to sail to Europe to negotiate for stories and players now employed in London pictures.

Plans returning to Hollywood around Aug. 15 to put his organization into operation to make pix for a major release.

Wanger made seven films during the two years he was at Metro. He previously was at Columbia for a year. He was an exec at Par for 10 years.

Wanger has closed negotiations with Gardin Layton, in London, for rights to his novel 'There Goes the Groom.' Wanger also obtained a 60-day option on 'Sir Humphrey,' by Austin Murdock.

Production will be either in New York or on the Coast.

Barney Glazner Does 6 Under New Par Pact

Hollywood, May 21.

With a month to go on his current associate producer contract, Barney Glazer draws a new pact from Paramount to start at the expiration of the present one.

New agreement is for a year, calling for the supervision of a minimum of six pictures during that term.

COL. PIX'S 9-MONTH NET EXCEEDS ALL OF '32-'33

Unofficial accounts have Columbia Pictures' earnings for the first nine months of the current fiscal year exceeding the 12 months' net of the company for 1933. Company on Friday (18) declared a 25c quarterly dividend, first since fall of 1931, plus a 5% stock dividend payable semi-annually. Company's earnings in 1933 were handed around $750,000.

That 25c dividend is payable on 167,885 shares of common stock on July 2, to holders of record June 15. Stock dividend payable Aug. 2.

COOPER WILL DO 2 FOR RADIO

Hollywood, May 21.

Merian C. Cooper late Saturday (19) signed a deal whereby he will make two pictures for Radio next season. Both are to be specials, the first to be 'Last Days of Pompeii.' At the same time Cooper abdicated his position as vice-president in charge of production and relinquished all claims to a participation in the profits on the entire studio output.

Studio heads wanted Cooper to make four this year and eight for '35-'36, but he declined to commit himself to more than the duo.

Cooper sailed for Hawaii yesterday (Sunday) to bring his family back, and then expects to make a trip to Italy for research and background material, putting the production into work about Sept. 1.

Deal for the two pictures is understood to be in the neighborhood of $50,000 plus participation in the profits.

UA'S LONDON FILMS' DEAL FOR 16 PICTURES

Steven Pallos, general sales manager of London Films, in New York over the week-end, concluded a new deal for his company with United Artists for 16 pictures. Deal also gives London definite entry into the United Artists family as a distinct and separate production unit with complete UA unit privileges.

Terms of the deal permit London Films to pick its own films for production and exercise its own judgment on stars and other talent. United Artists agrees to distribute all the pictures thus produced throughout the world, with the exception of Canada, where London has a distributing deal with Regal Films.

London Films is now in active production in London on 'Exit Don Juan', starring Douglas Fairbanks. Picture will be completed in about three weeks, with 'The Scarlet Pimpernel' to follow.

London Films is a separate corporation, UA having no actual financial interest in it. Stock is owned by Alexander Korda, company's active head; Pallos, one of its organizers, Douglas Fairbanks, Charles Laughton and Ladislaw Biro. Joseph M. Schenck has no stock interest in the company.

Immediately on completion of the terms, Pallos left Sunday (30) for Washington, where he will spend a few days before going on to Canada for confabs with the Canadian distributors of his pix.

Amusement Stocks Stage Late Rally In Dullest Market Week of Year

Market crawled to new low in volume today (Monday), when only 380,000 changed hands. Smallest volume in 10 years. Eastman Kodak registered new high at 96½, up 2¼ points, on news that company had won patent suit in U. S. Supreme Court. Case was that of Eastman Kodak against Gray. Radio common and Preferred B shares slightly higher on report that Radio Corp. of America had won its patent case in U. S. Supreme Court. Litigation was between Radio Corp. and Radio Engineering Laboratories over validity of patents covering oscillating audion and feed back circuit devices. Courts previously upheld De Forest patents.

Whole market executed an about face last Thursday (17) on short covering and latest silver news from Washington front, thereby halting further decline and enabling numerous issues to close the week with gains. Amusement stocks were not backward in reversing the trend and, aided late in week by favorable news, made an excellent recovery. However, most issues of this group had not dropped off as badly as many industrials and did not have far to come back.

Dow-Jones Industrial averages definitely penetrated the 90-92 level on Monday (14) when averages touched 89.17 before snapping back. Industrial averages, largely as a result of a rally on Thursday, closed Saturday (19) at 95.13, up 2.91 points from previous Saturday. VARIETY'S unweighted averages for amusement group were up 1.29 points from previous Saturday, 12 representative issues in group finishing at 21.87. Group never dropped below last week's low mark and managed later in week to hit 22.50. Only discouraging factor was big drop in volume as compared with other weeks, but this was true of whole market. In fact, it proved to be dullest week thus far this year. Less than 300,000 shares were traded Saturday.

Although wheat and other grains showed strength most of week, stock market had virtually only one cheerful day—Thursday. News that Roosevelt had given in partially to silverites in Congress was met with considerable indifference at start of Thursday's market. Later in day, with silver and smelting issues leading way, whole market became active on upside. Considerable short covering aided bullish sentiment. Many had considered market was overdue for a sharp technical rally and short traders were quick to realize this fact and cover. Numerous long traders had been run out of the smelting stocks Wednesday, and it was easy to boost these the following day when more definite silver news came from Washington. Biggest net gain was made by U. S. Smelting, which ran

(Continued on page 21)

Yesterday's Prices

Sales		High.	Low.	Last	Net chge
500	Col. Pict.	30¼	29	30	+1¾
100	Col. Film.	3⅞	3⅞	3⅞
1,800	East. K...	96½	94½	96½
3,600	Gen. Elec..	20⅝	19⅞	20¼	+ ¼
1,500	Loew's ...	31½	30½	31½	+ ⅝
900	Par cfts...	4¼	4⅛	4¼	— ⅛
3,000	RCA	7⅞	7½	7⅞	+ ⅜
400	RKO	2⅞	2⅞	2⅞
2,300	W. B.....	6	5⅝	6

BONDS

$1,000	Loew's ...	100	100	100
7,000	P-F-L	51	50½	50¾	— ⅜
4,000	Do cfts..	40	40	40	+ ⅝
12,000	Par-Pub	51	50½	50½	—1½
15,000	W. B.....	58⅜	58⅜	58⅜	— ¼

CURB

1,400	Tech.	0⅝	0¼	0⅝	+ ⅛

WB'S REGIONAL SALES CONCLAVES; 60 FOR '35

A total of 60 features and 130 shorts is the Warner Bros. schedule for 1934-'35 to be announced concurrent with several regional sales conventions, decided on in preference to one large conclave as in previous years.

Regional meets will probably be followed by a country-wide series of trade showings at exchange points for exhibitors, a policy adopted last year. Quite likely WB each year will hold two such trade showings for buyers and exhibitors, one in the early fall when new winter product is ready, another in the spring for later releases.

First of the series of sales conventions to be held for Warner people only will be in Montreal May 28 and 29, second at Atlantic City, June 4 and 5. Dates for similar meets in the west and south will be set by Grad Sears on his return from Chicago.

Sales policies will be formulated at the regionals, including whether WB again is to insist on percentage contracts only and an admission minimum of 15c. Believed that both these departures will be continued.

More Than 50% of 90G C. A. Fees Not Yet Paid

With over half of the $90,000 exhibitor assessments due in the first half of 1934 unpaid Monday (21) (the deadline set by the NRA) the Code Authority of the Motion Picture Industry this week is taking steps to haul delinquents on the carpets of grievance boards throughout the country.

Boards are being instructed to investigate some 3,500 theatres which so far have failed to do their bit. Of these several hundred have already complained to the C. A. about unfair classification on the assessment role.

At the same time the C. A. has decided to allocate charges among all producers and distributors on a flat basis, rather than a percentage of the gross done by each.

Schlaiffer's Duties at UA Will Be Divided

United Artists will appoint no successor to L. J. Schlaiffer for the time being at least. Schlaiffer's duties as divisional sales chief under Al Lichtman will be divided at the home office.

Schlaiffer stepped out of UA last week. He joined the company about a year ago when J. R. Grainger went into U as general sales manager, succeeding him there.

GABE YORKE TO H.O.

Westwood, May 21.

Gabe Yorke leaves tomorrow (Tuesday) for New York.

Will attend the Fox convention opening May 30.

LOUIS COHEN EAST

Hollywood, May 21.

Louis N. Cohen, Fanchon & Marco realty head, accompanied by his brother, Harry, suddenly left for New York Friday night (18).

MULL FOX STORIES

Hollywood, May 21.

Julian Johnson has left for New York to confab with home office execs on the stories for the new year at Fox.

No Gang Stuff

Culver City, May 21.

Metro has optioned 'Hide-Out,' story dealing with reformation of a gangster, but picture will be minus any of usual gang film stuff. Robert Montgomery, who stars, has been summoned from his eastern farm.

W. S. Van Dyke directs the yarn, which is by Maurl Grashin.

Lou Sagal Remains Poli-N. E. Operator For Loew; Shaw Asst.

New Haven, May

Report that Lou Sagal would be out of Poli with Loew's assumption of operating control of the New England circuit is contrary to Loew's intentions. No shakeup is in the offing or intended. Sagal remains as general manager. Loew's officially assumed operation last week.

N. L. Nathanson, of Canada and A. C. Blumenthal are financial partners of Loew's in Fox-N. E. Under the Fox-N. E. operating control of Poli's, the former firm guarantees 5% interest on the first mortgage bonds on the Poli theatres. First mortgage amounts roughly to around $6,900,000. Interest on second mortgage of about the same amount will be paid as earned.

It was this position as guarantor that impelled Loew's mostly to assume operation presently rather than wait until the fall, as was first planned, according to accounts. S. Z. Poli holds a majority of the bonds. He stays in the picture together with Sagal, who mostly represents Poli. Gene Rodney, assistant executive of the circuit under Sagal, will probably leave the organization.

Harry Shaw is assistant general manager under Sagal. A. J. Vanni, nephew of Poli, continues in charge of booking, and Earle Wright, present house manager of local Poli's, will head circuit publicity. New manager of Poli's so far not picked.

CHAS. R. ROGERS LIKELY REMAINS PAR PRODUCER

Hollywood, May 21.

Charles R. Rogers has been given an extension of time on his Paramount contract to clean up cutting of two pictures and other details before winding up his present Par deal. Contract otherwise would have been over tomorrow (Tuesday). Likely Rogers will prolong his stay at Par.

He leaves around June 15 for New York by way of the canal for a vacation and to talk over his next production spot, which is not set.

Rogers completed nine features in the past year. 'Here Comes the Groom' and 'The Great Flirtation' are the last two, now being edited.

Warblers Vs. Rosy

Hollywood, May 21.

Singers Guild of Hollywood and vicinity has sent a petition to President Roosevelt urging dismissal of Sol A. Rosenblatt, as Divisional Administrator of the picture code.

Singers charge Rosenblatt has been unfair in his dealing with them and that he is incompetent to fill the position.

Dunlop's Year Up

After spending a year on the Coast in the interests of the Paramount trustees, John A. Dunlop returned to New York, Friday (18). He's from the law firm of Root, Clark, Buckner & Ballantine.

Dunlop went west shortly after Par's bankruptcy, principally to straighten the badly tangled situation between Fox-West Coast and Par as concerned seven Pacific Coast Par houses under lease to F-WC.

Monogram's Convention

Cincinnati, May 21.

Monogram Pictures will convention here June 1-2. Huddles and a banquet will be held in the Netherland Plaza.

William Onie and Chick Weinberg, of the local Mono exchange, in charge.

Industry's Rebuttal to Darrow

Major filmdom this week has an answer for each of the 10 points credited as being urged by Clarence Darrow to reform the industry's Blue Eagle.

There is some justification, the majors concede, for Darrow's recommendation deleting hook-up of shorts and features in sales policies. Majors, however, strongly contest the point holding that distributors are within their rights on the matter of dictating admissions in leasing.

They inform Darrow that his fourth point is well taken; that there is no ban against double-featuring in the code as it is now written.

The indies are complaining about major domination and yet they would dominate the boards themselves. The power, in order to be justly distributed, should be evenly distributed. Such is the reply to point five, which would reorganize grievance and zoning boards and place the indies in control.

It's just none of their business; it's strictly the distributors right. That's how point six is answered. This would outlaw distribution rights to specify playdates for films leased on percentage deals.

'That demand is pure anarchy,' major spokesmen reply to point seven, which would lift the time limit for filing complaints. Time is the very life of the business, they hold, because it denotes the run and is consequently the picture's biggest asset.

On the matter of opening code privileges to all, whether they have signed the Eagle or not, majors take the position that such is strictly up to the NRA.

Block booking is next in line. The majors hold that if any one can present a system to supplant the block they will listen gladly. Darrow would have a commission formulate a substitute.

There is no open comment on the tenth point, which is reported to deal with the removal of Sol Rosenblatt as administrator. Film leaders feel there is no need for comment, that Rosey's record speaks for itself.

1st Runs on Broadway

(Subject to Change)

Week May 25

Paramount—'Little Miss Marker' (Par) (2d week).
Capitol—'Sadie McKee' (MG) (2d week).
Strand—'Upper World' (WB) (23).
Rialto — 'Hollywood' (MG) (24).
Roxy—'Now I'll Tell' (Fox).
Music Hall—'Where Sinners Meet' (RKO) (24).
Rivoli—'Murder at the Vanities' (Par) (2d week).

Week June 1

Paramount — 'Many Happy Returns' (Par).
Capitol—'Viva Villa' (MG).
Strand—'The Key' (WB) (29).
Rialto — 'Hollywood Party' (MG) (2d week).
Roxy—'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) (2d week).
Music Hall—'Little Man, What Now?' (U) (31).
Rivoli—'Sorrel and Son' (UA).

$2 Pictures

'House of Rothschild' (United Artists) Astor (11th week).

HARRY J. BROWN'S 1ST AT WB, 'CAPT. BLOOD'

Hollywood, May 21.

Harry Joe Brown wound up seven years as an associate in film production with Charles R. Rogers and departed yesterday (Sunday) for Honolulu on five weeks' vacation. He reports July 2 at Warners to assume a producer job.

First picture for Brown at Warners is to be 'Captain Blood,' pirate story, in which studio will spot a cluster of stars. Brown took along a lot of material to read while in Honolulu.

Sally Eilers (Mrs. Brown) and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bren are accompanying him. Other picture people on the boat are Merian C. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Henley, Rosika Dolly and Irving Netcher.

Crawford Treats for Lew Brown at Paramount

Bobby Crawford, prez of DeSylva, Brown & Henderson, music pub firm, heads for the Coast Tuesday (22) on a film deal in behalf of Lew Brown.

Brown may land on the Paramount lot as a musical unit filmer.

New Coast Contracts

Walter Kingsford heads for Hollywood June 18 to report at Paramount under a term contract. He starts in 'Pursuit of Happiness,' recreating his original stage role.

Kingsford was signed through the Bestry - Meyers - Romm - Scheuing agency. Same agency has also placed Robert Allen and James Blakely with Columbia starting June 1.

N. Y. to L. A.

Benjamin F. Holtzman.
Hy Daab.
Alex and Peggy Oumansky.
Mr. and Mrs. William Raynor.
Harry Cohn.
Jack Benny.
Mary Livingstone.
Arthur S. Lyons.
Jean Sargent.
Frank Parker.
Bert Wheeler.
Bobby Crawford.
Sid Skolsky.
Harry Revel.
Mack Gordon.

L. A. to N. Y.

George K. Bacheller.
Maury Cohen.
Joe Schnitzer.
Julian Johnson.
Sam Harrison.
Walter Wanger.
Gabe Yorke.
S. R. Kent.
Louis N. Cohen.
Harry Cohen.
Charlie Judels.

WB B'klyn Studio Starts Again; Added Manpower

With Sam Sachs again in charge of Warners' Brooklyn Vitaphone studio, several new contracts were issued last week, including the signing of Lloyd French as director. French formerly directed comedies for Radio on the Coast. He starts at Warners with the first of a series of seven Ben Blue two-reelers.

Writers added are Justin Herman and Royal King Cole and a songwriting team, Sanford Green and Jack Manus.

RKO R'C'V'R'S REPORT

Slated for Filing Today (Tuesday) —Affiliates' Net Profits

Irving Trust, as receiver for RKO, was to have filed its report with the Federal Court today (Tuesday). Report comes after RKO already has reported net earnings for the first quarter of the current fiscal year of more than $400,000 and Keith-Albee-Orpheum and the B. F. Keith company aggregately have reported around $268,000 net for the quarter ended March 31, 1934. Latter figures are before federal income tax provisions. The receivers' report will show certain economies in overhead achieved during the past year, mostly in the conducting of the RKO Service Corp.

Metro's 'Sixteen'

London, May 12.

Metro has purchased the picture rights to 'Sixteen,' drama now current at the Criterion, paying $20,000 for the screen privilege.

Piece was originally produced for a fortnight at the Embassy, after which Alban B. Limpus brought it to the Criterion.

LAEMMLE EAST ON SALES

Hollywood, May 21.

Carl Laemmle leaves for New York next Friday (25) for sales confab accompanied by Joe Weil and Jack Ross.

DARROW'S ATTACK; NRA REBUTTALS

WHAT DARROW WANTS, ROSY RAZZES

Washington, May 21.

Principal recommendations of the Darrow report involve:

1. Setting up a new Code Authority with equal representation for majors, indies and the public.

2. Formulation of a new system of film distribution to supplant block booking and to provide 'the right to buy.' A commission of industry members would be appointed to accomplish this objective.

Elimination of trade practice clauses giving producers and distributors control over the manner in which their films are displayed.

4. Complete changes in composition of both Clearance-and-Zoning and Grievance boards to give indies topheavy majorities and domination of all activities.

Considering the Darrow recommendations on their 'merits,' Rosenblatt concluded the findings are based on:

1. Flagrant misinterpretations of the provisions of the code.

2. False, unsworn statements of a few discredited complaining witnesses.

3. Misstatement and deliberate evasion of rulings made by the courts.

4. Bias and prejudice of the boards' members resulting from an ex parte hearing or from preconceived notions.

5. Sympathy for the 'chiseler' and 'kicker' who for selfish reasons seeks to destroy the National Recovery Program.

6. Anticipated fears and forebodings actually disproven by past and present conduct.

7. Ludicrous counter-proposals which are completely oblivious to the reality of the situation.

'Small Group of Kickers'

Contrasting attention to industry matters paid by the NRA and the NRRB, Rosy observed that conclusions of the Darrow report were founded on 'ex parte presentation by a small minority of kickers' and the evidence consisted of statements by 'a few discredited and disgruntled witnesses, some of whom have been found guilty by the Supreme Court of New York of being violators of the code provisions with respect to labor, and who, it will be demonstrated later, brazenly misstated facts.'

'Flagrant misstatements of fact were anxiously devoured by the Review Board, ex parte accusations were accepted as the solemn truth despite volumes of testimony at hand to disprove them. Prejudice and factionalism were poured into the ears of the board and were accepted in lieu of the impartial findings of months of investigation made by the National Recovery Administration,' Rosenblatt informed Johnson.

What NRRB No Like

Washington, May 21.

Trade practice provisions held objectionable by Darrow Board of Reviewer include:

1. Specified play-date clause.
2. Forcing of shorts.
3. Fixed admission prices.
4. Provision permitting exhibitors to outlaw double features.
5. Cancellation percentage allowance.

Specific changes were urged to correct each of these situations.

Contending that evidence shows that certain exhibs have been compelled to buy so many shorts they cannot use them, the Review Board held that the clause permitting distributors to require theatre operators to buy a certain proportion of short subjects and newsreels in order to obtain features is a hardship on producers of shorts as well as exhibs. Recommending deletion of the present article on this subject, the report suggested adoption of an amendment specifying that 'no distributor shall require as a condition of entering into a contract for the licensing of the exhibition of motion pictures that the exhibitor contract also for the licensing of short subjects and newsreels.'

Charging the board with being ignorant of weeks of negotiation on this feature of the document, Rosenblatt replied that the clause 'was a concession wrung from the distributors and producers who insisted that they had the right to sell their product as they saw fit in accordance with their individual sales judgment,' and declared that the present provision 'affords relief which even the courts have been unable to give.'

Washington, May 21.

Complete overhauling of the film code and transfer of amusement pacts from the jurisdiction of Divisional Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt are demanded and bitterly opposed in the cat-and-dog fight over alleged NRA encouragement of monopolies, President Roosevelt revealed Sunday night (20) by publishing the long-awaited Clarence Darrow report and a sizzling response from the NRA.

With the Roosevelt Administration torn by almost unprecedented factional warfare over economic and political policies, the fate of the film pact remains in grave doubt. Recovery Administrator Johnson has expressed complete confidence in Rosenblatt, however, and denounced Darrow's attacks on the film pact authors. Rosy will continue to supervise administration of the picture agreement, Johnson announced Friday (18).

Unrivaled bitterness, reaching the point of libel and slander on occasions, has been provoked by Darrow's National Recovery Review Board's efforts to solve the problem of the 'little fellow' and prevent monopolies and oppression under NRA trade agreements. The famed Darrow report, which President Roosevelt first tried to pigeonhole and then to censor, saw daylight in full text yesterday, accompanied by replies from the caustic pens of Johnson, Rosenblatt and NRA Counsel Donald R. Richberg.

Calling for socialization of all American industry as the only means of correcting evils of competition under the profit system, the Darrow report insists upon immediate scrapping of the entire NRA and repudiation of the fundamental policies espoused by President Roosevelt. The Review Board's suggestions brought from Johnson a blistering declaration that acceptance of the report on the means to prevent monopolies and oppression of small business would require the American people to embrace either Communism or Fascism.

ATTACK ROSY, RICHBERG CHAMPIONS DEPUTY ADM.

By far the most heated attack unloosed by the Darrow outfit was directed at Rosenblatt and the picture code, but also the most vigorous counter-attack came from Rosy with the complete support of Johnson and Richberg.

Opening the general discussion of the film agreement, the Darrow board charged that:

'Monopolistic practices in this industry are bold and aggressive and its small enterprises are cruelly oppressed.'

The principal point still at issue concerns the Review Board tactics which were fiercely denounced by all NRA executives and also were bitterly assailed by John F. Sinclair, Review Board member, who submitted a minority report and offered President Roosevelt his resignation in protest against t') one-sided investigations on which the report was based.

'The Code of Fair Competition for the Motion Picture Industry as approved on Nov. 27, 1933, is designed to eliminate and oppress small enterprises engaged in the motion picture industry and tends to discriminate against them. The code, as at present drawn, is designed to promote a monopoly in the motion picture industry in behalf of the large producers and distributors,' the Darrow report informed the President.

'The code is of incalculable benefit to the small enterprises of the industry and affords great relief from the monopolistic effects of the copyright laws and other property rights which give legal advantages of an oppressive character to large enterprises, which they are required under the code to forego to a considerable extent,' retorted the NRA in a statement prepared by Counsel Donald R. Richberg.

Chief items in controversy between the NRA and the NRRB are:

1. Composition o. the Code Authority and subsidiary boards; administration of the code.
2. Trade practice provisions.
3. Block booking and the right to buy.

DARROW BOARD WOULD PLACE INDIES ON TOP

Amendments stipulated by the Reviewers to prevent major domination would have the effect of entirely changing the balance of power and putting independent exhibitors in the driver's seat. Overhauling of the Code Authority and both Grievance and Clearance-and-Zoning Boards, as well as sweeping changes in trade practice clauses, is urged to equalize economic strength of the two factions.

The question of Rosenblatt's fitness to supervise the film code brought almost libelous expressions from both the NRRB and the NRA, with the Divisional Administrator writing an exhaustive defense of his position and launching a vitriolic counter-attack on his critics in both the industry and the Darrow organization.

'Because of the defiance by the Deputy Administrator of this board and because of testimony to the effect that he is prejudiced against independent producers, distributors and exhibitors in the industry, this board recommends that the Deputy Administrator in charge of the Motion Picture Code be removed from all connection with the Motion Picture Code and another Deputy Administrator appointed,' wrote the Darrow board.

GEN. JOHNSON ENDORSES ROSY AS 'PUBLIC-SPIRITED'

Whereupon Gen. Hugh S. Johnson shot back that the Review Board 'impugns the motives of the Divisional Administrator in the Motion Picture Code because he formerly worked for an attorney who has clients in that field and it asks his removal. Nobody here has rendered more public-spirited, disinterested and intelligent service than this Divisional Administrator,' stated Johnson.

'There was no defiance and there is no prejudice. The report, even after distorting the minutes before it, was unable to offer a word of justification in support of its charges. It is vacuous, unfair, biased and prejudiced, and does not even make a pretense that its conclusion was arrived at upon any facts,' retorted Rosenblatt.

Almost the same intensity of feeling was reflected in charges and defenses written about the Code Authority by the two disputing parties. Darrow assailed the C.A. as not concerned about the indies; Rosy replied that actions speak louder than words.

Probably the most sweeping recommendation submitted to President Roosevelt by the Review Board pertains to block booking, a subject on which the Darrow crowd admits it entertains 'definite ideas.' The Reviewers, basing their legal stand on testimony submitted by Abram F. Myers of Allied to the effect that this practice has been condemned by Federal courts on various occasions, declare that protests against the system appear to 'have merit.'

A special investigation of distribution problems and preparation of amendments to the code solving this problem are urged by the Darrow board. Noting that 'the active co-operation of the industry as a whole is necessary to the correction' of the asserted evil, the Reviewers propose a code amendment setting up a committee of nine industry members to investigate the matter and report not later than Aug. 1.

This commission, financed by the Code Authority, would include two producers and two distributors and four independent theatre owners. The producer-distributor members would be picked by major members of the C. A. and the indie representatives by unaffiliated C. A. members, with the proviso that if the latter group cannot reach a unanimous agreement the indie commission posts shall be filled by Clarence Darrow. The eight industry members would elect a ninth to serve as chairman, with the Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission authorized to make the selection in case of a deadlock.

'The said committee shall study the questions of the right to buy films in free and open competition, and block booking, and shall submit a report to the Code Authority and the President of the United States suggesting provisions to be included in the code governing these two questions,' the Darrow-sponsored amendment stipulates.

Failure of the committee to make up its mind by Aug. 1 would result automatically in insertion in the code of articles declaring 'it shall be an unfair method of competition to deny to any exhibitor the right to buy in free and open competition whatever run or runs of pictures he requires'; and specifying that 'no distributor shall require as a condition of entering into a contract for the licensing of feature motion pictures that the exhibitor shall contract for or lease any feature pictures as a condition to the opportunity to lease all or a portion of the remaining feature pictures produced or distributed by said producer or distributor during any stated period of time.'

Remarking ironically that in the short time the Reviewers listened to 'a one-sided complaint,' they reached conclusions not only on contents of the code but matters omitted from the pact, Rosy sailed into this complicated scheme with the explanation that 'The omission of these subjects from the code was the result of careful consultation with the legal division of the National Recovery Administration and upon the advice of the Division of Economic Research and Planning.'

REVIEW BOARD IGNORANT BLOCK BOOKING IS LEGAL

The Divisional Administrator also pointed out that the Review Board had 'benignedly ignored' the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the second circuit in the case of Federal Trade Commission vs. Paramount, in which the practice of block booking was held to be a fair means of competition.

Emphasis was laid by both Rosy and Richberg on the scant attention given to intricate industry matters by the Darrow organization and the one-sided nature of testimony, and the NRA officials sternly condemned the Review Board's rejection of an exhaustive and convincing brief filed by seven major producers in which not only complaints but also the code and the history of block booking were thoroughly discussed and analyzed.

The code was promulgated following 1,200 hours of work in drafting, conferring, studying and revising proposals, and the hearing of 206 witnesses, the NRA execs emphasized, while the Review Board report was based on unsworn testimony of only 21 of 7,500 theatre operators and followed but 14 hours and 20 minutes of investigation into industry matters.

'The board acted solely on the basis of a disorderly mess of unsworn and largely false testimony of a few malcontents (many of them discredited by previously illegal practices), covering only eight out of 288 subdivisions of the code,' Richberg snorted, 'and arrived at sweeping conclusions upon the entire code founded on obvious ignorance of the code, of the industry, and the law. The detailed analysis of the board's action shows conclusively that the investigation was carried on with utter disregard for fair play and that the conclusions of the board are unworthy of the slightest consideration.'

The Rosenblatt comments along this line were even more bitter as the Divisional Administrator backed up his accusation that the findings are unwarranted, unjust and ignorant. Breaking up the Reviewers' comments into three categories, Rosy denounced the findings as 'unsupported by any factual basis,' 'unscientific, inaccurate, unfair and inequitable,' 'unsupported by a scintilla of evidence,' based on flagrant misconceptions' and resulting from 'slanderous attacks.'

Rejection by the Reviewers of a brief filed by the seven major producers drew acid denunciation from both Rosy and Richberg. Meanwhile industry observers here charged Darrow and Counsel Lowell Mason with double-crossing the Code Authority, pointing out that permission to file a brief instead of

(Continued on page 8)

DON'T REGARD ROSY OUSTER SERIOUSLY

If the Darrow report doesn't do anything else it is likely to precipitate a Congressional investigation of the entire NRA during the summer. This was an opinion of Government aides also reflected in major film parts Monday (21).

Washington contacts of the business over the week-end termed it 'a nine day wonder' and predicted that by the end of the week the report will either be pigeon-holed or be flaunted around as new political fodder by Senators Nye and Borah, among others.

General Johnson at the same time was being privately chided by some of the more active picture minds which felt that the Eagle Man would have made a better job of his reply had he taken the suave and time-will-tell path.

For Rosenblatt, however, there was none in major ranks who believed he is set for an ouster. And those who consider themselves close to the Divisional Administrator are certain he won't resign as long as there is any firing.

89.5% of Pic Code Favors Indies, Sez Rosenblatt

Washington, May 21.

Defending his brain child in a sizzling 67-page analysis of the Darrow board findings, Rosy sailed into the Reviewers with the assertion that: 'If the report is intended to be a conclusion based on testimony and findings of fact, it can easily be demonstrated that it is wholly unwarranted, unjust, prejudiced, and ignorantly contrived. . . . Is the labor and wisdom of months of efforts to be upset by such undigested, hasty, one-sided, and ill-considered opinions?'

Answering the Darrow board's generalized accusation that the code benefits principally major industry interests, Rosenblatt cited statistics showing the origin of important provisions and analyzed in detail the effect of every disputed clause. The NRA exec replied that 'an exhaustive, scientific, and accurate analysis of the code, as contrasted with the hop, skip and jump method of the National Recovery Review Board,' demonstrates that:

Of 45 parts of the code, 26 were for the benefit of indies and 25 grant entirely new rights. Excluding general provisions, 89.5% of all portions were for the benefit of unaffiliated exhibitors, distributors and producers, and 99% of these provisions gave new privileges to independent interests.

'The provisions of this code assure to small enterprises that which the National Industrial Recovery Act was designed to obtain for them,' Rosenblatt answered confidently.

Nye Knees Rosy

Washington, May 21.

Clarence Darrow, promising to spend a full day discussing the NRA situation on the floor, Senator Nye today jumped on Deputy Commissioner Sol A. Rosenblatt and asked for immediate publication of comments of the Trade Commission and Dept. of Justice on the Darrow report.

'I have not completely digested the report but if the NRA response written by Mr. Rosenblatt on the moving picture code is a reflection of the general response then that response must be a masterpiece of evasion and confusion,' exclaimed Nye.

Darrow Attack on NRA

(Continued from page 7)

appearing personally had been given Harold S. Bareford, Warner counsel and C. . ambassador.

Admitting receipt of the brief, the Reviewers made no objection to the fact that the majors' reply was submitted after hearings concluded, but threw out the document on the ground that it 'attempts to discredit the testimony of these various independent exhibitors and purports to set forth f cts showing that their testimony before this Board was misleading and false. . . . In view of the fact that the major producers-distributors knew of the hearing before this Board and could have appeared and testified in defense of the Code had they so desired, this Board does not believe that the brief filed by these seven producers-distributors should be given serious consideration, particularly in view of the nature of many of the statements.'

While Rosenblatt hurried to assert that the Darrow organization, 'in violation of its arrangement and despite the incontrovertible factual exposure of the complaints' 'testimony' contemptuously ignored the very evidence which would make its findings impossible,' Richberg cited the instance as typical of the Reviewers' l . b an . closed minds.

'The refusal of the Board even to receive correct information is shown in its rejection of the brief filed by seven producing-distributing companies,' the NRA legal chief said. 'The Board specifically agreed to the presentation of testimony through this brief—since all other testimony was unsworn—and then disregarded it on the announced basis that since these major producers-distributors 'could have appeared and testified' their brief should not be given serious consideration. Thus by giving no attention to the vast files of information of the NRA, or the principal testimony offered in support of the code, and by refusing to listen to the exceptionally well-informed Deputy Administrator the Board was able to arrive at findings contrary to fact and conclusions contrary to any intelligent opinion,' Richberg charged.

SCORES MYERS AND BRANDT AS 'PROFESSIONAL OBJECTORS'

Declaring that the complainants were repudiated by the overwhelming majority of indies who accepted the code, Rosy lashed out particularly at Myers and Harry Brandt, president of the Independent Theatre Own. s Association of New York, in analyzing the testimony and answeri . r personal attacks. The code supervisor pointed out that 8,950 written acceptances have been received and that 74% of the signers are indie exhibs.

'Every industry has its raucous outer fringe of professional objectors who thrive on contest and publicity; who obtain professional jobs to lead the 'opposition' and who detest the codes which render useless such parasites,' Rosy asserted. 'With the exception of two or three, all of the exhibitor witnesses who testified have over a period of many years appeared as witnesses time and again before Congressional committees, courts of law, and other forums to testify that due to the 'oppression' of large producers and distributors the death-knell of the independent exhibitor was a. hand.'

Urging several minor alterations, the Reviewers pressed for at least 15 major revisions which would completely upset the industry and counteract all that has been done toward bringing stability. These revisions were urged with the contention that 'if the code is not changed in many parts, the small independent theatre owner and operator in this country will be either forced out of business entirely, or his business will be so dominated and controlled by the large producers, distributors, and affiliated theatre owners that he will only be able to conduct his business in the way and manner prescribed and desired by these large interests.'

'The code is drawn so as to favor the large interests in the producing, distributing and exhibition branches of the industry, and under its provisions the independent producer, distributor and exhibitor—especially the latter—is entirely at the mercy of these interests,' the report stated.

The first and most important change—aside from the recommendation on block booking—relates to the composition of the Code Authority which, the Reviewers contended, is dominated by the majors and does no. afford adequate representation to indies. The report held that eight of the 10 codists are members of the major group or sympathetic toward large interests.

REVIEW BD. SCORES C. A., FAVORS GOVT. MEMBERS

Particular criticism was directed at the provision for appointng alternates, which the Reviewers complained makes the C.A. 'self perpetuating' and is 'unusual.' Such a provision, the report said, 'obviously should be eliminated,' and to accomplish this end a new Article II was suggested. This substitute provides that:

1. The C.A. should comprise 5 affiliated producers, distributors and exhibitors; 5 indies, and 5 Government representatives with voting privileges.

2. All members would be named by the President, who also would designate alternates.

3. Not more than two of the indies could be producers or distributors; none of them could be affiliated with the MPPDA; and no indie should be an officer, member, or representative 'of any trade . ciation supported in whole or in part by affiliated producers, distributors or theatres.'

4. All committees appointed by the codists should provide proportionate representation.

Authoring a complete defense of the C.A., Rosenblatt derided the proposed set-up and denounced the charge that only two of the five indie members are truly representative of their groups. He also ridiculed the complaint that the C.A. is a 'self-perpetuating body,' terming this criticism a 'catch-word accepted without understanding or discrimination' by the Review Board.

Charging the Reviewers with basing their complaint on 'anticipated treachery,' Rosy reviewed decisions of the codists to support his contention that all deliberations have been carried on impartially and that indies have been treated squarely.

'The Report fears evil where actual conduct reveals only good,' the Divisional Administrator commented. 'The Report anticipates dishonesty where actual conduct reveals honesty. The Report presumes that the personal interest of the members of the Code Authority will sway their honest judgment; the conduct of the members of the Code Authority conclusively demonstrates the opposite.'

F.D.R. OBJECTS TO GOV'T CONTROL OF BIZ—ROSY

Rosy also dismissed the recommendation that Government members should enjoy voting rights, remarking that the suggestion is contrary to NRA principles and opposed to President Roosevelt's repeated statements that he did not wish the Government to run business.

Power of grievance boards to direct distributors to boycott offending exhibitors was severely condemned by the Darrow group, who said that section 3, part 3, division E of the unfair trade practices article should be entirely stricken. The Report said that 'such a power . . . should not be given to any industry board, and certainly not to a board made of business competitors.'

Changes in the composition of both C-Z and Grievance boards were demanded in order to provide what the Reviewers believe to be fairer representation for indie exhibs. Giving the C-Z boards power to fix schedules by agreement, the Report said, establishes a practice which courts have held is a violation of the law when done in combination.

Maintaining that operation of C-Z boards is 'vital to independent exhibitors,' the Review Board proposed an amendment which it held would curb C.A. and major producer domination which exists at preseht. The new provision which is offered as a complete substitute for article IV, part 1, section 1, calls for election of members within each exchange territory and allocated places as follows: One affiliated and one independent distributor; one affiliated and on. independent first-run exhibitor; four independent subsequent-run exhibitors, and a Government member.

The board also recommended deletion of section 4, which is termed 'argumentative,' and which it said could be regarded as an attempt to influence decisions of C-Z boards. Remarking that 'it is to be assumed that the members of the boards will know what factors to consider in preparing their clearance and zoning schedules,' the Reviewers said, 'such instructions and argumentative material have no place in the code.'

A third change in this portion of the trade pact would make decisions of the boards final on the ground that the present appeal arrangement discriminates against indies who might be forced to appear before the C.A. and be confronted with new and additional evidence which would place complainants at a disadvantage.

These recommendations received no encouragement from Rosenblatt, who bluntly pointed out that the composition specified would be 'clearly inequitable' and that the amendment 'deliberately stacks the board against the seller.' Rosy said the suggestion that the C.A. should not appoint the members of the boards is 'ludicrous in the light of actual experience.'

The idea of eliminating the section setting up guides for decisions of the boards was termed 'trivial' by the Divisional Administrator, who was 'amused at the Review Board's sudden display of 'confidence in the ability, standing and experience' of the Clearance-Zoning members after criticizing their tendency to discriminate against small operators.

Recommended elimination of the clause permitting the C.A. to review decisions in zoning disputes also drew criticism from the code supervisor, who said the suggestion is 'hyper-technical and unsound.'

MATTER OF GRIEVANCE AND ZONING BOARDS

In the matter of grievance boards, the Review Board advocated that final decisions be rendered by these agencies instead of having cases certified to the Code Authority for disposition and called for changes in membership. The former revision was suggested with the idea that 'if the Code Authority is a body which is to pass on complaints, it would seem better to provide that such complaints be made direct,' while the latter alteration was urged in the interest of more adequate representation for indies.

Appointment of the grievance boards by the C.A. was termed 'improper,' while the allocation of positions was described as 'arbitrary and unfair' and tending to favor producers and distributors. Observing that under present conditions these boards probably would vote three-to-one against indies, the Reviewers advocated an amendment providing as follows:

1. Boards would be elected in each exchange territory. 2. Membership would include one representative, two indie exhibs, one affiliated operator, and one Government member.

Still another change in this portion of the code would result in elimination of section 5 of part 2, article VI, the paragraph which permits distributors to give preference in leasing to their affiliated exhibitors. This section was regarded as 'unfair to the independent exhibitor' and as preventing indies from complaining about action which adversely affects their interests.

Most of the board's suggestions concerning grievance boards were termed by Rosy as 'too trivial to be worthy of comment,' but the Deputy Administrator displayed considerable concern about the idea that 'a distributor has not the unequivocal right to license his own photoplays to any theatres operated by him.' Such a privilege, Rosy observed, 'has at all times been conceded by every member of the industry,' including exhibitors who were star witnesses at Review Board hearings.

A recommendation that the rules of evidence be followed and no new testimony be permitted at C. A. hearings on appealed decisions was nixed by the Divisional Administrator while Rosy also turned down a suggestion that privileges of codes be extended to all members of the industry regardless of their willingness to sign the pact.

'Is it oppressive to require that one who wishes the benefits of the code provisions should consent to it so that he may also undertake the obligations thereof?' Rosy inquired. 'If it is oppressive to deprive an exhibitor of the relief afforded by the code, how can it be argued that the code oppresses exhibitors?

'Those who execute the code are required to contribute financially to its operation, but those who do not need make no contribution. By what moral considerations does the report reach the conclusion that one should be able to escape contribution to the operation of the very machinery the advantages of which he seeks?

'It is revelatory of the report that it seeks to protect the shirker and the slacker and to aid him to get under the wire.'

BOARD'S ATTITUDE ON % PLAY DATES DEPRECATED

The usual argument was repeated by the Review Board on the subject of specified play-dates, the report condemning distributors for requiring 'percentages as high as 35% and 40%,' and expressing the opinion that 'this practice exacts an undue amount from the exhibitor' and 'takes the control of the operation of the theatre out of the hands of the theatre owner and puts it in the hands of the distributors.' The recommended amendment, a complete substitute for the existing code provision, stipulates that 'no distributor shall require any specific day or days of the week for the exhibition of specific pictures or class of pictures.'

Accusing the Reviewers of a 'flagrant misunderstanding,' Rosenblatt said the code clause at present is so plain that the board's misstatement suggests 'either deliberate misconception or gross negligence,' and said adequate relief is provided for oppressed exhibs. The Divisional Administrator added that 'none of the rights granted to the independent exhibitors by this provision . . existed prior' to the signing of the code.

Code clauses granting distributors the right to stipulate admission scales in negotiating contracts were condemned by the Reviewers and upheld by Rosy in another similar difference of opinion.

The Review Board demanded a substitute clause on the ground that 'no such provision should be in the code,' while Rosenblatt replied that 'for more than 10 years upon the demands of exhibitors there have been minimum admission prices in standard and other exhibition contracts . . the courts have held such clauses legal and not in violation of public policy.'

Citing testimony that many major distributors have been inserting by means of a rubber stamp a qualification that features covered by contracts are not to be shown as part of dual bills, the Review Board said the provision authorizing changes in the standard contract is 'entirely unfair both to the independent producers and distributors and to the independent exhibitors.' Such a practice, the Reviewers added, 'is another interference with the right of the exhibitor to operate his theatre as he thinks best to meet competition or the desires of his patrons. If the practice is one which is to the interest of the industry to eliminate, there should be a provision in the code to that effect.' The Board amendment would provide that 'such additional conditions or provisions shall not prohibit any exhibitor from contracting for the licensing of the exhibition at the same performance of any motion picture from any other distributor.'

Explaining reasons for the existing clause which provides for barring of duals when 60% of the exhibs in any territory agree, Rosy said that NRA experts felt the subject involved questions of individual sales policy and the code should not attempt to settle this controversy. The Divisional Administrator added that 'a distributor acting individually may have the right to determine when he licenses a picture that it shall not be exhibited with another on the same program' and observed that 'particularly is this true where there are percentage engagements and the distributor's picture may have cost $1,000,000 to produce, while the second feature on the program cost but $50,000 to produce.'

FAVOR 15% REJECTIONS, 10% NOT ENUF, SAYS R. B.

The 10% rejection privilege is not sufficiently great to protect exhibitors, the Reviewers said, asking the limit be placed at 15%. In this connection, the Darrow board referred to the code as stipulating that average rentals must be $350,000, a slip which brought ridicule from Rosy who remarked that if the Board had read the 'simple language' of the pact 'it could not have made the error of assuming that the average license fees for all pictures are more than a quarter of a million dollars.'

The present 10% provision was held by the Divisional Administrator to be a major concession to indie exhibs, and Rosy remarked that, 'There is no other industry in America which affords such an unequivocal and extraordinary right.' The code grants the greatest cancellation privilege ever afforded in the motion picture industry. 'This special relief was intended particularly for the small operator.'

Reference was made by the Reviewers, on the subject of Rosenblatt's fitness to administer the film code, to his former law partnership with Nathan Burkan, who is Columbia Pictures' counsel and director, and United Artists board member, but the Board failed to link this fact to Rosy's asserted prejudice against small businesses.

The Revi v Board implication was picked up, however, by the Divisional Administrator, who observed that 'Perhaps, according to the Board, mere association with a law office which represents among other things motion picture interests disqualifies an attorney from any position of trust.'

Relating his personal background, Rosy asserted that his law practice 'concerns itself to the largest extent with the protection and safeguarding of the rights of independent and unaffiliated exhibitors, distributors and producers, so far as any motion picture industr clients were concerned' and maintained that 'the Deputy Administrator, instead of being possibly prejudiced against the independent interests has undoubtedly been their protagonist.'

REVIEW ROSENBLATT VS. MYERS AND BRANDT FEUD

The standing feud between Rosenblatt and the Myers-Brandt faction was described in detail, including reference to the Allied campaign to 'deluge the White House' with telegrams protesting the code, and the conferences between the bolting independents and Col. R. W. Lea of the NRA which resulted in Lea's approval of Rosenblatt's work and decisions.

Using a remarkable array of invectives, Rosenblatt termed his industry critics 'hoodlums,' 'the wrecking crew,' 'obstructors,' as he blamed the attack on his personal integrity on 'a handful of so-called unaffiliated exhibitors and their counsel whose deliberate purpose it was to sabotage the code conferences. This same group constituted the complaining witnesses before the National Recovery Review Board.'

The NRA exec asserted that this 'defiant group' has fought the code at every turn and charged that 'one of its weapons was to slanderously impugn the honesty and sincerity of the Deputy Administrator.' He blamed the indie faction for spreading 'vicious rumors, wholly unsupported by even a shadow of suspicion' and accused them of 'mulcting' many innocent exhibs of large sums under the guise of soliciting contributions to finance a campaign to 'protect' exhibitors' interests.

'The National Recovery Review Board, listening to only one side and without any knowledge of the background of the controversy, found that the Deputy Administrator 'may be' prejudiced against independent exhibitors. The overwhelming number of independent exhibitors in this country think otherwise,' Rosy declared.

1st All-Indie Appeals

Only three cases were on the appeals docket of the Code Authority Monday (21) all from the same city, Baltimore. They are scheduled to be heard when the C.A. convenes May 30.

What has happened to all the cases reported throughout the country, especially in Chicago, no one attached to the Authority knows.

Indie versus Indie is the title of the three Baltimore cases; Cluster against the Leader theatre, and two complaints by the Gwynn against the Forrest. They will be the first all-indie cases to be heard by the C.A. charges so far involving indies against majors.

Mrs. Brokaw, C.A.

Washington, May 21.

Appointment of Mrs. Clara Boothe Brokaw, New York writer and editor of Vanity Fair, to the film code authority as Government member was made last week by Divisional Administrator Sol Rosenblatt.

Mrs. Brokaw is serving in the same capacity on the legit code authority.

Loop Stalls on Holdovers While Waiting for Fair; 'Stingaree' Tops Pace on 17G; 'Princess' a Weak 20G

Chicago, May 21.

That pre-Fair lull remains to hold down grosses here. People are staying away from the theatres generally, being too busy getting their own business in readiness for the Fair rush.

Second cue for slide is the trio of houses loaded with holdover pictures this week. McVickers continues with 'Viva Villa,' which picked up excellently after a slow start. Flick will stick a fortnight or more and then be replaced by 'Change of Heart.' 'Rothschild' will make it a full month at the United Artists, a hefty and profitable stay throughout. Roosevelt on Saturday (19) took over 'Manhattan Melodrama' from the Chicago, where it had cleaned up the best profit the house had seen in some weeks.

Showmen have two pictures to talk about this week, 'Stingaree' and '30-Day Princess,' but not for the same reason. 'Stingaree' is lifting the Palace to $17,000 and the Chicago is lonesome with 'Princess.' According to opening pace house can't see $20,000 for the picture, and it's likely to replace on Wednesday or Thursday with 'Murder in the Vanities.' B.&K. stuffed 'Melody in Spring' and 'Trumpet Blows,' which went into the nabes without any first run stay in the loop. 'Melody,' at the Southtown, is doing excellent business.

State-Lake yesterday (20) reverted to its Sunday openings and its 35c top. Has resulted in a pick-up of business, particularly in the afternoons. B.&K. planning to open the Garrick on Saturday (26) simultaneous with the Fair getaway. Plan is for repeat pictures at 40 and 25c.

Estimates for This Week

Chicago (B&K) (3,940; 35-55-75)—'30-Day Princess' (Par) and stage show. With the general lull in the picture biz may hit new low for this theatre. Indications are not bettér than $20,000. Picture may be pulled before week is out, with 'Murder in the Vanities' (Par) to replace for eight or nine-day run. Last week 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) socked through to $17,100 and went into the Roosevelt for a holdover.

McVickers (B&K) (2,284; 25-35-65)—'Viva Villa' (MG). Clicked nicely opening week, building to fine $19,100. Remains at least a fortnight before giving way to 'Change of Heart' (Fox). Pace continuing and gross will stick above $10,000 currently.

Oriental (B&K) (3,200; 25-35-40)—'Once to Every Woman' (Col) and vaude. Off again this week around $11,000, just fair. House managed to top $12,000 last week on 'Show Off' (MG) and a vaude bill of Duncan Sisters and Will Mahoney.

Palace (RKO) (2,500; 35-55-83)—'Stingaree' (Radio) and vaude. House perking on this Dix-Dunne picture. Up to $17,000. Last week 'Finishing School' (Radio) finished to fair $14,100.

Roosevelt (B&K) (1,500; 25-35-45)—'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG). Second week in loop and headed for fine $9,000. Last week 'Ninth Guest' (Col) dribbled along to so-so $5,100.

State-Lake (Jones) (2,700; 20-30-35)—'Hips Hips Hooray' (Radio) and vaude. Looks like fine $12,000 this week under new policy. Last week went eight days for 'Hold That Girl' (Fox) to okay $12,830.

United Artists (B&K-UA) (1,700; 35-55-65)—'Rothschild' (UA) (4th week). Month run has shown consistent profit. Will finish to $9,000 easily after taking gratifying $13,800 for third week. 'Sadie McKee' to follow next Saturday (26).

Ginger Triples

Hollywood, May 21.

Radio has pacted Ginger Rogers for 52 weeks straight, with yearly options for five.

Actress' old covenant was riddled and salary id have been tripled.

KRUG CRICKING AGAIN

Pittsburgh, May 21.

Karl Krug, recently of United Artists' publicity department in New York, is now picture critic and columnist for the Sun-Telegraph here, Hearst paper.

Krug was formerly dramatic editor for Scripps-Howard Press, leaving in 1932 after a disagreement.

LOMBARD'S REPEAT FLU

Hollywood, May 21.

Carole Lombard is stricken with a second attack of influenza.

'Rothschild' Still Buff's Best; 'Gambling Lady' OK

Buffalo, May 21.

'Rothschild' is walking with the business palm again for the current period, after a bang-up first week which took toll of the other box offices. The Buffalo is figured to continue last week's slide.

Century rates to hold its own and the Lafayette with the latest Stanwyck looks good on the strength of the star's past showings.

Estimates for This Week

Buffalo (Shea) (3,600; 30-40-55)—'Sadie McKee' (MG) and Habanera revue. Started mildly with indications for about $14,000. Last week '20 Million Sweethearts' (WB) 'Continental Revue' dropped off from expectations to under $15,000.

Hipp (Shea) (2,400; 25-40)—'Rothschild' (UA) (2nd week). Continuing along to nice business after fine week. Should get $8,000 or better. Last week same, showed up strong for an excellent $14,000.

Century (Shea) (3,400; 25)—'Come On Marines' (Par) and 'Sing and Like It' (Radio). Takings preserving even pace at $6,000. Last week 'Deluge' (Radio) and 'I Believed in You' (Fox); five-day week for this program brought gross down to $4,500.

Lafayette (Ln.) (3,400; 25)—'Gambling Lady' (WB) and 'Manhattan Love Song' (Mono). Doing neatly and will undoubtedly top $7,000. Last week '9th Guest' (Col) and 'Beggars in Ermine' (Mono) average at just over $6,000.

Ellington, 'Wild Cargo' $14,500 in Seattle; 'Witching Hour' N.S.G.

Seattle, May 21.

Heavy sugar expected this week for name stage unit policy that Music Hall tries, with similar attraction about every third week. Prices at b.o. upped to 55c top, including the tax. Duke Ellington teamed with 'Wild Cargo' for a combination that should bring 'em out alive for the full week.

Paramount back to regular singleton and stage policy, with the takings also back to regular.

Estimates for This Week

Bluse Mouse (Hamrick) (1,000; 25) 'As the Earth Turns' (WB) and 'Uncertain Lady' (U) dual. Expected to gather fair $2,000. Last week, 'Smarty' (U) and 'Crosby Case' (U) dual, good enough $2,800.

Coliseum (Evergreen) (1,800; 15-25) 'Mystery of Mr. X' (MG) and 'Devil Tiger' (Fox), dual first half; 'Moulin Rouge' (UA) and 'Three on a Honeymoon' (Fox) dual last half. Figure around $2,800, slow. Last week, 'Carolina' (Fox) and 'I've Got Your Number' (WB) dual, $3,350, good.

Fifth Avenue (vergreen) (2,400; 25-40) 'Viva Villa' (MG). Big publicity barrage helping; nifty $13,000. 'Melody in Spring' (Par) dandy pix and Al Pearce gang on stage, $12,700, very big.

Liberty (J-vH) (1,900; 10-25) 'I'll Tell the World' (U) and 'My Pal, the King' (U) dual should get very agreeable $4,500. Last week 'Ninth Guest' (Col) and 'Speed Wings' (Col) dual, $3,400, fair.

Music ox (Hamrick) (950; 25-25) 'House of Rothschild' (UA). Extended run from Music Hall, making this the third week and still worth good $4,200. Last week 'Looking for Trouble' (UA) ten days, $4,400. Very fair.

Music Hall (Hamrick) (2,300; 25-35-55) 'Wild Cargo' (Radio) and Ellington roadshow with Cotton Club band, Ivie Anderson and Earl (Shakehips') Tucker making great combination for box office, expected to accumulate pretentious $14,500. Last week, 'House of Rothschild' (UA) eight days (second week) very forte $7,300.

Paramount (Evergreen) (3,106-25-35) 'Witching Hour' (Par) and five vaude acts with Buffano's Club Villa Band. Hardly $5,000, poor. Last week 'Wharf Angel' (Par) with dual stage show, Jay C. Flippen 'Follies' atop regular Levy five-act bill, responsible for good $9,100.

HALEY IN 'GIRL FRIEND'

Hollywood, May 21.

Jack Haley has been chosen for a featured part in 'The Girl Friend', which Bill Rowland will produce for Columbia.

Picture set to start May 28.

'WHARF ANGEL' LEAN $900

'We're Not Dressing' Gets $7,000 In Birmingham

Birmingham, May 21.

With the exception of personal appearance of Guy Lombardo Saturday night the amusement diet this week is lean. 'We're Not Dressing' is only outstanding bill. Lombardo plays auditorium for dance, with one theatre appearance at Temple which was reopened for occasion.

Estimates for This Week

Alabama (Wilby) (2,800; 30-35-10)—'We're Not Dressing' (Par), Bing, goes the cash register for $7,000. Last week 'Men in White' (MG), $6,900.

Ritz (Wilby) (1,600; 25)—'Moulin Rouge' (UA). Just fair $2,500. Last week 'Cat and Fiddle' (MG) $2,800.

Empire (BTAC) (1,100; 25)—'Whirlpool' (Col) with Jack Holt, not so hot $2,600. Last week 'Twentieth Century' (Col) $2,900, slipped.

Strand (Wilby) (800; 25)—'Wharf Angel' (Par). No names and no story $900. Last week 'Show Off' (MG) around same.

OLSEN-SHUTTA $10,000, K. C.

Kansas City, May 21.

If the firstruns don't do business this week it is not because the managers failed to spread the printer's ink. The publicity was poured on thick and the countup will tell the story.

Mainstreet with 'Registered Nurse' on the screen but with lion's share of the advertising given to George Olsen and Ethel Shutta, who were given a welcoming reception at the station on arrival, is set for a nice gross.

A block away the Midland selling all seats at all times for a quarter found use for its 4,000 seats when the customers lined up to buy tickets to see Joan Crawford in 'Sadie McKee.'

In addition to huge newspaper ads the management tied up with the distributors of Liberty and had heralds for the picture inserted in every one of the magazines on the stands and street sales.

Estimates for This Week

Mainstreet (RKO) (3,200; 25-35-50)—'Registered Nurse' (FN) and George Olsen and Ethel Shutta. Stage unit given lead publicity and as both the Olsen band and Ethel Shutta are radio favorites here, nice business is expected. This is Miss Shutta's first Kansas City appearance. Over week-end takings good and looks like close to $10,000, good. Last week, '20 Million Sweethearts' (FN) and 'No Greater Glory' (Col), $6,000.

Midland (Loew) (4,000; 25)—'Sadie McKee' (MG). Joan Crawford back to her home town in this one and the fair sex are out in droves; opened heavy and is going strong. Should take near $16,000. Last week the Gable-Powell-Loy 'Manhattan Melodrama' eased along for $11,400.

Newman (Par) (1,800; 25)—'30-Day Princess' (Par) and 'Uncertain Lady' (U). Up against strong opposition but getting a fair play from those who are seeking a lot of show for their quarter. Will probably return about $5,000. Last week, 'You're Telling Me' (Par) and 'A Modern Herp' (WB), hit about the same.

Tower (Rewot) (2,400; 25)—'Countess of Monte Cristo' (U) and 'Harlem Hotcha' all-colored revue. Had a nice play over the week-end is expected to show a little better than normal, possibly $5,500. Last week 'The Whirlpool' (Col) got $4,700.

Uptown (Fox) (2,040; 25-40)—'Change of Heart' (Fox). With Gaynor and Farrell the week should be one of the best for some time as the return of the stars together is pleasing to their followers. Likely to hit around $6,000; good. Last week, 'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox), second week, $3,200.

Fox Decides to Research As Soon as Yarns Taken

Westwood, May 21.

Hoping to supply writers with material to weave into their scripts, Fox's research department will henceforth start digging for background facts and details on stories as soon as studio buys them. In the past, researchers have waited until script was nearly completed before beginning actual work.

Additional time will also give the library staff more opportunity to supply the data.

Lance Baxter, formerly in the art department, has moved over as head of research. He replaces Frances Richardson, who assumes another capacity.

'Miss Marker' Pushes Par Up To $35,000; 'Sadie' and Warings $45,000; Weather Hurts B'way

A state of lethargy continues to hang over first run row in New York with nothing of outstanding nature this week to blow the trumpets about. Weekend weather included two thunder storms, hail, and a hot Monday.

Best are the Capitol and Paramount, with latter the comparative leader on $35,000 and a chance to build beyond that. The Cap, with Joan Crawford in 'Sadie McKee' and Fred Waring's band on stage at $10,000, looks about $45,000. holdover was not certain Monday afternoon, Waring is in for two weeks but picture may change. The $45,000 figure is normally good for house but under expectations considering the bill.

Par's 'Little Miss Marker,' sold via campaign, drew fine reviews and with broadcasting of highlights from the picture Sunday night (20), plus word-of-mouth, a holdover is possible but doubtful this early in the week.

Music Hall held over its 'Madame Butterfly' operatic abridgement with a new picture, 'Stingaree.' Indications this week point to $65,000.

Strand is straining to get $18,000 on the Cagney 'He Was Her Man,' okay, considering the Sunday night rainstorm and hail which hurt all over town. Most theatres were all right on the Sunday matinee but the Hall fell off after a pretty good Saturday.

Rivoli brought in a new one, 'Murder At Vanities,' Saturday, but it didn't start as well as expected and with the Sunday night's weather disturbance will be held down to a $25,000 top on the first week. That's nice but no rave.

All the managers are now waiting for the fleet to get in and the Paramount hopes to get the Mae West picture, 'I'm No Angel,' in while the sailors are here.

Estimates for This Week

Astor (1,012; $1.10-$1.65-$2.20)—'Rothschild' (UA) (10th week). Nothing seems to hurt much here. Last week (ninth) picture did $16,900, while first five days of current (10th week) holds up at $13,400. Stays indefinitely.

Capitol (5,400; 35-75-85-$1.10)—'Sadie McKee' (MG) and stage show. Fred Waring's band on stage and possibility of $45,000. All right, but under expectations. Last week, second of 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG), okay $30,000.

Mayfair (2,200; 35-55-65)—'Murder in Trinidad' (Fox). Meller doing well enough to stick out week ending tomorrow (Wednesday). Will be around $8,500. 'Unknown Soldier Speaks,' assembled by Jack Goldberg, opens tomorrow night (Wednesday) or Thursday.

Palace (1,700; 35-50-66-75)—'Change of Heart' (Fox) and vaude. Gaynor-Farrell team may be better than average here, topping $11,000. Last week '20th Century' (Col) around $10,500.

Paramount (3,664; 35-55-75-99)—'Little Miss Marker' (Par) and stage show. Good notices and may build to beyond $35,000. Possible holdover. Last week $29,000 tabbed on '30-Day Princess' (Par).

Radio City Music Hall (6,945; 40-60-85-99-$1.65)—'Stingaree' (Radio) and 'Madame Butterfly' tab on second week. Operatic holdover with new picture has chance for $65,000. Last week 'Change of Heart' (Fox) and 'Butterfly' $59,800.

Rialto (2,000; 40-55-75-85) 'Crime Doctor' (Radio), (2nd week). Fine on first week at $14,000, but didn't have the desired strength for holdover of eight days. Satisfied on final eight with around $7,200. 'Hollywood Party' (MG) opens Thursday night (24).

Rivoli (2,200; 40-55-75-85) 'Murder at Vanities' (Par). Opened Saturday (19) and may do $25,000, oke. Final 10 days of 'We're Not Dressing' (Par) $14,800, oke.

RKO Center (3,525; 25-40) '20th Century' (Col) four days, and 'Finishing School' (Radio) three days. Doubtful of reaching $6,000. Predecessors splitting the week. 'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox) and 'Wharf Angel' (Par) went under $6,000.

Roxy (6,200; 35-55-75-85) 'Black Cat' (U) and stage show. Better than in some weeks and looking to som profit at indicated $22,000. Last week 'Glamour' (U) at $17,000.

Strand (2,900; 35-55-75-85) 'He Was Her Man' (WB). May march itself to $18,000, oke. Last week, third of '20 Million Sweethearts' (WB) $11,700.

State (2,300; 35-55-75) 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) and Cab Calloway on stage. Near $18,000, good. Last week 'Tarzan' (MG) $17,000.

Circus, Rodeo, Boatrace, Hurt New Haven Films

New Haven, May 21.

Plenty competish from outside this week, with Rodeo, Gorman Bros. Circus and Yale boatrace all battling for weekend patronage.

Last week, against recent legit run of 'Double Door' at pop prices, film did swell, with house reporting fans coming in to compare the two versions.

Estimates for This Week

Paramount (Publix) (2,348; 35-50)—'Thirty-day Princess' (Par) and 'In Love With Life' (Ches). Word-of-mouth should mean good $6,800 for this one. Last week 'Double Door' (Par) and 'Private Scandal' (Par). Held steady for okay $6,200.

Poli's (Loew) (3,040; 35-50)—'Sadie McKee' (MG) and 'Crime of Helen Stanley' (Col). Looks like close to a nice $10,000. Last week 'Stand and Cheer' (Fox) and 'Lazy River' (MG). Just over the bars at $8,100.

Roger Sherman (WB) (2,200; 35-50)—'Upper World' (WB) and 'Very Honorable Guy' (WB). Not too hot around $4,500. Last week 'Modern Hero' (WB) and 'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB). Faded to slim $4,300.

College (Loew) (1,565; 25-40)—'Black Cat' (U) and 'Half a Sinner' (U). Early returns indicate $4,500, nicely in the black. Last week 'Rothschild' (UA). As a holdover, died first three days then recouped for oke $4,600.

'Change of Heart' Tops Cincinnati, $10,000; '30 Day Princess' Oke

Cincinnati, May 21.

Summer weather on tap over the week-end and the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus here for the first half linking to slow up traffic along Fleker front, where two of the ace houses have holdovers. 'Change of Heart,' the b.o. pacer with $10,000, which is okay considering current setup. 'Thirty Day Princess' next $7,000.

Ike Libson, RKO chieftain, long a jerker of no-pull product, uncorked a new one last week by yanking 'Witching Hour' out of the Lyric after the first grind of the pix on the second day of its scheduled week's run and shoving in the w. k. 'She Done Him Wrong.' The substitution fetched surprisingly good trade.

Legit Shubert redarkened after fortnight's screening of 'Beyond Bengal' indie jungle adventure film with Harry Schenck, who personaled for a week. It got a slow $2,600 the first week and a slower $1,200 on the final 7 days.

Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, on new downtown location near former Grand Central depot, refused a parade permit by Police Chief Copelan on grounds of traffic jamming.

Estimates for This Week

Palace (RKO) (2,600; 35-44)—'Change of Heart' (Fox). Gaynor-Farrell combo the ace for a sweet $10,000. Last week 'Finishing School' (Radio), $7,000, dandy.

Albee (RKO) (3,300; 35-44)—'Thirty Day Princess' (Par). Press puffs for Sylvia Sidney. Comedy-romance admirers coming along for $7,000, okay. Last week '20th Century' (Col), drop peg off in last half, finishing with $7,000, favorable.

Capitol (RKO) (2,000; 35-44)—'Sadie McKee' (MG), in second week, maybe $6,000 after heavy $12,000 for first week.

Keith's (Libson) (1,500; 30-40)—'20 Million Sweethearts' (WB), holding over to a neat $4,000 following a lulu $10,000 on 9 days.

Lyric (RKO) (1,394; 44)—'You're Telling Me' (Par). W. C. Fields fetching high-class comedy trade for $3,800, nice going. Last week 'She Done Him Wrong' (Par) displaced 'Witchir Hour' (Par) on second day and Mae West's fans called to tune of $3,000; swell job of pinch-hitting.

Grand (RKO) (1,025; 25-35)—'Eight Girls in a Boat' (Par) and vode topped by Gaudsmith Bros. Hovering around average $3,800, same as last week with 'I'll Tell the World' (U) and five-act bill.

Family (RKO) (1,000; 15-25)—'Hell Bent for Love' (Col) and 'Honor of the Range' (U) split. $1,500, fair. Last week 'Whirlpool' (Col) and 'Crime of Helen Stanley' (Col), divided, ditto.

Strand (Ind) (1,200; 15-20-25-30)—'Sin of Nora Moran' and vaude headlined by Capps Four. Around $1,700. Last week 'Cross Streets' and 5-act bill, $1,500.

'Hitler's Reign' Flops in Frisco

'Stingaree' Good $14,500—Ben Bernie at Orpheum May Hit $14,000

May 21.

Heat is kicking ing down out here.

'Stingaree' and 'Hitler's Reign of Terror' are copping the spotlight for this week, former because of the exceptionally swell start it is getting on its world premiere, the latter because of the disappointing gross despite the interest and legal dust kicked up on the film.

'Stingaree' is clicking better than previous Dix picture in many months, that largely because the RKO Golden Gate has given the pic such a slap-bang all-round campaign, starting it off with Irene Dunne in person the first day, Tom Brown the second and Mitzi Green the third. Orpheum may hit $14,000.

Cornelius Vanderbilt-produced 'Hitler's Reign of Terror,' hoped for as whirlwind money maker at the tiny Strand, has been more of a verbal wind than any other kind. Herman Cohen, Strand owner and manager, was pinched by the cops after protests by a German delegation, was booked, put up bond and secured an injunction against further arrests. Strand ads ballyhooed, 'Come and see why the Nazi element had the manager arrested for showing Hitler's Reign of Terror,' and although biz perked up a few bucks after that it remained disappointing.

Estimates for This Week

Fox (Leo) (5,000; 25-35)—'When Strangers Meet' (Col) and 'Twin Husbands' (1st Div), split, but no more vaude. Around $7,500. Ditto last week on 'I Hate Women' and 'Monte Carlo Nights,' split, with vaude and Buck Jones in person over week-end.

Golden Gate (RKO) (2,844; 25-35-40)—'Stingaree' (RKO) and stage show. Richard Dix picture aided by socko campaign, getting $14,500 but no more. Irene Dunne, Tom Brown and Mitzi Green in person for first three days a help. Last week '20th Century' (Col) up to good $12,000 despite Barrymore not usually a draw at this house.

Orpheum (F&M) (2,400; 25-35-55)—'Uncertain Lady' (U) and stage show with Ben Bernie in person. Radio maestro and the lads are at top of the broadcasting heap in these parts and maybe $14,000. If so, this will be second best gross since F&M operation. Ted Lewis, returning last week, with 'Black Cat' (U) the horror picture, hit good $13,500, above his previous week.

Paramount (FWC) (2,400; 25-35-40)—'Tarzan and Mate' (MG). First single film since duals were inaugurated three months ago, and Weissmuller-O'Sullivan team and Burroughs story drawing lotta kids. Biz is good at $12,000, which is better than has been done on many duals, including last week when Raft in 'Trumpet Blows' (Par) was weak at $11,000, when split with 'Now I'll Tell' (Fox).

St. Francis (FWC) (1,500; 25-35-40)—'Viva Villa' (MG) (2nd week). Holding for a second stanza here, after a record gross across the street at the Warfield, making three weeks on Market St. Currently, will get $5,000, after $7,000 on the first, and $27,000 at the Warfield.

Strand (Cohen) (990; 25-40)—'Hitler's Reign' (Cummins). Manager was arrested for running such a film and there has been much talk but not much biz. Mebbe $2,500 on the week, and that's very disappointing.

United Artists (1,200; 25-35-40)—'No Greater Glory' (Fox). Without draw names is not getting the biz, and poor at $5,000. '20 Million Sweethearts' (WB), bowed out after nine days, getting $9,000 on the lot, and that's poor.

Warfield (FW) (2,700; 35-45-65)—'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox) and stage show. Musical has an okay sounding cast but off at $18,500. Last stanza 'Sadie McKee' (MG) with stage show hit $21,000, very good.

'Villa' Is Viva in Detroit, Smash $33,000; Arliss OK

Detroit, May 21.

With the Michigan making a big play for biz, house is stepping out again this week as the pacemaker. Using 'Viva Villa' there takes that film away from a run at the United Artists. Using a short stage show and opened big.

The Fox has to be content with a lesser run of pictures and is trying to offset with names on stage. Competition is plenty tough here with both Michigan and Fox on the go. This week Fox has 'Stingaree' and is using Hal LeRoy, Ken Murry and others on stage. Also opened better than the week previous.

Last week Walter Winchell managed to lead the town at the Fox with a mild $23,000.

Estimates for This Week

Fox (Indie) (5,100; 15-25-35-40-55)—'Stingaree' (Radio) and big stage show about $21,000 in sight, getting by. Last week Walter Winchell in person and 'Sisters Under the Skin' (Col) ordinary $23,000.

Michigan (Par) (4,045; 15-25-35-40-55)—'Viva Villa' (MGM) and stage show. Romping toward a smash $33,000. Last week 'Tarzan' (MG) fair $20,000.

United Artists (Par) (2,018; 15-25-35-40-55)—'Rothschild' (UA) (3d week). Still okay, $7,000. Last week pretty at $13,000.

Fisher (Par) (2,750; 15-25-35-40)—'Private Scandal' (UA). Look to $5,000, okay. Last week 'Men in White' (MG) in third week, fair $4,000.

'Heart' Jumps New To $6,000 at Balto; Sweet 'Sadie,' 22G's

Baltimore, May 21.

Heat wave wafted over town from Friday through weekend, diverting plenty of prospective biz from boxoffice to beaches. Coolers on at every theatre but burg still too enthusiastic over advent of spring to seek to dodge the sun.

Only two houses doing really important biz this week. Century, with 'Sadie McKee', and the New is enjoying one of its sparkler sessions with 'Change of Heart'.

Estimates for This Week

Century (Loew-UA) (3,000; 25-35-40-55-66)—'Sadie McKee' (M-G) and vaude. George Givot and Al Trahan on stage, but primarily the Crawford draw hoisting to smacko $22,000. Last week 'Manhattan Melodrama' (M-G), and Lupe Velez heading vaude, $24,000.

Hippodrome (Rappaport) (2,500; 25-35-40-55-66)—'Stingaree' (Radio) and 'King's Scandals' unit. Won't budge indifferent $11,000. Last week 'Sisters Under Skin' (Col) and 'Broadway to Rio' unit near $10,000.

Keith's (Schanberger) (2,500; 25-30-35-40-50)—'Come on Marines' (Par). Too much opposition from the adjacent New. About $3,000, flabby. Last week 'Black Cat' (U), slipped to $4,000, fair.

New (Mechanic) (1,800; 25-30-35-40-50)—'Change of Heart' (Fox). Should snag sparkling $6,000, best here in months. Appears cinch to holdover. Last week, in five days, 'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) never got started, only $1,700.

Stanley (WB) (3,450; 15-25-40)—'Upper World' (WB). Theatre billing Ben Hecht, author, over everything. Wait 'till MacArthur hears about it. Pic getting scattering class play, but won't better $8,500, n.g. Last week 'We're Not Dressing' (Par), a nice $13,500.

Valencia (Loew-UA) (1,000; 35-40-55) (two-a-day)—'Sadie McKee' (MG). First-running concurrently at Century also. Doubtful of crossing $2,000, poor. Isn't type pic to draft carriage trade and that's the element for this house. Last week 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) slowed to standstill and finished up around $2,500.

'Villa,' $7,500, Omaha; 'Stingaree,' $5,500

Omaha, May 21.

Straight pictures in all houses is the entertainment diet resumed along film row. Stellar attractions all around should draft some heavier money. Contest for first place is a four-way struggle, edge going to 'Viva Villa' at the Paramount over a pre-release playing of 'Stingaree' at the Brandeis. Pancho, in the person of Beery, stands fair to drag in $7,500, while Dix, a favorite in this town, will see $5,500 as it opens a day early for an eight-day run.

Estimates for This Week

Paramount (Blank) (2,765; 25-40)—'Viva Villa' (MGM). Type of attraction needed in this house and should sell to a strong week with Beery the magnet. Around $7,500, a substantial purse. Last week, 'We're Not Dressing' (Par) with 'The Big Bad Wolf' in assistance could do only near average; $6,250, passable.

Brandeis (Singer) (1,200; 20-25-35) — 'Stingaree' (Radio). Has a program partner in 'The Crime Doctor' (Radio). Dix-Dunne vehicle opened the show Thursday for an eight-day run and with the pre-release play getting ballyhooed can see a neat $5,500. Last week, 'Twentieth Century' (Col) and 'Sisters Under the Skin' (Col), couldn't hold their own, and were jerked at end of sixth day. Fell under $4,000.

Orpheum (Blank) (2,976; 25-40)—'Manhattan Melodrama' (MGM) double billed with 'Uncertain Lady' (U). In for a good take at around $7,500. Last week, 'You're Telling Me' (Par), with George Olsen and band and Ethel Shutta on the stage saw the second record week the house has had under Blank control. Till register near equalled the mark set by Ben Bernie and band in March; $16,000, the very top.

World (Blank) (2,100; 25-35)—'I'll Tell the World' (U) dualled with 'All Men Are Enemies' (Fox). Draft here comes from Lee Tracy, and should be good for an average week at $4,000. Last week 'As the Earth Turns' (WB) together with 'Smoky' (Fox) saw biz perk to $4,200.

'VILLA' BRIGHTENS DULL PITT AT $17,000 GAIT

Pittsburgh, May 21.

'Viva Villa,' at the Penn, about the only big noise this week. The Warner went to a double feature policy with 'Black Cat' and 'This Man Is Mine' for the initial sprint, and looks as though the policy might up the take.

'Rothschild,' moving over to the Davis from the Penn without advantage of advance publicity, did a nice eight days, and then the shutters went up for the summer.

Estimates for This Week

Davis (WB) (1,700; 25-35-50)—'Rothschild' (UA). Gumshoed over from the Penn without build-up. Did $6,000 on an eight-day stay, but not sufficient to win a holdover, and house dark.

Fulton (Shea-Hyde) (1,750; 15-25-40)—'Show-Off' (MG). Lucky if it can click off $4,000; no cheers. 'Sorrel and Son' (UA) last week also $4,000.

Penn (Loew-UA) (3,300; 25-35-50)—'Viva Villa' (MG). In spite of its limited femme appeal looks to top town with $17,000. Last week 'We're Not Dressing' (Par) fooled 'em; $13,000 isn't bad for the season.

Pitt (Shafer) (1,600; 25-40)—'Social Register' (Col) and 'Midway Nights' unit. Off at a saddening $5,800. 'Three on a Honeymoon' (Par) and King's Scandals unit did $6,000 last week.

Regent (WB) (900; 25-35)—'Where Sinners Meet' (Indie) and 'One Is Guilty' (Col). On a dual for $1,800. Last week only $1,600 for 'Ninth Guest' (Col) and 'Modern Hero' (WB), unexciting.

Stanley (WB) (3,600; 25-35-50)—'Melody in Spring' (Par). Looks to warble $7,500 out of customers. Heartening after $6,000 session with 'Gambling Lady' (WB).

Warner (WB) (2,000; 35-40)—'Black Cat' (U) and 'This Man Is Mine' (Radio). Looking for $7,500 on double bill, oke. Last week $3,-800 for 'Double Door.'

'Rothschild' Manna to Providence

Leads Town with $16,000; 'Stand Up' Okay at $6,500

Providence, May 21.

Picture fare is nothing to rave about as a whole. Best two bets look like 'House of Rothschild' and 'Stand Up and Cheer.' Others just so-so. 'Rothschild' at Loew's with vaudeville, but there's no question that the picture's doing all the work. Opening great and nothing to indicate that pace should slacken. Wouldn't surprise anyone if gross tilts $16,000.

'Stand Up and Cheer' at the Majestic with 'Morning After' as a companion picture. Should be stronger, but considering snail's pace at which things have been moving at this house, this week's gross of $6,500 will look swell.

Estimates for This Week

Fay's (2,200; 15-25-40)—'A Modern Hero' (WB) and 'Cotton Club Revue' on stage. Town just plain nuts on colored shows, and there's no doubt that this spot will be able to ease into a nifty $7,000 without difficulty. Picture's part in gross build-up is hard to gauge. Last week 'Such Women Are Dangerous' (Fox) and 'Casino Follies' managed to come through okay on strength of stage show at $7,200.

Loew's State (3,200; 15-25-40)—'House of Rothschild' (UA) and vaudeville. Stage show weak, but house doesn't need it this week. As a matter of fact picture would do much better if it was playing solo; $16,000 is not to be sniffed at. Last week 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) was tepid at $9,200.

Majestic (Fay) (2,200; 15-25-40)—'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox) and 'The Morning After.' Best bet in town among the straight picture houses. While pace should be a great deal stronger, $6,500 represents almost double of what house has been bringing in lately. Last week 'Journal of a Crime' (WB) and 'Half a Sinner' (U) was lukewarm at $4,-100.

Paramount (Indie) (2,200; 15-25-40)—'Witching Hour' (Par) and 'Manhattan Love Song' (Mono). Brisk start, but downward slide over the week-end indicates this one will be toughest week house has had since it went indie over a year ago. Not more than $2,500 indicated; bad. Last week 'We're Not Dressing' (Par) and 'City Limits' (Mono) was oke at $6,500.

RKO Albee (2,000; 15-25-40)—'Stingaree' (RKO) and 'The Party's Over' (Col). Agreeable bill getting fair comment and fairly good treatment from the cricks, but the takings are not so hot. Going indicates, however, that next to the Majestic, house will be in a fair position with $4,800 as top. Last week 'Finishing School' (RKO) and 'Whirlpool' (Col) so-so at $4,000.

RKO Victory (1,600; 10-15-25)—'Hell Bent for Love' (Col) and 'Marriage on Approval.' Looks like a fair $1,150 on split week. Last week 'The Line-Up' (Col) and 'I Like It That Way' (U) also fair at $1,050 on split week.

Still Wintry Montreal Gives 'Tarzan' $10,000; French Opera, $3,500

Montreal, May 21.

Weather holding wintry helping main stems some, but grosses are beginning to show summer complaint. Hopes are high for the Tarzan pic at the Capitol. No special counter-attractions in sight currently, with ball team leaving town.

Estimates for This Week

His Majesty's (CT) (1,600; 50-$1.50). French operetta, subscription basis, $3,000. Last week 'There's Always Juliet' (legit) not so good at $2,500.

Palace (FP) (2,700; 50)—'As the Earth Turns' (WB) and 'A Very Honorable Guy' (WB). $7,500 would be satisfactory. Last week 'Bottoms Up' (Fox) and 'You're Telling Me' (Par) topped town at $9,500.

Capitol (FP) (2,700; 50)—'Tarzan and His Mate' (MG) and 'Private Scandal' (Par). Pretty sure to get good biz at $10,000. Last week 'We're Not Dressing' (Par) and 'Double Door' (Par) good at $9,000.

Loew's (FP) (3,200; 50)—'Glamour' (U) and 'I'll Tell the World' (U). Looks like $7,000. Last week 'Trumpet Blows' (Par) and 'Love Birds' (U) down to $6,000.

Princess (CT) (1,900; 50)—'Palooka' (UA) and 'Social Register' (Col). Should gross $7,500. Third week of 'Rothschild' (UA) and 'Chance at Heaven' (Radio) last night grossed very good $8,500.

Cinema de Paris (France-Film) (600; 50)—'Liberte Cherie.' Will gross about $1,500. Third week 'Les Thenardier' last week $1,000.

'SADIE M'KEE' $20,000 LEADS DULL BROOKLYN

Brooklyn, May 21.

Complexion of the downtown deluxers has changed quite a bit. You wouldn't recognize the old town this week. Paramount is closed; Fox is on a week to week basis; Strand is giving 'em two features for the price of one; Walter Hampden in 'Richelieu,' 'Hamlet' and 'Macbeth' at the Academy of Music; Coney Island boardwalk getting a good play.

The Paramount, instead of closing on Thursday, kept its door open until Sunday night. Attraction was 'Were Not Dressing' (Par) and Milton Berle on stage. House did about $31,000 on 10 days, good, but too late for the operating table. The Strand goes back to singles Thursday (24).

Estimates for This Week

Fox (Conco) (4,000; 25-35-50)—'Success at Any Price' (Radio) and stage show. Should do about $12,000, satisfactory. Last week, 'Whirlpool' (Col), $10,500.

Albee (RKO) (3,500; 25-35-50)—'Change of Heart' (Fox) and vaude. Around $15,000, off. Last week, '20th Century' (Col), $15,000.

Loew's etropolitan (Loew) (3,000; 25-35-50) — 'Sadie McKee' (MG) and vaude, featuring Johnny Perkins. Around $20,000, good. Last week, 'Laughing Boy' $13,000, mild.

Strand (WB) (2,000; 25-35-50)—'Journal of Crime' (FN) and 'An Honorable Guy' (FN). First time in history of house that patrons are getting a double dose. Mebbe $6,000, weak. House returns to singles Thursday (24), playing 'He Was Her Man' (WB). Last week, '20 Million Sweethearts' (2d week) did satisfactory $7,000.

CLIVE'S 2-A-YR. FOR WB

Hollywood, May 21.

Colin Clive contracted to Warners for two pix annually.

'30 DAY PRINCESS' $12,000, ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, May 21.

They'll split the take fairly evenly among them again this week and few of the film houses will have much left when all the bills are paid. And some of them may not even be able to pay the bills.

Loew's State, doing nicely enough with a trio of stars, is an exception. There the story will be a profitable week. Considering the absence of expensive stage show, the Ambassador is doing fairly well, too, although far from the figur when flesh was in the house.

Estimates for This Week

Ambassador (Skouras) (3,000; 25-35-55) — 'Thirty-Day Princess' (Par). Around $12,000, fair. Last week 'Catherine the Great' (UA) and 'House of Mystery' (Monogram) got $10,000.

Fox (F.&M.) (5,000; 25-35-55)—'Change of Heart' (Fox) and 'Springtime for Henry' (Fox). Fair at $13,000. Last week 'Where Sinners Meet' (Fox) and 'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) lukewarm around $10,000.

Loew's (3,000; 25-35-55)—'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG). Good $15,000. Last week 'Viva (MG) big $18,000.

Missouri (Skouras) (3,500; 25-40)—'Double Door' (Par) and 'Half a Sinner' (Radio). Poor $6,000. Last week 'Uncertain Lady' (U) and 'Manhattan Love Song' (Monogram) obtained $7,000.

Shubert (Warners) (2,000; 25-40)—'As Earth Turns' (WB) and 'Very Honorable Guy' (WB). Headed for $9,000. Last week 'Registered Nurse' (WB) and 'Harold Teen' (WB) copped $11,000.

'Manhattan Melodrama,' $15,000

Philly Sluggish—Few New Films—Raft Aids Earle to $18,000

Philadelphia, May 21.

Three hold-overs has reduced the number of openings this week to four. On the whole, the array of downtown offerings doesn't promise any great amount of excitement although average biz is forecast.

Estimates for This Week

Aldine (1,300; 40-55-65)—'House of Rothschild' (UA) (4th week). Still going strong, $9,000 indicated. Last week, $13,000.

Arcadia (600; 25-40-50)—'Wharf Angel' (Par). Looks only fair, $2,100. Last week, 'Such Women Are Dangerous' (Fox), plenty weak. Only $1,800.

Boyd (2,400; 40-55-65)—'Sadie McKee' (MG). Surprised by holding over although some doubt if it gets a complete second week. If so $10,000 may be hit. Last week, $15,500.

Earle (2,000; 40-55-65)—'This Man Is Mine' (Radio) and vaudeville. George Raft is headliner. Between $18,000 and $19,000 indicated. Last week, 'You're Telling Me' (Par) and vaude. George Jessel revue featured. Hit $20,000.

Fox (3,000; 30-40-60)—'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox) and stage show. Another holdover although last week's $19,000 was not remarkable. $13,000 likely this week other things being equal.

Karlton (1,100; 30-40-50)—'Glamour' (U). Doesn't look so hot. May be $2,800. Last week, 'Laughing Boy' (MG). Even weaker than that. Poor $2,500.

Stanley (3,700; 40-55-65)—'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG). Looks strong despite mixed notices. $15,000 at least expected. Last week, 'We're Not Dressing' (Par). Disappointing $11,500.

Stanton (1,700; 30-40-55)—'Witching Hour' (Par). Maybe $4,000. Opened midnight show last night. 'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB). A sad $5,500.

'Change of Heart,' Nick Parkyakakas, $24,000 at Metropolitan, Boston

Boston, May 21.

Conditions are fairly favorable here although double feature tendency is growing and soon single feature deluxers will be in a minority downtown.

Estimates for This Week

Keith's (RKO) (4,000; 25-35-40) 'Stingaree' (Radio). House will be lucky if it brings in $12,000. Last week, 'Twentieth Century' (Col), began hotsy-totsy, but slanted, garnering a n.s.h. $11,500. Spot goes double film next Saturday. This will leave Met, State and Orpheum alone among major single filmers.

Boston (RKO) (4,000; 25-30-40) 'Party's Over' (Col), and 'Line Up' (Col). May get $9,000, ordinary. Last week, 'Keep 'Em Rolling' (Radio), and 'Where Sinners Meet' (Radio), had three big days at start, but slumped, total set at $8,500, off.

Orpheum (Loew) ($3,000; 40-50) 'Viva Villa' (MG) and vaude. Very lively, movie being the hypo. Looks pretty safe for fine $14,500. Last week, 'Sorrell and Son' (UA) and vaude, film one of those occasional evils; unhappy at $9,500.

State (Loew) (3,000; 30-40-50) 'House of Rothschild' (UA). Biggest biz in town. Plenty biz left in this one, despite roading in recently for grand stay at Majestic; and State seems to have a clincher on $15,000; bing-bangish. Last week, 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) was the biggest thing in town, crashing a gate of $17,500, jubilesish.

Met (M&P) (4,330; 30-50-65) 'Change of Heart' (Fox). Gaynor draw at this spot. In addition has Nick Parkyakakas, local advertising expert (Harry Einstein) w.k. on air and now making footlight bow. Rialto credits him with big pull, also. So house is climbing, and $24,000 in prospect is nifty. Ed Smith piles on big stage revue and show runs long and is generous on talent. Last week, 'Thirty-Day Princess' (Par) and 'Up Pops the King' stage show, under $20,000.

Paramount (M&P) (1,800; 35-45-55) 'Such Women Are Dangerous' (Fox) and 'Private Scandal' (Par). Looks profitable, at $8,500. Last week, 'Registered Nurse' (FN) and 'All Men Are Enemies' (Fox), $7,500, ice.

Hot Weather Scram-Outs Taking Toll in Wash'ton

Washington, May 21.

Looks like boys will have to be satisfied with hot weather figures from now on. Sizzling week end is sending 'em to the great open spaces and nobody is really up in the money.

Lupe Velez personal at Fox is best bet. With plenty of advance stuff in the drama columns and second boost coming when word got around that Weissmuller would accompany her in off-stage moments, she opened nice. Act is hailed as first film celebrity appearance which offers real entertainment and ought to build right up.

Estimates for This Week

Fox (Loew) (3,434; 25-35-60) 'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) and vaude. Spencer Tracy no draw here and fact that pic is entertaining doesn't help. Lupe Velez personal is responsible for nice $21,000. Last week 'Trumpet Blows' (Par) can thank Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon on stage for oke $20,000.

Earle (WB) (2,424; 25-35-40-60) 'Smarty' (WB) and vaude. Pic getting WB comedy stock fans. Pappy, Eera and Zeke heading extra-act vaude, but not enough air rep to make 'em a draw. Maybe oke $14,500. Last week 'Melody in Spring' (Par) fair $13,500.

Keith's (RKO) (1,830; 25-35-60) 'Stingaree' (Radio). Opened nicely. Bowed in Wednesday but comes out at end of seven days without trying extra three days. Probably satisfactory $8,000. Last week 'Sisters Under the Skin' (Col) pretty sick and pulled early with light $3,500.

Palace (Loew) (2,363; 25-35-60) 'We're Not Dressing' (Par). Good but not big $15,500. Last week, second of 'Rothschild' (UA) held up nicely, $14,000.

Rialto (U) (1,853; 25-35-50) 'Half a Sinner' (U). Net satisfactory $4,000. Last week 'Black Cat' (U) nice $6,000 but didn't win expected holdover.

Met (WB) (1,583; 25-40) 'Forgotten Men' (FD). Revival after last summer's run here given plenty of bally, but critics hopping on way film is whacked up. Should satisfactory $3,500. Last week '20 Million Sweethearts' (WB) repeat after week at Earle took oke $3,800.

Columbia (Loew) (1,263; 25-40) 'Hold That Girl' (Fox). Very weak $2,500. Last week repeat of 'Tarzan' (MG) another of films brought in following big runs at Palace; satisfactory $3,800.

'VIVA VILLA,' $7,500, PORTLAND TOPPER

Portland, Ore., May 21.

Vacation weather didn't keep crowds from the theatres over the week end, and that's something to write in the record book. All houses did more than average biz.

In spite of its more than a month showing 'The House of Rothschild' (UA) at the United Artists continues to draw good houses. 'Viva Villa' (MGM) has been scheduled to follow and has had lotsa publicity for two weeks because of its postponement each time.

Last week, Duke Ellington's Revue type of music was something new to the natives. Admish prices were raised from 40 to 55 cents. Ted Lewis will try to keep up the batting average for this week, but looks doubtful if he will score like the Dock.

Estimates for This Week

Broadway (Parker) (2,000; 25-40) —'Twenty Million Sweethearts' (WB). Another musical getting its share. The burg apparently goes for this type of flicker. Might register $8,500. Last week, 'Sadie McKee' (MGM) did consistent biz and clicked for $5,500.

United Artists (Parker) (1,000; 25-40)—'Viva Villa' (MGM). Arrived at last after being held two weeks until 'House of Rothschild' (UA) could collect the last dime. 'Villa' holding up the honor of the house as a record breaking establishment. Large, $7,500. Last week, 'House of Rothschild' (2d week) completed its fourth week with big attendance each showing. Nice-$3,800.

Paramount (FWC) (3,000; 25-40) —'Change of Heart' (Fox) and 'Witching Hour' (Par) dual, doing fair and indicates about $4,500. Last week, 'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox) and 'Double Door' (Par) held the expected gait and recorded $4,700.

Music Box (Hamrick) (1,400; 25-35) 'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB) and Ted Lewis and company on the stage. This house doing well with stage shows but pix are weak, around $3,000. Last week, 'Melody in Spring' (Par) and Duke Ellington's Revue was the big noise of the town and collected a good $7,000.

Pantages (S&M) (1,800; 15-25)— 'Wine, Women and Song' (Mono) and vaude. So so, maybe $2,500. Last week, 'Wild Boys of the Road' (FN) and vaude, only $1,900.

Oriental (Hamrick) (2,500; 25)— 'It Happened One Night' (Col) (2nd week). Slowing down, but better than average, $3,000.

LINCOLN UP THIS WK.

Heat a Denter Previous Stanza—'Men White' Strong $2,800

Lincoln, May 21.

Last week slumped all along, in company with terrific heat, but this week looks much better. 'Men in White' at the Lincoln and 'Change of Heart' for Stuart should sufficiently excite the neighbors to get 'em downtown. Stuart's about to come into its heyday as the pop house, because it's fitted with the best atmosphere freezer in town and is also the deluxer. Most houses resemble a br'ck kiln when the temp gets above 90.

Orpheum, Sun and possibly the Liberty likely to darken in June until the State Fair in September.

Estimates for This Week

Capitol (Livingston) (875; 10-15), 'Morning After' (Maj) and 'Affairs of Gentleman' (U) dual should rate an aii right $1,000. Last week 'Laughing Boy' (MG) got 'em in and 'Half a Sinner' (U) entertained 'em, and the week was a sock $1,200.

Colonial (LTC) (750; 10-15), 'Bring 'Em Back Alive' (Radio). Usual fare, usual gross, $800. Last week 'Man of Two Worlds' (Radio) and 'Man Trailer' (Col) split, was an $850 taker.

Lincoln (LTC) (1,600; 10-15-25), 'Men in White' (MG). Large size money pic on strength of Gable; $2,800 expected; very good. Last week 'Palooka' (UA) just that after a fair start, $1,900.

Orpheum (LTC) (1,200; 10-15-25), 'Where Sinners Meet' (Radio) first half with three acts vaude. About $2,000, fair. Last week 'Tell the World' (U) and 'Witching Hour' (U) with the Blue Ridge Mountaineers on the stage; a nitemare week, $1,500, bad.

Stuart (LTC) (1,900; 10-25-40), 'Change of Heart' (Fox). Synchronized with the closeness of college commencement and the eve of entrance of some 1,000 stu'es into the cold world should intrigue extra attendance. Oke $2,100. Last week 'We're Not Dressing' (Par) was a nude all the way around leaving the b.o. bare, $2,200.

'WILD CARGO,' $4,000, BIG

Tacoma Oke Although Stevedore Strike Hurts Lumber Biz

Tacoma, May 21.

Music Box goes up again on admission prices, but Roxy stays put at the lower scale, management saying it will not play ping pong with the public.

Takings steady, with the town holding its own pretty well through fair weather and foul. Employment conditions fairly good, although the lumber biz is affected by the stevedore strike.

Estimates for Thi Week

Music Box (Hamrick) (1,400; 25-35)—'Wild Cargo' (Radio). In for entire week, as a solo, and heavily billed, should reach big $4,000. Last week, 'House of Rothschild' (UA) last minute booking change to fool the opposition, got $5,300 in eight days. Big.

Roxy (J-vH) (1,300; 25-25)—'This Side of Heaven' (MGM) and 'Cross Country Cruise' (U) dual, first half; 'Three on Honeymoon' (Fox) and 'Beloved' (U) dual, last half. Maybe $3,000, which is okay here. Last week, 'George White Scandals' (Fox) and 'Once to Every Woman' (Col) dual, first half; 'I Am Suzanne' (Fox) and 'Shadows of Sing Sing' (Col) dual, last half, for average $3,100.

Blue Mouse (Hamrick) (650; 25)—'She Made Her Bed' (Par) and 'Upper World' (WB) first half dual; then 'Registered Nurse' (FN) and 'Four Frightened People' (Par) last half. Probably $1,500. Last week, 'Gambling Lady' (WB) and 'His Double Life' (Par) first half; 'Cradle Song' (Par) and 'Sing and Like It' (RKO) last half, so-so, $1,650.

Crawford, Gaynor and Farrell Get 'Em in N. O.

New Orleans, May 21.

Joan Crawford's 'Sadie McKee' is easily topping the town and will sweep over $14,000 into Loew's State offers currently. Saenger has a magnet in Gaynor-Farrell in 'Change of Heart.'

Estimates for This Week

Saenger (3,568; 40)—'Change of Heart' (Fox). Gaynor and Farrell still have their nice local following and $10,000 seems assured. Last week '20 Million Sweethearts' (WB) got healthy $9,000.

Loew's State (3,218; 40)—'Sadie McKee (MG). Hitting on all cylinders for smashing $14,000. Last week 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG), $11,000.

Orpheum (2,400; 35)—'Whirlpool' (Col) and 'Sisters Under the Skin' (Col). Dual will get $6,000. Last week Twentieth Century' (Col) ditto.

Tudor (700; 30)—'Such Women Are Dangerous' (Fox). Will do nice $2,500. Last week 'You're Telling Me' (Par) got $1,700.

St. Charles (2,200; 25)—'I'll Tell the World' (U). Better than recent weeks, with $2,500 apparent. Last week ' lamour' (U) to $1,800.

'Murder at Vanities', $12,000 in L. A., Kate Smith Unit Around $14,000

'PRINCESS' LEADS N'ARK WITH 12G; 'TELL' $11,000

No one is going anywhere this week. Paramount - Newark, with '30 Day Princess,' will probably lead with close to $12,000, but will take eight days to do it. Proctor's, with Mrs. Arnold Rothstein's 'Now I'll Tell' will crawl in second with maybe $11,000. These are, however, top figures, to be lessened if the warm, clear weather lasts.

Estimates for This Week

ranford (WB) (2,965; 15-65) — 'Journal of a Crime' (FN) and 'Very Honorable Guy' (FN). Brown and Chatterton names will probably draw to some extent, but word-of-mouth won't help. Will be going some to hit $8,000. Last week, '20 Million Sweethearts' (FN), disappointed with $9,100.

Capitol (WB) (1,200; 15-25-35-50) —'Trumpet Blows' (Par) and 'Catherine the Great' (UA). Won't be much better than $3,000. Last week, 'Gambling Lady' (WB) and 'You're Telling Me' (Par), bad at $3,400.

Little (Franklin) 299; 35-50) — 'Heideschulmeister Uwe Karsten' (Ufa) and 'Der Korvettenkapitan.' Not much this week, probably not $500. But next week house will try an all-English program and if it goes, good-by Vaterland! Last week, 'Kreutzer Emden' (Kinematrade) and 'Die Verkaufte Braut' (Kinematrade), poor at $450.

Loew's State (2,780; 15-75) — 'Laughing Boy' (MG) and 'Spices of 1934.' Pic means nothing but stage show with disrobed ladies should draw by word-of-mouth unless Newarkers have changed their taste. About $10,000. Last week, 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG), better than expected at $15,700.

Paramount-Newark (Adams-Par) (2,248; 15-99) — '30 Day Princess' (Par) and vode. Running eight days and doing better than recent films. Maybe $12,000. Last week, 'Double Door' (Par), jerked after six days to an awful $5,700.

Proctor's (RKO) (2,300; 25-35-40-55-60-75-85)—'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) and vode. Fair, but unlikely to beat $11,000. Last week, 'Twentieth Century' (Col), nearly $12,000.

Terminal (Skouras) (1,900; 15-25-40)—'Such Women are Dangerous' (Fox) and 'Wild Cargo' (Radio), with 'This Man Is Mine' (Radio) and 'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox) split. Got enough here probably to pull the gross up to $4,500. Last week, 'All Men Are Enemies' (Fox) and 'Crime of Helen Stanley' (Col), with 'Voice in the Night' (Col) and 'Twin Husbands' (Fox), no draw, $3,900.

Minn. Stricken by Strike

All Loop Houses May Not Do $23,000 This Week—'Rothschild' Holds Up

Minneapolis, May 21.

Between a teamsters' strike, heat, drouth, and paucity of outstanding attractions, there's plenty of reason why local grosses are threatening to plump the depths this week.

Total takings for all loop first runs may not exceed $23,000. Strike is the worst in the city's history and undoubtedly is a factor in the hot condition. Neighborhood houses probably are suffering worse than the loop emporiums. Some of the larger ones were grossing but $10 to $15 nightly last week, prospective patrons standing around on corners hoping that strikers and police would put a free show.

Principal attraction currently is probably 'Stand Up and Cheer' at the Minnesota, but even this one isn't hot in a berg where they apparently are fed up on musicals and won't go for even the good ones any more. House will do well to get $6,000, despite a heavy and effective ad campaign.

Estimates for This Week

Minnesota (Publix) (4,200; 25-35-40)—'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox). Local prejudice against musicals and generally adverse conditions too much of an obstacle. At most $6,000 and may be less. Last week 'Men in White' (MG) and Roxy and Gang on stage. Finished to good $19,000.

Orpheum (Singer) (2,890; 25-35-40)—'Stingaree'- (Radio). Not sufficiently strong to pull in face of current detrimental factors and Dix no magnet here. Maybe $3,000, light. Last week '20th Century' (Col) $4,500 in eight days.

State (Publix) (2,200; 25-35-40)—'30-Day Princess' (Par). Probably in for eight or nine days. May reach fair $4,000. Last week 'Witching Hour' (Par) yanked after five bad days, $1,500.

Century (Publix) (1,600; 25-35-40) —'Rothschild' (UA). Second week and still at fine clip. At least one more week likely. Looks about $9,000, good. First week $11,000.

World (Steffes) (350; 25-35-50-75) —' Was a Spy' (Fox). Not stirring much interest. About $900 indicated, light. Last week 'Beloved' (U) well liked, but didn't click, $800.

Uptown (Publix) (1,200; 25-35)— 'Death Takes Holiday' (Par). Looks around $2,000, pretty good. Last week 'Riptide' (MG) $2,200.

Lyric (Publix) (1,300; 20-25)— 'Trumpet Blows' (Par). Should reach fair $2,500. Last week 'Tarzan' (MG), second run, at advanced 40c scale only $2,000.

Grand (Publix) (1,100; 15-25)— 'Three on Honeymoon' (Fox), first run, and 'Earth Turns' (WB), second run, split. About $900, light. Last week 'Laughing Boy' MG) and 'Poor Rich' (U), first runs, $800.

Aster (Publix) (900; 15-25)— 'Moulin Rouge' (UA), 'Hi Nellie' (WB) and 'She Done Him Wrong' (Par), second, third and fifth loop runs, split. Pretty good at $1,200. Last week 'Happened One Night' (Col), third loop run, and 'Emperor Jones' (LA), second run, $1,000.

Los Angeles, May 21.

State will occupy the top rung this week by a big margin with 'Viva Villa.' 'Murder at the Vanities' built over the week-end and looks like a good two week attraction. Paramount has Kate Smith unit and 'Private Scandal' and looks fair.

In its final week at Chinese 'Rothschild' picked up a bit above the previous stanza.

Estimates for This Week

Chinese (Grauman) (2,028; 55c-$1.65) 'Rothschild' (UA) and stage show (7th week). Dragging in lots of theatre parties and gaited to tune of $15,500. Last week came home with $14,100.

Downtown (WB) (1,800; 25-35-40-55) 'Upperworld' (WB). Too much opposition for this one to get beyond $5,500. Last week 'A Very Honorable Guy' (FN) only $4,200.

Hollywood (WB) (2,756; 25-35-40-55) 'Registered Nurse' (FN). Started off at fair clip and looks like $6,000. Last week '20 Million Sweethearts' (WB) tuned out for second and final week to a profitable $7,200.

Los Angeles (Wm. Fox) (2,800; 15-25) 'Twin Husband' (Chesterfield) and 'I'll Tell the World' (U) split. Not worrying management at $3,600. Last week 'Guilty' (Col) and 'Loud Speaker' (Mono) $3,100.

Pantages (Pan) (2,700; 25-40) 'Laughing Boy' (MG) and 'Affairs of a Gentleman' (U) split. Way off at around $2,000. Last week 'Tomorrow's Children (Foy) highly exploited at $5,900.

Paramount (Partmar) (3,595; 30-40-55) 'Private Scandal' (Par) and stage show. Kate Smith plenty of help against heavy opposition, but trade only fair at $14,000. Last week 'Thirty Day Princess' (Par) just so-so, a bit short of $12,000.

RKO (2,950; 25-35-40) 'Wild Cargo' (Radio) (2nd week). Without Frank Buck in person final five days' total around $3,500. Last week, first stanza, with Buck appearing, just a shade over $10,000.

State (Loew-Fox) (2,024; 30-40-55) 'Viva Villa' (MG). Looks as though $23,000 will be total for the first stanza, equaling record held by 'Dancing Lady' (MG) since vaude has been out. Last week 'Men in White' (MG) $17,900.

United Artists (Grauman) (2,100; 25-35-40) 'Murder at the Vanities' (Par). With great campaign behind it, start not up to expectations with first week indicating around $12,000.

DENVER BIZ DOWN, 'EARTH' AT $2,500

Denver, May 21.

In spite of thousands of signers to League of Decency pledge and challenge of Harry Huffman to league to support better type of film, 'As Earth Turns' is doing disappointing business, while 'Viva Villa,' denounced strongly in Catholic cathedral sermon, did so well last week at Denver it was taken to Paramount Saturday for indefinite run.

Estimates for This Week

Aladdin (Huffman) (1,500; 25-35-50)—'As the Earth Turns' (WB). Not good around $2,500, although touted as 'worthy' film. Last week, 'House of Rothschild' (UA) on its third and last week, still kept the house above average with $4,000. It broke the house record for some time with $9,000 on the opening week, then $6,000 on second. 'Rothschild' cops honor of being second picture to last three weeks at this classy little house, and is first picture to stay three weeks at any Denver theatre in several years.

Denham (Heliborn) (1,500; 25-40) —'Thirty-Day Princess' (Par). Headed for so-so $3,500. Last week, 'You're Telling Me' (Par), around $5,000. Film was recommended by priest in broadside leveled at films at local Catholic cathedral.

Denver (Huffman) (2,500; 25-35-50)—'Change of Heart' (Fox). Figure $6,500. Last week, 'Viva Villa' (MG) did so well at the Denver, closing with $9,500, that it is being moved to the Paramount for a run.

Orpheum (Huffman) (2,600; 25-35-55)—'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB). Stage show with Milt Franklin. Expect around $7,500. Last week, 'Such Women Are Dangerous' (Fox) played to steady crowds all week, and helped by stage show that went over, did an average business of $9,500.

Paramount (Huffman) (2,000; 25-40)—'Crosby Case' (U), and 'Love Birds' (U), three days, and 'Viva Villa' (MG), four days—moved direct from Denver where it played to swell biz all week—will stay full week. Estimated at $3,000 on week. Last week, 'Journal of a Crime' (FN) did badly on four days, but business picked up somewhat on the first double bill for this house—'The Crosby Case' and 'The Love Birds,' closing with close to $2,000, below average.

'Henry' Gets $200,000 in France, All-Time Record; 'Little Women' $11,000, Socko; 'Nana' So-So $7,000

Paris, May 12.

'Little Women' (Radio) is giving the town its biggest American sock for a long time. M. Franck, of the Edouard VII, had 'to go round to the corner bistro to hire 30 chairs at 15 cents each to stick in the aisle for the overflow customers. (Fire rules are off, apparently, for Hepburn).

On the basis of first four days pic will do close to $11,000 in its first week, a record for the 600-seater showcase, at $1.65 top. After opening on a matinee and filling the house, much to his surprise, Franck did a record Monday, a day when nobody ever goes to films in Paris. Lineup of cars outside theatre looks like boom times.

Radio's other opener for its direct releasing program, 'Flying Down to Rio,' playing the Elysee-Gaumont under title of 'Carioca,' is doing only moderately well, with about $6,400 the first week. 'Women' went well past this figure by its fourth day. Houses both seat about the same number and prices are identical, so the comparison is direct.

Another one that's doing only fairly well on the Champs Elysees is 'Nana' (UA), which did $7,000 at the Lord Byron in its first week. This is appreciably below the gross done by 'Roman Scandals,' last pic the house showed, which was no knockout, either.

United Artists is not greatly displeased, however, considering all the noise that was sent aloft over 'Nana' not having anything to do with Zola's book. Pic is a personal triumph for Anna Sten, they consider, although not doing much in this country as a film. Provinces, which don't care so much about literary tradition, may do better for it than Paris.

'Henry's' Big Biz

Lots of consolation is available for UA in contemplation of the 'Henry VIII' figures. This picture has just completed its fifth run in Paris, which brings its total to 32 weeks in the capital, during which time it grossed more than $171,000, an all-time record for a foreign language film. It could be passed to a sixth Paris theatre if the law allowed, but five is the maximum. In a month or two it will be dubbed and can start all over again, in that form, with no limit on the number of theatres in which it can be shown.

Another $33,000 must be added to the gross of 'Henry' in its original version for provincial showings which have already taken place, bringing the total for France to date niftily above the $200,000 mark.

'Wonder Bar' (WB), which took over the Apollo this week, is not doing as big biz as its predecessor, 'Prologues,' ('Footlight Parade').

More distinctive a washout is 'Dancing Lady' at the Madeleine, which MGM shoved into its boulebard house last week to replace 'Eskimo.' Dance contest exploitation stunt is relied on to pep up biz, but not helping much.

'Lilliom' (Fox), though a French made, deserved rating among the American pictures because of its sponsorship and is packing them in at three Queyrel showcases at the same time: Bonaparte (left bank), Agriculteure (right bank), and Cine Opera (center).

'Queen Christina' (MGM) is getting along nicely at the Empire, despite kicks that the house, reclaimed from music hall after the Stavisky crash, is badly handled by a staff which indulges in nasty cracks at the paying customers, in the old-fashioned French manner.

'Man's Castle' (Col) is trailing off a not too satisfactory run at Raspail 216. Will be replaced by 'Constant Nymph' (British Gaumont) in a few days.

'Duck Soup' (Par) goes on and on at tiny Studio 28 up in Montmartre. If it holds the run much longer it will set a record for American comedies here. The Marx's used to be shown regularly in Montmarnasee at the Pantehon, and they're doing better since they moved over to the Right Bank.

Another long holdover, now in its sixth week, is 'Old Dark House' (U) at Studio Universal, on the Avenue de l'Opera in the site famous for the hors d'ouvres of the Brasserie Universal. This thriller is attracting good houses.

'Pack Up Your Troubles' (MGM) is having a good second run at the Ursulines, showing the perennial pulling power of Laurel and Hardy in this burg. 'I Cover the Waterfront' (UA), was a flop at the Washington Magellan, replaced by 'State Trooper' (Col).

Nearly Over

Mexico City, May 21.

Sam Seidelman, U.A. manager here, reports that a couple arrived at the Regis theatre while 'Henry VIII' was on and wanted to know how much longer it would run.

'Not long,' the doorman told them. 'They're just knocking off the fifth wife.'

Mex. Gov. Grant Of New Cinema, Cab and Hotel

Mexico City, May 18.

Show, cinema and cabaret biz looking up here. Civic government and local capitalists have worked out a building program, to be executed soon, at a total investment of $2,500,000.

An art theatre to expound high culture is to be built and run by the city and have an annual subsidy of $60,000; a de luxe cinema is to go up with clubs, conference halls and office building of skyscraper proportions, picture house to be appointed and equipped after style of the best in the U. S. A.; old Hotel Iturbide, which in 1822 was the residence of the ill-starred Emperor Iturbide, is to be renovated as a bon-ton amusement center featuring an exclusive cabaret, and an exclusive hotel, catering to the rich is to be constructed.

Cinema, cab and hotel will be constructed by private interests, of which Engineer Alberto J. Pani, ex-minister of finance, is said to be a moving spirit.

Basch's B'way Yen

Felix Basch, German director now in New York, is negotiating production of a legit show with a German female star before going to Hollywood.

Basch was director at Ufa. Herman Bernie is managing his American interests.

HELMAN'S MATADOR CO. FORCED OUT OF REICH

Berlin, May 11.

Minister of Propaganda Dr. Goebbels has ordered Matador Films to be thrown out of the Reichsfilmkammer (Film Chamber of the Reich) 'because the business manner of this firm offends national socialistic feelings and does not guarantee the building up of film culture in the national socialistic sense.'

Firm, which has for the most part moved to Paris, anyway, is not permitted to produce films in Germany any longer under the regulations that bar non-members of the chamber from production activity. Matador is headed by Marcel Helman, a Jew. He has a tie-up with Pathe-Natan of France and, prior to the reversal of conditions here, he made German versions for Pathe. He will now restrict his activities to Paris.

Russ-Magyar Truce

Budapest, May 11.

Practically no Russian pictures shown here for years because censor board vetoed them on account of political tendencies. Diplomatic relations between Hungary and Soviets recently being established, import of Russian pictures will now be taken in hand by several distributors.

Censors will pass any, if not politically dangerous. Believed the pics may prove se... rivals to German films here.

RIOT OVER REEL CLIP

Prague, May 12.

A demonstration took place in a Prague picture theatre when, in a weekly newsreel showing an Austrian military parade, the old Austrian monarchial national hymn was played.

Audience arose from its seats, stamped feet and demanded a removal of the alleged Austro-monarchial provocation.

U.A. Paid Zola's Heirs for 'Nana' Title, but Is Sued Nevertheless

Paris, May 11.

Fondness of the French for making a lot of noise in the theatre on any excuse is finding an outlet this week in houses playing Fox's 'Lilliom' and United Artists' 'Nana.'

Just what the noise is all about in the case of 'Lilliom' is not plain, but fact is that in all three theatres showing it, Argiculteurs, Bonaparte and Cine-Opera, spectators burst out into whistling and shouting every once in a while. Effect on b.o. is not entirely bad, for there's a lot of discussion of the film about town—especially puzzled discussion of what the shouting is about—and that makes people go.

Crowd seems to fail to get the point of Fritz Lang's heaven scenes, which apparently strikes them as false, seditious and un-French. One objection seems to be that a foreign play was taken by foreigners and filmed in French with an attempt to create a French atmosphere, which rings false.

'Nana' Simpler

'Nana' whistling has a plainer reason. Whistling in France is not applause, but an exaggerated form of hissing. Crowd thinks that the national literary hero, Zola, has been deformed in the film.

Heirs of Zola, Dr. J. Emile-Zola and Mme. Denise Leblond-Zola, after protesting against pic to Author's Society, have now decided to take the matter to court. According to Alexandre Zevaes, their lawyer, who also writes, they will ask that film be withdrawn or, at least, that the title 'Nana' and 'Suggested by book by Emile Zola' be cut out. If they can't get a direct court order for this, they will ask the court to chose three experts from the world of arts and letters to 'see the film and to decide if the divergences surpass the indispensable modifications which are necessary when a novel is adopted for the screen.'

Complaint alleges that the film is 'a complete deformation of the novel, that the most characteristic episodes of the book are suppressed or modified, that the plot is changed, that the original work has not only become unrecognizable in the film but does not even figure in it.'

The two heirs, therefore, ask the court for reparation for the considerable moral damage inflicted upon the memory of the author and that this moral damage cease in the future.'

UA Answers

United Artists locally made the following statement in answer:

'1. The moving picture adaptation of 'Nana' in the United States was done under the right of public domain.

'2. In deference to Emile Zola and his work, Samuel Goldwyn arranged for a contract with the children of Zola. In this contract the producer, in return for a considerable sum of money, received the right to use the title 'Nana' in the entire world and to make an original scenario based on the novel.

'3. The title was not changed in any country with the exception of Britain, where it had to be replaced on order of the censor by 'Lady of the Boulevards.'

'4. The producers of the film have thus loyally observed the terms of their contract.'

Row is one of those literary-legal affairs that Paris loves. They usually result in barrels of talk but rarely in any monetary damage.

Nazis' Reasons for Nixing Baer's Film May Affect All Foreign Pix

Taking No Chances

London, May 12.

German distributing concern attempted to show 'Going Gay,' a British picture, in Berlin. It was promptly banned because Arthur Riscoe, one of the comedians, looked Jewish to the censor. He isn't.

Before the picture can be licensed Riscoe's antecedents for three generations must be investigated.

French Bar Own Pic; Arguments Hot and Heavy!

Paris, May 10.

Latest victim of French film censor's renewed activity, which recently prevented release here of United Artists' 'House of Rothschild,' is Louis Verneuil, veteran writer of farces. Film version of Verneuil's 'Nemo Bank,' a satire on financial corruption in France, ran afoul of the inquisitors, who cut out a large hunk of the main sequence which shows a French cabinet socking the innocent in a scandal and letting the guilty go. And Verneuil is raising Cain in no uncertain manner.

Strict contrast to UA, which as a foreign house, thinks it wiser to say nothing about its censorship troubles and let the matter blow over as quietly as possible.

Verneuil sees in the slashing of his film a fear on the part of the authorities that he might be kidding them about the Stavisky affair. He says that can be so because he wrote the piece three years ago, long before the affair broke, and he wants to know if the politicians are trying to punish him for being a prophet.

It's a pure matter of chance, he says, that 'Nemo' seems timely, just as Shakespeare's 'Coriolanus' did. 'Coriolanus' was banned, too, but finally was put back, largely because legit censorship is harder to maintain in the face of public opinion here than film censorship, which seems natural to most people. Thus, in the Verneuil case, the play 'Nemo' is oke and can be put on tomorrow, whereas the film, which is no hotter, is slashed.

Censors say they acted because it might be possible for the public to think it recognized in some of Verneuil's characters actual politicians, and might hoot them in the theatre or throw eggs at the screen. It's the business of the authorities to avoid such possibilities of disorder, they say.

Verneuil is going to write to the Minister of Justice, he says, complaining that the censors have insulted the people who govern France in pretending that his film represented them.

Joan McAvoy Dies in L.A. Following Auto Smashup

Los Angeles, May 21.

Joan McAvoy, 22, screen actress, was killed in an auto accident Friday (18) when an auto in which she was riding collided with a machine driven by Iris Ashton, actress.

Miss McAvoy appeared in 'No, No, Nanette' on the New York stage. She had appeared in comedy spots in pictures. Her real name was Elsie M. Dugan.

Mull Next Dietrich

Hollywood, May 21.

Josef von Sternberg will direct Marlene Dietrich's next picture for Paramount. Story is still unselected, but both director and actress are taking a vacation prior to looking over story material.

Last von Sternberg-Dietrich film, 'Scarlet Empress,' will be released in the fall. Coming picture is Dietrich's last under her present contract.

Berlin, May 21.

Supreme Board of Censors has rejected Metro's appeal on the ban of 'Prizefighter and the Lady,' nitely going on record as opposing the film because its star, Max Baer, is a Jew. When the film was originally banned by the censors no excuses or reasons were given. Now the government gives out a long statement explaining its views.

'Whole picture is built up on the main figure of Max Baer, a non-Aryan,' the report states. 'If the appealing firm (Metro) doubts the decision of the Board of Censors that the German public would see in Baer 'a typical representative of his race' the appealing firm is alone in this opinion.

'The first decision rightly states that the German people, as a whole, bears an antagonistic attitude towards the Jewish race and, as recent events have proven, it is felt as a provocation when films starring non-Aryans are shown.

'Under these circumstances a difference between a German non-Aryan and a foreign Jew cannot be made, likewise whether the picture plays in Germany or in any other country.'

First Official View

This phase of the statement, for the first time, gives the official government view on the matter of non-Aryan players in U. S. films, thus far a moot question.

Censor's statement goes on to say:

'It is intolerable to the national-socialistic feeling if a Jew is glorified and depicted as a moral hero and victor on the field of sports. The defense doubts this. In contradiction, the Supreme Board of Censors finds that the whole picture is one long apothesis of Max Baer, his life and career, and that the public cannot help but sympathize with him in his fight against Carnera.

'Also the national-socialistic feelings are violated through the superiority of Max Baer's attitude towards non-Jewish women, which he displays in an obtrusive manner. The contention that the German feelings with regards to the relation of a non-Aryan to non-Jewish women may be merely restricted to German life, and cannot be extended to an affair playing abroad, cannot be maintained. To the German mind such relations are objectionable in any case, whether the action takes place in Germany or elsewhere.'

Opposition Piling Up Against Schlesingers

Capetown, April 30.

The Ritz Bio-Cafe, Capetown, has obtained silent films from African Theatres since its opening. Cinema adjoins Wolfram's and the Promenade Bio-Cafe, controlled by African Theatres. For some time preparations were in hand at the Promenade to install sound there.

Advent of Schlesinger's opposition, Independent Film Distributors, gave the Ritz its opportunity to put one over on African Theatres and arrange with IFD for talkers, canceling its agreement with A. C. Theatres. Latter, then, opened the Promenade as a sound bio-cafe earlier than expected.

It is a case of killing the goose that lays the golden eggs, for the action of A. C. Theatres in opening with sound at the Promenade brings it into opposition to its own houses, Wolfram's and the Apollo, across the street.

Proprietor of another cinema in Capetown has cancelled his agreement with A. C. Theatres, closed his house for repainting and will reopen with sound under contract to IFD.

Roland Brown to London

Roland Brown will go to England in about a month to direct the next London Films' production, 'The Scarlet Pimpernel.' Picture goes into work when the current Doug Fairbanks film, 'Exit, Don Juan,' is completed.

'Pimpernel,' from the Baroness d'Orczy novel, will have Leslie Howard as star. Rest of cast not set as yet.

FRENCH BLOW AT U. S. FILMS

Russe Film Trust's Head Dwells Casually on Russo-American Pic Accord, but Evades Basic Details

Russia wants to do business with the United States in a film way, but just how and under what conditions is a question. V. A. Uslevich, head of the entire Russian film trust, is in New York to see what kind of deals he can work out, and called a press conference last Thursday (17) to tell the boys how much he intended to accomplish. There were some questions left unasked, however, and others left unanswered.

Uslevich wants to put through some deals with several major American companies for the showing of U. S. product in Russia. He also would like some American companies to come over there and make some pictures or versions, and he would like to make some English versions for distribution on this side. It's only the simple matter of money that has him stumped, and he thinks that can be worked out.

Russia would like to use American pictures, Uslevich intimated. Not all of them, of course; they'd like to pick, but there are films which they could use. But as for paying for the pictures—well, Russia is a poor country. Perhaps, Uslevich thinks, a reciprocal deal can be worked out. Russian films for American films, or Russian production privileges for American films.

But never mind the details, Uslevich said, there are 30,000 film houses in Russia, and 100 pictures are produced there annually at a cost of about $400,000.

Uslevich did all his talking via an interpreter, and some questions just couldn't seem to get translated.

Dodges the Dollar's Equation

To get back to money, a literal-minded mugg wanted to know, supposing an American firm did produce pictures in Russia, how about costs? That was waved aside. It would have to be figured out. There is no money equivalent for talent in Russia.

How much would Americans have to pay for actors and studio help over there? That, too, was waved aside, and Uslevich explained that Russia is busy at present switching silent houses all over the country to 16mm. Cheaper and faster, and the Russians like it, he said.

There was one more attempt to get literal on the matter of facts, but, 'No, Mr. Uslevich prefers not to name the several American companies that he is carrying on negotiations with at present,' said the interpreter.

On only one matter important to Americans did Uslevich express himself firmly.

'There will be no cutting down of what you call propaganda in our films,' he said. 'Films without it in Russia are regarded as empty entertainment. Our work, that of the film trust, is to combine education and entertainment.'

Films will be hopped up some, he said, and the entertainment values brightened and brought more forward with an eye to the American market, but preachments of world change, in toto, will not be dropped.

Sacha Guitry Gives In; Will Make Pasteur Pic

Paris, May 12.

Sacha Guitry, who up to now has insisted that films are no good for actors, has at last yielded and will play in a film version of his play on the life of Pasteur.

Reason for change of heart is said to be rumor that reached him that Pasteur was being used as a film subject in Hollywood. Sacha wanted to get to it first.

Fox has been playing with a Pasteur story for some time. Winfield Sheehan picked it up during his European trip last year.

FOX REEL INTERVIEW CAUSING PARIS ROW

May 11.

Newsreel interview with von Papen on the Saar, in which the German chancellor says territory must return to Reich, is creating a stir here. Ilm is released by Fox.

Press hints that the censor who cut passages from rioting pictures taken February 6, would have done better to leave them in and kill this, which is characterized as German propaganda.

Fox precedes the interview with a title disclaiming responsibility for opinions and asking spectators to take them calmly.

Par British Execs Over for Parleys On Foreign Chain

London, May 11.

J. Graham, head of Paramount's British company; Earl St. John, head of Paramount's theatres in England, and Mont. Goldman, head of the sales department, sail for America June 2. Executives are going over for Paramount's annual convention, arriving in Hollywood June 18.

Although no statement has been given out, neither has the sailing been divulged thus far. It is understood a discussion is to take place appertaining to Par's British theatres, which number around 13, including one in Liverpool and one in Glasgow, latter owned jointly by Par and others.

Discussion will revolve upon idea of Paramount consolidating all its interests into one big company, with promotion to go to the public for subscription, Company is likely to be formed for £4,000,000, with Paramount to retain a big interest and the present executives to remain in full charge.

Paramount has had several offers to dispose outright, but has always turned down proposals, however tempting. Deem it essential to retain an interest in these properties, which are all in the key cities of England and Scotland, including two in the best spots of West-End London.

No 'Thunder' in Mexico

Mexico City, May 18.

Exhibition of 'Thunder Over Mexico' has been blocked for an indefinite period, even though local censors okayed the film. Blocking is being effectively done by the cinema employees' unions which no like Hollywood editing of the picture.

Film was announced to top the program for the debut of the Teatro Principal here as a cinema after 200 years of stage shows, but union's stubborn opposition caused picture to be yanked at the last minute. Principal has launched its cinema career as a second-run grind house.

Forst Freed

Berlin, May 11.

Willy Forst, film actor and director, was accused of having killed two persons in an auto accident, but was acquitted by the court after a 13 hours' session.

Jury held he did everything possible to prevent accident.

VIRTUAL EMBARGO ON FOREIGN PIX

However, It Favors German Films 50% Over Others—Vandal & Delac's Franco-German Production Interests May Be One Reason — Delac Is Prez of Chambre Syndicale

MODIFICATION HOPE

Paris, May 21.

Toughest blow ever handed American films anywhere abroad came Friday (18) when the Chambre Syndicale recommended legislation to the French government which would virtually bar all American films from the French market. Chambre is the official film body, including all producers and distributors in France, and, while not connected definitely with the government, is considered very important and influential. Paramount, Fox, United Artists and Universal, the only American companies belonging to the Chambre, resigned immediately.

Chambre asked the government to declare a complete embargo on foreign films for three months, starting July 1. Also it asks that the tariff on negatives be raised from 20c a meter to $7 a meter, a jump of 3,300%. At the same time it was recommended that the tariff on German-made French talkers be raised to $4 a meter, about half of what Americans would have to pay should the measure be made law.

New tariff proposal would mean, roughly, that the duty on the average American film would be about $16,666. Today average film duty on an American picture is $300. Thus American films would be practically barred forever, since no film, with an occasional exception, is believed to be able to stand that much duty draft.

Would Limit Generally

Chambre's program doesn't stop there, however. It goes on to recommend that distribution and exhibition of foreign language talkers be limited in increasing percentages for the next five years.

Also suggested are that both block and blind booking be strictly forbidden in the future and that at the same time a more severe restriction of foreign help in French film studios be effected.

Proposition is that the money raised out of these recommended increased duties go towards financing French films in the form of lower taxes for the localites plus government subsidies.

Although the Chambre has been brewing something of this sort for some time, the move caught American film companies totally unprepared. Cables began sizzling and telephone calls were put through by most of the majors. The only four U. S. companies that belong to the Chambre (the others dropped out for reasons of their own during the past year or two) threatened Monday (14) to drop out and carried through their threat when it became apparent that the localites, dominated by Charles Delac and M. Natan, could not be stopped. (Vandal & Delac produce both French and German versions in Paris and Berlin.) Delac is president of the Chambre.

With the aid and supervision of the Hays office and the United States commercial attache a long report and answer is being prepared by the American companies for submission to the French government by way of rebuttal. Hays' rep, Harold L. Smith, is confident that the government will not go through with enactment of any such law, although he fears that, because of its rigidness, the government may tone things down by half or even three-quarters, still making the new law too tough for American firms.

Smith, however, has been preparing for a fight for some time and has the exhibitors already lined up for strict opposition to the Chambre program.

French Exhibs Go on Record Against Tougher Quota Laws; Want U. S. Pic Entrance Eased

Paris, May 12.

exhibitors, fearing that campaign of producers to keep foreign films out of the market wi deprive them of their best b.o. draw, are coming out smack for an increase in the quota, instead of a decrease, as asked.

This giving considerable encouragement to American distribution chiefs here, who are plenty worried over the turn the quota fight has been taking, and who have been expressing fear that this market for their product will be drastically curtailed.

Exhibs action takes the form of a confidential letter to National Education Minister Aime Berthod, who is kingpin in the fight. They ask that the quota be stepped up to 325 films, instead of the 140 plus 88 hangovers which last year's contingent.

They also express annoyance at the restrictions on the number of theatres at which foreign language films can be shown. Present law makes it impossible to project English versions in more than five theatres in Paris and 15 in the provinces. Exhibitors want this stepped up to a total of 100 theatres, Paris and sticks combined.

Letter Secret

Letter has been kept strictly q.t. Trade press has not peeped about it, and it is believed that Charles Delac, head of the Chambre Syndicate and leader of the fight for an embargo, import and dubbing taxes and quota reduction, does not even know yet that it was sent. Letter was sent by exhibs' syndicate of which M. Lussiez is head, and which groups the leading theatre owners of the country. Exhibs last week won a victory over the producers in the matter of the standard contract which the film makers wanted to impose on them.

Question of the number of theatres at which an American or other foreign language film can be shown has its importance, as well as the main quota problem. This is shown by United Artists' experience with 'Henry VIII', which had to be taken off the screen in Paris in the original version after it had run in the maximum of five houses. A smash hit like 'Henry' could make a lot more money, and could do good to a lot more exhibs, if the limits were widened as the exhibitors now ask.

Position on the quota question of the new Independent Producers' and Distributors' Association remains doubtful. Committees of these outfits are studying a project to tax theatres showing foreign language films in order to relieve French films from taxes, and they are also considering a special levy on dubbing. Their plan seems to involve the licensing of foreign language film houses by a committee which they would control. If these ideas go through not much relief is to be expected from this quarter.

PLAGIARISM CHARGE ON WB 'WAX CABINET'

Budapest, May 11.

Istvan Tamas, young novelist, has filed a suit against Warners charging use of plot of his short story in 'Wax Cabinet' without ting him know about it.

Tamas claims that he sent his story to Michael Curtiz, who directed 'Wax Cabinet,' several years ago on recommendation of a mutual friend. Curtiz did not reply or return the manuscript and Tamas now says he recognizes his story, down to intimate details in the WB picture.

New Carbons Tax Splits Ranks of Brit. Exhibitors

London, May 13.

Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association executives looks like having to face plenty of dissension from the majority of its members, with a split in the ranks not an improbability. Trouble is due to the tax placed on foreign arc-lamp carbons. Tax is about the heaviest put on any foreign product, ranking from 500 to 700%.

Although it is felt the British Carbon Manufacturers have outsmarted the foreigners in getting the Chancellor to agree to this tax, it is openly hinted by some that influential members of the C. E. A. have been indirectly responsible for this tax ramp.

The C. E. A. has for months annoyed the Chancellor with claims for reduction, and in some cases the abolition, of picture theatres admission tax. Then came the British Carbon Manufacturers, telling the C. E. A. the best way to get the admission tax repealed would be to inform the Chancellor of a new source of revenue, by putting a tax on foreign carbons. Result is there is no prospective reduction in admission tax, but a new bogey, in the form of a carbons' tax, has arrived.

Although British carbon manufacturers have promised they would not raise the price of carbons, this cannot be maintained for long, as they are only two Britishers—the General Electric Company, and Ships' Carbons — manufacturing home product, which means before long the supply must exceed the demand, with higher prices a foregone conclusion.

Chancellor maintains the carbon tax has been arrived at after consultations with the C. E. A., while several members of that body declare they were not consulted, or they would have opposed it.

LORRE FOR COLUMBIA

Peter Lorre, Czech actor now in London, is due in New York shortly en route to Hollywood for a Columbia film deal. He's under a termer to Col.

Lorre came to attention in the German film 'M,' but he's a Czech citizen.

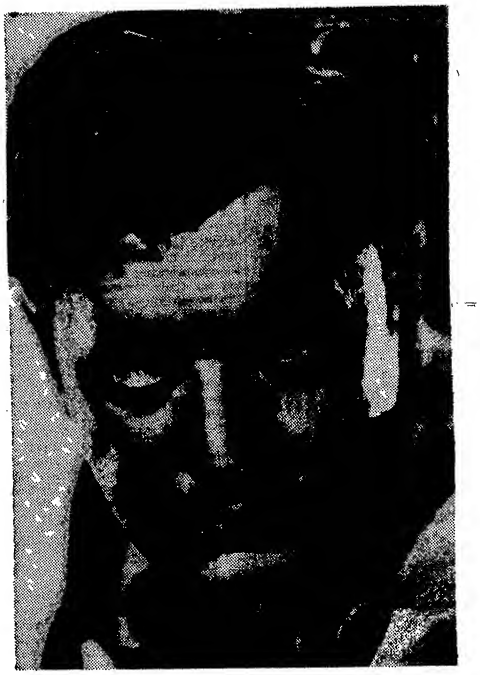
HOME-MADE TALKERS VIA AFR. INVENTION

Capetown, April 30.

Machine has been invented by P. I. Finestone, Durban (Natal) whereby amateurs owning home film projectors can make their own talkers. Due to the home film being too narrow for a sound track, the inventor has constructed a six inch disc running for three minutes at 30 feet per minute, and claims the invention is the only machine to record on a 9.55 m.m. film.

States his invention records the same results as the larger 35 m.m. films speeding 90 feet per minute. The machine is easy to attach.

REWARD!



"STINGAREE"

"STINGAREE"

History's most fascinating scoundrel is loose and out to steal box-office records!

He has taken the public of three cities by storm with his charm and daring and packed houses are rewarding New York, San Francisco and Washington.

●

WARNING!

TO THEATRE MANAGERS

Buckle on your advertising hardware and go after him—the big money is waiting!

●

IRENE DUNNE and RICHARD DIX

co-starred for the first time since "Cimarron" have brought real romance and adventure back to the screen in another great big RKO-Radio Money Show.

SADIE McKEE

(WITH SONGS)

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production and release. Stars Joan Crawford, with Gene Raymond, Franchot Tone, Edward Arnold featured. Directed by Clarence Brown. Lawrence Weingarten, asso. prod. From the Liberty magazine serial by Vina Delmar; screen play, John Meehan. Songs by N. H. Brown and Arthur Freed; synchronization, Dr. William Axt; camera, Oliver T. Marsh. At Capitol, N. Y., week May 18. Running time, 90 mins.

Sadie	Joan Crawford
Tommy	Gene Raymond
Michael	Franchot Tone
Brennan	Edward Arnold
Dolly	Esther Ralston
Stoops	Earl Oxford
Opal	Jean Dixon
Phelps	Leo Carroll
Ricco	Akim Tamiroff
Mrs. Craney	Zelda Sears
Mrs. McKee	Helen Ware
Maid	Helen Freeman
Cafe Entertainers	Gene Austin and Candy and Coco

'Sadie McKee' is swell b. o. It has all the time honored cinematic ingredients for popular appeal. It's the Cinderella theme all over again, plus an s.a. angle through the stellar player of the titular role encountering three major romances in the persons of the featured male trio in support—Tone, Raymond and Arnold.

Basically it's the story of the housemaid who marries the boss of the manor, but not until after he comes humbly to her, and after she has experienced a couple of turbulent affaires with the other two.

On sympathy appeal there is a question for the fundamental palate, but that is shrewdly glossed over as to almost make it acceptable. The rest of it is sufficiently well seasoned to sum up into expert celluloid fare for all sorts and tastes.

That her major attachment to Edward Arnold is obviously a mercenary marriage is sufficiently well built up to make it almost sympathetic, in view of the goading of the presumably supercilious young master (Tone) of the household in which Sadie's mother is the cook. Later she redeems herself and her motives by nursing Arnold back to health from dypsomania.

Gene Raymond is cast as the No. 1 sweetie who, according to Franchot Tone, is a no-good-guy, but who is the major romance interest even after he runs with a vaudeville single (well played by Esther Ralston). This catapults into the hectic nite club nuptials with Arnold, while Tone is the onlooker all through the footage until divorce and death remove the other two men.

The playing is expert throughout, so much so that in its realism it perhaps makes the star suffer a bit, particularly at the hands of Edward Arnold whose bluff, constantly inebriated performance almost steals the picture. Unlike the stamp usually impressed on his characters in the past, he is convincingly sympathetic to the degree that at first it has the dyed-in-the-wool fans somewhat uncertain whether to mentally catalog him a heel or a hero. It's the latter, but somehow they've been trained to expect something else, perhaps the curse of cataloged castings.

After a while the film impresses on the auditor that it is a departure from the formula and that it shapes up as something like an authentic human document in its unfoldings.

There are a couple of Brown-Freed ditties, one of which, 'All Night Long I Dream of You,' is the thematic and should catch on. It possesses b. o. worth for Gene Austin, vet radio and record entertainer, with his aides, Candy and Coco, make their film debut in the cafe scene and do their chores with cynical impersonal aloofness that impresses as being authentically professional.

Casting throughout is good. Jean Dixon, as the very theatrical friend, is particularly effective along with the foremost character quartet and Miss Ralston. Akim Tamairoff, as the Italian cafe owner, and Zelda Sears in a zany role, are likewise outstanders.

Film's 90 minutes are replete with action and verve, a tribute to director Clarence Brown and his associates. Abel.

LITTLE MISS MARKER

B. P. Schulberg production and Paramount release. Directed by Alexander Hall. Story by Damon Runyon; screen play by William R. Lipman, Sam Hellman, Gladys Lehman. Ralph Rainger, music; Leon Robin, lyrics; Alfred Gilks, camera. At the Paramount, N. Y., week May 18. Running time, 78 mins.

Sorrowful Jones	Adolphe Menjou
Bangles Carson	Dorothy Dell
Miss Marker	Shirley Temple
Big Steve	Charles Bickford
Regret	Lynne Overman
Benny the Gouge	Sam Hardy
Buggs	Tammony Young
Marky's Father	Edward Earle

Done from a story by Damon Runyon, this yarn suggests Lotta's old play, 'Pawn Ticket 210,' in modern version with a bookmaker instead of uncle holding the human pawn. Good scripting, careful production, vivid characters and little Shirley Temple make a combination that will be all right at practically all cash wickets. Women will gush over the youngster and men will enjoy the race track types, so there seems to be something for everyone.

It's a thin plot, this story of the bettor who pledges his little daughter with a bookmaker and gets killed before he can reclaim her. There are few plot developments to complicate the simple formula of the child who influences the lives of her associates and acts as a power for good. That leaves room for free development of what story there is and still time for some good by-play.

Script owes its main theme to Runyon but the adaptors take a nod for a nicely planned continuity with lots of deft touches. Caster takes another bow for his types and the director can polish hands with the players at the final curtain. They all work for a common good and the result is a charming little tale without overstress. In the family spots it should find its warmest welcome, but at the none too easy Paramount, the house was in roars most of the time.

Menjou as the bookmaker, and Dorothy Dell, as a cabaret singer, have most of the feeding and Menjou, particularly, turns in a capital performance, with Miss Dell picking up what limited opportunities she is afforded. But the child is the greater part of the show and proves again that she can act in spite of her immature years. Judging from the frequency with which her name is mentioned in the production list there is danger that she may be overworked through being written in to bolster too many stories in which she does not belong, but she's not doing a lifesaver in this one. It is her story and she's the leading lay. Her naturalness is a delight. Charles Bickford helps in his few scenes.

A gorgeous earlier sequence in which the child is given a King Arthur party with the heelers as Knights of the Round Table is swell bit as the men-at-arms parade the banquet hall singing 'Sidewalks of New York.' Just a sidelight, but it brought a roar from the audience.

This picture is a good response to that element which claims there is nothing good in pictures. Clean, funny, with thrills and heart appeal all nicely blended. Chic.

Murder at the Vanities

(WITH SONGS)

Paramount production and release. Directed by Mitchell Leisen. Based on play by Earl Carroll and Rufus King. Adaptation, Carey Wilson and Joseph Gollomb. Dialog, Sam Hellman. Music, Arthur Johnston; lyrics, Sam Coslow. Photography, Leo Tover. At Rivoli, N. Y., starting May 19. Running time, 95 mins.

Eric Lander	Carl Brisson
Bill Murdock	Victor McLaglen
Jack Ellery	Jack Oakie
Anne Wyse	Kitty Carlisle
Norma Watson	Dorothy Stickney
Rita Ross	Gertrude Michael
Mrs. Smith	Jessie Ralph
Homer Boothby	Charles B. Middleton
Sadie Evans	Gail Patrick
Dr. Saunders	Donald Meek

Herein they mix up the elements of a musical show and a murder mystery, with effective comedy to flavor, and, keeping the cutter's hands off as much as possible, come out with 95 minutes of entertainment that should genuinely satisfy. The story may not be the most original, the production numbers may not be the best that have been done, the settings may appear a little less grandiose than some, but when the whole is weighed it tilts the scales favorably.

Despite the 95 minutes, at no time does the picture get sleepy. Its comedy relief is important in this respect since it maintains the pace between production numbers and other highlights whereas without it these are points where the drag may have occurred.

The 'Vanities' girls are costumed sparingly for eye appeal and in the press book this is stressed for exploitation.

Development of the murder mystery background against which most of the comedy is pointed also carries the interest along evenly with Victor McLaglen in charge of the investigation of a couple murders that tax his limited detective prescience. McLaglen shares with Jack Oakie the comedy burden and for each it's a strike. Both are at their best, and it would appear that the casting in this and other respects for 'Vanities' is entitled to a bow.

Picture serves to bring out Carl Brisson, Danish actor who was brought over recently by Paramount to get his baptism in this quasi-musical.

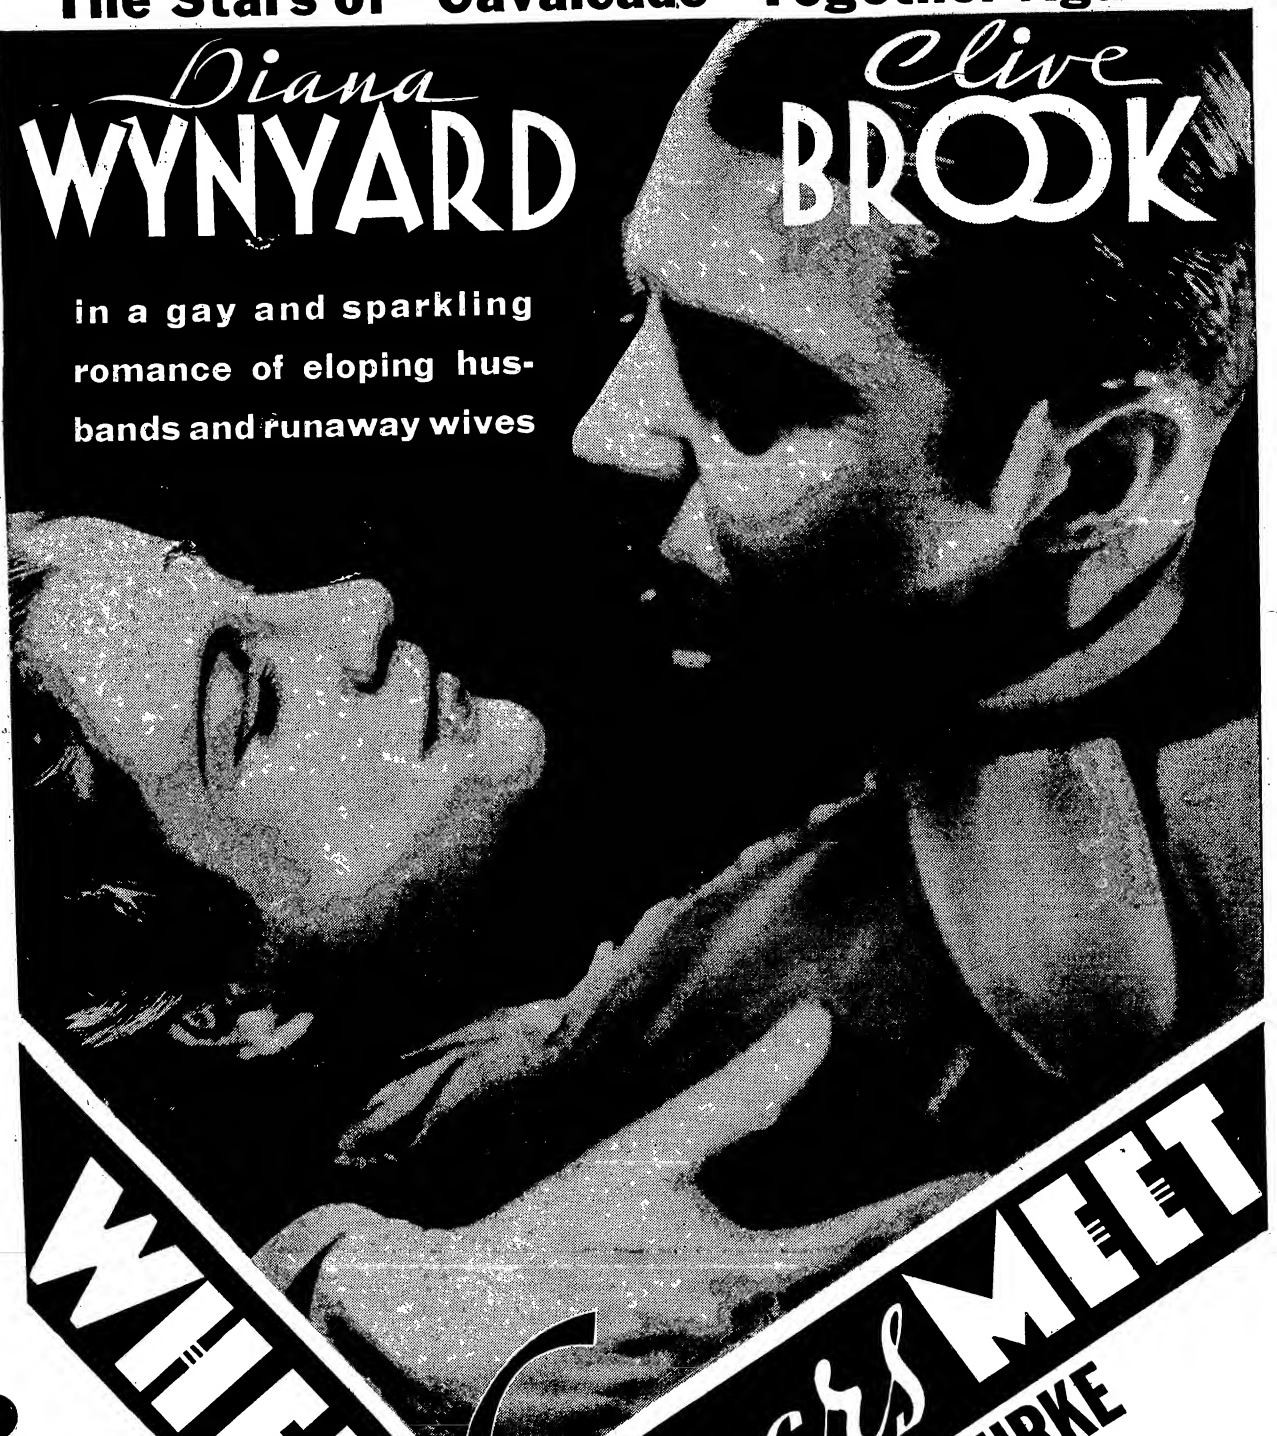
In addition to having an ingratiating personality and photographing well, the foreign import sells his songs for good results. The best that Brisson has is a smile that will get him the interest alone

The Stars of "Cavalcade" Together Again!

Diana WYNYARD

Clive BROOK

in a gay and sparkling romance of eloping husbands and runaway wives



WIVES Meet Sinners

with BILLIE BURKE

REGINALD OWEN
ALAN MOWBRAY
GILBERT EMERY

"FROM THE PLAY, "THE DOVER ROAD" BY A.A. MILNE

DIRECTED BY J. WALTER RUBEN

PANDRO S. BERMAN, EXEC. PRODUCER

RKO RADIO PICTURE

RADIO CITY ATTRACTION

STARTING THURSDAY

Chamberlain Brown Brings a New Kind of Hodge-Podge Vode to 42d St.

Chamberlain Brown has presented many things in his time as an artists' representative and also as a manager, but his poorest effort came Wednesday night (16) with the formal presentation of 'Flashes,' a sad mixture of straight vaudeville and sketches, at the Lyric, on 42nd street, N. Y.

Present venture of Brown is backed by the United States Patriotic Society, which hogs the program and pleads for contributions in its reader. This organization is probably responsible for the ridiculous opening of the show, the singing of the 'Star Spangled Banner' by Mme. Samoiloff, from opera, who lugged the Stars and Stripes to her bosom to accentuate the anthem. This came about 9 p.m., after the pit orchestra had played and replayed the overture about five times, with the show scheduled to start at 8:30.

House was about one-third full when the unusual curtain-raiser took place, with most everybody in on the cuff. All that was necessary to gain admission was to come close to the box office, where ducats were shoved at all and sundry with little questioning. A good portion of the customers appeared like young stage hopefuls invited by Brown, and it was a lesson in what not to do on the stage.

The layout itself was too poor as a presentation, and, in most instances, as acts, to allow for actual criticism. Fritzi Scheff, with auburn tresses; Frank Farnum, dancer, and Brown himself, were the outstanding performers to the audience.

It was Brown's singing that, as a laugh, made part of the evening's torture worth while. He had m.c.'d the early portion of the show and returned to do a chorus of 'There Goes My Heart,' written by Abner Silver and to the latter's piano accompaniment. Around 15 people started to walk at this. By the time the menage was over as a whole, at nearly midnight, less than 100 die-hards were left on the lower floor.

Rest of the show included Nell O'Day and three boys in a flash; Pete Randall, m.c.; Julia Kelety, singer; Hope Emerson and Dimples Reed, femme comedy pair; Margaret McKee, whistler; 'The Millen Trial,' an extremely poor sketch, portraying the New England bandit court sketch; Tom McLaughlin, Irish tenor; Four Playboys, colored hoofers, and 'The Criminal Court,' a radio sketch entailing a cast of 20, which is programmed as by special arrangement of WMCA.

At this time Brown came on with a couple of children, Ada May and Elaine Megler, who did impersonations and recitations, respectively. Then he made a speech in which he extolled the patriotic virtues of the show and its backer, winding up with the statement that an entirely new layout will be given every Wednesday. It hardly looked, however, as though another Wednesday will come for 'Flashes.'

A black house eye was used all the way, with an eight-piece band in the pit. Acts on the stage had to use a miniature white upright piano for any stage musical accompaniment they needed.

Admish scale set at 25c. and 50c., two shows daily.

(Show closed Friday after four performances.)

PALACE, CHICAGO

Chicago, May 19.

Starting this week the top-priced house in the loop has something to offer the public, and something nearer to reason for asking the stiffest admission in the midwest. Its shows begin comparing favorably with the rival Chicago, Oriental and State-Lake. Not only is there talent on the stage, but it's dressed and presented like an 83c show. Palace has brought in Will Harris to produce and stage its vaude bills and he starts off on the right foot.

It's understood that the plan is not to go completely production, but to stick to the basis of vaudeville with only occasional sidetracks to dance lines and presentation ideas. However, there will be more intercommunciation between the various acts, maybe after-pieces or additional bits of entertainment thrown in for that extra helping. It shapes as a good idea.

Show this week is part Fanchon & Marco unit, and is billed as 'Hot and Bothered.' Lots of good talent on the bill. Particularly effective for this type of house are David and Hilda Murray. Open with a straight class ballroom dance routine, but then mix it up with some burlesques on the various types of ballroom hoofing in foreign lands. Murrays handle the idea cleanly and deftly without going overboard.

Other standard turn on the show consisted of Marty May and Jean Carroll. They've taken May's chair away from him, but he's still listening patiently while on the hoof. Miss Carroll's chatterbox style remains chiseled and to the point. On looks and manner she's there, and they remain a consistently good vaude turn.

On minor points Armida is spoiling herself. She has her own name and her own style. There is no reason in the world why she should mimic Lupe Velez, Dolores Del Rio and Marlene Dietrich. Not only are the impersonations done poorly, but they detract from Armida's own personality. She can get along well enough being Armida, singing her own songs and doing her own dances. She doesn't have to worry about the others. That piano player she has is also n.s.h.

Stooges are still stooges, and when they try to sep out for themselves they miss. This isn't the first time Howard, Fine and Howard tried to get along without Ted Healy. They tried it about two years ago and ended up playing dates at the split-week Engiewood. Their present straight man is a complete wash-out. They might as well use Danny Russo, who could do a better job from the pit. Stooges still need somebody to top their gags; this present straight guy can't stand the pace. Not that they didn't get laughs here, but the laughs lacked that wallop.

Lottie Mayer and her daughter finish the show with the disappearing water-ballet. An overdose of set somewhat weakens the ballet stuff itself. Tank is pretty small for this stage, with the mirrors particularly tiny for a house of this size. Shapes up, however, as a good novelty.

Business is better this week and indications are for the upbeat right along. Picture, 'Stingaree' (RKO). Biz was good at the last show Friday. Gold.

STATE, N. Y.

It's Cab Calloway this week, all the way. The hi-de-ho maestro, just back from a European tour and full of excess voltage, occupies the State rostrum for just short of 50 minutes and dishes out a fast and furious program of syncopation.

It's the remnant of what was once the Cab Calloway unit. Line of girls has been trimmed away, as well as several flashy Unit novelties, but what now consists of the band, Ada Ward, Nicodemus, Elmer Turner and the Five Percolators. Which is plenty, as it happens. There's not a minute's let-down, band going right into one of its hottest and brashest numbers to open and keeping up a furious pace all the way through.

When caught, Friday night, Calloway was in exceptionally good form. He cut up a bit more than usual, dancing and prancing around even more than is his custom—all of which didn't hurt any.

Rest of the State show is not so much, but provides sufficient diversion to suffice.

Opener is Arthur La Fleur, one of the best ring and iron jaw workers in vaude. Buster Shaver and his two clever midgets in the deuce continue the good impression, and Sidney Marlon is third. Marlon is in for comedy, which undoubtedly is needed. He serves the needed purpose quite sufficiently.

Picture is 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG), and house Friday night was overflowing. Kauf.

ROXY, N. Y.

Practically an all-acrobatic stage show at the Roxy this week. Sole exception is the radio headliner, Teddy Bergman, who announced himself as making his first stage appearance this week. He does mimicry and well (New Acts).

Show provided a good measure of entertainment for the attendance, which was fair, for Universal's 'The Black Cat.' There was the usual Gae Foster routines by the chorus and the established ringmaster, Wesley Eddy, who combined with four of the musicians for some instrumental hot harmonics.

Mooney and Kemp, adagio pair, scored nicely. Their stuff is grade A and certified. Fast and unusual lifts characterize their work. Smith, Rogers and Eddy ended a knockabout comedy session with some amazement-creating acrobatics. Finally, for the piece-de-resistance and show-closer, came the Denatti Troupe, whose varied stunts and increasing tempo elicited pronounced enthusiasm. Denatti boys are tops in their line.

John P. Medbury short, 'India,' a Walter Disney color cartoon, Fox newsreel and overture complete the program—the customary amplitude for one's money which this house always gives. Not much room for criticism, the show being about what's it's supposed to be. Eddy is perhaps a trifle too generous with forcing extra boys for the acts and slowing the pace and the acts seldom succeed in resisting the temptation to speechify. Land.

CAPITOL, N. Y.

There's something highly significant about stage presentations of the type of Waring's Pennsylvanians who, after a time-honored rep as a variety, record and radio attraction, come back to a Broadway deluxer like the Capitol at twice average income and register below average. Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians are pay rolled at $10,000 per week for two weeks at the Cap under an express proviso that the film must be okay, and extra shows pro rata. That's not hay, and the fortnight is insured by 'Sadie McKee' (Metro-Crawford) if nothing else.

From a trade angle the Warings probably rate the money till because of their radio buildup in the past year. They've become impressively established on the air waves and their b.o. draft is not to be deprecated judging by the welcoming salvos Friday (change) night.

But as a stage presentation it is significant from two angles. One—and perhaps that's the answer—is the misjudgment to stretch a socko 20-minute act into three-quarters of an hour. Or, secondly, it may have something or other to do with the theory that it doesn't pay for an act to permit itself to get out of practice if it has stage intentions as an aftermath to the microphone sojourn.

That's happened to Fred Waring and his basically worthy Pennsylvanians organization. The answer seems obvious. Considering their current principal metier—radio—they've been thinking in terms of the ether for months, so that when a fortnight on an ace stage eventuates it is no more than to be expected that they're not entirely prepared.

Basically, the talent ingredients are there. They've been clicking on the air, all of 'em—Poley McClintock, Babs Ryan, the Smoothies, Lane Sisters, Johnny Davis, Stuart Churchill, Scotty Bates; brother Tom Waring, with his mellow tenoring and pianologing, and all the rest. But when you recall the great pains to which Fred Waring formerly went to co-ordinate his stage presentations, and then see this ragged, spotty, hit 'n' miss sequence, it's cause for captiousness. Waring originated those elaborate electro-pyrotechnical formations with illuminated megaphones, darkened stages, rhythmic pyramids, etc., but, instead at the Capitol, he shows a succession of slow glee club numbers and Chautauquaish song and dance specialties. That may be radio, but it's not for Broadway. It's merely transplanting an assortment of effete specialties on an rostrum and expecting a 99c audience to accept what they get for nothing by twirling a dial.

The Waring organization comprises the entire presentation, some of 'em doubling into the pit to vamp off the newsreel. Two Pete Smith shorts, 'Trick Golf' and 'Flying Flounder,' augment 'Sadie McKee' for the celluloid.

Biz big opening night. Abel.

FOX, BROOKLYN

Nautical background for the formula layout at this spot currently.

Bert Frohman announces and leads the band as he feels, sometimes forgetting to walk off. However, he works hard at it and there every indication that he bears the responsibility of many things. When the band doesn't cue right in, for instance, it's Frohman who must smooth the pace. At the Fox especially an m.c. has a tough assignment.

Occasionally the bandsmen get chummy and discuss things among themselves while the performers down front are trying to keep the audience concentrated on the stage work.

Just the same, Ruth Roye scores her usual big finish on her character songs. When she sings Frohman honors her by leading the band personally. He wears a naval officer's cap and coat for the occasion. Frohman's style as a batoneer is distinctive.

The line must not be forgotten the current week. They do two or three numbers. Flo Kelly disciplines 'em here. Miss Kelly knows how to handle a line, with or without credit, and the current week the boards give her credit.

House was gaited to shut and the girls may be so surprised to find the place still running, despite a most awful offish biz, when caught, probably has the kids all tumbling a little, when not really aiming to do so.

The lighting currently is one of those things. Has coloring but it's mostly sombre.

Even Edgar Bergen, who does a nifty ventrilo act offed, the brass part of the band tooted ahead of cue, apparently. That was a sound!

Georges Campo, his white pan and tumbling saros plus a cute girl assistant is on before the same band. The band sticks right through, clad in white sailors for that nautical effect. Campo only wears white on his face. Rest of his outfit is dark. Campo does some good tumbling, but that Apache thing which hits the middle of his turn presently somehow doesn't let out the punch it should. Mostly timing off when caught, and the shift from the dummy to the girl or vice versa is too open. Easily corrected where stage facilities will allow.

Colby and Murray do ballroom adagio and Arline and Eddie, remembered from the Hotel New Yorker floor show, finale in a dancing novelty. Better on the hotel floor.

Show runs around an hour, with Frohman's singing; good time.

Feature, 'Success at Any Price' (RKO).

Spot continues indef, although slated to close this week. Shan.

NEWSREELS

(EMBASSY, N. Y.)

Pathe claims an exclusive on the lightship disaster. There are brief views of a ship in a fog and life boats scurrying around. In New York conventional coverage is obtained, including silent views of the two captains, the story of a passenger and a glimpse of one of the coffins.

It's over a week since Insull made his statement. His talk about fight, however, seems to be leaving the average newsreel audience neutral.

Newsreels overlooked a bet in the Robles kidnapping, Pathe, at least, treating the Arizona case as a silent. Better job was accomplished on the Gettle story, alleged abductors being close-upped and Gettle furnishing details.

Good storm views of the Middle West drought were evidently obtained only after considerable effort by Paramount. Dust and hail were included.

Hearst reel unloaded more propaganda against the world court idea with a presentation speech by a Hearst editor, along with some signatures of protest.

Some plane records were established on the screen with an 80-minute New York-Detroit trip, and one of 11 hours from L. A. to Newark with the mail. The Rome fliers were caught in take-off.

Through some of the newsreels a vivid picture of happy life in Washington for the bonus army is being painted. Eats and tents on the government's pleasant surroundings and what-not is the kind of material which is liable to inspire hordes of honorable discharge men to seek a vacation.

There is considerable about Japan, from old views of the Emperor reviewing troops to Perry Day.

Horse and auto racing, minus spills in either, along with trout fishing and icebergs complete the program. Waly.

PARAMOUNT, N. Y.

(DAVE APOLLON UNIT)

Dave Apollon is dishing out a 45-minute revue at the New York Paramount this week that is winning the approval of the customers. It's buiked, though not materially helped, by the Danny Dare house line, yet there is little stress on the line stuff, with enough competent specialists all neatly welded by Apollon, who practically never leaves the stage. He is all over the place and as he knows how to m.c. without making himself unpopular, the show owes much to him. Since its start a couple of months ago it has shaken down into a smooth and fast-working unit, with plenty of flash.

Opens with Apolion coming through the curtain and down into the pit to lead a brief number, too heavy in the brass, but showy. Curtains part to disclose a scrim in one behind which the Dare girls are dancing. Taken up quickly and we're close-in to one gives Bob Ripa a chance to score, and he rings up plenty of audience approval. In fine fettle and did not make a miss in his intricate routine with the Japanese sticks. He was over soildly.

Fulistage again with a weird Russian drop and Apollon's own Hawaiian band of nine men back of the Dare girls in Russe dress but doing very little. Regular line is one presently for their own number, done in long, white dresses, cut in the Russian mode. Showy. Followed by Kay, Kayta and Kay, female girls who do a short but spirited dance.

Lillian Carmen next to warble through the mike but not covering up an attractive face or a stunning full-length dress. She has a pleasant voice of considerable range, and could qualiffy as a class singer, but she goes in for comedy and finds a warmer welcome, for she still shows her voice to approvai and has the added advantage of getting the laughs, too. Miss Draper back for an acrobatic dance of the human doll type that is well done and as well accepted and Apollon goes into some foolery with his own boys, getting plenty of laughs all along this section but culminating with Harold Aloma, one of the band, who got a triple encore for his singing. Danzi Goodell gets next-to-closing for her familiar, but aways acceptable dancing and into the usual all-on finale.

There have been stronger units in point of talent, but for smooth running and smart showmanship this is up with the leaders. Chic.

PALLADIUM, LONDON

(COMMAND PERFORMANCE)

London, May 13.

Annual Royal Performance, in aid of Variety Artists's Benevolent Fund and Institution, was held here, as usual, May 8.

As entertainment, it was pretty dull and, with few exceptions, very disappointing. Not enough sight stuff; too many talking items, which eventually became boring to a degree.

Opened with big flash, depicting massive circus tent, with Kafka, Stanley and Mae foursome, American aerialists; Three Bonos, just back from America, and Frank Boston, local club swinger, with the Sherman-Fisher 24 Palladium gals forming background. Whole thing was fast moving, with plenty of action, giving show a flying start.

Three Sailors followed. On rather early, but soon got into stride, and finished to real big reception.

Lucan and McShane, man-woman comedy team, with laughs handled by man dressed as comedy dame, created plenty laughs with domestic strife and crockery smashing. Act was cut to comply with auspicious occasion and suffered thereby.

Elsie and Doris Waters, local radio favorites, did nicely in comedy cameos. Sisters were comparatively shunned by bookers about a year ago, but ether rep has put them in demand.

Cedric Hardwicke added tone to program, but his sketch, 'The Carrier Pigeon,' by Eden Phillpotts, proved a long nigmarole of incessant gab, with little dramatic value and few laughs.

Then came George Robey, with audience on tenterhooks, fearing he might spill some dirt. Robey deleted everything that was deemed suggestive, resulting in his being anything but Robey. There is no such thing as a Robey minus suggestiveness. Just barely got over.

Henry Hall, official British Broadcasting Corporation dance band leader, arrived to a big reception, but his music was not suited for vaudeville, his being more of a dance band. Hall has a very nice personality, but it's a pity he has to wear cheaters as it detracts from his appearance.

Following intermission came another flash; this time the Lawrence Tiller gals were used, with nice ball room dancing put over by Jack Holland and June Hart (Americans), doubling from the Savoy hotel.

Murray and Mooney, couple of local comics, frequenters at this house, cracked some old ones and found favor with the customers.

George Clarke, assisted by a threesome, did a sort of 'Wilder's Op'ry,' which was too old fashioned and anything but funny, making two sketches in one sitting, in these days of modern vaudeville. Both sketches had aotion taking place too near the Royal box, with the Royal party having to lean forward to follow situations.

Billy Bennett, who has been in several Royal Performances and has almost become a favorite with Royalty, failed in this instance. Monolog rendered was one of the oldest in his repertory and did not click.

Then came the spiciest bit of the evening, which saved the show from boredom. Using Jack Hylton's band as background, a feature popular on the air—'In Town Tonight'—was used, with well-known personalities being introduced. Sophie Tucker came first and received an ovation. Rendering two numbers, she held up the show, being compelled to take another encore. Mills Brothers sang 'Lazy Bones,' which was not a wise choice, as number proved too slow. Violet Loraine, old-time star and famous as one of the creators of song 'If You Were the Only Girl in the World' from 'The Bing Boys,' was accorded a sympathetic reception. Concluding item was an ensemble of military bands, Jack Hylton's boys and Dick Cream and house orchestra, making very effective tableau.

The King and Queen were accompanied by the Princess Alice and the Earle of Athlone. House was jammed to suffocation, with intake understood to have exceedel last year's, which was $20,000.

The B. B. C. paid $2,500 for broadcasting the show, but it failed to register on the ether, there being too many sight acts.

CENTURY, BALTO.

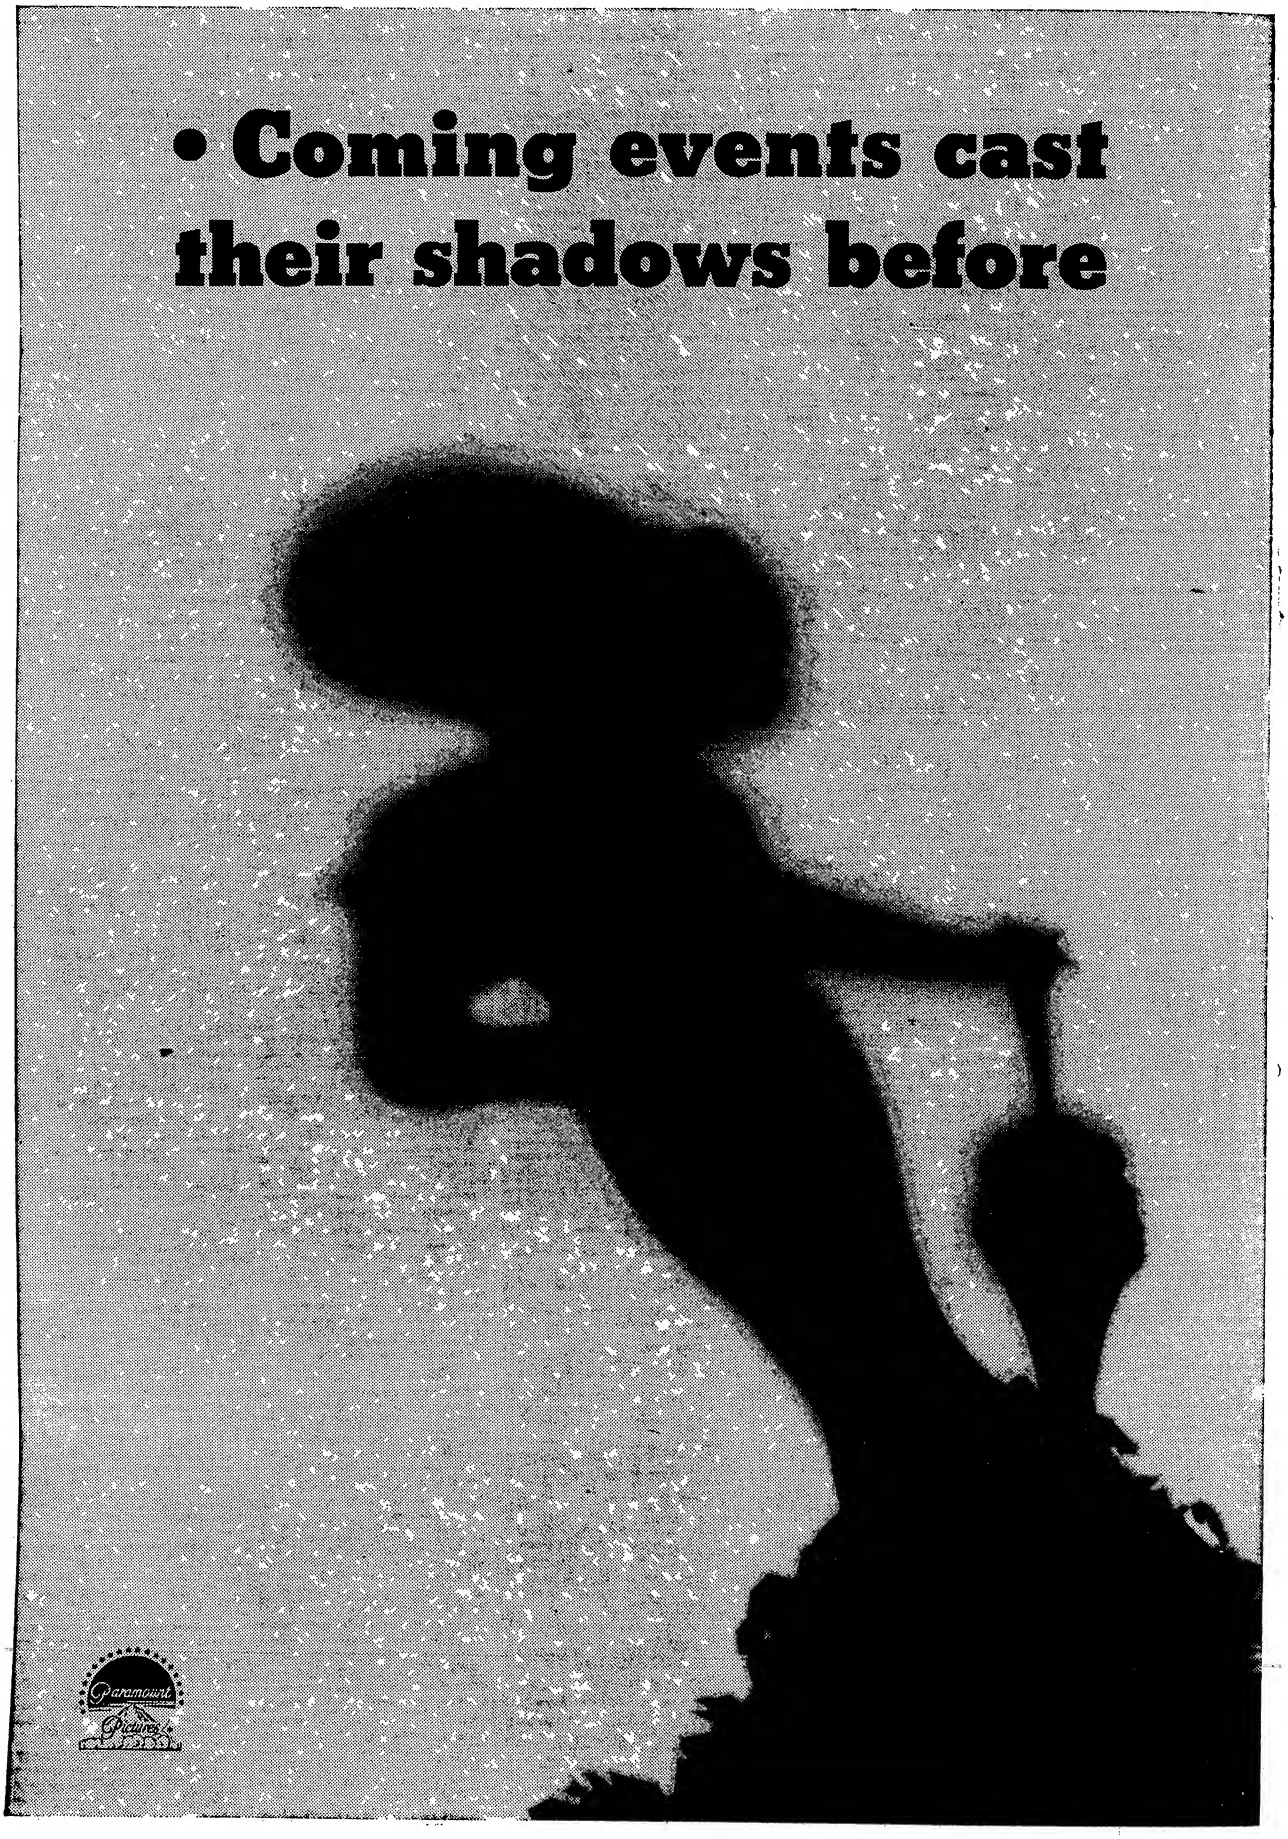
Baltimore, May 18.

The burg's vet house in number of service stripes for cons cutive years vaude vending has been rolling up good grosses the past two months. Currently, of the five acts, three are playing first date: on this deck and the other two are old favs. Latter pair is assigned final slots and it is largely that duo, Seiler and Wills and Al Trahan, that lifts bill into highly palatable category.

Opener, Three Kings and Queen, aerial casters, while Gypsy Nina drained the deuce for 10 minutes. First time she's ever trouped here as a single. Last year was adjunct to Isham Jones' ork. Worked into mike, fingering own accompaniment on accordion. She should move around a bit at conclusion of each

(Continued on page 65)

• Coming events cast their shadows before



EXPLOITATION

By Epes W. Sargent

Good Copy

Manager with an air conditioned house is all ready for the first hot wave. Plans to distribute attractive fans to offices, with this copy: 'When you get tired of fanning yourself, drop in at the Garwood theatre. Always comfortable. No chills. No fever.' Figures that to get around the talk of too-cold houses, as well as evading the danger of suggesting that the house is not cool enough. As soon as the fans go out he'll use the chills and fever line for a slogan for the remainder of the season.

Good copy is worth working for. There was a time when '20 degrees cooler inside' was regarded as the last word in pulling quality. Today that would not drag in a nickel. 'Cool as a cave' suggests a damp-ness that is far from inviting and even the icicle fringe on the marquee is regarded as extreme. A good slogan will sell. A poor one will keep patrons away.

Last fall an exhib collected with 'Don't shiver. Come in and smile.' It proved useful in the chill autumn days, but wore out when cold weather came. One double-biller pulled a fast one when a vacant store next door blossomed out with a sign 'All the cider you can drink for 10 cents.' The next morning he was offering 'All the show you can see for 15c.' It got a laugh, and it got business.

There's something besides the title and the star names with which to sell tickets.

Plugged Opposite Pix

Baltimore.

George Browning, pub for Warners' Stanley, put over a darb of a stunt that had film row cackling for days last week during run of 'We're Not Dressing.'

One evening early in week Johnny Weissmuller and bride, Lupe Velez, dropped in last show to view flick. Latter was personalng at the Century, crosstown opposish house. When show ended and mob streamed out into lobby Weissmuller's lengthy locks gave him away and mob rushed for him. He and wife retreated before surge and took nearest refuge, a room off lobby that happened to be Browning's office. With door secured and mob storming without, Browning suggested only way to get rid of 'em was for actor to pass out a sifeat of autographs. Weissmuller consented and Browning quickly supplied pen and paper. After half-hour's scribbling, swimmer had satisfied mob and it dispersed and he and wife vamoosed.

'Twas only then that crowd discovered that the autographs they had been doled were penned on back of small stills of Bing Crosby copiously sprinkled with plugs for 'Not Dressing.' As far as is known Weissmuller doesn't know yet. Browning just got his signature down on each card and passed it out to the crowd so fast, actor didn't have a chance to examine it.

Summer Bally Already

Fort Wayne.

Paramount's summer garb features a new Dutch Mill landscape with running fountain and winding roadways. Worked by mechanical device which sets water in action and creates cooling effect immediately on entering lobby. Grasses and potted plants also lend a shady atmosphere to setting.

Emboyd, also operated by Quimby manager, uses the bathing suit idea for its early spring lobby display. Used a style show with Jantzen and BVD line of outfits on stage preceding midnight preview. Professional girls were used, getting away from the stage-frightened store models. Modernistic model and beach playthings were set up in the main lobby with spotlights laying from balcony.

Beans for Pancho

Exploitation crew of Loew's State theatre, Cleveland, put over a good drive on 'Viva Villa' with the lobby frijoled up and perambulated by a fierce looking bandit who was not, however, fierce enough to keep the patrons away.

Best outside stunt was two girls as cute Mexican boys, who dealt out 5,000 envelopes containing Mexican beans. These were the quiescent and not the jumping variety. Red kidney beans will make a very good substitute if you are unable to obtain legumes with the proper caballero accent.

Complete campai in good business.

Wrote Club Secs

Using a special letterhead of the Earle theatre, Philadelphia, with a cartoon cut of W. C. Fields, Arthur Cohn, pub. dir., made a letter to the secretaries of some 60 golf clubs in the Philadelphia radi urging a visit to the Earle to see 'the world's most handicapped golfer' play the 19th hole in 'You're Telling Me,' adding in quotes: 'Close your eyes and swing. You get more exercise and never lose a ball—because you don't hit it.'

Side note urged the secs to post on the bulletin boards, but Cohn doesn't tell whether or not he included a pass as a coaxer to that end.

Restricted Broadcast

Local manager whose suggestion for a local picture broadcast was turned down by the one-lung station in town put over the idea by taking 10 minutes on each show to tell the folk about the picture news. He gets his stuff out of the trade papers and the press stuff he gets from the companies. Spiel is changed three times weekly, conforming to his program changes and each is prefaced with the statement that it's being given in the theatre because the station won't take it.

Pressure is being brought to bear on the station, and eventually he expects to be allotted a 15-minute period. Meantime he's saving the cost of a one-reel short and apparently giving as much pleasure to his patrons, since he is careful to keep his stuff up to date and newsy.

Still a good plan where there is no local air plant. If the material is carefully selected, it can be made to increase general interest in pictures as well as get special mention for incoming product.

Probably it would not hurt any to wire a loudspeaker in the lobby and permit others to get an earful. A great deal depends on the voice and if the managerial voice does not come through the amplifiers nicely, it would be better to delegate the reading to someone else. What gave the originator the idea in the first place was the fact he possessed a good radio voice.

Replenishing

Howard Waugh, zone manager in Memphis, is after his managers for new business. He points out that the theatre is standing still that merely holds its own and adds, 'It takes more than a clipped press book ad, a couple of one-sheets and a wish to get them inside.'

There's a lot to that angle. Unless a manager is getting everybody in town into his shop he can afford to make a little hustle. Does not necessarily mean spending more money. It does mean doing some heavy thinking and getting an appeal so far from the stereotyped campaign that those who are not now coming are impelled to make a call. If they like the show and the house they'll keep coming.

People who do not care for sexy pictures. And some of them think that all pictures are overstressing that angle. First good family trade picture to come along get after these. Not necessary to stress the fact it's clean. Stress the entertainment value by telling some of the story angles. It will make new business, some of which will stick.

Work in with the women's clubs, the Parent-Teachers, the Rotary, Kiwanis and anything else representative of the solidly respectable class. Convince them that all they read in the papers is not correct. That's one way to build new business.

Guest Cards

With the start of the tourist season, one house manager obtained from the police the latest traffic rules and had these printed on neat cards. Top carried: 'Welcome stranger. It's evident from your license you're touring. We hope your visit to our city will be so pleasant you'll want to stick around. There's a list of hotels on the back. Put up at one of these and spend a delightful evening at the Organa theatre. Always the best pictures in a comfortable setting.'

The rules followed with a map of the city to outline the connection with the trunk roads. On the reverse was a list of hotels with rates, ranging from the top spot to $2 a night stops. These kicked in for rather better than half the cost.

Cards were placed with filling stations as far as five miles out with the promise of a ticket a week if the cards were handed to all whose plates showed them to be passing through. But the distribution was not made until after three o'clock, on the proposition that earlier drivers would press on to some more distant town for the night stop.

It probably would be a good idea to start earlier on the theory that they might stop for lunch and a show. The cost of a few thousand extra cards would be trifling, since the press charges had already been paid.

Correspondents

Exhibitor is planning to pledge his vacationing club members to write at least one letter back to the stay-at-homes during vacation time. He has had ready addressed envelopes printed up and each departing child will be given a couple.

Letters will be read at the Saturday sessions and the best five will be rewarded with tickets, five for the best down to one for the fifth. Figures that it will make a good feature for the summer and at the same time keep the children in touch with the club.

One fortunate youngster is going to Europe, and his letters are marked out of the contest, since he will see so much more than the average child, but he has been promised a ticket for each weekly letter he sends in.

Manager believes that, with quite a lot of them going to different spots, it may be possible to get up a little booklet to be presented to the club members later on. Additionally figures that he can get enough ads to pay for the printing and will be in the clear.

Overboard on Cats

Indianapolis.

Duke Hickey, advance man for Universal, became inspired with the idea of holding a special showing of 'The Black Cat' at the Lyric on Saturday morning and allowing every child under sixteen, accompanied by a solid black cat, free admission to the theatre. House staff was driven nearly frantic with nearly a hundred badly frightened felines who objected with all claws to being legal tender for their masters' admission to the picture. Unused office on mezzanine floor was finally drafted into service as an emergency jail for the cats until end of screening. A new problem arose when owners tried to identify their own particular solid black cat. Performance was enjoyed mostly by members of house staff who had no hand in caring for the animals.

Free Mothers

Charlotte, N. C.

Hugh Smart, manager of the Paramount theatre, High Point, admitted all mothers over 65 years of age on Mothers' Day, between the hours of 1 and 4:40 o'clock. He announced that the age and time limits were set because of the seating limitations of the house. 'I would like to admit all mothers in the city,' he said, in his printed announcement. A coupon was carried in local newspapers, to be clipped and filled out for admission.

Metro's Dance Contest

Paris.

Metro is following its policy of special exploitation stunts for its films shown at the Madeleine here by running dance contest in connection with Joan Crawford's 'Dancing Lady,' present film. Previous stunt with Eskimo was school children's vacation contest, involving free shows for kids in the mornings.

Present dance contest is being run in all countries of Europe. Paris tournament is booked for Claridge hotel May 17, and contestants can enroll up to May 13. Prize is a four day trip to Amsterdam for the international finals, winners of which will be rewarded by free trip to Hollywood. Music from film will be used exclusively in contest.

BEHIND the KEYS

Chicago.

Johnny Mednikow has returned to sales staff of National Screen Service here. Moves over from branch managership locally for Master Arts.

Bethel, Vt.

Bethel theatre, dark for several months, will operate week ends.

Canton, O.

Hippodrome here, an independent, reopened Easter Sunday with a musical tab policy and dual films, closed suddenly this week after several weeks of poor patronage.

Mike Manos, former Greensburg showman, has obtained the Liberty at Ellwood City, Pa., on lease.

Kenneth Norwine has acquired the Strand at Maumee from Mrs. H. G. Mauen. Also has Shoreway at Point Place and the Hawley at Toledo.

P. L. Touney, of the Princess, Wauseon, O., has purchased the Lyric at Delta, O., formerly operated by Leo Poorman.

San Francisco.

Edgar Wallace, from Eureka to the Williams, Dinuba, replacing W. J. Roberts.

Changes in ownership: George Mann and Morgan Walsh of Midland Theatres have taken the Lyric, Modesto, from Frank Benheck; W. F. Cooney and C. M. Feeley have taken the Plaza, Oakland, from Charles Bartlett; R. Harvey, Harvey Amusement Co., has acquired the Orland, Orland, from C. A. Pendleton; Stamm and Beede have opened the Port Chicago, Port Chicago, formerly operated by Ernest and Adolph Umann.

New houses in Northern California: Alleghany, Alleghany, opened by E. C. McCloskey; Airdome, Avenla, 450 seats, opened by Jack Patridge; Cinema, Mt. View, opened by A. Blanco.

Houses that have opened up after being closed for some time: 300-seat Chowchilla, Chowchilla, by J. L. Seiter; Greenville at Greenville, and Butler at Tonopah, Nevada.

Premier, Oakland; Willow Glen, Willow Glen, and Suisun, Suisun, now closed.

Bill Flynn has taken the Plaza, Sacramento, and installed a stage show policy with Ted Manley, formerly at Fox El Capitan, Frisco, getting the house manager's assignment.

Montgomery, Ala.

Paramount and Empire theatres, both R. B. Wilby houses, have changed operations of pictures. Par will run only two pictures a week, starting on Sunday and Thursday, while the Empire opens on Saturday and closes on Tuesday. Strand, another Wilby house, will continue to show second runs, with Western features on Saturday.

Akron.

Dan Bieneman, assistant manager at the Warner Bros. Strand here, will succeed Dick Wright as manager at the local house. Wright promoted to district manager of Warner Bros. theatres in northeastern Ohio.

Miami, Ariz.

George Nenas, local pic house operator, is en route to his home in Greece, summoned by illness of his mother.

Canton, O.

A. H. Buehrig, Jr., for 11 years with Loew's, has resigned as manager of Loew's Granada, Cleveland, to head a new independent movie theatre chain, with headquarters here. The new company already has several houses in the midwest and will add more later. Associated with Mr. Buehrig, also of Loew's, will be J. Frandis Stein, operator of the Windsor theatre here.

Birmingham.

Old theatre, dark for several years, being remodeled and reopened by Wilby at north Birmingham. Only house operated there at present owned by N. H. Waters.

Charlotte, N. C.

W. H. Eubanks, general manager of the Henry Vann theatres at Rockingham, Clinton, Sanford and East Rockingham, announces a second Vann theatre for Rockingham. Lease for 15 years obtained on business building and $25,000 to be spent in improvements.

Wheeling, W. Va.

George Otte has leased Virginia theatre from the Conservative Life Ins. Co. to start June 1 for period of 10 years.

New manager of the Capitol here is F. T. Thomas, formerly with Enright, Pittsburgh. Succeeds S. S. Solomon, transferred to Newark, N. J.

Oklahoma City.

Openings: Ace at Tecumseh, by D. N. Legg; Inca at Okmulgee, by Inca Amusement Co.; Liberty at Hugo, by Griffith Amusement Co.; New at Fairfax (new house); Palace at Claremore, by Griffith Amusement Co.; Roxy at Billings, by H. N. Williams; Midwest at Bartlesville, by Griffith Amusement Co.; Cozy at Afton, by M. Thompson; Liberty at Ada, by Griffith Amusement Co. Changes in ownership: Empress at Wilson, from A. L. Means to H. L. Gilliam; Eldorado at Eldorado, from Fay Moore to Lawrence Cleary; Rex at Meeker, from R. E. Harrell to Capshaw & Bradford.

Griffith Bros, Oklahoma City, have closed a partnership deal with H. A. Walling, who operates the Princess, New Show, and Walling theatres in Bristow, Okla.

Baltimore.

Harry Gamble, boothman at the Echo, south-side nabe, badly burned when film exploded Friday (18). Rushed to hospital, ere he is under treatment.

Home Made Threes

Manager who has to clip the cost corners pretty close, is making his own three sheets except on the big pictures. Keeps his eyes peeled for attractive general advertising in stores, begs them when the store no longer wants them, cuts them out and pastes the heads on white print paper, lettering in to suit his own announcement. Figures it's perhaps not as good as 'boughten' threes, but a darned sight cheaper. When he does use the paper for the film, he tacks it up and then uses it later, in sections, for other displays.

Now and then he uses short ends from the wall paper store, which he gets for an occasional ticket. Uses mostly solid colors or very light designs, since the more marked designs are bound to detract from his own announcement.

In some theatres the wall paper idea is used for effect even when the house can afford a larger appropriation, but this chap makes a virtue of necessity and finds that his patrons accept the home-made bids as freely as they do the occasional regular three.

Recently he used a special board for a coming feature of size. Started with the white paper and an appeal to 'watch this space.' Put in a few letters every day, spotting them so as to retain the full announcement to the last. Had people coming to the theatre every day just to see what he had added, and it got more attention than a dozen regular sheets.

Figures that he's doing better than he could with enough money to buy all the paper he needs.

Beach Fans

Something new is a beach fan gotten out by a house at a store resort. House head noticed there was a brisk sale for green and yellow glasses for beach strolls. He got some blank fans, had them printed both sides for his house and stamped out an oblong about three inches below the top. Over this was pasted green medium. Idea was that the recipients held the fans to protect their eyes from the glare and at the same time advertised the house.

Trustworthy boy was sent to the beach each morning to hawk the fans for 3c each, or two for five, which killed the cost. This permitted a larger distribution than would have been possible had the fans been given out free. And people who paid for the fans were careful to preserve them for the duration of their visit. Fans were also on sale in the lobby, and quite a lot of people picked them up there, getting an eyeful of the current advertising.

Stunt is working out so well the inventor is kicking himself that he did not take out a patent on the idea, with a view to putting them on the market.

Effect of several hundred fans around the beach is well worth the trouble of handling the sale.

On the Rockpile

Baltimore.

Flock of nabes, lacking cooler systems, are planning to offset the fact with ostentation of verdure. Aside from the usual lattice work inside and out and the diffusive spilling of green paint, number of 'em are having their lobbies embellished with rock gardens.

In every town of size there exists one fan at least that for a very reasonable charge will rent out the stone piles. Rent is per month and includes installation and removal. Makes a very cool-looking flash and can be had with or without the pool of aqua, ferns and miniature gnomes.

Army on 'Patrol'

Montgomery, Ala.

Eugene Parrish, mgr. at the Empire, got some nice business by sending an old army truck through the business section of the city. The stunt was used for a day in advance of the picture, 'The Lost Patrol.' The truck was covered with guns of small size, and two men were placed inside of the truck, with a loud speaker inside, and throughout the parade of the truck the men were announcing many important scenes of the picture.

Parrish got mention frrom newspapermen.

Modest Violets

The Hague.

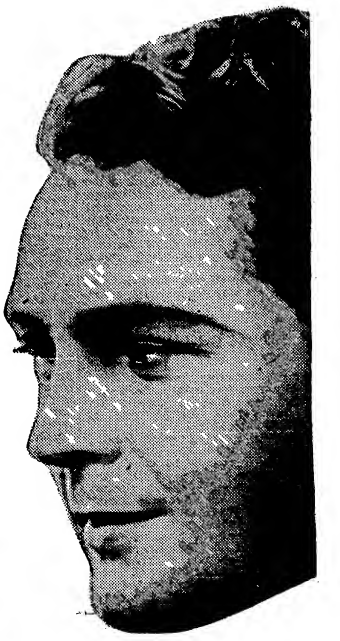
As French film 'Violettes Impériales' in Gebouw voor Kunsten en Wetenschappen, the Hague which is largest, holds 2,000, proved bad flop, promoters tried out stunt to fill place up. On a Saturday afternoon young girls in gay national costumes paraded streets, handing bouquets with fresh violets to ladies in thronged shopping centre, at same time dealing out folders drawing attention to film in which Itaquel Meller is the heroine. Did not boost b.o. either.

For the first time in 2 years

YOU CAN DATE THEM UP!

Just like seeing good friends after a long absence . . . your audiences will welcome the return of these ever-popular sweethearts! *

*And in a picture that S. R. Kent calls: "The biggest money picture with this team we've had in the last three years." And Variety Daily hails: "A box-office bet from every angle!"



JANET GAYNOR

CHARLES FARRELL

in

CHANGE OF HEART

with

JAMES DUNN

GINGER ROGERS

Produced by Winfield Sheehan

Directed by John G. Blystone • Screen play Sonya Levien and James Gleason • From the novel "Manhattan Love Song" by Kathleen Norris.

FOX

Stock Market

(Continued from page 6)

up nearly 10 points from its previous close.

Traders of late have been accustomed to seeing market get a jab of silver inflation news just when it appears to be getting out of hand. Shrewd traders have given up attempting to guess just which way silver inflation rabbit is going to jump next.

Power output was less than 1% over previous week, carloadings were off nearly 1,000 cars from week before, steel output dipped fractionally and exports fell sharply in April. Combined domestic consumption and exports for last month were sharply below March and even under April, 1933. Total depreciation of 20 common stocks since April 30 amounts to more than a billion dollars figured according to outstanding shares of each company. More cheering news was report that business failures were only 222 for week ending May 10, smallest number in years.

Columbia Pictures certificates made best recovery of strictly amusement company issues. Declaration of dividend undoubtedly was big factor in its rise from 24½ to 28¾, where it closed for a net gain of 3% over previous Saturday. Eastman Kodak looked good because it wound up with a net gain of 5¼ points after slipping off to 87½. This company recently increased dividend on common.

Favorable dividend action also undoubtedly helped Consolidated Film Industries preferred stock. It ran up to 16⅞, scoring a gain of 2¼ for week. Fox Class A was up nearly a point. Pathe A gained more than a point net, while Loew's common closed week with a 1½-point gain. Other film company issues on big board scored fractional gains excepting Loew preferred, which dropped a point, and Radio preferred B, which slipped back nearly 2 points after its strong climb to a new high last week. Technicolor, on Curb Exchange, also became active near end of week and advanced 1¼ points to 9½.

Bonds followed trend of stocks much of week, and nearly all amusement liens showed nice gains. Warner Brothers 6s fared best, closing at 59 for a net gain of 4½. It had touched 60 on Thursday and Friday after being down to 53½ earlier in week. Paramount-Publix 5½s closed on top at 52, or 2½ points higher, while Paramount-Broadway 5½s showed a similar increase. It closed at 45½. Other Paramount bonds and certificates showed good gains. RKO debentures gained a point to close at 33, while General Theatre Equipment liens wound up at 9¾, or 1¼ points higher. Pathe 7s were off 1½ points, and Loew 6s slipped down fractionally to close at 100.

Columbia Pictures on Saturday declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on the common stock and a 2½% semi-annual dividend payable in common on the same common stock. Last previous cash dividend was in October, 1931, when 18¾ cents per share as well as a semi-annual stock dividend of 2½% was distributed. Company recently issued favorable earnings statement which covers dividend. Certificates of company showed real strength both Thursday and Friday, and finished Saturday at high of week.

During week Consolidated Film Industries declared dividend of 50c a share on preferred stock, payable July 2. This makes $1 that has been declared payable thus far this year. Arrears on stock amount to $3.50 per share.

Metro-Goldwyn Pictures Corp. showed a profit of $3,037,698 after taxes for 28 weeks ending May 19, according official report issued Saturday. This compares with a net profit of only $966,173 in similar period of 1933. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer preferred stock, which is extremely inactive on big board, rose five-eighths of a point Saturday on news, making only second day of week that it had appeared on tape. It closed at 26⅛ for a new 1934 high. Only 300 shares changed hands all week. This preferred is now paying $1.89.

Dividend Meetings

Among dividend meetings that will be watched with considerable interest that of General Electric next Friday. Common now pays 60 cents per share, at which price it yields approximately 3%. It declined to 18⅞ during past week, where it was only fractionally above 1934 low. This stock at this price showed a depreciation of $76,000,000 on basis of outstanding stock.

With market in a mood to continue discounting expected slump in business during next few months, many traders do not expect higher prices for some time to come. Added to this situation is uncertainty on legislative and monetary matters in Washington. Some experts in Washington are starting to predict that family quarrel among Senate Democrats may eventually lead to sidetracking of stock exchange control measure.

With the President tagging bill as one of the 'must pass' measures it will require considerable intestinal fortitude on part of Democrats to actually hold over this measure in present session. Exchange control measures have passed in both House and Senate, but with differences on several vital points. These are being considered now by conferees from House and Senate, with both Glass and Wagner missing from list of Senate conferees. If Senators give way to House ideas, Glass and possibly Wagner, and their friends, may carry fight to floor of Senate.

Whether or not this measure passes, many look for a much better market as soon as Congress adjourns. June adjournment is now being earnestly sought by Roosevelt, but it may prolong until nearly July. Adjournment may prove signal for revival of bullish sentiment and start of better market. There is little in present situation or immediate future, aside from the dubious silver rabbit, that will make for much higher prices.

Summary for Week Ending Satur

STOCK EXCHANGE

High.	Sales.	Issue and rate.	High.	Low.	Last.	Net chg.
7¾	500	American Seat	4½	3⅝	4½	+ ⅛
6⅝	1,600	Consol. Film	3⅝	3½	3⅝	+ ⅛
31	2,700	Columbia P. vtc	28¾	24½	28¾	+3⅛
17½	5,200	Consol. Film pfd. (1)*	16⅝	14⅜	16⅝	+2¼
96½	3,300	Eastman Kodak (4)	96½	87½	94¼	+5½
17½	6,100	Fox, Class A	15¼	13⅝	14⅞	+ ⅞
25½	69,400	Gen. Elec. (60c.)	20¾	18⅞	20	+ ⅞
35¾	29,600	Loew (1)	31⅞	28¾	30⅝	+1½
97½	200	Do pref. (6½)	93	92½	93	—1
7	2,500	Madison Sq. Garden	7	6¼	7	+ ⅛
26⅛	1,300	Met-G-M pref. (1.80)	†26¼	25½	26¼	+ ⅛
5⅞	20,200	Paramount certs	4½	4	4⅜	+ ⅛
4½	6,900	Pathe Exchange	3	2¼	2⅜	+ ⅜
24½	19,200	Pathe, Class A	20⅞	17⅝	19⅞	+1⅝
9½	73,700	Radio Corp	8	6⅞	7½	+ ⅛
85⅝	59,400	Radio pfd., B	34¼	30⅝	32	—1⅜
4½	6,600	RKO	3	2⅝	2⅞	+ ⅜
8½	27,000	Warner Bros	6¼	5⅛	6	+ ⅜
47½	30,000	Westinghouse	34⅜	‡30¼	33¼	+1⅝

* Paid this year on account of accumulation. † New 1934 high. ‡ New 1934 low.

	3,000	Technicolor				+1¼
	1,000	Trans Lux (10c.)
13	$86,000	Gen. Thea. Eq.	10	8	9¾	+1½
72	10,000	Keith 6's, '46	68	68	68	— ½
102	66,000	Loew 6's, '41	100½	100	100	— ½
98½	5,000	Pathe 7's, '37	94	94	94	—1½
47	20	11,000 Par-Broadway 5½'s, '51	45½	43	45½	+2½
55	29¼	31,000 Par-Fam-Lasky 6's, '47	51½	48	51	+1
51½	28⅜	34,000 Par-Fam-Lasky 6's, '47	48⅝	40½	48⅝	+ ⅝
55	29¼	53,000 Par-Pub 5½'s, '50	52	47½	52	+2½
51	29	67,000 Par-Pub 5½'s, '50	49	47½	49	+1¼
41	18½	1,000 RKO debs 6's	33	32	33	+1
65½	10¾	271,000 Warner Bros. 6's	60	53½	59	+4½

OVER THE COUNTER, N. Y.

oxy, Class A
o Forest Phono

PRODUCE EXCHANGE, N. Y.

Par-Pub

'Tarzan' Nixed for Kids; 'Too Nerve-Wracking'

San Francisco, May 21.

Censor board of Palo Alto decreed today (Monday) that 'Tarzan' (MG) is improper for children; reason, too nerve wracking.

Fox-West Coast, which had picture booked for June 3 at Stanford theatre there, is cancelling the date.

Meshed in 'Romance'

Universal City, May 21.

Chester Morris and Heather Angel have the leading spots in Universal's 'Romance in the Rain.'

Stanley Bergerman is producing.

Incorporations

NEW YORK

Albany, N. Y.

Affiliated Radio Networks, Inc.; general radio broadcasting business; capital stock, 200 shares, no par value. Saraa Densen, Helen Densen and Beatrice Mitchell, all of 905 West End avenue, New York.

311 West 34th Street Theatre Corp.; pictures, vaudeville, etc.; capital stock, $10,000. Nathan Lieberman, 323 West 90th street, New York; Irving W. Weinblatt, 2065 Morris avenue, Bronx, and Arthur Weisstein, 868 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn.

Starlette Studios, Inc.; operate places of amusement, etc.; capital stock, $5,000. Aubrey M. and Ann M. Rodolfo, 305 Hudson avenue, Albany, and Sanford S. Horton, Spraker.

Margrette Productions, Inc.; pictures, vaudeville, etc.; capital stock, 100 shares, no par value. A. Pam Blumenthal, 1 Wall street; Edw. L. Alperson, 444 West 55th street, and Louis M. Levy, 10 East 40th street, all of New York.

Derfia Amusements, Inc.; pictures; capital stock, $5,000. Chas. Tamiak, Alfred Anker and Leonard C. Victor, all of 1560 Broadway, New York.

Jackson Heights Playhouses, Inc.; pictures, vaudeville, etc.; capital stock, $20,000. Mona Best, Bessie Podell and Harold King, all of 39 Broadway, New York.

Interboro Circuit, Inc.; pictures, capital stock, 100 shares, no par value. Betty Schneider, 6305 Beverley road; William Arenson, 237 East 94th street, and Frank B. Libasci, 104 Cornelia street, all of Brooklyn.

Tat's Tales, Inc.; pictures, vaudeville, etc.; capital stock, $1,000, S. Cantor, H. O. Bible and M. Green, all of 1776 Broadway, New York.

Amusement Operating Co., Inc.; amusement devices; capital stock, 100 shares, no par value. Jos. Vaccaro, 5 Maitland place, New Rochelle; Maurice Piesen, 1245 East 22rd street, Brooklyn, and Ida Siegel 1526 West Eighth street, Brooklyn.

Grombach Productions, Inc.; employ actors, singers, wrestlers, etc.; capital stock, 100 shares, no par value. David Freedman, M. E. Beamon and Wm. J. Bamberger, all of 8 West 40th street, New York.

Haverstraw Amusement Corp., Haverstraw; pictures, vaudeville, etc., capital stock, 200 shares, no par value. John A. Hartung, 5 Marion avenue, Poughkeepsie; Alexander H. Applegate, 20 Hudson avenue, Haverstraw, and Jos. J. Venza, 7224 Fourth avenue, Brooklyn.

Oliver Film Corp.; pictures; capital stock, 100 shares, no par value. Gertrude Israel, Sadye Lader and Max Welsman, all of 270 Broadway, New York.

Rita Management Corp.; amusement enterprises of all kinds; capital stock, 100 shares, no par value. C. Jos. Hyland, Ruth Schwartzbart and Frederick E. Titus, all of 11 West 42nd street, New York.

Credlon Corp.; general radio business; capital stock, $10,000. Abraham I. Scherago, Ella Neufield and Edward Popkin, all of 1440 Broadway, New York.

Dorset Amusement Corp.; films; capital stock, $10,000. Charlotte Karpe, 441 Avenue P, Brooklyn; Henrietta Heller, 9117 Jamaica avenue, Woodhaven, L. I., and Minnie Nudelman, 2301 83rd street, Brooklyn.

Films of Commerce Co., Inc.; films, etc.; capital stock, 100 shares, no par value. Don Carlos Ellis, 200 Clinton street, Garden City, L. I.; Henry C. Grant, 35 West 45th street, New York, and Clarence R. Templeton, 364 Argyle road, Brooklyn.

Memberships

Motion Picture Research Council, Inc.

Dissolutions

E. J. W. Theatres Corp., Syracuse; filed by Miller B. Moran, Lowville.

Change of Capital

Judson Radio Program Corp., New York; 2,000 shares, no par value, changed to $100—$10.

Concert Management Arthur Judson, Inc., New York; 5,500 shares—7,500 common, no par value, and 1,000 preferred at $100—changed to $100—$10.

Community Concerts Corp., New York; $100,000—$10 changed to 10 shares, no par value.

TEXAS

Galveston.

Southern Circus Corporation, Houston; capital stock, $5,000; raising, selling and leasing animals. Incorporators: G. W. Christy, D. Earl Combs, C. M. Thomas.

Ennis Amusement Co., Ennis; capital stock, $10,000; orchestras, theatrical acts, concerts. Incorporators: John M. Sayeg, Mona Sayeg, Dick Goodwin.

CALIFORNIA

Sacramento.

Showmen's Productions, Inc.; Capital stock, $20,000. None subscribed. Directors: Mae W. Braun, Amos Friedman, Lewis D. Collings.

Certificate changing name of Majestic Pictures Corp. to Phil Goldstone Productions.

Permits to Sell Stock

Supreme Pictures Corp. Motion picture productions. To issue four shares of total of 1,000 shares, no par.

Fillmore Theatres, Ltd. Motion picture theatre operating. To issue three shares of total of 20, par $100.

JUDGMENTS

Adams Broadcasting Service, Inc.; Columbia Phonograph Co.; $3,934.

Interurban Theatre Co.; Vitaphone Distributing Corp.; $19.

G.P.R. Amus. Corp.; same;

Film-Church Battle

(Continued from page 5)

Church rulers to decide upon this as a national policy.

Theatre owners, worried over sporadic flare-ups, are seeking advice as to how to meet this problem of dealing with the Church in those territories, especially some of the smaller cities, where priests already have talked from the pulpit on the matter of Hollywood morality.

First Hand Informati

The course which film leaders are advising such exhibitors to pursue is to let the priest get first hand information by inviting him to stand, personally, in the theatre and check the people as they buy in. Be sure that the parish preacher is present as an observer for at least the showings of two dissimilar pictures, one in the class which he would recommend and the other in that category now being condemned.

Exhibitors are being assured that when the priest discovers from battleground perspective that the wishy-washy, innocuous pictures die and the others succeed he will find ways and means to handle his own flock in a way that no theatre owner or anybody else could.

First hand information is essential if the innocent in the industry are not to suffer, theatre men are being informed. Armchair perspectives must be shelved if the industry is to get that even break, it is being emphasized.

Reports from the front are now being carefull, checked in New York. In Detroit, for instance, where a priest blacklisted 63 features, theatre owners reported late last week that business seemed to remain at about the same level as before the publication of the ban.

Columbus, O., however, had a different slant. Last Friday New York heard some of the biggest circuit theatres were suffering big losses, and they had sent out an S.O.S. to New York for advice.

The morals-situation fuse within the industry may be set off any day now by the activity without, if the morals clause in the code is tested by a complaint reaching the Code Authority on appeal.

An exhibitor, it is pointed out, might refuse to play certain pictures on the ground they were immoral and caused him to suffer losses. The CA grievance board would have to hear a case of this sort.

This would likely precipitate an answer to a question remaining unanswered since the inception of the NRA as to whether Hays' own moral codes for advertising and production are those meant by the Eagle for the entire business, or whether such codes should be divorced from Hays and neutrally supervised from under the C.A.'s own bower.

With all of the fuming to date, including independent producer denunciations of the Hays code and their refusal to recognize them as law under the NRA, the morals matter has evaded being brought to a head by the failure to get a test case.

Catholic Women on Films

Fort Wayne, May 21.

Hollywood in general, night clubs and other amusement items were lampooned by delegates at the annual convention of the Council of Catholic Women which met here in a two-day session. Thirteen points were presented in the final resolutions and foremost were the sections panning film trends an night club hysteria.

For some time pledge cards have been issued in city as a part of the national Catholic program to clean up the screen for the younger people.

Theatre operation was more or less excused from the lampooning on the grounds that managers had to take when was issued by the exchanges regardless of the type of story featured. Sex yarns was the main squawk registered the women.

Items condemned by the group included: vertising and previewing of pictures in such a manner as to arouse sensual curiosity; blind and block booking which compels managers to exhibit undesirable films; display of pagan excesses and debaucheries; and to boycott vice films.

On the temperance side, the meeting pledges to withhold patronage from night club and public dance halls injurious to morality. But Hollywood got the major portion of the slaps. Right now the Embroyd and Paramount theatres have started a regular Saturday kid show featuring nothing but cartoons and light comedies, especially for juvenile tastes. Local press putting damper on any extra publicity of campaign, taking it mostly as just another drive.

B'ham Catholic Offensive

Birmingham, May 21.

Catholic women of the Birmingham deanery last week launched the first step toward cleaning up 'vile, unwholesome, salacious' pictures and as their first step they are organizing the 'Legion of Decency.' This was the gist of a resolution passed by the women. They blame certain pictures for tearing down the morals of the nation and 'promoting sex mania in our land.'

Pledge cards seeking members i the Legion of Decency are being circulated among women of Birmingham in a membership drive. When the organization is completed the organization will receive regularly a list taboo of pictures which also will be nationally circulated.

This is the first move made by Catholic churches publicly. Heretofore they've left all the squawking in public to the Protestant churches and women's clubs, who have done plenty, but accomplished little. Judging from the way the resolution on the pledge cards reads all persons will be invited as members, regardless of religion.

Parent-Teachers' Conv.

Des Moines, Ia., May 21.

The National Congress of Parent-Teachers Associations, in convention here, decried films which give children any insight into crime, or activities of criminals.

Pix 'through which children become familiar with the ways in which crimes are committed, the conduct of the intoxicated and other anti-social conduct,' were described as 'alarming' in a resolution reported to the body. Parents-Teachers has abandoned film censorship and is mobilizing other attacks on the picture industry. The psychology is recognized that gives tremendous according to Mrs. Robbins Gilman, Minneapolis, national motion picture chairman of the congress.

Rochester Catholics

Rochester, May 21.

Catholic leaders here are making a concerted effort to substitute 'more healthful recreation' in place of films for their young people.

Rev. John M. Duffy, director of education, says that they not only aim to keep children away from salacious and dangerous pictures, but to provide a constructive program to meet their needs. Leaders agree, he says, that both censorship and appeals to producers have beeen ineffective.

Premature Adv., Free Kid Admissions Up in Chi, B&K Squawks

Chicago, May 21.

Old howl of premature advertising on the part of the opposition and subsequent run houses is revived with a vengeance locally and two cases are already on the docket for the code grievance board.

Both cases listed are complaints by Balaban & Katz against nabe opposition. First case is the complaint of the Norshore against the Howard, while the second complaint is that of the State against the Essaness West End.

B.&K. has another squawk to the code board and that's against the Lincoln-Hippodrome on charges of admitting children gratis.

This plea is on behalf of the B.&K. ace Belmont around the corner. B.&K. has also started a counter attack against the Lincoln-Hipp in the matter of giveaways.

H&H'S 3D WESTERN

Hollywood, May 21.

H and H Productions (Robert Hoyt and Fred Hirsch) start a third western next Monday (28) for state right release. Picture, titled 'Water,' stars Edmund Cobb, with Edna Aselin for the femme interest.

Westerns are made at the Highland Springs hotel, owned by Hirsch, near Beaumont, Calif., ampling the hostelry.

WARNER BROS.' SECOND BIG SUMMER SHOW

"CLICKS"

—says N. Y. Daily Mirror

CAGNEY and BLONDELL in "HE WAS HER MAN"

With Victor Jory, Frank Craven. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors.

First —
"20 MILLION SWEETHEARTS"

Now —
"HE WAS HER MAN"

Next —
DOCTOR MONICA"

Then —
"THE CIRCUS CLOWN"

And then —
"MADAME DUBARRY"

And then —
"DAMES" – "DAMES" – "DAMES"

Lazarus Vs. Fox-WC Case Brings Up That Right-to-Buy Point Again

The right to buy, a phase of codedom which caused more sleepless Washington nights than most of the other clauses put together, is seen as quietly but definitely up before the Code Authority this week. It is officially observed to be innocently embodied in the Fox-West Coast theatre case, an appeal of which was recorded last Friday but on which the Code Authority has reserved decision for ostensible purposes of going deeper into the record and investigating the findings of the California grievance board on its own.

So confident was the independent, S. Lazarus of Alhambra, Calif., that the C.A. would sustain the grievance board's conviction of Fox-WC for overbuying that he was not even represented before the C.A.

But little of the half hour, which it took the F-WC attorney to recite his appeal and answer questions, was over, before it became apparent that this was not so much a case of overbuying as it was one of the right to buy.

Incomplete minutes from the Coast board and no defense to the appeal technically hampered the Authority. But it was evident there was little or no similarity between this and the Milwaukee case which was immediately sustained.

The F-WC lawyer testified undisputedly that the Lazarus theatre, the Garfield in Alhambra, Calif., needed 208 pictures yearly and that 280 were available. That in this respect the F-WC theatres, one a first-run, were identical in policy, and that for the town's only two first-runs there was more product than both could use with the present double feature policy.

For years the same policy, with occasional minor changes, has existed in Alhambra, F-WC contended.

The F-WC theatres over all that time have been showing Paramount, Metro and Fox. Now they also have Warners. The independent had inherited Radio product. In addition to this, Lazarus has Columbia and Universal, and all of his other contracts are with independents.

Therein, codists privately see, lies the right-to-buy situation. They quote Lazarus in the California board record to this effect: 'I dare anyone to run his theatre for two weeks with celluloid.'

The F-WC lawyer evaded the quality issue, the keynote of Washington days, with: 'I don't know of anyone in the U. S. who can define a quality film.'

The case on appeal at this point impressed official listeners with emphasis that it was a matter of major bookings rather than independent majority which the California exhibitor is hoping for, and which he will get if the C.A. sustains the findings of the grievance board, since its decision orders F-WC to part with 20 major pictures in the independent's favor.

Thus, it is pointed out, the right to buy is bobbing up in a circuitous route even though Washington failed to incorporate it specifically in the film code.

THE FAMOUS CANINE COMEDIAN

PETE

THE ORIGINAL "OUR GANG" DOG

"Led by his master, Harry Lucenay, 'Pete' went through all kinds of stunts. This act is a big hit."
BOSTON AMERICAN.

For Open Time Communicate with
HARRY LUCENAY
CROYDON HOTEL
CHICAGO, ILL.

BEN BLUE
WARNER BROS. COMEDIES
Dir. JOE RIVKIN
LEO MORRISON, Agency

$100,000 Suit Vs. WB

Milwaukee, May 21.

The $100,000 suit brought against Warner Bros. Pictures and WB theatre companies by the Baker Building Co. of Racine, has been taken under advisement by Circuit Judge E. B. Belden. Baker company seeks $40,000 back rent; $40,000 for alleged reduced rental value of their property, and $20,000 damages for injury to property against the Warner companies.

Charges are that Warners rented the Baker building theatre and promised that at no time would it be dark more than four months. Theatre has been dark for more than a year and the building company alleges breach of contract.

TWO IMPORTANT CHI TESTS ON 10% CLAUSE

Chicago, May 21.

Two distribution problems of national import will be debated before the code grievance board tomorrow (22). Both cases concern the matter of elimination of pictures from contracts.

Top case is that concerning the Morris theatre, Morris, Ill., and the United Artists' exchange. F. W. Anderson, of the Morris, has asked for the 10% elimination, which is conceded by the Code Authority. U.A. exchange, however, for its side of the argument, claims that this 10% elimination refers only to block-booked pictures, and that the clause cannot affect U.A. since that company sells all its pictures individually; that it would be impossible to eliminate a tenth part of each contrast since each contract contains a single flicker only.

Other elimination case concerns the plea of the Montclare theatre versus Metro. Montclare wants the right to give its requests for eliminations in writing within 21 days after notification by the exchange, which is the length of time specified by the C.A.. Metro's present contract has a 14-day period named for elimination notices and believes that since its contract was signatured before the code was adopted that the regular contract time period should hold force.

MAY REALIGN FRISCO'S Z-C SITUATION 100%

San Francisco, May 21.

That Frisco's entire zoning and clearance situation will be broken down and a new setup made for the entire town was indicated at Code meetings last week.

First of the meetings on this important question is scheduled for May 30, a postponement of two weeks from the original time set. Fox-West Coast, with the first petition in to effect a change in clearance, agreed to the postponement, and indicated that it would withdraw its plaint in which it asks that clearance for its first run Warfield be extended from 56 to 90 days.

At the May 30 meeting, the 48 houses of the Golden State, Levin, Nasser and Naify chains, represented by Attorneys L. S. Hamm and Nat Schmulowitz, will fill a mass complaint against existing conditions. It is expected that their plea will be for protection varying anywhere from 14 to 30 days so that their naborhood houses will be able to get subsequent run pix at an earlier date. Most of the nabes are dual film houses, while the Warfield, at 65c. is the highest priced theatre in the northern California area.

Anni Bernstein in N. Y.

Anni Bernstein, Metro's European story editor, is in New York for h.o. confabs.

CHI FIRE'S NEWSREEL RUSH

Chicago fire witnessed a flare-up of some old-fashioned competition among the newsreels. When the size of the story became apparent reels strengthened their crew representation. In the race back to New York with the completed print Universal is credited as the winnah.

Embassy shot its story on the screen but as soon as Pathe came through with more complete coverage a substitution in the program was effected.

F-WC MONOPOLY CHARGES NO GO

Los Angeles, May 21.

Two complaints brought by indie exhibs against Fox-West Coast Theatres, or affiliated companies, were thrown out last week by the local grievance board, which ruled that neither of the plaintiffs had proven the allegations set forth.

A third case heard by the board, that of Harry H. Popkin accusing three Main street subsequent-run houses with cutting admissions to 5c., was referred to the Code Authority for decision. Both complaints against F-WC charged film buy monopoly.

Because of connections, two members of the grievance board have disqualified themselves from sitting in judgment. Ben N. Berinstein, indie, will have his alternate, Harry H. Hicks, function, and J. J. Milstein, Metro exchange manager, has designated Carroll Peacock, Paramount exchange manager, as his alternate.

FRISCO'S POLLYANNA STANCE ON CODISM

San Francisco, May 21.

Those grievance, zoning and clearance meetings of the Code Authority have accomplished one thing in their short span of existence—they have magnified each theatre owner's problems, made the other fellow see and understand them, and have resulted in a common bond of unity.

Though theatre men of this area may still be bitter enemies and competitors, light has dawned these past few weeks. It appears now that there may be a unified shoulder put to the wheel that will shove double bills out of the setup.

Already there are four houses that have decided to shorten their shows. The big Fox, which has been running two first-run plx and vaude at 25 and 35c, has dropped the stage show and continuing the two plx at the same price, for the time being at least.

Such a move on the part of the indie Fox has resulted in a change of plan at RKO's Golden Gate, where a fling at two plx and vaude was in prospect, and slated to begin next week. However, RKO has changed its mind and will remain at the present one pic-stage show policy.

Fox-West Coast is doing a little experimenting with its first run dual film Paramount which hasn't been getting any too much gravy the past few weeks. With the lengthy 'Tarzan' on screen, house is dropping one film this week and trying it single bill. If it is received favorably, there's a possibility that F-WC will keep right on single billing the house.

Across the bay in Oakland, Fox-West Coast is due to boot vaude out of the Fox Orph at end of this week, leaving the house straight plx, double bills. General feeling around town is that two plx and a stage show constitute such a long show that customers get too tired to return to a theatre in less than a fortnight, hence, general poor business.

Waldemar Young Hegiras

Hollywood, May 21.

Waldemar Young, Paramount contract writer, pulls out the middle of next month for a three-month cruise to the South Seas and the Orient. Writer takes layoff as provided in his contract.

Young just finished the screen play of 'R. U. R.' and will tighten up his script of 'Lives of a Bengal Lancer' before hopping the boat.

6 Complaints Filed as Chi Code Board Okays Present Zoning Setup

Chicago, May 21.

Zoning and clearance board of the Code Authority met last week after many postponements, and voted for a zoning system which is identical with the present setup. Which means that the board voted for no double features, no 10c admissions, and for the same protection schedule which has been in effect for the past three years.

Vote on the zoning question was 4-2 in favor of keeping the present setup. B.&K. submitted a zoning schedule which would allow 10c matinees and for an increase of protection by adding a dead week between the current release weeks. This measure would have stretched the release schedule of each picture to 26 weeks.

Film Board itself has been known as opposed to any increase in releasing schedule and any reduction in current admissions. Various Film Board meetings have consistently shown a heavy majority in favor of the present zoning system and for an increase rather than a decrease in admission prices.

Half-Dozen Squawks

Protests to the zoning schedules are now being accepted, and six have already been filed. Complaints have been registered by the Rosewood theatre in the matter of double features. Other squawks are from the Shad in Indiana Harbor, New Granada in South Bend, the LeHarp and the Pirtle houses versus Macomb, Ill.

According to the code, the exhibitors have 30 days in which to file protests.

Some doubt has arisen locally over the interpretation of a phrase in the code regarding exhibs who have not assented to the code. Several industry men are of the opinion that assent is not necessary for any protest, while others believe that the code means that assent is not necessary to enable any member of the industry to defend himself against protests or to defend others.

Cross-Picketing in Mpls.

Minneapolis, May 21.

War has broken out again between the independent booth operators union and the union affiliated with the A. F. L., with the result that most of the theatres in the city are being picketed, either by one union or the other. Pickets carrying banners accusing the theatres of being unfair to the independent union are parading in front of the houses where A. F. L. operators are employed, while the A. F. L. union is picketing the theatres using independent union men.

A truce between the rival unions was effected last year when a few theatres were assigned to the independent organization. It then was agreed that all picketing would cease. A. F. L. is charged with breaking the truce by picketing one of the loop theatres employing independent operators. Independent union immediately retaliated by picketing a half dozen loop houses using A. F. L. men.

PHILLY TEST ON ANTI-DUALS PROVISO

Philadelphia, May 21.

As outgrowth of action taken by two neighborhood houses, a group of Philadelphia independent exhibitors will shortly launch a civil suit to compel major distributing companies to prove their right to insert a clause in their contracts forbidding double-featuring in this territory. Companies involved are Fox, United Artists, MGM, RKO, Warners and Paramount.

Jay Emanuel, owner of the Grand and Jackson theatres, brought action before the Grievance Board of the Code Committee against the Venice theatre owned by Charles Stiefel, claiming that Fox and United Artists permitted the Venice to play double features but denied him the privilege.

The Board threw out the case, stating it had no jurisdiction. The indie exhibitors, with B. M. Golder, former Congressman, as counsel, launched an attack against the double-feature clause in the courts. The Emanuel case was the first one heard by the Grievance Board.

For Ol' 'Mississippi'

Hollywood, May 21.

Paramount has assigned Evelyn Venable for spot opposite Lanny Ross in 'Mississippi,' filmusical featuring Ross.

Picture is slated to follow his next flicker, 'Her Master's Voice.'

WB No Day-Date in L. A.

Los Angeles, May 21.

Overboard with product as season nears end, Warners has temporarily abandoned day and date showings of new releases at its Hollywood and Downtown houses.

Individual picts are now being played in both spots.

CARDINI

"THE SUAVE DECEIVER"

20th Week CASINO DE PAREE

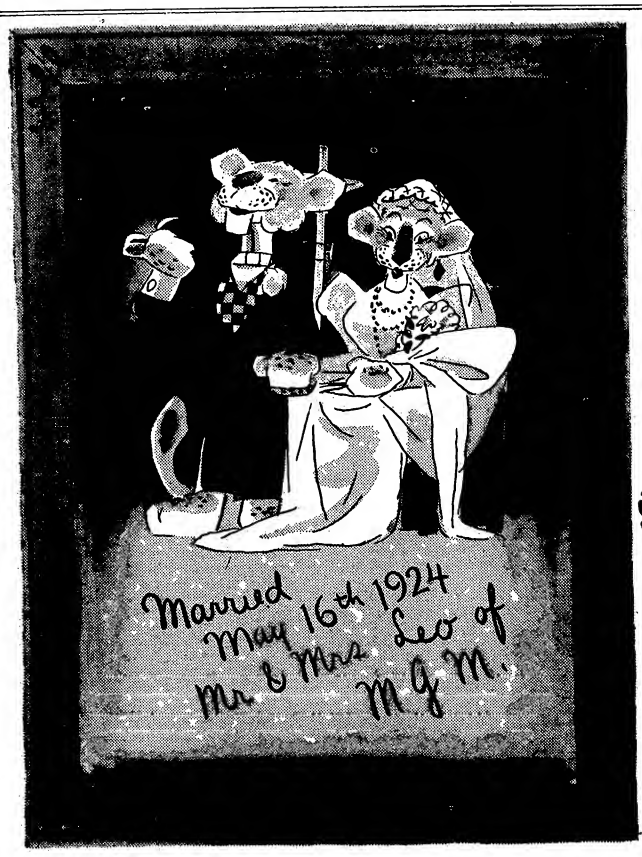
Thanks to Billy Rose

World-Telegram

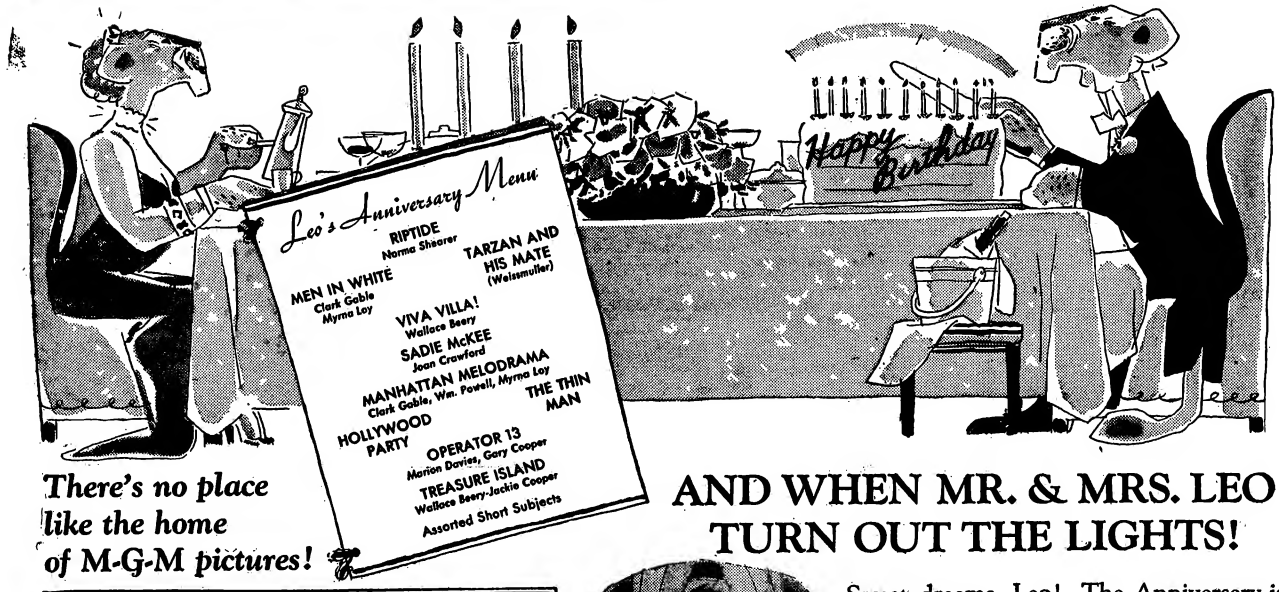
"Cardini the magician, whose blase manipulations of playing cards and cigarettes is as mystifying as any of the late Houdini's sulkier feats."

'SERVICE'

F+M
STAGESHOWS
1560 Broadway New York City
A Subsidiary of
FANCHON & MARCO, Inc.



JUST 10 years ago there came into the language of motion pictures three little words, METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER



There's no place like the home of M-G-M pictures!

AND WHEN MR. & MRS. LEO TURN OUT THE LIGHTS!

Sweet dreams, Leo! The Anniversary is over but the memory lingers on. Bright years studded with achievement! From "Big Parade" and "Ben Hur" you set the pace for others to follow. You've had your "Trader Horns" "Broadway Melodies" "Tugboat Annies" all through the years . . . we could mention a hundred of them. And right now while the folks are cheering you and the Missus, the trade paper headlines are shrieking "Riptide" "Men in White" "Viva Villa!" "Tarzan and his Mate." Then you top them off with "Sadie McKee" "The Thin Man" and a flock more! Okay, kid, march on with your starry banners flowing! There's ten thousand exhibitors marching with you into happy years ahead!

M-G-M's HAPPY FAMILY OF STARS:

MARION DAVIES	JOAN CRAWFORD
WALLACE BEERY	MARIE DRESSLER
CLARK GABLE	JEAN HARLOW
NORMA SHEARER	HELEN HAYES
GRETA GARBO	JOHN BARRYMORE
ROBERT MONTGOMERY	JIMMY DURANTE
RAMON NOVARRO	LIONEL BARRYMORE
GLORIA SWANSON	JACKIE COOPER
JEANETTE MacDONALD	GARY COOPER
MAURICE CHEVALIER	JOHNNY WEISSMULLER

CALENDAR OF CURRENT RELEASES

Harold Auten

Offices: 1540 B'way, N. Y. C.

End of the World ('Fin du Monde' (Fr). Scientific dream based on Flammarion novel. Dir. Abel Gance. 65 mins. Rel. April 15.

Melo (German). Sensitive study of psychological difficulties. Elisabeth Bergner. Dir. Paul Czinner. 93 mins. Rel. Feb. 1. Rev. Feb. 6.

Iragss de Paris (French). Adventures of a girl who wants to be a star in Paris. Jacquelin Francell, Roger Theville. Dir. Fedor Ozep. 82 mins. Rel. Dec. 23. Rev. Jan. 9.

Poll de Carotte (Red Head) (French). A story of adolescence. Robert Lynen. Dir. Julien Duvivier. 96 mins. Rel. Sept. 1. Rev. Dec. 20 and May 30.

Savage Gold. Commander Dyott's thrilling adventures with savage hunters. Comm. Dyott. Dir. Commander George Dyott. 67 mins. Rev. Aug. 8.

Chesterfield

: 1540 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

ity Park—3 Men and a Girl. Sally Blane, Henry B. Walthall. Dir. Richard Thorpe. Rel. May 1.

In Love with Life. Lila Lee, Onslow Stevens, ickle Moore. Frank Strayer. 68 mins. Rel. April 13.

Fifteen Wives. Conway Tearle, Noel Francis, Natalie Moorhead, Raymond Hatton. Dir. Frank Strayer. Rel. May 15.

Notorious But Nice. Marian Marsh has a hectic love adventure. Betty Compson, Marian Marsh. Dir. Rich. Thorpe. 71 mins. Rev. March 6.

Murder on the Campus. Mystery with a college background. Shirley Grey, Charles Starrett and J. Farrel McDonald. Rel. Dec. 27. Rev. March 13.

Quitter, The. Newspaper business in a small town. Chas. Grapewin, Emma Dunn. Dir. Rich. Thorpe. 67 mins. Rel. Feb. 5. Rev. March 20.

Rainbow Over Broadway. Musical romance. Grace Hayes, Joan Marsh, Lucien Littlefield. Dir. Richard Thorpe. 72 mins. Rel. Dec. 23. Rev. Dec. 27.

Stolen Sweets. Dramatic romance. Sally Blane, Charles Starrett, Dir. Richard Thorpe. 79 mins. Rel. March 15.

Columbia

: Gower at Sunset, Hollywood, Cal. ces, 729 Seventh Ave., New York, N.

Crime of Helen Santley, The. Murder mystery in a picture studio. Ralph Bellamy, Shirley Gray, Gail Patrick. Dir. D. Ross Lederman. 58 mins. Rel. April 20.

Fighting Cods, The. Typical horse opera with mystery angle. Buck Jones. Dir. Lambert Hillyer. 64 mins. Rel. Dec. 30. Rev. Jan. 16.

Fighting Ranger, Ths. Round-up of killers by a temporary furloughed ranger out for vengeance for killing his brother. Buck Jones, Dorothy Revier. Dir. George B. Seitz. 60 mins. Rel. March 17. Rev. April 17.

Hall Bent for Love. Young state policeman defeats his gang rival. im Mo-Coy. Dir. D. Ross Lederman. Rel. May 19.

It Happened One Night. Girl marries without father's approval and on leaving his yacht meets boy on bus heading for home, developing comedy-romance. Clark Gable, Claudette Colbert. Dir. Frank Capra. 105 mins. Rel. Feb. 23. Rev. Feb. 27.

ing of Wild Horses. Home life of wild horses on the range. Little romance and less comedy. Rex, William Janney and Dorothy Appleby. 61 mins. Rel. Nov. 10. Rev. March 27.

Lst's Fall in Love. Musical with usual backstage romance with a different twist. Edmund Lowe, Ann Sothern, Miriam Jordan, Gregory Ratoff. Dir. David Burton. 67 mins. Rel. Dec. 26. Rev. Jan. 23.

Most Previous Thing in Life. Abandoned mother relives her own romance through her son. Jean Arthur, Donald Cook, Richard Cromwell. Dir. Lambert Hillyer. Rel. May 19.

inth Guest, The. Eight people mysteriously invited to dinner after arriving told Death is ninth guest and all will die. Six perish. Donald Cook, Genevieve Tobin. Dir. Roy William Neill. 69 mins. Rel. Jan. 31. Rev. March 6.

No Greater Glory. Ferenc Molnar's 'Paul Street Boys' with a mostly juvenile cast. Geo. Breakston, Jimmy Butler, Ralph Morgan, Lois Wilson. Dir. Frank Borzage. 78 mins. Rel. April 20. Rev. May 8.

One is Guilty. Well-planned murder mystery. Ralph Bellamy, Shirley Grey. Dir. Lambert Hillyer. 64 mins. Rel. March 31.

Once to Every Woman. Heavy drama of hospital life centering around big operation. Ralph Bellamy and Fay Wray. Dir. Lambert Hillyer. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. March 6.

Party's Over, The. Bruce Blakely ends the party when he realizes his efforts to support his parents and brothers and sisters is robbing him of his own happiness. Stuart Erwin, Ann Sothern, Arline Dodge. Dir. Walter Lang. Rel. May 15.

Shadows of Sing Sing. Racketeer's sister in love with detective's son. Both sides objecting to romance. Boy framed by redhots and saved by father. Mary Brian, Bruce Cabot. Dir. Phil Rosen. 63 mins. Rel. Dec. 9. Rev. Feb. 27.

isters Under the Skin. Tired business man takes a matrimonial vacation and gets it out of his system. Elissa Landi, Frank Morgan, Jos. Schildkraut. Dir. David Burton. 70 mins. Rel. April 15.

Social Register. A chorus girl's adventures in high society. Colleen Moore, Chas. Winninger, Paulin Frederick, Alex. Kirkland. Dir. Marshall Nielan. 74 mins. Rel. March 10.

Speed Wings. Western with airplanes to break monotony of sagebrush. Tim McCoy, Evalyn Knapp. Dir. Otto Brower. 61 mins. Rel. Feb. 5. Rev. April 3.

Straightaway. Tim McCoy discards the chaps and sombrero for the speedway. Tim McCoy. Dir. Otto Brower. 68 mins. Rel. Dec. 22. Rev. Jan. 23.

Twentieth Century. From the stage hit. Temperamental theatrical manager and temperamental star on same train. John Barrymore, Carole Lombard. Dir. Howard Hawks. 91 mins. Rel. May 11. Rev. May 8.

Voice in the Night. Complications in the telephone business. Tim McCoy. Dir. Chas. C. Coleman. 59 mins. Rel. April 6.

Whirlpool. A self-sacrificing husband meets death to shield his wife. Jack Holt, Jean Arthur. Dir. R. W. Neill. 74 mins. Rel. April 10. Rev. May 8.

DuWorld

Office: 729 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y.

Beast of Borneo. Melodrama and animals. John Preston, Mary Stuart. 70 mins. Rel. April 15.

Dawn to Dawn. Artistic rural story. Julie Hayden. Dir. Cameron McPherson. 55 mins. Rel. Jan. 1. Rev. Jan. 9.

Fantomas (Fr) (dubbed English). Murder mystery. ir. Paul ins. Rel. March 1. Rev. March 20.

irl in the Case. Comedy in the Continental manner. Jimmy Savo, Eddie Lambert, Dorothy Darling. Dir. Eugene Frenke. 60 mins. Rel. May 15.

Hollywood, City of Drsams (Sp). Jose Bohr. Spanlard's impression of cinematown. 68 mins. Rel. March 30.

Romance in Budapest (Hung). Franciska Gaal. Musical. 70 mins. Rel. April 15.

Tod Uber Shanghai (Ger). Mystery of Americans in Japan. Dir. Rolff Randolf. 75 mins. Rel. Dec. 15.

First Division

Offices: R.K.O. Bldg., New York, N. Y.

Releases Also Allied, Chesterfield and Monogram

Bsggars in Ermi Lionel Atwill, Betty Furness. Dir. Phil Rosen. 70 mins. Rel. May 1.

roken Drsams. A father's devotion to his young son. Randolph Scott, Martha Sleeper, Beryl Mercer, Buster Phelps. Dir. Robert Vignola. 68 mins. Rel. Dec. 1.

ity Limits. A millionaire, ailing and tiring of wealth, falls in with two hoboes and enjoys life for a time. Frank Craven, Sally Blane, Ray Walker. Dir. Wm. Nigh. 70 mins. Rel. May 1.

City Park. Three men voluntarily become the guardians of a destitute young girl. Sally Blane, Henry B. Walthall, Matty Kemp, Johnny Herron. Dir. Richard Thorpe. Rel. May 15.

ross Streets. Young doctor, jilted by the woman he loves, ruins his career, until daughter of same woman falls in love with him, years later. Rel. Jan. 22. Dir. Frank Strayer.

Eat 'Em Alive. Jungle super thriller. 56 mins. Rel. Feb. 1.

Forgotten Men. Collection of uncensored war film, taken from government archives of 14 warring nations. Rel. April 1.

French production of a de Maupassant story. Dubbed in English. A village paragon who lost his virtue. 55 mins. Rel. Dec. 26. Rev. Jan. 9.

He Couldn't Take It. Inside story of a process server who makes good with his summonses and gets his man. Ray Walker, Virginia Cherrill, George E. Stone. Dir. Wm. Nigh. 64 mins. Rel. Jan. 1.

House of Mystery. An archeologist returns to America from the Far East, with a curse on his head for his stolen wealth. Verna Hille, Ed Lowry. Dir. Wm. Nigh. 61 mins. Rel. May 30.

In Love with Life. A hard-hearted millionaire, refusing aid to his starving daughter, takes her young son from her. Lila Lee, Claude Gillingwater, Dickie Moore. Dir. Frank Strayer. 68 mins. Rel. May 1.

In the Monsy. A goofy family, suddenly broke, pin their hopes on a Shakespearean-minded prize fighting champ. Skeets Gallagher, Lois Wilson, Warren Hymer, Sally Starr. Dir. Frank Strayer. 67 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Lawless Valley. Western horse opera. Lane Chandler. Rel. May 1.

Loud Speaker. Comedy-drama of a radio star. Ray Walker, Jacqueline Well Dir. Joseph Santley. Rel. May 21.

Manhattan Love Song. Two orphaned Park Avenue society deb sisters, forced to go to work, change places with their servants who go 'society.' Dixie Lee, Robert Armstrong. Dir. Leonard Fields. Rel. May 30.

Monsy Msans Nothing. Efforts of a poor clerk to make a go of marriage with an heiress wife. Wallace Ford, Gloria Shea. Dir. Christy Cabanne. Rel. May 31.

Murder on the Campus. Mystery with college background. Charles Starrett, J. Farrel McDonald. 69 mins. Rel. Feb. ard Thorpe.

Mystery Liner. Noah Beery, Astrid Allwyn. Dir. Wm. Nigh. Rel. Dec.

Quitter, The. A father with the wanderlust returns home long enough to straighten out the affairs of his now grown-up sons. Barbara Weeks, Billy Bakewell, Charles Grapewin, Emma Dunn, Glen Boles. Dir. Richard Thorpe. Rel. March 12.

Rainbow Over Broadway. Musical romance of an ex-musical comedy star of twenty years before who makes a sensational, overnight comeback in a Broadway night club. Joan Marsh, Grace Hayes, Frank Albertson, Lucien Littlefield. Dir. Richard Thorpe. 72 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Road to Ruin. Innocent girl finds shame through ignorance and neglect of modern parents. Film on modern youth. Helen Foster, Paul Page, Nell O'Day, Glen Boles. Dir. Mrs. Wallace Reid and Melville Shyer. 68 mins. Rel. Feb. 17. Rev. Feb. 20.

Stolen Sweets. High pressure insurance salesman falls for heiress and wins her via determined, rapid line of chatter route. Charles Starrett, Sally Blane, Johnny Harron, Jameson Thomas. Ir. Richard Thorpe. 73 mins. Rel. May 1.

Sweethsart of Sigma Chi. College musical comedy romance. Bassd on the famous campus fraternity song. Buster Crabbe, Mary Carlisle, Sally Starr, Florence Lake, Ted Flo Rito and band. Dir. Edwin L. Marin. 73 mins. Rel. Dec. 15. Rev. Dec. 19.

Texas Tornado. (Kent.) Texas Ranger cleans up the rustlers. Lane Chandler. Dir. Oliver Drake. Rev. March 6.

Throns of the Gods. Travel in the Himalayas. 55 mins. Rev. Dec. 27.

Twin Husbands. Crook comedy drama. John Mlljan, Shirley Grey, Montoe Owsley. Dir. Frank Strayer. 69 mins. Rel. May 15.

Woman's Man. Hollywood inside story. John Halliday, Marguerite de la Motte, Wallace Ford. Dir. Edward Luddy. 68 mins.

Young Eagles. Boy Scout adventures in wilds of Central America. Twelve episode serial. Dir. Harry Hoyt. Rel. May 15.

First National

Studios: Burbank, Calif. Offices: 321 W. 44th St., New York, N. Y.

Bedside. Comedy-drama of a women's doctor. Warren William, Jean Muir, Allen Jenkins. Dir. Robert Florey. 65 mins. Rel. Jan. 27. Rev. Mar. 13.

Big Shakedown, The. Dramatic expose of the cut-rate drug racket. Bette Davis, Charles Farrell, Ricardo Cortez. Dir. John Francis Dillon. 64 mins. Rel. Jan. 6. Rev. Feb. 3.

Circus Clown, The. Roaring comedy under the big tent with a winsome romance wound into hilarious situations. Joe E. Brown, Patricia Ellis, Gordon Westcott, Tom Dugan. Dir. Ray Enright. Rel. June 30.

Convention City. The hilarious lowdown on big business conventions. Adolphe Menjou, Dick Powell, Mary Astor, Guy Kibbee. Dir. Archie Mayo. 69 mins. Rel. Dec. 30. Rev. Dec. 27.

Dark Hazard. Edward G. Robinson as a whippet racer. Genevieve Tobin, Glenda Farrell. Dir. Al Green. 60 mins. Rel. Feb. 3. Rev. Feb. 27.

Fashions of 1934. Story of a style stealer set against a lavish background. Wm. Powell, Bette Davis, Verree Teasdale. Dir. Wm. Dieterle. 80 mins. Rel. Feb. 17. Rev. Jan. 23.

Fog Over Frisco. Mystery melodrama set in San Francisco. Donald Woods, Bette Davis, Lyle Talbot, Margaret Lindsay. Dir. William Dieterle. Rel. June 2.

Journal of a Crime. Drama by the French playwright Jacques Deval, and depicts the effect of a murder on a woman of fine instincts and delicate sensibilities who kills an unscrupulous rival. Ruth Chatterton, Adolphe Menjou, Claire Dodd. Dir. William Keighley. 65 mins. Rel. March 10. Rev. May 1.

Mandalay. Adventure in the Indies. Kay Francis, Lyle Talbot, Ricardo Cortez. Dir. Michael Curtiz. 66 mins. Rel. Feb. 10. Rev. Feb. 20.

Massacre. Drama of the modern Indian and his conflicts with the white man. Richard Barthelmess, Ann Dvorak. Dir. Allen Crosland. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 13. Rev. Jan. 23.

Merry Frinks, The. Comedy-drama of the typical family stepping all over Ma until she turns and leaves them on their own. Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee, Allen Jenkins, Hugh Herbert. Dir. Al Green. Rel. May 26.

Registered Nurse. Drama of the romantic side of a nurse's life in a metropolitan hospital. Bebe Daniels, Lyle Talbot, John Halliday. Dir. Robert Florey. 73 mins. Rel. April 7.

Return of the Terror, Ths. Mystery drama with plenty of heart interest. Mary Astor, Lyle Talbot, John Halliday, Frank McHugh. Dir. Howard Brstherton. Rel. July 7.

Side Streets. Love drama based on an original story by Ann Garrick and Ethel Hill. Aline MacMahon, Paul Kelly, Ann Dvorak, Patricia Ellis. Dir. Alfred E. Green. Rel. June 30.

Son of a Sailor. Comedy of a sailor who gets into a funny situation because of his habit of telling romantic stories about himself. Joe E. Brown, Jean Muir, Frank McHugh, Johnny Mack Brown and Thelma Todd. Dir. Lloyd Bacon. 70 mins. Rel. Dec. 23. Rev. Dec. 5.

Twenty Million Sweethsarts. Musical romance taking place behind scenes of a broadcasting studio. Dick Powell, Pat O'Brien, Ginger Rogers, Allen Jenkins, the Four Mills Brothers, Ted Florito and Band. Dir. Ray Enright. 90 mins. Rel. May 26. Rev. May 1.

Very Honorable Guy, A. Comedy from the story by Damon Runyon about a guy who always kept his promises. Joe E. Brown, Alice White, Robert Barrat, Alan Dinehart, Irene Franklin. Dir. Lloyd Bacon. 62 mins. Rel. May 26.

Wonder Bar. Dramatic musical spectacle laid amid the gay revelries of a fashionable Parisian night club. Kay Francis, Dick Powell, Dolores Del Rio, Al Jolson, Ricardo Cortez, Hal LeRoy, Guy Kibbee, Hugh Herbert, Ruth Donnelly, Fifi D'Orsay. Dir. Lloyd Bacon. 84 mins. Rev. March 6.

World Changes, Ths. An epic drama of a family through four generations. Paul Muni, Aline MacMahon, Mary Astor, Donald Cook, Margaret Lindsay, Jean Muir, Patricia Ellis. Dir. Mervyn LeRoy. 95 mins. Rel. Nov. 25. Rev. Oct. 31.

Fox

Studio: Fox Hills, Hollywood, Cal. Offices: 444 West 56th St., New York, N. Y.

All Msn Are Ensmies. Hugh Williams, Helen Twelvetrees. Dir. Geo. Fitzmaurice. 79 mins. Rel. April 20.

As Husbands Go. 'When Ladies Meet' with the sexes reversed. Warner Baxter, Helen Vinson, Warner Oland. Dir. Hamilton McFadden. 65 mins. Rel. Dec. 29. Rev. Jan. 30.

Baby Take a Bow. The Fox child star comes through again. Shirley Temple, Claire Trevor, James Dunn. Dir. Harry Lachman. Rel. June 22.

Bottoms Up. Breaking into Hollywood with a fictitious pedigree. Spencer Tracy, (Miss) Pat Paterson, John Boles. Dir. David Butler. 85 mins. Rel. March 30. Rev. March 27.

Call it Luck. Pat Paterson, Herbert Mundin. Dir. Jas. Tinlin. Rel. June 1.

Carolina. From Paul Green's stage play of last season. Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore, Robt. Young, Henrietta Crosman. Dir. Henry King. 82 mins. Rel. Feb. 2. Rev. Feb. 20.

Change of Heart. From the story, Manhattan Love Song. Janet Gaynor, Chas. Farrell, James Dunn, Ginger Rogers. Dir. John G. Blystone. Rel. May 18.

Charlie Chan's Courage. Another episode in the life of the Chinese sleuth. Warner Oland, Drue Leyton. Dir. Geo. Hadden. Rel. July 29.

Coming Out Party. Original done by the Lasky unit. Frances Dee, Gene Raymond, Alison Skipworth. Dir. John Blystone. Rel. March 9. Rev. March 20.

Constant Nymph (British Gaumont. ritish-made version of a frustrated love. British cast. 85 mins. Rel. March 23. Rev. April 10.

David Harum. The old York State Hoss' trader. Will Rogers, Louise Dresser, Evelyn Venable. Dir. Jas. Cruze. Rel. March 2. Rev. March 6.

Devil Tiger. Wild animal yarn made in Asia. Marion Burns, Kane Richmond, Harry Woods and natives. Dir. Clyde E. Elliott. 60 mins. Rel. Feb. 16. Rev. Feb. 13.

Ever Since Eve. Country boy licks New York. Geor ir. Geo. Marshall. 75 mins. Rel. Feb. 9. Rev. April 3.

(Continued on page 27)

These tabulations are compiled from information supplied by the various production companies and checked up as soon as possible after release. Listing is given when release dates are definitely ast. Titles are retained for six months. Managers who receive service subsequent to that period should preserve a copy of the calendar for references.

The running time as given here is presumably that of the projection room showings and can only approximate the actual release length in those states or communities where local or state censorship may result in deletions. Running time in the reviews as given in 'Variety' carry the actual time clocked in the theatre after passage by the New York state censorship, since pictures are reviewed only in actual theatre showings.

While every effort is made to hold this list accurate, the information supplied may not always be correct, even though official. To obtain the fullest degree of accuracy, 'Variety' will appreciate the co-operation of all managers who may note discrepancies.

Free Shows

(Continued from page 1)

limit the camp entertainment to legit shows. Vaudeville bills and possibly units may also be included as a change of fare, so that the unemployed in all branches of show business would have the opportunity of emergency occupation.

Endorsed by Mrs. Roosevelt

From well authenticated sources it is learned that Mrs. F.D.R. has personally endorsed the CWA-CCC project. Equity has been working on the plan for some time, primarily to aid its members who were unable to secure berths in the dozen CWA dramas which have been presented in New York school auditoriums since winter. Two of its representatives, Paul N. Turner and Mrs. Emily Holt, were in Washington last week when the test show ('The Patsy') was played before CCC administrators. Equity people then conferred with the camp heads.

There are squawks expected to result from the nation-wide drama movement, but no complaints are expected from showmen, because the men in the camps are not theatre patrons. Salaries of $25 to $30 for the players is a point in criticism but, even though the players receive less for the camp apearances, those interested in the project say it would solve the problem of subsistence over the summer.

Estimates of a possible $1,500,000 for the proposed national drama came as something of a surprise. In the New York area the original outlay was $28,500, but with the continuation of the free shows the government has expended about $100,000 to date.

Building of portable stages for use in New York parks during the summer when schools are closed is progressing also.

Contracts

Hollywood, May 21.

Paramount has given a five-year pact to Ralph Murphy for exclusive services.

J. B. Huntley, termer at Universal.

Warners has given new covenant to Fain and Kahal.

RKO has optioned Jeanie Roberts for five shorts.

Carol Tevis spotted for six more Grady Sutton pix at RKO.

Par lifted option on Bayard Veiller for another year.

Warners again tethered Gordon Westcott.

U exercised option on Rian James' associate producer pact.

Warners has exercised option on Ethelreda Leopold for six months.

MURPHY VICE MENZIES

Hollywood, May 21.

Direction of 'Notorious Sophie Lang' was taken over by Ralph Murphy last week at Paramount after the picture had been in production 10 days.

Murphy, who just signed an exclusive contract to direct for Paramount, after being with the Charles Rogers unit for two years, replaced William C. Menzies on the picture.

Midwest Is Premium Battlefield, B&K Starts Retaliatory Giveaways

Chicago, May 21.

Threat of the circuits to go into the premium thing on a large scale if the indie exhibs don't lay off is being made good this week in the north side territory where Balaban & Katz is sending the ace nabe Belmont into a giveaway campaign.

This broadside is aimed at the Lincoln-Hippodrome, around the corner, which has been giving premium for some time, and which has been doing the business of the neighborhood. Admitted all around that the Lincoln-Hipp's giveaway policy has eaten sharply into the grosses of the huge Belmont.

B.&K. has set no limit on the premiums, and has made up its minds to top any giveaway presented by the rival houses. Will even revive the automobile giveaway if necessary.

This is the opening gun of a long series of circuit campaigns against rival premium houses. While it's up to the code in the final instance to decide whether or not premiums are fair competition the circuits are not waiting for any decision in the matter, feeling that it's a problem that needs immediate action. Likely, however, that the question will be brought before the code board shortly for a final answer on the entire question, which has become serious throughout the midwest.

PROCESSERS' PROGRESS

Hollywood, May 21.

Sid Sanders, inventor of a screen for process background shots, has left for the Orient and tour of the world.

Following vacation trip through the Far East Sanders is slated to spend several months in France and England constructing process screens for producers in the latter two countries.

Sanders is on leave of absence from RKO studios, where he has been in the scenic department for the past nine years.

Minn. F-L Party Doesn't Want to Run Theatres

St. Paul, May 21.

Farmer-Labor party, in power in Minnesota, denies that if reelected it will take over operation of theatres in its program of state ownership. Inference was made in a VARIETY story last month.

Farmer-Laborites are interested chiefly in public ownership of electric power, gas, telephone and railroads, and claim 'a good deal of the apprehension has been fomented by the opposition.'

MAIL FILM SHIPMENTS, OFFSET TRUCK STRIKE

Minneapolis, May 21.

Striking truck drivers, attempting to tie up all transportation here, prevented local film exchanges from making deliveries of films and threatened to cut off the film supply of local theatres and force closings for one day. Exchanges made arrangements to ship film by parcel post and present indications are that there will be no hindrance to theatre operations.

No deliveries of any kind can be made and the public's supply of food may be cut off.

FALKENSTEIN JOINS U

Hollywood, May 21.

Fritz Falkenstein joins the Universal writing staff to collaborate on preparations of 'My Mother' with Julius Klein. Writer arrived from Europe a few days ago. He was for some time with UFA.

He made one brief trip to Hollywood a year ago to work for Fox on Lilian Harvey yarns, but returned home after a short stay.

Wotta Break

San Francisco, May 21.

A smoldering cigaret last Wednesday (16) started a fire that burned down the Fox, San Mateo, and broke the heart of district F-WC execs who had just gotten the house in the black after three months of terrific work.

Theatre had had three months of red ink and had just touched black for the first time when a customer left a cigaret between loge seats, starting a blaze that completely gutted the theatre, costing the circuit some $55,000.

FILM BOARDS TO BE PRESERVED

As result of the first of a series of major meetings the Film Boards of Trade, in one form or another, are assured of financial support. A new budget has been approved.

Whether they will retain their present name will be threshed out at other meetings to be held this week.

The boards as a factor in fighting adverse legislation, as well as serving as an inside communications system for the major industry, is understood to have forced their life extension after even representative major spokesmen, shortly after grievance and zoning boards of the NRA were functioning, had pronounced them outlived in usefulness.

Just what they are going to do for secretaries also remains up in the air. Fully 70% of these are now working for the NRA and are forbidden to double.

There is talk about that possibly such secretaries may be asked to resign their NRA posts and return to the Film Boards. Again, there is a belief in other quarters that within another six months the NRA work will be sufficiently light so that both jobs may be held on a part-time basis. In the meantime it is indicated that regular members of the boards, including all of the major companies, will serve gratis in secretarial capacities where clerical aid is needed.

Ushers' N. Y. Walkout on Loew's, RKO

300-400 Ushers, Doormen, Janitors, et al., Called Out—Circuits' Attitude

Following refusal of the major circuits, notably Loew's and RKO, to accede to an increase for ushers, doormen, janitors, in Greater New houses, Theatre Amusement Employes' Union, Local 118, called a strike against more than a dozen houses. Union wanted an increase over present wages of 6-7%, circuits answering that if they had to pay more than service employes are now getting, in most cases over the code, they would be in financial trouble.

Between 300 and 400 men have been pulled out of a number of houses already, headed by a total of 35 between Radio City Music Hall and RKO Center, mostly cleaners. Men walked from other theatres at the same time, including Albee, Orpheum, Melba, Metropolitan, Pitkin, Premier, Kings and Greenpoint, all in Brooklyn; the 58th Street, Jefferson and Franklin, all in New York.

These theatres are being picketed and, according to 118, it is the plan to meet every night after shows are out to decide whether additional houses will be added and which ones.

Union is reported to figure as favoring the centering of its campaign against the RKO and Loew chains because of their important representation in the metropolitan area.

Several weeks ago it was agreed that lists of the membership of 118 would be submitted to the chains for checking with list of service employes in the RKO and Loew theatres. This was done, and during the past week several conferences were held, but the chains refused to accede to demands.

Loew's State on Broadway has posted a board outside stating in large letters that none of its employees is on strike.

B'klyn Strand Abandons Duals; Too Many Squawks

Experiment of Warner Bros. in double featuring first run pictures at the Brooklyn Strand will last only one week as result of committments to subsequent runs in the Brooklyn area who didn't like the idea, it is reported. House will be back to single features Thursday (24). 'He Was Her Man' is in line as singleton for Thursday (24).

Loew's and others in Brooklyn take the Warner product following the Strand but, from account, none of the subsequents relish the thought of following the Strand if it's double-featuring its pictures.

When the Strand went to duals last Thursday (17), it went back to its old price, 55c, from its cut 40c top. Subsequents also complained about the 40c price. Currently the twin bill is 'A Very Honorable Guy,' first running in the metropolitan area, and 'Journal of a Crime.'

'DuBarry' Title Stays

Warners will not change the title of 'Madame DuBarry', as planned, though it has been used before, both on stage and screen.

Dolores Del Rio does DuBarry.

GILL TAKES ON SORIERO'S DIV.

Los Angeles, May 21.

Tom Soriero, resigned divisional manager of Fox-West Coast (Arizona) goes to Honolulu for another connection. Homer Gill, California-San Diego Division, replaces.

★ ★ ★

"Three Stars for 'Beyond Bengal.' Proves thrilling and interesting. You'll find all you're looking for and then some, at the Gaiety this week."
—N. Y. Daily News

"I have seen every animal picture that has been released in the United States, but never have I seen one that is as fascinating and thrilling as "BEYOND BENGAL" . . . should be shown everywhere." —Harrison's Reports

"The most actionful and thrilling of its kind, depicting a big game hunt in the Malayan wilds. It is sufficiently different to be in a class by itself. It has extensive exploitation possibilities." —Film Daily

"The picture has plenty of excitement, and if it's excitement you want, don't miss it... plenty to thrill in 'Beyond Bengal'." —N. Y. Morning Telegraph

"Amazing jungle film. Breath-taking thrills. Death-defying sequences. Will astound any audience. Tops them all. Should pack 'em in anywhere." —Film Curb

THE WHOLE COUNTRY GOING

BEYOND BENGAL

A HARRY SCHENCK PRODUCTION

"Harry Schenck has succeeded in crowding a remarkable number of thrills into a jungle picture made in the Maylay Peninsula. . . . it's loaded with exploitable angles throughout." —N. P. Daily

"It is a film of definite interest, of wide appeal, and certainly may be sold. Woven into this record is a romance between Mr. Schenck's young native servant and the unusually attractive native girl who acted as maid for Miss Baldwin, a British scientist who accompanied Mr. Schenck — named Ali and Boo. Both are appealing characters." —N. P. Herald

"Brings a new note to the wild animal film. . . . Gripping to the highest degree." —The Columbus Dispatch

"It is nothing short of amazing what an alert gentleman with a camera can find in the Maylayan jungles. After seeing what Harry Schenck found and fashioned into a motion picture called 'Beyond Bengal,' we are tempted to believe nothing impossible in Malaya. It is a veritable cornucopia of photographic thrills." —The Cincinnati Post

"A rousing climax....you're on your seat's edge." —The Columbus Citizen

"Thrills destined to play the stops of the average spinal column." —N. Y. Mirror

"Thrilling events genuinely exciting." —N. Y. Herald Tribune

"'Beyond Bengal' has an atmosphere of authenticity . . . grand animal sequences...'Beyond Bengal' is one of the best of its kind." —New York Sun

"Two capacity audiences were held in rapt attention by the daring Schenck and his native hunters and by the suspenseful action and unusual, intimate shots from fearless cameramen." —The Ohio State Journal

"Loaded with hair-raising and breath-taking action. Builds swiftly to terrifically climatic sequences. The film ranks with the best of its genre." —New York American

"Sheerly exciting." —N. Y. Times

Released by SHOWMENS PICTURES, Inc. • D. J. MOUNTAN, President • 723 SEVENTH AVENUE, NEW YORK, N. Y.

A SHOWMEN'S PICTURE FOR A SHOWMAN'S PROFIT

CALENDAR OF CURRENT RELEASES

(Continued from page 25)

Frontier Marshal, The. Familiar theme of the unknown cleaner-up. Geo. O'Brien. Dir. Lew Seiler. 66 mins. Rel. Jan. 19. Rev. Feb. 6.

rand Canary. Warner Baxter, Madge Evans. Dir. Irving Cummings. Rel. July 13.

Handy Andy. Will Rogers, Peggy Wood. David Butler. mins. Rel. July 27.

Heart Song. British made with Lillian Harvey and Mady Christians in the cast. Erich Pommer production. Dir. Frederich Hollaender. Rel. April 27.

Hold That Girl. Original story. James Dunn, Claire Trevor. Hamilton MacFadden. 65 mins. Rel. Feb. 16. Rev. March 27.

I Am Suzanne. Novelty story with puppet sequences. Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond, Piccoli Marionettes, Yale Puppeteers. Dir. R. V. Lee. 99 mins. Rel. Dec. 22. Rev. Jan. 23.

I Believed in You. Original story. Rosemary Ames, Victor Jory, John Boles. Dir. Irving Cummings. 69 mins. Rel. Feb. 23. Rev. April 11.

I Was a Spy. (British) Based on the story by Martha MacKenna. Herbert Marshall, Madaleine Carroll, Conrad Veidt. Dir. Victor Saville. 83 mins. Rel. Dec. 15. Rev. Jan. 16.

Jimmy and Sally. James Dunn, Claire Trevor. Dir. : Rel. Nov. 24. Rev. Dec. 19.

..Skitch. From the story 'Green Dice,' Will Rogers, Zasu Pitts, Rochelle Hudson, Harry Green, Eugene Pallette. Dir. Jas. Cruze. Rel. Dec. 29 Rev. Dec. 27.

Murder in Trinidad. Mystery story from Vandercook's novel. Heather Angel. Dir. Sol Wurtzel. 74 mins. Rel. April

I'll Tell. Mrs. Arnold Rothstein's story based on her husband's life. Spencer Tracy, Helen Twelvetrees. Dir. Edwin Burke. 87 mins. Rel. May 11.

rient Express. Mystery on a railroad train. Heather Angel, Norman Foster. Dir. Paul Martin. Rel. Jan. 12. Rev. March 6.

Scandals. Staged by George White on the lines of his revue. Rudy Vallee, Alice Fay, Jimmy Durante. Dir. Geo. White. Harry Lachman. 80 mins. Rel. March 22. Rev. March 20.

She Learned About Sailors. Alice Faye, Lew Ayres, Mitchell and Durant. Dir. Geo. Marshall. Rel. July 6.

She Was a Lady. Helen Twelvetrees, lystone. Rel. July 20.

leepers East. From the novel by Fredk. Nebel. Wynne Gibson, Preston Foster. Dir. Kenneth MacKenna. 69 mins. Rel. Jan. 26.

Smoky. From the novel by Will James. Victor Jory, Irene Bentley, Francis Ford. Dir Eugene Forde. 66 mins. Rel. Dec. 8. Rev. Jan. 9.

Springtime for Henry. From Benn Levy's stage play. Otto Kruger, Nancy Carroll, Nigel Bruce, Heather Angel. Dir. Frank Tuttle. (Lasky produced) Rel. May 25.

Stand Up and Cheer. Musical. Warner Baxter, Madge Evans, Froos Dir. Hamilton MacFadden. Rel. May 4. Rev. April 24.

Such Women Are Dangerous. From the story, 'Odd Thursday.' Warner Baxter, Rosemary Ames, Rochelle Hudson. Dir. Jas. Flood. 79 mins. Rel. May 4.

Three on a Honeymoon. Love affairs on an ocean liner. Sally Eilers, John Mack Brown. Dir. Jas. Tinling. 70 mins. Rel. March 23. Rev. May 8.

Wild Gold. John Boles, Claire Trevor, Harry Green. Dir. Geo. Marshall. Rel. May 11.

Freuler Associates

ce: R.K.O. Bl New York.

ids of Araby. Original. Sharha story of British army and Riff, with love interest. Maria Alba, Walter Byron, Claire Windsor. Dir. Phil Rosen. Rel. April 21.

Love Past Thirty. A woman's struggle against the lure of youth for the man she loved! Aileen Pringle, Theodor von Eltz, Gertrude Messinger, Phyllis Barry. Dir. Vin Moore. 73 mins. Rel. Jan. 27.

War of the Range. Tom Tyler western. Dir. J. P. McGowan. 60 mins. Rel Sept. 22. Rev. Dec. 12.

When a Man Rides Alone. (Monarch.) Tom Tyler does a modern Robin Hood with a gold mine. Dir. J. P. McGowan. 55 mins. Rev. Dec. 27.

Gaumont-British

Office: 226 West 42nd St., New York.

Channel Crossing. Drama. Matheson Lang, Constance Cummings. Dir. Milton Rossmer. 68 mins. Rev. Oct. 31.

Failing for You. Comedy drama. Jack Hulbert, Cicely Courtneidge. Ir Jack Hulbert. 71 mins. Rev. Aug. 4.

Ghoul, The. Thriller. Boris Karloff. Dir. T. H. Hunter. 73 mins. Rel. Jan. 1. Rev. Jan. 30.

Leave it to Smith. Mystery comedy by Lonsdale. Tom Walls, star and director. 70 mins. Rel. April 13. Rev. April 24.

Orders is Orders. Comedy of American making film in British army. James Gleason, Charlotte Greenwood. Dir. Walter Forde. 70 mins. Rel. May 1. Rev. May 8.

rince of Wales. Newsreel compilation of British heir's life. 60 mins. Rel. April 15. Rev. April 24.

Majestic

Offices: ldg., Radio City New York City

Charming Deceiver, The. (British made.) Romantic drama of Cinderella type. Constance Cummings and Frank Lawton. Dir. Monty Banks. Rel Dec. 8.

Morning After, The. A merry mix-up of international spy systems. Ben Lyon and Sally Eilers. Dir. Allan Dwan. Rel. Jan. 1.

In of Nora Moran, The. Woman is framed to shield the higher-ups. Zita Johann Alan Dinehart Paul Cavanagh. John Miljan. Dir. Phil Goldstone. Rel. Dec. 12. Rev. Dec. 19.

Unknown Blonde. From the novel "Collusion." The divorce racket. Edward Arnold, Helen Jerome Eddy Dir. Hobart Henley. 61 mins. Rel. March. Rev. May 15.

Metro

ces: 1540 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Cat and the Fiddle, The. From the successful musical play by Jerome Kern and Otto Harbach. Ramon Novarro, Jeanette MacDonald, Frank Morgan, Charles Butterworth, Jean Hersholt, Vivienne Segal. Dir. William K. Howard. Rel. Feb. 16. Rev. Feb. 20.

Eskimo. Love and hate in the Icelands. Native cast. Dir. W. Van Dyke. Roadshow length, 120 mins. Rel. Jan. 13. Rev. Nov. 21.

Fugitive Lovers. Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans as the lovers in a story most of whose action takes place on a transcontinental bus. Nat Pendleton. C. Henry Gordon, Ruth Selwyn. Dir. H. Boleslavsky. 84 mins. Rel. Jan. 5. Rev. Jan. 16.

Going Hollywood. Marion Davies chases a radio crooner to the studio. Marion Davies, Bing Crosby. Dir. Raoul Walsh. 75 mins. Rel. Dec. 22. Rev. Dec. 26.

Hollywood Party. All star musical film. April 13.

Laughing Boy. Ramon Novarro in the title role. Based on the Pulitzer Prize winning novel by Oliver La Farge. Lupe Velez. Dir. W. S. Van Dyke. 75 mins. Rel. May 25. Rev. May 15.

Lazy River. Story of the shrimp fisheries among the Cajuns in the Louisiana bayou country. Jean Parker, Robert Young, C. Henry Gordon. Dir. George Seitz. 77 mins. Rel. March 16. Rev. April 10.

Manhattan Melodrama. Story of old and new New York. Clark Gable, Wm. Powell, Myrna Loy. Dir. W. S. Van Dyke. 93 mins. Rel. May 4. Rev. May 8

In White. Picturization of the successful Broadway stage play of hospital life. Clark Gable. Myrna Loy, Jean Hersholt. Dir. R. Boleslavsky. 72 mins. Rel. April 6. Rev. May 1.

Mystery of Mr. X. Based on the Crime Club novel by Philip MacDonald. Robert Montgomery, Elizabeth Allan, Lewis Stone. Dir. Edgar Selwyn. Rel. Feb. 23. Rev. Feb. 27.

Id Hannibal. May Robson as a Wall Street manipulator. Lewis Stone, Jean Parker. Dir. C. Riesner. Rel. Jan. 26.

Operator 13. Based on the last novel of the late Robert W. Chambers. Marion Davies, Gary Cooper. Dir. Richard Boleslavsky. No release set.

Queen Christina. Greta Garbo as the seventeenth century queen who was brought up as a boy. Lewis Stone, Ian Keith, Elizabeth Young. Dir. Rouben Mamoulian. 90 mins. Rel. Feb. 9. Rev. Jan. 2.

ip Tide (Opposing Forces Within Woman). An American girl marries into English nobility and suffers disappointment and disillusionment. Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery, Herbert Marshall, Mrs. Pat Campbell. Dir. Edmund Goulding. Rel. March 23. Rev. April 3.

Sadie McKee. Based on the novel by Vina Delmar. Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone. Dir. Clarence Brown No release set.

Should Ladies Behave. From the stage play, 'The Vinegar Tree.' Lionel Barrymore, Alice Brady. Dir. Harry Beaumont. 89 mins. Rel. Dec. 1. Rev. Dec. 19.

Showoff, The. Old stage play of a conceited man who makes good. Spencer Tracy, Madge Evans. Dir. Chas. Riesner. 78 mins. Rel. March 9. Rev. March 20.

Sons of the Desert (Hal Roach). Laurel and Hardy attend a fraternal convention. Dir. Wm. A. Seiter. 65 mins. Rel. Dec. 29. Rev. Jan. 9.

Tarzan and His Mate. Further adventures of the characters created by Edgar Rice Burroughs. Johnnie Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, Neil Hamilton. Dir. Cedric Gibbons. Rel. March 30. Rev. April 24.

This Side of Heaven. Domestic drama from a novel. Lionel Barrymore, Fay Bainter, Mae Clark, Una Merkel, Tom Brown. Dir. Wm. K. Howard. 78 mins. Rel. Feb. 2. Rev. Feb. 13.

iva Villa. Wallace Beery portrays the famous Mexican character, Pancho Villa. Stuart Erwin, Fay Wray, Leo Carrillo. Dir. Jack Conway. 112 mins. Rel. April 7. Rev. April 17.

Women in His Life, The. Criminal lawyer, deserted by his wife, sends to the chair the man who stole her. Otto Kruger, Una Merkel, Ben Lyons. Dir. Geo. B. Seitz. 74 mins. Rel. Dec. 3. Rev. Jan. 30.

You Can't Buy Everything. Story of a domineering old woman. May Robson, Jean Parker, Lewis Stone. Dir. C. H. Reisner. 72 mins. Rel. Jan. 26. Rev. Feb. 6.

Studio: 6046 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood, Cal. Monogram Office: R. K. O. Building, Rockefeller Center, N.Y.C.

Beggars in Ermine. Bankrupt steel man organizes a mendicants trust. Lionel Atwell, Betty Furness. Dir. Phil Rosen. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 22. Rev. May 1.

Blue Steel. John Wayne, Eleanor Hunt. , N. Bradbury. A Lone Star Western. 59 mins. Rel. April 30.

City Limits. Ray Walker, Sally Blane, Frank Craven. Story of breezy newspaper reporter who gets his story—and the girl. 67 mins. Rel. April 15.

He Couldn't Take It. Story by Jore Scharg. Inside story of process serving racket. Ray Walker, Virginia Cherrill, George E. Stone, Dorothy Granger, Paul Porcasi. Dir. William Nigh. Rel. Dec. 11. Rev. March 27.

House of Mystery, The. illie, Ed Lowry. Dir. William Nigh. 62 mins. Rel. March 30.

Lucky Texan, The. Western story of a man accused of the murder of his pal. John Wayne. Dir. Paul Malvern. 56 mins. Rel. Jan. 22. Rev. Feb. 13.

Mystery Liner. Noah Beery, Astrid Allwyn. William Nigh. mins. Rel. March 15. Rev. April 10.

Manhattan Love Song. Dixie Lee. Robert Armstrong. Leonard Fields. 72 mins. Rel. April 30.

Sagebrush Trail, The. Lone Star western. Wayne, Nancy Shubert. Dir. Armand Schaefer. 53 mins. Rel. Rev. Jan. 9.

Sixteen Fathoms Deep. Sponge diver's romance. Sally O'Neill, Creighton Chaney, Russell Simpson, Maurice Black. Dir. Armand Schaefer. 59 mins. Rel. Jan. 1. Rev. Jan. 23.

West of the Divide. Lone Star western. John Wayne, Faire Dir. R. N. Bradbury. 52 mins. Rev. May 15.

Woman's Man. Hollywood inside story. John Halliday, Wallace Ford, guerite de la Motte. Dir. Edward Luddy.

Studios: 5851 Marathon St., Hollywood, Calif. Paramount 1501 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Alice in Wonderland. The Carroll story visualized. Charlotte Henry and most of the Par. stars. Dir. Norman McLeod. 76 mins. Rel. Dec. 22. Rev. Dec. 27.

All of Me. From the stage play, 'Chrysalis.' Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins. Geo. Raft. Dir. Jas. Flood. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 26. Rev. Feb. 6.

Bolero. Story of a gigolo who started in Hoboken. Geo. Raft, Carole Lombard, Sally Rand. Dir. Wesley Ruggles. 83 mins. Rel. Feb. 23. Rev. Feb. 20.

Come On Marines. Marine corps rescues a shipwrecked girls' seminary. Richard Arlen, Ida Lupino, Roscoe Karns. Dir. Henry Hathaway. 64 mins. Rel. March 23. Rev. March 27.

Death Takes a Holiday. Death takes a holiday to learn of life. From the stage play. Fredric March, Evalyn Venable. Dir. Mitchell Leisen. 79 mins. Rel. March 30. Rev. Feb. 27.

Design for Living. Adapted from Noel Coward's play. Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Miriam Hopkins, Ed. E. Horton. Dir. Ernst Lubitsch. 90 mins. Rel. Dec. 27. Rev. Nov. 28.

Double Door. Thriller story of a dominant old maid. Mary Morris, Evalyn Venable, Kent Taylor. Dir. Chas. Vidor. 75 mins. Rel. May 4. Rev. May 8.

Eight Girls in a Boat. Love in a girl's school. Douglas Montgomery, Kay Johnson. Dir. Richard Wallace. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 5. Rev. Jan. 16.

Four Frightened People. Mixed quartet in the jungle. Claudette Colbert, Herbert Marshall, Mary Boland, Wm. Gargan. Dir. Cecil de Mille. Rel. Jan. 16. Rev. Jan. 30.

Girl Without a Room. Americans in Paris. Chas. Farrell, Chas. Ruggles, Marguerite Churchill, Gregory Ratoff, Walter Wolff. Dir. Ralph Murphy. 72 mins. Rel. Dec. 8. Rev. Dec. 12.

Good Dame. Fredric March on a carnival lot. Sylvia Sidney. Dir. Marion Gering. 72 mins. Rel. Feb. 16. Rev. March 20.

Here Comes the Groom. Escaping burglar is forced to impersonate the groom of a deserted bride. Jack Haley, Patricia Ellis. Dir. Raoul Pagol. Rel. June 15.

His Double Life. (Dowling.) Light comedy. Lillian Gish, Roland Young Dir. Arthur Hopkins. 63 mins. Rel. Jan. 12. Rev. Dec. 19.

I Married an Actress. Matinee idol loses out to his wife, an actress, who takes his glory. Adolphe Menjou, Elissa Landi, Dir. Ralph Murray. Rel. June 22.

It Ain't No Sin. Mae West as a burlesque queen. Roger Pryor, John Mack Brown. Dir. Leo McCarey. Rel. June 29.

Kiss and Make Up. Beauty doctor marries his model. Cary Grant, Genevieve Tobin, Helen Mack and the Wampas Baby Stars. Dir. Harlan Thompson, Joan Nogulesco. Rel. July 13.

Last Roundup, The. Western with a Zane Grey title and a new story. Randolph Scott, Monte Blue, Barbara Adams, Fred Kohler. Dir. Henry Hathaway. 60 mins. Rel. Jan. 26. Rev. May 15.

Little Miss Marker. Damon Runyon story of a child who was pledged with a bookmaker. Adolphe Menjou, Dorothy Dell, Chas. Bickford, Shirley Temple. Dir. Alex. Hall. 110 mins. Rel. June 1.

Lone Cowboy, The. Western with Jackie Cooper as the hero. From a Will James story. Dir. Paul Sloane. 68 mins. Rel. Dec. 1. Rev. Dec. 5.

Many Happy Returns. Burns and Allen at their dizziest. With Guy Lombardo, Joan Marsh. Dir. Norman McLeod. 66 mins. Rel. June 8.

Melody in Spring. Radio singer at home and abroad. Lanny Ross, Chas. Ruggles, Mary Boland. Dir. Norman McLeod. 75 mins. Rel. April 20. Rev. April 3.

Miss Fane's Baby is Stolen. Farcical play. Dorothea Wieck, rady Dir. Alex. Hall. 67 mins. Rel. Jan. 12. Rev. Jan. 23.

Murder at the Vanities. From the Earl Carroll stage production. Murder backstage. Carl Brisson, Victor McLaglen, Jack Oakie, Kitty Carlisle. Dir. Mitchell Loisen. 96 mins. Rel. May 11.

No More Women. lagg and Quirt as deep sea divers. Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen, Sally Blane. Dir. Al Rogell. 73 mins. Rel. Feb. 23. Rev. March 6.

Old Fashiond Way, The. W. C. Fields in a road show in the '90s. Baby LeRoy, Judith Allen. Dir. Wm. Beaudine. Rel. July 6.

Private Scandal. Suicide which is decided to be a murder because none of the witnesses dares his own exposure to scandal. Zasu Pitts, Phillips Holms, Ned Sparks, Mary Brian. Dir. Ralph Murphy. 64 mins. Rel. May 11.

Search for Beauty, The. Pseudo-physical training yarn to display winners in Par's international beauty contest. Buster Crabbe, Ida Lupino, Toby Wing, Jas. Gleason. Dir. Erle Kenton. 77 mins. Rel. Feb. 2. Rev Feb. 13.

She Made Her Bed. Show lot story about a brutal animal trainer. Rich. Arlen, Sally Eilers, Robt. Armstrong. Dir. Ralph Murphy. Rel. March 9. Rev. May 1.

Shoot the Works. A denatured 'The Great Magoo.' Jack Oakie, Ben Bernie, Dorothy Dell. Dir. Wesley Ruggles. Rel. June 29.

Six of a Kind. The humors of a share-expenses trip. Chas. Ruggles, Mary Boland, W. C. Fields, Geo. Burns, Gracie Allen, Alison Skipworth. Dir. Leo. Carey. 60 mins. Rel. Feb. Rev. March 13.

Thirty Days a Princess. Obscure actress plays at being a princess. Sylvia Sidney, Cary Grant. Dir. Marion Goring. 76 mins. Rel. May 18. Rev. May 15.

Trumpet Blows, The. George Raft becomes an amateur bull fighter. Geo. Raft, Adolphe Menjou, Frances Drake. Dir. Stephen Roberts. 68 mins. Rel. April 13. Rev. April 17.

We're Not Dressing. Comedy of shipwrecked royalty. Bing Crosby, Carole Lombard, Burns and Allen, Ethel Merman, Leon Errol. Dir. Norman Taurog. 80 mins. Rel. April 27. Rev. May 1.

Witching Hour, The. Augustus Thomas play of a murder innocently caused by hypnotism. Sir Guy Standing, John Halliday, Judith Allen. Dir. Henry Hathaway. 66 mins. Rel. April 27. Rev. May 1.

Wharf Angel. Romance in San Francisco of 1907. Victor McLaglen, Dorothy Dell. Dir. W. C. Menzies. 65 mins. Rel. March 16. Rev. April 24.

You're Telling Me. Fields as a small town garage man. W. C. Fields, Joan Marsh, Buster Crabbe, Adrienne Ames. Dir. Erle Kenton. 66 mins. Rel. April 6. Rev. April 10.

(Continued on page 28)

Nat'l Labor Board Orders 9 Ushers Back to Theatres

Washi , May 21.

Reinstatement of nine discharged ushers at the Warner and Buckien theatres, Elkhart, Ind., was ordered last week by the National Labor Board in settling a union dispute involving refusal of the Elkhart Amusement Co. to abide by rulings of the Indianapolis Regional Labor Board.

Representing the first test of the right of employees to unionize since the film code went into , decision was a victory for the Theatres Service Employees Union. Board held that evidence, although contradictory, showed employer sought to discourage ushers from joining outside labor organization and concluded that the workers were ousted because of union activities.

Adamant

Not only the circuits attack representation of Local 118 in the theaters, having claimed from the first that the 118 membership included few people actually at work as service employees, but decided that the salaries now being paid were both adequate and reasonable. Demand for a closed shop if a scale could be negotiated was something else the theatres balked over.

C. C. Moskowitz, of Loew's, handed out a statement during the past week minimizing the importance of the offensive so far. He declared that the U. S. Department of Labor made a poll of 2,200 theatre workers recently and found that 84.6% of them were opposed to joining the proposed new union (Local 118). Moskowitz spoke for both Loew's and RKO.

Canadian Exhibs' Reprisal Threats Over Score Charges

Ottawa, May 21.

Independent exhibitor organizations of Canada have taken up arms against the score charge in film contracts and have presented a demand to the Canadian distributors for the removal of the extra levy starting July 1 and for all new season bookings.

Failing action by the exchanges, the indies have threatened to place the matter before the Parliamentary Investigation Committee of the Canadian Government. It is urged that the score charge is unfair, excessive and unnecessary and that the item represents a loss to the exhibitors of the Dominion of $400,000 throughout the course of a year. A duplication is claimed in that the theatres are required to pay a seat tax of 10c per year for musical privileges to the Performing Rights Society of Canada. Likewise, the argument has been advanced that Canada should not be placed in the category of a home market by the U. S. producers in the levying of the score tax, no similar charge being imposed on theatres of other foreign countries.

The campaign has been organized throughout the Provinces by Oscar Hanson, general manager of Ontario Allied Exhibitors, who has threatened to bring to the attention of the Canadian government the fact that film exchanges in the Dominion submit booking contracts to New York offices for approval, thus indicating that the business is under foreign control.

In this connection, individual exchange managers have frankly intimated that the score charge is a matter for decision by headquarters in New York and have claimed that films imported from the States are assessed $100 per reel for the score charge which must be met by the theatres.

Ante Gus Meins

Hollywood, May 21.

Roach has torn up the directing contract of Gus Meins, having several months to go, and has given him one for a year at a boosted salary.

Meins has been handling both the Todd-Kelly shorts and the Our Gang series.

Studio Placements

Hollywood, May 21.

Monte Vandergrift, 'Shoot the Works,' Par.

Jameson Thomas, Belong to Me,' Par.

Clarence Wilson, , RKO.

Katherine De Mille, 'Ladies Should Listen,' Par.

Lawrence Grant, 'Count of Monte Cristo,' Reliance.

Alex Courtney, 'Shocked,' Mono.

Ferdinand Munier, Claudia Coleman, 'Merry Widow,' MG.

Barry Barringer, scripting 'When a Man's A Man,' George O'Brien's first western, Fox.

Al Herman, directing 'Red Steel,' Laymon.

George Morgan, scripting 'Alice Takes a Holiday,' Mayfair.

Jack Mulhall, lead 'Burn 'Em Up Barnes,' Mascot.

H. B. Warner, 'Jane Eyre,' Mono.

David Hertz, scripting his orig, 'Storm Without Thunder,' U.

Nat J. Ferber, scripting 'Princess of O'Hara,' U.

Hale Hamilton, Charles Coleman, '100 Per Cent Pure,' MG.

William Augustin, 'Rear Car,' MG.

Gwendolyn Logan, Helena Grant, 'One More River,' U.

Pop Byron, 'Merry Widow,' MG.

Robert Gleckler, Frank Conroy, 'Stamboul Quest,' MG.

Rosalie Roy, lead 'What, No Men?' WB short.

Sam Hellman, 'Lottery Lover,' Fox.

Gay Seabrock, Learned About Sailors,' Fox.

Arthur Hoyt, 'Kansas City Princess,' WB.

George Meeker, 'Dragon Murder Case,' WB.

David Jack Holt, 'Shock,' Mono.

Ivan Lebedeff, T. Roy Barnes, Franklyn Pangborn, Lillian Harmer, Renee Whitney, 'Kansas City Princess,' WB.

Barbara Robbins, 'Hat, Coat and Glove,' RKO.

Eric Blore, Eric Rhodes, 'Gay Divorce,' RKO.

Marina Schubert, daughter of Nina Koshetz, opera singer, 'British Agent,' WB.

John Stahl, direct untitled pic, Metro.

William Frawley, 'Ladies First,' Par.

Rafael Corio, 'Ladies Should Listen,' Par.

Osgood Perkins, 'Kansas City Princess,' WB.

Wera Engels, 'Transatlantic Showboat,' Reliance.

Rian James, supervising, 'Walking on Air,' U.

Stuart Walker, directing, Roger Pryor, 'Cheating Cheaters,' U.

Frank Lawton, 'One More River,' U.

Benny Baker, Chumps Ahead,' Roach.

Buster Crabbe loaned by Par for untitled yarn, Mayfair.

Ford Beebe, writing Ken Maynard's feature, Mascot.

Ben Cohen, Dave Howard collabing on serial, Mascot.

Casey Robinson, scripting untitled yarn, Warners.

Dorothy Burgess, 'Hat, Coat, Glove,' RKO.

Dr. Eugene Frenke, preparing story for his direction, U.

Dorothy Darling, untitled film, U.

Lillian Drew, 'Old Fashioned Way,' Par.

Charles E. Arnt, 'Ladies Should Listen,' Par.

Dean Jagger, '52 Weeks for Fleurette,' Par.

Donald Meek, 'One Way Ticket,' Par.

Torben Meyer, French version, 'Merry Widow,' MG.

Charles Middleton, Tom Kennedy short, RKO.

Joyce Compton, short, RKO.

Betty Burbridge, screen play, 'Red Head,' Mono.

Beryl Mercer, 'Jane Eyre,' Mono.

Doris Lloyd, untitled film, Fox.

Berton Churchill, 'Rear Car,' MG.

Dorothy Arzner, directs 'Proud Princess,' Fox.

'Theodore Newton, ,' Col.

Maldena Armstrong, ,' Col.

Wade Boteler, Phil 'Ain't No Sin,' Par.

George Barbier, Nella Walker, Charles Sellon, Helene Phillips, 'Ladies First,' Par.

Norman Ainsley, 'Notorious Sophie Lang,' Par.

Clara Blandick, 'One Way Ticket,' Par.

Murray Ki , 'Hat, ,' RKO.

Anita Louise, Will Rogers' next, Fox.

Cora Sue Collins, 'Caravan,' Fox.

Barbara Leonard, 'Servant's Entrance,' Fox.

Wilfred Lucas, Ed Cook, 'Rear Car,' MG.

Irene Hervey, Marlon Byron, Taking Care of Baby,' MG short.

Jean Parker, lead 'Have a Heart,' MG.

Linn Riggs 'Wicked Woman,' MG.

Humphrey Pearson, scripting 'Ruggles of Red Gap,' Par.

Dale Van Every, adapting 'Eyes of the Eagle,' Par.

Charles Rogers, directing 'Public Enemies,' Roach.

Hal Yates, directing 'Fisherman's Luck,' Roach.

CALENDAR OF CURRENT RELEASES

(Continued from page 27)

Principal

Office: 1270 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y.

Jaws of Justice. Kazan, the dog, in a melodrama of the Northwest Mounted Police, with Richard Terry and Ruth Sullivan. 54 mins. Rel. Dec. 15.

Ferocious Pal. Kazan, the dog, in a thrilling mystery-melodrama of the sheep-raising country. Ruth Sullivan and Robert Manning. Dir. Spencer Gordon. 54 mins. Rel. Feb. 1. Rev. April 24.

Fighting to Live. Captain, the dog, and Lady, his mate, in a story based on a true incident in their lives. Mary Shilling and Gaylord Pendleton. 50 mins. Rel. May.

R.K.O. Radio

Studios: Hollywood, Calif. Office: R.K.O. Bldg., Radio City, N.Y.C

Allen Corn. Talented young musician realizes after a series of disappointing love affairs that love and a career won't mix and chooses career. Ann Harding, John Boles, Margaret Hamilton, Arnold Korff. Dir. Edward H. Griffith. Rel. May 25.

Blind Adventure. Adventures in London during one foggy night. Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack, Roland Young, Ralph Bellamy. Dir. Ernest B. Schoedsack. 63 mins. Released Aug. 18. Rev. Nov. 7.

Crime Doctor. A famous detective, jealous of his wife who no longer loves him, plans the perfect crime. Otto Kruger, Karen Morley, Nils Asther, Judith Wood. Dir. John Robertson. Rel. April 27. Rev. May 15.

Finishing School. A young boarding school girl becomes involved with a young doctor. Ginger Rogers Frances Dee, Bruce Cabot, Billie Burke. Dir. Wahda Tuchock and George Nicholls, Jr. 70 mins. Rel. May 4. Rev. May 1.

Flying Down to Rio. Musical extravaganza which takes place in the air above Rio de Janeiro. Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond, Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire, Raoul Roullen. Dir. Thornton Freeland. 89 mins. Rel. Dec 29. Rev. Dec. 27.

Keep 'Em Rolling. One man's life-time devotion to his loyal army horse. Walter Huston, Frances Dee, Robert Shayne, Frank Conroy. Dir. George Archainbaud. Rel. March 2.

Hips, Hips, Hooray. Musical girl show. Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Ruth Etting, Dorothy Lee, Thelma Todd, George Meeker, Phyllis Barry. Dir Mark Sandrich. Rel. Feb. 2. Rev. Feb. 27.

If I Were Free. A modern romance of two people, disappointed in marriage who meet and try to find happiness together in their way. Irene Dunne, Clive Brook, Nils Asther, Henry Stephenson. Dir. Elliott Nugent. 66 mins. Rel. Dec. 1. Rev. Jan. 9.

Long Lost Father. Story in a London nite club. John Barrymore, Helen Chandler. Dir. Ernest B. Schoedsack. 62 mins. Rel. Jan. 19. Rev. Feb. 27.

Lost Patrol, The. A detachment of British soldiers lost on the Mesopotamian desert are attacked by unseen Arabs with dramatic results. Boris Karloff, Victor McLaglen, Wallace Ford, Reginald Denny, Alan Hale. Dir. John Ford. Rel. Feb. 16. Rev. April 3.

Man of Two Worlds. An Eskimo, his illusions shattered by a glimpse of London civilization, returns to his own people and is brought back to reality by his infant son. Francis Lederer, Elissa Landi, Henry Stephenson. Walter Byron, Steffi Duna, J. Farrell MacDonald, Sarah Padden. Dir J. Walter Ruben. 82 mins. Rel. Feb 9. Rev. Jan. 16.

Meanest Gal in Town. Farce comedy love in the beauty parlor. Zasu Pitts, El Brendel, Pert Kelton, James Gleason. Dir. Rich. Schayer. 61 mins. Rel. Jan. 12. Rev. Feb. 20.

Of Human Bondage. A poignant story of a man who faces life as a partial cripple. Leslie Howard, Bette Davis, Reginald Denny, Reginald Sheffield, Alan Hale. Dir. John Cromwell. Rel. June 1.

Sing and Like It. Gangster backs a Broadway show and makes sure of good reviews by furnishing special "escorts" for each reviewer. Zasu Pitts, Pert Kelton, Edward Everett Horton, Nat Pendleton, Ned Sparks. Dir William Seiter. 69 mins. Rel. April 20. Rev. April 17.

Son of Kong. Further adventures of Carl Denham, the director who brought King Kong to civilization, this time with the Son of Kong. Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack, Frank Reicher, John Marston. Directed by Ernest B. Schoedsack. 69 mins. Rel. Dec. 22. Rev. Jan. 2.

Spitfire. A powerful story which deals with a beautiful mountain "witch" whose naivete, temperament and personality combine wickedness and immaculateness. Katharine Hepburn, Robert Young, Ralph Bellamy, Martha Sleeper, Sidney Toler, Louis Mason, Sara Haden. Dir. John Cromwell. Rel. May 18. Rev. March 20.

Stingaree. Notorious Australian bandit of the "Robin Hood" type with a flair for the esthetic things of life. Irene Dunne, Richard Dix, Conway Tearle, Mary Boland. Dir. William Wellman. Rel. May 25.

Strictly Dynamite. A poet becomes a gag writer for a famous radio comic. Jimmy Durante, Lupe Velez, Norman Foster, Marian Nixon. Dir. Elliott Nugent. Rel. May 11.

Success at Any Price. Ruthless business man finds love at last. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Colleen Moore, Genevieve Tobin. Dir. J. Walter Ruben. Rel. March 16. Rev. May 8.

Success Story. The ruthless rise to power and wealth of a boy of the New York telement district. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Colleen Moore, Genevieve Tobin, Frank Morgan. Dir. J. Walter Ruben. Rel. March 16.

This Man Is Mine. To preserve her marriage a young wife virtually hurls her husband into the arms of his first love. Irene Dunne, Constance Cummings, Ralph Bellamy, Kay Johnson. Dir. John Cromwell. 75 mins. Rel. April 13. Rev. April 17.

Two Alone. An orphan girl and a young boy who escaped from a reformatory fall in love and try to escape the inhuman farmer who keeps them enslaved on his farm. Jean Parker, Zasu Pitts, Tom Brown, Arthur Byron, Nydia Westman, Beulah Bondi, Willard Robertson, Emerson Tracy. Dir, Elliott Nugent. Rel. Jan. 5, 1934. Rev. April 10.

Where Sinners Meet. An eloping couple have a break-down in their car and spend the night in an unusual hotel where the host, a philosopher, shows them the error of their way. Clive Brook, Diana Wynyard, Reginald Owen, Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Gilbert Emery. Dir. J. Walter Ruben. Rel. May 18.

Wild Cargo. Frank Buck's expedition into the Asiatic jungles to capture wild animals. Frank Buck. Dir. Armand Denis. Rel. April 6.

United Artists

Office: 729 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y.

Advice to the Lovelorn. Romance and adventures of reporter who edits the agony column and eventually exposes the drug racket. Dir Alfred Werker. Rel. Dec. 1. Rev. Dec. 19.

Affairs of Cellini, The. The love life of Benvenuto Cellini. Fredric March, Constance Bennett, Frank Morgan, Fay Wray. (No date set.)

Born to Be Bad. Story of a woman apparently destined by circumstances to be always wicked in spite of herself. Loretta Young, Cary Grant, Paul Harvey. Dir. Lowell Sherman. Rel. May 18.

Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back. Further adventures in crime solution. Ronald Colman, Loretta Young, Warner Oland, Charles Butterworth, Una Merkel. (No date set.)

Catherine the Great. The story of Russia's greatest ruler. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Elizabeth Bergner, Flora Robson, Griffiths Jones. Dir. Paul Czinner. 93 mins. Rel. April 13. Rev. Feb. 20.

Count of Monte Cristo, The. The famous romantic old classic of the French nobleman's struggle with his adversaries. Robert Donat, Elissa Landi, Louis Calhern. Dir. Rowland V. Lee.

Gallant Lady. An unwed mother who pays the price of silence in order to be near her child. Dir. Gregory La Cava. Ann Harding, Clive Brook, Otto Kruger, Tullio Carminati. 82 mins. Rel. Jan. 5. Rev. Jan. 23.

House of Rothschild, The (20th Cent.). Strong drama of the great financial house. George Arliss, Boris Karloff, Loretta Young. Dir. Alfred Werker. 94 mins. Rel. April 6. Rev. March 20.

Last Gentleman, The. Shrewd and elderly millionaire cleverly foils the plans of his children to chisel his money away. George Arliss, Edna May Oliver, Janet Beecher and Ralph Morgan. Dir. Sidney Lanfield. (No date set.)

Looking for Trouble. Thrills in the lives of telephone linesmen, with a couple of love stories on the side. Spencer Tracy, Jack Oakie, Constance Cummings, Arline Judge. Dir. Wm. Wellman. 77 mins. Rel. March 9. Rev. April 17.

Moulin Rouge. A talented wife proves her ability by a clever impersonation ruse. Dir. Sidney Lanfield. Constance Bennett, Franchot Tone, Tullio Carminati. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 19. Rev. Feb. 13.

Nana. Adapted from the Zola novel with Sam Goldwyn's new star, Anna Sten. Phillips Holmes, Mae Clark, Lionel Atwill, Rich. Bennett. Dir. Dorothy Arzner. 87 mins. Rel. Mar. 2. Rev. Feb. 6.

Palooka. The son of a prizefighter follows in his father's footsteps. Dir. Benjamin Stoloff. Jimmie Durante, Stuart Erwin, Lupe Velez. Rel. Jan. 26. Rev. March 6.

Private Life of Don Juan. Somebody insinuates to the great legendary lover that all his conquests really didn't love him—so he gathers them around and puts the question to the test. Douglas Fairbanks, Merle Oberon, Benita Hume, Elsa Lanchester. Dir. Alex Korda. (No date.)

Roman Scandals. A town simpleton transported in a dream back to the grandeur that was Rome. Dir. Frank Tuttle. Eddie Cantor, Ruth Etting, Gloria Stuart. 91 mins. Rel. Dec. 29.

Sorrell & Son. An epic of the love between father and son. H. B. Warner, Peter Penrose, Hugh Williams, Winifred Shotter. Dir. Jack Raymond. Rel. April 20.

Universal

Studios: Universal City, Calif. Offices: 730 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.

Affairs of a Gentleman. Drama. Paul Lukas, Lelia Hyams, Patricia Ellis, Onslow Stevens, Lillian Bond. Dir. Edwin L. Marion. Rel. June 18.

Beloved. Musical, John Boles, Gloria Stuart. Dir. V. Schertzinger. Rel. Jan. 29. Rev. Jan. 30.

Bombay Mail. Edmund Lowe Production. Dir. Ed. Marin. Jan. 9.

Black Cat, The. Mystery. Karloff, Bela Lugosi, David Manners. Wilmer. Rel. May 7.

By Candlelight. Sophisticated comedy-drama. Paul Lukas, Elissa Landi, Asther, Esther Ralston. Dir. James Whale. 70 mins. Rel. Dec. 18. Jan. 9.

Counsellor at Law. Drama. John Barrymore, Bebe Daniels. Wm. Wyler. Rel. Dec. 25. Rev. Dec. 12.

Countess of Monte Cristo. Drama. Fay Wray, Paul Lukas, Paul Page, Carmel Meyere, Reginald Owen. Rel. March 19. Rev. April 3.

Cross Country Cruise. Comedy-drama. Lew Ayres, June Knight, Alice White, Dir. Eddie Buzzell. 79 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. Jan. 23.

Crosby Case, The. Drama. Wynne Gibson, Onslow Stevens, William Collier, Rel. March 5. Rev. April 3.

Embarrassing Moments. Comedy-drama. Chester Morris, Marion Ixon, Dir. Ed. Laemmle. Rel. May 14.

Funny Thing Called Love. Comedy. Charles Morris, Andy Divine, Lois Janery, Frank Craven. Dir. Curt Neumann. Rel. June 25.

Glamour. Comedy-drama. Constance Cummings, Paul Lukas. Ir. William Wyler. 75 mins. Rel. April 9. Rev. May 15.

Gun Justice. Western. Ken Maynard. Rel. Dec. 18. Rev. April 3.

Half a Sinner. Drama. Joel McCrea, Sally Blane, Buster Churchill. Dir. Kurt Neumann. Rel. April 30.

Honor of the Range. Western. Ken Maynard. Ir. Alan James. 60 mins. Rel. April 16. Rev. May 1.

Her First Mate. Comedy. Summerville-Pitts. Dir. Wm. Wyler. Rev. Sept. 5.

Horse Play. Comedy. Summerville-Devine. Rev. March 13.

I Like It That Way. Musical. Rodger Pryor, Gloria Stuart. Ir. Harry Lachman. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 12. Rev. April 24.

I'll Tell the World. Comedy. Lee Tracy, Gloria Stuart, Roger Pryor, Edwin Sedgwick. 76 mins. Rel. April 16. Rev. April 24.

Invisible Man, Mystery-drama. Claude Rains, Gloria Stuart, Henry Travers, Una O'Connor. Dir. James Whale. 70 mins. Rel. Nov 13. Rev. Nov 21.

Let's Be Ritzy. Comedy-drama. Lew Ayres, Patricia Ellis, Frank McHugh, Isabelle Jewell, Hedda Hopper. Dir. Edward Ludwig. Rel. March 26.

Little Man, What Now? Drama. Margaret Sullavan, Douglass Montgomery. Dir. Frank Borzage. Rel. May 21.

Love Captive. Ioria Stuart. Max Marcin. Rel. June 4.

Love Birds. Comedy. Ilm Summerville, Zasu Pitts. Dir. Wm. Selter.

Madame Spy. Drama. Fay Wray, Nils Asther. Dir. Karl Kreund. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 8. Rev. Feb. 13.

Midnight. Drama. Sidney Fox, Henry Hull. Erskine. Rel. Jan. 22. Rev. March 13.

Myrt and Marge. Musical. Myrtle Vail, Donna Domerli, Healy, Grace Hayes, J. Farrell MacDonald Dir. Al Rel. Dec. 11. Rev. Jan. 23.

Smoking Guns. Western. Ken Maynard. Rel. June 11.

Poor Rich, The. Comedy. Edna May Oliver, Edward Everett Ed. Sedgwick. 76 mins. Rel. Feb. 26. Rev. May 15.

Uncertain Lady. Comedy-drama. Genevieve Tobin, Edward E. Horton. Dir. Karl Freund. Rel. April 23.

Wheels of Destiny. Western. Ken Maynard. Dir. Alan James. Rel. Feb. Rev. April 3.

Warner Brothers

Studios: Offices: 321 W. 44th St., New York N.

As the Earth Turns. Epic in the romance of American life and a revelation of the character of the New England farmer taken from the story of Gladys Hasty Carroll. Jean Muir, Donald Woods, Dorothy Peterson. Dir. Alfred E. Green. 73 mins. Rel. April 14. Rev. April 17.

Disraeli. Political drama of England. George Arliss Joan Benn Alfred Green. 88 mins. Re-rel. Dec. 16.

Easy to Love. A frothy farce. Adolphe Menjou. Genevieve Tobin. Mary Astor, Guy Kibbee, Edward Everett Horton Dir William Keighley. 61 mins. Rel. Jan. 20 Rev. Jan. 16.

Friends of Mr. Sweeney. Comedy-drama of the browbeaten husband who turns the big trick for his newspaper. Charlie Ruggles, Ann Dvorak, Eugene Pallette, Dorothy Tree. Dir. Edward Ludwig. Rel. July 7.

From Headquarters. A crime drama with a murder committed right in quarters. George Brent, Margaret Lindsay and Eugene Pallette William Dieterle. 63 mins. Rel. Dec. 2 Rev

Gambling Lady. Based on the drama by Doris Malloy of a gambling who is such a sport she is willing to sacrifice her love to save her band from a murder charge. Barbara Stanwyck. Joel McCrea, O'Brien, Claire Dodd. Dir. Archie Mayo. 66 mins. Rel. March 31. April 10

Harold Teen. Hilarious comedy romance which brings to life on the screen the characters of Carl Ed's comic strip. Hal LeRoy, Rochelle Hudson, Patricia Ellis, Guy Kibbee. Dir. Murray Roth. 66 mins. Rel. April 7.

Heat Lightning. Thrilling romance of desert love and hate, based on the Broadway stage hit by Leon Abrams and George Abbott. Aline Mac-Mahon, Ann Dvorak, Lyle Talbot, Preston Foster. Dir. Mervyn LeRoy. 63 mins. Rel. March 3. Rev. March 13.

He Was Her Man. Action melodrama of the gal who double-crossed herself in love when her past came back. James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Frank Craven, Harold Huber. Dir. Lloyd Bacon. Rel. June 6.

Hi, Nellie. Comedy-drama of a newspaper love courmont Pau Muni, Glenda Farrell, Kathryn Sergava. Dir. Mervyn Le Roy. Rel. Jan. 20. Rev. Feb. 6.

House On 56th Street. Drama of a gambling lady. Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez, Gene Raymond, Margaret Lindsay and Frank McHugh Dir. Robert Florey. 68 mins. Rel. Dec 23 Rev. Dec. 5.

Isle of Fury. Fighting for love while the Sinn Fein and the Black and Tan crossfire during the Irish trouble. From the London stage success. 'The Key.' William Powell, Edna Best, Colin Clive, Henry O'Neill. Dir. Michael Curtiz. Rel. June 6.

I've Got Your Number. Rowdy, rollicking story of the telephone trouble hunter who finds it. Joan Blondell, Pat O'Brien. Dir. Kay Enright 7 mins. Rel. Feb. 4. Rev. Feb. 6.

Jimmy the Gent. Hilarious comedy romance based on the story by Laird Doyle and Ray Nazarro, which reveals a new kind of racket, that of digging up heirs. James Cagney, Bette Davis, Allen Jenkins. Dir. Michael Curtiz. 67 mins. Rel. March 17. Rev. March 27.

Lady Killer. Jimmy Cagney bats 'em around again. Jas. Cagney, Mae Cl Leslie Fenton. Dir. Roy Del Ruth. 67 mins. Rel. Dec. 5. Rev Jan.

Merry Wives of Reno. Comedy-farce of the Reno divorce mill in Margaret Lindsay, Donald Woods, Guy Kibbee, Glenda Farrell, Herbert and Frank McHugh. Dir. H. Bruce Humberstone. 64 Rel. May 12.

Modern Hero, A. Based on the novel by Louis Bromfield, opening with the gay romance of circus life and carrying the hero through tremendous financial battles to a captain of industry. Richard Barthelmess. 70 mins. Jean Muir, Gloria Rambeau, Verree Teasdale. Dir. G. W. Pabst. Rel. April 21. Rev. April 24.

Smarty. Comedy of the wife who wanted to commute between husbands. Joan Blondell, Warren William, Edward E. Horton, Frank McHu h and Claire Dodd. Dir. Robert Florey. 64 mins. Rel. May 26.

Upperworl Drama by Ben Hecht dealing with a millionaire's adventures with a chorus girl. Warren William, Mary Astor, Ginger Rogers, Dickie Moore. Dir. Roy Del Ruth. Rel. April 28.

When Tomorrow Comes. Drama of woman who tries to help her hubby's girl friend. Kay Francis, Warren William, Jean Muir, Verree Teasdale. Dir. William Keighly. Rel. June 23.

Miscellaneous Releases

Ariane. (Blue Ribbon.) British made story of a woman who pretends sophistication to win her love. Elizabeth Bergner, Percy Marmont. Dir. Paul Czinner. 80 mins. Rel. April 1.

Big Race, The. (Showmen.) Race track story. Boots Mallory, John Darrow. Dir. Fred Newmeyer. 62 mins. Rev. March 6.

Cheaters (Liberty). Paroled convicts find love through crookedness. Bill Boyd, June Collyer, Dorothy Mackaill. Dir. Phil Rosen. 65 mins. Rev. May 15.

Cri inal at Large. (Helber.) Edgar Wallace mystery story, British made. British cast. 74 mins. Rev. Dec. 27.

rums o' Voodo (International). All-Negro cast in screen version of stage play 'Louisiana.' Dir. Arthur Hoerl. 70 mins. Rel. May 7. Rev. May 15.

Enlighten Thy Daughter. (Exploitation.) Warning to parents. Remade from a silent. 75 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. Feb. 20.

Found Alive. (Ideal.) Jungle story. Barbara Bedford, Maurice Murphy. Dir. Chas. Hutchinson. Rel. Feb. 10. Rev. April 17.

Guilty Parents. (Jay Dee Kay.) Sex education story. Jean Lacy, Glen Boles. Dir. Jack Townley. 53 mins. Rev. April 10.

Ired Wife. (Pinnacle.) Man hires a bride to get a fortune and falls in love with her. Greta Nissen, Weldon Heyburn. Dir. Geo. Melford. 60 mins. Rev. March 13.

Love Past Thirty. (Monarch.) Beauty parlor rejuvenation for a faded fiancee. Alleen Pringle, Theodor von Eltz, Phyllis Barry. Dir. Vin. Moore. 60 mins. Rev. March 13.

The. (Showmen's.) Sally O'Neill astray in New Orleans. Dir. Fred. Newmeyer. 64 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. April 17.

Marriage on Approval. (Monarch.) In which a girl gets married in the first reel and finds it out in the last. Barbara Kent, Donald Dillaway. Dir Howard Higgin. Rev. Jan. 9.

Public Stenographer. Title tells the story. Lola Lane, Wm. Collier, Jr. Dir. Lew Collins. Rev. Jan. 30.

mins. Rev. Nov. 21.

Trapeze. (Protex.) Anna Sten's first German picture, dubbed in English. 65 mins. Rel. Feb. Rev. Feb. 20.

What's Your Racket. (Showmen.) Familiar gangster frameup. Regis Toomey, Noel Francis. Dir. Fred Guiol. 50 mins. Rel. Jan. Rev. March 6.

Wine, Women and Song. (Chadwick.) Lilyan Tashman's last picture. Backstage story. Lilyan Tashman, Lew Cody. Dir. Leon D'Usseau. 64 mins. Rev. March 27.

Woman Unafraid. (Goldsmith.) Story of a policewoman. Lucille Gleason, Skeets Gallagher. Dir. W. J. Cowen. 68 mins. Rev. April 24.

Foreign Language Films

Because of the slow movement of foreign films, this list covers one year of releases.)

(Most of these available with English titles.)

leu Les Beaux Jours (Fr) (Ufa). Greek romance. Brigitte Helm. Dir. Andre Beucler and Johannes Meyer. 90 mins. Rel. April 15. Rev. May 1.

Iraune (Ger) (Capitol). Test tube babies. rigitte Helm. Dir. Richard Oswald. 70 mins. Rel. May 1.

Bettelstudent, Der. (General.) (Ger.) Operetta. Dir. Viktor 80 mins. Rel. Oct. 15.

Blonde Christl, Die (Ger) (Bavaria). Musical. Karin Hardt. ranz Seitz. 75 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

Broken Shoes (Russ) (Amkino). Child reaction to politics. Anti-Hitler. Dir. Margarita Barskaya. 80 mins. Rel. March 15. Rev. April 3.

Chalutzim (Hebrew) (Acme). First talker made in Palestine. Dir. Alexander Ford. 70 mins. Rel. March 15.

iudad de Carton, La (Sp) (Fox). Drama of marital relations. Antonio Moreno, Catalina Barcena. Dir. Louis King. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

rown of Thorns (inematrade) (Ger) (Dubbed Eng.). Biblical drama. Dir. Robert Wiene. 70 mins. Rel. March 15.

ruz y La Espada, La (Sp) (Fox). Historical romance. Jose Mojica. Dir. Frank Strayer. 75 mins. Rel. Feb 1.

Deux Orphelins, Les (Fr) (Blue Ribbon) Costume melodrama. Yvette Guilbert. Dir. Maurice Tourneur. 30 mins. Rel. Feb. 1. Rev. Feb. 15

ream of My People, The (Jewish) (Palestine). Silent travelog of Palestine with records by Cantor Rosenblatt. Dir. Jos. Fox. 60 mins. Rel.-Feb 15.

in Gewisser Herr ran (Ger) (Capital). Spy drama. Hans Albers. Dir. Gerhard Lamprecht 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

Ind Stadt Steht Kopf (Ger) (Capita.) Farce. Dir. Gustav Gruendgens. 70 mins. Rel. Oct. 15.

ines Einzer Junge Liebe (Ger.) (Ufa). Romantic comedy. Willy Fritsch. Dir. Artur Robinson. 80 mins. Rel March 15.

En tag Gutt (Norwegian) (Scandinavian). From Bjornson's novel. h John Brunius 80 mins. Rel. Nov. ir.

Enemies of Progress (Russ) (Amkino) Last of the Czarist gen ir. Beresnyeff 85 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. Jan. 16.

Es Wird Schon Wieder Besser (Ger) (Ufa) Farce. Dolly Haas. Dir Kurt Gerron. 65 mins. Rel. Jan.

Feldherrnhuegel, Der (Ger) (Bavarian). Military comedy. Betty Bird. ir. Eugen T. Tiele. 70 mins. Rel. April 15.

Frau Lehman's Tochter (Ger) (General) Dir Karl Heinz Wolff 82 mins Rel. Oct

Fraulein—Falsch Verbunden (Ger) (Capital). Musical comedy. Trude mmer. Dir. E. W. Emo. 76 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Freudens, Der (Ger) (Ufa). Romantic comedy Willy Fritsch. illa Horn Dir Carl Boese. 75 mins. Rel. Jan. 1.

Galavorstellung, Die (Ger) (General). Mystery comedy with music. Max Adalbert, the Fratellinis. Dir. Fredrich Zelnik. 87 mins. Rel. Dec. 1.

in Uniform (dubbed English) (Ger) (Filmcholce). Dorothea Wieck and Hertha Thiele. Dir. Richard Oswald. 80 mins. Rel. March 1.

Iueckszylinder, Der (Ger) (Capital). Boarding house romance. Felix Bressart, Charlotte Anders. Dir. Rudolf Bernauer. 75 mins. Rel. March 1.

rosse Attraction, Die (Bavaria) (Ger.). Drama is show bis Richard Tauber Dir. Max Reichmann 70 mins. Rel. Aug.

idd... Omolster Uwe Karsten (Ger) (Ufa). Nazi back to the farm propaganda. Olga Tschechowa. Dir. Carl Heins Wolff. 70 mins. Rel. April 15.

Heil on Earth (Ger) (Garrison) in five languages. Horrors of war Dir. Victor Trivas. 80 mins. Jan. 15. Rev. Feb. 6.

Heiseleit, Der (Ger) (General) Max Adalbert. Dir Eugen Thiele Rel Sept. 1

Heute Nacht Eventuell (Ger) Musical comedy Dir. A. W. Emo 80 mins Rel July 1

Hochtourist, Der (Ger) (Ufa) Romantic comedy Otto Wallburg. Dir Alfred Zeisler. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Ich G aub Nie Mehr Eine Frau (Bavaria) (Ger.). Life of a sailor. Richard Tauber Dir H. Reichmann. 80 mins Rel. Oct. 1. Rev. Oct. 24.

... die Millionen (Ger) (Ufa). Romantic crook drama. Brigitte Helm. 85 mins. Dir. Erich Engel. Rel. April 15.

Island of Doom (Russ) (Amkino) Two men and a woman on a desert isle Dir Timoshenko. 90 mins. Rel July 15. Rev. July 18.

Ja Treu ist Die Soldatenliebe (Ger) (Capital). Military comedy romance. Ir. Georg Jacoby. 70 mins. Rel. May 1.

Juarez Y Maximiliano (Sp) (Col). Mexican royalty's fall. Miguel Torres. 80 mins. Rel. May 1.

July 14 (Protex) (French). Sentiment to music. Dir. ...ait 75 mins. Rel. Oct. 15. Rev. Oct. 24.

Lachende Erben (Ger.) (Ufa). Farce. Max Ophuls 77 mins. Rel. Nov. 15.

Lausbubenliebe (Ger.) (General) Max 1 May 15 Rev. June 6.

Laughter Through Tears (Yiddish) Worldkino). From a Sholom Aleichem novel. Dir. Jo Critcher 73 mins. Rel. Nov. 15. Rev. Nov. 21.

Lockende Ziel, Das (Ger.) (Bavaria). Musical. Richard Tauber. Reichmann 85 mins. Rel. June 15. Rev. June 20.

Liebe Muss Verstanden Sein (Ger.) (Ufa). Comedy drama with music. Ir. Hans Steinhoff. Rel. March 15.

ling von Wien, Der (Ger) (European) Stolz musical. Willy Forst. Dir Geza von Bolvary 75 mins Rel. June 1 Rev. June 13.

Luegen auf Ruegen (Ger) (General). Farce. Otto Waliburg. Viktor Janssen. 80 mins. Rel Dec. 15.

Lustigen Musikanten, Die. (General) (Ger.) Musical illa Spira Dir Max Obal 80 mins. Rel. May 30.

sterdetektiv, Der (Ger) (Bavaria). Mystery satire. Ir. Frank Seitz. 75 mins. Rel. Feb. 1.

Melodia Prohibida (Sp) (Fox). Musical fantasy. Jose Mojica. Ir. Frank Strayer. 70 mins. Rel. March 15.

Mady (General) (French). Sequel to Three Musketeers. la- mant-Berger. 126 mins. Rel. Sept. 1. Rev. Sept. 12.

Ile. Nitouche (French) (Protex). Charming love story. Raf Dir. Chas David. 90 mins Rel. Nov. 15.

Moj Wujaszek z Ameryki (Polish) (Capital). ins. Rel. Oct. 15.

Mutter Der Kompagnie, Die (Ger) (Bavaria). Military farce. Weiss-Ferdl. Betty Bird. 70 mins. Dir. Franz Seitz. Rel. March 1.

Parada Rezerwistow (Polish) (Capital). Military musical. Dir. Michael Waszynski. 75 mins. Rel. May 1.

Patriots, The (Russ) (Amkino). Dir. B. Barnett. 80 mins. Rel. Sept. 15.

Petterson & Bendel (Swedish) (Scandinavian). Comedy-drama with music. Dir. Peri-Axel Branner. 80 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

Quick, Koenig der Clowns (Ufa) (Ger). Comedy. Lilian Harvey, Hans Albers. Dir. Robert Slodmak. 80 mins. Rel. Dec. 1.

Hillstreet Doubles May Bring on New L.A. Boxoffice Tiff

Los Angeles, May 21.

Downtown boxoffice battle threatens again as a result of RKO's decision to institute a double feature policy in its deluxe Hillstreet, starting June 1. Move is expected to force Warners and Fox West Coast to adopt similar policies in their downtown acers, and will probably bring a retaliation move by Mike Rosenberg, head of Principal Theatres, who is expected to throw the Orpheum, with its dual pix and five acts of vaude, into a 15c. grind.

Warners and Loew's State now charge a 55c. top for straight single pix programs. RKO Hillstreet has been maintaining a 40c. top with the same policy, and would continue that price under its dual policy.

Subsequent run houses in the downtown sector are also expected to figure in any price cutting that may result from the new Hillstreet policy.

RKO's move at this time, when southern California exhibs are waging a bitter fight to eliminate duals and return to single features, is regarded by those exhibs as likely to prove disastrous to their project, and pressure is being brought to bear on RKO execs, here and in New York, to induce them to hold off on the Hillstreet.

U's Cinema Course

Syracuse, May 21.

'To give the student a cultural approach to the cinema in its several manifestations,' Syracuse University will introduce a course in cinema appreciation in its dramatic department next September.

Course is being prepared and will be taught by Prof. Sawyer Falk, extrouper.

INDIANA FINALLY GIVES IN

Indianapolis, May 21.

After a dizzying cycle of policy changes under the direction of I. M. Halperin, operating for Katz-Feld, the big 3,100-seat Indiana is scheduled for shutters May 27.

House has seen every known policy change since first of the year. Stage shows were in and out, both units and vaude; prices were upped and lowered; every day but Monday and Tuesday was tried for opening; double feature was the last resort.

Saison in Kairo (German) (Ufa). Musical comedy. Renate Mueller, Willy Fritsch. Dir. Reinhold Schunzel. 80 mins. Rel. Dec. 15. Rev. Dec. 25.

Sang d'un Poete (Fr) (Ricci). Jean Cocteau's idea of modern films. 60 mins. Rel. Nov. 1. Rev. Nov. 7.

Schicksal der Renate Langen (Ger) (General). Domestic drama. Mady Christians, Frans Lederer. Dir. Felix Guenther. 70 mins. Rel. Oct. 15.

Simple Tailor (Russ) (Amkino. Drama of Jewish life. Silent with sound track. Dir. V. Vilner. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

Sobre Las Olas (Mex.) (Latino). Historical romance. Dir. Ramon Peon. 70 mins. Rel. March 15.

Serment, Le (Fr.) (Protex). Heavy drama of love. Dir. Abel 90 mins. Rel. March 1. Rev. March 20.

Sohn Der Weissen Berge (Capital) (Ger.). Alpine drama. Luis Trenker, Renate Mueller. Dir. Mario Bonnard. 75 mins. Rel. Oct. 15.

Sombra do Pancho Villa (Sp) (Col). Life of the Mexican bandit chief. Dir. M. C. Torres. 70 mins. Rel. March 1.

Spy, The (Polish) (Capital). Drama. 80 mins. Rel. March 1.

Stern von Valencia, Der (Ger) (Ufa). White slave traffic in Europe. Liane Haid. Dir. Alfred Zeisler. Rel. April 15.

Storch Hat Uns Getraut, Der (Ger.) (General). Lil Dagover. Dir. Herman Kosterlitz. 80 mins. Rel. Nov. 15.

Tannenburg (Ger) (European). Military drama. Hans Stuwe. Heinz Paul. 85 mins. Rel. March 15.

Tante Gusti Kommandiert (Ger). Romantic comedy. Hansi Max Adalbert. Dir. Carl Heinz Wolff. 70 mins. Rel. May 1.

Tausend fur Eine Nacht (Ger) (Capital). Farce. Trude Berliner. Dir. Max Mack. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 1.

Tochter Der Regimenta, Die (Ger) (General). Military musical. Anny Ondra. Dir. Karl Lamac. 70 mins. Rel. April 1.

Trenck (Ger) (General). Military drama. Dorothea Wieck. Hans Paul and Ernst Neubach. 80 mins. Rel. April 1.

Traum von Schonbrunn (Ger.) (General). Musical. Martha Eggerth. Johannes Meyer. 85 mins. Rel. May 15. Rev. June 6.

Und es Leuchtet die Puszta (Ger) (Ufa). Musical romance. Wolf Retty. Dir. Heinz Hille. 80 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Verkaufte Braut (Ger) (Kinematrade). Smetana's operetta diluted. Jamila Novotna. Dir. Max Ophuls. 80 mins. Rel. April 15. Rev. May 1.

Vi Som Gar Kokevagen (Swedish) (Scandinavian). Musical. Rel. April 15.

Volga Volga (Fr.) (dubbed English) (Kinematrade). Adventure of a Cossack Robin Hood. 70 mins. Rel. Dec. 15. Rev. Dec. 25.

Wandering Jew (Jewish American) (Yiddish). Terror of Hitler regime. Ben Ami. Dir. George Roiland. 70 mins. Rel. Oct. 15. Rev. Oct. 24.

Wie Sag ich's Meinen Man? (Ger) (Ufa). Farce. Renate Mueller. Dir. Reinhold Schuenzel. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Wenn Die Liebe Mode Macht (Ufa) (Ger). Comedy with music. Renate Mueller. Dir. Frank Wenzler. 80 mins. Rel. Nov. 1.

Yiskor (Yiddish) (Gloria). Revamp of silent. Maurice Schwartz. Dir. Sidney Goldin and George Roiland. 80 mins. Rel. May 15. Rev. June 6.

Zwei Gute Kameraden (Ger.) (General). Military musical. Fritz Kampers Dir. Max Obal. 75 mins. Rel. Nov. 15.

Key to Address

Acme, 56 East 14 St.
Amkino, 723 Seventh Ave.
Bavaria Film, 489 Fifth Ave.
Blue Ribbon Picts., 154 W. 55th.
Capital Film, 630 Ninth Ave.
DuWorld Films, 729 Seventh Ave.
Embassy Picts., 729 Seventh Ave.
European Film, 154 West 55th.
Filmcholce, 509 Madison Ave.
Garrison Films, 729 Seventh Ave.
General Foreign Sales, 729 7th Ave.
Gloria Films, 630 Ninth Ave.
Jewish American, 630 Ninth Ave.
Kinematrade, 723 Seventh Ave.
Protex Trading, 42 E. 58th.
Edward Ricci, 66 Fifth Ave.
Palestine-America Films, 189 2d Ave.
Scandinavian Films, 220 W. 42d.
Ufa, 729 Seventh Ave.
Worldkino, 1501 Broadway.

Film Reviews

THE BLACK CAT

(Continued from page 15)

couple temporarily caught in the manor. It is the playful notion of that nasty man, Karloff, to make the bride Exhibit A in a devil cult of which he is the head, and it is the final revenge of Lugosi just before dynamite destroys the whole manor and the cult, to torture his enemy by skinning him alive.

This skinning alive is not new. It was done in a Gouveneur Morris story, 'The Man Behind the Door,' filmed during the war. A truly horrible and nauseating bit of extreme sadism, its inclusion in a motion picture is dubious showmanship.

That devil-worshipping cult is also close to the border. It is glossed over, but it may be argued that it is not called by its right name and that the true nature of the rites is not disclosed. General public probably won't savez. Since the subject is too hot to handle anyway, it seems gratuitous to drag in a meaningless sequence that doesn't make sense without knowledge of the 'black mass' legends.

Corpses standing upright in glass cases and operating table murders are other tricks which the story uses. Edgar Allan Poe's name is used for publicity purposes. All that is used is the title which belongs to a Poe short story.

Karloff and Lugosi are sufficiently sinister and convincingly demented. Jacqueline Wells spends most of her footage in swoons.

Land.

BEYOND BENGAL

Harry Schenck production and Showmen's Pictures release. Animal film with chiefly native cast. Silent with sound narrative. No credits. At Gaiety, N. Y., starting May 16. Running time, 65 mins.

Wild animal feature with good box office potentialities. It isn't a big-timer, but will do for the houses it's likely to play. On double bills it should be a novel departure from the usual fare, at least.

A story that was intended to heighten the interest, but has contrary effect, makes most of the trouble. It tends to make the action incidental in too many spots, whereas at all time the animal studies should be on top because the animals, not the story, give the picture what value it possesses.

Two photographic highlights concern hand-to-hand combat by native guides with elephants and crocodiles. Crock stuff may have lost its sting for audiences through the Florida crocodile farm shots often contained in the newsreels, but in the pachyderm sequence this picture has a most interesting and thrilling spectacle.

Natives, skimming along on frail rafts, trail an elephant herd through a swamp. A few of the bulls turn on them, pitching them into the water; in a couple of spots the elephant appears to make a thorough job of it by trampling the men after spilling 'em into the water.

Crocodile sequence takes more footage than any other event and has been cut in to climax the jungle drama. It holds some real thrills, but not quite enough to warrant the attention paid. Natives are gobbled up by the ugly reptiles, sometimes in realistic fashion, at other times in a stagey manner. But all exceptionally well done.

Kids won't mind any of it, but the women are likely to find some bits too cruel. For instance, there's a gator devouring a cute and harmless little honey bear, and a python squeezing the life out of a small monkey. The close-up shooting of tigers and a leopard or two is also rather gory. Offscreen narrator goes out of his way to explain each killing as having been necessary and in self-defense, and his strenuous and repetitious effort to explain things only accentuates the doubt.

Harry Shenck made the picture and is the chief figure on the human side of the cast. There is a white woman, playing the role of a British scientist, in support, but not billed. Others are natives.

Picture was made in the jungles of the Malayan Peninsula. The 'cooperation' of Phra Abhaivongo, native potentate, is acknowledged.

Bige.

Very Honorable Guy

Warner Bros. production and release. Stars Joe E. Brown. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Story by Damon Runyon; adaptation, Earl Baldwin; photog, Ira Morgan. At Strand, Brooklyn, week May 17. Running time, 62 mins.

Feet Samuels	Joe E. Brown
Hortense	Alice White
Dr. Switzer	Robert Barrat
The Brain	Alan Dinehart
Toodles	Irene Franklin
Benny	Hobart Cavanaugh
Moon O'Hara	Arthur Vinton
Red	George Pat Collins
Joe	Harold Huber
O'Toole	James Donlan
Harry	Harry Warren
Al	Al Dubin

There are a couple laughs in this Joe E. Brown comedy but they'll have to be very attentive to get 'em. The Brown pan and actions go some distance in making up for the lack of situations and dialog, but on the whole the 62 minutes sums up a disappointing session.

Picture will need full support of Brown's fans to get anywhere. Supporting company headed by Alice White on the love interest isn't strong enough either, to help much.

'Honorable Guy' is first-running as half of a double bill at the Brooklyn Strand. Picture hasn't first-runned in New York as yet.

Again Brown does a sap who thinks himself a smart guy, but a guy whose word is his bond.

While story had possibilities it hasn't worked out that way.

Char.

Balto Store's Free Pix

Baltimore, May 21.

Latest entrant into town's exhib biz is The Hub, downtown dept. store, which has organized a mixed kids' club and is showing films free on Saturdays on an all-day grind basis from a 16mm. projection machine. Flix thus far have been limited to indie shorts and cartoons, together with results of screen tests taken by store of members of club. Tests are being made to select actors for a picturized pageant honoring Maryland's tercentenary year.

As yet the downtown houses haven't squawked about the free shows, but there is talk of registering a complaint.

Lawton Adds Two

Stanley Lawton, who recently turned the George M. Cohan, Broadway legit house, into a double feature grind, has taken over operation of the Mecca, at 14th street and Avenue A, N. Y., which has been closed, and has obtained the Prospect, the Bronx, under a lease.

Both will play duals.

PAN, H'WOOD, STICKUP

Hollywood, May 21.

Ira Darnell, assistant manager of the Pantages, and W. R. Quann, assistant treasurer, were held up in the office of the Hollywood theatre Sunday afternoon (20) at the point of revolvers and safe tapped for $720, Saturday's receipts.

Turner iscovers Columbus

Terry Turner has joined RKO in charge of RKO theatres in Columbus. Two spots in Columbus are in the division supervised by Nat Holt out of Cleveland.

Turner was the former supervising chief of RKO theatre advertising.

Massachusetts Legislature Votes News Equality to Yankee Web

Boston, May 21.

Marking a clear-cut victory for the Yankee Network News Service in its controversy with newspaper representatives at the Massachusetts State House, the Joint Committee on Rules of the House and Senate Thursday (May 18) a resolution introduced on April 30 by Rep. Craven of Boston which gives the radio news service footing with the press in the matter of gathering news at the State Capitol. The passing of this resolution eliminates the last stumbling block of the web's service, which during the last two months has had many.

Fight was precipitated when the State House Press Association voted to exclude the Yankee web representative from the use of the press room at the State House. Editor-in-Chief Dick Grant immediately went on the air asking for public support of his campaign to give listeners full news coverage by radio, and the support was quickly forthcoming. Rep. Craven filed his resolution as a result of the public clamor, and the public hearing before the Joint Rules Committee drew a record crowd.

Supporters of the Yankee network took the position that news is public property, and that since the State House Press Room is supported by the public it should be open to any legitimate newsgathering organization serving the public. Opposition from newspapermen was chiefly on the ground that if doesn't take the same type of facilities to gather news for radio as for the press, but the argument was not impressive.

Young, Rubicam Use Southern Local Talent

Fletcher's Castoria is supplementing its Wednesday night show, starring Albert Spalding, over CBS with a local campaign in the southern area. In all instances local talent will be used.

Programs to date have been contracted for on WSB, Atlanta; WCSC, Charleston, S. C., and WJAX, Jacksonville, Fla. On the latter two outlets it's two quarter-hour sessions a week for 13 weeks, while the Atlanta station is set for a Thursday night half-hour show over a period of 26 weeks.

Young and Rubicam is the agency.

BAR WCAU SPECIAL ELECTION RETURNS

Philadelphia, May 21.

Press-Radio Bureau nixed WCAU's attempt to air the Philly election returns from the Morning Record. Contact had been made by Leon Levy with J. David Stern's local sheet for news service from the paper, but sheet hesitated for the Bureau's okay, which wasn't forthcoming.

Station handled returns as a commercial hour show and snared news by setting up a direct wire in the Democratic headquarters, while one or two other sheets in Philly furnished returns on the Republican side on the q.t.

It is expected that the difficulties which arose out of Tuesday's election radio broadcasts may culminate in some arrangement by WCAU for news facilities.

MILLS BROS. PROLONG STAY

Mills Bros., who left for the other side April 28, have had their bookings in Europe extended to August 1.

Original deal was for four weeks, which would have wound up the team's stay June 2.

Reversing Greeley

San Francisco, May 21.

Four Coast defenders have left for New York and Radio City, leaving the local NBC headquarters in favor of berths back there. It's an outgrowth of invitations extended at one time or another by M. H. Aylesworth and Richard C. Patterson Jr., of the network.

Nelson Case bowed out of the announcing staff this week to pack his wife and two youngsters off to the big town. He's succeeded by Harlan McCoy. M. O. Smith and Ernest Wilmshurst have transferred from the Coast technical department to that of the network in New York. Fourth, also a technician, Jerry Williams, left several weeks ago.

OPPOSE CHANGE IN ENGINEER SCALE

Washington, May 21.

Further changes in wage and hour provisions of broadcast code relating to studio engineers were opposed last week by Radio Broadcast Code Authority by a vote of 6 to 2. Supplemental report discussing working conditions of technicians was filed with NRA, completing study of this question ordered by President Roosevelt and Gen. Hugh Johnson.

Recalling that their previous report showed 11.9% gain in number of technicians, 9.8% cut in hours and 21.1% jump in payrolls, codists concluded:

'Since (1) the effect of the code has been to materially increase the employment of broadcast technicians, to materially shorten their hours and increase their pay; (2) the full effect of this increase was not disclosed in the report, but has been augmented by subsequent adjustments; (3) the industry is now employing more technicians at greater aggregate salaries than ever before in the industry's history.

'And since any further reduction in the hours of labor or any increase in the minimum wages paid broadcast technicians, in the opinion of the Code Authority, will oppress and may eliminate small radio broadcasting enterprises and will tend to promote monopolies, we recommend that no changes be made in the wage and hour provisions of the code.'

This conclusion was approved by John Sheppard, 3d, John Elmer, James W. Baldwin, Isaac Z. Buckwalter, M. R. Runyon and Frank M. Russell, and opposed by Edward N. Nockles and Marion H. Hedges, with Alfred J. McCosker and James Kiernan absent.

Outlining detailed nature of duties and responsibilities of six different categories of engineers, codists discussed in question-and-answer form the qualifications required, and work of chain and station technicians, concluding that the present system of licensing is inadequate and that the present license grading system could not be used as a basis for regrouping broadcast engineers for code purposes and wage classifications.

This portion of the report was criticized by Shepard, Runyon and Buckwalter in two minority reports, which pointed out that no exhaustive survey was conducted along these lines. Shepard and Runyon observed that the conclusions are directly in conflict with existing conditions, classifications are inaccurate, qualifications listed are erroneous, report lacks clarity, is misleading, and has been hurriedly compiled, while Buckwalter said that report should be submitted as statement by Baldwin rather than views of whole C.A. All three agreed with majority, however, that under existing conditions it is impossible to adopt practical classifications accurately describing duties and responsibilities of engineers.

Seth Parker Will Shoot A South Seas Film

Phillips Lord, better known as Seth Parker, is scheduled to star in another picture, 'Destination Unknown,' to be made in the West Indies. Lord is in Caribbean waters aboard his schooner on a proposed round-the-world trip.

Arcturus Pictures is mentioned as the producer, Herrick Herrick as director and Alice Wessler as leading woman of the proposed film. Three years ago, Lord starred in a feature for Radio Pictures, NBC affiliate.

KOTEX'S RIVAL TRYING RADIO

Modess is due to make its bow on the air within the next month, using local talent in several spots already selected for a series of 15-minute programs. In each case a registered nurse will be engaged to do the reading of the plug.

Programs will be so scheduled in the morning that they will get the housewife listener after the men in the family have gone off to work and the kids dispatched to school. Account may later on extend its campaign to recorded affairs.

Kotex, rival product, has unsuccessfully been trying to find a satisfactory program idea for years.

LOWE SHELL'S AGAIN

Hollywood, May

Edmund Lowe goes back on the Coast NBC Shell Show tonight (21) in the feature spot.

He'll have the lead in a one-acter, 'Private Jones,' written by Richard Schayer, which was once a play and then picturized.

NBC Returns to Band Booking

Better Outlook and Profits Taken by CBS Prompt Dept. Revival

NBC is returning to the band booking business. According to plans currently under discussion the network will within the next two months set up in the artists' bureau a separate staff devoted to the selling and booking of dance combos.

Motivating the web in its resumption of a sideline that it dropped almost two years ago are two factors. One is its belief that the improvement in general conditions has immeasurably bettered the money outlook for bands, with the result that they can be sold at prices broad enough to bring NBC sizeable commissions. Other persuasive element has to do with the report that the Columbia Artists' Bureau has for the first four months of 1934 brought that network over $100,000 net profit from its band placement business.

Actuated by this harvest, CBS has recently proceeded to expand the latter phase by adding a couple band bookers in the New York office and assigning Ralph Wonders, bureau manager, to re-establish a band booking staff in Chicago.

At the present time NBC is not booking a single dance aggregation. Before it quit the field the network had eight bands going out of Chicago and allied with it through the New York office such units as Paul Whiteman, Russ Columbo, Buddy Rogers, and Bill Scotti. NBC has no understanding with the Music Corporation of America that would prevent it from going into competition with that organization. There is a possibility that the Lombardos will with the completion of their contract with MCA, this summer, swing their management.

Inside Stuff—Radio

Last week's issue of VARIETY included a special section dedicated to Rudy Vallee as 'An American Institution'. It was an unusual section for this or any other paper.

Such a gesture within a trade, business or profession speaks for itself. So far as Tin Pan Alley is concerned, its appreciation to Vallee is offset by Vallee's self-acknowledged and oft-repeated statement that if it weren't for the music men's songs he would be without a source of income. It is this manifestation of respect and regard by a performer for the services rendered him by the song-makers which makes sincere the Tin Pan Alley salute. And as significant were the sundry others who collaborated—the artists, tradesmen, NBC network, songwriters, instrument makers, et al.

Vallee's survival, in lieu of radio's element of speedy demise, brought about the professional salvo to Vallee as 'An American Institution'. Various reasons are quoted within the trade for this but the one which carries the most weight, and seems more logical than the others, points to headwork.

It has been some time since Vallee has forced himself down front on his broadcasts and the inauguration of his variety hour, in which he has stayed behind rather than in front of the program, has unquestionably had much to do with sustaining his position. Both the implied modesty of this deportment and the graciousness with which Vallee introduces his co-workers or his songs, and the tact, not only strikes a responsive chord generally, but with show people in particular. And the latter group has never been easy to convince on professional generosity gestures before an audience. They're always looking for the 'catch' but there doesn't seem to be any in Vallee's case. It's merely something he has worked out for himself in a highly competitive field, apparently enjoys doing it and it comes under the head of something business men recognize as 'good will'.

Crosby Gaige's Radio theatre, which had primed for the Broadway theatre on 53d street and Broadway, N. Y., hasn't as yet materialized. It may although it hasn't gotten beyond the estimating stage.

Gaige's idea is the last word in a mating of commercial radio and the visible audience. It's primed for a grind, with the theatre rostrum as a visible broadcast studio to feed into all stations, depending on which picks up the program. Thus there would be a permanent installation from all stations into the Broadway theatre.

The technical estimates given Gaige for the Broadway proved that the new 'directional mikes' would circumvent any necessity for a glass curtain or difficulties in pickups, sans audience noises, since these sensitive mikes can be switched to pick up only what they are directed at, hence the name, 'directional microphones'.

Gaige planned the Radio theatre as a constant feeding source for any and all types of radio stations. Thus in the afternoons, to plug the waits, high school orchestras, amateur reporters, songpluggers and the like, who comprise the type of talent which feed the lesser stations in N. Y. They could be picked up from his theatre. Ditto the big programs.

Gaige planned to charge an admission fee for these visible broadcasts. He also wanted each major commercial program utilizing his Radio theatre to pay him around $4,000 a month for the facilities, they of course defraying their usual line charges. In return he'd give 'em room for displays of the commodities, possible free sample counters for groceries and new products of that nature, etc. Idea hasn't gotten beyond that.

Radio again cleaned up on Los Angeles newspapers in the treatment of two big news yarns breaking within a half hour of each other. These were the finding of William F. Gettle, the arrest of his abductors and the discovery of June Robles.

While bulldog editions carried only fragmentary details of the two stories, all local radio stations were able to beat the sheets to the punch with almost complete yarns at 9 and 10 p. m.

KNX, which has been waging an independent fight against the official press air stuff and the local papers, was in a particular fine spot with its biggest news period of the day going on at 9 p. m. Unusual was that as the announcer was giving out the details the last of the kidnapers was nabbed, allowing interpolation of the announcement of the capture 'just five minutes ago.'

KNX was tipped to the finding of the Robles child by prepai distance telephone call from Tucson.

Chicago Tribune has been running a series of articles by Arthur Sears Henning, its Washington correspondent, on the Federal Radio Commission. Last week station WGN received a letter from the FRC mentioning a complaint against 'profane' language over WGN as of 10 p. m., May 1. WGN log reveals that James Beck, former Republican solicitor-general, was speaking at that time and that no record of profanity exists.

W. B. McFarlane, vice-president of WGN, in answering the RFC letter, made a general denial of any broadcast profanity. WGN professes mystification over the allegation.

Judgment for $1,755 against the Adams Broadcasting Service, Inc., was filed last week by the Columbia Phonograph Co. with the New York County clerk. Award followed a suit brought by the recording outfit to collect a bill for transcriptions which it alleged had been due for over two years.

Operating the debtor firm at the time was Jack Adams, who subsequently served as president of the Federal Broadcasting Corp., lessee of WMCA.

Woodbury soap has expressed itself as anxious to recontract Bing Crosby for a minimum of 26 weeks, starting in the early fall, but the warbler prefers to refrain from making a new deal until later in the summer. Meanwhile he will consider the proposition made by a Sunday night food account and also one from a femme accessories manufacturer, for whom it's to be a debut in radio.

Crosby has decided not to come East this summer for nighters and deluxe picture house stands.

Portland, Oregon, employers have turned to radio as a means of i encing the public as to labor troubles. With the entire waterfront upset by a strike of longshoremen, the employers' association used two broadcasts over station KEX to win public support. Week before, the Portland bureau of police, in need of 100 men to help keep order along the waterfront, made two announcements over the air, and within a few hours were swamped with applicants.

CBS objects to the airing of the word 'Thy' in connection with the song, 'Love Thy Neighbor', for fear of evoking a kickback on sacrilegious grounds, while NBC leaves intact in the script of the Ipana show of last Wednesday night (16) the following gag:

'Last year our society fed 14,000 birds. We should thi good for a one horse town.'

New York Herald Tribune has been requested to substantiate an editorial statement that the Democratic administration has made the radio stations of the country 'the spokesman of the New Deal and largely restricted to government propaganda'.

Herald Tribune is regarded as the number one Republican newspaper of America.

NEW AIR BOSSES ON WAY

Allege Last-Minute Deals Made At Less Than Musicians' Cost

Los Angeles, May 21.

Threats are being made locally by some stations that they will protest formally Federal Radio Commission indirect rate-cutting of certain stations is stopped.

Alleged cut-rating is in the form of selling broadcast periods for less than the cost of the musicians involved. Offending stations saddled with minimum numbers of musicians prefer to get anything rather than allow the musicians to play entirely at station expense on a sustaining basis. Accordingly and especially at the last minute a policy of 'no offer refused' is assertedly followed.

Naturally under these circumstances card rates are laughable. More serious, however, is the fact that the practice is unquestionably a violation of the radio code.

NBC Adjusts Rate Card To Obviate Technical Infraction of Code

NBC's sales department has discovered that the web's rate card contains something that is contrary to the NRA code for the broadcasting industry. Finding had to do with the policy of selling stations in split groups and networks when the rate card specifically states that the outlets noted are available only as a group. Radio code provides that the terms offered an advertiser shall be in exact accordance with those contained in the broadcaster's rate card.

Realizing that the phrase 'available only as a group' makes all split groups and networks what it terms 'technical violations of the code,' the network has decided to put out on May 25 a new set of cards with the group stipulation eliminated. NBC sales heads at the same time advised their staffs that the erasure of this clause is not to be taken as a move on the part of the web to ease up the strictures against split networks or groups.

WBAL CHASING BIZ IN DEADLY EARNEST

Baltimore, May 21.

WBAL, 10,000-watter, is going, for the first time in its existence, decidedly commercial. Is stepping out and scrambling for accounts.

Owned by the Consolidated Gas & Electric Co., station has recently been incorporated as a separate entity. After a string of losing years, biz perked last annum and the ledgers sported a faint stain of black. Current year looks to stamp the blackness much more deeply. Local card rata has been lopped $60 per hour, from $300 to $240, but that figure is still tops for the town.

Oddly, the power company never used the station as a self-exploitive medium and the parent never received billing of any sort that would identify station as an affiliate.

Rice, Henshaw on Tour

Cincinnati, May 21.

Jack Rice, prez of the International Radio Club, Miami, Fla., and Don Henshaw, studio director of WIOD, Miami, visited L. B. Wilson and Elmer Dressman, chief and publicity director, respectively, of WCKY, last week and also inspected the new WLW 500,000-watt transmitter plant.

They're whooping up the International Radio Party to be held in St. Petersburg, Fla., in November, while enroute to Toronto, Ont., where Henshaw is to publicize a centennial expo.

NAB Convention

National Association of Broadcasters will convene in Cincinnati for the annual get-together Sept. 17-18-19.

Previously announced dates of Sept. 10-11-12 were altered when it was discovered there were four other conventions carded for Cincinnati at the same time. Broadcasters needed more elbow room.

DOCTORS WANT AIR QUACKS CURBED

Utica, May 21.

Radio broadcasting of patent medicine advertising is a serious danger to public health, according to the house of delegates of the Medical Society of the State of New York at its annual convention here.

The organization will instruct its delegate to the American Medical Association's annual meeting in Cleveland to recommend a central national clearing bureau of the medical profession to rule on commercial programs advertising a variety of proprietary household remedies.

Albany, May 21.

Distributor of a mineral water crystal (not Crazy Crystals) for use in bath sought in vain to have Station WOKO plug the product as curing anything from rheumatism to a corn on the foot.

Talk was finally confined to emphasizing that it was invigorating and healthful.

McClelland's Associate In Third Network Idea Gets NBC Boston Job

John A. Holman has servered himself from George B. McClelland's third network project to join NBC as manager of WBZ-WBZA, Boston-Springfield. It's the second time for Holman on the NBC payroll. He was there for a while as manager of WEAF after NBC took that outlet over from the New York Telephone Co. Before coming with McClelland, Holman was for five years with the telephone company's Albany office.

With the installation of Holman the network has revised Walter E. Myer's title. His previous handle read 'New England Sales Representative for NBC.' From now on it's NBC national sales rep for New England.

Boice, Gettinger O. O.

Chicago, May 21.

H. K. Boice and W. C. Gettinger, sales chieftains of CBS, are headed back to New York after a look-around and a series of conferences in the Detroit and Chicago areas.

It was the first visit of Gettinger, the new CBS sales manager, to the local office, and his tour was more in the nature of a get-acquainted handshake.

Storer's Siesta

George Storer is in Detroit for a week taking a rest under doctor's orders.

Nothing serious, but with four radio stations to supervise, the broadcaster was going it too hard. Doc put him to bed for a few days.

SENATE GIVES DILL BILL A FAST OKAY

Lone Dispute Is Over Wagner-Hatfield Amendment —New Clauses on Low Power Stations, License Terms—5 Man Commission

NON-PROFIT SCRAP

Washington, May 21.

New form of Government control of radio broadcasting within the next few months became a virtual certainty last week as Senate approved the Dill communications-control bill. House committeemen speeded consideration of the companion Rayburn measure, and President Roosevelt told Congressional leaders action must be taken on this problem before adjournment occurs.

Dill bill went whooping through the Senate without even the formality of a record vote after less than four hours debate. Equally expeditious action is anticipated in lower branch of legislature some time this week. Bill was okayed almost without change, only controversy of importance centering about the Wagner-Hartfield amendment which was snowed under.

Hearings before House Interstate Commerce Committee progressed rapidly with telegraph and telephone executives occupying witness stand most of the time. Revision of measure is expected nearly this week and Chairman Rayburn hopes to have the two bills in conference by this weekend.

A five-man commission would be created by the Dill bill to assume present radio control functions of Radio Commission and telephone-telegraph control duties of Interstate Commerce Commission. Basic principles of present radio law are reenacted but sweeping new powers to control cable, wireless, telegraph, and telephone services are provided.

Rigid safeguards are thrown about the entire communication system to prevent growth of monopolies. The measure directs the new agency to make certain that anti-trust laws are not violated and an amendment offered by Senator Dill prescribes that the commission must distribute broadcast licenses in a way to prevent monopolistic control of the air.

Non-Profit Programs

The fight over statutory allocation of facilities to religious, educational, social, and other non-profit enterprises, provided in the Wagner-Hatfield amendment which called for cancellation of all licenses in 90 days and allotment of 25% of all assignments to this class, was the most intensive controversy. Rejecting the disputed amendment by a count of 42 to 23, the Senate sidetracked the issue by writing into the bill a section requiring the new commish to investigate and report on the proposal to allocate fixed percentages of facilities to particular types or kinds of non-profit programs or persons engaged in non-profit activities. Commish report would be due Feb. 1, 1935.

Scrap over this issue, which threw entire industry into near panic, found Chairman Dill stubbornly resisting the Wagner-Hatfield idea. Siding with Dill was Senator White (Maine), co-author of present law. Supporting Wagner and Hatfield were Senators Fess (Ohio), and Copeland (New York).

Complaining that under present requirements 98% of broadcast facilities are used by commercial stations, Wagner called on Senators to 'consider that the privilege to use the air is allotted to radio stations without any compensation being paid the Federal Government,' and said 25% allocation 'seems so fair that I cannot understand the opposition to it.'

Leading the opposition, Dill point-

(Continued on page 32)

Farmers' Strike Leader Not Libeled By WTMJ When Speaker Called Him 'Racketeer' Jury Decides

Congratulatory Rib

Cincinnati, May 21.

L. B. Wilson sent the following ribbing wire to John Clark, WLW impresario, the day the latter station went super-power:

'Coming in like a ton of bricks. At first I thought it was WCKY. Congratulations to Cincinnati, one minute from Covington.'

(Signed) Wilson.

Milwaukee, May 21.

WTMJ, the Journal station here, was not guilty of libel when Joseph D. Beck, commissioner of agriculture of Wisconsin, called Walter M. Singler, president of the Milk Pool and leader of three milk strikes in the state, a 'racketeer,' jury in La Crosse circuit court has ruled. Singler sued the radio station and Beck for $100,000.

Singler's suit was based on a talk by Beck over the station May 15, 1933, during a milk strike, when Beck called on his listeners to tread with care and branded Singler as a 'racketeer' who ran away from the battlefront.

Singler, who drew nation-wide attention within a few weeks, rising from an unknown farmer to leader of the biggest dairy workers' organization in the middle west, was charged during the trial of the case with playing politics by suing.

Milk Pool head has adopted a singular front in his journeys through the state, wearing a five-gallon hat, goatee and mustache, cowboy boots and flowing tie to offset his severely black suit.

Jury, in bringing in a verdict against Singler, announced Beck had made a 'fair comment on the acts of Singler.'

NBC WILL POP NEW RATES BY JULY

Indications are that NBC will by the end of July be prepared to announce a revised scale of network rates. Committee, made up of execs from the sales and other divisions, which has been working on the assignment for several months, recently received instructions to expedite its report.

Web is trying to arrive at a general readjustment of linked station prices through scientific methods. Aiding the committee, headed by Roy Witmer, v.p. in charge of Eastern sales, has been a staff of mathematicians, statisticians and engineers. New rate setup will be based on population, signal coverage, competition from other outlets in the community or surrounding area, relative station popularity, etc.

In preparation for the revision job NBC last fall had signal surveys of affiliated outlets on both the red and blue link made. Results of these probings have been kept secret within the organization.

Dixie's Vallee Break; 12 Summer Droppees Stay, 7 More Added

Standard Brands will not this summer make the usual retrenchments in the radio budget by eliminating 12 stations in the south from the Rudy Vallee-Fleischmann yeast hookup. Food packer is not only retaining these 12 outlets but seven others spotted in the southeastern region. Lineup boost goes into effect with the May 31 broadcast and gives the program altogether 54 stations.

Outlets slated to be tacked on are WRVA, Richmond; WPTF, Raleigh; WWNC, Ashville; WIS, Columbia; WJAX, Jacksonville; WFLA or WSUN, Tampa, and WIOD, Miami.

Gene Austin Files

Hollywood, May 21.

Gene Austin has filed a petition of voluntary bankruptcy in Federal court, listing liabilities of $62,449, of which $55,625 is in unsecured claims.

Estmates value his assets at $28,200.

Elder Michaux' Revivals

Washington, May 21.

Elder Michaux, local Negro evangelist, who goes on CBS from Church of God weekly, will take over Philadelphia Arena for series of revivals, May 30 to June 10.

Net shows will be picked up from Quaker town.

Blackman Agency Grief; NBC Won't Let Account Quit Before Contract

Blackman agency finds itself jammed up with NBC over Hudson-Essex's decision to withdraw the Terraplane show from the red (WEAF) loop the last Saturday night in May (26). Network has advised the account direct that the walkout on the contract won't go. Agreement, signatured by the Blackman Co., agency on the account, the web pointed out, doesn't expire until the end of June.

Car manufacturing outfit is going through with its Wednesday night program on the blue (WJZ) string. Contract for this one also expires the end of June.

WGN DAILY BASEBALL CLIENT OFF LOSERS

Chicago, May 21.

Walgreen baseball play-by-play accounts on WGN, the Chicago Tribune station, will ride with the winning team of Chicago only. Station, at the instigation of the sponsor, has arranged to concentrate on the Cubs team, and will follow the team around the country instead of dividing time between the Cubs and White Sox for the home games.

With the White Sox in the cellar of the American League the client feels that the team hasn't the news value or interest of the Cubs games, is willing to go the extra coin for wire charges in order to string along with the winner.

However, both the station and the client will keep faith and friendship with the White Sox by not deserting them entirely. Will give the Sox home games five free announcements each day before 'play ball' is called. Not only WGN but the other baseball stations such as WBBM, figure on picking up the White Sox play-by-plays as soon as the Sox get back into the first division, if and when.

Radio Chatter

New York

Lennen & Mitchell publicity release quotes Dave Friedman, Block & Sully's author, to the effect that 'time-tried jokes get the biggest laughs.'

Billy Rose, husband of Fanny Brice, recently wrote a letter to Billy Rose, announcer-balladeer of WOR, Schenectady, asking the latter to use another name on the air. Understood the Schenectady Rose replied he does intend to change his moniker.

Ethel Osterhout, assistant to Asa O. Coggeshall, program director, and until 1933, piano soloist and accompanist over WGY, finished ten years of service with the station last week and then resigned in order to prepare for her coming marriage to Karl D. Hoffman, chief engineer of the Buffalo Broadcasting Corporation and a former member of WGY's technical staff.

Ozzie Nelson played to the society eds during his stay in Washington and the radio columnists didn't like.

Revelers with their all-day rehearsing in the office between are driving E. P. H. James and Philip Carlin to something, vow these NBC execs. Frank Black as the quartet's arranger has it using his layouts.

Irving Mills, Duke Ellington and Cab Calloway manager, is now a Kentucky colonel.

George Hall, leaving the Taft in June for a four-week tour of one nighters down South.

Chester Miller tries to make Max Baer's assignment in the Goodrich Tire's script show over NBC a recreation from his fight training chores.

Joe Cook moves with the Colgate House Party to a Monday night spot June and does his first broadcast for the account from the Coast June 18.

WHAM has received requests for outlines of its evening school courses from 18 states and two provinces in Canada.

Ruth Berentsen and Clare Nowak, WHAM's Mrs. Thrifty Buyer and daughter Peg, have returned from New York where they went by airplane.

Arthur Bagley is in his ninth year of being bright and cheery on the Metropolitan Life's health exercise programs, the first of which hits the air over the NBC-WEAF Eastern network at 6 a.m. Bill Mahoney has been playing the piano for these conditioners six years.

New England

George Rector, prior to being interviewed on WEEI, Boston, was questioned extensively on the best way to cook trout by four optimistic members of the station's staff, Charlie Burton, Vic Wild, Jack Hillman, Ed Gisburne and Phil Baldwin wanted to be well prepared for their annual fishing trip to Rangely Lakes, Maine.

Managers of the five stations comprising the New England network meet in Portland, Me., June 1, and somewhere on Sebago Lake, June 2 and 3. Object: More accounts and salmon.

Ozzie Nelson and his band with Harriet Hilliard in Boston at Riverview Ballroom. Were featured in a half-hour spot over Yankee web.

Ethel Grenier held over another week at Boston's Cocoanut Grove.

Ed Philbrick, WEEI controlman, was formerly attached to the Nantucket Lightship. W. W. Perry, of Reading, one of the victims of the crash, was a frequent visitor to the WEEI studios and a buddy of E. B. Rideout.

John Clark producing a radio dramatization of the movie, 'House of Rothschild,' over WBZ, Boston.

John Wardell, former WNAC announcer and conductor of the old Ted and His Gang, just finished climbing the Alps at St. Moritz, Switzerland. He writes that is now headed for Germany.

Ten members of the radio crew of the German cruiser, Karlsruhe, visiting Charleston Navy Yard, paid a visit to the Yankee web studios and the transmitter at Squantum the other day. They were very interested in the American mechanics of broadcasting. While waiting for the crew to be assembled, the web representatives were treated to some beer in the officers' mess. The beer served was brewed and bottled in Boston!

Nick Parkyakakas, Boston Greek dialect comedian, appearing at the Metropolitan for a week.

Idle Hour theatre, Hardwick, Vt., is the latest addition to the group of theatres using WDEV, Waterbury, as an advertising medium.

Still another WGY group, 'Ma Frazier's Boarding House,' cast, making personal appearances in Vermont.

Aunt Almira Products Co., of Burlington is sponsoring a weekly program on WDEV, Waterbury, Vt.

Rexall Magic Hour is new feature over WDEV, Waterbury, Vt.

Several roadhouses in Southern Quebec are using the facilities of WQDM, St. Albans, Vt., for advertising.

Opening of the navigation season on Lake Champlain brings the account of Champlain Marine and Realty Co., Inc., to WCAX, Burlington, Vt.

Carol Benedict, 17-year-old Norwalk blue songstress lately aired by WICC, Bridgeport, gets audition this week with Vincent Lopez.

Edith Joseph, supported by Russ LeBousquet and Steve Kisley, violinist, replacing Felice Raymond (the Melody Girl), Don Ragonese and Jo Luciano on WICC's nightly Merry-Go-Round commercial frame.

Julian Woodworth's ex-NBCers playing benefit dance in Bridgeport.

Claude Hopkins CBSerenaders doing their final Eastern ballroom stint prior to theatre tour next Sunday at Roton Point Park, South Norwalk.

Marge Hull's boys, WICCasters, landed Trinity college, Hartford, prom job.

Dot Taylor, 'Connecticut's Radio Personality Girl,' has broken with the Musical Mariners and is temporarily off WICC, Bridgeport, set.

Rocky Clark, radio ed of 'Bridgeport Times-Star,' exploiting Peggy Doyle's new ballroom, Stratford, premiering Friday with a one-week stand of Tal Henry's North Carolinians.

Ohio

'Tea Leaves and Jade' is the title of a new Sunday night 30-minute sustainer on WLW, Cincy. Program dramatizes old Chinese legends, under direction of Harry Holcomb.

Another new gratis blast on Crosley's 500,000-watter is the bi-weekly broadcast by the University of Cincinnati Glee Club. Hits the air every other Tuesday at 6:15 p.m.

Nebraska

Selma Levin trying a new home-makers hour at WAAW, Omaha.

Eddie Butler back at the console of the Orpheum, Omaha, for his request programs after three months' absence.

Prof. Floyd Temple back in Omaha on theatre tie-ups after six weeks at WHO and others around Des Moines.

Lyle Gordon and Marguerite Lainson a new romance team clicking on the UPS electric kitchen daily broadcasts.

Town becoming acquainted with CBS favorites with the synchronization of KFAB and WBBM filling up those evening hours formerly closed to CBS.

Johnny Gillin at the mike for the broadcast via WOW of the George Olsen band's charity hop at the Chermot Ballroom for the World Herald benefit.

Omaha baseball games at Western League park definitely off the air.

John Henry, congressional candidate, getting his work done through secretary, Isabel Dickason.

Alabama

Al Stanley, orchestra leader, back with station WSFA, Montgomery, from local hotel.

Louis Farrior, started a few weeks ago as an announcer, at WSFA, Montgomery, rated as having clicked.

Walter Graham, Montgomery boy, now connected with station at Columbia, Ga.

North Carolina

Eleanor and George, 'Singing Sweethearts' on WSOC, Charlotte, signed for new series of commercials for the Lucille Shop.

A. B. Chamberlin, chief engineer for the Columbia Broadcasting company, returned to New York city after completing an intensity survey for WBT, Charlotte.

'Do You Remember?' is the title of a new program series that has been started over WWNC, Asheville, N. C., for the Bon March department store. It deals with interesting news happenings in Asheville 20 years ago and also traces the corresponding growth of the store over that period.

Crazy Water Crystals has signed for five 15-minute spots a week over WWNC, Asheville, N. C., using sweet-voiced instruments and singers to present a period known as 'Souvenirs.'

Charlotte, N. C., Rotary club was entertained at its weekly luncheon meeting by the stars from 'Rosewood and Ivory' from WBT. Participating in the special program were: Margaret Chesick, George Frasier, and Peter Martin.

Arrangements have been completed for establishing a special wire from the studios of WDNX, Durham, N. C., to the University of North Carolina, located 12 miles away at Chapel Hill, for use in originating a number of regularly featured programs at the university.

Figures compiled last week from 'Dancing by Request' program over WSOC, Charlotte, N. C., showed the following popular tunes: 'A Thousand Good Nights,' requested 47 times; 'Why Do I Dream Those Dreams,' requested 32 times, and 'She Reminds Me of You,' requested 31 times.

'J.F.G. Special,' program of the J.F.G. Coffee Company, Knoxville, Tenn., over WWNC, Asheville, N. C., uses Pender Rector and his Musical Crew. Listeners also submit jingles to the J.F.G. Jingle Man for weekly prizes in coffee to the authors of those adjudged best.

Hubbard Sisters are appearing on the 'Circus of Life' program over WBT, Charlotte, N. C., sponsored by the Carolinas distributors of General Electric refrigerators. They are billed as the 'Queens of the Arena.' They sing hot sweet numbers.

A new morning program on WSOC, Charlotte, N. C., is that of the Havely Furniture Company known as 'Morning Moods.' It is unique in that it uses a woman announcer, Miss Jeanne Gaston.

Tennessee

John Lewis, baritone, WSM, presenting 'Vocal Daguerreotypes,' based on negro music of the Reconstruction Period arranged by George A. Miller.

Opening a new series of programs, Lasses White's Minstrel company of 30 people gave a performance before 250 representatives of Standard Oil of Louisiana. Occasion was marked by the visit of three officials of the company from New York, C. A. Snyder, advertising manager, R. R. Cunningham, sales promotion department, and J. E. Skehan. The show on this particular occasion was presented in the main dining room of the Hermitage hotel.

Beasley Smith's Suppertime Revue, presented each Tuesday night at 7 o'clock from the studios of WSM, is headed by the Piano Twins, Beasley Smith and Marjorie Cooney in fast rhythm and late popular numbers, with an array of talent, including the Waller Brothers, Ruth and Rod, WSM's Two R's of Harmony; Claude Sharpe, tenor; John Lewis, baritone; Christine Lamb, contralto; Margaret Ackerman, soprano; Bobby Tucker, pianist; June Moody, blues singer, and the Jam Trio, consisting of Opie Cates, Rod Kent and Bob Casey; David Stone announces the program.

Aaron Campbell Mountaineers are now being presented on WLAC, in Nashville, Tenn., every week day morning from 6.30 till 7 o'clock.

Illinois

Harry W. Flannery moves in from WOWO in South Bend to take over an announcer job at WIND, Gary.

Lou Cowan throwing a press agent party for Anson Weeks' orchestra.

Ralph Waldo Emersons deserting the WLS organ for a short vacash which takes in the coast territory.

Wayne King and family heading to California for their six-week layoff.

Ed Voynow is champ ping-ponger of the Wrigley building.

Frank Schreiber into hiding until the Golden Gloves tourney is over due to ankle oakley requests.

Dave Nowinson blasting out continuity down in WIND.

Pacific Northwest

Seattle's Chamber of Commerce grabbed off Al Pearce and His Gang last week when the bunch was playing on the Fifth Avenue theatre for a personal appearance and performance at the Chamber's building, KJR broadcast.

Barney Goodman, KOMO-KJR, Seattle, staff pianist, working standing up after returning from a week's forced vacation due to a fall in the bathtub.

KOMO-KJR, Seattle, performers training for a big golf tournament among themselves.

Abe Brashen, KOMO-KJR, Seattle, music director, already boasting that his six-pound daughter, born on Mother's Day, is musical.

Pennsylvania

Stanley Roberts, ex-WCAU warbler with Vincent Travers' band, goes to the shore with Fred Waring's crew this summer.

Hugh Walton, WCAU wordslinger, lost his shoes.

Maxie Solomon newly elected WFI representative.

Enzo Aita, tenor of the CBS Household show, due for a spot with the Philadelphia Grand Opera unit next season.

Julius Seebach in Philly last week to inspect the new WCAU music crew, and catch new studio director, Jan Savitt, in action.

Swell voice of Diane, warbler on the Ice Company's newly distributed discs, causing plenty of comment around the country.

Bob Mack off for a vacation in Bermuda.

Manny Sacks set to handle the National Open Tourney from the Merion course with Ted Husing.

Talk is that the Ritz-Carlton in Philly will become a new nitery with change in staff going into effect.

New Radio Control Near

(Continued from page 31)

ed out that from the organization of the Federal Radio Commission until Jan. 1, 1932, only 81 applications were received from educational stations. Added that 32 were granted in full, 27 in part, 10 denied, and 10 dismissed at request of applicants.

Argument was made by Senator Fess that ever since broadcasting has developed, slight attention has been given educational, cultural, and religious matter. Declaring the statutory proposal was 'rather antagonistic to my way of thinking,' Ohioan said that curbing profit element would correct 'pollution' of the air.

Objections were voiced by Senator Couzens (Michigan), who pointed out that the amendment offers no yardstick for allocating licenses and does not require stations 'to broadcast any religious or educational programs at all,' and Senator Clark (Missouri), who said that bogus 'non - profit' transmitters would spring up under such conditions.

Debate brought out the fact that few commercial broadcasters are realizing profits under present conditions, and Dill contended that size of investment would make it difficult for educational and cultural groups to make use of their opportunities.

Individuals controlling the industry were condemned as shortsighted by Senator Hatfield who said commercial broadcasters should concede 'an opportunity to go upon the air and at reasonable hours.' Hatfield asserted that 'we are the only important country in the world that places control of radio facilities in the hands of those who seek private profit.'

New Clauses

A few new features of significance have been included in the revision of the existing radio law but the general theory of the Davis-White act remains foremost in the new legislation.

One of the outstanding novelties is a clause exempting from quota calculations low-power stations in order to give greater facilities to sparsely-populated western states. Originally this provision exempted stations of 250 watts. The committee cut the limit to 100 watts and the Senate adopted an amendment leaving the final decision in the hands of the commission.

Limit on terms for which licenses may be granted was cut from three years to one with actual time left in hands of the commission. This provision drew concerted fire from broadcasters who have just succeeded in urging commission to institute system of year licenses instead of six-month permits.

Ban against foreign ownership of broadcast companies was strengthened to prohibit granting of licenses to 1—any alien or his representative; 2—any foreign government or its representative; 3—any foreign corporation; 4—any corporation with an alien officer or director or with more than one-fifth of its stock in the hands of foreign residents or corporations; or 5—any subsidiary corporation controlled by a company with less than 75% of its officers and directors American citizens or more than 25% of its stock foreign-held.

Sections requiring equal treatment for candidates for public office prohibits censorship of material broadcast and discriminatory rates. Licensee may refuse to permit use of his station by all persons for political purposes.

New law specifically bans lotteries, gift enterprises, and other schemes offering prizes dependent on chance and imposes fine of $1,000 or sentence of one year for each offense of this nature.

Changes are made in provisions of present law governing appeals from commission decisions but new law specifies that action of any division of the new agency shall not be appealed to the full commission. Commission orders and decisions may be taken to the local court of appeals, but new feature allows individuals who did not initiate actions which resulted adversely to appeal to three-judge district courts.

The provision banning monopolies was strengthened by the Dill amendment which said that the commission shall distribute licenses so that no single licensee or organization shall exercise domination over broadcast facilities of any community, city, state, or the country by purchase, leasing, chain broadcasting, or other method.

Communi

Most sweeping new powers relate to control of telegraph and telephone communications, making enterprises of this sort subject to almost the same sort of supervision as are the railroads. A number of these provisions will benefit broadcasters indirectly.

The new agency has complete authority to approve or reject rate schedules for interstate service of any kind, to force extensions of lines and physical connections with competing carriers, to establish through routes with different scales of charges, to investigate and report to Congress on intercompany relationships, to evaluate companies' properties in order to decide a fair return on investments, to prevent interlocking directorates, to approve small mergers or consolidations.

Provisions banning discriminatory charges, practices, classifications, and services give the commission power to control rates charged for land-wires in connection with network operations. The commission also may compel telegraph or telephone companies to extend their services whenever public necessity requires added facilities.

Iowa

Wayne Miller again with the technical engineering staff, WOC, WHO, Des Moines.

Bess Caplan added to artists staff, KSO, Des Moines—with Dark Town Strutters and variety programs.

'Perky's Huskers,' hillbilly quartette added to WOC-WHO barndance, includes Ronald Perkins, Willard Sapp, Chas. Massey and Woody Callahan. Perkins is a cousin of Chic Taylor of the 'Kentucky Ramblers.'

Ray Orrick added to the sales staff, KSO, Des Moines.

WOC-WHO's 'Four Novelty Aces' going to WLS Barndance.

Beer accounts gaining at KSO—beer now seven and churches five.

KSO to broadcast dog races and music from White Derby, opening May 18. Al Morey and Rudy Baie bands.

'Babe' Didrikson's on air at KSO last week—to be followed by Ralph De Palma—then Sally Rand.

KSO and KWCR have appointed Greig Blair & Spight, Inc., representatives for both stations.

Georgia

Ed Petry, a visitor to WSB, Atlanta, accompanied by Ed Voynow, of Chicago office.

W. Heckman, vice-president of the Welch Grape Juice Co., looks over radio situation at WSB.

Guy Lammon, of Benton and Bowles, a visitor at WSB, Atlanta.

F. A. Mecklenburg, of commercial department WHK, took a peek at WSB's stuff.

Hubbell Robinson, of Young and Rubicam, here to supervise opening of Fletcher's Castoria broadcast on WSB.

Maryland

Lou Becker's ork back on ether, this time via WCBM, Baltimore.

Bob Maslin, jr., back to Baltimore from N. Y. quickies.

WFBR, Baltimore, staff out en masse for Mayfair Gardens opening.

Stewart Kennard has a new gasbuggy.

Jerry Thalheimer, Keith vaud vet, now a WCBM pianola tune tinkler.

WFBR reception quarters through alterating process.

Val and Ernie Stanton, currently on Hipp's stage, broadcast over WFBR.

Purnell Gould, WFBR, hopped to Chi for station managers' pow-wow called by Ed Petry Agency.

WFBR is priming special 12th anniv. program for June, which will be fed the NBC red ribbon.

WCBM's 'Three Girls in Blue,' GBS feature, are really Emma Baum, Alean Gabel and Elizabeth Palmer.

Beth Turner (Mrs. Bert Hanauer) recalled to the Big Burg by NBC for another pipes audish.

AGENCIES ASK OWN EVENING

Trade Commission Scans Scripts

Federal Trade (not Radio) Commission has asserted jurisdiction over program continuities for commercial programs. Starting July 1 broadcasters must file copies of sponsored scripts with the Trade Commission.

This is the first important step taken by government authorities to curb objectionable advertising over the air. In cases where the Trade Commission decides any specific program contains advertising claims of untrue or objectionable character the commission will seek a promise from sponsor and broadcaster to desist from the practices or claims in question.

Mounting agitation against certain kinds of radio advertising finally registered in this form. Meanwhile the Tugwell bill also aimed at misrepresentation is still pending.

Radio Commission is specifically denied the right of program censorship by law although in effect it can exercise much influence indirectly. Radio Commission eliminated the unsavory advertising of mentalists, seers, and the more obvious quacks who enjoyed a bonanza in the early years of broadcasting.

There has been some overlapping of Trade and Radio commissions heretofore but this appears to be the most forthright supervision of radio ever attempted by the Trade Commission.

Behind Advertising Clean-Up Is 'Spirit of Friendly Co-operation'

Washington, May 21.

Campaign to raise standards of radio blurbs is described by commish as undertaken 'in a spirit of friendly co-operation.' Agency pointed out that, instead of monitoring broadcast programs, it is asking co-operation of stations and voluntary submission of scripts.

Following examination of copy, commission will notify broadcasters of matter considered offensive and ask for help in improving the character of any particular advertising. Efforts will be made to get broadcasters to sign stipulations covering these situations; recalcitrants will be subject to cease-and-desist orders which, if disregarded, will be followed by legal moves to compel obedience to commish mandates.

Exemption is granted individual stations only in the case of network programs, which will be submitted by chain headquarters, and electrical transcriptions, which will be offered for examination by makers. Government postal franks will be supplied stations to save expense in submitting data.

Warning First

Move is outgrowth of Congressional pressure to force government control without running afoul of cries of censorship. Radio commish has been urged on numerous occasions to undertake crusade of this sort, but has professed inability because of restrictions on its legal powers, although roundabout methods have been used such as were employed to drive Dr. Floyd Brinkley, 'Hello World' Henderson and others off the air. Trade commish reported to have agreed to take up fight with support of radio commish and large bloc in Congress.

MILWAUKEE EDITORS IN CHICAGO WEEKLY

Chicago, May 21.

Milwaukee dailies have started sending their radio editors down to Chicago regularly, all of the radio eds making this town's key ether spots at least once weekly.

This is due to the competition of the Chicago dailies, particularly the Chicago Daily News and the Tribune, both of which have large circulation in Milwaukee and vicinity. Tribune publishes a regular Milwaukee edition and has a permanent staff in the beertown. Main Chicago stations cover Milwaukee like a blanket.

AGNES AYRES AUDITIONS

Chicago, May 21.

Agnes Ayres, picture star of the silent days, auditioned at NBC here last week. Has a script idea.

Lately Miss Ayres has been playing some vaude time in the midwest.

Coll P.A'ng WMCA

Fred Coll is the new publicity head at Station WMCA, New York. Appointment made by George Storer.

Coll resigned a combination post at WPEN, Philadelphia, last week and started immediately at WMCA. He was in New York previously.

South African Govt. May Take Over All Radio

Capetown, May 2.

There are strong rumors that the South African government may take over the broadcasting stations at present controlled by African Broadcasting Corporation. It is considered that the present stations at the principal towns only cover a radius of 100 miles from each center to insure clear reception of any value to the listeners in, but the isolated parts of the country outside the limit is in the dark as regards broadcasting. Part of the government scheme will apply to the use of broadcasting education to thousands who live in remote parts of the country where school facilities are nil. Atmospherics play a big part in poor reception to the districts within control of the stations.

Whole matter will be fully discussed when the postmaster general, who is overseas, returns to South Africa at the end of May.

It is rumored that Sir John Reith, director-general of the British Broadcasting Corporation, may be invited by the South African government to come over here to investigate, and advise regarding the idea of taking over and the improving of broadcasting.

Mitzi Green's Agents Lose Suit Against Her

Los Angeles, May 21.

Joe Keno, sued by William Meikeljohn and Arthur Esberg, agents, in an attempt to recover 10% of the reputed earnings of his daughter, Mitzi Green, in connection with the making of a series of records for World Broadcasting Co., won a decision handed down by Superior Court Judge Pat R. Parker.

Agents brought suit for $5,000, alleging a contract whereby they were entitled to 10% of the juvenile actress' earnings. They charged Keno had received upwards of $50,000 for the recordings.

FAVOR 3-HOUR DOMINATION

Benton and Bowles and Young and Rubicam Lead Move to Build Complete Evening Programs Divided Among Various Sponsors Clearing Through One Agency

IN THE FALL

Judging from maneuvers now going on it won't be uncommon this fall to find a single advertising agency spanning a network's entire evening schedule with a consecutive string of programs coming under that agency's control. This would build an evening's performance like a stage revue. With this stretch of choice time all to itself the agency figures that it will be in a position to frame a bill of diversified entertainment running anywhere from two and a half to three and a half hours and at the same time garner for itself the evening's consistent listener interest.

Two agencies that have disclosed an interest toward the grouping plan are Benton and Bowles and Young and Rubicam. Former agency would like to bring together for a three-hour spread across NBC's red (WEAF) link an evening composed of its Maxwell House Show Boat, Palmolive Beauty Box Theatre and Hour of Smiles (Lehn & Fink). In this combination the agency feels it would present one of the strongest and varied arrays of entertainment on the air and that this amalgamation couldn't help but hold 'em tuned in here for the entire segment of the clock involved.

60 Mins. Is Deluxe

Setup contemplated by Young and Rubicam would knit together the Colgate House Party with Joe Cook, which is likely to go to a full hour, the Beatrice Fairfax show (La France washing powder),* and two other programs currently being worked on for fall unveiling.

Indications are that the fall will also see a hefty increase in the percentage of one-hour commercials. The 60-minute show, agency men are now convinced, has the advantage of building up the program's popularity rating, and to back up this opinion they point to the fact that the Chase and Sanborn, the Maxwell House Coffee and the Rudy Vallee-Fleischmann shows have consistently held top rating in that order on the Crossley reports this season.

CAMELS OFF FOR SUMMER

Esty Agency Irked by CBS Direct Approach to Sponsor

Camel drops its twice weekly obligation on CBS with the June 5 broadcast. Cig packer intends to return to the air shortly after Labor Day, with the program framed around the same band it's now using, Casa Loma.

Complication between Columbia and the agency on the account, William Esty, developed when Hugh Kendall Boice, the network's v.p. in charge of sales, contacted the R. J. Reynolds Co. direct in Winston-Salem, N. C. Without advising the agency of his proposed trip, Boice tried to save the business for the summer by submitting a program composed of CBS talent. Among the items suggested was a studio combo headed by Freddie Rich.

Session of June 5 will end a 26-week run for Camel's current air setup.

Rolfe for White Rock?

B. A. Rolfe is set to audition his band for White Rock this week.

Bottler is figuring on NBC as the release for a warm spell run

2 N. Y. 'News' Radio Scribes Sue Cantor and Mag Over Story

Two N. Y. Daily News radio commentators, Ben Gross Greenberg, have started two rate suits for $50,000 damages each against Eddie Cantor, Radio Guide, Moses L. Annenberg, Moses Koenigsberg and Herbert Krancer, the latter three officers of the radio fan weekly. All were served save the comedian, who is now in Hollywood.

Cantor's published statements allegedly impugning the integrity of the New York radio editors is back of the suit. The interview was published in Radio Guide.

It precipitated sundry squawks from almost every radio editor, all of whom have expressed themselves variously as feeling that Cantor is privileged to his opinions anent the radio editorial fraternity, but when he specifically labels all as being dishonest 'with one exception,' it is too much. Some are frankly unconcerned either for reasons of editorial policy (whereas the News is known to be backing up Gross and Greenberg soundly) or because they feel it's another means of giving Cantor publicity which they are loath now to do.

Reid the Exception?

The 'excepted' radio editor has been identified as meaning Louis Reid of the N. Y. American. Cantor is quoted as having so identified him. In radio circles Reid's editorial attitude hasn't been any too favorable to Cantor.

Suit is brought in Kings County Supreme Court to avoid congestion in N. Y. county and as a means to hasten an early trial.

The Cantor vs. N. Y. radio editors imbroglio is nothing new. Cantor has openly charged that the newspapermen and the radio press agents have been working too much hand-in-hand. Cantor's attitude is that the scope of the radio showmanship as applied to merchandizing is too sweeping to be limited to a strictly Lindy's restaurant perspective and has taken exception to the limited Broadway slant on radio reporting.

Enrico, Jr.

Los Angeles, May 21.

Counting on Enrico Caruso, Jr., to develop into a radio personality, KFWB announced him under a phoney name for his first appearance before the microphone. Station officials were afraid he might develop mike fright.

Son of the famous tenor came through and at the next broadcast was billed under his right name.

HEARST BUYS WHAD TO AID WISN

Milwaukee, May 21.

Purchase of station WHAD, Marquette University, by Hearst's WISN has been announced by Gaston Grignon, manager of the latter station.

Agreement of purchase is now being studied by the Federal authorities, who are also studying an application to transfer the license and equipment of the university station to Hearst. Deal was completed by J. L. Kaufman, business manager of the radio division of Hearst Enterprises, Inc., and Prof. William R. Duffey of Marquette. Purchase price was not revealed.

WISN has been on the air for 12 hours daily for the past three years with the exception of 45 minutes mornings, and an hour in the afternoon and night, when the wavelength went over the WHAD. Both stations are pioneers in Milwaukee. WISN first went on the air in 1922 under the call letters of WIAO, later known as WSOE. In 1928 Hearst bought in and changed the letters to WISN, to designate his Wisconsin News.

WTMJ, operated by the Milwaukee Journal, is the only other local station.

'Use Own Judgment' Rule For Football Broadcasts

Lincoln, May 21.

Big Six schools voted unanimously at their annual spring meeting here Friday (18) to allow the decision for radio broadcasting of athletic events to rest with the individual colleges.

Nebraska's coaching staff has been severely criticized for its stand against the broadcasts, but since football supports all the other athletic programs, it has to pay. Last year, the first year of the ether chokeoff, Nebraska's gate picked up better than 35 per cent, which was a big factor in the Cornhuskers' standing pat. It is indicated that Kansas U. and Oklahoma U. will not go for the airing of games either.

Missouri, cellar winners for two seasons, has everything to gain and nothing to lose. Kansas Aggies and Iowa State also likely to okay radio.

Odd ing about the broadcast situation is that while radio stations thought enough about the games to raise an awful squawk when rights were revoked, none of them has offered a school any money for what seems to be a natural listener program.

Harry Royale, now at WHBC, Canton, presenting his Gertie and Elmer characterizations which he [illegible] in Cleveland in 1928

WGAR, Cleveland, Okays Union Wages but Not Union, Employes Back

Cleveland, May 21.

Studio engineers at WGAR who have been striking for higher wage scale have finally returned to the Cleveland station after a deadlock for five months.

Although no new agreement was signed by John F. Patt, station manager, it is reported that he conceded to union engineers' demands for $45 per week for engineers with one year's experience and graduating up to $55 for workers of three years' experience

Despite the settlement WGAR is remaining open shop with two technical non-union men on payroll, besides reserving the right to treat with non-union engineers separately.

Another union strike is imminent at WJAY, where engineers are threatening to walk out unless station comes to terms on a new wage schedule. WJAY may be taken over shortly by WHK, which plans to take it over as an added outlet.

Grunow's Summer Fade

Chicago, May 21.

Grunow refrigerator show slides off the Columbia web next week after a 13-week gallop. Eugene Ormandy, conductor of the Minneapolis symphony, hotfoots it for some appearances in the East and a trip to Europe.

Show may return for Grunow in the fall. Show has been an apparent click for the ice-box company, which is reported some 10,000 refrigerators behind on current orders.

GENERAL MILLS SPORTS PARADE

With Benny Friedman, Jimmy McLarnin, Ellsworth Vines, Joe McCarthy, Jack Dempsey, Ed Frane, Gene Sarazen, Mack Doner, Ted Husing, Gustav Henschen, Songsmiths, Betty Crocker, and Donald Davis

60 Mins.

COMMERCIAL

WABC, New York

About a month prior to this full-hour assembly of champions of the sports world the same sponsor, General Mills of Minneapolis, bankrolled a deluxe broadcast of stellar names of motion pictures, including George Arliss, Ronald Colman, Fredric March, Constance Bennett, Rupert Hughes, et al. Two programs had the same motivation, although entirely different. Idea is by a marshalling of big names to command a tremendous audience for a one-time splurge, so that audience General Mills gives one message—eat more bread, it is the basis of nutrition, it is not fattening.

Each of the sports stars that came to the mike Saturday (19), at 8 p.m. E.D.S.T., had something to say about bread and the part it plays on the training table of athletes. It was a good idea to associate physical prowess and stamina with bread and to combat the prevalent notion that bread puts on weight. A good idea but rather clumsily carried out. Continuities were not too clever. Subject of bread was dragged in so awkwardly that the effect was to weaken some of the endorsements.

In essence this was a 60-minute roll-call of paid endorsements. Program as a program was badly paced despite the splendid musical support of Gus Henschen and the Songsmiths, the professional entertainers spanning the chasm of time between each athlete.

Benny Friedman (football) and Joe McCarthy (baseball) clinched first place among the sporting world participants in the matter of saying something worth hearing and saying it well. Ellsworth Vines (tennis) copped runner-up honors. However, most of the athletes were unexpectedly literate and intelligible. Jimmy McLarnin (boxing) gave a very decent spiel on his sport but fouled the word 'food', which he continually pronounced a la Milt Gross. Ed Frayne, sports writer, showed the greatest amount of microphone nervousness.

Building a radio program, which fundamentally means an entertainment, with non-entertainers is always risky, and General Mills did not put over a good entertainment. Probably it was a good stunt because of the names and the wide fan following of the muscular gents, although seemingly the program appealed exclusively to men. Not a single woman athlete was included. That seems like a major omission and a lamentable oversight. Women, presumably, have a lot to do with the amount of bread consumed in America. Land.

SILKEN STRINGS

Charles Previn Orchestra

30 Mins.

COMMERCIAL

WLS, Chicago

Previn has an excellent radio orchestral idea here; a flock of violins backed with one cornet and one piano. It has a powerful entertainment wallop over the loudspeaker, besides tying in neatly with the hosiery angle of Real Silk. It's truly silken music.

This is the second series for Real Silk. The previous one had the Ted Weems orchestra and guesters. It was only a so-so program because it was similar to so many other programs. But this show is novel and distinct. On theme, style and idea association it clicks for this hosiery account.

Commercial plugs for the most part okay but occasional dramatic sequences are out of line. One drama caught had a school teacher complaining to the principal that the children were poking fun at the holes in her stockings. And the principal said: 'Well, use Real Silk hose'. This is absurd stuff and hardly belongs on a program so generally excellent. Smoother plugs are necessary for such a smooth program. Gold.

GEORGE HINKEL

Songs

15 Mins.

COMMERCIAL

WNAC, Boston

Reminiscent of the old vaudeville and minstrel shows, George Hinkel's pleasing bass-baritone voice offers fifteen minutes of not too hard to take relaxation. Billed 'The Street of Dreams,' also his theme song, the program is built from requests of listeners and is pretty evenly balanced between the old timers and the pops of the ballad type.

Having sailed along for a year on a sustaining basis, the station finally got a sponsor for the Street of Dreams, Cuticura Co. now paying the bills. Whether or not Hinkel writes his own dialog, it is deftly cued into the song titles as is the sponsor's sales message. Plugging a shaving cream it can be said that the program is very much similar to the CBS 'Singing Sam' series.

HOLLYWOOD ON THE AIR

With Diana Wynyard, Frank Buck, Gene Austin, Jan Rubini, Candy and Coco

45 Mins.

Sustaining

KFI, Los Angeles

While material was oke on the May 13th issue of this weekly 45-min. program from Hollywood, lack of variety and repetition of RKO picture plugging handicapped. Only four items on a three-quarter of an hour program, heretofore diversified, were obviously too few for a national networker.

Chief offense in repetition and plugging was during the lengthy interview of Diana Wynyard by Jimmy Fiddler. Seemed as if too much effort was taken to drive home the names of the various pictures in which this player appeared. Frank Buck was on for a relating of his jungle experiences, which was absorbing but again marred by the picture selling spiels.

Bright spot on the program was the crooning of Gene Austin who did three numbers, but antics of Candy and Coco, who troupe with him, and a natural visually, were lost. Austin has a good radio voice and his material was also, however, but mugging that goes with it from the two instrumentalists, especially from Candy at the bull fiddle, just could not be put over through this medium.

Jan Rubini's orchestra stuff, and his fiddle numbers was nicely executed but not enough of it on a program so heavy with wordage. Stan.

ROGER H.

Talk

10 Mins.

Sustaining

WGY, Schenectady

Director of entertainment for the British Broadcasting Company on this, his first air talk in the United States, guested on the Woman's Radio Review over the NBC red network. Subject was 'My Impressions of America,' and contrary to what might have been expected, he spent little time in discussing radio here. Eckersley did say that U. S. broadcasting was of high calibre in organization technique and entertainment.

He had not been able to accustom himself, he stated, to the 'advertising interpolations—of which there are none in England'—and to continuous broadcasting, with no spaces such as are a regular part of the BBC's schedule. Eckersley touched on the difference in the length of American and English programs, aerial talks in the 'Tight Little Isle' usually running for 20 minutes or more and straight entertainment shots for an hour or longer.

Strange as it may seem, in view of NBC directors' supposed preference for the highbrow and more pedestrian type of programs (from the American viewpoint), Eckersley's talk revealed that he was interested in, and impressed by, the quality of the entertainment and the general elaborateness of New York cabarets. This was the only branch of American show business on which he touched except for the brief remarks about broadcasting.

Eckersley's impressions of the U. S. A. led him to conclude the United States and England are 'pretty much alike.' His address, or chat, was not the easiest in the world to follow, due to the combination of a decidedly English accent, rapidity of speech, and a conversational tone. Jaco.

POSEY PLAYLETS

Mason Moltzner, Constance Foltz and Harry Davi

Serial

15 Minutes

COMMERCIAL

KGW, Portland

Notable among the dramatic programs produced over KGW, station of the Morning Oregonian, is 'Posey Playlets,' each complete in itself. Notable, because after playing 35 weeks, the program is still going strong and theres a contract signed up for next year.

Imagine, if you will, a dramatic program starting out under the handicap of such a moniker, 'Posey Playlets.' Then suppose that each story had to be woven about flowers; finally, that such a program must draw visitors and customers to a floral house three miles from the center of Portland. That was the 'Posey Playet' setup at the start, but it has been no stumbling block. Credit for the series goes to Mason Moltzner, former dramatic player, and now radio counsellor of an advertising agency. Moltzner writes, casts, directs and takes a leading part in each play.

Always it is a human interest story, and in one way or another flowers are brought into every drama. During the last eight months the program has been on the air, the sponsor has used no other medium of advertising. In addition to Mr. Moltzner, two other KGW players have long been identified with 'Posey Playlets.' They are Constance Roth Foltz, popular Portland radio player, and Harry Davis, who takes the romantic juvenile lead. Occasionally bit players are added.

MAXINE LASH

Songs, String Ensemble

15 Mins.

COMMERCIAL

WABC, New York

Should the lower registers of the Maxine Lash larynx click on the air one possibility presents itself, and that is an ensuing vogue for baritonic femme warblers. Perhaps radio is primed for a freak voice of the Lash type, and if so the chances of this miss are bright.

But before she can start to garner for herself real ocular attention she'll have to overcome at least two marked handicaps. One is a tendency to over-intensify the emotional content of a song, and the other is a lack of smoothness in rounding around a high note. It is quite likely that the nervousness of a first program (18) accounted for the tightness and strain that made themselves evident in her work, and that subsequent appearances will show a decided easing. The girl's voice has personality and power and these should carry her a long ways.

In instrumental support Miss Lash has a foursome consisting of violin, cello, harp and piano. As in the case of the vocalist, Phil Spitalny is responsible for the arrangements and general comportment of the string ensemble. Taking high spot in this niftily balanced combination is the violinist, Evelyn Kay. In arranging the ensemble's stint, Spitalny allowed for sharp musical contrast, while to the warbler he allocated pop ditties that brought into full play her penchant for the dramatic. These numbers were 'Boulevards of Broken Dreams,' 'The Beat o' My Heart' and 'Temptation,'

Probabilities are that Cheramy, Inc., cosmetic manufacturer, went astray in picking 10:30 P. M. EDST as the starting time for this strictly eastern release. Average housewife has seemingly by this turn of the clock decided to call it a day.

Ernest Chappell doubles from the introducing of the numbers to retailing the plug. Stressed is the firm's April Showers brand of talcum with the odd price of 28c. a box given repeat mention. Made note of also in the copy is the cosmetician's perfume brand.

On her theme number Miss Lash is using 'April Showers.' With the same tune Al Jolson has always identified himself on the air. But since he has temporarily retired from his Kraft-Phenix contract the chances are there won't be any objections. Ditty is a natural for the account, but its previous attachment to the Jolson mike personality won't be of much help to Miss Lash. Odec.

A. E. MATTHEWS

With Claude Rai

Sketch

COMMERCIAL

WEAF, New York

A. E. Matthews and Claude Rains are high-ranking members of the legitimate theatre. Both are sterling actors. Yet oddly enough they did not shine out in this appearance over the Rudy Vallee program. It was often difficult to distinguish one voice from the other.

Vehicle used is by John Balderston, author of 'Berkeley Square.' It is an amusing trifle somewhat over-prolonged as rendered by Matthews and Rains. It's what the musical revue calls a blackout and too long in getting to the big punch or surprise twist is always dangerous in that sort of thing.

A man dies, wakes up in the other world. He is assigned an omnipotent genii whose job is to gratify every whim of the ex-mortal. Time transitions take the man through the first weeks, months, and years of completely blissful gratification of all his desires. But after a time he grows bored from lack of something he can't have and from lack of things to want and work for. Rebelling at the kind of treatment accorded him, the former son of earth at last discovers that contrary to his assumption he's not in heaven, but in hell.

That's the twist.

MURIEL POLLOCK, VEE LAWNHURST

Piano Duo

Sustaining

15 Mins.

WGY, Schenectady

A breakfast-hour program added to the NBC red network chart with the switch from standard to daylight saving time. Girls reel off a series of pop numbers between 7:45 and 8 a. m. During the first week of the more-sunlight schedule, duo worked with Bill Whitley, a baritone, who landed a sustaining contract after appearing on the new talent 'Air Breaks' shot, but recently they have been playing alone.

Their programs furnish a pleasing musical background, against which listeners may breakfast, scan the headlines in the morning papers and go through the usual maneuvers preparatory to leaving the house for the daily grind. Miss Pollock and Miss Lawnhurst play current numbers briskly, although neither their arrangements nor their interpretations impress as unusual. As is customary with femme air duos offerings pops, they stress fingering in the treble. Broadcasts packed a little more punch when Whitley warbled thereon. Jaco.

YORK AND KING

Comedy

COMMERCIAL

WEAF, New York

Chic York and Rose King have been standard headliners in the varieties for 20 years or more. In the last few semesters of big time vaudeville's glory the tintype' late Victorian hokum which they developed and popularized constituted one of the most hilarious comedy acts in show biz.

This preface is for the benefit of those within radio who do not know the antecedents of the pair. For the sad fact is they were not recognizable on the Rudy Vallee Fleischmann hour as fun-makers.

York and King's effectiveness is, in large measure, due on the visible stage to the amusing costumes they wear, the facial mugging and sight business they use. All this was missing on the air and in consequence many cams over the kilocycles was disintegrated dialog that failed to make clear what they were supposed to be and what they were doing. A preliminary introduction only partially succeeded in suggesting the scene.

Pair were not well-advised in the matter of proper material for the air. Chic York's expletives addressed to Miss King became the outstanding fact over the air. In vaudeville these remarks, 'you old warhorse,' etc., are simply incidental. And should never be more than incidental.

Radio listeners, it's a fair guess, are totally unprepared for a man and woman crossfire act in which the essence of humor is name-calling. Pair's diction, of course, is good. Land.

THE VAGABONDS

Songs

Sustaining

15 Mins.

WGY, Schenectady

This trio rolled into WGY from WSM, Nashville, and despite the billing, it is not likely that they will hit the road for another station in the near future. The young harmonists offer a type of program that should make them welcome guests via loudspeaker to the urban and rural audience which WGY reached in upper New York State and New England.

Vagabonds are Herald Goodman, second tenor and announcer; Dean Upson, baritone and pianist, and Curt Poulton, baritone and guitarist. Turn regularly employs four singers but one, Wilbur, who apparently takes the 'Vagabond' billing seriously, has not yet come off the road from Nashville.

Boys do close harmony, specializing on American folk songs, old-time ballads, Negro spirituals and hymns. It is said that they include current pop numbers in their repertoire, but on the broadcasts caught the Vagabonds stuck pretty close to the four types mentioned in the preceding sentence. In fact, trio's melodic theme mentions 'old tunes.' Some of the numbers are their own compositions.

Voices blend smoothly and clever arrangements enhance the harmonic effect. It is obvious that they have been singing as a unit for some time and it is equally obvious that they are at home in the interpretation of native vocal Americana. Much of the trio's singing is to guitar accompaniment. Goodman, whose speaking voice is so similar to that of Bradley Kincaid, another WGY warbler from the South, that certain listeners may confuse the two, tenors hymns in a light but pleasing voice. He has an easy, natural manner before the mike. Jaco.

CUSHMAN REVUE

With Ray Perkins, Ben Selvin, Radie Harris, Estelle Taylor

Chatter, Songs, Band

30 Mins.

COMMERCIAL

WOR, Newark

Until last Wednesday night (16) the Cushman bakery chain of Greater New York limited its air representation to a weekly quarter hour on WOR with Ray Perkins the sole source of entertainment. Stretching out the time obligation to 30 minutes brought with it a dance combo headed by Ben Selvin and Radie Harris to do her routine of film gossip dishing and screen celeb interviewing. Initial half hour frame unlimbered a lively and diverting potpourri.

Ray Perkins' running fire of nifties, in which he kidded himself as well as the others on the program, containing the stuff that makes for choice loudspeaker humor. For simplepiece the Selvin unit did a swell job at zipping things up for Tin Pan Alley's latest compositions, while Radie Harris gave an up-to-the-minuteness to her chatter items and a keen touch of human interest to her interview with Estelle Taylor. Exchange of questions and answers brought forth the info that the guestess had quit her screen career to become a warbler and that she currently was doing a turn in a Broadway niterie, the Simplon Club. She said she was trying to create a new style in singing, that is, toward endowing pop music with a classic interpretation.

Sales copy was confined to calling attention to the baked goods specials offered by the Cushman stores for each day of the current week. Odec.

'COBWEBS and NUTS'

Mel Blanc

One Hour

COMMERCIAL

KEX Portland

For one hour each day, listeners of KEX, 5,000-watt station of the Oregonian, chuckle and grin at the radio antics of one man—and what a man it takes to hold their interest for a full hour six days a week!

That's the achievement of Mel Blanc, staff funnyman, with his daily 'Cobwebs and Nuts' broadcast. And he's been at it every week day since June, 1933. Starting then as a sustaining program, 'Cobwebs and Nuts' now has commercial sponsors who confess, despite the fact that Blanc mostly kids them along in his announcements, that the program has brought them measurable increases in business.

Mel Blanc declares that the basis for his program is to figure out any kind of a situation, and then do just the opposite—in other words fool the public. He uses only phonograph records for music, but imitates as many as 20 different characters on one program, assisted now and then by his wife, Estelle Blanc, who takes the part of Mrs. G. G. G. G. McFlopgoople, IV, in burlesque dramatic skits.

A hallmark of 'Cobwebs and Nuts' is time signals. They range from a clatter of bells, chains, pans, horns and tubs, to a 5-year-old girl in the audience calling 'Mama.' Blanc explains that once during his first program he was out in the studio hallway taking a smoke during a record and stayed too long. Rushing back into the studio he tripped over a chair and knocked the microphone off the table along with a cowbell he was using on a commercial announcement. He nonchalantly picked up himself and the microphone and announced 'Time signal'—eleven fifteen and three-quarters. The Station: KEX in Portland.' Listeners, believing it to be a gag, were delighted, so he added it to his bag of tricks.

Noteworthy are the crowds that appear faithfully each day at the studio to watch and hear him. Never a broadcast without an audience.

Example of introduction (different each day): 'You will now listen to 'Cobwebs and Nuts'... Introducing Uncle Cobweb, also known as Chief Shallowbrain, the big man with the Little Learning.'

KOIN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Joseph Sampietro, Director

Classical Music

Sustaining

KOIN, Portland,

Fifty musicians from the Portland Symphony orchestra were directed by Joseph Sampietro, KOIN musical director and ex-theatre maestro, in a concert over the entire CBS network Sunday, May 6, with three more to follow.

Sampietro chose a repertoire of classical selections with an eye for popular favor. Such favorites as Schubert's 'Rosamunde' Overture, 'Valse Triste' by Sibelius, 'Danse Macabre' by Saint-Saens, Schubert's 'Symphony in B Minor' and Tschaikowsky's 'Overture of 1812' formed the heavy portion of the program, while the lighter vein was delineated by such numbers as 'The Last Spring' by Grieg, 'La Feria' Suite Espagnole by Lacombe, 'Artist's Life' by Strauss and the 'Dance des Bouffons' by Rimsky-Korsakoff.

Displaying good judgment at all times, Sampietro's reading of the professional classics brought heavy response from the capacity audience at the Paramount theatre, where the broadcast originated.

Particular mention should be made of Art Kirkman's commentating. His diction was particularly clear and his knowledge of his subject gave a greater understanding of the continuity. Nothing bombastic or too heavily pedantic entered into his announcing.

CRAZY RANGE RAMBLERS

Songs, Patter

15 Mins.

COMMERCIAL

WMCA, New York

When not subsidizing hillbilly quartets, Crazy Water Crystals runs to literary programs wherei the poetic excerpts get cloyingly sentimental over the little shack on the hill once called home, the lonely fireside and the old oaken bucket. A major spender in both network and spot broadcasting, the purgative vendor has in its blanketing of the eastern, southern and midwest areas confined itself to these two types of loudspeaker diversion.

On WMCA nightly it's a hillbilly foursome which provides both the vocal and instrumental effects. Boys occasionally take time out from their harmony mixing on the backwoods and open country theme to dish a bit of patter. Apparently the talk has continuity and plot, but it takes more than one program for a listener to get any inkling of what it's all about. Odec.

Bright Young Man Hard to Find

Lord and Thomas Asks Survey Outfit to Find Radio Executive

Lord & Thomas has asked Tradeways, Inc., which efficiency organization has been investigating NBC the past eight months, to help the agency pick an exec to head its radio department. Don Francisco, executive v.-p. for L. & T., in New York from the Coast looking the field over for a man to fill the job.

Francisco last week interviewed a couple of men now with NBC, another holding a post in the Columbia commercial program department and several radio execs with various other ad agencies. Lord & Thomas in making the request of Tradeways figured that during its contacts around the industry while working for NBC it might have run across somebody who could fill the L. & T. requirements.

John Royal Releases Janssen from Contract

Werner Janssen, ex Tin Pan Alleyite, who recently was announced as among those slated to conduct the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra next season, won't have to go back to WTAM, Cleveland, to fill out an old contract. Though it had years to go, John Royal last week handed the document back to Janssen.

In May, 1929, while Royal was directing the Cleveland outlet, Janssen put his signature to a contract calling for a three-year stay as conductor and arranger with WTAM. After eight months on the job Janssen became eligible to a Rome Prix scholarship, and Royal agreed to suspend the contract while Janssen was abroad studying.

CBS Home Office P. A.'s Realigned for Heat

Columbia's press staff has been shuffled around to conform with the summer letdown in commercial business. Several of those who have specialized in sponor or agency contact will during the warm spell work on special assignments.

Among these is Ruth Betz, who has been taken off commercial program publicizing to assist Bob Taplinger in feeding the radio columnists. Vacancy created by the resignation of William Fineschreiber is being taken care of by moving Bob Wilkinson from the night trick to the day side. This leaves Sam Slate as the lone night-time info go-between.

Spielers' Rivalry

Washington, May 21.

Putting Arthur Reilly, air spieler for Herald, on WMAL Breakfast Club, is innovation in local broadcasting. Reilly has quite a rep as whispering slumber time orator, but putting him on in a.m. when stations usually look for pep and vigor artists has opposition puzzled.

Move was made to combat Arthur Godfrey, local Columbia sunrise gagman. NBC figures best way to lick Godfrey is with totally different type of show, using poetry, sob stuff, etc.

WFBM TESTS FOR SITE

Indianapolis, May 21.

M. R. Williams, chief engineer for WFBM, is conducting a series of tests with 50-watt transmitter and receiver trying to find best location for new transmitting unit, permission having been granted for experiment by Federal Radio commish.

Plans are also under way to construct elaborate new studios which will be ready for occupancy next fall.

Tim Frawley Bankrupt

Timothy Daniel Frawley, who has been frequently cast in NBC dramatic programs, last week took the bankruptcy veil through a petition filed with the New York Federal Court.

Frawley's schedule listed his liabilities as $3,180 and assets none.

Fill to Suit

Boston, May 21.

Pet show held recently revealed two dogs and one goat named Stoopnagle and two cats named Beetle and Bottle, after Phil Baker's radio characters.

A rat was named after another radio headliner.

Chi NBC Program Dept. Adds Traffic Job and Weber Shifts to N. Y.

Chicago, May 21.

Local NBC is juggling its office space around to fit in with its new arrangements of sales, traffic and program staffs. With NBC moving Freddy Weber, station relations man, to New York offices, it has resulted in a switch of the Chicago traffic department from Weber to the program department under Sidney Strotz.

It brings the Strotz supervisory jobs to another new high. Actually the traffic department will continue under the eye of Ed Stockmar, who has been handling the job for some time.

Cisler's Baseball Test

Birmingham, May 21.

War over broadcasting of home baseball games is to be continued in court, with Steve Cisler, manager of WSGN seeking to have a temporary injunction granted by the baseball association against the station dissolved. Cisler attempted to broadcast games by climbing a tree outside the ball park on land leased by the station.

Cisler, who is a member of the legislative committee of the National Association of Broadcasters, said he wanted to have the case thoroughly tested in court as the ruling would affect stations throughout the United States, and especially in the South, where the Southern League has a rule against broadcasting home games.

Here and There

Martin J. Wallace has been appointed engineer in charge of WGY's Schenectady transmitter. He's from G. E. and RCA.

Warren Munson, former announcer at WGY, Schenectady, and later at WTAM, Cleveland, is now at WDRC, Hartford.

Frank L. Bishop, formerly with KVOR, Colorado Springs, Col., is to join the commercial staff of WSGN, Birmingham.

Vern Ripley from WADC and WJW, Akron, has been added to the announcing staff of WSGN, Birmingham. He will double in songs.

L. E. Cheek, member of WFAA staff at the transmitter, twenty miles from Dallas, bitten by a pet dog. Dog has been pronounced mad and the bite-ee must submit to three weeks of serum taking as a precaution against rabies.

KSO, Des Moines, has an 'Inquiring Microphone' reporter spotted in front of Register Tribune building every day from 12:15 to 12:25. Dale Morgan handles the spot for sponsorship of the Deep Rock Oil Company.

Gesture to Local Rotary

Charlotte, N. C.

WBT will supply the Charlotte Rotary club with a program originating at Detroit on June 12. At that time the annual convention of Rotary International will be in session at Detroit.

Manager W. A. Schudt, Jr., of WBT, also a Rotarian, will install loud speakers at the Rotary meeting and plug in an address at noon piped to Charlotte by Columbia.

This takes the place of the usual local program before the group.

WSB Says It Will Not Join WLW Battle

Atlanta, May 21.

WSB denies that it is interested in or will be a party to any union of stations in the south designed to fight WLW, Cincinnati.

WSB had been mentioned by VARIETY as joining with WHAS, Louisville; WSM, Nashville, and WCKY, Covington-Cincinnati, to meet the threat of WLW's new 500,000-watts.

Radio Stations Have Problems in Holland; Merchants Rap AVRO

The Hague, May 9.

Radio stations have their problems in Holland, too. Station AVRO is being denounced by the Dutch Shopkeepers' Association for arranging a tie-up with a big department store downtown. A parade of mannequins tied-in with AVRO's dressmaking lessons broadcast twice a week.

Besides resenting AVRO's encouragement of home dressmaking which hurts readymade sales, the shopkeepers dislike AVRO diverting the purchases of fabrics to the big department store.

22 NBC OFFICIALS MEET AT CAPITAL

Washington, May 21.

Monthly confab of eastern NBC station managers held here last Wednesday (16) and drew 22 officials from New York, Boston, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Schenectady. Phil Loucks, NAB head, in on confabs, which centered around station policies and code operations.

Next meet slated for June 18 in New York, extending through Advertising Federation convention June 19 and 20.

Jack Little's Walkout Puts CBS Artists Bureau in Awkward Spot

Little Jack Little, who has been on the buildup from Columbia past two years, has switched allegi the Music Corporation of America, accepted through the latter organization a contract placing him in the Ambassador hotel, Atlantic City, starting June 27. Little's new alliance has made it embarrassing for the Columbia Artists Bureau, since that office responsible for Little's radio booking as well as the spotting of the Isham Jones unit into the Ritz, which has always been known as stiff opposition to the Ambassador.

Tieup that Little has made with MCA also placed the CBS Artists Bureau in the position of having to split commissions with MCA on any of the the raft of one-nighters that Columbia has booked for the warbler-bandman. CBS switched its allegiance to the Ritz this summer following a break in friendly relations between the Ambassador management and Ralph Wonders, manager of the CBS Artists Bureau. During the previous two summers Jones held the Ambassador spot as a Columbia booking.

To a Dead Mike

Atlanta, May 21.

Great presence of mind shown other eve by Roy McMillan, WSB announcer. The transmitter went dead and McMillan was so advised by the engineer. Rushing to the mike he informed the world:

'Circumstances beyond our control prevent continuance of this feature from WSB.'

Can Replay Disrupted Programs Without Cost Says Code Authority

Washington, May 21.

Commercial programs disrupted by baseball broadcasts, or other programs of indefinite length, may be put on during first available period at no extra charge, broadcast code authority announced last week.

Bulletin sent to all stations says that Deputy Administrator Farnsworth and legal officials of NRA have approved such interpretation of section 1, Article VII, which prohibits modification of rate cards. Codists also noted that this provision means that charges, discounts, rebates, refunds and commissions, not specifically covered by rate cards, must be filed with the C. A. immediately upon execution of a contract.

Harry Heilmann, for years outfielder on the Detroit American League club and a several-times winner of the league batting crown, is broadcasting baseball games over WXYZ, Detroit.

Parent-Teachers Rap Liquor Advertising; Also Hit Film Biz

Des Moines, Ia., May 21.

Practice of advertising liquors over the ether received a rap because it reaches 'children at their tenderest ages,' in a resolution adopted by national Congress of Parents and Teachers here. While the radio advertising took the heaviest belt liquor advertising of all kinds came in for scathing denunciation.

A film resolution pledged the organization to combat practices of blind buying and block booking by motion picture companies.

Separate Nites for World's Fair Programs

Chicago, May 21.

Original intention of State Street's 'Keep Chicago Ahead' committee for a two-hour long broadcast on both networks for a World's Fair plug has been abandoned. Instead the broadcasts on each network wil be a week apart. First 60-minute show will run on CBS on this coming Friday (25), the second will be on NBC the week following on June 1. Both programs will ride from 10:30-11:30 p.m. Eastern time.

Figured that blowing the entire two hours on one evening was wasting time and good coin. Show is being prepared and placed through the Hays McFarland agency here. Shows will include both commercial and sustaining talent, with most of the sponsors with shows at the Fair contributing talent to the radio show. Also those shows which will have to be moved will get special plugging through use of the talent.

Originally planned to use CBS on Friday night and NBC on the next Saturday night to catch two different types of audience, but NBC couldn't deliver the Saturday session due to the fact that Dr. Miles' Laboratory no like giving up his session on the ether.

TOM CONVEY DIES

Pioneer Radio Showman Passes In St. Louis at 48

St. Louis, May 21.

Thomas Patrick Convey, president of station KWK, and one of the pioneering showmen of broadcasting, died, May 18, of complications following an operation. He was 48 years old.

Build-up of KWK resolved itself into a one-man affair ever since he took the wavelength, nine years ago. For years Convey did the major part of the station's announcing under the tag of 'Tom Patrick.'

Convey was a Chicagoan, and one of the organizers of the National Association of Broadcasters.

New Business

WASHINGTON

Pennzoil Co., five-minute programs, records and announcements, twice weekly for 32 times, Ruthrauff & Ryan. WJSV.

Pontiac Motors, nightly announcements for five weeks, Campbell Ewald. WJSV.

Loew's Theatres, daily A. M. time signals 13 weeks. WJSV.

Long Beach Corp., 15-minutes transcription Friday nights for 13 weeks. WRC.

Wash. Chevrolet Dealers' Ass'n, nightly temperature reports for four weeks. WMAL.

Woodland Beach, 100 announcements. WRC.

Wilson S.S. Line, 100 announcements on WMAL; 29 on WRC; 29 on WJSV.

Martin Gillette & Co., 26 daytime announcements, Gibson & Corner. WJSV.

National Capital Ice Inst., program 5:45 to 6 P. M. Tuesdays for 13 weeks, Henry Kaufman. WJSV.

True Confessions, two evening announcements, Critchfield - Graves. WJSV.

U. S. Gutta Percha Paint, 30 nightly announcements, J. Walter Thompson. WJSV.

Buick Motors, six announcements daily for five days, Campbell-Ewald. WJSV.

George's Radio Co., sponsoring boxing matches every Monday night, C. D. Ferguson. WJSV.

Lansburgh Dept. Store, time signals A. M. daily for 13 weeks. WJSV.

Cherner Motor Co., programs 8 to 8:30 P. M. Thursdays for 13 weeks. WJSV.

United Food Stores, programs 9:45 A. M. Fridays for 13 weeks, Paris & Peart. WJSV.

Manhattan Laundry, three announcements per week for 40 weeks. WJSV.

BOSTON

Cliquot Club Co., 48 announcements in Evening Tatler, started May 10, through N. W. Ayer & Son, New York. WEEI.

Gilchrist Co., one 15-minute program, started May 18, through Salinger & Publicover, Boston. WEEI.

Paramount Baking Co., 26 thirty-minute programs, started May 20, through David Malkiel. WAAB.

Community Dentists, Inc., 13 five-minute programs, started May 17, through Salinger & Publicover, Boston. WNAC.

W. L. Thompson Co., 612 announcements daily, through Doremus Advertising Agency, Boston, started May 17. WNAC.

Metropolitan Boston Co-operative Advertising Group (New England Gas Association), 196 announcements, started May 13, through Richardson Alley & Richards, Boston. WNAC.

Coward Shoe Co., 312 announcements, started May 14, through Fletcher & Ellis. WNAC.

Big Bear Market, 168 announcements, started May 15, through Greenleaf Agency, Boston. WAAB.

PHILADELPHIA

Noxzema, three five-minute transcriptions, for thirteen programs, Ruthrauff & Ryan. WCAU.

Alka Seltzer, three five-minute transcriptions, Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday for 11 weeks, Wade Agency. WCAU.

Silver King Golf Balls (through Wanamaker Store), fifteen-minute golf talks by Leo Diegel and Bill Brandt, Friday at 8 P. M., for six weeks, N. W. Ayer & Son. WCAU.

Laundry Gems, fifteen minutes, Tuesday at 11:30 A. M., for 13 weeks, with Anthony Candelori's orchestra, Parris & Peart. WCAU.

ATLANTA

B. F. Goodrich, three times a week, starring Max Baer, NBC, on WSB.

Johns-Manville, half-hour Saturdays, NBC, over WSB.

White Lily Flour, 25-word spots over WSB.

General Mills (Wheaties) sponsorship of baseball broadcasts for season over WSB.

Coca-Cola Bottling Company. Sponsorship of baseball broadcasts for season over WGST.

Tums, fourteen one-minute transcriptions over WSB.

BC Remedy Company, 364 50-word announcements over WSB.

Kerr Glass Company, 26 one-minute announcements over WSB.

Dodge Motors, six 100-word announcements over WSB.

Columbia Pictures, twelve 50-word announcements over WSB.

Black Flag Company, 55 one-minute transcriptions over WSB.

Crazy Water Crystals, thirty-minute locally produced talent show each morning except Sunday, over WSB.

Fletcher's Castoria, half-hour locally produced talent show each Thursday evening over WSB.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

W. T. Eagle Jewelry Co., spot announcements daily for one month. Placed locally. WSJS.

Darling Shop, spot announcement daily for one month. Placed locally. WSJS.

Anchor Store, 15-minute program three mornings each week, broadcast from various departments in

(Continued on page 38)

RADIO SHOWMANSHIP

(Merchandizing and Program Tieups)

OUTSTANDING STUNTS:
KIDS' DEALER CHECK-UP
WIND, , Ind.

Ki istribution

Herbert Sherman, sales manager of WIND, Gary, has arranged a tie-up between Bi Whiz candy bar and the Chicago White Sox ball team. WIND regularly carries the White Sox play-by-play games.

New program is called 'Dugout Interviews' and is a running series of ball player interviews by Johnny O'Har , sports announcer. Candy offers five autographed balls daily for five best letters accompanied by one wrapper, if available.

That 'if available' is the gag by which the candy is securing new dealers. Kids writing for the autographed balls tell the sponsor that such and such a dealer doesn't carry the candy, so couldn't buy the candy. With the letter in his mitt the manufacturer has a sure selling point for the dealer.

ink White an Is Nuts

New York.

Flattery is the essence of most of the kid programs. Story invariably reveals some 12-year old hero as not only quite a young man but treated as an equal by adults who are constantly impressed by the iad's astonishing brilliance.

Bobby Benson is that kind of a kid. Say 'boo' and he'll pull a gun on you! He paces the floor like a tiger and does his worrying in the major keys. Men three times his age are uncomfortable in the presence of Bobby Benson's rugged virility, his desire to be up and at 'em. Bobby tries, apropos a kidnapper (full-grown) 'let me get my hands on him.' Something pretty awful is likely to occur when this Benson kid once has the jungle-lust within him aroused by some low-down coyote.

Force, the cereal, is behind Bobby. Behind him and all the cowboys and Chinese cooks and lovable westerners, including the heap big Indian, who grunts in broken English, 'I think white man is nuts.'

To fortify the popularity of Terrible Bobby, the boy shoot-em-up, Force offers roller skates as prizes. Sensational roller skates. The bolts never rust, the toes never bend, and they are equipped, the announcer affirms, with 'floating power just like the new automobiles.'

'Sports Page of Air'

Oklahoma City.

A 'sports page of the air' that in every detail lives up to its name has been inaugrated over KOMA, for the Goodrich Tire company. Broadcasts are daily at 6:15 p. m.

Although major attention is focused on baseball, the program includes other sports of general interest, including golf, tennis and swimming tournaments, and results of racing, polo, wrestling, boxing, summer boating and other indoor sports are included.

Interviews with personages in the sports limelight are prominently included. Maxie Rosenbloom, LeRoy McGuirk, and Jimmie Humphreys, secretary of the Oklahoma City Indian baseball club have been heard.

Relays Kid Club

Montgomery, Ala.

Lloyd Towns, Paramount theatre manager, hooks up with station WSAF every Saturday morning, when the kids of this town pack the theatre to watch the 'Mickey Mouse' shows. Towns acts as master of ceremonies and has a lot of fun with the kids, and in greeting the kids from the stage the entire entertainment is broadcast. Program is sponsored by Southern Dairies.

Kids in the audience make enough noise from the theatre, so the noise and their fun goes over the radio hookup.

Gordon Persons, Howard Pill and John Alien Woiff, all members of the radio station, take part in the hookup.

300,000 Flour Bags

Chicago.

Replies to Pillsbury's merchandising campaign have reached a 300,000 total on its 'Today's Children' show on NBC.

Have offered a booklet about the cast and the star, Irma Phillips, to all listeners sending in the Pillsbury imprint from the bag of flour.

Whooping Up Home Town

Seattle.

With summer and the tourist season coming—a big season for Seattle—the Chamber of Commerce and station KJR got together last week in an attempt to raise a fervor of hospitality in the local citizens.

Seventeen people picked at random from as many representative trades about town were put before the mike in a hour's program to say nice things about the city from their own viewpoint. The representative 17 were: A barber, newsboy, butcher, baker, waitress, telegram messenger, traffic cop, hotel hostess, street car operator, bakery girl, mail carrier, railroad station master, elevator operator, boy and girl scout, bootblack, and bus driver.

Program was plugged previous to broadcast to insure listeners. Taiks were rehearsed.

WOR's Listings

New York.

WOR, Newark, now sends out its week's program listings in printed format similar to that of CBS and NBC. Each day's schedule has its own sheet, with the whole thing pinned together at the top.

Noted on the top page are the program highlights of the week.

Junior Chorus on Stage

Baltimore.

WCBM's 'Junior Radio Chorus,' a massed group of 200 pipes, consisting coterie of both sexes under 17, broadcasts its once-weekly quarter-hour warbling setto from the stage of Keith's, loop first-run picture house.

'Chorus,' which was mustered via contest conducted in co-op with newspaper, gets a half-stick plug from sheet, inserted in local news section each Sunday morn, day of broadcast. Visual airing is spliced into flick program, with Keith's regular admish nick holding.

The station, after the singers' successful starter, is planning to branch out and by sun-tan season expand the show to 60 minutes, producing standard operettas, in costume and with full orchestral support.

Lone Judge

Chicago.

Fitch hair tonic contest conducted by Wendall Hall announces that Hall is 'the sole judge.'

This seems like dubious judgment. It may build Hall up in one way but it makes him responsible for rejections of jingles submitted by hopefuls. Would seem that avoidance of the stress would be less invidious and shrewder on the showmanship angle.

Generally known that contests often make bad friends.

Ford Summarizes

New York.

CBS reprinted for distribution a four-page section in the Ford Dealers News (April 15) devoted to plugging the auto brand's Ford Waring program. Article retails how the commercial estimates it is reaching 96% of all listeners by using every station in the CBS link (88), discusses the popularity of the Waring combination among loudspeaker fans and cites as a matter of special interest the fact that the broadcast originates from Columbia's Radio Playhoused in the Times Square district.

Pictures of Fred Waring in his earlier days and the warbling specialists in his aggregation were included in the reprint.

'Call to Java' Muffs

New York.

American Telephone and Telegraph's attempt to circle the globe with radio telephony last Saturday night (12) fizzled badly because of atmospheric conditions encountered in the Orient. Tuned in on the stunt was a CBS hookup.

Assigned to carry on the conversation from this end was Paul Douglas, the CBS announcer on the program. Idea was to first bring in Java, have that point send the message on to Paris, and then have Paris relay it to the United States. Java failed to respond to the short wave telephony signal, and, as a last resort, Douglas put in a call for Honolulu. By the time communications were established with this point and a clear signal brought in the quarter hour allotted the program was up.

After the CBS broadcast, the telephone company reported that only 10 minutes before the Columbia announcer started his 'call to Java' the Dutch settlement had been brought in by A T & T engineers.

isplay Space

Charlotte, N. C.

As a special courtesy to advertisers, WBT has set aside a section of its reception room as a display space for the use of those using the station's time. A showcase will be available for small items.

As an additional favor to advertisers, the studio receptionist will distribute free samples to those visiting the studios.

First client to make use of this new privilege was a local bottling plant. The concern put a large ice box filled with pop in the reception room and it was passed out to visitors while it lasted.

WEEI's Singing Bee

Boston.

Studio visitors on Wednesday and Friday nights will be invited to waft their voices over WEEI's waves in a program designed to take care of six vocalists whose summer earnings would otherwise be cut by cancellations of commercial accounts. Program is sort of a community sing, with Bobby Banks, former vaudevillian, as leader and m.c.

Six professional singers will be planted among audience to set the pace. Old songs of the 'Put On Your Old Grey Bonnet' era will be the rule.

Inviting a Riot

Washington.

Arthur Godfrey, local Columbia announcer, casually invited anybody who wished to drop up to WJSV studios next time he m.c.'d a record program. Deluge of fans totaled 600. They stood on pianos, overran control room and swiped a dynamic mike.

Station now bars studio audiences.

Film Sound Trade

Buffalo.

WKBW made a promotional tie-up with the Lafayette theatre whereby the film sound track of the Chesterfield picture, 'Rainbow Over Broadway,' was broadcast for 70 minutes. Broadcast wires tapped into the theatre's sound equipment. Occasional short lapses in dialog during the picture were filled in by station announcer describing the action.

Preceding the stunt to create interest half-page newspaper advertisements were published. Theatre ran advance trailers calling the public's attention to the enterprise while the station donated a series of spot announcements.

WKBW and theatre intend to repeat same stunt in future, but probably using short subjects and musical novelties more adaptable to pick-up than full length features.

KNX, Los Angeles, some weeks ago broadcast a motion picture sound track.

Rockwell-O'Keefe Promotion

New York.

Rockwell-O'Keefe's latest promotional brochure on behalf of the flim's talent specifically is to announce the availability of B. A. Rolfe.

Title of the brochure is 'A Radio Program with the Guesswork Removed for the Advertiser Who Wishes a Known Audience at a Known Cost.' Agency proposes the transference to an alert sponsor of the established following and popularity of Rolfe. It's a smart sales stunt applied to talent.

Radio Store Show

Charlotte, N. C.

Southern public utilities company moved its 'Rosewood and Ivory' program, running over WBT, to its sales and display rooms last week and for two nights offered a show on an improvised stage there, broadcasting it with WBT's remote control facilities.

The occasion was a celebration of the 20th birthday of the electric refrigerator that the concern sells. Attendance at the showroom averaged 1,000 for each of two nights. Clair Shadwell announced the party program. Artists appeared on the stage from the door of a giant 18-foot refrigerator that had been erected to scale. Featured were Margaret Chesick, lyric soprano; Peter Marvin, xyiophonist; George Fraser, pianist, and Irving (Gatemouth) Setzer, minstrel.

Outdoor Kid Program

Elmira, N. Y.

Six hundred children took part in a broadcast by WESG that was sponsored by the Cobakco Baking Company. Finding room for such a large number was no problem for the broadcast originated in a park. It was given Sunday afternoon, April 29. George F. Givens led community singing and six trained children's groups gave a musical program. A 50-piece band played.

Special attention was accorded the program by listeners because it was heraided widely as the opening feature of the observance of Youth Week. And a baking outfit put up the dough.

Home Economics Course

Philadelphia.

Philly's WCAU is taking a leaf from the correspondence schools and giving Home Economics course all their own.

Station's special auditorium is devoted each day to the Woman's Club of the Air, with live shows on cooking and domestic practices to a visual audience broadcast simultaneousiy. Women enrolled in the school are required minimum attendance and a prescribed amount of homework. End of the season brings a regulation exam, with sheepskins to be awarded to the sixty honor 'students.'

General Foods' Big Stunt

Chicago.

General Foods has tied in its Admiral Byrd show (CBS) on the official opening of the Chicago World's Fair this Saturday night (26). Program will originate that evening from Chicago and include acts culled from the Belgian and Swiss Villages at the exposition, a chorus of 1,000 voices, and speeches by General Rufus Dawes and Governor Horner of Illinois.

Arrangements have also been made to leave it to the broadcast to set off the night's pyrotechnic display. Rigged up to the fireworks tinder will be a short wave receiving mechanism. On the receipt of a signal from Byrd, sequestered in the Antartic wastes, this mechanism will send off the sparks necessary to ignite the fireworks.

ids Sans Rehearsals

Winston-Salem, N. C.

Kiddies Party, a half-hour spontaneous radio program for small children over WSJS and sponsored by the Southern Dairies and Quality Bakery, is entering its third year and is one of the most popular programs the local station has.

Sixty small children receive invitations to attend the party and each one is expected to sing or recite. None receive bids in time to rehearse for the program and no one gets an audition. The sponsors give two presents and all the kids get ice cream and cake.

KWCR's Cooking School

Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Radio Station KWCR put over a new stunt in a cooking school of the air for four days with General Foods Corp. cooperating, the first on the air over the local station. Merchants were rung in on the school through a demonstration and exhibition of home appliances in various sections of the broadcasting studios.

Open to all who cared to attend, yet setup so arranged that housewives unable to attend all sessions were able to tune in and get all without making a trip to the studio. Drew many visitors to the studio for a glimpse of the appliance lines and general setup of the broadcasting setup. Added a more personal touch for many able only to get a looksee and then compelled to get in on the school via the air route.

Mrs. Cora E. Kreasam, General Foods home economic expert at the mike and as demonstrator.

Cutex Talent i Stores

New York.

Cutex has arranged to have Phil Harris and Leah Ray while on their current picture house tour make personal appearances in department stores handling the product. All the pair will be expected to do is greet the femme patrons and sign nature autographs.

First tie-up of this sort framed by the cosmetic maker for the pair is the Hudson store in Detroit. Harris plays the Fox in this town next week (25).

EDDIE PEABODY
FAREWELL WEEK
FINISHING
5 Consecutive Months
Hollywood Restaurant
New York City
Thanks to
RUDY VALLEE—JOE MOSS

Guest Star on the Fleischmann Hour, Thursday, May 24, at 8 P. M. E.D.S.T.

EVERY SATURDAY
WEAF-WFI-WGY, 7:30-8:00 P. M.
PURE OIL PEP SHOW

THE GREEK AMBASSADOR OF GOOD WILL
GEORGE GIVOT
Loew's Deluxe Theatres
Sole Direction
HERMAN BERNIE
1619 Broadway, New York

GRACIE BARRIE
"The Sweetheart of the Blues"
NOW PLAYING
RKO THEATRES
Sole Direction
HERMAN BERNIE
1619 Broadway, New York

LEO REISMAN
AMERICA'S MOST EXPENSIVE RECORDING DANCE ORCHESTRA
on
BRUNSWICK RECORDS

Jack and Loretta Clemens
WJZ
10:45-11 A.M.
Mon., Wed., Fri.
WILBERT'S FLOOR WAX
Direction
NBC Artists Bureau
and
Ben Bocke Productions

FRANK PARKER
Featured Soloist
A. & P. GYPSIES
GENERAL TIRES
First Tenor with
THE REVELLERS

fred allen's
HOUR OF SMILES
With
PORTLAND HOFFA
JACK SMART
IRWIN DELMORE
LIONEL STANDER
MINERVA PIOUS
EILEEN DOUGLAS
LENNIE HAYTON'S IFANA TROUBADOURS
Material by Fred Allen and Harry Tugend
Management Walter Batchelor
Wednesdays, 9-10 P. M., D. S. T.
WEAF

HOTEL PIERRE
JACK DENNY
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Conoco Oil
Wed., 10:30 P.M.
WJZ
Richard Hudnut
WABC
Fri., 9:30 P.M.
WJZ
Sat., 12 Midnight
Mon., 11:30 P.M.
WEAF
Tues., 12:30 A.M.

ROY FOX
AND HI
BAND
ON TOUR
B.B.C. NETWORK

VIVIAN JANIS
"ZIEGFELD FOLLIES"
CBS, Mon.-Fri., 12 Midnight
Sole Direction
HERMAN BERNIE
1619 Broadway
New York City

COMMERCIALS

WEEK OF MAY 21

This Department lists sponsored programs on both arranged alphabetically under the advertiser's name.

All time is p. m. unless otherwise noted. Where one advertiser has two or more programs they are listed consecutively.

An asterisk before name indicates advertising agency handling account.

Abbreviations: Su (Sunday); M (Monday); Tu (Tuesday); W (Wednesday); Th (Thursday); F (Friday); (Saturday).

ACME LEAD
6:30-Su-WABC
12:30-W-F-WABC
Ed McConnell
*Henri H-Mc

A. C. SPARK PLUG
9-W-WJZ
'Cookoos'
*Campbell-E

A & P
9:30-M-WEAF
Harry Horlick
Frank Parker
*Paris & Peart

ARMOUR
9:30-F-WJZ
Phil Baker
H McNaughton
Mabel Albertson
Irene Beasley
Roy Shields Orc
*N. W. Ayer

B. T. BABBITT
1:30-Su-WEAF
Mary Small
Wm. Wirges
*Peck

THE ARMOUR ★ JESTER
PHIL BAKER
EVERY FRIDAY EVENING
WJZ, NBC NETWORK
COAST-TO-COAST
NEW YORK 9:30-10 P. M. D.S.T. Thru Station WJZ
CHICAGO 8:30-9 P. M. C.S.T. Thru Station WENR

HARRY McNAUGHTON
ALIAS "BOTTLE"
THE ARMOUR HOUR
Coast-to-Coast
Every Friday Evening
NEW YORK 9:30-10 P.M., D.S.T.. WJZ
CHICAGO 8:30-9 P.M. C.S.T. Thru Station WENR
Permanent Address, LAMBS' CLUB, 130 West 44th St., New York City

CHARLES CARLILE
TENOR
COAST-TO-COAST
CBS

Always a Little Ahead of the Rest
THE SIZZ-LERS
For Further Information: HAROLD KEMP, NBC Artist Bureau
Personal Direction, CHARLES A. BAYHA

MGM STUDIOS
CULVER CITY, CALIF.

A. S. BOYLE
(Floor Wax)
2:30-Su-WABC
'Lazy Dan'
Irving Kaufman
*Blackett

BARBASOL
8:15-M-WABC
Edwin C. Hill
*Erwin Wasey

BAUER & BLACK
(Blue Jay Corn Plaster)
4:15-Tu-F-WJZ
Wade Booth
Dorothy Day
*Needham, L & B

BAYER
9:30-Su-WEAF
Frank Munn
Virginia Rae
Ohman & Arden
Bert Hirsch
Haenschen Oro
*Blackett

BISODOL
8:30-W-WABC
Everett Marshall
Elizabeth Lennox
Ohman & Arden
Irving Kaufman
Victor Arden's Orc
*Blackett

BORDEN
10:30-Su-WABC
'45 Min. in H'lyw'd'
Mark Warnow
11:45-W-WABC
Jane Ellison
*Young & Rubicam

BRISTOL-MYERS
9-W-WEAF
(Sal Hepatica)
(Ipana)
Fred Allen
Portland Hoffa
Jack Smart
Lionel Stander
Eileen Douglas
Irwin Delmore
Minerva Pious
Ipana Troubadours
Theodore Webb
Lennie Hayton
*Benton & Bowles

E. L. BRUCE CO.
10:30-Th-WABC
Doris Loraine
Cadets Quartet
C Wheeler Orch
*O'Callaghan

CALIF. PACKING
9:30-M-WEAF
Nelson Eddy
H Barrett Dobbs
Doric & Kn'bocker Quartets
M Wilson Orc
*Thompson

CALSODENT CO
4:15-Th-WJZ
'Rhyming Rover'
*Thompson

CAMPANA
10-F-WEAF
'First Nighter'
June Meredith
Don Ameche
Carlton Brickert
Cliff Soubier
E Sagerquist Oro
*Aubrey Moore

CARNATION MILK
10-M-WEAF
Gene Arnold
Lullaby Lady
M L Eastman
Jean Paul King
*Erwin, Wasey

CENTAUR
(Fletcher's)
10:30-W-WABC
Albert Spalding
Conrad Thibault
Don Voorhees
*Young & Rubicam

CHARIS
1:15-W-WABC
Louella Parsons
Raymond Paige
*John L. Butler

CHERAMY
(Cosmetics)
10:30-F-WABC
Maxine Lash
String Quartet
*Gumbinner

CITIES SERVICE
8-F-WEAF
Jessica Dragonette
Cavaliers
*Lord & Thomas

CLIMALINE
12-Th-WEAF
Harold Stokes
Jackie Heller
Gil Page
King's Jesters
*W. S. Hill

CUTEX
9-F-WJZ
Phil Harris
Leah Ray
*J. Walt. Thomp.

COLGATE-PALM
(Colgate Dentifrice)
9-Sa-WEAF
'Clg'te Ho'se P'rty'
Joe Cook
Donald Novis
Frances Langford
Don Voorhees
Brad Browne
*Young & Rubicam
10-Tu-WEAF
(Palmolive Soap)
W. A. Backer, Dir.
Gladys Swarthout
Eustace Wyatt
William Shelley
James Melton
John Barclay
Nat Shilkret
W. A. Backer, Dir.
*Benton-B
10:15-daily-WEAF
(Super Suds)
'Clara Lu & Em'
Louise Starkey
Isabelle Carothers
Helen King
*Benton-B

CONTINENTAL OIL CO.
10:30-W-WJZ
Harry Richman
Jack Denny
John B. Kennedy
*Tracy-L-D

CRAZY CRYSTALS
12-M to F-WEAF
Gene Arnold
8:30-M-W-F-WJZ
Maple City Four
*McC-Eric.

CONT. BAKING
9:15-F-WABC
Little Jack Little
*B., B., D. & O.

CORN PRODUCTS
11:15-M-W-F-WABC
(Kremel, Etc.)
Will Osborne
Pedro de Cordoba
*Hellwig

R. B. DAVIS
(Baking Powder)
9 A. M.-W-F-WJZ
9:45-Tu-Th-WABC
'Mystery Chef'
John McPherson
*Ruthrauff-R
6-M-Tu-W-Th-WABC
'Buck Rogers'
Curtis Arnall
Adele Ronson
Edgar Stehli
Joe Granby
Walter Tetley
Allan Devitt
Georgia Backeu
Elaine Melchoir
Adele Klein
Bill Shelley
Henry Gurvey
Harry Swan
Lionel Stander
Emmet Gowan
Beatrice Allen
*Ruthrauff & R

ELIZABETH ARDEN
9-Tu-WABC
Maury H. B. Paul
Fray & Braggiotti
Freddy Martin
*Blaker Agency

EX-LAX
9:30-M-WABC
'The Big Show'
Helen Menken
Gertrude Niesen
Erno Rapee
*Katz

FIRESTONE
8:30-M-WEAF
H. Firestone, Jr.
Lawrence Tibbett
Wm. Daly Orch.
*Sweeny-James

FITCH
7:45-Su-WEAF
Wendell Hall
*K. W. Ramsey

FORD MOTOR
9:30-Su-WABC
9:30-Th-WABC
Fred Waring
Ted Pearson
*N. W. Ayer

FUNK & WAGN'LL
(Literary Digest)
7:15-W-WJZ
Graham McNamee
*Badger & B

GEN. BAKING
5:30-Su-WABC
Julia Sanderson
Frank Crumit
*B., B., D. & O.

GENERAL CIGAR
9:30-W-WABC
Guy Lombardo
Burns & Allen
*J. Walt. Thomp.

GENERAL FOODS
(La France)
(Washing Powder)
9:30-Sa-WEAF
'Beatrice Fairfax'
Marjorie Johnson
Mc. Stickles Orc.
11:15-Th-WEAF
Frances Lee Barton
*Young & Rubicam
9-Th-WEAF
(Maxwell)
Chas Winninger
Annette Hanshaw
Conrad Thibault
Muriel Wilson
'Molasses 'n' Jan'ry
Gus Haenschen
3-F-WEAF
'Maria's Certo
Lanny Ross
Mary Lou
Conrad Thibault
Gus Haenschen Orc
*Benton & Bowles
10-Sa-WABC
'Byrd Expedition'
*Young & Rubicam

GENERAL HOUSEHOLD
(Grunow)
Refrigerators
9:30-Tu-WABC
Minneapolis Symp'y
Eugene Ormandy
*Hays MacFarland

GENERAL MILLS
5:30-Daily-WABC
Jack Armstrong
All American Boy
4-Daily-WJZ
'Betty & Bob'
Betty Churchill
Don Ameche
Betty Winkler
Art Jacobson
Carl Brickert
Louis Roen
*Blackett

GENERAL MOTOR
(Chevrolet)
10-Su-WEAF
Victor Young Orc
*Campbell-E
(Oldsmobile)
9:15-Tu-F-WABC
Ruth Etting
Johnny Green
*B., B, D. & O.

GENERAL TIRES
10:30-F-WEAF
Jack Benny
Mary Livingston
Frank Parker
Don Bestor
*Hays MacFarland

GERBER & CO.
10-Su-WJZ
Mme. Schumann-H
*Erwin Wasey

GILLETTE
(Safety Razor)
7:15-Daily except Sa-Su-WEAF
Gene and Glenn
*Ruthrauff & R

GOODRICH
7:45-M-W-F-WJZ
'Taxi'
Max Baer
Franc Hale
Jean Southern
*Ruthrauff-R

GULF
9-Su-WJZ
Irving Berlin
Frank Parker
Revelers
Pickens Sis
Al Goodman
*Cecil Warwick

HEALTH PROD'TS
(White Cod)
3-Su-WJZ
'Bar X Ranch'
Carson Robison
John Mitchell
Bill Mitchell
Pearl Pickens
*Wm. Esty

HECKER H-O
6:15-Daily-WABC
'H-Bar-O Rangers'
Bobby Benson
Neil O'Malley
Florence Hallan
Billy Hallop
John Barthe
*Erwin-Wasey

EDNA HOPPER
2:15-Daily-WABC
'Helen Trent'
Lester Tremayne
Virginia Clark
Karl Heube
Dolores Gillen
Jack Doty
*Blackett

HOOVER
5:30-Su-WEAF
Edward Davies
Chicago a Capella
Joe Koestner
*Erwin-Wasey

HORLICK
9:45-Su-WJZ
Dr H Bundesen
*Lord & Thomas

HOUSEHOLD
9-Tu-WJZ
Edgar A Guest
Alice Mock
Jos Koestner's Orc
*C. D. Frey

HUDNUT
9:30-F-WABC
Jack Whiting
Jack Denny
Jeannie Lang
Three Rascals
*B. B. D. & O.

HUDSON MOTORS
10-Sa-WEAF
Saxon Sis
Lennie Hayton
Graham McNamee
8:30-Tu-WJZ
Conrad Thibault
Lois Bennett
Honey Dean
Harry Salter
*Blackman

INDIVIDUAL CUP CO.
(Dixie Cups)
6:45-M-WABC
Bob Sherwood
Bradley Barker
Frank Novak's Orc
*Young-R

INSTITUTE AM. MEAT PACKERS
4-Su-WEAF
'Romance of Meat'
*Direct

JERGEN'S
9:30-Su-WJZ
Walt. Winchell
*J. Walt. Thomp.

JOHNS-MANVILLE
8:30-Sa-WEAF
Floyd Gibbons
Nat Shilkret Orc
*J. Walt Thompson

JOHNSON & SON
(Floor Wax)
1:45-Tu-Th-WABC
5:15-Su-WABC
Tony Wons
Keenan & Phillips
*Needham, L. & B.

KELLOGG
5:30-Daily WJZ
The Singing Lady
Irene Wicker
Allan Grant
*N. W. Ayer

KRAFT-PHENIX
10-Th-WEAF
P Whiteman Orc
Reading Masonic Choir
Deems Taylor
Ramona
Peggy Healy
Jack Fulton
*J. Walt. Thomp.

KOLYNOS
7:15-Daily-WABC
Just Plain Bill
Arthur Hughes
*Blackett

LADY ESTHER
10-S-M-WABC
8:30-Tu-WEAF
Wayne King's Orc
*Stack-Goble

LAMONT-CORLISS
(Nestles)
8-F-WJZ
Ethel Shutta
Walter O'Keefe
Bobby Dolan Orc
*J. Walt. Thomp.

LARUS
(Edgeworth)
10-W-WEAF
Corn Cob Pipe Club of Virginia
*BBD&O

LEHN & FINK
(Lysol)
10:30-Su-WEAF
Wheeler & Woolsey
Nat Shilkret Orc
*Ruthrauff & R

LIGGETT-MYERS
(Chesterfield)
9-M-W-S-WABC
(Monday)
Rosa Ponselle
Andre Kostelanetz
(Wednesday)
Nino Martini
Andre Kostelanetz
(Saturday)
Greta Stueckgold
Andre Kostelanetz
Mixed Chorus
Ford Frick
*Newell-Emmett

LUXOR
(Armour)
3-Su-WEAF
'Talkie Pic Time'
June Meredith
John Goldsworthy
John Stanford
Gilbert Douglas
Murray Forbes
*N. W. Ayer

MANHATTAN SOAP CO.
10:30-W-WEAF
Jack Arthur
DeMarco Sis
11:30-Th-WJZ
Harriet Lee
Edward Kennedy
*Peck

J. W. MARROW
(Oil Shampoo)
1:15-Tu-Th-WABC
Joan Marrow
Bob Nolan
Eddie House
*Placed direct

MACFADDEN
(Liberty Magazine)
10-F-WJZ
'Stories That Should Be Told'
Fulton Oursler
(True Story)
8:30-F-WABC
'Court of Human Relations'
Percy Hemus
Arnold Johnson's Or
Elsie Hitz
Ned Weaver
Lucille Wall
Allyn Joslyn
Paul Stewart
*Stack-Goble

MET. LIFE CO.
6:45-Daily WEAF
Arthur Bagley

DR. MILES LAB'S
(Alka-Seltzer)
10:30-Sa-WJZ
WLS Barn Dance
Ridge Runners
Mac & Bob
Clarence Wheeler
*Wade

MOHAWK MILLS
(Carpets)
10:30-Tu-Th-WEAF
Orch & Singers
*B., B., D. & O.

MOLLE CO.
7:30-M-Th-WEAF
WEAF
Shirley Howard
Guy Bonham
Wamp Carlson
Dwight Latham
Milt Rettenberg
Tony Callucci
*Stack-Goble

BENJ. MOORE
11:30-W-WEAF
Betty Moore
Lew White

MUELLER C.
10:15-M-W-F WABC
'Bill & Ginger'
Virginia Baker
Lyn Murray
*Hellwig

NAT'L SUGAR
9:30-M-WJZ
Frederick Baer
Joseph Pasternack
*Gotham

NORTHWESTERN YEAST
8-M-WJZ
Jan Garber Orc
*Hays McFarland

OXOL
5:45-M-Tu-W-F WABC
Dave, Bunny & G
Bunny Coughlin
Dave Grant
Gordon Graham
*B., B., D. & O.

OXYDOL
(Proct'r & Gamble)
2:45-Daily-WEAF
'Ma Perkins'
Virginia Dayne
Margery Hannon
Karl Hubel
Will Fornum
Chas. Eggleston
*Blackett

PACKARD
10-M-WJZ
Walter Damrosch
John B. Kennedy
*Cecil Warwick

PACIFIC BORAX
9-Th-WJZ
'Death Vall'y Days'
Tim Frawley
Joseph Bell
Edwin W. Whitney
Lonesome Cowboy
Joseph Bonime Orc
*McC.Erick

PALMER HOUSE
10-Tu-WJZ
Ray Perkins
Gale Page
Harold Stokes Orc

PEPSODENT
7 Daily—WJZ
Amos 'n' Andy
Charles Correl
Freeman Gosden
('Rise of Gold')
7:45-Daily-WEAF
Gertrude Berg
James Waters
9:30-Tu-Th-Sa-WJZ
(Junis Cream)
Eddie Duchin
*Lord & Thomas

PHILCO
7:45 daily ex. Sa-Su-WABC
Boake Carter
*F. W. Armstrong

PHILIP MORRIS
8-Tu-WEAF
Leo Reisman's Orc
Phil Duey
*Blow

PILLSBURY
10:30-Daily-WJZ
'Today's Children'
Irma Phillips
Walter Wicker
Bess Johnson
Irene Wicker
Lucy Gillman
Fred Von Amon
Jean McGregor
*Hutchinson
11-M-W-F-WABC
'Cooking Close Ups'
*Hutchinson

PABST
9-Tu-WEAF
Ben Bernie Orc
*Matt-Fogarty

CBS' Sunday Nights Big Next Year

Looks Like Three-Hour Stretch of Deluxe 60-Minute Entertainment

Li of three consecutive full hour shows, similar to the one now prevailing on NBC's red link (WEAF) Thursday nights, ill likely grace Columbia's night schedule this coming winter. Lehn and Fink will span the 8 to 9 o'clock segment with Eddie Cantor in the first half and the 'Hall of Fame' idea for the second, Corn Products (Linit) will have the 9 to 10 period, while an oil account is dickering for the 60-minute swing to 11 p. m.

NBC has advised agencies that the 9 to 10 p. m. stretch on the red will be available this fall. Currently spotted here are Dr. Lyon toothpaste's 'Manhattan Merry-Go-Round' and Bayer Aspirin's 'American Album of Familiar Music,' each running a half hour and in that order.

Ernst Out as Downey Gives CBS His Destiny

Hugh Ernst is out as manager of Morton Downey. Separation took place Saturday (19). Henceforth Downey will rely on the CBS Artists Bureau alone although his current engagement at the Chez Paree, Chicago, comes through the William Morris agency.

Downey's Saturday night party over CBS will be remoted from the floor of the Chez Paree. Singer is due back in New York July 1 to make a talking short for Warners at the Flatbush studio.

JULIUS TANNEN ETHERS

Hollywood, May 21.

Julius Tannen will have a featured spot on Hollywood-on-the-Air, May 27.

Chic Chandler will m.c.

PLOUGH, INC.
10-W-WJZ
Milton Berle
Vincent Lopez
Ed Sullivan
*Lake-Spiro-C

PUROIL
7:30-Sa-WEAF
Eddie Peabody
De Marco Sisters
Joey Nash
Richard Himber Or
*Freitag

QUAKER OATS
8:45-M-W-F-WJZ
Babe Ruth
*Flecher & E

RALSTON
5-F-WEAF
Mme. Sylvia of Hollywood
*Gardner

REAL SILK
7-Su-WJZ
Chas. Previn Orch
Charles Lyons
*Erwin-Wasey

RED STAR YEAST
11-Tu-Th-S-WEAF
Edna Odell
Phil Porterfield
Irma Glen
Earl Lawrence

R. J. REYNOLDS
(Camels)
10-Tu-Thu-WABC
Casa Loma Orc
Connie Boswell
Stoopnagle & Budd
*Wm. Esty

RITCHIE
(Eno Salts)
8-Tu-W-WJZ
'Eno Crime Club'
Spencer Dean
*N. W. Ayer

SCHLITZ
10-F-WABC
B. B. D. & O.

SILVER DUST
7:30-Tu-Th-WABC
Paul Keast
Thelma Goodwyn
Rollo Hudson's Orc
*B., B., D. & O.

SINCLAIR
9-M-WJZ
Gene Arnold
Bill Childs
Mac McCloud
Joe Parsons
Cliff Soubier
Harry Kogen
*Federal

STAND. BRANDS
(Chase & Sanborn)
8-Su-WEAF
Jimmy Durante
Rubinoff
(Baker's)
7:30-Su-WJZ
Joe Penner
Harriet Hilliard
Ozzie Nelson Orc
8-W-WEAF
(C & S Tea)
Jack Pearl
Cliff Hall
Peter Van Steeden
Kathleen Wells
8-Th-WEAF
(Fleischmann)
Rudy Vallee and His Conn. Yanks
*J. Walt. Thomp.

STD. OIL (N. Y.)
8-M-WEAF
Socony Sketches
Arthur Allen
Parker Fennelly
Kate McComb
Isabelle Winlocke
Ruth Russell
Robert Strauss
*J. S. Getchell

STERLING PROD.
9-F-WEAF
(Phillips Mag)
'Waltz Time'
Abe Lyman Orc
Frank Munn
Vivienne Segal
5:15 daily ex. Sa-Su-WABC
'Skippy'
8:30-Tu-WABC
Abe Lyman
Vivienne Segal
Oliver Smith
*Blackett

STUDEBAKER
9:30-Sa-WABC
Richard Himber
*Roche-W-C

SUN OIL
6:45-Daily-WJZ
Lowell Thomas
*Roche-Williams

TASTYEAST
7:30-Tu-WEAF
East and Dumke
*Stack-Goble

TEXAS CO.
9:30-Tu-WEAF
Ed Wynn
Graham McNamee
Don Voorhees
*Hanff-Metzger

TIDEWATER
(Tydol)
7:30-M-W-F-WABC
Jimmy Kemper
Robert Ambruster
Hummingbirds
*Lennen Mitch

U. S. TOBACCO
(Dill's Best)
9:30-F-WEAF
'One Night Stands'
Pic Malone
Pat Padgett
Josef Bonime
*McC.-Erick.

UNION CENTRAL
6-Su-WABC
'Roses & Drums'
Elizabeth Love
George Gaul
Robt T Haines
Blaine Cordner
*J. Walt. Thomp.

WANDER CO.
(Ovaltine)
5:45-Daily-WJZ
'Little Orphan A'
Allan Baruck
Henrietta Tedro
Ed Sprague
Stanley Andrews
Shirley Pell
*Blackett

WARD BAKING
9-Su-WABC
'Family Theatre'
James Melton
Josef Pasternack
*Fletcher-E

WM. R. WARNER
(Non Spi)
9:30-W-WJZ
Sketches
Leslie Howard
*Cecil, W. & C.

WASEY PROD
12-M-Tu-W-Th-F-WABC
3:15-M-WABC
8:15-Tu-WABC
Voice of Exp'rience
*Erwin Wasey

R. L. WATKINS
9-Su-WJZ
Tamara
Davis Percy
Men About Town
Jacques Renard
*Blackett

WELCH
(Grape Juice)
7:30-W-WJZ
Irene Rich
*Kastor

WESTERN CO.
(Dr. West T'thp'ste)
5:30-M-W-F-WEAF
'Frank Merriwell'
Donald Briggs
Dolores Gillen
*J. Walt. Thompson

WOODBURY
8:30-M-WABC
Bing Crosby
Jimmy Grier Orc
*Lennen-M

WORCESTER
(Salts Toothpaste)
8 p. m.-F-WABC
Zoel Parenteau's O
H Van Emburgh
*Fuller & Smith

WYETH CHEM
(Jad Salts)
:15-W-Th-F-WABC
'Easy Aces'
Goodman Ace
Jane Ace
Mary Hunter
*Blackett

COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM
Presents
LEON BELASCO
MON., FRI., WABC, 12 MIDNITE
Coast-to-Coast
St. Moritz Hotel, , Nightly
Sole Direction HERMAN BERNIE
1619 Broadway, New York

ABE LYMAN
AND HIS CALIFORNIA ORCHESTRA
COAST-TO-COAST
WABC
SUNDAY, 2:30 p. m.-3 p. m.
WEAF
WED., 8:30 p. m. 9 p. m.

Isham Jones Orchestra
COMMODORE HOTEL
NEW YORK
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 11:30-12 P.M.; Saturdays, 11-11:15 P.M., coast to coast, WABC
Direction
Columbia Broadcasting System

HENRY BUSSE
AND HIS MUSIC
NOW
CHEZ PAREE
Chicago
SCHLITZ BREWING CO.
Fri. 9-9:30 P.M. CST
Columbia Broadcasting Co.

"The Singing Lady"
IREENE WICKER
4th Year for W. K. Kellogg Co.
All Material by Ireene Wicker
Music by ALLAN GRANT
N.B.C.—WJZ 5:30 Daily

RAY PERKINS
Palmer House CHICAGO NBC
Cushman's Sons BAKERIES WOR
Direction SEDLEY BROWN

EMERSON GILL
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
CLEVELAND
WTAM Nightly
NBC NETWORK FRIDAY 1 P.M. D.S.T.

See Ross Federal!

and have an experienced personal representative protect your percentage engagements—

Authentic reports of all entrants to the theatre rendered you nightly—

A positive check on grosses in which you participate

●

Minimum cost for your protection—

Are you on the air? Let

ROSS FEDERAL

make a phone check of your popularity during your broadcast—

Assure your sponsor of your drawing power—

Prove it by your public's acclaim—

Prominent stars and leading concerns secure radio reports through

ROSS FEDERAL SERVICE INC.

—NATION WIDE—

All Representatives Bonded

●

GENERAL OFFICE:
6 East 45th Street
NEW YORK

●

BRANCH OFFICES IN ALL PRINCIPAL CITIES

New Business

(Continued from page 35)

the store, renewed for three months. Placed locally. WSJS.

Ideal Drygoods Company, spot announcement daily for one month. Placed locally. WSJS.

Sears, Roebuck and Company, spot announcement daily for one month. Placed locally. WSJS.

Bowen Piano Company, spot announcement daily for one month. Placed locally. WSJS.

Quality Oil Company, spot announcement each night for one month. Placed locally. WSJS.

Sosniks, renewal for 10 weeks of bridge talks by M. R. Heckert on Monday nights from 7:30-8 p. m. Placed locally. WSJS.

OMAHA, NEBRASKA

Gardner Nursery Co., three five-minute transcriptions. Placed through Northwest Radio Advertising Co. KOIL.

Kimball Laundry Co., Sunday announcement, two months. Through Earl Allen Co. KOIL.

Omaha Navigation Co., excursion steamer, Valley Queen, announcements six per week, three months. KOIL.

Nunn Bush Shoe Store, announcement each Friday, 52 times. KOIL.

Brandeis Department Store, announcements three times daily through May. KOIL.

Hart Sanders Motor Co., announcement daily except Sunday until forbid. Began May 1. KOIL.

Kellogg Sales Co., announcements twice daily except Sunday, one month, beginning May 21. KCIL.

Jordan's Clothing Co., Council Bluffs, announcements twice daily except Saturday and Sunday, May 7 through June 1. Through Frank B. Sawdon & Co. KOIL.

Reo Barrish Motor Co., announcements five times per week, May 7 through 23. Through Maxon, Inc. KOIL.

Storz Brewing Co., began May 9, three announcements per week for 13 times. Through Buchanan-Thomas Agency. KOIL.

Higgins Cleaners & Dyers, five minute skit Sunday and Monday, one month. Through Bozell & Jacobs, Inc. KOIL.

Chicago Milwaukee St. Paul & Pacific, five minute talk by Mr. Bock, once per week, indefinitely. WOW.

'Pastora Cigars, announcement daily for two weeks. Came through Paxton & Gallagher, distributors, WOW.

Quaker Oats, five minutes Sundays, reading of funny papers by Harry Burke, announcer. Through Fletcher & Ellis, WOW.

Sears Roebuck & Co., retail store, 15-minutes daily except Sunday, May 9 through 18. Roaming the store with Harry Burke, station announcer, and Marvin Wright, accordianist. WOW.

Tums, one minute transcriptions, 13 times, beginning May 15. Through Ruthrauff & Ryan, Inc. WOW.

Maison Lorenzo Beauty Salon, five minutes twice per week, 13 times. WAAW.

Herzberg's Photo Studio, announcement daily for one week. WAAW.

Ted's Pen Shop, announcement daily for one week. WAAW.

N. P. Dodge Corp., realtors, 12 announcements. WAAW.

Gold Bond Products Co., Joan of Arc, the Champagne drink, announcement daily for one month. WAAW.

Moonlight Club, Carl Mangiamelli, prop., announcement daily for one week. WAAW.

Pauline Palmer, Inc., beauty preparations, two announcements on a test program. Through R. J. Potts & Co. WAAW.

Derma Health Intment, announcement daily except Sunday, May 8 through June 7. WAAW.

Little Bohemia, beer parlor, announcement daily except Sunday, one month. WAAW.

Omaha Rug Co., cleaners, announcement daily except Sunday, one month. WAAW.

CINCINNATI

Proctor & Gamble Co., for Camay toilet soap, Monday, Wednesday and Thursday, 2-2:15 p. m. WLW.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Ann Lewis Shop, Charlotte, N. C., series of one-minute announcements beginning May 17th. Placed locally. WBT.

Armand Co., New York City and Chicago, 13 15-minute transcriptions Fridays beginning May 25th at 9:30 p. m. Placed by Radio Sales, Inc., N. Y. C. WBT.

Better Homes and Gardens, Des Moines, Iowa, 100-word evening announcements, beginning May 11th. Placed by Radio Sales, Inc., Chicago. WBT.

M. L. Clein & Co., Atlanta, Ga., 39 15-minute live talent day programs Monday through Fridays at 1:15 p. m., beginning May 21. Placed direct. WBT.

Knox Co., Kansas City, continuation contract for 26 15-minute transcription programs Friday evenings, beginning May 11th. Placed by Radio Sales, Inc., N. Y. C. WBT.

Dodge Motor Co., Detroit, six transcription evening announcements daily except Sunday, beginning May 7th. Placed by Radio Sales, Inc., Chicago. WBT.

Mayo's Clothes (Crane & Crane), Charlotte branch, 156 100-word daytime announcements, two each Sunday, Wednesday and Friday, beginning June 1st. Placed locally. WBT.

NEWARK, N. J.

Reliance Manufacturing Co. (Big Yank shirts), 13 weeks, beginning May 20, Sundays, quarter hour, 'Today's Baseball Games' with Gabriel Heatter. WOR.

Greenwich Savings Bank, contract extended to Dec. 28, with Uncle Don. WOR.

Drezma, Inc. (Kreml hair tonic), renewal, 52 weeks, beginning June 28, quarter hour Mondays and Thursdays and five minutes Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, 'Nell Vinick Beauty Talk.' WOR.

Coward Shoe Co., every hour on the hour each day of the week, announcements, 52 weeks. Through Milton H. Blow Adv. Co. WNEW.

Renewals

Gilip Morris, 13 weeks, starting June 5, of the Tuesday night half hour over 24 stations on NBC's red (WEAF) loop. Cast, Leo Reisman band and Phil Duey, stays intact.

Crazy Water Co., 13 weeks, effective June 6, Wednesday and Friday noons, with Gene Arnold and the Commodores quartet. Involves 19 outlets on NBC's red link.

Palmer House to Red Link for WLW Wire

Chicago, May 21.

Palmer House program will switch from the NBC blue to the red network on June 5 for the remaining five weeks of its original 13-week run, which was contracted on options of four weeks—four weeks—five weeks.

Move is primarily made to take in WLW, in Cincy. This follows the discussion among the Palmer House board of directors of the possibility of taking the WLW-WGN-WOR 'quality group' for those five weeks remaining.

WMCA Joins Press-Radio Combo; Dropping Daniels

WMCA, New York, has joined the Press-Radio service and will henceforth provide its 'Five Star Final' nightly program with official material. W. F. Fitzgerald for WMCA and Otis Peabody Swift for the news bureau closed the deal that ends WMCA's outlaw news broadcasting.

For a time WMCA subscribed to the so-called Continental News Service operated by Harry Daniels. Understood this cost the station $60 weekly. For the Press-Radio service $50 monthly membership plus wire charges will be assessed.

'Five Star Final' will dramatize news events at least 24 hours old.

Crumit, Sanderson for Schlitz Beer Likely

Schlitz stanza on CBS moves its point of organization from Chicago to New York with the June 1 broadcast.

Frank Crumit, Julia Sanderson and a combo under Victor Young's direction are likely to be included in the revised frame.

Quin Ryan's Record

Chicago, May 21.

'Headlines of Yesterday' on WGN last week clicked off its second consecutive year. Believed to mark radio run record for a single seven-days-weekly show for the same sponsor.

Client is Atlas Beer, with Quin Ryan headlining.

Armour Keeps Shields

Chicago, May 21.

Roy Shields will remain on the Armour program as orchestra director.

This follows original idea of Lord & Thomas agency and the sponsor to switch to a 'name' orchestra. Auditioned about a half-dozen, but couldn't be satisfied.

Air Line News

By Nellie Revell

Two years ago little Jack Little requested his release from NBC, Columbia signed him and set him on the air with six spots weekly. In addition, last year CBS helped him form a band, booked him on the road and later into the Hotel Lexington where he was given choice air times. The CBS Artists Bureau set him on the Hostess Cake commercial. Now, Little Jack Little is leaving CBS to join the American Music Cor

Walter Tetley to London

Walter Tetley has three weeks booked in and around London, commencing with the Palladium on July 17. On August 1 he is due to sing at the Caledonian's huge rally in Edinburgh where he will meet Harry Lauder and attempt to get an okay to use some of Lauder's tunes that are now restricted. Incidentally he had to get an actor's working permit to enter England.

Shots

Fray and Braggiotti are in the midst of their first commercial after almost three years of sustaining. Elizabeth Arden is the sponsor.... Harriet Lee now at WTIC in Hartford. She was Radio Queen of few years back....Jack Arthur now filling both Manhattan Soap spots. He and William Kennedy formerly split the time....The Joe Cook renewal is for 13 weeks commencing June 9....Ken Wilson, brother of Bob Wilson, CBS p.a., has joined the CBS sales dept....Dailey Paskman, who at one time owned and operated WGBS, and trouped the Paskman Minstrels, is back trying to make a connection at NBC....James Saphier now handling Gene Meyers Glee Club of 12 men and four girls....Leo Reisman still has his chauffeur accompany him wherever he goes since the accident....Paul Keast at the Roxy early in July....Paul Ravell, baritone, joined the singing staff at WNEW....Howard Wiley, who left NBC two months ago to join WNEW production dept., has returned to NBC....Elliott Stuckel of CBS publicity is on way back from Seattle ....Don Bestor's ork will pinch hit a few spots for Wayne King when King goes on vacation....May Breen is looking for fresh fields to conquer in croquet. Will meet any radio artist at catchweights on her front lawn....Harold Levy is filling the Irving Talbot niche as staff musical conductor at NBC since Talbot is in Hollywood for Par....Jessie Deppen Ball has resigned from NBC program dept to enter an agency....Paid actors do the shuffling of feet and other courtroom noises on the CBS 'Court of Human Relations' show....Brad Barker does impersonations of dogs and other animals on the Dixie Circus....Paul Wing who has authored various scripts for NBC has joined their production dept.

Scrambled Notes

Catherine Dale Owen and Roland Drew auditioned at NBC.... Spark Plug is shopping for more time....Arthur Sinshelmer, head of Peck Agency radio dept., prepared for that job with 15 years of service as general manager for Corse Payton of stock company fame....Joe Penner off on July 1 for a 13-week lapse. Show returns in fall. Penner has five more weeks of vaudeville to do and then to Coast for pix.... Crosby is delaying that trip East in anticipation of another addition to the family....Jerry Cooper's new CBS show will have a 51 station hook-up twice weekly....Alice Breeze, blues singer from Mobile, Ala., is now sustaining at WNEW....Bill Becher is staging the new 'Certo Matinee' show. This in addition to the 'Maxwell Showboat' and 'Palmolive' shows. B&B has given him three staff writers to help prepare copy....John Martin, formerly with WINS and later with Lesan and Estes agencies, is now with the NBC sales dept....Walter Jordon of McKnight & Jordon in Bermuda. Returning on June 1....Balieff is taking Mort Lewis along to write for the coming 'Chauve Souris'. This show is supposed to bring Morris Gest out of retirement....Moe Gale moves into new offices at Radio City on Thursday....NBC auditioned new show written by Art Daly of production dept titles 'Dream Lovers', with Peg LaCentra and Owen Davis, Jr.....John Carlile, chief announcer and production head at CBS, is moving his office to 22d floor, using little room back of hostess' desk....Paul Whiteman opening at the Biltmore has been set back to June 2....Pauline Gilder has returned to NBC music program dept.... Tito Guizar opens at Loew's in Baltimore on June 1 and then to Hollywood for the films....Harry Von Zell and Andre Baruch look like another Stoopnagle and Budd combination....Several troupers who were favorites in the old days are emoting on the Jimmy Kemper show over CBS.... Valere Bergere appeared last week....Lennie Hayton has opened offices.

Stand By

B. B. D. & O. auditioned a new show for Schlitz Beer. Show consisted of Everett Marshall, Vic Young and orchestra, and Frank Crummit. First time Crummit auditioned without Julia....Seegar Ellis goes to Coast this week in attempt to crash films....Ben Pollack has two new spots over NBC making a total of 10 weekly broadcasts over NBC, WMCA and WNEW....Vic Bradley, who is the 'Dream Sweetheart' over WMCA, is frau of Bob Andrews, author of 'Skippy' and 'Just Plain Bill' ....'Minitrub Revue' coming from WJSV in Washington, D. C. Is on 13-week tryout after which it will probably go on CBS network in the 10:30 spot....Mulsified Oil Shampoo now on the 10:30 spot will probably also go network, which will open that time to 'Minitrub'. Dates not set as yet but looks like Sept. 1....The Four Washboard Serenaders in town from WFLA in St. Petersburg looking for a radio spot....The new vocalists on the Fred Allen show are Marshall Bartholemew's Singers. Old group known as Sal Hepatica Serenaders were composed of staff artists with the Songsmiths acting as background....Kate Smith arrives back in town on June 20....Private press agents are having a tough time with local radio columnists. Several of the paper boys have turned to networks for information.

Gossip

Commencing Monday, June 4, WOR will present a new sustaining titled 'The O'Nells' by Jane West. Show will be on five times weekly at 7:15 and is an Irish 'Rise of the Goldbergs'....NBC is looking for a sponsor for script called 'Musical News' written by Norman Zemo with original tunes by Will Irwin. Show is a take off on 'March of Time'. Ed Smalle the musical director....WMCA is installing a new dictagraph interior telephone system with the master control in President Storer's office.... Jeannie Lang is set for a CBS laxative program when she finishes with her present cosmetic show....Sid Livingston, New York police reporter, is readying a series of police yarns for WNEW and intends using members of the Police Dept as guest stars....Johnny Marvin is back on the air after a six-week vacation in the old home town of Butler, Okla.... Helen Jepson signed by Paul Whiteman....George A. Schmidt joined WOR sales dept....Bourjois account switched from Redfield-Coupe to Lord & Thomas....Bernard Douglas moved with the account....First Junis show from Chicago comes on May 26....Carroll Carroll, brother of Geno, of Gene and Glenn, is writing gags for Walter O'Keefe....Bob Colwell of J. Walter Thompson Agency is vacationing in Puerto Rico and due back May 28....Herman Maxwell from mail division to sales dept of WOR where he will have charge of reports and records. Replaced by Lewis Sheridan coming from Eve Journal radio dept....Maurice Grainger, assistant to Max Weiner, chief engineer at WNEW, goes to WISN in Milwaukee to become chief engineer....Henceforth the Vallee show will broadcast minus the glass curtain....Herb Polesie to Montreal to confer with Whiteman over next Kraft show.

Par's $100,000 Fund to Help Famous End Payoff Evil in Roundabout Way

Declaring that Paramount has set aside $100,000 as a fund to aid him in his drive to kill off the price of paying orchestra leaders for special arrangements, Lou Diamond, head of Famous Music Corp., last week went on a spending splurge unlike anything the publishing trade has seen since the Music Publishers Protection Association was formed to suppress the payoff evil. Diamond's staff last week was offering to double, at least, the price that band leaders have customarily been collecting for arrangements from other publishers.

Diamond is of the opinion that the only way the payoff practice can be abolished is by carrying the thing to the limit. With the competition for plugs tense, and the publishers spending extravagantly, the trade, contends Diamond, will then come to its senses and do something drastic about eliminating the evil altogether.

Diamond's understanding with Paramount is that all arrangement payoffs be made with checks, and that these contain the name of the leaders receiving them. In no event are the drafts to be made out to staff arrangers with the bands, even if the leaders request it.

Several of the major publishers claim they do not propose to enter into competition with Diamond for plugs, and that they have advised their professional contact men to pay what they have been paying and no more. These publishers declare they are determined to abide by this policy even if it means forcing them out of business.

5,000 CHAMP H.S. BANDS TO FLOOD DES MOINES

Des Moines, Ia., May 21.

This town to be music alley May 31, June 1 and 2, when between 4,000 and 5,000 champion high school bands will gather here for the national school band contest.

Local radio stations, KSO, WOC-WHO, will have one headache, what to keep off the air, rather than any dearth in talent. Musicians to appear are the cream of various states in the Union.

Syracuse Musicians Ban University's Symph. Ork

Syracuse, May 21.

Long standing friction between Syracuse Musicians Protective Association and Syracuse University music leaders climaxed in a union order forbidding union musicians from playing hereafter in the University Symphony orchestra.

Bitterness was heightened by the university's charge that union interference nearly disrupted a student concert in Crouse College last week.

HIRES ORVILLE KNAPP

Los Angeles, May 21.

Orville Knapp's orchestra has been booked into the Grand Hotel, Santa Monica, starting Saturday (26).

Half hour will be remoted over the Don Lee Coast CBS network.

MESS JACKETS
FOR ORCHESTRAS

STRIKING COLORS
WASHABLE FABRICS
INEXPENSIVE
Write for Samples
ARTHUR M. BERGER
251 WEST 19th STREET
NEW YORK CITY

Rose, ASCAP Settle

Billy Rose has straightened out his differences with the American Society of Composers, and Publishers over the license fee imposed by the latter's rate committee on the Casino de Paree.

Ascap asked for $4,800 a year, but settled with the Casino for $2,400.

WALLY DOWNEY PUBS' S.A. FIXER

Wally Downey, who was recording manager in South America for Columbia Phonograph Co. before returning to this country recently, is going back to San Paula, Brazil's principal industrial town, to take over the Argentine-Brazilian representation of several amusements interests. These will include acting for the major American music publishers, as the U. S. tin pan alleyites have had very unsatisfactory representation in those countries.

Downey will cover San Paula and Rio de Janeiro, in active charge of Brazil, and designate a Buenos Aires representative to act for him in the Argentine country.

He is taking a sound truck with him also, and will represent the new Hearst newsreel south, as well as engage in other forms of recording for commercial broadcast programs, etc.

GORDON, REVEL UP FOR PAR EXTENSION

Negotiations are on for an extension of Paramount's contract with Mack Gordon and Harry Revel, although the current agreement does not expire until November 1. Composers are represented by Bobby Crawford, who was forced to defer his trip to the coast with them because of an accident. While visiting a friend's house Sunday (20) Crawford tripped over a piece of furniture, a fractured toe resulting.

Gordon and Revel leave for Hollywood by plane today (Tuesday).

MCA Sets Coast Bands For Gen. Motor Shows

Los Angeles, May 21.

Music Corporation of America has set bands to play the Coast General Motors shows, running simultaneously in 60 cities starting June 2, and continuing eight days each.

Coast spottings are: Los Angeles, Jay Whidden, with Ted Fio-Rito and Gus Arnheim in reserve; San Francisco, Kay Kayser and Jess Stafford, four days each; Oakland, Dell Courtney; Portland, Archie Loveland; Seattle, Vic Meyers; Spokane, Phil Sheridan; Salt Lake City, Bill Taggert.

Mills Sails

E. C. Mills, general manager of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, sailed Saturday (19) to attend a convention in Warsaw, Poland, of all the performing rights organizations in the world.

Mills will be gone four or five weeks.

GUY VICE ENRIC

With Guy Lombardo coming into the Waldorf-Astoria, N.Y., next month, Enric Madreguera shifts to Vivian Johnson's Monmouth Beach (N.J.) summer resort.

Don Bestor moves up to the Pennsylvana roof June 4.

Most Played on Air

To familiarize the rest of the country with the tunes most on the air around New York, the following is the compilation for last week.

Plugs are figured on a Saturday-through-Friday week, - - ularly.

Only the chain stations are listed as indicative of the general plug popularity.

Data obtained from Radio Log compiled by Accurate Reporting Service.

Title	WEAF WJZ WABC
Nite on Desert	27
My Shawl	26
Beat o' My Heart	25
Had My Moments	22
Love Thy Neighbor	22
Cocktails for Two	21
Play to Me Gypsy	21
Reminds Me of You	20
True	19
Riptide	18
Little Man, Busy Day	17
May I	17
I'll String Along	16
Little Dutch Mill	16
1,000 Good Nites	15
Love Go Wrong	15
Easy Come, Easy Go	15
Goodnite Lovely Lady	15
House Is Haunted	15
Because It's Love	14
Hold My Hand	14
I Aint Lazy	14
Your Love	13
Moon Country	12
Love Me	12
Once Blue Moon	12

Lombardo Turnaways Worst Show Towns' Answer to New York

Birmingham, May 21.

Guy Lombardo and band now know a thing or two about Memphis and Birmingham, two worse show tows in America, according to New York.

Band played Memphis Friday night (18) and Birmingham Saturday night (19) and it took police and ropes to handle the crowds. In Memphis police were called upon to disperse the crowd unable to gain admission because the house was sold out. Same held true here.

Lombardo's band was the first really big name to hit Birmingham in years, and at a guarantee of $2,500 for the one night at Auditorium, ballroom and Temple theatre.

Cummins at Chi Trianon

Chicago, May 21.

Bernie Cummins returns to the Andrew Karzas southside Trianon ballroom to hold the fort while Jan Garber hikes his band out to Catalina Island for the summer. Switch date is June 1.

Jan Garber has bought three sets of uniforms for his boys, but it looks like they'll go in the alley since P. K. Wrigley is understood to have set his mind on Spanish costumes for the band.

Mayer Wins in Supreme C't; Demands MDS Members Live Up to Settlement

With a New York Supreme Court decision vindicating him in every respect of the conspiracy charges brought by the Music Dealers Service, Inc., Max Mayer has proceeded, through counsel Irvin A. Edelman, to take such legal action that will force the dissolution of the MDS, and force the nine publishers who settled with him to live up to all the other terms in the settlement agreement. After two days' trial on the conspiracy allegations, Justice Wasservogel last Friday (18) rendered judgment for Mayer and ordered the complaint dismissed on the merits.

In a memoranda he delivered from the bench, Justice Wasservogel held that nothing containing in the agreements of settlement violated the common law or any statute to which his attention had been called. 'But aside from this,' he said, 'it seems to me that the plaintiff barred from attacking the validity of the settlement agreements because of its stipulation made upon the trial of the Federal Court action, with the full knowledge of the provisions of the settlement agreements.' Justice Wasservogel added that MDS had not shown itself entitled to either equitable relief or damages, and that no litigation costs would be allowed to either of the contending parties.

In addition to establishing the legality of the settlement agreements made by Mayer, Justice Wasservogel's decision served to clear Edelman and David L. Podell, Mayer's trial counsel, of the coercion charges lodged against them in the injunction complaint. Allegation made by MDS was that these two lawyers had terrorized the nine publishers into rushing for cover via separate settlement agreements while the trial of Mayer's $1,250,000 monopoly suit was on in the Federal Court in March. When counsel for the MDS rested its case, however, it averred that it would not ask the bench to find whether coercion figured in bringing about the settlement agreements.

Provided for in these agreements was the dissolution of the MDS. Mayer's attorney declared Saturday (19) he was preparing to serve notice upon the nine publishers that he would give them until the end of this month to go through with their agreement to vote for the washing up of the central distributing channel. If they failed to take this action within the stipulated time, he said, the next move would be to bring them before a court on a motion for specific performance of contract.

Operating committee of the MDS is slated to meet this week to decide whether it wants to appeal from Justice Wasservogel's verdict. As an organization, MDS at the present time is in a state of suspension, with Maurice Richmond making use of its facilities as an indi jobber.

During the hearing of the action before Justice Wasservogel, in which MDS sought to restrain Mayer from carrying out the settlement agreement and also make him pay $100,000 in damages, its counsel put on the stand to tell about the settlement negotiations Saul Bornstein, v.p. of Irving Berlin, Inc.; E. F. Bitner, of Leo Feist, Inc.; Ben Bornstein of Ager, Yellen & Bornstein, and Alfred Beekman, counsel for Shapiro, Bernstein & Co. Other firms which settled in midtrial with Mayer, and thereby put an end to the MDS, were Harms, Inc., T. B. Harms, Inc., Famous Music Corp., Remick, Witmark, Mills Music, Inc. and Santly Bros.

Schnoz's Folio

Hollywood, May 21.

Jack Robbins will publish a folio of Jimmy Durante songs.

Will contain about 40 tunes written or sung by Durante.

Smaller Trailer Firms May Have MPPA Licensing

Music Publishers Protective Association is trying to devise a scale of license fees to apply to the smaller movie trailer producing firms. About the only trailer firm from whom it is now collecting a fee is the National Screen Service, which services around 8,000 theatres.

Method that the MPPA may adopt for the minor trailer producer is a license permitting, for a flat fee, the synchronization use of so many compositions over a period of six months. If the number of compositions is limited to 10, the trailer maker would be at liberty to make it in three marches, three romantic melodies and four hot tunes. In any event, he would have to check the numbers selected for clearance with the MPPA.

With a reasonably scaled license system in effect, MPPA figures that the smaller trailer manufacturers will be induced to give up the practice of dubbing their music from soundtracks bought from some laboratory. MPPA estimates its annual income from this trailer source could be at least $25,000.

WIDE OPEN JERSEY BREAK FOR BANDS

Name bands are in for a break at the Jersey shore resorts this summer, since word has gone out that gambling looks o.k. in that state.

The casinos, a la the Saratoga spa and the Floridian spots, can only afford the huge entertainment overheads if roulette and the like can operate.

Duchin, Rogers in Chi

Chicago, May 21.

Eddie Duchin orchestra opens for the summer at the Dells May 29.

Buddy Rogers band comes into the College Inn on June 7 for the Fair season. Present incumbent, Frankie Masters orchestra, will likely move to a spot on the exposition grounds.

802 Closes Membership to Traveling Bands; 6 Months Consecutive Limit

New York musicians' union has closed its membership rolls to traveling bands. From now on the men in an out-of-town band playing a Metropolitan engagement for six consecutive months will no longer become eligible to induction in Local 802. Governing board of the New York branch decided on this policy last week, following its settlement of a controversy over the eligibility to membership of the Casa Loma band.

Casa Loma had been advised by the international union that it would have to continue to contribute standby money for its Camel programs, and also remain subject to the regulation regarding the collection of 30% above local scale while playing a New York engagement. Casa Loma musicians contested this ruling by the American Federation of Musicians board, claiming that their acceptance into Local 802 several weeks ago entitled them to all the rights and benefits of members of that union. Governing board of 802 took up the issue and held that the Casa Loma personnel was a bona fide part of local's membership and that it no longer was subject to the standby and 30% regulations while playing New York.

Likely to be affected in the near future by the governing board's attitude toward admissability of out-of-towners is the Phil Harris combo. Latter's stay in New York is nearing the sixth month.

Under the previous arrangement the local would notify a band that its six months' permit to play in New York was about to expire and, if the men in the unit wished to become members of 802 they'd have to pay the $50 admissions fee. If the new policy is enforced no outside band will be permitted to stay in New York consecutively for more than six months.

Songs as they should be sung, that's what you will hear when the "Men-About-Town" are on the air, broadcasting on the Manhattan Merry-Go-Round program via NBC. Want pr !? Hear them sing:
"I'VE HAD MY MOMENTS"
"ALL I DO IS DREAM OF YOU"
"A THOUSAND GOOD NIGHTS"
"RIPTIDE"
"HOT DOGS AND SASPARELLA"
"SLEEPY HEAD"
ROBBINS
MUSIC CORPORATION
799 SEVENTH AVENUE
• • • NEW YORK • • •

Writers, Film-Controlled Publishers Attack ASCAP Membership Pact

New membership agreement which the directorate of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers has been drafting for the past two months is now under fire from two sources. Attacking from one angle are the writers, who demand a heftier share of the ASCAP royalty splitup and a provision in the by-laws protecting them on royalty debts due from delinquent publishers, while another dissenting faction consists of several publishing firm controlled by film producers.

ASCAP board of directors meets today (Tuesday) for another going over on the agreement which the members will be asked to signature for a term of 10 years, effective Jan. 1, 1936.

Publishing outfits hooked up with picture producers declare that they are entitled to special consideration from the Society for two reasons. One is that their connection with screen musicals has placed them in the position of creating a major share of the pop music performed. Other argument is the picture companies which control them are themselves, through theatre operating affiliations, important users of music, and that the only advantage for these publishing firms to be in the Society is that they will be there to collect what their parent corporation puts in.

The fact that they put on the market a substantial share of the new pop music, and also that their parent corporations are heavy contributors to the ASCAP, should receive extra recognition by way of assured special class rating in the Society, contend these pubs. This protection, they insist, should be written into the by-laws.

These producer-controlled firms aver that they would as lief not extend their contracts with the Society at the end of 1935, and thereby have complete control over their copyright as far as radio is concerned. They believe that it would be heathier for the sheet phase of their business if they had their own say as to how and where the works should be performed. Also claim that, when it came to getting plugs for their pictures on the air, it would be cheaper in the end for the parent corporation to buy time from the networks at the prevailing rates.

ASCAP Sues

South Bend, May 21.

The Franklin Restaurant, Inc., and Victor Kuzmic, proprietor, were made defendants in a suit filed by Gene Buck, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, and two song publishing firms, Shapiro, Bernstein & Co., Inc., and M. Witmark & Sons.

Complaint alleges that 'Wagon Wheels' and 'Sweethearts Forever' were played by an orchestra at the Franklin Inn as a public performance for profit. Plaintiffs seek $250 damages on each song.

Peony Park's Outlay

Omaha, May 21.

Joe and Jerry Malec have appropriated $15,000 for improving their swim, dance and picnic resort, Peony Park.

Brothers will spend most of the fifteen grand in building an outdoor orchestra shell capable of housing a small symphony along with dance floor of 10,000 square feet, with a portable canopy for both. Opening Decoration Day.

Popular symphony idea will be given a try in attempt to attract non-dancers and non-swimmers to picnic spot.

BAR QUAFFING IN N. Y. TO HELP COCKTAILING

Hotels look in New York and other keys to a renewed interest in cocktailing through the legalization of vertical quaffing.

So far as the ex-speaks and intimate niteries were concerned, the sit-down drinking was a gag. Most of 'em in and around Broadway served straight across the hardwood, while others with deeper regard for regulations set up prop tables at the bar at which the couples sat but were served by the barkeep as if they had been leaning against it.

Thirteen years of prohibition has long since forced conclusion that the lean-against-the-bar thing had become too strong a habit, especially with the femmes, to ever become taboo. There's something about the informality of a bar that gets the gals and they're expected to pay for it anew under legal auspices, effective yesterday (Monday) when the new N. Y. state law went into effect.

Mills Act for Radio Return of Listerine

Mills Blue Rhythm band and a mixed choir of 10 voices auditioned Monday (yesterday) for Listerine.

Account is slated to return to NBC.

Barnstorming Unit, Band

Combo dance band and colored tab figures on three months of summer one-nighters through the south and southwest, starting June 1, when they open in Wilmington. Charles Green (Consolidated Radio Artists) is taking out Connie's Hot Chocolate, which has played the presentation houses, for an hour's entertainment on ballroom floors. LeRoy Smith's dance band will supply the dansapation.

Felix Ferdinando's orchestra booked for the opening of Bayside, Malletts Bay, Vt., largest ballroom in the state.

Halting the Jitters

Chicago, May 21.

Frankie Masters, band-leader at the College Inn, has passed a ruling that he'll talk business to song pluggers on Tuesdays only.

Claims that publishers running in and out at odd times make him and the hotel officials nervous.

DORAN'S CASINO WILL SOLO IN WESTCHESTER

Ed. Doran looks to have the Westchester (N.Y.) roadhouse biz to himself this summer, with the Hollywood Gardens and Hunter Island Inn, both formerly on city property, razed and reclaimed by the N.Y.C. park dept. Pelham Gardens and Pelham Health Inn are also not in the running this summer, being boarded tight.

Doran is reopening his Glen Island (N.Y.) Casino, off the Boston Post road, with Glen Gray's Casa Loma orchestra back for a second season. Doran had the Casa Lomaites at the Colonnades in Essex House, N. Y., during the past winter.

Glen Island Casino the drive-and-yacht roadhouse, unique through having three floating docks for yachting parties, and a private yacht to take the dancers for rides between terp sessions.

'Folies' Troupe at Chi's Rainbo Garden

Chicago, May 21.

'Folies Bergere' has been set by the Music Corporation to open at Jack Huff's Rainbo Garden on the northside of Chicago by June 3. MCA, which has some $15,000 tied up in the French revue already, has cabled the troupe to hit the high seas and the show is scheduled to sail on Wednesday (23).

Huff will rename the Rainbo Gardens, possibly the Bergere. Besides supplying the show, MCA will book in two bands, one to furnish revue tunes and the other for the regular hoofing. Troupe was at first due for the Pabst Casino.

Jack Huff is giving up the suburban Lincoln Tavern and will leave the northshore territory to the Dells, across the street.

'Valley Queen' Sinks

Council Bluffs, Ia., May 21.

More than 100 persons and crew of the 'Valley Queen', Missouri river excursion steamer, were rescued in the dark of night when the pleasure craft rammed a sandbar and split its hull. Music kept blaring as passengers were taken to shore in lifeboats of the craft, which sank in 15 feet of water.

R. E. Ward, of Omaha, conditioned the craft last year at a cost of $50,000 for river excursions, dances and pleasure cruises.

Isham Jones leaves the Commodore, New York, to settle down at the Ritz, Atlantic City. He opens here June 23 and stays until Labor Day.

Music Notes

Little Jack Little shifts to the Ambassador, Atlantic City, following a tour of one-nighters, and A. Kavelin replaces him May 28 on the Lexington, New York, roof.

Abe Lyman is set for the Colony Surf Club, Asbury Park, N. J., starting next Wednesday (30).

Vincent Lopez swings to the Cocoanut Grove, Ambassador, Los Angeles, July 23, from the St. Regis, New York.

Jack Ills has taken over for American publication 'We Like a Gay Song' from Peter Maurice, and 'Kiss Me Goodbye' from Karl Brull, of Paris. 'Goodbye's' melody was composed by H. May, French songsmith, while Mitchell Parish wrote the English lyrics.

Jonie Taps, head of Shapiro, Bernstein's radio department, starts on a swing of the publishing firm's offices May 27. His itinerary calls for a 10-day stay in Chicago.

Eddie Davis will make it his 12th consecutive summer at Canoe Place Inn, Southampton, L. I.

Enric Madriguera leaves the Waldorf-Astoria for Vivian Johnson's, Deal Beach, N. J., next month.

Banhoff and Cannon are in the Village Barn, New York, floor show.

Mills Music, Inc., has the publishing rights to 'Dreaming a Threadbare Dream,' which is included in the score of Universal's 'Embarrassing Moments.' Edward Ward and George Waggner are co-authors of the tune.

Duke Wells' orchestra playing at the Crooked Lake hotel, outside of Troy, N. Y.

John Steele, Harry Stevens and Johnnny Johnson's orch. continue with a new floor show at the New Kenmore hotel, Albany.

Morie Hoffman's orch is the new band at the Hotel Trojan in Troy, N. Y.

Maurice Davenport orchestra and Ross Underhill and band have been booked by Coolidge Pavilion, Ludlow, Vt., for the summer.

Hugo Reisenfeld is writing musical score for Sol Lesser's 'Peck's Bad Boy.'

Jerome Kern is writing an additional song for Fox's 'Music in the Air,' with Oscar Hammerstein, 2d, doing lyrics.

Dick Mansfield has replaced Ernie Holst at the Avenue restaurant, 5th avenue and 44th street.

Frederick Brothers have placed Jimmie Joy at Coney Island, Cincinnati; Jack Crawford, current at Highlands, St. Louis, and shortly opening the Roof Garden of Hotel Claridge, Memphis; Carleton Coon, Jr., with the Owen Sisters trio, currently playing colege dates and ballrooms in Ohio and West Virginia prior to their summer engagements at Forest Park Highlands, St. Louis, and the Steel Pier, Atlantic City.

Percy Wenrich has hooked up his 'Come On Down to the Fair' with the exploitation division of the Chicago exposition. Mills Music, Inc., is publishing.

Select Music Pubications, Inc., has sold the British rights of 'Ridin' Around in the Rain' to Campbell-Connelly.

Roger Wolfe Kahn's opening at the Claremont Inn, upper Manhattan, put off a week to May 28. Placed thru Taps.

Ben Pollack starts May 29 doubling rom the Casino de Paree to the New Yorker.

Reggie Childs uncovers an augmented unit in the Roosevelt's Summer Gardens tomorrow night (Wednesday).

Joe Hoffman, who took the Cab Calloway unit on its recent European jaunt, is now handling the band booking dates for the Irving Mills office.

Ben Cutler has been set by Meyer Davis into the Lido Country Club, Long Beach, L. I.

Leon Miles, Coast baton-waver, in New York rehearsing a new band for Eastern dates.

Fletcher Henderson steps into the Cotton Club, New York, June 16, replacing Jimmy Lunceford, who goes on tour.

Court Nixes Bernie's $125 Garnishee Against McGee

Garnishment for $125 which Ben Bernie had obtained against Erwin McGee, musician currently employed in Lum's restaurant, was vacated last week by Justice Garsten of the Municipal Court. Bernie brought suit in the name of his lawyer, Joel S. Tepper, but Justice Garsten held that the go-between idea was out, and that if the band leader wanted to collect he would have to litigate under his own identity.

Money tangle dates back to time McGee was in the Bernie organization. Selmer-Conn made Bernie co-defendant in a suit to collect $125 in claims as the balance due on some instruments McGee had bought. The leader, it was alleged, endorsed McGee's credit.

McGee's lawyer, David Goodstein, charged before Justice Garstein that Bernie had settled the $125 judgment that Selmer-Conn eventually got for $50, and that the leader was trying to compel McGee to make restitution to him on the basis of $125.

ACCLAIMED BY THE MAJOR BROADCASTERS AS POSITIVE HIT SONGS

THE SWEETEST MUSIC THIS SIDE OF HEAVEN
FARE THEE WELL
THE BOOGIE MAN
FROM PARAMOUNT PICTURE
"MANY HAPPY RETURNS"
Featuring GUY LOMBARDO and BURNS and ALLEN

COCKTAILS FOR TWO
LIVE AND LOVE TONIGHT
EBONY RHAPSODY LOVELY ONE
MARAHUANA
WHERE DO THEY COME FROM
FROM PARAMOUNT PICTURE
"MURDER AT THE VANITIES"

LAUGH, YOU SON OF A GUN
LOW DOWN LULLABY
I'M A BLACK SHEEP WHO'S BLUE
FROM PARAMOUNT PICTURE
"LITTLE MISS MARKER"
Featuring SHIRLEY TEMPLE
★ ★ ★ ★

Famous Music CORPORATION
1619 BROADWAY ····· NEW YORK
PUBLISHERS TO PARAMOUNT PICTURES

Mike Shea, 75, Dies in Buffalo; Last of Vaudeville's Active Pioneers

Michael (Mike) Shea died last Wednesday (16) at his home in Buffalo, N. Y. He was 75 years old and only recently had celebrated his 50th anniversary in the show business. The last active member of the original band of American showmen who pioneered in the variety field and later in independent circuit operation, Mr. Shea died in harness.

Late last March Mr Shea suffered tooth infection, from which he never fully recovered. Immediately prior to that he was, despite his 75 years, as active and as vigorous as many men half his age. Even during his recent illness he continued to personally direct his business affairs as usual. The only item he neglected during the last six weeks was his periodical booking trip to New York. This he left to Vincent McFaul, the Shea general manager for 31 years. McFaul was in New York at the Paramount office on a film booking deal when notified of the death of his chief. It's understood that McFaul will inherit Mr. Shea's position as head of the Shea theatre companies.

Mike Shea was known for his square shooting among many other personal virtues, but to the show business in which he was rooted the outstanding thing about Mike Shea was the independence for which he fought and which he retained throughout the half of a century he spent as a showman. It was often said of him that 'Mike Shea never sold out.'

Always Independent

Guarding his individuality through his entire career, refusing to be tempted by money or bluffed by reverses, Mike Shea insisted on retaining his independence to the end. Less than two weeks before he died the showman made his final bid for that distinction, and won. That he was ill at the time made no difference to him. With Loew and Paramount he became involved in a three-cornered pooling deal for the Great Lakes theatre in Buffalo. Although his interest was far outweighed by the combined Loew and Paramount interests in the matter, Mike Shea insisted on being named sole boss, and his circuit partners acquiesced.

Mr. Shea, born at St. Catherines, Ont., in 1859, was raised in Buffalo, where his theatrical activities in later years were centered. Buffalo mourns his passing as that of an outstanding public figure. He built and operated the majority of the theatres in that city and through these activities became an influential man in the political as well as the business affairs of Buffalo.

There is no record either in Mike Shea's dealings in the show business or his outside business affairs in Buffalo, of a loss by an investor in a Shea enterprise where it could possibly have been prevented by the head of the company. During the worst part of the depression Mr. Shea had his back to the wall. Many people advised bankruptcy and receivership for his companies, but he refused to listen. His insistence on protecting his investors was known to have dug deeply into his personal holdings.

The story of Mike Shea as told in VARIETY's anniversary issue, is partly reprinted herewith:

Mike Shea is with white hair and a carriage as erect as a West Point cadet. He is one of those guys that neither looks or acts his age. He's as active today as he was 25 years ago and works as hard and as long as anybody on his payroll.

Two-thirds of his life have been spent in the show business. He has been a showman in all that term implies, for every minute of those 50 years. He is the last of the vaudeville Mohicians, the lone survivor of that colorful band of men who started from scratch in the 1880's and nursed vaudeville from a museum to the most popular form of amusement of its time. He has lived through vaudeville's recent loss of the prestige which he and others fought so hard and long to build up. But he didn't and doesn't cry about it. He remained a showman and progressed with show business. He knows all old-fashioned ways and days, but he's not an old-fashioned showman. His methods are modern and so are his theatres and shows.

irst

There are two things in show business in which Mike Shea has immovable faith. One is talent. The other is independent and individualistic showmanship. He believes in talent first, because without performers at his disposal the showman exist.

Independence is the essence of Mike's own kind of show business; it becomes more of a romance than business as viewed through the pages of Mike Shea's personal history.

In an interview two years or so ago Mike Shea said something that reflects his whole career. It was in answer to the question of why, when all the other major independents sold out to the circuits in the boom period of '25-'29, alone refused to relinquish control and insisted on maintaining his independence.

'I didn't sell out because I didn't care much for the money,' Mike answered.

Mike Shea became a showman in 1883. He was 25 years old and had been a sailor on the Great Lakes, an iron foundry worker and a stevedore. He made his theatrical debut as the owner, operator, booker and entire staff of Shea's Music Hall. He was destined to become Show Business itself as far as Buffalo was concerned. No one man has had greater influence on the theatre of any large American city than Mike Shea has had on the theatre of Buffalo.

In 1881 there were no central booking offices on which an indie theatre operator could depend for his shows. It was a matter of picking 'em up where and when possible. The operator was his own booker. Having once acquired that habit, Mike never lost it. It's a habit with him to this day. He still books his own shows. His theatres may be listed on the books of a circuit booking office, but Mike comes to New York regularly to personally oversee the penciling in of every act that plays his theatres.

The Keith and other booking offices which carried the Shea theatres on their books would rather have had Mike Shea stay in Buffalo. They didn't like the way Mike set his own salaries. If the booking office had set a salary of $500 on a particular act and Mike thought the act was worth $100 more, he'd book the act for $600. The booking office would squawk, because the higher salary set by Mike would be a 'bad' precedent, but when Mike Shea had his own opinion of an act's value no booking office squawk ever changed it.

Mike had another method of paying an act what he thought it was worth, if believing the booking office salary insufficient. At the end of an engagement, and if having made good in his theatre, many acts would find an extra $50 or $100 in their pay envelope. The standard acts of vaudeville remember Mike for that because he still does it.

Played 'Em All

In his Buffalo theatres from 1883 to 1933 Mike Shea has played 'em all. In 1885 he played the Ward and Vokes, the Kelly and Manns and the James Thorntons. His 1933 headliners are the Eddie Cantors, the Paul Whitemans and the Amos 'n' Andys. His experience with talent of all grades, shapes and sizes have been responsible for Mike Shea's implicit faith in talent as the prime factor in theatre operation.

Mike Shea says that he hasn't any idea about favorite actors and such things. He'll book all actors who entertain his audiences and draw business to his theatres. He doesn't mind paying them if they'll entertain and draw. He likes to pay and play names—real

(Continued on page 42)

LAYOFFS GET BEANS

And Prizes Too, in Hollywood Nite Spot by Applause Test

Hollywood, May 21.

Layoff acts are getting a chance for beans at the Brass Rail, local beer groggery, with the advent of vaude nites. Spot is giving three prizes, $5, $3 and $2 for the best acts selected by applause. Those not winning prizes are fed, anyway. Matty Fain is m.c.

For the first nite, the Huntley Sisters, dance team, and Geraldine Duke, singer and hula swisher, were in.

Dr. Fischel Set as Medical Supervisor Over NVA San

Dr. Karl Fischel, one of the country's foremost tuberculosis specialists, has accepted the position of medical supervisor at the NVA Sanitorium, Saranac Lake, N. Y. He starts June 1.

Dr. Fischel reported favorably on the NVA San's present medical staff, being particularly enthusiastic about Dr. George Wilson, whom he met on a trip to Saranac Lake last week. Wilson has been acting supervisor in the absence of Dr. Edgar Mayer. When Fischel commences, Wilson will become medical director of the San.

Harold Rodner of Warners, who handled the NVA reorganizing for the circuits, described Dr. Fischel as one of the four top men in the U. S. in his line. Dr. Fischel graduated in Vienna and did post graduate work there and in Switzerland. He has been on the staff of the Los Angeles General Hospital, a teacher in the lower California colleges, and for 11 years the medical director at Los Angeles Sanatorium. He has agreed to drop all outside practice and devote all his time to the NVA San.

On June 1 Mrs. William Morris will take up her duties as official 'mother' of the San, a capacity she will fill without salary.

NVA Board meets in New York this week to report on the drive and decide on any further administrative changes found necessary. As the San reorganization appears practically sctled, other changes, if made, probably will be confined to the New York social end.

Returns on the drive are still incomplete, but indications are that the $200,000 expected may be exceeded. Drive will continue in some scattered independent theatres throughout the country during the rest of May.

Cincinnati, May 21.

NVA will get the profits from the local Variety Club's first social affair, a supper dance, held Saturday (19) in the night club at the Netherland Plaza.

About 700 attended at $2 admish.

Newark, May 21.

The NVA theatre funds' drive returns in the Warner theatres in northern New Jersey were 15% better than last year.

Collections amounted to more than $6,000.

Colored Vaude Tilt Resumes in Harlem

Manhattan Playhouses, which lost its first tilt with Sidney Cohen in the battle to retain colored vaudeville on 125th street, has returned to the fray. Circuit's Harlem Opera House resumed colored vaude Saturday (19).

With the restoration of colored vaude at the Harlem Opera House, Nat Waller is out as the manager, replaced by Al Sterling.

Sid Cohen's Apollo theatre in Harlem, playing colored stage presentations with films at 35c top, is going in for names when available. Starts this week with the Don Redman band, Bill Robinson June 2.

House is the former Hurtig & Semon and Minsky burlesque spot. Cohen took it over last winter and has built it into a big money-getter almost exclusively on a colored draw. Recent gross average has been $8,000 a week.

Two Agents for Every Act This Summer; See 24½ Wks. Major Time

Agents, acts and bookers face a lean vaude summer, with but a total of 24½ weeks scheduled be booked by the major circuits out of New York. This includes the picture houses. Theatre chains are scheduled to shave down to that amount by the middle of June, if not sooner.

Last summer, which was supposed to have seen bottom reached in stageshow time booked in N. Y., there were about 32 weeks available out of the big city.

Loew, with 13½ weeks being booked now, most of which it is expected to retain through the summer, will top the list in amount of playing time, making up more than half the complete total of weeks. RKO, once the leading exponent of stageshows, may be near the bottom with three and a half weeks booked between its three show buyers, Arthur Willi, Bill Howard and Dan Freundlich.

Par

Paramount, with four weeks be booked by Harry Kalcheim, wi run second to Loew, while Fanchon & Marco, with two weeks, will be in fourth place behind RKO. Warners will be fifth and last with a week and a half, the amount of time it is presently booking.

The one ludicrous feature of the shrinkage of N. Y.'s playing time this summer is the fact that Loew's, with the major portion, has less than one-third the amount of franchised agents than RKO, which ranks so close to the bottom. On the latter's booking floor things are going to be tough indeed for the agents during July and August, although the reps have had no raves for RKO's book at any time in the past two years. On the Paramount, Warner and F. & M. floors the competition will be tougher still, as these are open offices visited by the independent agents as well as those franchised by Loew and RKO.

For the 24½ vaude weeks to be set out of N. Y., the bookers will buy around 135 acts weekly. This will mean an average of one act booked between two agents weekly, as there are at least 270 act-sellers on Broadway at present. With the depletion of weeks available to their acts, however, it is expected that the agents' ranks will also shrink between June 15 and next fall.

Summer Time

Loew: Full weeks, Capitol, State, Valencia, Paradise and Metropolitan, New York; Century, Baltimore; Orpheum, Boston; Loew's, Jersey City; State, Newark; Loew's, Providence; State, Syracuse, and Fox, Washington. Split weeks: Boulevard, Orpheum and Gates, N. Y.

Paramount: Paramount, N. Y.; Metropolitan, Boston; Buffalo, Buffalo, and the Michigan, Detroit, all full weeks. Kalcheim also assisting in the booking of the Chicago and Oriental, in Chicago.

RKO, full weeks: Palace and Albee, N. Y., and Palace, Chicago. Split week, Academy, N. Y.

Warners, split weeks: Earle theatres in Philadelphia and Washington, and Ritz, Elizabeth, N. J.

Fanchon & Marco, full weeks Roxy, N. Y.; Fox, Philadelphia.

PROS STAGE SHOW AT ROSS' TRAINING CAMP

Grossinger Falls, N. Y., May 21.

Barney Ross, the Chicago lightweight champ who will fight Jimmy McLarnin for the welterweight title May 28 at the Garden Bowl, Long Island City, explains the reason for confidence that he will win—says it is intuition. In this ideal training spot Ross attracted a flock of professionals over the week-end, Abe Lyman bringing up his band and a impromptu show was staged in the Playhouse. Others participating were Gordon and Revel, Milt Berle, Ritz brothers and Lew Brice.

Match is being promoted by Mrs. Hearst's Free Milk Fund for Babies. Indications are for a sell-out, capacity of the Bowl being increased to 70,000.

Betting odds on the Ross-McLarnin bout are even. Same goes for the Baer-Carnera fight to be staged at the Bowl June 14, advance sale for which, too, is heavy.

BROWN'S SHOW FOUR AND OUT

Chamberlain Brown's 'Flashes' folded at the Lyric, New York, Friday (18) after four performances. Shows included the opener Wednesday night, two on Thursday and a Friday matinee.

At a 25c and 50c scale the straight vaude and sketches venture backed by the United Patriotic Society grossed less than $25 for the four shows. Brown claims that the sponsors put up all the dough, he simply having booked, staged and sung in the show. They paid off the acts.

N. Y. LICENSE COMM'R'S AGENT TEST THIS WK.?

Although such was his avowed intention last week, License Commissioner Paul Moss did not issue any summonses last week to Broadway agents for a test case on the Employment Agency Law of New York. Moss is trying to license all theatrical reps as employment agents, which necessitates a $25 yearly fee and $500 bond, while they, through Counsel Maurice Goodman and Harold M. Goldblatt, are fighting the move.

Yesterday (Monday) Commissioner Moss stated that he expects to issue the summons this week, the only reason for the delay lying in his anxiety, and that of the Corporation Counsel, to make sure of the city's case.

Before issuing the summons, Moss said, they are seeking an agent who most assuredly comes under the Employment Agency Law.

Striking Truck Drivers Waive Walkout for Roxy

Minneapolis, May 21.

With transportation tied up by the truck drivers' strike, it was necessary for Roxy and his Gang to obtain special dispensation from union officials to enable the troupe to get out of town following its engagement at the Minnesota theatre here.

Union officials permitted the use of vans to transport the company's baggage to the railroad station. Company jumped from here to New York.

Det. Bookers Reorg.

Detroit, May 21.

Michigan Bookers Association has been revived, with Sol Berns as president, for the purpose of eliminating evils in local booking situation.

One purpose of the activity is to present a solid front in dealing with any problems that arise from the activities of the Detroit Entertainers' Association.

RKO DROPS VAUDE IN UPSTATE SPOTS

RKO is folding up vaudeville in Syracuse and Rochester after this week. Syracuse opened two weeks ago after being without stage shows all winter.

Rochester budget was cut down when Syracuse opened to conform with the latter and play the same shows, but the idea didn't work out. Rochester had been playing the high priced units and name shows.

Hugo Morris Broke

Hugo Morris, who with Murry Fell operated a vaude agency until four years ago, filed a petition in the New York Federal Court last week. Morris gave his liabilities as $2,535, and assets $5.

Principal creditor listed in the schedule is Charles Furey, who five years ago obtained a $2,256 judgment against Morris.

Mike Shea Dies

(Continued from page 41)

names—because real names draw business. But while he won't mention any favs, it's easy to see that Mike has a soft spot for Marie Dressler as an artist and a name, stage or screen, for his theatres.

Pictures didn't demonstrate the merits of Marie Dressler to Mike Shea because Miss Dresaler, as a vaudevillian, had played for Mike many times before he had ever seen a picture. But Miss Dressler had a lot to do with demonstrating the properties of pictures as an entertainment to Mike.

It happened at Shea's Hippodrome many years ago. Mike was in New York on a booking trip. The picture at the Hipp with the vaudeville that week was so bad it was keeping them away from the theatre. Mike returned to Buffalo in the middle of the week with a print of "Tillie's Punctured Romance," a comedy with Marie Dressler, Mabel Normand and others.

The next day, while riding to work on the street car, the house manager of the Hipp met a friend who proceeded to rave about the current picture. The manager thought the guy was crazy, but when arriving at the theatre he saw a line stretching down the block. Mike, without notifying anyone, had stopped the bad picture before its conclusion at the evening show and replaced it with 'Tillie.' By the next afternoon word-of-mouth gave Mike Shea his first smash picture.

The incident educated Mike Shea to the extent that, unlike other vaudeville showmen of his time, he did not cling blindly to vaudeville alone for his theatres, but joined the parade. And he has never dropped from the running. The parade passed many of the others by, but not Mike Shea.

While always following modern trends, for business and showmanship reasons, Mike Shea has never gone 100% hard boiled toward vaudeville. He's still a softie for the form of entertainment which he helped create. He plays stage shows wherever his audiences will stand for them, and sometimes when he would be better off without them. But he'd rather give his patrons a good stage show with a bad picture than just the bad picture, and that accounts for his continued participation in the vaudeville booking field, also the fact that Mike is among the most prolific big money stage name buyers of today.

Starts Buildi

As far as Buffalo and Mike Shea and show business are concerned there is little concerning theatricals in that town that Mike hasn't had a hand in. He operated the Music Hall for 12 years and the only thing that could stop him did stop him—a fire. It burned the two-a-day 50c top showhouse of specialty acts to the ground. So Mike built himself another one—the Garden.

And he kept on building theatres through the years. He built the Buffalo, Great Lakes, Hippodrome, Shea's Seneca, Century, Community, North Park, Bailey, Kensington, Bellevue and Riviera theatres in Buffalo, which gives a fair idea and how synonymous Mike Shea and show business are to Buffalo. He also built a pair of theatres in North Tonawanda, N. Y., a nearby town, and one in Toronto. And ran them all himself.

From 1900 to 1920, without missing an up or down beat, Mike Shea made regular weekly trips to New York and back. Before 1900 and after 1920 his Buffalo-New York jaunts averaged two a month. In his 50 years, it is estimated, Mike has spent enough in carfare between the two cities to have bought himself his own railroad.

For the past several years Mike Shea has divided his residence as well as his time, between New York and Buffalo. Picture buying, besides vaudeville bookings, along with the many deals necessitated by modern theatre operation, forced him to spend more time in New York. So he bought a home in Sheepshead Bay, where he now resides about half of the time.

In New York Mike Shea's office is wherever he happens to be booking or buying pictures or vaudeville or making deals for his theatres. In Buffalo his office adjoins the top balcony in the Buffalo theatre, three lghts up and no elevator. One story is that it's on the third floor because Mike likes to see the bankers walk the stairs. That stair walking is the only squawk that Mike Shea's employees have against Mike Shea. Among the employees is Vince McFall, who has been general manager of Mike's enterprises for 31 years, which sounds like a record engagement for any g. m. in one spot for show business.

But it's Mike Shea's theory, and accepted as gospel by his staff, that if the customers will pay for the privilege of walking the three flights, the climb shouldn't be so tough for those who get paid for it.

For any success he has attained for the good will he has earned, Mike Shea insists that he has not been chiefly responsible. It is the talent, the shows and the pictures, and those responsible for them, that made him a showman, says Mike Shea.

Surviving the showman are his widow, Mrs. Josephine Carr Shea; daughter, Mrs. Emile Giffonlello, and two grandchildren.

Buffalo, May 21.

High church and civic honors were accorded Mike Shea at his funeral Saturday (19). City officials from Mayor Zimmerman down and about 5,000 other people attended the services at St. Joseph's Cathedral to pay their respects to the showman who was one of Buffalo's foremost citizens.

A delegation of New York showmen acting as pall bearers included Sam Dembow, Jr., Abe Lastfogel, Harold B. Franklin, Andy Smith and Y. Frank Freeman.

All Shea theatres in the city were closed until 3 p.m., the day of the funeral. Also remaining closed until that hour in honor of Mike Shea was A. C. Hayman's Lafayette. Hayman and Shea were in many bitter opposition battles in Buffalo.

Vincent McFaul, general manager of the Shea enterprises for 31 years, stated he will continue to operate the company with his associates without departing in any way from Mike Shea's methods. It is generally known in Buffalo that during the past few years Shea anticipated his own eventual withdrawal, and saw to it that the company could operate as he wanted it to under McFaul's direction. Minor employes of the company, which controls nine theatres here, two in North Tonawanda, nearby suburb, and one in Toronto, have been given assurance that there will be no changes in policy or personnel on the operating end.

McFaul will make the periodical booking trips to New York which made Mike Shea the railroads' best customer for 50 years.

Members of the immediate family attending the funeral were the widow, one daughter, son-in-law, and Mike Shea's two brothers, Tom and Jerry.

Rand's 3 Loew Weeks

Loew is booking the Sally Rand unit through the Morris office for three weeks, commencing June 8 with a split week in Akron and Canton.

Full weeks in Syracuse and Rochester follow.

Saranac Lake

By HAPPY BENWAY

James Marshall has fallen. He will mugg a Saranac column of the better type.

Our library has been swelled up via books received from Miss Tootsie Helmlich. Thanks!

Mrs. Leonard Grotte, wife of Loew manager, who is ozoning up here, wasted a couple of weeks vacashing in the Bronx.

Louis Cohen and Bert Schwimmer are now upers. They both left the infirmary department for an exercise routine. Nice work in two months.

Betty Huntington tried to join the pneumo-thorax gang, but the needle would not function, so our Betty will relax to the natural cure.

Bill Fletcher, trombone sololst recently with Phil Harris orchestra, is doing wonders via the pneumothorax routine.

Irving Flersher, Warner executive, made a flying trip up here to ogle the lodge, in and out same day.

Danny Murphy was week-ended by his frau and daughter. Danny is the official greeter of the lodge.

Doris Connes is a new arrival at the lodge. She was formerly with the 'Venetian Serenaders.'

John Eskin, new dietitian at the lodge, is adding on a mess of weight to the bed patients.

Fred Rith left the all-up department and was shot back into the infirmary for a mess of bed, while Armand Monte left the infirmary for a routine of exercise.

Edward P. Tarlo, local hair dresser, is added to our good samaritan club. He is donating his services gratis to our ozoning gals.

Jack Nicoll, after a siege of French hospitaling, was shot into General hospital here for a once over and test. Returned to lodge with a siege of bed before him.

George de Carlton is another newcomer at the lodge. He was shot up here from the Friars club.

Names and addresses of showfolk patients at the N.V.A. lodge and elsewhere.

N.V.A. Sanatorium

Thomas Abbott, Fred Bachman, Stella Barrett, Happy Benway, Betty Blair, William Canton, Alice Carman, Fifi Climas, Louis Cohen, Ethel Clouds, George De Carlton, Doris Connes, J. A. Curtis, Robert Faricy, Doris Gascoigne, Hazel Gladstone, George Harmon, Ruth Hatch, Betty Huntington, Elsie Johnson, Raymond Ketcham, John Louden, James Marshall, Robert Merrick, Armand Monte, Richard Moore, Danny Murphy, Jack Nicoll, Joseph Parker, Louis Rheingold, Nellie Queally, Ford Raymond, Fred Rith, Jackie Roberts, Ben Schaffer, Bert Schwimmer, Tommy Vicks, Margaret Newell, Catherine Vogelle, Dorothy Wilson, Toni Temple.

Harry Barrett and Charley Barrett, 302 Broadway; Frisco DeVere, 9 Church street; Jack Casey, 72 Park avenue; Marion Greene, Santononi apartments; Leonard Grotte, 8 Old Military road; James Haegney, Santononi road; Chris Hagedorn, 26 Sheppard avenue; Claude Lawson, 38 Lake Flower avenue; Lee LaMar, 8 Leona street; Leo Massimo, 91 Broadway; John Montalese, 9 Church street; Vernon Lawrence, 60 Lake Flower avenue; Lawrence McCarthy, Overlook hotel; Mannie Lowy, 5 Front street; A. J. Neiderbule, 84½ Bloomingdale avenue; Joe Reilly, 28 Sheppard avenue; Salvadore Ragone, 9 Front street; Russell Weller, 6 Baker street, and Angela Papulis, 9 Church street.

Write to those you know Saranac.

INTERSTATE TOTALLY VAUDLESS FOR SUMMER

Interstate circuit will run without any stage bookings all summer, having reversed its original intention of playing occasional attractions if and when available during the hot weather.

Charlie Freeman had been negotiating with the William Morris office for summer bookings for the Sally Rand and George Olsen-Ethel Shutta units and Bebe Daniels-Ben Lyon in Dallas and Houston, but last week was ordered by Karl Hoblitzelle to call all deals off.

Interstate's regular stage show season terminated last week.

BACK AGAIN!

THERRIEN

"The Painter of Songs"

NOW

METROPOLITAN, B'KLYN

This Week (May 25)

Direction

JOHNNY HYDE

WM. MORRIS AGENCY

PAULINE COOKE

1674 Broadway

Now Playing

JOHNNY PERKINS ....Metropolitan

BOB EIPA.....Paramount

COLLETTE LYONS.....Washington

KING'S SCANDALS.....Baltimore

"Love and Kisses"

. L. OZ

THE FIVE PERCULATORS

JAMES MOORE, CLIFTON MOORE, CARLTON SANTO, HENRY PERRY and JOHN FREEMAN

BACK AGAIN WITH CAB CALLOWAY

LOEW'S STATE, NEW YORK (This Week, May 18)

Next Week (May 25) EARLE, PHILA.

Personal Direction, IRVING MILLS

ROSS and EDITH

BARSTOW

BACK FOR OUR SIXTH RETURN ENGAGEMENT AT RKO PALACE NEW YORK, THIS WEEK (MAY 18)

irection, IRVING TISHMAN

Marcus Loew BOOKING AGENCY

General Executive Offices

LOEW BUILDING ANNEX

160 WEST 46TH ST.

BRyant 9-7800 NEW YORK CITY

J. H. LUBIN

GENERAL MANAGER

MARVIN H. SCHENCK

BOOKING MANAGER

SMITH BALLEW

AND ORCHESTRA

With FRANCES STEVENS

HEADLINING RKO PALACE, NEW YORK (THIS WEEK, MAY 18)

OPENING SUMMER SEASON, CLUB FORREST, NEW ORLEANS, JUNE 20

Direction M.C.A.

AFA LINES UP CLUB BOOKERS

American Federation of Actors drafted a code of ethics for night club and private entertainment agents at a meeting with clubmen Wednesday night (16) at the AFA's new headquarters in West 44th street. At the same time it also franchised 10 agents who endorsed the 'code.'

Regulations adopted by the AFA abolishes in-the-hat offices, a common practice now, and also restricts this particular agenting field to citizens of the U. S., who are 'of good moral character and never been convicted of a crime.'

The 'code' abolishes all free performances and bans free auditions. Also insists that entertainers be paid off no later than 48 hours after fulfilling an engagement; and indecent and immoral performances, in other words, stags, are taboo.

A standard club entertainment contract was drawn up by the AFA, with the 10 franchised agents promising to live up to it. The reps also promised to satisfy the AFA that all employers of club talent are financially responsible and that no acts will be booked in any spot of questionable character. They also agreed not to undersell a competitor.

Provisions for an arbitration board are also included in the code of ethics, this to consist of an agent-member, actor-member and a neutral party.

Club agents who received AFA franchises at the meeting were Edgar A. Benson, W. J. Sullivan, Dan J. Harrington, Al Skea, Joseph Franklin, Frederick Watson, Charles J. McGoldrick, Thomas E. Kelly, Alf T. Wilton, Harry Moss and Al Rock.

Organization of the club entertainment field by the AFA is in line with the grants included in the American Federation of Labor charter it received a couple of months ago, which gives it supervision over stage labor in all branches of show business except legit, radio and choristers in legit and the picture houses.

Madge Bellamy Cancels At Fox—Throat Trouble

Laryngitis forced Madge Bellamy off the bill at the Fox, Brooklyn, last week.

The former picture name dropped out during the second day (Saturday).

Weiner Back

Jack Weiner, former RKO agent, returned to New York last week after nearly a year as operator of a picture house, Beecher, in Cincinnati. Hasn't decided yet whether he'll resume as an agent or seek another theatre.

Weiner's year as lessor of the Beecher, he says, was a Mexican stand-off.

Code Authority Starts

Washington, May 21.

Machinery for setting up NRA Code Authority for burlesque was set in motion last week, when plan of election received government O.K.

Code administration group will include six representatives of Burlesque Association and three independent operators, based on showing that trade association membership covers 70% of individual managers doing 80% of the biz.

Aimee's Route

Aimee Semple McPherson, starting around July 15 and continuing into September, will tour parks, piers and chatauqua towns in the eastern states for lectures and debates. Will do two appearances daily in each spot.

Martin Wagner, of William Morris office, is arranging the dates.

Seeley-Fields' Chi Date

Chicago, May 21.

Blossom Seeley and Benny Fields come into the State-Lake to headline the week of May 27.

First vaude visit in Chicago in almost three years.

MILO, $33,750 BEHIND IN ALIMONY, IN JAIL

Syracuse, May 21.

Unable to secure $3,000 bail, Robert Grob, professionally known as Milo III, vaudeville mimic, is in Onondaga County jail today, arrested on a civic warrant. Milo is due before Supreme Court Justice Levi in New York city Friday (25) for contempt of court in being $33,750 1. arrears in alimony payments.

Milo's arrest on the RKO Keith stage last week cut short his vaudeville engagement there. It was his first real booking in eight months the vaudevillian claimed.

Actor's wife secured a separation in 1928 and Milo was to have paid her $100 weekly alimony from Sept. 1, 1926.

Unit Reviews

Blue Ridge Mountaineers

(ORPHEUM, LINCOLN)

Lincoln, May 18.

This week is the first step in an attempt to make people un-vaude conscious. Management is trying what might make a fair opening act if whittled. As is, the stage show lasts 25 minutes.

Blue Ridge Mountaineers is a 13-people troupe, eight boys and five girls. Lads are all armed with guitars, ukes and fiddles, dressed in blue denim and while not working, chew straw from a hay bale. The girls have one change of costume. They come on dressed in gingham aprons with milk pails. They then leave off the milk buckets.

Songs include such ancients as 'Old Zip Coon' and 'Turkey in the Straw,' 'Last Roundup,' and a much murdered fiddle version of 'This Little Piggy Went to Market.' One member tries to clown and shouldn't. The girls can't do man-ern chorus routines, but might have done all right with a barn dance.

Act seems a poor imitation of the old Weaver Bros. turn. Pic is 'Witching Hour' (U), and a short had eight acts with Adelaide Hall, Girl Friends and Mosconi Bros. topping. Biz very bad. Barney.

OLSEN-SHUTTA

(ORPHEUM, OMAHA)

Omaha, May 15.

This is another of the big name bands of radio gone vaudeville and touring and classes as a top-notcher in entertainment. Outstanding forte of this assemblage of talented performers is novelties.

Performing personnel lists the band of 19 besides Olsen and Miss Shutta, with nearly every member of the band doubling in some capacity. Music dispensed in the something over 50 minutes is strictly of the modern school, only variations being a few college tunes and such clickers as Miss Shutta's 'German Band' and 'I Like Mountain Music.'

Olsen himself in the maestro's shoes is the foundation of the act, and his work before the mike, while displaying his bristling molars, leaves nothing to be desired. The microphone carried by this crew adds no little to their delivery, mike being one of the new 'high velocity' type which grabs the voice even if the singer isn't close enough to kiss it. This removes the menace of hiding behind the mike, and gives the audience a look.

Routine employs such old standbys as imitations of other bands, of a broken-down phonograph, and the burlesque on the quartet from Rigoletto, but all done with clever variations. Olsen has mustered out of his gang a slick trio, a clever quartet and a glee club burlesque on Waring along with his soloists.

Hotcha Gardner, getting billing along with the two top names is on for only one number by himself, but works in the quartet and the glee club. Besides Gardner, Olsen features a guitar strummer in the person of Clay Bryson, explaining the chap is signed for pix on the strength of his looks and voice, and Bob Borger, trumpet player.

Miss Shutta does her show until the wind-up of the act, which she takes over as her personal assignment. What better Olsen could have routined for a climactic close is hard to guess, but it's certain the patrons could easily have stood more of the missus.

Amputate Inglis' Leg

Jack Inglis, vaudevillian, was operated on at the French hospital last week, one leg being amputated above the knee. Actor is afflicted with Berger's disease. He was placed in the hospital by the N. V. A.

Inglis toured in the 'Strike Me Pink' unit this season.

Lyman's 4 Loew Wks.; Two at Capitol, N. Y.

Abe Lyman comes into the Capitol, N. Y., for two weeks after opening for Loew in Washington May 25. He goes to Baltimore next and then into the Broadway deluxer.

He goes into Harry Ruder's Colony Surf Club, Deal, N. J., June 22.

Customers Tired, So Now It's Duals Only At the Fox, Frisco

San Francisco, May 21.

Vaude is ousted at the Fox, effective this week, with Joe Leo continuing the 5,000 seater with double films at 25 and 35 cents. The Bert Levey vaude gets the toss after slightly less than a year, but Levey continues to book the Golden Gate and Warfield here, and the Fox Orpheum in Oakland.

Leo isn't set for any price reduction, but it's reported he may dip to 15 cents for the two first-run pix, which are culled from the indie field.

One reason for his dropping vaude is that the combination two pix-vaude shows, running some four hours, are too long and tire customers so much they won't come to a show again for several weeks.

New Acts

BICKLE-GRAY REVUE (5)
Dancing, Singing
17 Mins.; Special in Full
Academy, N. Y.

Composed of four girls and a boy, this flash can lay claim to a wealth of looks and other anatomical features that inveigle the eye, but when it comes to talent the layout is pretty thin. A sister team retails harmony of the da-da-do school, while the dancing delegation consists of a blonde who tries hard to be graceful on her toes, a brunet with more of a knack for dealing 'em teasingly from the hips than a flair for rhythmic interpretation and a lad whose acrobatic contortions try hard to come under the head of hoofing.

Torso undulating specialist reaches her acme of customer provocation with what might pass as the carioca, and the tone prancer makes as the highlight of her contribution an elementary routine in balancing with the aid of a miniature staircase. The act's finale resolves itself into a wiggling contest, fast but hardly fascinating. Favoring the turn is the nice costuming given the girls, preferably the dancers.

For the minor nabes the Bickle-Gray combination, however, should fill in acceptably as an opener. Odec.

PAPPY, ZEKE and EZRA (5)
Hillbillies
15 Mins.; Two-and-a-half
Earle, Washington

NBC hillbilly team getting top billing in five-act show here, and considering fact they are local debut they click in a big way. Garbed in traditional mountain shirts and boots, they go in for usual dialect and backwoods embarrassment, but it is talent of two members which puts act over.

Ezra, who fiddles in group numbers, leads off solo stuff with swell straight tenor version of 'Home on the Range.' Uses mike but doesn't once resort to crooning tactics.

Elton, new addition to team, scores as world's highest boy yodeler. Coupled with bashful manner which is accepted as sincere, he does yodel duet with Ezra, and follows with single of 'My Ozark Mountain Home,' which brings down house. Holds high note full minute while plunking guitar.

Quartet numbers are well picked and run off smoothly.

Act is currently m.c.'d by Perry King, introduced as radio's Mr. Tallfellow. King works in tux and is jarring note in atmosphere built up by painted rural drop lit from behind with red and orange sunset idea. With lads still a bit stage-shy, however, King's fatherly attitude helps 'em over the humps nicely.

TEDDY BERGMAN
Mimic
8 Mins.; With Band
Roxy, N. Y.

Bergman is a voice simulator and mimic from radio. At the Roxy, in acknowledging applause, he stated he was making his first theatre appearance. If so, his poise and stage deportment is professional and far easier than other radio acts just finding out about those footlights.

His mimicry is generally good but oddly enough the characterization he highlights, namely, 'Blubber,' is poor. This is a stuttering idea that succeeds only in making the listener nervous. It's semi-unintelligible on top of that. Nevertheless, Bergman seems to think it's his best and nicknames himself that way.

After doing Shylock's speech to Antonio from 'The Merchant of Venice' seriously, Bergman follows with a repeat version wherein each Shakespearian line is rendered in a succession of dialects, Swede, Negro, Hebe, German, French, British, and Chinese. Clever.

Audience liked him. Land.

New Friars to Pay Off Loans with $4,500 Obtained from Frolic Show

The Friars garnered about $4,500 from the sell-out, $10 top Frolic at the 44th St., New York, Sunday night (20). Understood the proceeds will pay a dividend to members who loaned the Friars the money which financed the recent reorganization and removal to new clubrooms atop the Hollywood theatre building.

Frolic was the niftiest in years, as an entertainment as well as a grosser. It contained special lyrics by Irving Caesar, a set playing routine and a flock of star talent that, on their regular salaries, would pay off a large section of Insull's creditors.

In place of the customary single Frolicker (the Friar name for m.c.) there were three of 'em—George (Nat) Burns, Jack Benny and Lou Holtz. In the script the three comics were 'plotting' the show, and as each name was mentioned as a possibility, the name would appear for a specialty. That provided a sort of continuity that held the disjointed specialty show together quite well.

Benny's Bath

Burns, Benny and Holtz, seated at a table off to the side of the stage, were exceptionally congenial for three comedians under the conditions. They didn't try to top each other by pulling a radio author out of hat, or anything like that. Only one flash of competition, and that wasn't in the script. Holtz picked up a seltzer bottle and doused Benny's double-breasted tux. The guy must have been mad when Benny brought the suit back.

There were lots of names on the bill. Usual non-actor celebrity touch was contributed by Irving Berlin, who sang a few songs, including 'Alexander's Ragtime Band,' which he said he introduced publicly at a Frolic 18 years ago. Another unusual name was Walter Huston, who closed the show. Bringing his music along, he sang a parody number that dates back to the days of Huston and Whipple.

Caites Bros., Sid Gary, Pat Rooney, Gus Edwards, Ben Blue, Johnny Burke, Rudy Vallee and Ray Bolger were in the first part, which was opened by Lester Allen, Bert Gordon, Jules Howard, Bill Brandel, Sam Hearn, John Kearney, Bill Edmunds and Irving Caesar in a song and piece of business written by the latter. The boys represented tradesmen, from the butcher to the tailor while Gordon and Allen played dames. 'This Is the Night We Get Paid' was the title. They reappeared at the finish of the show to sing, 'The Friars gave us the finger again.' Eddie Miller did his annual rendition of Victor Herbert's 'Here's to the Friars' for a finish.

In the second part were Cab Calloway's band, Irving Berlin, Bert Lahr, Smith and Dale, Bob Hope, Walter Huston, and Willie and Eugene Howard. The three Frolickers donned 1905 sport suits and went into a song and dance that resulted in the laugh hit of the show. Lester Allen and Sid Marion were a 'sister team' for the introductions.

Nat Karson, for the program cover, and Pete Gillen, for the billposting, drew the only billing, a departure for a Friars Frolic. Usually names are profusely mentioned. This time there was a blank space on the program for anyone desiring mention to fill. The Friar responsible for the show, but not credited, was Abe Lastfogel. Melville Morris directed the pit orchestra.

PAYLESS PAYOFF SHUTS ALBANY STRIP CENTER

Albany, May 21.

A 14-week stripping season ended when the State theatre failed to reopen Monday (14) after the stock burlesque cast and five musicians had found their pay day payless. Previous Saturday the players grabbed the day's receipts and divided them.

Latest burley fiasco at the State was disclosed not only by failure of the house to open, but by the arrest of Merlin Ballard of Howell, Mich., on a charge of failing to have a license for his automobile. Ballard was known as Johnny Fredericks, manager of the State. He forfeited $10 bail and failed to show up in police court to answer the auto charge.

Yvonne Milfor, lessee of the State and known as Lupe, dancer, left the theatre Friday night (11), assuring the cast and musicians she would return Saturday to pay them. She didn't come back, however, and then the troupe copped Saturday's receipts. Stagehands got their wages because they were protected by bond.

Some of the principals said they would complain to the NRA Compliance Board. They included Lou Powers, Harry Feldman, Jimmy Allerton and Jean Vitale.

State may reopen in a week or two with another fling at torso wobblers and brassiere doffers. House, of the small capacity, bandbox type, has been a regular fall guy for burley these several years, but the 14 weeks season just closed almost set a record for a run.

Phone Confirmation Jams Up Chi Act on Detroit Vaude Date

Chicago, May 21.

Mix-up due to lack of written confirmation involved almost half of local vaude business when the act of George Kirby and Helen Duval hopped to Detroit last Saturday (19) to play the Michigan, only to be sent back immediately by Howard Pierce, house operator. Rumpus may still find its way into the courts for final adjustment, with Kirby and Duval reported having complained to the labor commissioner in Detroit.

Pierce books the Michigan with no one booker or agent and is the final say on all acts. However, on Saturday morning, Boyle Woolfolk got in touch with Danny Graham of Sam Roberts office, telling him that the Michigan wanted an act to replace a dud. Woolfolk, through the Roberts agency, got in touch with Kirby and Duval, who okayed the date over the phone to Lou Kane, Pierce's assistant.

When the act got to Detroit, however, they were passed up completely by Pierce. Act wants the labor commissioner to see to it that its traveling expenses are paid.

Fio Rito Set at $6,500

Hollywood, May 31.

Ted Fio Rito and band go on tour of Fanchon & Marco's Coast houses upon closing here at the Coconut Grove June 3. Follows the F.&M. time with RKO dates in the east.

Set by Music Corporation of America into the vaude houses at $6,500 net.

HILTON UNIT FOLDS

Canton, O., May 21.

Hilton Sisters' unit, which has been playing this territory for several weeks, folded last week.

Company included 30 people.

Theatrical Guilds Plan A Combined Benefit

Rev. Randolph Ray, of the Little Church Around the Corner, New York, will attend tomorrow's (Wednesday) meeting of the Jewish Theatrical Guild with the proposal of all three show guilds—Catholic, Episcopal and Jewish—joining forces for good will and charity purposes.

Main idea is a gala charity benefit show under combined auspices.

EVENTUALLY AT CAPITOL

Mitchell and Durant, in 'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox), and under a Fox contract, are wanted by Loew's.

They were set into the Capitol, N. Y., June 1, but had to be set back. Team is still tied up in a current film.

Variety Bills

NEXT WEEK (May 25)
THIS WEEK (May 18)

Numerals in connection with bills below indicate opening day of show, whether full or split week

RKO

NEW YORK CITY
Palace (25)
Ruiz & Bonita
Arren & Broderick
Owen McGivney
Buster West
Eddie South Orc
(18)
Honey Fam
Bill Aaronson
D & E Barstow
Vic Oliver
Rimacs Co
(18)
'Hot & Bothered'
Howard Fine & H
Armida
May & Carroll
CLEVELAND
Palace (25)
Mr & Mrs Crawford
(18)
Mr & Mrs Crawford

ON THEIR 33rd WEEK
with
Apollon Co.
RUTH and GAIL
Placed by
LEDDY & SMITH

Ith Ballew Orc
Academy
1st half (25-28)
Willie Mauss
Allen & Kent
Red Donohue
Bob Hall
Russian Art Rev
2d half (29-31)
Bill Robinson
(Four to fill)
2d half (22-24)
Robbins 3
Gracie Barry
Bobbie Gilbert
Briant Rains & Y
Buster West
BROOKLYN
Albee (25)
6 Whirlwinds
Paul Gerrits
Vic Oliver
(Two to fill)
(18)
Moore & Revel
Jerome Mann
Melissa Mason
Lewis & Van
Phil Harris Orc
Leah Ray
Madison
1st half (26-27)
Senator Murphy
(Three to fill)
1st half (19-20)
Christensens'
2-Davays
Ruth Denning & B
Ross & Edwards
DeGauchi Japs
Tilyou
1st half (26-27)
Dancing Maniacs
(Four to fill)
1st half (19-20)
8 Rhythm Girls
Val Irving
M & A Skelly
Kramer & Boyle
Lou & Evelyn Rev
CHICAGO
Palace (25)
Jarrett & Holmt
Murr'y & Charlest'n
Cliff Edwards
DES MOINES
Keith's
2d half (22-24)
Sally Rand Co
DETROIT
Fox (25)
Frankie Connors
3 Randalls
Howard Fine & H
Hudson Wonders
(One to fill)
(18)
Britt Wood
Hal LeRoy
Murr'y & Charlest'n
Adler & Bradford
KANSAS CITY
Mainstreet (18)
George Olsen Orc
Ethel Shutta
MINNEAPOLIS
Orpheum (25)
Sally Rand Co
NEWARK
Proctor's (25)
Kings Scandals
(18)
Capt Willie Mauss
Ames & Arno
Eddie South Orc
Chas Foy
Ruiz & Bonita
NEW BRUNSWICK
Keith's
1st half (19-20)
3 French Misses
Scooter Lowry
Harrison & Edmo
Lou Duthers
SIOUX CITY
Keith's
1st half (16-21)
Sally Rand Co
SYRACUSE
Keith's (18)
Benny Davis Co
TRENTON
Capitol
1st half (18-21)
Hilton Sis Rev
2d half (22-24)
Senator Murphy
Dawn & Barrow R
(Two to fill)

Loew

NEW YORK CITY
Capitol (25)
Fred Waring Co.
Boulevard
1st half (25-28)
Jack Joyce Co
Willock & Carson
Sid Page Co
Betty Jane Cooper
Lathrop Bros
2d half (29-31)
Joe Bell & Sis
Joseph Pope Jones
Carl Shaw Co
Anthony & Rogers
Lew Duthers Co
Orpheum
1st half (25-28)
Chas Carrer
O'Neill & Manners
Reis & Dunn
Stuart & Lash Co
2d half (29-31)
4 Gyrnlis
3 Jesters
Harlan & St John
Senator Murphy
Larry Rich Co
Lupe Velez
Valencia (25)
Raoul & Eva Reys
Michon Bros
Bob Murphy
Phil Spitalny Orc
BALTIMORE
Century (25)
Abe Lyman Orc
BOSTON
Loew's
Orpheum (25)
Elane & Douglas
Stone & Lee
Gordon Davis & K
Joe Browning
Bryant Rains & Y
(One to fill)
JERSEY CITY
Loew's (25)
3 Olympics
Irene Taylor
3 Swifts
Carl Freed Orc

OFFICIAL DENTIST TO THE N. V. A.
DR. JULIAN SIEGEL
PARAMOUNT BUILDING
This Week: Mildred Linn, Roscoe Ails

Lee Twins Rio & E
Paradise (25)
Ed Sullivan
Sheila Barrett
Harry Rose
Saxon Sis
Dolores Farris
'Cackles' O'Neal
Cardini
'Golden Girl'
Georgie Tapps
State (25)
'Thurston' Co
BROOKLYN
Gates Ave
1st half (25-28)
Joe Bell & Sis
Joseph Pope Jones
Carl Shaw Co
Anthony & Rogers
Lew Duthers Co
2d half (29-31)
'Birdland'
Jack Joyce Co
Willock & Carson
Sid Page Co
Bomby Co
Metropolitan (25)
Hector & Doreen
Henri Therrien
Alexander & S Co
NEWARK
State (25)
4 Casting Stars
Violet Carlson Co
Jerome & Gray
Mann Robins'n & M
NEW JERSEY
Palisades Pk (25)
Janet May
Palmero's Dogs
(One to fill)
PROVIDENCE
Loew's State (25)
4 Cards
Johnny Hyman
Foley & Leture
Harry Evans Co
(One to fill)
ROCHESTER
Loew's (25)
Bernice Emily & L
J & J McKenna
Keller Sis & L
Joe Penner
Monroe & Grant
WASHINGTON
Loew's Fox (25)
3 Kings & Q
H'rriet Hutchins Co
Herb Williams Co
Rae Ellis & L.

Paramount

NEW YORK CITY
Paramount (25)
F & H Hubert
Shea & Raymond
Trojans
Martha Ray
Raymond Baire
AUSTIN
Paramount (25)
Let's Dance
BOSTON
Metropolitan (25)
Dave Apollon Co
BUFFALO
Buffalo (25)
George Raft
Marie Hollis
CHICAGO
Chicago (25)
Harriet Hoctor Co
Arnaut Bros
(18)
Sims & Bailey
Al Norman
Park & Clifford
LeMay & Louise
Chas Barnes
Marbro (18)
Slate Bros
June Purcell
Vox & Walters
Ray & Sunshine
4 Ortons
Oriental (25)
DuPonts
Ross & Edwards
Jean Boydell
(18)
Radio Rouges
Gini DeQuincy & L
Mullins Sis
Vernon Oral
Melson & Irmanette
Dale Ermon
Outlying (25)
Al Norman
Melson & Irmanette
Park & Clifford
Romm & Gaut
Geni DeQuincy & L
Hal Menken
Regal (25)
Fess Williams Bd
DETROIT
Michigan (25)
Simms & Bailey
Pichianna Tr
Ann Pritchard
FORT WORTH
Worth (25)
H Timberg's Co
SAN ANTONIO
Texas (25)
Let's Cheer

Warner

ELIZABETH
Ritz
1st half (19-22)
N T G Paradise Rev
PHILADELPHIA
Earle (25)
Cab Calloway Rev
Nicodemus
5 Percolaters
Elmer Turner
Alda Ward
(18)
Herbert Lynn & P
Ada Brown
Hollywood Rev
Stuart & Lash
George Raft
WASHINGTON
Earle (25)
Chappelle & Carl'n
Kirk & Lawrence
Seiler & Wills
George Price
(18)
Roye and Maye Rev
Paul Gerritts
F & J Hubert
Papy Zeke & E
C Lyons & London

Independent

CHICAGO
State Lake (18)
Blanche Sweet
Joe Phillips
Pat Kennedy
Barney Grant Co
HOLLYWOOD
Chinese (Indef run)
Gambarelli
Jack Powell
Cookie Bowers
Jackie Hughes
Billy Severin
100 Voice Ens
LOS ANGELES
Orpheum (17)
2 Cossacks
Lester Raymond
Tuler & Clair
R & M Carter
Danne Sis
Willard Hall
Winfred H'd & B
Million Dollar (10)
Larrick & Knapp
Bernivici & Peck
Paul & Pauline
Montrose & Kay
3 Blue Blazes

Fanchon & Marco

NEW YORK CITY
Roxy
Jean Devereaux
Pettet & Douglas
Jack Pepper
Wesley Eddy
Foster Girls
(Others to fill)
DENVER
Orpheum (24)
Jay Mills
Gertie Green
(17)
Street Singer
Mack Jack & Al
Hadj Ali
LOS ANGELES
Paramount (24)
Helen Morgan
J. C. Nugent Co
(17)
Kate Smith
PHILADELPHIA
Fox
Sax & Kaye
(Others to fill)
SAN FRANCISCO
Orpheum (25)
Olsen & Johnson
(18)
Ben Bernie Orc

London

Week of May 21

Astoria D. H.
Elliotts
Canterbury M. H.
1st half (21-23)
Mariajonas
Barber & Allen
2d half (24-26)
Helen Binnie
Orpwood & Turner
Dominion
Jack Plant
Addison & Sylvia
Nice, Monte & L
Kit Kat Rest
Mona Lee
J. Jackson & Ptnr
8 Jackson Gls
New Victoria
Cotton Bd
Palladium
6th Crazy Month
Nervo & Knox
Flannagan & Allen
Naughton & Gold
Eddie Gray
3 Bonos
Irene Vermillion
Alpionne Berg
Chester's Dogs
Agar Young T'p
Merlettes
Palladium Gls
Cliff Berzac
Michaelson
Jans & Whelan
Trocadero
Guglielmetti
3 Dyna-mites
Al & Bob Harvey
Maurice
CLAXTON
Rink
Hugh Ormond
EALING
By Palmadium
Cotton Bd
EAST HAM
Kinema
1st half (21-23)
Ernest Shanon
Co as booked
2d half (24-26)
Co as booked
Premier
John Myrddin
FINSBURY PARK
Empire
Sophie Tucker
Brooks & Van
Billy Danvers
Will Morris
Accordion Kings
Bennett & Williams
St John Sis
Clifford & Rhode
Young & Younger
HOLBORN
Empire
Mills Bros
Raymond Smit
Max & Gang
Anna Rogers
Billy Bennett
Claude Lester
Bower & Rutherf'd
Henry D Adams
5 Cleveres
4 Jokers
HOLLOWAY
Mindborough
Val Rosing
ILFORD
Super
John Myrddin
ISLINGTON
Blue Hall
1st half (21-23)
Helen Binnie
Orpwood & Turner
2d half (24-26)
Mariajanos
Darber & Allen
LEWISHAM
Palace
2 Australian Boys
PALMERS GREEN
Palmadium
Week Vine M & N
SYDENHAM
Rink
3 Australian Boys
TOTTENHAM
Palace
Hugh Ormond
WEST HAM
Kinema
1st half (21-23)
Co as booked
2d half (24-26)
Ernest Shannon
Co as booked
WIMBLETON
Palais de Dance
Elliotts

Provincial

Week of May 21

BIRMINGHAM
Hippodrome
Gene D Dennis
Jack Daly
Alec Hails
3 Wiere Bros
Hatton & Manners
Sybil Bowman
Geraldine & Joe
Russ Carr
Terriance
BRADFORD
Alhambra
Layton & Johnstone
Max Hoffman
4 White Flashes
Tracy & Vinette
Tex McLeod
Cotterlan
Harvard M & K
BRIGHTON
Hippodrome
Geo Robey
Dolores Andre & D
Ted Ray
Danny Lipton 3
Anderson & Allen
Collinson & Dean
Levanda
Dave Poole
Blondie Hartley
EDINBURG
Regent
1st half (21-23)
Schofield & Barclay
2d half (24-26)
Amigos
GLASGOW
Empire
Roy Fox Bd
Hill & Hoffman
Denver & Davis
George Hurd
Leon & Lucette
Mr Thomas
Topsy-Turvy 2
LEITH
Capitol
1st half (21-23)
Amigos
2d half (24-26)
Schofield & Barclay
LIVERPOOL
Empire
E & D Waters
Forsythe S & F
Lillian Burglas
T Kelly & Co
E & E Myles
Clapham & Dwyer
Fayre 4
Rad Fred
Lily Morris
MANCHESTER
Palace
Gerald Kirby & Browne
G. S. Melvin
Power & Page
Bobby May
Murray & Mooney
Wright & Marion
Van Strattons
Tracy & Hay
Lily Moore
French Farr & C
NOTTINGHAM
Empire
Mexano Bd
Sherry Bros
Dick Henderson
Geo Lacy
Betty & Buddy
Fayne & Hilliard
Mite 3
Donald Stuart
Synco Nymphs
SWANSEA
Empire
Louis Armstrong Bd
Low & Webster
Retters
Geo Betton
Scovell & Wheldon
Lucille Benstead
Tinymite & Well'rd
Graham & Scott
WOLVERHAMPT'N
Hippodrome
Hutch
Randolph Sutton
Alice Lloyd
Daisy Wood
Rosie Lloyd
Marrie Lloyd, Jr
Connor & Drake
Buckleys
Van Cleefs
Barbara Wood
D'Alba

Cabarets

NEW YORK CITY
Algonquin Hotel
Cookie Fechild Orc
Jack King
Airone Rest
Ernie Hulst
Arrowhead
Irving Conn Orc
Bal Musette
Millard & Anita
George Marshal
Pierrots
Carl Georgette
Mme Yvette
Leon Bedore
Apache Orc
Bal Tabarin
Betty Calton
Paco & Estelle
Can-Can Orc
Beaux Arts
Lucien La Riviere
Thomara Doriva
Clara Larinova
Inez La Vall
Clothiel Berryessa
Norman Astwood
Sultan & Mari
Maurice Shaw Orch
Lopez's Hawaiians
Biltmore Bleau
Alfred Brito Orc
Black Kat
Luigi
Bossert Roof
Eddie Lane Orc
Casino de Parce
Eleanor Powell
Jimmy Savo
Saxon Sis
Holland & June
Gomez & Winona
Cardini
Hindu Wassau
Carolyn Marsh
Leon Friedman Orc
Ben Pollock Orch
Casino Town Club
Breez Fischer
Allan Cales Orc
Central P'k Casino
Eddy Duchin Orc
Iberia Strenge
Minor & Root
Chapeau Rouge
Peppy de Alfaro
Francen Maddux
De Marcos
Goday's Tango Bd
Dick Gasparre's Or
Chateau Cresta
Sedane & Swar
Evelyne Darville
Club Kentucky
Yvonne De Brier
Renee Bernardi
Doris Sax
Gene O'Reilly
Bobby Douglas
Kitty Kelly
Edith O'Hallissey
Peggy O'Day
Joe Lewis
Wilma-Novak
Honey Burns
Dorothy Maxine
Helen Lorraine
Hal Thornton
Kentucky Club Orc
Club New Yorker
Jack Rees Orc
Club Richman
Jack Mason Rev
Lido Girls Orc
Commodore Hotel
Isham Jones Orc
Isabel Brown
Cotton Club
C C Rev
Adelaide Hall
Jimmy Lunceford O
Croydon Hotel
Charles Eckels Orc
Delmonico's
Blanche & Elliott
N Morton & Boys
Sid Tomack
Selma King
Dorothy Van Alst
Satch & Satchel
Joe Venuti & Orch
Dubonnet
Joe Fejer Orc
El Chico
Tanco & Torca
Las Ajedas
Adelina Duran
Orlando Ricarde
A R C
Pilar Arcas
El Morocco
Arthur Brown
Joe C Smith Orca
Mendez Bros
Essex House
Glenn Gray Orc
Gov. Clinton Hotel
Enoch Light Orc
Ha-Ha Club
Danny Healy
Jack White
Jerry Bergan
Lillian Fitzgerald
Roth-Andrews Orch
H'tyw'd Restaurant
Rudy Valles Orch
Eddie Peabody
Moore & Revel
Beauval & Va
Mickey Brantz
Iris Adrian
Mathes & Merryfield
Marion Martin
Drucilla Strain
Gene Marvey
Jerry Lester
Holland Tavern
Florence Bender
Elmer Dade
3 Blue Chips
Hotel Dixie
Art Kahn Orc
Hotel Edison
Raginsky Ens
Hotel Gotham
P Van Steeden Orc
Hotel Lexington
Jack Little Orc
Hotel Lincoln
Pancho's Orc
Hotel Gt. Northern
Ferdenando Orch
Hotel McAlpin
Sam Robbins Orc
Hotel Montclair
Harold Stern Orc
Mario & Floria
Rosita Ortego
Hotel New Yorker
Charlie Davis Orc
Haunsten & Harden
Leata Lane
Ruby Wright
Hotel Pennsylvania
Don Bestor Orc
Baron & Blair
Hotel Pierre
Jack Denny Orc
Hotel Roosevelt
Reggie Childe Orc
Hotel Whitehall
Don Bigelow
Kelly's
Chiquita Venesia
Peggy La Plante
Jeanne McCauley
Evelyn Thawl
Claire Osgood
Danny Riggens
Ira Yarnell
Carlos Lopez
Billy Plaza
Blaine McCoy
Carlos & Marchan
Joe Capella & Orch
Kings Terrace
Sid Tomack
Rich'dson Orc
Leon & Eddie's
Chas Carrer Bd
Ron Perry Orch
Madison
Pancho Orc
Lincoln
Walker O'Neil's Orc
Dwight Fiske
Morton's Riviera
Harry Richman
Ann Greenway
Fred Berrens Orc
Marlborough House
Vivian Vance
Michael Zarin Orc
Mori's Rest
Nye Mayhew's Orc
Moulin Rouge, B'klyn
Larry McMahon
Donnie Lang
Eleanore Gardner
Frank Morey
Martin Trini Orch
Nautilus Club
Daye Bernie Orc
New Wonder Bar (Union City)
Ann Pennington
Bernard & Rich
Gale Tracy & L
Lilly Lido
Noel Sherman
Billy Arnold
Joe Pape
Edith Lowe
Ernie Golden Orc
Old Roumanian
B Thomashofsky
Regina Zuchenberg
Ethel Rennert
Anna Flordorovna
Viola Cody Co
Sammy Calton
Dorothy Lee
Helen Dean
Sylvia Strauss
Frances Loring
Hy Lemberg
Ted Edwards
Grabowsky Orch
Paradise
NTG Rev
Peter Higgens
J Johnson Orc
Felicia Sorel
Ann Lee Patterson
Needa Kinkaid
Bruno & Manon
Earl, Jack & B
Johnny Hale
Iva Stewart
Park Central Hotel
Chas Barnett Orc
Place Pigalle
Darlo & Diane
Marion Chase
H Rosenthal Orc
Don Alphonse Orc
Plaza Hotel
E & J Vernon
Ondo's Orc
Emil Colman Orc
Restaurant La Rue
Arthur Warren's O
Rits Tower
Nat Harris Orc
Ruselan Kretchman
Kurnetoff & N
Samovar
Mme Nicolina
Radneff
Simon Philipoff
Mos'negro Dorits
P. Zam's Gypsy Bd
Savoy-Plaza
Freddie Martin Orc
Sennet's Pub
Gertrude Moody
Zora Gray
Pat Whalen
Billy Culligan
Ann Ross
Chris Meehan
Simplon Club
Endor & Farrell
Estelle Taylor
King's Jesters
Wm Farmer Orc
Sherry's
Harry Bush Orc
Mario & Flavio
St. Moritz Hotel
Leon Belasco Orch
Wilkins & Meyers
Sbella Barrett
St. Regis Hotel
Vincent Lopez Orc
Medrano & Donna
Surf Club
Jack Myers Orc
Charlotte Murrie
Taft Grill
Geo Hall Orch
Tavern, B'klyn
Jack Murray Orc
Theatre Cafe
Chas Strickland Orc
Henry Fink
Tic Toc Club
Arthur Boron
Cross & Dunn
Ott & Reyes
Sugar Marcel
Mimi Rollins
Pomeroy Girls
Buddy Fishers Orc
Tuscany Hotel
Bela Loblov Orc
Uhangi Club
Dave Martin Orc
Vanderbilt Hotel
Joe Moss Orch
Ward & Hopkins
Village Barn
Anthony Trini Orc
Beth Challis
Eddie Ray
Geo McGuire
Frances McCoy
John Medders
Sir Jack Joyce
3 Octaves
Ruth Delmar
Rose MacLean
Village Nut Club
Cliff Clifton Rev
Nutsy Fagan
Bebe Moffee
Louise Mitchell
Allyn Reese
Walsh Bros
Eddie Clifford
Milt Spielman Orc
Waldorf-Astoria
Margo
X Cugat Orc
E Madriguera Orc
Wash Sq. Club
Frank Farrell Orch
Weylin Hotel
Michael Covert Orc
Harriett Lee
3 Jays
Wivel Cafe
Amy Atinsan
Jack Wick
Lillian Lorraine
Aml Pavo
Maidie Du Fresne
La Salle Orch
Zito
Bob Grant Orc
Pops & Lanie
Van Nays Sis
Marie & Jeanne
Zito
Gaday's Bd

CHICAGO

Blackhawk
Seymour Simons
Earl Rickard
Chez Paree
Gus Van
The Tick Tocks
Countess V'n Lossen
Maurice & Cordoba
Henry Busse Orc
Club Leisure
Lucio Garcia
Billy Meagher
Joe Mandy's Orch
Betty Chase
Jack Sexton Jr
'Sugar' Harolds Or
Club Royale
Lee Morse
3 Racket Cheers
Nellie Nelson
Szita & Annis
Dorothy Wahl
Fritz Miller Orc
College Inn
8 Evans Co-eds
Jackie Heller
Beuvell & Tova
Frankie Masters Or
Congress Hotel
(Joe Urban Room)
Art Kassel
Robert Royce
Cherie & Tomasita
Colosimo's
Julia Lyons
Dorothy Henry
Deronda & Barry
Enrico D'Alba
Eddie Deering
Countess Boriska
Signor Barsoni
Art Buckley
Bob Tinsley Orc
Club Alabam
Trudy Davidson
Eddie Roth Orc
Drake Hotel
Slavic Ballet
Stanley Hickman
Biltmore 3
Frances Willer
Harriet Lindgren
Ituh Lee
The Crusaders
Earl Burtnett Orc
Edgewater Beach
Esther Todd
DeRonda & Barry
Art Cassel
Harry Sosnik Orch
Harry's N. Y. Bar
Joe Buckley
Don Penfield
Germaine LaPierre
Harry Harris
Al Wagner
Billy Meyers
Elmer Schobel
Joe Buckley Orch
Hi-Hat Club
Sunny Gaer
Jimmy Cassidy
Effie Burnette
Rick & Snyder
Ruth Barton
Dot Meyers
K-9 Club
Billy Brannon
Half-Pint Jaxon
Ed Casey Orc
Leon La Verde
Earl Pastello
George Oliver
Maroni's
Rolando & Verditta
Gwen Gordon
Neecee Shannon
Marge & Marie
Virginia Buchanan
Bob Wyatt
Maurie Moret Orch
Club Minnet
Sylvia Lee
Yvonne Nova
Henry Mack
Adelina Doasena
Frank Sherman
Mural Room (Brevort Hotel)
Earl Estes
Edgar Rice
Ken Ritzoff Orch
Jaros Sis
Nat
Moe Lee
Jo-Jo
Geo DeCosta
Harry Sherman
Jimmy Lane

"Opera Club"
Edwina Mershon
Lawrence Salerno
Tom Gentry Orch
Jose Rivas Orch
Pierce & Harris
Palmer House
Ted Weems Orch
Lydia & Jorasco
Stone & Vernon
4 Calif's
Larry Adler
Abbott Girls
Paramount
Dora Vaughn
Phil White
Julia Gerity
Edna Rush
Miss Harriett
Pearl Trio
Rainbo Gardens
Samovar
Leon Lavarde
Dawn Sis
Lyle Smith Orch
Alice Ryder
Terrace Gardens
Roma Vincent
Ainsley Lambert &
Clyde Lucas Orc
Tin Pan Alley
Al Sanders
Eadie Hayes
Crane Sis
Vernon Oral
Gwen Lorry
Barney Gugle
Stuart Woodbridge
Floyd Townes Orc
Via Lago
Bobby Graham
Crane, Russell Orch
Zita & Marcelle
Jack Housh
Wanda Kay
Al Handler Bd
225 Club
Al Garbell
Edna Leonard
Billy Richard
Art West
Jean LaMarr

LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES
Biltmore Bowl
Hal Roberts Orch
Cafe de Paree
Hacker & Gray
Marguerita Lucille
Sims Sis
Wanda & Dona
Ken Willmarth
Cocoanut Grove
Veloz & Yolanda
Ted Flo-Rito Orch
Club Ballyhoo
Donald Kerr
Anita Faye
Dorothy Ates
Lee McNally
2 Peaches
Donald Faverot Orc
Cotton Club
Ellington Orch
Hollywood Stabl
Buchanan Co
Ted & Laurel
Ted Florita
Monia Hol
Joe Lewis Orch
Paris Inn
Little Morocco
Pep Pontrelli Orch
Monte Carlo
Jan Whide
Carla Montel
Rose Valyda
Morello Bros
Shapelle & R 2

Apollon's Jinxes

Paramount theatre's production staff, Dave Apollon and sundry other persons were all slightly dizzy by the time the final stageshow was over opening day, Friday (18). Injuries that beset the Apollon unit in Akron two weeks ago, and which continued at the Buffalo, Buffalo, last week, were the causes many distracting moments.

Opening day at the N. Y. deluxer found the unit playing differently at every show. It wasn't until Saturday morning that the show's routine and cast were definitely set.

First injury came early in the week in Akron, when Nora Williams, singer, tried to essay a couple of dance steps and tore two ligaments in her leg. She went out of the show and the William Morris office shipped Lillian Carmen as a replacer. Things went smoothly until Buffalo was reached a few days later. There Jesse Draper, femme half of dance team, Duffin and Draper, hurt her back, but no replacement could be shipped there in time.

Just before the close of the Buffalo engagement, Harold Aloma, singer with the Filipino band, lost his voice and couldn't find it by the time unit reached New York.

Just before opening show time at the Paramount in New York, Jesse Draper announced she was fit to go on, resulting in a complete change in the routine set for two dancing replacements, Rosemary Deering and the Kay, Katya and Kay trio. Miss Williams and Aloma are still out, however.

Conrad Attaches Campo

Con Conrad last Wednesday (16) attached Del Campo's salary at the Roxy, N. Y., where the radio singer was appearing for his first stage engagement. Conrad's move came, according to his counsel, I. Goldman, after Del Campo had indicated that he did not intend to live up to a three-year managerial contract Conrad holds.

Del Campo's salary is being held by Fanchon & Marco, bookers of the Roxy, until the case is settled in or out of court.

Miss Morgan Relighting

Los Angeles, May 21.

Her brief venture as a dramatic actress having flopped here, with closing of 'Memory' after one week at the Biltmore, Helen Morgan goes back to torching.

She opens Thursday (24) for a week at the Paramount here, with further Coast dates by Fanchon Marco contingent on her lo showing.

Sacramento's Stageshow

San Francisco, May 21.

Bill Flynn has taken the Plaza, Sacramento, vet stock house, and opened it last week with stageshows headed by Jay Brower, long an F&M m. c. around here.

It's Sacramento's only flesh sho

VARIETY
Trade Mark Registered
FOUNDED BY SIME SILVERMAN
Published Weekly by VARIETY, Inc.
Sid Silverman, President
154 West 46th Street New York City

SUBSCRIPTION
Annual.....$6 Foreign.....$7
Single Copies.....15 Cents

Vol. 114 No. 10

15 YEARS AGO

(From VARIETY and Clipper)

Bill Elliott dropped out of Elliott, Comstock & Gest. Wanted to play a lone hand.

Flo Ziegfeld told the 'Follies' in 47 weeks had played to $1,193,041. Tops was St. Louis at $32,000 on the week.

Parks opening up. Most of them put a nickel more on the gate tickets and many of the rides.

New England railroads came down. Special baggage car went with 25 instead of 50 tickets. Had been 22 before the war.

American Fed. of Musicians gave ex-service men a 50% cut in the first six months' dues.

D. W. Griffith revived 'Broken Iossoms' at the Cohan as the first of a repertory film season. Did $6,600 in the first five days.

Strand, N. Y., preparing to build a roof garden atop the theatre. Had been provided for in original plans, but cash was short.

Former saloonkeepers who had been clamoring for small picture theatres and had run prices away up were suffering from cold feet with the spring slump starting.

John D. Tippett Productions had just been formed in London, with B. P. Schulberg associated. Tippett predicted London would become the world distribution center for pics.

Referee in the White Rats Actors Union turned in his report. Found that monies had been diverted without accounting and that the union was insolvent.

50 YEARS AGO

(From Clipper)

'Chatterton, the Boy Poet,' was the title of a new play by the authors of 'The Silver King.' Still writing about the kid. Kate Claxton turned in her 2,500 performance of 'Two Orphans.'

Death of Charles Reade, English author, revealed most of his money had gone to angel plays from his books.

Julie Hearne made her stage debut with her dad in 'Hearts of Oak.' Only three years old.

Harry Parkes credited with walking a wire 250 feet above the ground and 365 feet long. In a Milwaukee park.

Burlesque of 'Bluebeard' used by Lydia Thompson back in 1872 was revived with a little editing by Max Freeman. Largely saved by Fannie Rice, Pauline Hall, Jacques Kruger and Arthur Tams.

Newly opened Eden Musee contemplated going vaudeville. It compromised on gypsy orchestras, magicians, dancers and eventually the first house regularly to show motion pictures in New York.

Harrigan and Hart called it off for the season after six weeks of 'Dan's Tribulations.' Not a puller for warm weather.

Janauschek was trying out 'Bleak House' with uncertain results. Had played to poor business in New York.

'The Drunkard,' now being played with beer and pretzels, was picked for the final week of the season by the staid Boston Museum. It had been one of the Museum's earlier successes. Seriously regarded then.

Inside Stuff—Pictures

Reorganization of RKO to take it out of receivership will be strictly up to the creditors, according to Irving Trust reps who have not been broached on advice or to discuss what will or should be done. After liabilities have been scaled down sufficiently it is expected that the various creditors will go into a huddle to decide on the most feasible plan looking toward a discharge of the receivership.

This may take the shape of an exchange of paper to balance the situation, with new bonds possibly issued, or it may be that a new company will be formed to purchase the assets of the old theatre subsidiary and satisfy creditor claims.

Much-abused preview situation in Los Angeles which has led to triple bills in many instances, particularly through preview rentals by both circuit and indie exhibs, is expected to be ironed out through a ruling by the local zoning-clearance board. It will be stipulated that any houses asing a preview must automatically raise its admission price to 55c.

Zoning-clearance body has been meeting three times weekly for the past month, setting up a comprehensive zoning for the Los Angeles exchange territory, and hopes to have its work completed within the next couple of weeks.

Jack Benny's film contract with Reliance (Edward Small) for United Artists' release is complicated by sundry agents claiming commish.

Walter Meyers (Bestry-Meyers-Romm-Scheuing) claims he started negotiations for Benny last January with his then Coast affiliates, the Small-Landau agency. Since then Meyers and Small-Landau have split. Lyons & Lyons also figure through being Benny's personal managers. Bob Goldstein, now in New York, interposes through now acting for Small-Landau in the east.

Tickets for critics were withheld at the last minute from Metro's dramatic school presentation of five one-act plays so studio heads could get a private peek at the talent.

It was also feared that the 28 players, 17 of whom had never appeared on the stage before, would develop stage fright in the presence of reviewers. Execs wanted an idea of how much the students had learned under the tutelage of Maurice Revnes, in charge, and Oliver Hinsdell, director.

'Hollywood Party', sidetracked by Metro from its own Capitol, N. Y., into the Riaito, is the picture on which Howard Dietz shares supervisory credit. It goes into the Rialto Thursday (24).

Musical presented problems from the first and had a flock of writers on it before completed. When it had gone quite a distance and results were still not satisfactory to the studio, Dietz was called on from New York to help.

Rockefellers had intended, according to accounts, to erect a 35-story office structure in the excavated area back of the RKO Building in Radio City, but are understood to be considering scrapping that plan.

Property holders in the vicinity of Radio City are reported to have asked the Rockefeller people to hold off if feasible, presumably figuring the present office space in Radio City is sufficient opposition.

R. C. Music Hall will not make a practice of holding over stage shows when pictures aren't retained, as currently with 'Madame Butterfly'. Management held the opera tab over as a result of the reaction indicated the first week.

Only once before has the Hall held a stage show over without the picture.

Warners will continue the comedy quartet of Frank McHugh, Guy Kibbe, Hugh Herbert and Allan Jenkins in at least two features on the 1934-35 program. Studio execs declare the four will be tossed together in two or more because of exhib demands on 'Convention City'.

Company is also planning to team Aline MacMahon and Guy Kibbe in two for next season.

Fear of poor reception by English audiences of a baseball story was among the reasons for Metro's shelving the John McGraw picture idea. Figured British fans wouldn't have any more interest in baseball and its ramifications than American fans would in cricket.

Hollywood producers count on the British market heavily. A flop there often means a picture finishes up in the red.

Film and Photo League, New York, which likes to get excited about things pictorial, is imploring all and sundry to crash down on 'No Greater Glory' (Col) on the argument that it is a preachment that war is inevitable.

Organization apparently overlooks the fact that Molnar wrote it to prove the futility of war.

'House of Rothschild' (film) has been a break for a Minneapolis clothing establishment, M. L. Rothschild. Concern capitalizes on the picture by heading its newspaper ads 'House of Rothschild' and plans to appropriate the title for permanent use.

Owner claims distant relationship to the banking family.

John Meehan, Metro writer, received cold cash for appearing as narrator on the NBC Hall of Fame program with Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone. He is one of first film writers to get money for appearing on the air.

In Washington WB office will play RKO's 'Keep 'Em Rolling' under original title, 'Rodney', at the Met. Pic was filmed at nearby army post and drew plenty of bally at time which the publicity lads in the capital are counting on to put it over.

The Par trustees have found one claim which has them a little mystified. It's from Berlin and for $25,000, but none seems to know what its for. Claimants are Kombi Gesellschaft M. Beschrankter Haftung, of Berlin.

After experiencing some trouble with 'Born To Be Bad', including the Hays office, 20th Century is giving the picture a test engagement at Loew's Akron, starting Monday (28).

Anthony Gonzales, United States minister to Panama, is a former picturite, having at one time been attached to the Metro legal department.

Crauford Kent was listed by Metro as one of the actors in its training school for young players. Kent, who plays character parts, originally came from the stage and has been in pictures at least a dozen years.

Monogram is rubber stamping all preview passes issued to its employees with the request: 'Please do not applaud. We are anxious to secure an audience reaction.'

Inside Stuff—Music

The mysterious Sacro Enterprises, Inc., which paid $70,500 a month ago for the Columbia Phonograph Co. assets, taking it over from Grigsby-Grunow when that company went into receivership, is said to be a subsid of Consolidated Laboratories, which owns the Brunswick records. Consolidated will probably place Jack Knapp, general manager of Brunswick, in as president of the Columbia outfit. Decca Records of London is also said to figure in the new financial control. Decca's President Lewis came over from London to be in on the New York confabs.

Columbia Phono has undergone several financial changes, latest coming through the Grigsby-Grunow receivership, which also made Majestic radios and electric refrigerators. Latter phases have yet to be cleared up.

Columbia has paid up all its obligations to its artists, but has liabilities, variously reported as running up to $200,000, which it must clear up. The $70,500 purchase price included the assumption of all assets and liabilities. The assets include one of the world's best known talking machine and recording trade-marks, the big Bridgeport pressing factory, patents, etc. Liabilities are said to run chiefly to leaseholds and the like.

Seemingly in anticipation of a financial change, Columbia Phono has done very little recording for the past three months, hence the obligations to the recording artists, bands, etc., were at a minimum and these were paid off since the new financial control. Instead, Columbia released some pressings obtained from its English affiliate, Columbia of London, and also reissued some of the hot standard stuff previously marketed. Thus the label was kept alive as a merchandising factor in the past few months.

The Brunswick (American Record Corp., an affiliate of Consolidated Film Labs) hookup is not officially disclosed, but is surmised. Decca's financial interest is likewise uncorroborated. runswick and Decca have an international working arrangement. Seemingly the new Sacro Enterprises is desirous of first clearing up the outstanding obligations, or such is the theory. Milton Diamond, of Gilbert, Brandeis & Diamond, New York law firm, is acting for the new financial control.

As mysterious as the identity of Sacro is the intra-trade theory as to why Brunswick would want another recording company as an affiliate, subsid or outlet, although the large foreign catalog which Columbia enjoys and the 'master works' (standard) series are two very important elements. Brunswick has none of these to speak of.

Brunswick would also acquire Col's Western Electric license and thus be able to expand its electrical transcription business which has been a secret ambition of both Col and Brunswick.

Kapp will probably pick the straight recording tunes for both companies relieving Ben Selvin, long time general recording manager of Col, who may take charge of the transcription business. Besides which Selvin, who is himself an orchestra leader, is expanding his radio commercials.

Balloting for the members of the writers' classifications appeals board is being held up by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers until it can determine how each person in the song devising faction wants to be rated. As a preliminary to the election, letters were sent the writers asking them whether they wanted to be listed under the heading of 'standard', 'production', or 'popular'.

By-laws of ASCAP, which provide for the creation of a writers appeals board, hold that its membership should consist of three pop writers, three standard writers and three production writers. Also that there shall be no appeal from this board's findings.

Although there is nothing standing in the way, the publisher-faction on the ASCAP board of directors has made no move to institute the election from among the membership of a publishers' appeals board of six, as provided for in a resolution adopted two months ago.

Among those who have aligned themselves with the faction in the trade opposed to the Music Publishers Protective Association's entry into the lyric folio field is W. St. Low, head of the Canadian Music Sales Corp. Low, while on a visit to New York last week, lodged with the MPPA a protest against that organization's distribution of a special Canadian edition of the folio, charging the legitimate lyric sheets as being responsible for a huge drop in his music sales.

Publishers' sales reps coming in off the road complain that the lyric folio put out by the MPPA is doing havoc to the music sheet business. They hold that the distribution of these folios by copyright controlled sources, with their total now around the 1,250,000 mark, is largely responsible for the current condition of the music business, rated as the worst in many years.

In deference to a complaint from Barney Rapp CBS has agreed to refrain from further billing of the Buddy Welcome unit as 'The Original New Englanders.' Rapp had complained that the latter tag was an infringement on his own, 'The New Englanders.'

Welcome, who formerly played in Rapp's band, is now being booked through the Columbia Artists Bureau. Request that it change Welcome's billing was received while Welcome was filling in at the Taft grill for George Hall the week before last.

Inside Stuff-Vaude

The current NVA drive's short (produced at the Fox Film N. Y. studio) rates as the best of the propaganda shorts made since soundfilms were utilized to help plug the NVA drive. This is reflected in more theatres than ever before booking the short, and the voluntary gestures by a number of houses to extend the drive for three more weeks, just because they wanted to play this short. The reel, of course, is booked gratis, as part of the annual drive.

Walter Huston, Block and Sully, Lanny Ross and Jimmy Durante comprised the talent. Houston sets the pace of the drive with the others entertaining while the house lights are up for the basket-passing.

Block and Sully regard this short with its unusual number of prints—some 2,500 important houses from coast to coast have booked it—as a swell builder-upper to sustain their radio interest.

Soured on names after playing several costly but unprofitable attractions in that category at the Paramount, N. Y., and other Par theatres, a low production budget is being set for the summer that will not permit fancy-salaried bookings. Broadway Par is going to budget its units at around $4,000, under plans, staying away from names for probably the entire summer.

Shows have been running anywhere from $10,000 to $15,000 right along but the high-priced budgets have not brought pay dirt to the boxoffice.

Aside from the opening act, the Curtis & Allen office set the entire show opening at the Palace, N. Y., Friday (25). C.&A. acts going in are Arren and Broderick, Buster West, Eddie South and Ork, and Owen McGiveny. Miles Ingalls is Curtis & Allen's RKO floor associate.

Inside Stuff—Legit

After a lengthy court proceeding in New York the will of the late Charles A. Levy, who owned 50% of the Broadway Theatre Ticket Agency, was established by Surrogate Foley last week. Nine of his relatives, only one of whom he recognized, contested the testament. Decedent made the will during his unexpectedly fatal illness on a hotel letterhead. His friend and attorney, Louis Scadron and Saul Abraham, signed the document. Attorney knew that signatories were legally not permitted to be beneficiaries but refused to comment at the time, aware of Levy's excitable nature. Maxwell E. Tobin and Meyer Rosenstein, whose signatures were attached on a separate sheet of paper at Levy's request, were ruled out as improper.

Surrogate ordered Scadron and Abraham to testify or be subject to arrest on contempt charges. After they took the stand the court ruled that bequests of $5,000 each to 'Broadway' Sam Roth, who lived with Levy; Frances Marshall, his fiancee; Joseph Newman, manager of the agency, and Sol Levy, a brother, shall be paid. Equal amounts to Abraham and Scadron were ruled out, their bequests and the latter's willed share of the agency going to the estate valued at about $40,000. Roth also inherited a share of the ticket office, major ownership of which is now held by Al Jones.

Richard F. Flournoy who wrote 'Come What May', which Hal Skelly produced and stars in at the Plymouth, N. Y., is not new to show business. His start was with Neil O'Brien's minstrels after leaving his home at Pine Bluff, Ark.

Flournoy also authored 'Here Comes the Groom', tried out with Skelly last season, and although it didn't come to Broadway it is being made into a picture on the Coast. He also collaborated with George Abbott on 'Manhattan Medley' which was tried out by L. Lawrence Weber last summer.

'Come What May' is backed by Daniel Topping of the ad firm of Topping and Lloyd, Topping financed the more recent 'Queer People', with Skelly in the lead. This show carried the managerial label of Galen Bogue.

'Last 52 weeks' is one of the lines used in the ads for 'Are You Decent', now in its sixth week at the Ambassador, N. Y. Show was produced by Albert Bannister and George Lefty Miller, latter managing and handling the advertising. Grosses have been light, approximating $3,000 weekly, but that pace is profitable for the one-setter.

Miller sensed the show would be slapped by the critics and the day after the premiere covered a flock of plants in the metropolitan district, informing welfare departments that tickets were available from 40c. to $1.65. He claims to have traveled 204 miles by the clock to spread 'the news'. Last season Miller was on the promotional end of 'One Sunday Afternoon'.

Final three weeks of 'Yellow Jack', recently closed at the Martin Beck, N. Y., were guaranteed by Leblangs to gross not less than $6,500. Takings dipped under $5,000 one week and failed to equal the guarantee for the other two weeks. Ticket people therefore paid the difference.

Last week's gross was about $6,000. House and show refused to accept Leblangs' loss check saying it was an even break. Agency also about broke even what with its profit on the sale of tickets. 'Jack' is believed to have gotten back the cost of production with a slight profit to boot.

During recent opening at the Miller, N. Y., of 'These Two' (withdrawn) attention of the critics and first nighters was drawn to the frequent quaffing of sherry by nearly all the cast. Looked something like a still wine drinking contest.

But that was not in the script. Players, including leads, missed so many lines that characters addressed substituted the sherry drinking cue to cover up. Several minor mishaps added to cast's nervousness.

'I Myself' was withdrawn last Tuesday (15) night at the Mansfield, N. Y. It was the initial managerial effort by the new producing duo of Pearson and Baruch.

Broadway engagement was one week, premiere having been on the previous Wednesday. 'Myself' played first week in Philadelphia and players therefore getting two weeks' salary, the Equity minimum during the regular season.

Leo Donnelly was forced out of 'The Milky Way' shortly after it opened in New York, with a burst blood vessel. Injury came as the result of leveling a resuscitation bit too much during rehearsals.

Donnelly may rejoin the show late this week. John Brown, stage manager, stepped into the part on 12 hours' notice.

Sam H. Harris has sold his Great Neck house which he leased out about a year ago. He is now residing in a penthouse.

SAT. NITE PREVIEWS FOR CLEVE. STOCK

Cleveland, May 21.

Borrowing an idea from film houses, Robert McLaughlin is bringing a fresh wrinkle to stock biz by opening his first summer play, 'Dinner at Ei ,' at Ohio on a Saturday night (26) with a preview.

Innovation establishes a precedent for local legit, but will be continued if Saturday opening draws bigger crowds than usual Sunday curtain-risers. Idea praised by the cricks, who are put on a spot when two or three plays all open Sunday night, forcing them to turn one over to second-string reviewers. Also gives Ohio's first play of a season a better break against competition of Saul Heller's rival stock company, which is opening 'She Loves Me Not,' with Ethel Barrymore Colt and Claire Carlton at the Hanna Sunday (20).

Charles Schofield was brought here to direct 'Dinner at Eight,' cast of which includes Marion Manley, Doris Packer, John Winthrop, Noel Tearle, Curtis Cooksey, Roy Elkins, and Ruth Gates. Conrad Nagel and Violet Heming slated for McLaughlin's second play, 'Shining Hour.'

J. J.'s Q.T. Sailing

J. J. Shubert took a q.t. boat for Europe.

While he may be back in August, unofficial dope is that he may be gone for longer than that, going into retirement as recently reported and leaving the Shubert business to his brother, Lee and his son, John.

KARSON'S RESEARCH TRIP

Nat Karson, New York scenic designer, sails Saturday (26) for a month's tour of the Continent. He will do general research into the scenic art.

A special mission of Karson's trip is for research on Michaelangelo's 'Mourning Angel' for Harmon & Ullman, which firm will produce it on Broadway in the fall.

HART ADAPTING 'WALTZES'

Moss Hart is adapting the European musical, 'Waltzes from Vienna' for Max Gordon.

This is the operetta which Gordon may spot into the RKO Center theatre in Radio City in the fall.

EMERY PEARCE, INC.

Curtis W. Emery and H. R. Pearce, as Emery Pearce, Inc., are a new vaude-legit producing combo, with a special eye to units for presentations and cafes.

Formerly produced 'Virtue's Bed,' legit of three years ago.

Current Road Shows

Week of May 21

'All the King's Horses,' rand, Chicago.

'Green Bay Tree,' Hollis, Boston.

'I Loved You Wednesday,' Cort, Chicago.

Katharine Cornell Repertory, Majestic, Utica, 21; Capitol, Albany, 22-23; Shubert, New Haven, 24-25-26.

it of Happi ,' Cass, Detroit.

'Road to Rome,' Washington.

'She Loves Me Not,' Hanna, Cleveland.

'She Loves Me Not,' Curran, San Francisco.

'The Shi lymouth, Boston.

'The Wind and the Rai ,' Erlanger, Philadelphia.

Walter Hampden Repertory, Academy of Music, Brookiyn, 21-22-23.

More Opera Blues! Second Philly Co. Folds Up Suddenly

Philadelphia, May 21.

Grand opera received another jolt in Philly this week.

Latest outfit to go on the rocks was the New York Grand Opera Company which opened and closed at the Academy of Music Monday night (14). That first performance—'Carmen'—was given as per schedule, although there were several long waits (one of forty-five minutes) during which the audience grew volubly restive and which, it was discovered afterwards, were due to the refusal of the chorus to go on unless they were paid.

On Tuesday night when the patrons gathered to hear 'Il Trovatore,' they found the Academy in darkness and a crayoned sign posted on the door reading;

'No performance to-night.'

Tickets purchased for this evening's performance will be redeemed Wednesday at the offices where same were purchased during the day.'

Both chorus and principals refused to go on after the performance of 'Carmen.' Refunds, which were not heavy, were made with no kicks so far. Engagement was supposed to have been for a week, with Amedeo Passeri listed as impresario.

First operatic lock-out occurred here May 5 when, because of a writ of attachment filed against the assets by a press agent, the Chicago Grand Opera Company suspended its scheduled performance at the Metropolitan Opera House after having struggled painfully through a week's engagement, split between the Shubert Theatre and the Met.

Woods Bans Coast 'Cat'

Los Angeles, May 21.

Al Woods has forbidden the Pasadena Community Players from using 'Alley Cat,' a play by Alan Dinehart which Woods will produce in New York. Samuel Shipman is doing some rewriting on the piece.

Woods is due in two weeks to ogle the picture field, and to confab with Anzonetta and Wilson Collison on their play, 'What a Queen.'

TENT STOCK IN N. C.

Charlotte, N. C., May 21.

Williams Stock Company, locating a tent here for a full summer of repertoire, pulled stakes after one three-day offering and has spread the canvas at High Point. Sponsored by the American Legion.

Stock outfit has 40 people, with Otto Gray and his Oklahoma Cowboys as vaudevilie.

COAST 'CAVALCADE'

Pasadena, May 21.

First Coast stage showing of 'Cavalcade' will be a production by the Pasadena Playhouse, opening May 30. Little theatre organization will have 191 players, 36 speaking lines, in the Noel Coward spectacle. Show runs only to June 9.

'Playboy of the Western World' is current at the Playhouse, with Douglas Montgomery.

Plays on Broadway

COME WHAT MAY

Drama in two acts presented at the Plymouth May 15 by Hal Skelly, who is starred; written by Richard F. Flournoy; staged by Leo Bulgakov.

Chet Harrison .....Hal Skelly
Eve Hayward .....Mary Philips
Fred Hayward (boy) .....Stanton Blar
Dr. Hughes .....Granville Bates
Mrs. Hayward .....Sara Perry
Billy Harrison (boy) .....Robert Mayors
Fred Hayward (young man) Robertt Sloane
John Hayward (boy) .....Harry Clancy
Billy Harrison (young man) Alfred Corn
Reed Benton .....W. W. Shuttleworth
Mary Wiley .....Nancy Evans
John Hayward (young man) John Bennethum

Feminine draw indicated for this episodic story of small town family life. But that it will garner enough to stick is doubtful.

Hal Skelly steps out as his own manager in 'Come What May', which affords an acting range from youth to approaching old age. Impression was that he was better in the latter stages. It is a sincere, sentimental play designed to cause gulps, not giggles. Perhaps it arrived too late in the season.

A 32-year period is spanned in the life of a family, starting with courtship in 1896 and ending in mature, connubial reflection in 1928. Two settings, a living room being used after the first scene to the finale, there being frequent curtains to denote the passing of time. Cast of 12 includes three kid players, characters later represented by others, having reached young manhood or maturity.

Landmarks in American history are touched upon, such as the Spanish and World wars. Introduction of the linotype machine is brought in because Chet Harrison, who marries Eve Hayward, is a typesetter and his $17.50 per week is considered ample for a couple in this small town in the cotton belt (no indication of the locale otherwise). The linotype forces Chet out of his newspaper job and there is a cycle of several tough years, but Chet is a model husband and father.

Their son Billy is born while Chet is off to the Spanish-American war, from which he returns unharmed. Period up to 1917 is more or less uneventful as to drama but the shadow of World War then intrudes. Billy is now of recruiting age. He is a promising artist and wins the preparedness contest with a painting depicting the sinking of the Lusitania.

Times when parents scanned casualty lists in all editions of the papers are recalled. Most poignant scene in the play accompanies a message from Washington: 'We deeply regret that you son William Hayward Harrison was killed in action May 10.'

Chet and Eve, with their friends and physician, take the blow in silent anguish as the scene fades out. Author risks no further pain to the mature couple by ending his play this side of the depression's start but there is an indication that this was originally in the script. Finale has the couple being assured that their savings are enough to keep them from want and aging Chet voices the determined opinion there will not be another war. Play's purpose is clearly a protest against war, although it comes late in the performance.

Skelly has an admirable partner in Mary Phillips as Eve and playing honors seemed about even. Granville Bates as the doctor drew attention, as did the short contribution of Alfred Corn as Billy.

'Come What May' is a homily, with a few smiles but mostly sob story. Ibee.

Invitation to a Murder

Mystery melodrama in three acts presented at the Masque, May 17, by Ben Stein; written by Rufus King; staged by A. H. Van Buren.

Walter Channing .....William Valentine
Estelle Channing .....Daphne Warren Wilson
Horatio Channing .....Humphrey Bogart
Martin .....James Shelhamer Pedro .....Juan Varro
Peter Thorne .....Sherling Oliver
Lorinda Channing .....Gale Sondergaard
Dr. Clinton .....Walter Abel
Jeanette Thorne .....Jane Seymour
Mr. Dickson .....Edgar Charles
Detective Selbridge .....Walter Plinge

Ben Stein brings in one of the best cast murder plays in years and, despite the lateness of the season, 'An Invitation to a Murder' should do rather well.

There is little change of pace in a comedy way, but there is sustained interest to the point of intensity. That, plus the element of mystery and the class of the performance, places the show well above plays of similar type. Author Rufus King, specialist in crime stories, however, appears to have made his story too baffling, and the murkiness of its telling may be because he is a fictionist rather than a playwright.

Scene is the great hall in the home of the Channings, of Spanish background. Locale is southern California. Family fortune, piled up by the forebears, came from pirating the boats that ranged the coast. Fabulous wealth in precious stones and gold are in the keeping of Lorinda Channing, present head of the family. Custom has been that the estate passes to the next successor in toto, without specific bequests to other heirs. Fortune is said to be hidden within the stone house, hiding spot to be revealed by a parchment upon Lorinda's passing.

Lorinda is unmarried, cold, cruel and merciless. She assumes regal bearing, especially when ensconsed in a throne chair. But the arm of that chair, when lifted, opens a trap and in the case of an unfaithful Mexican house boy, drops victims to death. Residing with Lorinda is her cousin Estelle. There are two other cousins, Horatio and Walter, each seeking funds for their various schemes.

But one of the men has attempted to murder her by means of a subtle poison. A maid suddenly dies, after using Lorinda's perfume atomizer, then her pet cockatoo is poisoned. Lorinda formulates a diabolic plan to discover the killer. Summoning Dr. Linton, a young physician, she offers to finance his research work if he gives her a drug that will suspend animation. Lorinda is apparently dead and is laid out in her coffin, Channing custom is that the dead be placed in the family vault without embalming.

Funeral proceeds without the doctor injecting a counter drug, the medico having found the parchment on her bosom and planning robbery. Yet Lorinda gets out of the coffin and vault with the aid of the butler and in the dead of night, while Walter is attempting to find the hiding place of the fortune, shoots the cousin. He had confessed to the attempts to murder her. Doctor then invades the place, with Lorinda cunningly putting him in the spot of being charged with Walter's killing. Finale, however, turns the finger on Lorinda, but she really dies from the drug, dangerous to those in a highly emotional state.

Attractive cast is headed by Gale Sondergaard, who makes Lorinda a cold, dominating woman who cares for nothing save the rotten family strain. There are, too, Daphne Warren Wilson as Estelle, Humphry Bogart as the better of the male cousins, Walter Abel as the doctor who gets trapped, William Valentine as Walter, Sherling Oliver as a young attorney and Jane Seymour as his wry sister.

'Invitation to a Murder' holds attention and, given weather breaks, it should make coin. Ibee.

MUIR FILES COUNTER CLAIM AGAINST W&L

Long drawn out case of Wee & Leventhal versus Gavin Muir in the matter of the actor holding the curtain on 'Dangerous Corner' until his demand for $200 in lieu of an extra week's salary was paid him, is not over, although Muir was suspended by the Council last Tuesday (15) for six months. Actor has filed a counter claim for $600, which he avers, is due for extra Sunday performances when the show played the middle west. He also wants a percentage of the gross on all weeks played to profit. Additional claim is that the 'Corner' company, which resumed the play in Philadelphia after the Washington date, was not actually rotary stock.

Muir's suspension is retroactive. He was given a temporary suspension February 27, which the Council fixed as the starting date for the barring. He will therefore be restored to good standing August 27, but not allowed to appear in legit until then. Muir planned to present and act in a show this summer in Chicago.

Council, at the same session, banned Douglas Gilmore for six months. Gilmore was charged with intoxication at the opening performance in Philadelphia of 'East of the Sun,' which starred Lenore Ulric. Equity deputy with the show confirmed charges made by W.&L. as to Gilmore's condition.

Muir was also fined $100, while Gilmore was ordered to pay two weeks' salary to the show's presenters.

LACHMAN-PROSER TO D-C

Marc Lachmann and Monte Proser, who have associated themselves as indie p.a.'s, are going as a sub-unit into the Donahue-Coe ad agency.

Lachman and Proser will build up the legit and personality representation department for the advertising agency and operate an independent subsidiary.

Long, Heated Session Looked for At Equity Meet; Reforms Asked

Equity's annual meeting and election Friday (1) at the Astor, N.Y., next week promises to be a long, argumentative session. The more organized younger group in the association will attempt to put forth a number of proposals of a controversial nature, in addition to the four amendments to the constitution. Group also is critical about the association's claimed resources, headquarter salaries and other matters.

At least four additional propositions will come from the floor. Ordinarily the matters on which the group seeks action would come up in Council sessions, but an organized minority is likely to force direct action from the membership present at the meeting. What the group would like Equity to do is:

1. Job insurance for members.
2. Pay during rehearsal period.
3. Defaulting managers barred until salary claims fully paid.
4. Boost in minimum salaries as set by legit code.

All of the proposals set forth have been considered and discussed by Equity leaders and Council heretofore, with each proposition being shelved or disregarded as impractical, at least at this time. Yet the group, at a session held in the Union Church assembly hall, West 48th street, N. Y., last Wednesday (16), decided that the members were entitled to express opinions and advance their ideas.

In general, the proposals would add to the cost of or discourage production, according to Equity officials, and to add to managerial burdens would react against the actor. That answer is based on the fact that during the past several seasons, new producers called on to raise more cash than originally budgeted have been hard put to it to comply.

Idea of ensuring engagements goes back as far as the actors' strike of 1919. There is no average number of weeks per season for actors that could be used as a basis for insurance. Nearest to such a figure was the casting agents' guarantee to certain standout acts guaranteeing a season of 20 weeks, but most such arrangements have been discontinued because there are fewer jobs and some agents were unable to make good. Possibility of Equity blanketing its membership by means of a job insurance policy is out because of prohibitive premium.

Pay for rehearsals has been discussed by the Council on any number of occasions but it was agreed by a majority that it would act as an added impost on production, therefore bringing about more unemployment. Same thing goes for the plan to boost the minimum. Actors, however, feel that they should not receive less than stage hands. Despite that view, Equity leaders are loath to foster such a move, pointing out that while the smaller actor may get less than back-stage labor, the recognized players command much more.

Defaulti

Group would keep managers who have not paid salary claims in full from putting on shows until the slate is clean. Idea has been tabbed as fallacious on the grounds that if showmen are barred there is no ay to collect, whereas if permitted to continue activities, Equity can, and has, collected a considerable percentage of salary claims.

Although there is a long list of managers who failed to pay off in whole or part, Equity has convincing figures to prove that its management of salary claims has been an excellent system. In the past eight years claims amounting to between $80,000 and $100,000 in unpaid salaries were filed with the association and $55,000 was reclaimed from managers who put on other shows and paid off. Amount of salaries paid regularly to actors by those managers who produced after bad starts totaled about $700,000.

Equity will revive its open house forum and, on the first Monday of each month starting June 4, Frank Gillmore, president, and Paul Dullzell, executive secretary, will be available in the afternoons to receive specific complaints or furnish information. Members who have questions which involve data which must be looked up are asked to mail queries in advance.

Next Saturday (26) Equity will be 21 years old. First meeting attended by 112 actors met at Pabst's Circle hotel, N. Y., and signed the constitution and by-laws.

'HARVEST' MOVES UP

Bev. ills ittle Theatre Show Goes Commercial in H'wood

Hollywood, May 21.

Moving up from a little theatre to a commercial spot, ' itter Harvest' opens at the Hollywood Playhouse next Monday (28). Drama, based on Lord Byron's romantic adventures, has been at the Beverly Hills Community theatre.

Melville Brown, lm director, has bought rights as stage producer. If play goes satisfactorily, Brown will take it to New York in the fall.

Leslie Fenton and Jeanette Nolan of the little theatre company continue as leads in Brown's production, but rest of cast is new, Dickson Morgan is staging.

REVISED CODE OKAY WITH GOV'T

Washington, May 21.

Revised legit code probably will be presented to code authority for okay or further changes this week. NRA officials gave perfected pact final going-over last week and reached what were regarded as generally-acceptable compromises on disputed points.

Hesitating to reveal nature of compromises on most controversial issues, Deputy Administrator William P. Farnsworth said code now is satisfactory to government, but final word must be passed by industry. Expressed hope that all factions will approve and permit new regulations to go into effect without further delay.

Ticket scheme was described as a combination of ideas presented by various factions, but essentially the same as the present set-up, although simplified in enforcement features.

Soft ticket idea was scrapped, as was proposal that C.A. establish a central distribution office to allot pasteboards to individual brokers. Final version calls for contracts between managers and brokers to strengthen enforcement provisions as well as for licensing system.

Instead of being forced to bring every case to Washington for action, C.A. will have authority to pass final judgment on all violations and complaints. Right of appeal to NRA is reserved, as is done in all codes, but expectation is that speedier action will result now that automatic reference to government agency has been dropped.

BECKHARD, BULGAKOV GO INTO BANKRUPTCY

Arthur J. Beckhard, who for years was a concert impresario before making his debut as a theatrical producer with 'Another Language', last week filed a petition in bankruptcy with the Federal court. Beckhard had not by yesterday afternoon (Monday) filed a detailed schedule of his liabilities and assets. A list of creditors' names, totaling 132, had accompanied the petition.

Beckhard, in the preliminary schedule, stated he had a third interest in property at 102 West 87th street and stock holdings in Broomstick, Inc., Carry Nation, Inc., and Beckhard-McFarlene, Inc.

Leo Bulgakov, who directed 'One Sunday Afternoon', also filed a bankruptcy appeal the same day, giving his liabilities as $2,381 and no assets.

Garland's Cracker

Robert Garland, critic for the World-Telegram, N. Y., and Lawrence Langner, Theatre League director and author, were chatting. Langner remarked he was sailing next day with 'The Pursuit of Happiness' company. Reviewer inquired how long he intended staying, Langner answering: 'About a week.'

'Oh, for the run of the play,' cracked Garland.

BOOM IN ROAD SHOWS LIKELY

More interest in shows next season from stands of 100,000 population or less is indicated than in years, according to bookers. Shrine auditoriums rather than regular theatres, are seeking attractions and civic bodies show a tendency to guarantee shows against loss.

Support for 'Four Saints in Three Acts' has been assured in a number of spots already booked by local musical societies. Colored cast affair with the curious Gertrude Stein lyrics is expected to tour for six months, most bookings being for one and two performances. Longest date is the starting point, Boston, where 'Saints' will play one week. Show is featured by its musical strength, for which reason tour is being handled like a concert.

'Saints' was originally presented at Hartford, Conn. by the 'Friends and Enemies of Modern Music,' later being presented on Broadway by Harry Moses. Show ended about $20,000 in the red, but inquiries from the road prompted the plans to send it out in the fall.

No Precedent Set By Connelly's Book Arbitration Award

Arbitration award won by Marc Connelly against Rowland Stebbins (Laurence Rivers, Inc.) in the matter of souvenir booklets of 'The Green Pastures,' does not establish a precedent as first reported. Analysis of the decision shows that it was a compromise award, with one of the board not concurring. Connelly claimed about $2,300, but received $530 and case does not furnish basis for other authors to step in with similar claims unless booklets are distributed with the author's consent.

Joseph P. Bickerton, Jr., sought to prove that such booklets constituted an invasion of the playwright's publication rights. He was unsuccessful and the wording of the decision states that the use of souvenir booklets is a recognized trade practice, the brochures being used for advertising purposes although sold to audiences, generally at 25 cents the copy. That point was conceded by Owen Davis, one of the arbitrators.

However, because Connelly objected to the use of booklets it was thought he should be upheld in some degree. Stebbins stated the cost of printing and traveling a book boy left, but small net proceeds.

Usually authors readily assent to the issuance of booklets, because it is a managerial activity and rarely are there quotations from the play without consent. Charles G. Stewart, general manager for Stebbins, was ill at the time the proposition was first considered and rejected. Later, when Stewart recovered it was figured that booklets, including endorsements from the clergy might mitigate against possible objections to 'Pastures' on sectual grounds out of town.

When the booklets went on sale during the Chicago run of the show, Connelly filed his claim. There had been some previous friction between him and the management. Other arbitrators were Warren P. Munsell and George W. Naumberg, a broker.

Gallagher's Import

'The Bystander', originally presented in Dublin, will be produced over here by Leonard Gallagher. Paul Carroll, who appeared in the original, will be imported to play the lead. Another cast choice is Francis Lister.

Court Ruling on Erlanger Stock Indicates Estate May Be Solvent

Solvency of the A. rlanger estate was indicated last week when Surrogate James A. Delehanty, N. Y., ruled that stock in the principal Erlanger corporations is not the property of the deceased showman's brother and sisters, but that it belongs to the estate. Judge Mitchell L. Erlanger and the sisters, Mrs. Caroline Bergman and Ray Erlanger, claimed that stock of the Erlanger Amusement Enterprises and the Erlanger Realty Corporation, was given them in 1925 by Erlanger, who died in 1930. Court ruled otherwise.

Ruling was counter to that of Philip J. Dunn, sitting as referee acting on claims against the estate. That portion of Dunn's report okaying the gift stock is out, but claims amounting to $1,857,647 were verified by the surrogate. Court's decision, which the heirs will probably appeal, is important since the worth of the estate otherwise is placed at $1,305,277, only cash being $124.30.

Stocks in question mean a contest over the ownership of realty, probably the most valuable being the Gaiety and Fulton theatres, N. Y. While some leaseholds may be regarded as liabilities at this time, the other properties figure to represent a fortune when an upturn in realty values comes. Included is the New Amsterdam theatre. At the present time the mortgagee (bank) is collecting the revenues but no foreclosure is anticipated.

Dillingham Angle

Understood that realty obligations, including leaseholds which he endorsed at the request of Erlanger, placed Charles Dillingham in such a position that he went into bankruptcy recently.

Among the claims allowed is one by Adelaid L. Erlanger for $24,000, which the court ruled is a preferred claim. Mrs. Erlanger is the showman's divorced wife who has been residing abroad. Other claims include: $771,929, Chase National Bank; $120,600, National City Bank; $119,340, Stanley Company; $119,350, Edmund D. Codman and others; $147,948, Mitchell H. Mark Co.; $32,500, Mitchell L. Erlanger on a note; $31,780, Marc Klaw.

Previously there was $918,226 on hand in cash, debts totaling $896,045 being paid by court orders plus $22,056 in administration expenses.

'DRUNKARD' EPIDEMIC

Trio of roducers it Loop With Burlesque Show Revival

Chicago, May

This town has become a hot-bed of 'Drunkard' productions. Out of the nowhere comes three producers with the same idea. All are set in out-of-the-way spots, but spending plenty of coin in the dailies in the hope of getting some return.

Charles O'Neal, who directed and featured the Los Angeles production of the revival, has opened the Old Music Hall at $1.10 top. Opera Club is producing the show as a floor attraction with the $1.65 admish at the tables including beer, coffee and sandwiches. Edgar Mason is opening late but expected to be ready early next week at the Dill Pickle Club.

U SETS BACK HULL'S PAPER; SHOW STICKS

By setting back Henry Hull's Hollywood contract with Universal, 'Tobacco Road,' which developed from a weakling to a money-maker, will enter the summer period at the 48th Street, New York. Under the arrangement U can call on Hull to report on the coast after June 20, provided a four-week notice is given the show management. That would extend the Broadway engagement into the latter part of July, provided the attraction stands up in summer weather.

Hull's picture contract called for him to go west about the middle of the current month but U did not have a script ready. Actor, who is playing on percentage in 'Road,' agreed to stick in the show with the consent of the picture firm. Carl Laemmle okayed the extension last week.

'Road' drew editorial attention more than three months after it open at the Masque, while Hull's characterization of a white trash Southerner, was rated among the finest performances on the stage. Opening grosses were around $3,000 weekly. When the show moved, it steadily climbed and, with Leblang support, takings went to over $9,000. Slightly under the figure last week.

Play has not yet been sold for pictures. Jack Kirkland, who adapted it from Erskine Caldwell's novel, is said to have written a scenario with what are considered objectionable features on the stage eliminated. Understood Universal is considering buying the play and starring Hull in the film version.

CANTOR MAY WRITE, ACT IN HARRIS PLAY

On his production schedule for next season, Sam H. Harris lists a play in which Eddie Cantor will be starred, at the latter's suggestion. Cantor is to collaborate on it with David Freedman, but to date it is merely an idea.

If and when, it will be the first straight play appearance by Cantor.

Lambs Going Off Nut

It was announced at a meeting of the Lambs last Friday (18) that the financial condition of the club improved to the extent of paying the arrears in taxes. It was also stated that the end of the calendar year in September should find the deficit greatly reduced.

Lambs still have a major expenditure to face, that being the interest on the first mortgage. Understood, however, a satisfactory arrangement with the holders has been made.

NEGRO OPERA OUSTED BY FIRE DEPARTMENT

'Kykunkor,' billed as a 'native African opera,' which attracted attention at the Unity, a tiny 23rd street theatre, was ousted last week by the fire department for failure to have the proper exits. Place is a second floor affair. But the admission scale, first lifted from 35c to 50c was tilted to $2 and $3, and a gross of $2,200 was claimed for the 199 seater. Standing room was 50c.

Show is a combination of native customs and tribal dances. It managed to shift to the City College of New York auditorium, but is seeking a Broadway spot. Male portion of the cast are from Africa, women coming from Harlem.

Cagney in Musical?

James Cagney may join next season's Hollywood names to dot the shows on Broadway. Film star is listening to Lew Brown, who wants him for a musical dated for autumn. Ben Stein is to be interested with Brown.

Cagney requested the material be submitted and the sketches nd bits have been forwarded hi on the Coast.

Options 'Wandering Jew'

Hollywood, May 21.

George K. Arthur cables here from London that he has taken a six months' option on Temple Thurston's play, 'The Wandering Jew,' and expects to produce it this fall in New York.

Arthur is trying to get either Paul Muni or Phillip Merrivale for the lead.

Shows Wilt in Summer Heat, 3 Scram; 'Mary,' 'Dodsworth' Hold Pace, Tho

Summer heat descended on roadway over the week-end, and, although there were but three closings listed Saturday, more shows may call it a season. Production has slowed away down. Indications are no new major musicals are scheduled for the second successive summer, but one or two may be rushed in later. No premieres this week, save for two revivals. One opening is carded for next week and same for the week after that.

List totals 23 attractions, which is somewhat better the same week last , discounting the several then cheap ticket revivals. Slump which ushered in May still holds, although business was slightly up last week. Only visitors are buying tickets, and, until there is an influx, theatre attendance can hardly improve. Upward trend may come next week, the fleet comes in.

'Mary of Scotland' was credited another $20,000 gross, an extra matinee accounting for show holding the pace. 'Dodsworth,' again around $22,000, got a much money as any show in town, about even with 'As Thousands Cheer,' a revue with a higher scale. 'Follies' is doubtful of going into the summer period.

'Invitation to a Murder' figures to have a good chance at the Masque, where it opened late last week. Only other premiere, 'Come What May,' however, is not rated a good thing at the Plymouth. The revival of 'The Drunkard' in a former church is still drawing excellent attendance, as is 'Stevedore,' on 14th street.

Announced closings this week are 'The Shining Hour,' Booth, and 'Moor Born,' Playhouse. 'I Myself,' was withdrawn after one week at the Masfield. Next week 'Furnished Rooms' comes to the Ritz, with 'Caviar' arriving at the Forrest June 4.

Estimates for Last Week

'Ah, Wilderness,' Guild (34th week) (CD-914-$3.30). Last two weeks announced; business slightly better than last week with takings around $7,500.

'Are You Decent?' Ambassador (6th week) (C-1,166-$3.30). Grosses small but turning some profit; engagement may extend into summer; $3,000.

'As Thousands Cheer,' Music Box (34th week) (R-1,000-$4.40). Went to extra space ads announcing majority of tickets on sale at box office; somewhat better with gross around $22,000.

'Come What May,' Plymouth (2nd week) (C-1,036-$2.75). Notices tepid with attendance light after premiere; under $5,000 in seven performances.

'Dodsworth,' Shubert (13th week) (CD-1,387-$3.30). Stays out in front of dramas and tied for list leadership with musical 'Cheer'; around $22,000.

'Every Thursday,' Royale (3rd week) (C-900-$2.75). Price scale means nothing for this show; mostly cheap admissions; under $2,500 but claimed better than even break at that.

'Follies,' Winter Garden (21st week) (R-1,483-$4.40). Changes in plans reported and revue may extend into June; gross estimated around $18,000.

'I, Myself,' Mansfield. Taken off last Tuesday, played one week.

'Invitation to Murder,' Masque (2nd week) (D-789-$2.75). Drew fair notices; class murder play which should make grade; opened late last week.

'Jig Saw,' Barrymore (4th week) (C-1,096-$3.30). Holds profitable pace with claimed takings of $10,000; Guild's final show this season has summer chance.

'Mary of Scotland,' Alvin (26th week) (D-1,387-$3.30). Around $20,000 last week, smash, playing extra performance because of matinee strength.

'Men in White,' Broadhurst (35th week) (D-1,118-$2.75). Pulitzer prize winner likely summer holdover; business again around $12,500.

'Moor Born,' Playhouse (8th week) (D-896-$3.30). Final week; drew fair grosses first six weeks, then slipped; last week estimated around $5,000. 'While Parents Sleep' follows next month.

'New Faces,' Fulton (11th week) (R-900-$3.30). Went into cut rates last week with takings bettered thereby; estimated over $8,000, which is profitable.

'No More Ladies,' Morosco (13th week) (C-961-$2.75). Eased off under $9,000 last week but profitable both ways at figure.

'Roberta,' New Amsterdam (27th week) (M-1,717-$3.30). Somewhat better last week at quoted $16,000; about even break; should hold over into summer.

'Sailor Beware,' Lyceum (34th week) (C-922-$3.30). Has been down around $6,000, but expectant of sticking with betterment figured when fleet comes in next week.

'She Loves Me Not,' 46th St. (31st week) (C-1,413-$3.30). Off this month after piling up excellent profits; slightly better last week at $12,000.

'The Milky Way,' Cort (3rd week) (C-1,057-$2.75). Attendance better last week, with takings quoted at $8,500; laugh show has summer chance.

'The Shining Hour,' Booth (15th week) (D-708-$3.30). Final week; English drama will go to London intact; engagement profitable, but off the $5,000 last week.

'Tobacco Road,' 48th St. (25th week) (D-969-$3.30). Will extend into June and may be summer sticker; business better with about $8,500 grossed last week.

Other Attractions

'The Only Girl,' 44th Street; revival opened Monday (21).

'Mikado,' Majestic; final Gilbert and Sullivan revival; one week.

'Stevedore,' Civic Rep theatre; draw on 14th street.

'The Drunkard,' American Music Hall; meller revival drawing excellently.

Grand Opera, Hippodrome; pop opera.

YOU ARE NEVER TOO YOUNG TO PROVIDE FOR A HAPPY OLD AGE!

Give a person $50,000 and they may be in want in a few years. Give them $2,000 on January first, and they may be short of money before the first of July. Give them an income of $100 a month or more for life and they will prosper as long as they live.

You have your own problems and are entitled to have a Program built for your particular use. It will cost you no more to own Insurance which fits your case perfectly than to buy misfit Insurance.

For Further Details Write

JOHN J. KEMP

551 Fifth Av., New York City

Phones Murray Hill 2—7838-7839

HUB DULL, BUT 'HOUR' GARNERS NEAT $9,500

Boston, May 21.

Nothing new in the legit sector this week, S. M. Chartok takes over the Milton-Aborn Savoy operettas by bringing practically the same company here, repertory opening with 'The Mikado' next Monday at Shubert. Under Aborn this was always one of the big delights of a season for Gilbert-Sullivan fans.

Next in line is Katharine Cornell, booked into the Boston Opera House for three days, starting June 7, in 'Barretts.'

Conrad Nagel and Violet Heming remain another week at the Plymouth in 'The Shining Hour,' first week grossing a very nice $9,500. 'The Green Bay Tree' is in its last week at the Hollis, and engagement is expected to end season's venture there by Wee & Leventhal on courtesy pass plus 40c. admish plan.

ENGAGEMENTS

Perc Launder, 'Roberta.'

Isabel Madigan, 'No More Ladies.'

Mildred Wall, 'The Milky Way,' replacing Gladys George.

June Sillman, 'New Faces,' replacing Edith Sheridan.

Giovanna Borgese 'Hedda Gabler'.

Vicki Cummings, John F. Morrissey, Frank Reyman, Ronnie Madison, Violet Barney, Huntley Weston, Spencer Bentley, Liana Grey, Clarence Rock, Jack Willis and Valerie Raemler 'Furnished Rooms' (Complete Cast).

Joyce Carey 'Barrett's of Wimpole Street' (tour).

Lew Hearn, Blaine Cordner, Barna Ostertag, Larry Bolton, Courtney White, Augusta French, Edith Leslie, George Herman and Jack Mason, 'The Black Crook.'

Grena Loan, 'The Only Girl.'

Kathleen Lowry, 'The Shining Hour' (road).

'Shim Sham Revue,' Sole L. A. Legit, Okay $3,000

Los Angeles, May 21.

Having the local legit field exclusively to itself, 'Shim Sham Revue' built strongly in its third week at the Hollywood Music Box, copping an easy $3,000, and insuring continuance of run for several weeks at least.

Henry Duffy's production of 'Ah, Wilderness,' featuring Will Rogers, after three big weeks in San Francisco, bows in tonight (Monday) at El Capitan, providing Hollywood with two legits and leaving the downtown sector barren.

PHILLY READY TO CALL IT A SEASON

Philadelphia, May 21.

rom all appearances, Philly's legit season is going to wind up plenty quick. There are only two left now and one of them is expected to get closing orders pronto.

From the standpoint of quantity, it's been Philly's modern-time low; from the standpoint of actual biz it's been about on a par with the preceeding two seasons, perhaps a trifle worse, but not much. Until recently most deserving shows clicked at the b.o.

Shuberts' plan for a summer season of light opera revivals at the Forrest finally blew up Saturday (19), when 'The Only Girl' departed after a single week. Good notices didn't help this Victor Herbert revival much. Only $9,500 grossed and that wasn't enough. 'Bitter Sweet,' advertised as next attraction, was cancelled and the Forrest gets the traditional keys and camphor balls. That goes for the Chestnut, too, which hasn't had a show in six weeks.

Broad is staggering quite a bit now, but figures to stay open for another month at least, with the cut-rate and 40c tax idea. Last week's show, 'The Wind and the Rain,' was hardly the sort for the moronic type of audience this racket draws. Reported at $5,500 and moved up to the Erlanger this week for no particular reason that anyone could observe. Nothing more is listed at this big house on West Market street, though no announcement of closing has been made. 'Biography' (third visit here), got $5,000 last week.

This week's offering at the Broad —and it may be the season's windup—is 'Big-Hearted, Herbert.' There is considerable interest in it as Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield are definitely favorites here. Two weeks are listed.

Estimates for Last Week

'Wind and the Rain' (Broad).—Not the type of play appreciated by this cut-rate audience. Notices mixed; $5,500 reported. 'Big-Hearted Herbert' this week, 1th fortnight's run hoped for.

'The Only Girl' (Forrest).—Very good notices but no biz and the Victor Herbert revival was taken out after single week. Goes to New York. Forrest's season of light opera revivals now all off and house through for season. Last week $9,500.

'Biography' (Erlanger). — One week only for third local engagement. Just $5,000. 'Wind and the Rain' moved up from Broad this week.

'King's Horses' Loop Winner at 11G; Legiters Awaiting Exposition Boom

Chicago, May 21.

More hope in town for legit as the loop swings into the week which will see the opening of the second World's Fair edition. Particularly hopeful are a trio of producers, each of whom has 'The Drunkard' set for a burlesque revival. Opera Club will have the piece as a floor-show; the Old Music Hall is running it way up on north Clark street, while Edgar Mason wants the arty Dill Pickle club to handle it.

Last week the big winner was 'All the King's Horses,' which started off to rave reports and almost capacity business. Looks capable of sticking in the loop for a long spell.

Ducking town last Saturday (19) were 'Richard of Bordeaux,' a click, and 'Affections, Ltd., a miss-out. 'Bordeaux' arrived in town originally for a two-week stay and remained five. 'Affections' was the second play on the Horace Sistare stock list, but it couldn't get started. 'I Loved You Wednesday,' with Edna Hibbard starred, starts the third try tonight (21).

Estimates for Last Week

'All the King's Horses,' Grand (M-1,207; $2.75) (2d week). Wholehearted click. On first six days topped powerful $11,000. Can stick around awhile.

'Big Hearted Herbert,' Cort (C-1,040; $3.20) (4th week). Has recovered nicely after a slight flutter in the second session. Now clearing $3,500 easily. Settling down for a run.

'Her Master's Voice,' Selwyn (C-1,200; $2.20). Opens on May 27 under the Max Gordon banner.

'I Loved You Wednesday,' Studebaker (C-1,250; $1.50). Opens tonight (21) as stock, with Edna Hibbard billed. 'Affections, Ltd.' finished a five-week stay with less than $2,000 for final session.

BALTO 'VOICE' FOLDS AFTER CRIMSON $3,800

Baltimore, May 21.

Charles Emerson Cook Players pocketed but approximately $3,800 with Florence Reed in 'Her Master's Voice' at Ford's last week at 85c top. Management blamed presence of circus and the excessive humidity.

'Voice' blacked out the outfit for the year, simultaneously dropping the curtain on legit for sun-tan season. The stock troupe stuck for a total of 22 weeks on local terrain, first fifteen up at the Auditorium, then, after Lenten lapse, wound up final seven on Ford's rostrum.

Proposed deal, whereby Cook would try a summer run in Chicago with Miss Reed in 'Thoroughbred,' now off. Locale deemed over-competitive. Reasonably certain group will return here in fall, opening around Labor Day, and continue at Ford's, UBO house, till the road shows start coming in.

Season, aside from stock, embraced but an ill-fated trio of Wee & Leventhal offerings at the Maryland and seven and a half weeks of touring shows at Ford's. That's all-time touring legit low for burg.

ROGERS $70,000 IN 3 WKS., FRISCO

San Francisco, May 21.

With Will Rogers through at the Curran after three weeks, 'She Loves Me Not' follows into the same house and has Frisco to itself after opening tonight (21).

Cast of the Homer Curran production includes Dorothy Lee, Russell Hopton and Dorothy Lee, playing at $2 top. Advance not heavy.

Rogers bowed out with about $23,000 on the third week, making some $70,000 on his three weeks, a record for the town these past few years.

Shobe and Bell's production of 'Drunkard' is holding for a second week in the grill room of the Palace hotel, where it's continuing to good business. 'Men in White' is slated for later at the Curran, and that's about all on the legit calendar for a time.

Rochester Folds

Rochester, May 21.

Lyceum stock, sponsored by the Stagehands' Union, closed Saturday night (19) after 13 weeks. Ten plays of various types were produced under direction of Eric North, but the project failed to click and was badly in the red. Prices were changed from $1.10 top to 75c, and then up to $1.65 again for 'Green Bay Tree,' final production.

Last-minute newspaper editorials and drama page pleas failed to draw public support for the company.

Block Coogan Release

Hollywood, May 21.

Differences between I. A. Allen, producer of Jackie Coogan's 'Love in September,' and Arthur Bernstein, the actor's manager, are holding up release of the short.

Educational has agreed to distribute it, making the deal with Allen when latter was in New York, but Bernstein has not okayed the deal. Clause in the Coogan contract with Allen says short must be released through a major, and Bernstein claims Educational doesn't fit this classification.

Meantime, creditors and employees left holding the bag for 75% of their money, when Allen ran out of funds during film's production, are hoping the release matter can be arranged without going into the courts.

Albany Opens June 27

Clayton, N. Y., May 21.

Civic Playhouse summer season will open June 27 with 'Biography.'

On July 9 a new play, 'Temple Virgin,' by Kent McKinley will be given a tryout, with the cast including Frederick Forrester, Claudia Morgan, Lester Vail and Miriam Battista.

Open-Air Shakespeare

Cleveland, May 21.

Celebrating the dedication of the new Cain park in Cleveland Heights, Aaron E. Bishop will produce 'Midsummer Night's Dream' with a staff of 170, including orchestra and ballet, all local talent, May 24-25.

Will be done in the open air.

Too Many Summer Stocks Last Year, Eight to Stay Closed in New England

South Norwalk, May 21.

At least eight summer theatres will not open in these parts this season and the grass is growing high in farmyards where actors were rehearsing a year ago this time.

Summer theatres at Danbury, Norwalk, Stamford and Greenwich will not open this year.

Country Playhouse at Westport, operated by Lawrence Langner, and one of the most successful of its type, is the only summer stand in these parts that is preparing to reopen. Owners of several small film houses have turned down offers and others have refused to open dark houses, claiming that there is no percentage in the effort. This based on three years' experience.

Two years ago this time troupes were sweeping down on every barn, and farming became a thing of the past in the advance of drama. Episcopal parish houses, Odd Fellows' temples and grange halls were not safe from the outpouring of the Lambs.

Summer theatres, in these parts at any rate, reached their height last season, when nine companies were started within a radius of 20 miles.

Looks now as if Langner's theatre at Westport and Larry Anhalt's New York Players at Ivoryton, where Katharine Hepburn had her start, will be the only old companies in the entire state to reopen, although Virgil Geddes says that he will reopen his barn at Brookfield, too.

Play the MARCUS SHOW and FOIL the SHERIFF!

The Japan Advertiser

TOKYO, SUNDAY, APRIL 1, 1934

Theater Reports

The Nippon Gekijo Company, Ltd., held its general meeting of shareholders yesterday and submitted a bill for the last half-year's business results. It realized a net PROFIT of Y10,782. After deducting this from a LOSS† of Y32,326, brought forward from the preceding term, the company carried forward to the next term a loss of Y21,544.

Money Rates

March 30

(Rin per Y100 daily)

†BEFORE THE Marcus Show Came

*AFTER TAKING A DOSE OF DR. MARCUS' ELIXIR

For Ailing Box-Offices

PARIS READY FOR YANKS

Sophie Tucker, Four Mills Bros. Get Over in London Nite Spots

London, May 11.

Two important cabaret openings May7—the return of Sophie Tucker and the first appearance in Europe of the Mills Brothers. Both of them doubled in vaudeville.

Sophie is the same old Sophie, albeit so nervous at the beginning she found it difficult to speak; and when Sophie finds it difficult to speak, it is so unusual it is worth recording.

Sophie got ig greeting and wound up with several of her old favorites, followed by flowers and a speech begging off, but the audience would have none of it. They had sung her old numbers with her and demanded more. All this consumed 37 minutes and even then, at 1:20 a. m., they continued yelling for more.

On the Saturday night preceding her premiere there were about 25 people in this nitery. With the prices increased $5 for supper on the Monday, with Sophie opening, three-fourths of the dance floor was filled with tables and they turned away as many as they accommodated.

Mills Bros.

Mills Brothers are making a twice nightly appearance at the Mayfair—for late dinner and after-theatre supper. Doubling at the Palladium, where they also play twice-nightly, they are doing four shows every evening. Prices for meals during their four weeks' appearance at the hotel have been increased and those who paid it appeared to be well satisfied.

Colored quartet are undoubtedly masters of their style of warbling. Neatly attired in cream colored Eton jackets and black trousers, they made an excellent impression and give every evidence that their month's engagement at the Mayfair will be okay for the management and themselves.

Deslys and Clark, back here after four years opened at Berkeley hotel, May 7, and registered biggest hit scored at that hostelry in months. Boys have excellent material and, although booked for a fortnight, looks like in for long stay.

49-SEAT LEGIT HOUSE TO AVOID VIENNA TAX

Vienna, May 11.

New stunt to avoid heavy theatre taxation and found a new theatrical enterprise, with licenses restricted as they are, has been inaugurated by E. Jubal with his "Theatre for 49."

Austrian theatre laws state that a special concession is necessary for all theatrical performances presented before a minimum of 50 spectators. By allowing admission to only 49, there is plain sailing without a theatre concession for Joubal's enterprise.

First play to be presented at this new little theatre, which is housed in the club room of a Vienna cafe, will be 'A Florentine Tragedy' by Oscar Wilde, followed by 'George Dandin,' by Moliere. Management is also trying to secure performing rights of Lulu Vollmer's "Sun-up."

Cochran's New Revue

London, May 12.

After a number of years' absence from that field of endeavor, Charles Cochran has decided to resume revue production.

In the early autumn he will present 'Streamline' by A. P. Herbert and Ronald Jeans, with Vivian Ellis the composer.

Niel's Talent Search

Hollywood, May 21.

Frank Niel, who operates and stages the shows for the Tivoli circuit in Australia, arrived here Saturday (19) looking for talent.

Expects to head for New York the end of the week.

N.T.G.'s All-British Revue for New York

London, May 12.

Before sailing, N. T. Granlund arranged with Clifford Whitley to produce an all-English or English-American stage revue in New York next fall, using mostly English comedy stars.

It is possible Granlund may return to do publicity for Tex Austin's rodeo. They are bringing over 17 Canadian and 90 American contestants.

75-Year-Old Woman Horseback Rider Is Headliner at Scala

Berlin, May 10.

Main hit at the Scala currently is Therese Renz, rider, celebrating her 75th birthday on horseback this month. Audience opening night paid healthy tribute to the artist. Seldom experienced before that a woman of this age rides on horseback twice a day. She is the only survivor of the famous Renz circus family.

Another big number on the Scala program is the Banda Fascista, consisting of 72 Italian musicians. It is Mussolini's favorite orchestra, and is to be heard for the first time in a music hall.

Other large variety show in Berlin, the Wintergarten, features the musical clown Grock, who is extraordinarily popular in Berlin. New sensational number which would also be very interesting for America is the two Reverhos, who even exceed Rastelli's fantastic juggling number by carrying out their performance while dancing on a rope.

'MEN WHITE'S' DOUBLE PROD. AT THE HAGUE

The Hague, May 11.

Controversy between Central Legit Co., Amsterdam and Hofstad Company at the Hague over production in Holland of Sidney Kingsley's "Men in White." Both groups are staging the play now. As United States is no party to Berne convention, play piracy goes on wholesale.

'Case of Mary Dugan' was on repertoire simultaneously of three legit companies here. With novels there is an arrangement by which publisher, who in Holland puts his name down first at the authorship-bureau and pays a small fee, gets t. nslation rights for Holland. With plays there is no registration possible.

Hofstadtooneel, however, got into touch with Kingsley' representative in Holland, Mr. Brander at Amsterdam, and obtained sole rights for Holl 1 for his play on Jan. 6. Premiere was fixed for May. Meanwhile, Central Legit, without getting into touch with author or representative, simply produced it a few weeks before Hofstadtooneel got it on, thereby skimming the value of Hofstad-production. Legally there seems to be no way of fighting such a practice.

'Loves Me Not' Proves Quick Foldup in London

London, May 12.

'She Loves Me Not,' at Adelphi, with mostly American cast, folded Friday (18).

Show opened to good notices, but public wasn't interested. Notice went up four days after opening, much to everyone's surprise.

BIG MONEY SEEN FOR U. S. TURNS

Exchange Situation Brings American Star Salaries to French Level—Not Much Vaude Time Available but Plenty Nite Club and Restaurant Chances

CHEAP DOLLAR DOES IT

Paris, May 12.

If the exchange situation holds up, Paris next season should be the big money town for a selection of American headline acts.

There are lots of slips between logic and actuality, but the logic is there in the form of arithmetic: few francs make beaucoup dollars in figuring the weekly stipend—and also in the fact that the French public is inclined to go for American type numbers just now.

There's no counting on the tourist trade any more. What is needed are numbers for the French, not for the Americans in Paris. But the French like American acts.

Big obstacle in addition to possible catastrophes of one kind or another is lack of theatres and night spots ready and organized to put over a real show. This year has been terrible for all sorts of reasons—decline of touring, political upsets, business depression—and house managers have developed terrible jitters. Some of them may come to before next season, however.

Timi ity

Timidity of managers is being blamed for current bad business. Trade is beginning to suspect that if it won't loosen up enough to put on a real show it can't expect to lure the customers from their firesides. Therefore it's possible that if francs have the same big buying value next year they may be persuaded to plunk some of them down and get hold of American talent which will be able to do something for them.

Success of current Ambassadeurs Restaurant show will help in this direction. Fact that booking agencies are not blind to future possi-

(Continued on page 50)

Bergner Back

London, May 12.

Elisabeth Bergner resumed her role in 'Escape Me Never,' after several weeks' illness.

Camp-stools for those waiting for admission to the gallery were put into service immediately and there is a solid sell-out for four weeks.

Tough Legit Season Nears End In Paris; Even Arties Slumping

Paris, May 11.

Toughness of the season now ending is showing itself in the difficulties being experienced by the little art theatres, especially the known as the Cartel, which for years have bolstered up the level of show business in Paris.

Of four—Louis Jouvet at Comedies des Champs Elysees, Gaston Baty at the Montparnasse, Charles Dullin at the Atelier in Montmartre and Georges Pitoeff at the Vieux Colombier—it looks as if Baty would be the only one at the old stand next year.

are having tough sledding.

Pitoeff is already out of the Vieux Colombier and looking for a theatre which will take him in. Place is not lost to the little theatre movement, however, for Rene Rocher, who had to give up the Antoine by the liquidation route, has taken it over, to begin July 1.

Pitoeff gave a motley program this year, the best financial success of which was 'Musical Chairs,' which he was able to take on tour after its Paris run. The b.o. average, however, was not sufficient to enable him to hang on. 'Musical Chairs,' moreover, is scarcely an art theatre play.

Jouvet also had one good one, 'Petrus,' which was one of the comedy successes of the early part of the year. Among the plays with which he mixed it, keeping the intake down, was 'Outward Bound' and, recently, Jean Cocteau's 'Infernal Machine,' an Edipus play, which did not bring in paying guests.

Before 'Petrus' it was generally reported that Jouvet was at the end of his rope. That success saved him. Now he seems to have come to the end of the line once more, and he is known to be quitting the Comedie des Champs Elysees, to go he knows not where. He is negotiating for a new home, however.

Dullin's season started off with a whoop, strangely enough, with 'Richard III.' It ran until recently, when, keeping the Elizabethan vein, Dullin put on ''Tis a Pity.' This was not so box office as its predecessor, and hence the talk that the days of the Atelier are numbered. Dullin, however, is not supposed to be as badly off, for the moment, as Jouvet and Pitoeff. Moreover, he's seen bad days before this.

Successful boy is Baty, who carried a stage version of 'Crime and Punishment' over from last season, and only just closed it. He's in clover, thanks to Doistoievsky.

Other art theatre people who now have no houses are Jacques Copeau, who made the rep of the Vieux Colombier, years ago, and Lugne-Poe, who started l'Oeuvre.

At one period this year, when Jouvet, Dullin and Baty were going strong, all at the same time, it looked as if the arty crowd were the only ones who had a chance of success in the town.

Right now there are still a few legit theatres doing good trade, notably the Michodiere, with Bourdet's 'Les Temps Difficiles' and the Paris with 'Tovaritch.'

NO BUDAPEST VAUDE

Nothing But Floor Shows, Whi , However, Doing Well

Budapest, May 11.

Not one big vaudeville or variety theatre has been playing in Budapest for years. Instead, night club floor shows have attained a very high standard and unequalled popularity.

Intimate little floor revues and first-rate attractions are shown at Parisien Grill, Moulin Rouge, Arizona and a dozen others—all small places with moderate charges.

RUSH BUILDUP FOR MOSCOW THEATRE

Moscow, April 30.

In order to meet the demands which the collective farmers are making for good entertainment, the Soviet Government is embarking upon a tremendous scheme of organizing theatres in the rural districts.

Following the decree of the Commissariat of Education, over 60 theatres have already been opened in the villages during the last three months, while another 90 are listed to be organized before 1934 is out.

Movement for creating country-side theatres has met with warm response from the city theatres all over the country. Several Moscow theatres are opening special studios which will tour the countryside as models for the work of the rural houses. Simultaneously, a number of Soviet dramatists have undertaken to write special plays suitable for presentation to rural audiences.

London Doesn't Like Miller's 'Dark Tower'

London, May 12.

Gilbert Miller produced 'The Dark Tower' at the Shaftesbury May 10, with Basil Sydney in his original role and Edna Best in the part of the hypnotized actress. Locale was changed to England and some of the jokes Anglicized.

Somehow the piece didn't sound convincing. Gallery tittered during the murder, and the whole thing gave the impression of never quite ringing true. Success extremely unlikely.

Giant $20,000,000 Lottery to Pay For Paris Exposition; Set for '37

Paris, May 12.

French state and City of Paris have at last come to an agreement on the 1937 Exposition. State will offer a $1,000,000 treasury bond issue to raise its part of the necessary coin, and city will run a lottery for the benefit of the expo, which is expected to net nearly $20,000,000.

Tickets for the expo lottery will go on sale in 1936 in connection with chances in the French National Lottery, and beside the big prizes will include a number of free admissions to the show and cut rate tickets on transportation and for attractions. City will sell short term bonds in anticipation of lottery profits, to get preliminary funds.

Big show will take place along the banks of the Seine at the west end of town, running from the Passy viaduct to the Alma bridge. Part of the Champs de Mars gardens near the Eiffel Tower will be included, as will a section of the Trocadero gardens on the other side of the river. Straddling the stream will give the expo an aquatic aspect, like the current Chi fair.

Clearing away of the old government buildings, to be rebuilt elsewhere, is part of the plan. Parts of the show will take place at a distance from the main fair grounds, notably an international section on the site of old fortifications on the outskirts of Paris, and a flower show in a suburb.

50% Salary Cut for London 'Biography'?

London, May 12.

Noel Coward's first venture on his own in management, in association with his former personal manager, John C. Wilson and Lunt-Fontanne, hasn't proved felicitious. Production here of 'Biography,' with Ina Claire, failed to hit the mark and it is reported salaries have already been drastically cut. Understood the chop was 50%.

ir's Exclusive Publicity

Chicago World's Fair this year opens with the greatest exploitation and publicity campaign ever accorded to a single show business event. Impossible to count the exact amount of coverage secured under the guidance of Jack Morrison, chief of the Fair publicity organization; but it has hit more than 9,000 papers throughout the world.

Morrison has kept his deal with both the wire and photo services, giving each one an exclusive yarn and picture every day. Those services getting an exclusive story daily are United Press, Associated Press, International News Service and Universal. Exclusive pictures daily go to Wide World, Acme, International News Photo and Associated Press.

More than 4,000 newspapers are signatured for regular mat services, and approximately 9,000 for plate services. Through the four wire press services alone the World's Fair is hitting 300 metropolitan dailies with more than 100,000 circulation each.

L. A. Newspaper

First general meeting of the Los Angeles County Newspaper Guild, now forming, was held Sunday (20). Representatives from five metropolitan dailies, wire services and country papers were on hand. Group plans to affiliate with the national association, once its constitution and membership is settled.

Frank McNaughton, formerly with International News, is executive secretary and chief organizer of the local guild. Members of INS, the Daily News and Examiner, agreed to come in. Times is least represented in promised members of any of the downtown papers.

Jonathon Elder, of the American Newspaper Guild, national organization, attended.

ickens' Near-Record

Charles Dickens' posthumous book, 'The Life of Our Lord,' actually had an advance sale of 53,000 copies on publication day. That, plus the fact that it came out without benefit of selection by any of the book clubs, is an exceptionally high figure, topped only once in recent years.

Topper was 'Three Little Pigs,' published by Blue Ribbon Books as a juvenile novelty last year, and which got going to an advance sale figure of 55,000. 'Pigs,' however, sold at $1, while the Dickens' is getting $1.75.

Coincidence, too, is that when Simon & Schuster got the American rights to the Dickens book it had to outbid the Blue Ribbon group, second highest bidders.

Another Cabinet Author

Henry Wallace, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, will write a book for fall publication by Reynal & Hitchcock. Untitled, and subject matter not made public as yet.

Reynal & Hitchcock is an associate house of John Day, working out of the same offices. John Day publishes President Roosevelt's book and also has a new book by Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, 'Madame Secretary,' bowing in Thursday (24).

ith Leaves Stokes

Richard R. Smith, who recently filed a petition in bankruptcy, has resigned from the Frederick A. Stokes Company to again publish on his own. Smith joined Stokes recently as vice-president and member of its board of directors, shortly after quitting Long & Smith, in which he was a partner.

Stokes' explanation of Smith's departure from the firm is the failure of the materialization of certain plans of expansion in which Smith was to figure.

Wolfe Kaufman Lands

H. Wolfe Kaufman, VARIETY mugg, has sold his first novel, 'Sidewalk Comedian,' to Covici-Friede. Title may be changed.

Book has a Broadway background. It will be published in September.

Kaufman leaves Friday (25) for a quickie o.o. of Europe.

Skolsky Returns West

Sid Skolsky, N. Y. Daily News columnist, returns to Hollywood end of this week to start another six months' assignment as Hollywood chatterer for the N. Y. tabloid.

It's actually the second half of an original year's assignment, Skolsky coming east on a busman's holiday.

One Way

Budapest, May 11.

Nijinsky's life story by his wife, containing what are considered in Budapest defamatory passages about her native country, Hungary, and about her mother, dramatic actress, Emilia Markus, was not forbidden in Hungary as reported.

Mrs. Markus, however, has been buying up as many copies of the English edition as are brought to this country so as to prevent its being read by outsiders.

Fan Mags Fall

A. B. C. figures just published show a general loss in the number of persons reading motion picture fan magazines, although some of the mags do show a small increase in circulation. New figures are for the last six months of 1933.

In that period, average monthly circulation for Photoplay was 543,536 as against 462,321 for a like period the year before. Others reported are: Screen Book, 234,139 against 240,813; Screen Play, 200,730 against 192,686; Screenland, 247,822 against 261,713; Silver Screen, 406,167 against 403,994; Motion Picture Magazine and Movie Classic, 507,338 as against 741,404; Modern Screen, 461,398 as against 502,732; and Picture Play, 244,363 as against 299,832.

Jobbing Mags for Economy

Newest thing in the mag publishing biz is, for ant of better classification, a mag-publishing jobber. It's the development of Lincoln Hoffman, pulp publisher, who gets out the Ranger Publications.

Hoffman, who calls his new project the Publishers and Producers Exchange, will job mags complete. That is, he will turn out, on order, a mag complete as to printing and editorial matter for other publishers. Claimed by Hoffman that he can greatly reduce publication costs by serving a group of independent publishers in this manner. Purchase of quantity paper and quantity printing does the trick.

Paris Ready

(Continued from page 49)

bilities is proven by fight between Clifford Fischer and Teddy Ehrenthal for Ambassadeurs, which has become the key spot for high class American talent here. Ehrenthal now books the Gaumont circuit of program film houses, using lots of American acts, but of lower quality, generally, than the Ambassadeurs' level. One reason for his desire to take the nitery away from Fischer is the rumor—always denied but still current—of the possibility of suspension of stage shows in all film houses by common consent.

In straight vaudeville there is nothing here for Americans now, but feeling up this alley is better since recent reopening of the Pavilion, under new name of ABC, as a sort of vaudeville house. Place is not quite what America knows under the name, however, for almost all the turns are straight singing of the French type, which is having a revival this year. Headliner is Lys Gauty, who recently gave up a nitery venture that didn't pay.

Vaude Outlook

Two other houses are using about the same kind of show now: Bobino, way over in the Montparnasse neighborhood, where Lucienne Boyer has an engagement currently, and the Alcazar on the Faubourg Montmartre, which headlines this week the A. K. Mayol who has made more farewell appearances than Eva Tanguay, and a woman named Polaire, who sings old-time songs also.

If this song revival is a presage of a vaude comeback for next season, there may be a chance there for Americans. But this is much smaller than the nitery possibilities. That's where the money should be.

Artists, however, should watch out for fly-by-night affairs which bob up in Montmartre all the time, running on shoestrings, and which pass out quickly without paying off.

For turns of certain types, too, there is always the possibility of the French circus, which has little relation to the American big top, being a fixed one-ring affair in Paris with an intimate atmosphere. Medrano, especially, has always been willing to give Americans a break.

Small-City Chain

John P. Scripps, 21-year-old member of the publishing family, and Roy D. Pinkerton and E. F. Elfstrom, both California publishers, have announced plans for a chain of small-city papers on the Coast.

Royce Brier expected back at the Frisco Chronicle soon, after a leave of absence during which he went to New York to accept the Pulitzer prize of $1,000 for the best newspaper yarn of '33, viz., the Thurmond-Homes San Jose lynching.

Cathedral Expands

Cathedral Publishing Company, which issues a number of periodicals, has formed an affiliate concern to be known as the Cathedral Press. Purpose of the latter will be to publish book-length works.

Lillian B. Ferentz directing both organizations.

Chatter

A new book on advertising by William A. Thompson, director of the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, will come off the presses June 1.

Mary L. Wagner, mother of Rob Wagner, editor of The Script in Los Angeles, died Santa Barbara, Cal., May 15.

Jeffery Farnol back to England after three months in U. S. He covered some 5,000 miles here on a lecture tour.

Phyllis McGinley has a new publisher—Doubleday, Doran.

Kenneth Roberts coming home from Italy and with a new novel in his valise.

Stanley Walker doing a blog of Frank A. Munsey, on some of whose newspapers he was employed.

F. C. Yeats-Brown trying his hand at a play. Mark Channing is his collaber.

William Seabrook decided to finish that new travel book of his at home, and is back here to dash off the final few chapters.

B. M. Bower, author of 'The Flying U Strikes,' is really Mrs. Bertha Muzzy Sinclair-Cowan, one of the few femme scribblers of westerns.

Any doubt that Esquire is getting over removed by the fact that the mag's New York offices have been enlarged for the third time this year.

Walter B. Pitkin cutting in on Viola Ilma's territory. Pitkin's new book will be 'A Plan for Youth.'

Henry Hart succeeding Lynn Carick as book-picker for Putnam's. He's a novelist himself.

Over in England Dorothy L. Sayers outselling even Edgar Wallace and Conan Doyle.

George W. Stewart, who used to be with Duffield & Green, has joined Whittiesey House.

Charles Caldwell Doble will represent the San Francisco branch of the P.E.N. Club at the international convention in Scotland in June.

Philip Wylie has quit New York for a year, or long enough to write a new novel.

Harry Carr, of the Los Angeles Times, who received honorable mention by the Pulitzer Prize committee for his dispatches on the Far East, is getting them together for a book, 'A Newspaperman in the Orient.' Houghton Mifflin will publish.

Edward Bellamy memorial broadcast May 22 over WEVD, with Heywood Broun chief speaker and a lot of literati prominents participating.

Lloyd Douglas working on a new novel, 'Green Light.'

Theodore Dreiser has a special article in the June Golden Book.

Lewis Gannett's 11-year-old son, Michael, drew the cover jacket for Papa Gannett's new book, 'Sweet Land,' a Doubleday-Doran June 20 issue.

Frances Park has given Alfred H. King her second novel, 'Trespasser in Arcady.'

Richard J. Walsh, president of John Day, returning in June from a five-month trip to the Orient.

English rights to 'Leaning Tower,' by Fred Rothermell, sold to Butterworth.

John Chamberlain, New York Times book reviewing columnist, writing one himself.

President Roosevelt's new book, 'On Our Way,' being translated into Polish, Italian, Japanese and Portuguese. Published last week in London by Faber & Faber.

'And Quiet Flows the Don,' by Mikhail Sholckhov, postponed by Knopf to June 27.

Best Sellers

Best Sellers for the week ending May 19, as reported by the American News Co., Inc.

Ficti

'Anthony Adverse' ($3.00) ..... By Hervey Allen
'Private Worlds' ($2.50) ..... By Phyllis Bottome
'Lamb in His Bosom' ($2.50) ..... By Caroline Miller
'Five Silver Daughters' ($2.50) ..... By Louis Golding
'Seven Gothic Tales' ($2.50) ..... By Isak Dinesen
'Long Remember' ($2.50) ..... By MacKinley Kantor

Non-Fiction

'100,000,000 Guinea Pigs' ($2.00) By Arthur Kallet and F. J. Schlink
'Life Begins at Forty' ($1.50) ..... By Walter B. Pitkin
'Men in White' ($2.00) ..... By Sidney Kingsley
'While Rome Burns' ($2.75) ..... By Alexander Woollcott
'Robber Barons' ($3.00) ..... By Matthew Josephson
'Nijinsky' ($3.75) ..... By Romola Nijinsky

Book Reviews

Golding Scores Again

Louis Golding is one of Britain's finest writers and with a sufficiently healthy reputation in these United States. His newest novel is 'Five Silver Daughters' (Farrar & Rinehart; $2.50) and it will do considerable towards enhancing his already considerable public.

It is a splendid piece of writing and a consistently interesting story. When old man Silver sat around his kitchen in Oleander street with his five daughters, drinking tea and talking communism, he didn't realize that he would one day become one of the most prosperous manufacturers in London, nor that his daughters would spread out and marry into various important stratas of life. The telling of that story becomes pretty nearly a modern-day classic.

Don Passos' Drama

John Dos Passos is not especially well known as a playwright, although he has had several pieces produced. 'Three Plays' (Harcourt-Brace; $2.50) is an interesting volume, though of no great importance to the theatre.

Plays are 'The Garbage Man,' which, under the title 'The Moon Is a Gong,' was produced at the Cherry Lane Playhouse, in the Village, in 1926; 'Airways, Inc.,' which was done at the Grove Street Theatre in 1929, and 'Fortune Heights,' a new piece. Last is best of the three, but still is curious in construction and hard to judge between covers. It's avant garde playwrighting, which is interesting and frequently fascinating, but very seldom really important or worthwhile as theatre stuff. 'Fortune Heights' is understood scheduled for production in the fall.

Gropper Misses

Milton Herbert Gropper has written several plays, of which the most successful was 'Ladies of the Evening,' and done a couple of stretches in Hollywood. But he isn't likely to be considered very important as a novelist unless he changes for the better soon. His newest novel is 'Three Queens Full' (Greenberg; $2), and pretty much along usual lines.

There's a twist here. The rich young man gets drunk and falls for a siren, who lures him up to Greenwich and marries him. Then she wants $1,000,000 to free him. But before he accedes they both fall in love with each other. Cleaned up, pepped up and made more acceptable as to characters, it could make a good comedy film.

One Author's irect Aim

Most fiction writers, conciously or otherwise, are influenced by the greater return from the picture rights than book royalties, but few are as frank as James T. Hamada. Sending in his 'Don't Give Up the Ship' (Meador, $2), he accompanies it with a letter in which he says 'The book is frankly not intended as literature: it is frankly slanted at the pictures'. He has pasted a slip to the top of the first chapter explaining, that if the Honolulu placement is considered objectionable to pictures, there's no reason why the locale should not be made San Francisco, with an all white cast. Four natives are included in the chief characters and featured in the action. Book is dedicated to Frank Capra.

New York reviewers ignored the composition when it was first released. All seemed to agree with Hamada that it was not literature. But they might have gone with him the rest of the distance and opined that it would make a corking screen melodrama, with a slight but persistent love interest and abundant action.

Yarns Wholesale

new detective least three of which are top-notch, make a swell average for the week.

In 'The Owl,' by Robert Casey (Bobb-Merrill; $2), wise-cracking reporter Joe and his Chicago dick pal, Joe Crewe, stir up a zesty hornets' nest in small Illinois town. It's rapid, live-wire writing and a good yarn that could fit film purposes nicely.

In his 'Murder Upstairs' (Macrae-Smith, $2), Robert F. Burkhardt, using the pen name of Adam Bliss, eschews the clutching hand type of detective story and lay his action in a better class boarding house, with never a secret panel. Capital character work and the suspicion is so well directed that it keeps the reader guessing. At windup time the detective makes no brilliant deductions, and the mystery is solved by the boarding mistress, who plays a hunch.

Well told, more the manner of Mrs. Rinehart Anna Katherine Green than according to the modern school of mental slapsticks. Also apparently plants the boarding mistress for future stories, since the story ends with her promising the detective to aid him in future investigations. If they are as good as this, they'll be welcome.

'Misfortunes of Mr. Teal' (Crime Club; $2) is by Leslie Charteris, and another stanza in the experiences of 'The Saint'. He's the crook who goes after the big boys only, and hits them all for plenty. Okay, but too thin for film or stage purposes.

George Worts evidently wrote 'The House With the Creeping Horror' (King, $2) with a view to a picture production. It has the makings of a class mystery play, which is baffling until the close, yet capable of simple explanation when the proper time comes.

Ben Jonson's Biog

Important addition to a drama library is 'Ben Jonson,' by John Palmer (Viking; $3.50). It's a learned, intelligent and well written biography of one of the most important, though none-too-well known, characters in dramatic history.

Ben Jonson's name these days means little to average drama lovers, his only play easily recalled being 'Volpone.' But there are those that class him above Shakespeare, whose contemporary he was. At any rate, his life was a hectic one in a lively period.

Palmer not only knows his subject, but is an expert on drama in general. Although a member of Britain's diplomatic corps, he was at one time dramatic critic of the Saturday Review of Literature in London, and has written several other important books on drama and letters, his book on Moliere being especially outstanding.

Old Plot in New Book

The story of the boy who marries the wrong girl is not an especially new one, but George Tichenor manages to give it considerable solidity in 'Manhattan Prodigal' (Farrar & Rinehart; $2).

Mr. Tichenor's novel falls into an unfortunate class. It is too well written to be classed with ordinary light fiction, but still doesn't manage to convince as a really important tome. The chief male character is too sappy, and the book's ending is too patently manufactured for good taste purposes to put the tome over.

Going Places

By Cecelia Ager

A New Mouth

The pendulum swings and Joan Crawford's mouth in 'Sadie McKee' pales to a faint blush on her earnest, ambitious, humorless and very handsome face.

Even when she's married to a millionaire her mouth now stays a plausible mouth. If, as a waitress, Miss Crawford does not quite ring the bell, nobody really wants to see her as a waitress. Better far that her hair zooms out from under her serving cap in a shorn wavy mass, that her fine white organdy collar is round, wide and youthful, her gauntlet cuffs smart rather than conventional uniform. That, in short, she looks like one of those pretty, pert, and most unworkmanlike maids who always used to play the second lead in musical comedy. Better far, because Miss Crawford's audience agrees with the actor in the picture who loo~ at her, then bellows 'What a thoroughbred.'

But, secretly, Miss Crawford's audience is impatient for her to rise out of her waitress disguise, is on tenterhooks to see what style suggestions she's going to release this time, knows from past experience that Miss Crawford never remains a working girl for long. She may start out humbly—to establish that spiritual kinship with her audience, but she always finishes in a blaze of glitter, polished floors, sequins, satin, fine furs and new ways to part her hair.

Apex of Miss Crawford's sartorial achievements in 'Sadie McKee' is a pleated ruff collar, just like Queen Elizabeth's, made of mink. It tops a Henry the Eighth loose hanging cloth coat banded down its casual wide opening with mink. But, should such magnificence be beyond the reach of her followers, Miss Crawford offers them something else, quite as original, within their grasp—stiff round black velvet bracelets, to match the black velvet rope necklace she wears at the throat of her heavy white silk dinner jumper. The black cord idea she repeats in a white pique suit, catching the loose cord that descends down the front of the coat into stylized scrolls with black clips. She parts her long bobbed hair far over to the side in front, bringing the part diagonally to the crown of her head on top. Her stiff white taffeta pajamas, with black and white striped revers, stem from Persian costume. Her hats, unlike pictures' ideas of hats today, are conservative, very.

Jean Dixon makes her every line register, Zelda Sears, too. Esther Ralston admires the Mae West approach, displays an excellent figure, courageously sings some songs.

Remember the Flaps

In 'Murder in Trinidad' Heather Angel has grown to look as lovely as her name. She's done it with her little make-up kit. How to soften the point of her nose, how to widen her eyes, how to coax that old tease of a camera to reveal her as pretty as she really is.

Next, Miss Angel's going to learn how to wear clothes. How not to look so uncompromisingly English in her hats, how to say 'No' when the wardrobe wants to put her in a stuffy travelling suit with great big buttons, how to pull the skirt of her white tropics costume up to her waistline instead of permitting it to sulk dowdily just below.

The only woman in 'Murder in Trinidad,' it is not altogether cricket of Miss Angel to give the women in the audience absolutely nothing to stir their style-hungry hearts. The matrons may be content just with her sweet face; the flaps, however, demand flair with their sweetness, if they're to take it at all. Miss Angel must consider the flaps. One does, in America.

In the Tradition

It is the tradition amongst horror pictures never to engage a leading lady of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity, never to write into her part any intellectual tendencies which might provoke her into becoming a candidate. 'The Black Cat' is a slave to tradition.

Miss Jacqueline Wells is as pretty as any horror picture could wish, as helpless and as resourceless. The script has seen to it well. She's allowed to speak in a sweet little voice, she's given a nice satin and lace nightgown, and a fluttery chiffon negligee, to do her sleep walking in, she's asked to stare terrified once in a while, to scream now and then, and not to weigh too much when it's necessary for people to carry her about in their arms when she's collapsed. Miss Wells meets all these requirements satisfactorily, and thus nobody can deny that she's an actress in pictures.

Miss Lucille Lund's assignment parallels Miss Wells', save that Miss Lund is asked to walk about with her blonde long hair streaming down her back, sort of Ophelia-like, whereas Miss Wells' short brunette hair is only supposed to be provocative tumbled on a pillow. Both Miss Wells and Miss Lund wear, for the demoniacal rites in the picture's eerie castle, Grecian virgin's white dresses made with Hollywood puffed sleeves and gold braid.

Full of Ideas

Young women who aspire to a vaude career, any kind, and beset, as a consequence, with the eternal femme problem of what to wear for it, may do well to hie themselves to the Palace this week. They'll find a whole five-act bill full of neat solutions.

Perhaps they long to be the lady who sings with a band. Well then, let them look at Frances Stevens, she who sings with Smith Ballew's orchestra. She strolls forth from the wings, confident in the chic of her red and white broad-striped gown wrapped diagonally about her figure, arrives at the mike certain that her soft, center-parted coiffure clinches the fact that she's the 'interesting' type. Do they still doubt it? They won't after they see her in her lipstick red satin empire frock, with its high waistline, deep wide V-shaped decolletage, sense its disarming simplicity.

Or perhaps they'd rather be a toe tap dancer like Edith Barstow. Let them think then about a white sports dress with sailor collar and yachting cap for their entrance, a brief skirt of black lace topped with a caped salmon satin bodice, and remember particularly black net stockings must go with it—for their important number. Contrast, thus, and daintiness. Daintiness and femininity in costuming go a long way to overcome the well-muscled legs that toe taps entail.

But it's possibly they yearn to be a lady stooge. There's Margot Crangle to show them how with a maximum of dignity: Suntan makeup flatters plantinum blonde hair, and a white pleated flounced gown becomes suntan makeup. And a graceful walk and easy stance goes a long way in changing a lady stooge to a lady assistant.

If they've a gift for acrobatics and enjoy supporting lots of people on their shoulders, the girls of the Honey Family suggest salmon satin, sequin-bound short skirts, with little cape boleros to sort of cushion their shoulders when those lots of people are standing on them. Tumbling usually fills out the dull moments, therefore the Misses Honey keep their hair tidy under close-fitting satin helmets strapped under their chins like baby caps.

Four costume ideas out of five acts—that's 100% at the Palace.

Sans Hotcha

Fred Waring decorates his stage band entertainment at the Capitol with three very young, very fresh, very blithe young ladies, who have a lot of poise and a lot of clothes. They are also granted an opportunity to prove whether or no they have a lot of talent.

Miss Babs Ryan has the most clothes. She puts on a new dress for every number, and very appropriately, each one of them looks like a nice young girl's best dress. They are all high waisted, long-leggy, neatly pressed, and do all any well-behaved dresses could to bring out the naive allure of youth.

The Lane Sisters, who mix a bit of dancing with their harmonies, wear white mat crepe spectator sports costumes with printed silk Pierrot collars, matching colored belts, and white small hats, white oxfords, and white gauntlet gloves. Their straight skirts are slit no more than just a little way, the better for the sisters to dance, my dears. Comes 'Carioca' and finale time, and all three girls appear costumed alike in different colors, the model they've so wisely agreed upon is a princesse affair with cowl front and back, and long sleeves contrived to leave young shoulders fetchingly bare. Not once does any one of these admirable young women turn hot-cha nor yield, if they've got one, to a yearning for snake-hips.

Life of the Party

(Continued from page 1)

teams, and singles and team dancers.

An illustration is the entertainment layout at Totem Lodge in the Adirondacks, one of the original 'life of the party' resorts. Staff will include Wee Willie Robyn of the Roxy Gang, Edith Herlich of the Metropolitan Opera company, Reece and Coles and Del Twins, dance teams; Irving Ross, juvenile; Muriel Ilis, blues singer; Edith Lowe, soubret; Thelma Goodwin, soprano, Hal Abbott, dancer; Charles (Monahan) Goldstein and Eugene Baylos, comedians; Muriel Schey, singer, and an 11-piece Henry Tobias orchestra. Tobias, a songwriter and producer of standing, has been handling the Totem shows for several years and has made an important spot of it.

Largest individual booker of resorts is Mike Hammer, formerly the WMCA artist bureau head. Al Raymond (Raymond and Caverly) is associated with him. Hammer is booking about 300 spots in the east.

All of the other resorts and most of the other places pay the life of the party entertainers salaries besides room and board for the 10 weeks' season, but there are places that promote amusement on the cuff. Regular resort bookers are yelling murder about the free talent racket.

Some spots preferring the gratis method engage a social director and an orchestra on salary, but nothing more. The m. c. is obliged to bring up his 'friends' for weekends. The 'friends' don't get paid, but they do get free feed and air. Resort proprietors with a conscience sometimes toss in a loving cup that costs about $3.50.

For resorts that are willing to pay, such as Totem Lodge and others, standard acts and established professional performers of all grades are available. At least 50% of the 10,000 people expected to go to work at the resorts this summer are professionals, many of them well knowns of vaudeville. They rate from $500 to $1,000 a season, in addition to room and board, in some instances.

By the Sea

Another 'first' for the 'life of the party' biz is that the field is spreading to formerly untouched spots this summer. Such seaside vacation places as Atlantic City and Asbury Park are going in for social staffs for the first time, and putting it on heavy amidst a lot of competition. Up till now the social stuff was confined to the mountains and other inland resorts.

Considerable increase in legit stock royalty fees and film rentals is also expected this year. Numerous resorts will maintain large dramatic stock companies. As for the film angle, that is growing rapidly. Last summer half a dozen of the larger places installed sound equipment, and the talkers went over big with the guests. As a result about 50 other spots are following suit, having been wired for sound over the winter.

The ocean cruise entertainment business is expected to be big again this summer. Cunard and other major lines are once more contemplating seven and eight-act bills for their boats.

Like the cruise thing before and since repeal, the booze thing figures as a new source of extra revenue for the resorts from cocktail dansants, etc., now that it's legal.

MARRIAGES

Dorothy March to Hobart Henley, in Los Angeles, May 18. Groom is a Coast director.

Elizabeth Young to Joseph Mankiewicz, in Beverly Hills, Cal., May 20.

Edith Spiegel will wed Ed Solig, film statistician for Fox-West Coast theatres in Los Angeles, June 2. Bride is non-profesh.

Elizabeth Young, actress, to Joseph Mankiewicz, scenarist at Fox, Sunday (20) in Beverly Hills.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kosman, daughter, in New York, May 20. Mother is Narita, dancer formerly with Loretta King Co. in vaude.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Shane, daughter, May 20, Los Angeles. Father is West Coast publicist.

Among the Women

By The Skirt

ressed Woman of the Week:
ADA WARD
(LOEW'S STATE)

idget Wi

Splendid entertainment the State is week and midget runs away with the show. She is Olive of Olive and George, with Buster Shaver. This tiny miss is a bundle of talent. Wearing a tailored suit of brick color with gardenia trimming and white hat, she follows wit a hotcha number in black short skirt and brassiere. A yellow satin evening wrap feather trimmed is worn over the same colored accordiar pleated frock. As Mae West she is all done up in black satin and whit feathers.

A irl with Arthur Le Fleur does contortions in fuchsia velvet overalls and blouse of same color chiffon. The tall dark girl with Sidne Marion wears a dark blue crepe gown made wit a bertha studded ir sequins. Very odd were the red velvet gloves worn although they matched the slippers. Ada Ward, with Cab Calloway, wore a lovely frock of a print with white background and green leaves springled thereon. The plainness of the gown accentuated the diamond brooch and gold bracelets. Another girl in the act did taps in purple velvet pants and lavender satin blouse.

Closing a Long Season

The Johnny Perkins unit is bringing a long road season to a close at the Metropolitan, rooklyn, this week. The costumes are none the worse for wear.

Perkins has a unique way of introducing his show. He sings what he would like to have if he owned a show and suggestions of what he would want appear behind a sparkling scrim. Then the show comes to life and proves a fast moving entertainment.

A solo singer is seen in a rose satin gown with ruffled hem. Three piano girls are in coral crepe with bluish feathers at the armholes. A line of girls from the well known Aristocrats are in henna tunics with white collars. They do their adagio number in long white satin gowns with blue velvet bows at the shoulders. The singer then wears a bluish grey gown with tiny silver sequin capelet. The girls are seen for another number in pink flooped dresses with a trimming of blue stencilling. The soloist's hooped dress had blue bows down the front and the pianists were in pink satin with blue ribbon trimmings. White feathers play an important part in a skating number. Done mostly in the dark, the radium in the costumes makes a pretty picture.

Beautiful irls

'Murder at the Vanities', at the Rivoli, is a fast moving picture. It is another back-stage musical and the wide screen is utilized for all the big numbers.

Kitty Carlisle has several beautiful costumes. An Empire gown was of a filmy material criss-crossed in silver stripes. A high poke bonnet carried several tall plumes. A long white fox scarf was worn with a gown of solid silver sequins. A white satin gown had no trimming but was beautifully modeled with very low back. The girls were for the most part nude, and more gorgeous girls have never been seen on the screen. Very nearly every star in pictures has a double in this picture. One is the image of Jeanette MacDonald, another like Claudette Colbert, and yet another very like Ruth Etting. One number had the girls in stunning outfits, silver knee length blouses were worn with black skirts and coats. Gertrude Michael does a number in a black taffeta dress with white cutins.

irley Temple Wins 'Em

'Little Miss Marker,' the picture at the Paramount, has that adorable baby, Shirley Temple, who has sprung up over night. Children as a rule are a bore but it will be long before this little miss is voted such. Depends what pictures do for her.

Film carries plenty of big names.

Dorothy Dell as a singer of hot songs in a night club has the lead. Her first appearance is sitting on top of a piano. The gown was of solid black jet. There was a suit of black velvet and ermine and another suit with two bands of mink across the front. Silver foxes were worn with another street outfit. A velvet evening wrap was also trimmed with silver fox. There was a print frock and an evening gown consisting of a black Russian blouse type had a white skirt. A wrap was made entirely of black and white feathers. A house gown was monk-like in fashion with buttons and cord.

The white meline frock was made with full skirt and bodice cut high at the neck with a full frill. Silver sequins in bands decorated the skirt. A simple tailored suit had a black and white frill at the throat.

Dave Apollon occupies the stage with plenty of entertainers. The line of girls were in white dresses made full and ankle length. The sleeves were of diamonds. Platinum were the wigs banded with black. Eight of the taller girls were in silver sequin frocks made with black net godets at the knees. Collars were of straight feathers and large black satin sailors were worn. The girls finished off with silver tunics and blue capelets.

One line were in diamond studded pants with matching brassieres. Blue feathers were at the back with caps trimmed likewise.

Danzi Goodell did her well known taps in an emerald green satin two-piece suit with white revers. Slippers and hat were of the green. Nora Williams, another of Al Siegal's finds, was in a satin print dinner gown. The girl of Diffen and Draper did a doll dance in a pale blue dress.

ystery

A mystery play has come to the Masque theatre. Those who like this sort of entertainment should hurry and see it because it may not be there long. It has the fantastic name of 'Invitation to a Murder'.

A splendid cast is the play's strongest asset. Gale Sondergaad, a stately brunette, wears a gown of black with red velvet band at the throat and edging the low back. Her hair is dressed with a coronet braid and huge black earrings give her height. The remainder of the evening she trails about in a flowing grey satin gown.

Daphne Warren Wilson, a very pretty miss, wears first a turquoise chiffon dinner dress cascaded at the back. She is then in black with a glimpse of a bathrobe of a fuchsia shade. Jane Seymour is seen in two tailored frocks, one blue the other black.

in Dressi

At the Strand this week is a picture called 'He Was Her Man' with James Cagney. Joan Blondell has an unsympathetic role. Never once does she smile and her eyes seem to grow bigger and bigger. As a stray she wears but a simple black dress with a lacy fluting around the neck. There is a cheap little coat with a belt. A plain white satin wedding dress is shown for the finale.

Lillian Roth, in a Vitaphone short, appears first in a mink coat and a tan cloth freck made with a scarf trimmed with mink tails. A laundry number finds her in a bungalow apron of plain material with colored collars and cuffs. A dark tailored suit and an open neck shirtwaist. Girls of the ensemble were in satin shorts and then in satin dresses with lace fronts and low backs.

East

Eddie Peabody goes out of the Hollywood restaurant May 26.

Suit filed in Supreme Court Thursday (17) by Hotel Brevoort, Longchamps restaurant and the Fifth Avenue hotel to restrain police from interfering with sidewalk cafes on lower Fifth avenue.

Binnie Barnes, English film actress, now in Hollywood under contract to Universal. She will be featured in 'There's Always Tomorrow.'

V. A. Ustevich, Soviet film chief, in the U. S. for a stay, declares that the Soviet plans to produce 100 films this year.

Robert Sinclair will boss 'Snatch As Snatch Can,' by Laurence Schwab and Richard MacAuley, for Mr. Schwab.

'One Hour,' by Denis Donoghue, and announced for this spring by Allen Productions, has been postponed until fall.

Philip Loeb will supervise a revue, tentatively called 'Split Seconds,' for the Shuberts next Autumn.

Annual get-together of Chorus Equity will be held at Equity headquarters June 4.

Michael Farmer said he would not oppose Gloria Swanson's divorce action and would give her custody of their child, in statement issued from Paris. Farmer declared he had been misquoted in report saying he would press a bigamy charge against Miss Swanson if she attempted to divorce him.

Robert Ross and Otis C. Taylor jointly operating the Beach theatre, West Falmouth, Mass., this summer for a nine-week season, July 4.

Murray Rumshinsky, Fred Coots, Sam Pokrass and Milton Berle collaborating on a musical called 'Stop Thief!' which Ben Stein will give a tryout this summer.

Roger Wolfe Kahn will supply music at the Claremont Inn, Riverside drive, when that spot reopens May 28.

Mae Murray, suing Tiffany Pictures, testified in Supreme Court Thursday (17). She is seeking an accounting and $300,000 which she claims due her as share in profits of eight pictures she made for firm during period between 1921 and 1924. She admitted signing a release for $12,000 in 1924 believing that was all due her and in 1930 learned that profits realized on the pictures exceeded $1,000,000. Suit started in 1930.

Claire Booth Brokaw, writer, announced as a new member of the motion picture Code Authority at Washington. Miss Brokaw is also on the Legitimate Theatre Code board.

Werner Krueger and Bernice Leonard, midgets, arrived in New York from Germany. They will appear at the Midget Village at the World's Fair, Chicago.

Ella Baker and Rose Bernle, sisters of Ben Bernie and Phil Baker, will produce summer stock at Harrison, N. Y.

Strike call issued by Theatre and Amusement Employe's Union Local 118 Thursday (17), for which an expected 2,000 ushers were to respond, was reported a fizzle by C. C. Moskowitz, Loew executive. A joint statement for RKO and Loew denied the walkout, stating only 53 employes from six theatres had gone on strike.

Joe Daniels will stage productions this summer at the Schroon Manor Country Club, Schroon Lake, N. Y.

Joyce Carey rejoining Katharine Cornell's company after a season in England.

Worker's Newsreel Repertory theatre opened Sunday (20) under auspices of National Film and Photo League.

Gavin Muir and Douglas Gilmore suspended for six months by Equity on charges preferred by Wee & Leventhal. Muir was fined an additional $100 and Gilmore penalized two weeks' salary.

Ann Pennington will have one of top spots in revival of 'The Black Crook' at People's Theatre on the Bowery.

Theodore Viehman has departed for Chicago, where he will direct a series of English dramas at World's Fair.

'Ah, Wilderness!' ill end its run at Guild theatre June 2. Begins road tour Sept. 28. 'Shining Hour' closing May 26. Cast will sail for London immediately to open there in August.

Clark Ross has taken 'The Ghost of the Danube,' musical. Book written by John Trevor, music and lyrics by Carlo and Sanders. Production planned for fall.

Brian Aherne left for Hollywood Wednesday (16) to appear opposite Ann Harding in 'The Fountain' (Radio).

Barre Hill, baritone, formerly with Chicago Opera, signed to sing this summer with Municipal Opera, St. Louis.

Ronald Hammond engaged by Max Liebman to direct tryouts for summer season of Tamiment theatre, Tamiment, Pa.

Constance Talmadge and Peggy Joyce figuring in trial of Joseph Harriman, former head of defunct Harriman Bank. Louis Klein, cashier, testified that false charges were entered against accounts of the actresses.

Mae Murray took a sock at Bertram A. Mayers, Tiffany's lawyer, in Supreme Court after losing her suit against Tiffany for accounting of $300,000 supposedly due her.

House of Representatives approved bill permitting newspapers to publish winners and prizes in lotteries held by churches and like organizations. It now goes to the Senate.

Mlle. Edith Mera, French actress, attempted suicide in Paris. In critical condition from overdose of sleeping potion and effects of gas inhalation.

Claremont Inn, on city property on Riverside Drive, will reopen this week with trimmed prices. Inn will be operated by Arnold Schleifer, but instead of lease previously granted, city will get a cut of gross receipts.

N. Y. State Public Service Commission and Yonkers Electric Light and Power Co. rebuked by Dr. Amos O. Squire, medical examiner of Westchester county, on investigation of explosion which wrecked front of Proctor's theatre, Yonkers, last winter and killed three men.

Benefit for Bertha Kalich being planned for 44th Street theatre June 10.

Arthur Hanna and James Neilson will open a summer season of eight weeks late in June at the Red Barn theatre, Locust Valley, L. I.

'Mary Sargent ('No More Ladies') left cast for two weeks' vacation in Bermuda.

Emil K. Ellis, counsel for Edwina Booth in her $1,000,000 suit against Metro, requested Supreme Court Justice Collins to grant an early trial. Ellis stated that his client is a helpless invalid and that there is no hope for recovery unless she wins a judgment which will provide her with funds to go to London where she may enter a clinic that specializes in tropical diseases, such as is claimed she contracted while making 'Trader Horn' in Africa for M-G.

Shuberts planning a revue for Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition.

New York Grand Opera Company has abandoned production at the Academy of Music, Philadelphia. Musicians and chorus refused to go on unless paid in advance. Chicago Grand Opera Company also suspended its scheduled appearance at Metropolitan Opera House, Philadelphia, May 5, owing to a writ of attachment filed against its assets by an employee.

Lillian Ellis, Danish actress, arrived in New York Tuesday (15) enroute to Hollywood.

Russell Makert appointed associate producer at R. C. Music Hall. He will produce stage shows there next month in absence of Leon Leonidoff, who sailed for Europe Thursday (17).

James J. Brennan elected president of Theatrical Protective Union No. 1, local stagehands' organization.

Gladys George left cast of 'The Milky Way' yesterday (Monday) to go to Hollywood. She is under contract to Metro.

Gilbert and Sullivan revivals at the Majestic, N. Y., will terminate May 26. Troupe's next jump Boston for four weeks at the Shubert.

Wee & Leventhal have deferred proposed road tour of 'Her Master's Voice,' which was to open in Buffalo May 25.

Pauline Frederick in town to discuss arrangements with Wee & Leventhal concerning her Broadway appearance in 'Her Majesty, the Widow.' On tour with play for almost a year, and scheduled to open in New York June 11.

Noel Meadow, former p.a. for Wee & Leventhal, has taken Pincus W. Teil's 'Minute Man' for fall production.

Frank Merlin has renewed his option on 'Awake and Sing,' by Clifford Odets. Plans to produce next season.

German cabinet has passed a law which consolidates control by Dr. Paul J. Goebbels, minister of propaganda, over all theatres. Law empowers the minister not only to suppress production but close theatres, dismiss managers and prescribe productions which he thinks advisable.

Empire State building will have an open-air 'sidewalk' cafe on its 21st story set-back. Opens June 1.

WOR announced Tuesday (15) that the Federal Radio Commission had granted station permission to erect a 50,000-watt transmitter at Carteret, N. J. Project expected to be completed in October.

Bill creating a new commission to control radio, telephone and telegraph passed by Senate Tuesday (15). An amendment requiring 25% of all broadcasts be allotted to educational and non-profit making associations was defeated in a vote. Bill provides for commission of five members appointed by the President with Senate approval. Powers now held by Radio Commission are transferred to new commission. New commission starts regulating radio advertising July 1.

Georges Charlot, French dancer, shot himself in a suicide attempt at the villa of the Countess de la Forceri, formerly Mabel Boll in Paris.

Joseph Ornato, head of Coliseum Productions, has leased theatres in Westchester, New Jersey and Long Island for summer productions.

Clare Tree Major ended her 10th season at Pawtucket, R. I. She has had three children's theatre companies playing throughout the U. S. and Canada.

Leo Bulgakov has left New York for the Coast to direct for Columbia.

Philip Moeller of the Theatre Guild departed for Hollywood to assume directorial duties at Radio.

John Henry, English radio comedian, whose real name was Norman Clapham, found dead in his apartment in London Monday (14). Suicide by keeping his head in an oven with gas turned on. Death attributed to recent marital troubles.

Earle L. Lewis, treasurer of Metropolitan Opera Association, announces renewals of subscriptions coming in steadily. Campaign for new subscriptions will start June 4.

Theatre Benefit Association, new group designed to protect actors from participating in irregular or spurious benefit shows, held their election at Actor's Fund headquarters Monday (14). Sam Scribner will head organization.

'Green Pastures' will start its third and final tour of the U. S. and Canada in the fall. At end of tour next March it will return to New York for another engagement.

Closing hours for New York dancehalls extended from 3 to 4 a.m.

Park Commissioner Moses in rejecting the proposed reduced price list for Central Park Casino, said they must take another slashing. He was presented with a sample menu. Dinner was reduced from $4 to $3 and slicing of 10% on a la carte top prices. Commissioner seeks a $2 top.

Adele Gutman Nathan, director of the Cellar Players, will stage 'A Century on Parade' at the Rochester Fair this summer.

State ABC Board began investigation Thursday (17), of hotels and restaurants to determine if bars dominate the premises. Board will disapprove only of places with old saloon atmosphere.

Stanley Walker, city editor of the Herald Tribune, elected president of the New York City News Association.

Marian Marsh, screen actress, and Lita Joyzelle, dancer, arrived from Europe.

Robert Grob-Milo, known in vaudeville as Milo, arrested in Syracuse Thursday (17). His detention was in connection with suit filed by his wife in Supreme Court in New York City to collect $33,750 in back alimony.

Florence Reed engaged by Raymond Moore to play the lead in 'Her Master's Voice,' at Dennis, Mass., July 23.

A. J. Edwards will stage summer productions at Sea Cliff theatre, Sea Cliff, N. J. Leslie Denison will play lead in all offerings.

Alida May Cole, performer with Gorman Bros. circus, playing Hamden, Conn., accidently shot in the head while participating in a sharpshooting act. She continued with act until finish and then collapsed. After treatment at hospital she returned to the evening show.

Harold Clurman, director of the Group Theatre sailed Saturday (19) for a six weeks' tour of Russia.

Actors with complaints against agents were invited to come directly to the Bureau of Licenses by Commissioner Paul Moss in speech Friday (18) at the monthly meeting of the Catholic Actor's Guild, in Astor Hotel.

Bettina Hall reported the theft of a $350 watch from her hotel in Philadelphia.

Drama Repertoise Players have engaged Dmitri Ostrov to direct their season at Matoaka Manor theatre, Saugerties, N. Y.

Glen Island Casino open May 24.

Because of the withdrawal of the Metropolitan Opera from Philadelphia, the Philadelphia orchestra will give 30 performances of opera in 10 weeks in addition to 20 symphony concerts.

Pennsylvania (hotel) Roof opens June 4 with Don Bestor band.

Paramount Publix Corp., denied request by Appellate Division of the Supreme Court at Albany, Friday (18) to go to the Court of Appeals by its motion for dismissal of a $150,000 libel suit arising from the dramatization of the Gillette murder case. Decision a victory for Mrs. Minerva Brown, mother of young school teacher murdered by Gillette. Suit concerns the picture 'An American Tragedy.'

Robert Sharpe, scenic designer, died of a skull fracture at Bellvue hospital, May 14. His brothers, H. H. Sharpe and W. Fraser Sharpe, have requested the police to investigate the causes of death. He was found unconscious May 11 in the washroom of a subway with his skull fractured and supposedly suffering from alcoholism. He was removed to Bellvue hospital for treatment and refused to make a statement to detectives.

Brass rails unveiled at midnight Sunday. Now legal to lean against the mahogany.

Percy Crosby, 'Skippy's' pappy, invited to exhibit his more serious work in Paris, London and Rome.

'Hedda Gabler' scheduled for Broadway in June. Sponsored by Joseph Gleger. Giovana Borges, Italian, will have name part.

'Shoestring,' frequently on and off the fire, will be given a summer tryout. B. S. Kansler and Sidney Salkow are interested. Kansler will bring in Kandel's 'We Dress for Dinner' for Broadway showing before the regular season.

Hilton Edwards and Michael MacLiammoir, of the Dublin Gate theatre, to be interested in the Woodstock summer theatre near Chicago. Each will participate in an untried play. Back to Dublin for the regular season.

William A. Brady has started rehearsals of 'While Parents Sleep,' which he originally planned for fall production.

Lee Ellmore has acquired the rights to Novello's 'Fresh Fields' and may try it in Chicago during the Fair. To Broadway in the fall if it lasts.

Government to permit sale of liquor in National parks where there is compliance with state laws. But no bars.

Westchester Center pulled 8,000 to its three-day music festival last week. In the red, but not as deep as anticipated.

Sam Harris after the stage rights to the Nijinsky biog. Wants Muni for the dancer.

Group Players must stick to Broadway for 'Men in White,' so they'll do their summer training at the Woodhurst.

Mrs. Louise Rice Barry, showgirl, suing Dave Kunin for $20,000 damages for loss of sight of right eye during an alleged attack in a hotel. Recites that she was guest at a hotel of which Kunin was engineer. Too ill to appear when Kunin was heard in police court, and her lawyer too busy to appear for her, so Kunin was discharged.

H. R. Lenormand, French playright, arrived from Europe today (Tuesday).

Commencement exercises for students of the Studio for the Theatre were held yesterday (Monday), at the McDowell Theatre. Daniel Frohman and Bide Dudley addressed the assemblage.

Maude Adams will appear this season at Walter Hartwig's summer theatre at Ogonquit, Me. Miss Adams will play in 'Twelvth Night.'

Betty Randolph went into Supreme Court yesterday (Monday), in an attempt to have Paul Swinehart jugged for failure to pay $35 a week alimony.

Coast

Virginia Pine, heiress and picture actress, back to the Coast from New York and to the Cedars of Lebanon for observation.

Gloria Swanson has filed suit for divorce in Los Angeles from Michael Farmer.

Mrs. Ruth Shobe, wife of the producer of 'The Drunkard' in Los Angeles, injured in an auto accident.

Beverly Granger, 27, actress, sentenced to serve 10 months in Los Angeles county jail after she pleaded guilty to charge of assault with a deadly weapon for shooting and wounding Earl C. Courtois, nonprofesh.

Believed to have been the burglar who pillaged Jackie Coogan's ranch near San Diego, Cal., Francis Sayre, ex-marine, sentenced to San Quentin for robbery.

W. C. Fields is reported backing Art Martel, former Hollywood matchmaker, in building a boxing stadium in north Hollywood.

Angela Joyce, British actress, who recently filed a $518,000 breach of promise suit against Lord Revelstoke in England, has left the Coast for London to await hearing of the suit.

Loule G. Tomei, race driver, sentenced to six months in county jail for assaulting John Bennus, press photog, at the funeral of Ernie Triplett. Babe Sapp, who pleaded guilty to charges of assaulting James Lee, reporter, was fined $100.

Marjorie Cranford Wellman, despite her recent marriage to Danny Dowling, must appear in court against him as the complaining witness in a complaint which she caused to be filed a month ago charging him with kidnapping.

Having obtained two divorces from C. H. Over, film broker, Betty Boyd, actress, has asked in L. A. Superior Court that the first one be set aside. First was obtained in 1932 and the second in Mexico. Wants the first one voided because she claims second one was illegal, as it was obtained before first was okayed.

Nadine Dore, pictures actress, divorced in L. A. from Chester G. Miller.

Judgments totaling $3,065 were obtained in L. A. in the damage suit of Mrs. Pearl Wynn Borzage and her husband, Lewis Borzage, against Mrs. Florence Carlson, whose auto and that of the Borzage's collided.

Karl Dane, who ended his life in Los Angeles last April, left an estate valued at $225, according to petition of administration filed.

Walter S. Lawrence, writer, has filed suit against Fox in Los Angeles seeking $1,500,000 for asserted infringement of copyright. Claims parts of his book, 'The Marathon Dancer,' used in 'Sailor's Luck.'

Louis R. Loeffler, film editor, divorced in Los Angeles from Iolanda Loeffler.

Joan Crawford and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., free last week to remarry when their divorce decree became final.

As a result of injuries suffered by Louise E. Dodds, picture actress, in the apartment of Warren Hymer in Hollywood, she is suing the actor for $30,100 for alleged battery.

Cecil M. Harrison, 42, Hollywood publicity man, arrested on charges of bilking Pauline Peck, Memphis, Tenn., of $125 on promises of obtaining a studio test for her.

William Cameron Menzies arrested in Hollywood on charges of driving an auto while intoxicated.

Cecil B. DeMille has cabled acceptance as a member of the jury of the International Film Festival in Vienna. Ernst Lubitsch is prez of the jury.

Charging her husband with forcing her to move 20 times in their 22 months of marriage, Jeanne Borlini Brown has filed suit for divorce from Nacio Herb Sorwn in Los Angeles. Brown has often figured in the courts in alimony proceedings brought by his former wife, Ruby Porter Brown.

Eleanor Adler has filed suit in Los Angeles for divorce from Felix Adler, scenarist.

Rosalka Dolly and Irving Netcher, her hubby, stopped in Hollywood, enroute from Paris to Hawaii.

MGM celebrated its 10th anniversary last week. Since Louis B. Mayer, Metro and Goldwyn studios consolidated, the plant has turned out 676 films. First was 'He Who Gets Slapped,' with Norma Shearer, John Gilbert and Lon Chaney.

Russell W. Nighswander, 44, studio scenic artist, committed suicide in Los Angeles May 16.

Superior Judge McComb approved Mascot contracts with Lu Anne Meredith, Judith Allen and Dorothy Drake, Wampas baby stars.

Lila Gora, Russian pic actress, awarded $265 for being bitten by a police dog in Los Angeles.

Superior Judge Westover, in Los Angeles, refused to increase from $250 to $1,000 monthly support money paid by Carey A. Wilson to his former wife, Nancy Wilson, for their two children. Wilson recently wed Carmelita Geraghty.

Edward Codona, Jr., member of theh acrobatic family, is demanding $200,000 damages from the Don Lee Broadcasting System and Rio Grande Oil Co., in Los Angeles over a radio program which allegedly cost him his job as a Long Beach policeman.

News From the Dailies

This department contains rewritten theatrical news items as published during the week in the daily papers of New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Hollywood and London. Variety takes no credit for these news items; each has been rewritten from a daily paper.

New York Theatres

RKO THEATRES

86TH ST. AT LEXINGTON — Wed. to Fri. May 23 to 25 — "FINISHING SCHOOL" and "ALL MEN ARE ENEMIES"

81ST ST. ON BROADWAY — "FINISHING SCHOOL" and "WHIRLPOOL"

LOEW'S STATE B'WAY at 45TH — 25¢ MON. to FRI. 10 A.M. to NOON — On the Screen Clark Gable — William Powell, Myrna Loy "Manhattan Melodrama" — On the Stage — Cab Calloway & Orch. — Others

CAPITOL B'WAY at 51ST ST. — On Screen — JOAN CRAWFORD FRANCHOT TONE in "SADIE McKEE" — On Stage — FRED WARING and His Pennsylvanians

CHATTER

Broadway

Nat Carson to Europe.

Frank Garlasco minus appendix.

Silver Dollar eaterie now L's into 46th street.

Spirits Club formed to curb bootlegging.

Celeste Fox on the Norman D. Waters staff.

Larry Daniels is reducing to ifey Helene's size.

Doc. Si Trein is back on Broadway with new office.

Leon Sprachner still at home suffering from arthritis.

Marty Forkins hit five winners at Belmont last week.

Bernie MacDonald, the scenery builder, in better health.

John (WB) Monihan is on a vacation. He couldn't wait.

Bill Raynor and the missus are automobiling to the Coast.

Charles Carlisle's bridge-game comedy something to duck.

Maurice De Vries afflicted with glaucoma, an eye infection.

Nate Leipzig dishing his card tricks on the St. Moritz roof.

Frank Corbett, Arthur Fisher's booker, driving to Coast for vacash.

Won't be long now before H. B. Franklin begins his summer yachting.

No successor will be chosen to Hy Daab at the Warner advertising office.

Luise Squire (Lang and Squire) into the Fifth avenue hosp for an op.

Peg Mahoney, Par toiler, is down with the grippe at her Yonkers, N. Y., home.

S. Charles Einfeld is somewhat avoirdupoisless as compared to past performances.

Benny Burke's dialect improving now that Dave Apollon is in town, and vice versa.

Open air addition to Leon and Eddie's called 'April in Paris,' meaning it's Frenchy.

George McElroy, formerly in Cort box office, in St. Luke's hospital under treatment for ulcers.

Harold Tillotson, formerly of Publix, has gone into the radio field on the managerial end.

In his haste to make a departing train, Jack McInerney slipped and scratched his face a bit.

Jim Furman, by special dispensation, is getting a month's vacation from Loew's to visit Europe.

Genevieve Tobin sailed Saturday (19) for a vacation in London and Paris, to be gone eight weeks.

That well dressed guy with the shirtfront that lights up is back again. Advertising whiskey now.

Monte Proser and Marc Lachman now associated with Donahue & Coe as affiliated publicity experts.

New Cafe de la Paix outdoor directory at the St. Moritz takes on 10% of the check for service in lieu of tipping.

Helen Kane follows Rudy Vallee into the Hollywood restaurant. Marc Lachmann arranged the Kane Hollywood booking.

Herman Timberg's boy, Herbert, got into for a picture career and changed his name to Herbert Wallis —but it looks like the old man has clowned him out of it.

Isaac Simon, motion picture operator, 2540 Mansfield place, Brooklyn, took the bankrupt way out with a petition to the Federal Court last week. Liabilities, $20,837, assets none.

Sid Skolsky back to Hollywood end of current week. Coast only made his tough beard tougher. Otherwise he feels as much at home around the Broadway spots as in the studios now.

In addressing the Advertising Club last week, Deems Taylor unfurled his operatic pennant and verbally waved it in favor of the RKO Center theatre (Radio City) as the home grounds for the Met group.

Budapest

By E. P. Jacobi

Sandor Incze to London.

Chaliapin here for one recital.

Maria Corda expected home on a visit.

Helge Rosswaenge at Opera House.

Margit Dayka to play lead in new Molnar comedy.

Melchior Lengyel here on flying visit from London.

Victor Varconi planning to settle in Hungary for good.

Bernardino Molinari conducting Philharmonic orchestra.

Ilona Titkos bargaining for ready-to-use week-end cottage.

Vienna Burgtheater company guest-playing here four nights.

Geza von Bolvary, picture director, bought estate near Budapest.

Very warm spring, six weeks ahead of time, killed all show biz.

Gigli giving one high-priced opera performance at Municipal Theatre.

'Rasputin' passed by censor board after being vetoed three times previously.

Istvan Somlo, young actor who scored big success in 'Men in White,' a Hollywood candidate.

Annual Industrial Fair brought plenty foreign visitors, but too hot to be of much use to theatres.

Francy Gaal to marry Alexander Dajkovich, barrister, as soon as she has finished work in 'Spring Parade.'

Sidney Kingsley had a very good time in Budapest and was pleased with first European performance of 'Men in White' at Vigszinhaz.

'Purple Acacias' in pre-war setting, and 'New Relative'—both based on popular novels—to go on the screen immediately. Shooting of both starts on the same day at Hunnia second half of this month.

Out of 427 motion picture theatre licenses granted in Hungary, 200 are not used. Meaning that 200 persons in possession of much-coveted licenses don't consider it worth while to even open a theatre.

As a retort to Vigszinhaz', dramatic company's projected summer show in the largest Budapest circus, another circus is planning a parody on that theatre's hit. It's to be called 'Men in White in the Ring.'

Vienna

Raimund theatre closing May 15. Reinhardt ensemble off to Milan.

Robert Stolz setting 'Girl of Tahiti' comedy to music.

Stadt theatre and Kammerspiele theatre dark since May 1.

Author-critic Hans Lebstoeckl (62) dies after prolonged illness.

Lene Marenbach of Stadt Theater in Zurich contracted for Reinhardt's.

Viennese singing boys, 'Die Saengerknaben' touring France, Holland and Belgium.

Liane Haid replacing Rita George in 'Fairytale in Grand Hotel' at Theater an der Wien.

Ethel Lake participating at International dance competition here between May 27 and June 16.

Vienna Konzerthaus Company applying to state and municipality for subsidies and special tax reductions.

Werner Krauss invited to take part of minister in one of Ufa's next talking films, 'The Island,' by Howard Bratt.

Trude Schoop's dance performances great success. Will re-appear between next Budapest and Paris engagements.

First Viennese performance of William Shakespeare's 'Two Gentlemen of Verona' presented successfully by the Austrian Volksbuehne at the Scala theatre.

Bucharest

By Marie Lise Emili

'By Candlelight' (U) scoring.

Erna Letoni exhibiting her paintings.

Irene Dunne talkers in great demand.

'Dancing Lady' (MG) being talked about.

Rampa boosting 'Porgy' author, du Bose Heyward.

Pia Igy singing in aid of local Arc de Triomphe erection.

Ventura theatre dark, and likely to stay so over the summer.

National theatre reviving Shakespeare's 'Taming of the Shrew.'

Local States opera organizing first tour covering thirty Rumanian cities.

National Hymn, composed by Eduard Huebsch, celebrating 50th birthday.

Mme. Filloti starring as Lady Cheney. Praises for play and warnings to her not to over-act.

Regina Maria theatre planning production of J. B. Priestley's 'Laburnum Grove.'

'Cat in Sack' now in London under title of 'Happy Week-end,' frost in this country.

Interest in 'Rose Marie' operetta for local production. It as yet unperformed in Rumania.

Gilbert Miller considering London and New York production of Mashatescu's 'Titanic waltz.'

May 11 to 19 to marking 'book-lovers week.' New stunt to put the publishing trade back on its feet.

Mexico City

By D. L. Grahame

Cool. Long hot spell broken by terrific thunderstorms.

'Son of the Desert' (MG), current smash at Cine Balmori.

Nabe projectionist assaulted an amusement department inspector who told him the sound was punk. Jailed.

Eight persons were injured when male customers of a Pueblo City cinema rioted because picture exhibited wasn't as pink as had been advertised.

Proceeds of 10% tax on amusements, recently abolished as a nuisance, netted $50,000 which will be used to build a public school in Tampico.

Prospects that ace Spanish matadores will boycott local bull ring next season as result of row with management over collection of fees last year.

Talent for inauguration of National theatre, late this month, will be all-native. Mexican thespian organizations want inaugural show all for themselves.

Paris

Bob Stern

Carlisle MacDonald to America.

Irvin Marks back from London.

Jack Bushby opening new bar.

Vivian Fay held over in Rex stage show.

Paris stage managers holding annual union meeting.

'Comoedia,' trade daily, socking American musikers.

Mary McCormic weekend guest at American Country Club.

Mon Club, nitery, holding prize contest for prettiest love song.

Josephine Baker playing Rouen, where Jeanne d'Arc was burned.

Hildegarde and Bill Henley singing at American Legion smoker.

Three Sailors leaving Paris for command performance in London.

RKO deciding to send 'Little Women' to Venice film exposition.

Arc-en-Ciel, new film producing firm, announcing 'Lysistrata' as first pic.

Montazet's 'Mr. Providence' announced as next piece at the Athenee.

Marianne Oswald to sing at Falguiere after returning from Brussels.

New play H. , Lenormand announced July 1 by Vieux Colombier.

Gertrude Hoffmann girls signed for next Casina de Paris show, with Cecile Sorel.

English players opening May 21 at Albert I with 'Village Wooing' and 'Anthony and Anna.'

M. Marcus, editor new film encyclopedia, 'Cine-Essor', in French, German and English.

William Aguet, Francoise Rosay and Brigitte Helm to make French versions in Berlin for Ufa.

Mrs. George B. Hinman passing through on way from Switzerland to join Hinman in America.

Fly boats, little steamers which run on Seine, definitely abolished as part of economy program.

Henri Dikson opening new cabaret where Black Cat used to be, in Montmartre. Drinks 70 cents.

Louis Verneuil doing book of a musical, with tunes by Henri Casadesus and lyrics by Paul Colline.

Max Rivers Angels dancing in Paris for first time at Ritz gala dinner. Joan Warner also on bill.

Rene de Saint-Foman winning R. B. Strassburger prize for articles in French press on Roosevelt.

Georges Milton, comic, returning to his original role in 'White Horse Tavern' at Mogador. Dorval had replaced him.

Jean Pierre Liausu, local critic, comparing Kath Hepburn in 'Little Women' to Rejane, Sarah Bernhardt and Duse.

Gaston Baty closing 'Crime and Punishment' at the Montparnasse, and taking company to London for three weeks' season.

Henri Christine's operetta, 'Dede', old time Maurice Chevalier hit, to be revived at Bouffes Parisiens with Georgius in title role.

'End of the World,' French version of Ufa film on warfare in China, stretching, with some difficulty, to five weeks at the Miracles.

Roger Langeron, new prefect of police, seeing 'Taming of the Shrew' at the Comedie Francaise, with Albert Lambert and Mary Marquet.

Mary Garden now going to sing in Moscow, she tells Anglo-American Press Association. She was first femme luncheon guest in history of outfit.

Huguette Dany, forgetting passport as she crossed Swiss frontier to play in Geneva, getting by because frontier guard had seen her picture, 'Merry Widow.'

Saison de Paris, promotion outfit which has given dances at Ritz, Tabarin, Bagdad and other niteries, using historic Versailles chateau for its next bender.

Paluel-Marmont's 3-acter 'South', given for one matinee by the Escholier group at the Ambassadeurs, reported booked by Boulevard house for a regular run.

Rene Alexandre of Comedie Francaise, who played Coriolanus, making a lecture tour of the south to explain political demonstrations over the Shakespeare play.

Long list of French topnotchers to make all star film, 'Thousand Franc Note,' specially written for benefit of film press syndicate pension fund by Yves Mirande.

Robert Liebmann, who wrote 'Caravan,' which Fox is now making in Hollywood, and Louis Verneuil, collaborating on scenario, 'Hungarian Fantasy,' for City Films.

Minister of National Education, Aime Berthod, appointing committee, consisting largely of theatre managers, to work out details of scheme to award prize for best French operetta.

Local press boosting Pierre Fresnay, French actor specializing in Marseillaise parts, for taking over Noel Coward's part opposite Yvonne Printemps in 'Conversation Piece,' in London. Plays in English.

Everybody but the critics getting into press showing of 'Lac aux Dames,' film by Marc Allegret based on Vicki Baum's story, at Miracles. Tobis, producer, apologizing to newspapermen and offering to give them a new private showing.

Paul Morand, Sacha Guitry, Jacques Deval, Jean Giraudoux and other literati and showmen who live near Eiffel Tower squealing that the 1937 expo, which will be held there, will upset their habits. Advocates of fair suggest they go take a trip at that time.

Berlin

Fries A. G. opens new studios, mainly for synchronization of foreign pics.

Harry Piel is making his 100th film, which will be distributed by the N.D.L.S.

Brigitte Helm and Willy Fritsch are working at Ufa on 'Die Insel' (The Island).

Oscar Strauss' new operetta, 'A Woman Who Knows What She Wants,' to be screened, starring Lil Dagover.

Ettore Petrolini, Italian actor, in Berlin for the first time, will play one act plays by Pirandello, Moliere and others.

Emil Jannings' next role to be Friedrich Wilhelm I, who was known as 'Soldier Monarch' (Soldaten Konig').

Paul Hartmann, Burg theatre actor, will play the main role in Terra's historical pic, 'Johanna, the Black Rifleman.'

Fox-Radal Production is doing a second film featuring Louis Graveure, entitled 'Ein Walzer fur Dich' (A Waltz for You).

Johannes Riemann, who made his name as a comedy star, is directing for the first time for Aafa, with Lil Dagover in the star role.

'Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen' (Par), starring Dorothea Weick, at Berlin's largest first-show house in German synchronization.

Trudi Schoop, Zurich dancer who attained unusual success with her ballet ensemble in Berlin, touring Bucarest, Warsaw, Paris. Also will to go Tokjo to dance at Imperial theatre.

Micaela Busch of the famous circus family and Berlin's youngest manege-rider is making her first appearance as a partner of Victor de Kowa in the film, 'Pappl' (Daddy).

Terra Film's 'Taifun,' Melchior Lengyel's drama, starring Ikishinoff, prohibited since last year, has now been released by censors under condition that release abroad is not to follow. New title 'Police File 909.'

Montreal

Jessup's orch to Rialto Gardens.

Bill Shepherd marrying this month.

Capitol starting week Fridays for summer.

Gene Curtis' parents here from Rochester.

Bill Singleton's father dead Wednesday (16).

Dave Legate starts out with average ten a hole.

L. S. B. Shapiro writing special material for shows.

Allan Maurice Irwin back from a five-month world cruise.

Lucien Brown, Mail and Empire, to Philadelphia as publicity man.

Loew's out of vaude and drops admish to 50c. top on double feature.

Fred Revel, of British Empire, in town. No British pix here for some weeks.

Tommy Gorman mugged by local press on appointment as Forum manager.

Warner Bros. convention here end of May with all main stems featuring WB pix.

Jos. de Sevres adding one more house, National, to Imperial and St. Denis, which he is now handling.

Mount Royal starts installing cocktail bar with Windsor and Ritz to follow under law amendment permitting hotels to sell hard stuff.

The Hague

By M. W. Etty-Leal

Sophie Tucker here for a quickie.

Two cameramen of Fitzpatrick Pictures, Hollywood, here to take color-films of bulbfields near Haarlem.

At Central Cinema here a film with Asta Nielsen as heroine, Zola's 'Assommoir.' Reels with that actress were very popular here around 1910.

Spring fair at Zoo big success this year, drawing thousands daily, which is not so good for indoor entertainments, badly affecting cinema and legit.

Fritz Hirsch operetta feeling pinch of bad times; artists working overtime to study continuously new operettas as impossible to keep on long with same one.

Hungarian film comic, Szoeke Szakall, whose films are very popular here, came over for a tour of Holland. Real name is Eugen Geroe. After tour he goes back to Budapest for work.

Hollywood

Carl Brisson heading for Honolulu.

Charles Boyer recuping from tonsilitis.

Lew Brown splurging his Rolls Royce.

Pat O'Brien nursing a sprained ankle.

Ed Solig, F-WC statistician, on vacash.

Elizabeth Cobb has breezed out for Gotham.

Joseph Ruttenberg in from N. Y. for a vacash.

Inez Courtney gets in cans for Columbia.

Mort Milman and Jerry Howard now agenting.

Richard Diggs now assistant to Bayard Veiller.

Lucien Hubbard to Europe in July for a long rest.

Richard Arlen a returner from European jaunt.

Paul Lucas planed to Mexico to ogle Mayan ruins.

Grace Bradley back to Par after two months' illness.

Lester Cowan is producing two indies for Fox release.

Eli Leslie and Eddie Gray opened 10% office in Bevhills.

Constance Bennett will spend the summer on the Riviera.

E. Lloyd Sheldon trekking to Europe for three months.

No likee parts, Henrietta Crosman received her release at Fox.

Hoot Gibson is being sued on a $60,000 note by Bank of America.

Eddie Sutherland back from his rest trip to Panama, looking pink.

Ben Bernie, over his tonsil perfing, has taken his band to San Francisco.

Al Rackin of the RKO studio had his schnoz remodelled during vacation layoff.

Freeman Bernstein is on a ranch near Los Vegas, writing his show biz experiences.

Alfred Dubois headed east, breaking his jump with three days at the Kimo, Alburquerque.

George Raft due June 18 from his personal appearance tour to go into Par's 'Limehouse Nights.'

Harry Joe Brown is just plain Harry J. Brown, Warners decreed because of Joe E. Brown.

Katharine Hepburn visited RKO but said she was returning to N. Y. before starting next pic in June.

Chody and Dot, one-time vaude team, have opened a beer parlor and cafe in the Wilshire-Beverly district.

Dan B. Clark and his camera crew spent two months in Hawaii catching 'Treasure Island' backgrounds.

Charles Evans, of Evans and Hoey, one-time comedy team, guested by the Theatrical Agents at a luncheon.

Herman Briz, shotput champ, and Hal Le Sueur, brother of Joan Crawford, are students in Metro's drama school.

Columbia made a defendant in a court action in which a non-profess is attempting to collect $410 from Archie Gottler.

On the heels of her marriage to Carey Wilson, Carmelita Geraghty was sued by an investment company for $588.

Leaving Par's publicity department, Julie Lang is in the east contacting fan mag editors preliminary to freelancing in that field.

Hal Baetz, Fox Wilshire manager, in Santa Monica hospital suffering from a stingaree bite at Santa Monica beach.

Kept out of 'Stand Up and Cheer' when she broke an ankle, Wilma Cox is back at Fox for 'She Learned About Women.' Lew Brown called off personal deal after ankle breaking.

London

Mr. and Mrs. Tex Austin here.

Keith Clark turning down American offers.

Shuberts likely to start producing here again.

Myron Selznick just hit town on big business.

Jack Curtis and Dick Henry expected in June.

Gene Dennis to do a 30 weeks' tour in the sticks.

Meg Lemonnier to do a picture here for indie film concern.

Gilbert Miller will shortly be running five shows in the West End.

'Dark Horizon' closed at Daly's May 5 after less than three weeks.

British International after the Diamond Brothers for another picture.

Tracey and Hay booked to end of July, which is good going these days.

Binnie Barnes and Jane Baxter both signed for Hollywood film work.

Ex-mayor Jimmy Walker thinks he will give up golf and try marbles.

John Ford calling Desmond Hurst from Hollywood by 'phone, twice in one day.

Teddy Joyce arranged with Earl St. John to tour the Paramount-Astorias.

Jans and Whalen are latest surprise item for 'Crazy' season at Palladium.

Jack Tracy (Tracy and Vinette)

(Continued on page 54)

CHATTER

(Continued from page 53)

being invited golf with Jimmy Walker.

Three Sailors wanted for the Palladium 'Crazy' season, but all a matter of money.

Jerry Withee (Russell, Marconi and Jerry) undergoing plastic operation on her nose.

On her return from New York, Gladys Cooper will apear here in 'The Shining Hour.'

Yvonne Printemps out of cast of 'Conversation Piece' for a couple of days owing to severe cold. Show went on with understudy.

Billy Kay and Vic Marlow, both from Leslie Henson's 'Nice Goings On,' now folded, to crash into vaudeville with comedy act.

J. Macdonnel, formerly with British Broadcasting Corporation, now jontly n charge of Fox British Productions with R. Balfour.

T. H. Bostock over to Paris to confer with Max Reinhardt about staging his 'Die Fledermaus,' currently at Theatre Pigalle, Paris.

Gaumont-British chiefs holding numerous conferences with George Arliss but have as yet been unable to decide on a scenario suitable to both.

Constance Barrett-Stuart, daughter of composer Leslie Stuart, married reputed American millionaire, Francis Worthington Hine, in London, May 3.

Fred Waring asking $7,500 per week and transportation both ways for himself and band to play the Palladium, with Val Parnell giving him the ha-ha!

Mary Lawson, film actress, featured in the making of 'Money in the Air' at Sound City studios, is engaged to marry H. Glendinning, her cameraman.

Peter Haddon asking Edna Best to play in 'Good Morning Bill' for matinees only, to replace Winifred Shotter, who is filming, with Best ignoring the request.

Sir Thomas Beecham created stir at opening of opera season at Covent Garden by yelling 'Stop talking!' to chatterers during his conducting of overture.

Tallulah Bankhead anxious to play title role in 'Serena Blandish,' for which she holds the English rights, Play produced on Broadway by Jed Harris four years ago.

Walter Crisham sending Gina Malo a can of raspberries for her Palace opening of 'Why Not Tonight;' and La Malo responding with several uncanned.

Beverly Baxter, late editor of the Daily Express, and now Director of Public Relations for Gaumont-British, has been elected chairman of the Publicity Club of London.

Francis Lister replaced Owen Nares in 'Double Door' at the Strand—latter rehearsing for new Lennox Robinson play, 'All's Over, Then?' due in West End early May.

David Selznick, Howard Estabrook and George Cukor are due in London to decide how much location work will be done here for the production of 'David Copperfield.'

Twickenham Films, Ltd., is negotiating for the underwriting of an issue of 120,000 shares of 6½% cumulative preference shares of $5 each and 240,000 ordinary shares at $1 each.

F. G. Minter, Ltd., rebuilders of London Pavilion, to pay United Artists $600 for every day they exceed the allotted opening time, which is Sept 1. Understood house will be ready before that.

After opening at the Holborn Empire and Cafe de Paris Monday, and appearing at the Royal Command Performance at the Palladium Tuesday, Sophie Tucker had a severe attack of laryngitis.

Winfield Sheehan expected here in July. This time he is scheduled to make a more elaborate tour of the continent, taking in more territory than on any previous visit.

Violet Melnotte, white-haired chatelaine of the Duke of York's theatre, throwing a birthday party at Piccadilly Hotel. Refused to state age, but scoffed at press statement that she was over 80.

Phyllis Neilson-Terry, suffering from blood-poisoning, to be replaced by Ann Neagle as Shakespearean star in open-air season at Regent's Park, May 21. Under Sydney Carroll direction as last year.

DOROTHEA ANTEL

226 W. 72d St., New York City

Mrs. New Assortment of GREETING CARDS Is Now Ready. 21 Beautiful CARDS and FOLDERS. Boxed. Postpaid. for

One Dollar

Chicago

Everybody Perry 'Rocco.'

Barney Balaban ducked out of town again.

Al Williamson wrist tossing a baseball.

Charlie Hogan scramming the office at six for handball exercise.

Eddie Levin and frau off to New Mex on that belated honeymoon.

Charlie Miller getting accustomed to commuting from Highland Park.

J. Leonard Herron is now the bouncing daddy of a proud baby boy.

Irving Tishman, Joe Flaum and Irving Yates shaking hands in the loop.

Frank Burke doubling in brass as Aragon manager and MCA publicity.

Just when he was given up for lost, Bill Stein returned from the Coast.

Sidney Strotz back from a flying visit to Radio City, going in with John Royal.

Walter Immerman has become the Beau Brummel of the B. & K. organization.

Sam Lutz happy over 14 network plugs for 'Love Me' and 'Neighbors' in one week.

Charlie Zemater now sharing an office with Bill Canham in the Woods building.

Herman Blum and Arthur Price in the loop from Baltimore on the Allied directors meeting.

Bill must be on the climb because Al Goldman is again leasing and un-leasing theatres for clients.

Thoda Cocroft free-wheeling to the Coast until the American Theatre Society reopens in August.

San Francisco

By Harold Bock

Ward Bullock advancing for Ben Bernie.

Those Mary Wood tresses are now of a blonde color.

Jennings Pierce has bought a burro for his kids to ride.

Doc Puccinelli planning a swank new nitery in the El Cortez hotel.

Fred Purdy, vet News reporter and sports columnist, died suddenly.

Mickey Hester and Art Schwartz up from Hollywood to plug their firms' tunes.

Republicans dined and wined Louis B. Mayer, who flew up for the occasion.

Faith Bacon has left the 'Century of Progress' unit to go to Arizona for her health.

George Nickson fell from a backstage platform at the Warfield and busted an arm.

Morris Klein admits Charlie Thall is a golf champ all right, but only on the 18th and 19th holes.

Cliff Work is polishing up on his parliamentary laws as chairman of the film code grievance board.

John Ness, formerly with L. A. Times as promotion manager, named to same spot with Hearst's Call-Bulletin.

Hulda McGinn is back at her theatre association after a jaunt to L. A. and pow-wow with women's clubs on censorship.

Will Rogers, Jr., debated at Stanford U during the week, but paw couldn't attend because of his 'Ah, Wilderness!' appearances.

Ed Waite, ex-p. a. of the New York Roxy and now in food business, named western head of the mayonnaise code authority.

Dorothy Coombs, radio secretary on the Call-Bulletin, has announced her engagement and is counting the days until she'll be a June bride.

Chronicle tossed a party honoring Royce Brier upon reporter's return from New York, where he was handed the Pulitzer best news story prize.

New Haven

By Harold M.

Heavy advance sale on Katherine Cornell.

Yale Drama School activities will fold soon.

Meyer Sokoloff again mgr. of Civic Orch.

Billy Elder nuptials definitely set for June 15.

Wendell Hyatt has written a musical comedy.

Kath. Cornell pencilled for Shubert May 24-5-6.

Henry Busse now practices fiddle four hours daily.

Johnny Baker is town's newest stage dance instructor.

Wallingford's Sunday mat movie battle temporarily halted.

Rosa and Carmela Ponselle will do a benefit in Meriden May 31.

Three kids lifted Mary Arbenz's pocketbook during stay at Shubert.

Looks like subway vaude at Howard on weekends will go on forever.

Georgie Price and Will Osborne did a bit of barnstorming at Mansfields' Grove.

Jean Belasco returned to scene of former legit activities as p. a. of Gorman Bros. circus.

Grantland Rice and Billy Phelps handed golf trimming to Gene Tunney and Walter Prichard Eaton.

Walter Prichard Eaton, Yale Drama dept., now member Educational Com. Motion Picture Research Council.

Just to make sure—local street corner pencil-seller wears sign stating, 'I have no private bank account, and I don't own my own home.'

Philadelphia

By Arthur B. Waters

Joe White, treasurer at Broad, getting ready for annual fishing trip to Canadian woods.

Tommy Labrum, p.a. for Sam Nirdlinger, figuring on a motor trip to California this summer.

Both Shubert houses getting out keys and camphor balls now that light opera season at Forrest has flopped.

Jeno Donath, musical director at Fox, entertained critics and wives at cocktail party in his studio at theatre.

H. T. (Jimmy) Craven, former critic here and now p.a. for operatic ventures, sailing for four months' stay in Spain.

Harry Murdock, d.e. for Evening Ledger and also conductor of film column on that sheet, going to Canada on motor trip soon.

Plan for summer stock at the Brookline Country Club near here fell through after reaching final stages of arrangements.

Project of opening combined theatre and cafe-restaurant in Walton hotel being temporarily held up because of license trouble.

Jules Falk, director of many of the feature activities at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City, in town making plans for opening of the summer season.

Eric Knight, film critic of the Evening Ledger, may sell horse he bought two weeks ago. Reason: he and the horse decided to go different directions at the same time.

Seattle

By Dave Trepp

Roosevelt theatre joins midnite vaude string for Saturday nites.

Dee Phillips back after 18 months on road with 'Varsity Rythym Boys.'

Fifteen minute limit on parking in front of likker stores, same as the banks.

Local committee, raising dough to save Seattle Symphony, has $25,000 with ten more grand to go.

Don Woodin handling amateur nights at the Colonial, with four nites a week that way now.

Dave Miller again boss concessionaire at Longacres race track, opening soon for second season.

Code Authority zoning and clearance work in progress, also first grievance cases heard this week.

Flock of greyhounds arriving for reopening Playland kennels, despite warnings from county prosecutor. Selling interests in the doggies and buying 'em back if the dog wins or places, is the angle on which the legal restrictions will be battled.

Minneapolis

By Les Rees

Big film ball planned for spring now postponed until next fall.

Mrs. Al Rifkin, wife of Hollywood scenarist, here visiting her parents.

Film board past week reported no closings and three reopenings in territory.

One local saloon has feminine singers who mingle with male patrons at bar.

Al Stern has replaced Al Hill as RKO booker, the latter being transferred to Omaha.

Tom Burke and entire National Screen Service sales staff in Chicago attending sales meeting.

Leonard Gruenberg, formerly with Monogram, has joined sales staff of another independent exchange, Capitol.

Mr. and Mrs Jack Stratton were brought here from Los Angeles to handle publicity and exploitation for Shriners' convention show events.

Roxy played golf with William Hamm, brewer-theatre magnate, and Sumner T. McKnight, prominent banker, during Minnesota engagement.

North Dakota Theatre Owners' Association to meet at Valley City, N. D., to plan campaign to put over Sunday movies' amendment at next fall's election.

Out-of-town exhibitors visiting Film Row included John Piller, Valley City, N. D.; Harry Nelson, St. James, Minn.; Tom Novack, Glencoe, Minn., and W. J. Carter, Plainview, Minn.

I. MILLER

INSTITUTION de INTERNATIONALE

Shoes for the Stage and Street

SHOWFOLK'S SHOESHOP—1552 BROADWAY

OBITUARIES

MIKE SHEA

Mike Shea, 75, last of the active old-time vaudeville managers, died in Buffalo May 16. More extended notice will be found in the vaudeville section.

JOHN (Jack) RITCHIE

John (Jack) Ritchie, 35, died May 14 in Hollyview Sanitarium, Hollywood, of cerebral hemorrhage. Widow and one daughter survive.

Ritchie, who went to Hollywood about 15 years ago, was the oldest theatrical man on the Pacific Coast. He was born in London, and at an early age became an actor. Augustin Daly brought him to America as his juve lead. Later, Ritchie became manager for the legit appearances of Mrs. D. P. Bowers, with whom he continued until her death.

Going to Chicago, Ritchie managed the spectacles of the late David Henderson, which included 'Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp,' 'Sinbad, the Sailor,' and others.

Deceased was a member of The Troupers, of Hollywood, under whose auspices funeral was held, and The Agents, Coast legit organization.

MRS CHARLES P. LARNED

Mrs. Charles P. Larned died in a Detroit hospital May 15 following an operaton for appendcitis. A sister of the late Bert and Fred Whitney, local theatrical producers, and daughter of the late C. J. Whitney, she was intensely interested in theatricals, and at the time of her death was engaged in writing a book of stage reminiscences.

She was founder and life-president of the Theatre Arts Society, and it was at a rehearsal of a play they had in production that she collapsed.

EDWARD GEORGE SIMON

Edward George Simon, 63, composer and music arranger, died of a heart attack at his home in Brooklyn May 17. Two of Mr. Simon's compositions were 'Tango Serenade' and 'Vuirda.' He was employed by Carl Fischer on adaptations at his death, and had also written music criticisms for The Metronome.

Surviving are his widow, a son and two daughters.

ANN EGGLESTON

Ann Eggleston, 68, character actress, died at Lenox Hill hospital May 19, where she had been under the care of the Actors' Fund. She played in 'Old Lady 31' and 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch,' and played with several stock companies in New England.

She was a guest at the Percy Williams Home before entering the hospital.

EDWARD H. CAHILL

Edward H. Cahill, 68, actor, author and theatre manager, died at his home in Stamford, Conn., May 18. He was one-time partner in the old Cafe de l'Opera at 42d street and B'way. He played with Joseph Jefferson and Rip Van Winkle.

Surviving widow and mother.

FRED R. STONE

Fred R. Stone, 29, program director of station WSPD, Toledo, Ohio, died in Toledo hospital May 13. Stone suffered an attack of acute appendicitis a week previous to his death and underwent an emergency operation.

He is survived by a wife, a child and his parents.

ROBERT SHARPE

Robert Sharpe, 29, scenic designer, died in Bellevue hospital May 14. He was found in a washroom of a subway May 11 allegedly suffering from alcoholism and a fracture of the skull, and removed to the hospital.

Survived by two brothers.

JOEY McKEON

Joey McKeon, a dwarf who appeared in several Joe Cook shows, was found dead in bed at his sister's home, Brookiyn, May 15. Cerebral hemorrhage was the given cause. He had been recently engaged to join Charles Ahearn's act. McKeon was born at New Bedford, Mass.

HARRY LEVY

Harry Levy, drummer in pit orchestra at the Hoppodrome, Baltimore, died suddenly May 13. Had played for vaudeville acts for past 20 years in virtually all the houses in Baltimore.

Survived by widow and son.

THOMAS P. CONVEY

Thomas Patrick Convey, 48, president of station KWK, died in St. Louis May 18 of complications following an operation.

Survived by widow, two children and eight brothers and sisters. Burial in St. Louis.

FOSTER LARDNER

Foster Lardner, 62, former actor and Keith-Albee executive in Rhode Island, died of a heart attack while giving a sleight-of-hand performance at the Providence Engineering Society May 17.

JAMES ROWE

James Rowe, composer of some 25,000 hymns, including such favorites as 'I Walk with the King' and 'Just Outside the Door,' died at his home in Wells, Vt., April 13.

DAISY IDELL

Daisy Idell well known in vaudeville as an assistant in Stuart Darrows' hand shadowgraph act, in Oswego, N. Y., May 7.

ANN MARY STURGIS

Ann Mary Sturgis, 26, wife of Sam Sturgis of Short and Long, vaude team, died in San Fernando, Cal., May 19, of a lingering illness.

Father of Ralph Dumke, of East and Dumke, died May 20 in South Bend, Ind.

Brother of Archie Fletcher, general manager of Joe Morris Music Co., died in Philadelphia May 11.

Father of John Ravenscroft of the King's Jesters, radio and vaude quartet, died on May 17 at Rochester, Ind.

Wife of J. Knox Strachan, Ohio Warner Bros. executive, died May 10 in Mercy hospital, Portsmouth, O., following a several months' illness.

Mother of the Weaver brothers died May 19 at the home of her son Max in Springfield, Missouri. Survived by her three actor sons, Charles, Frank and Max, and three daughters.

Joan McAvoy, 22, was killed in an automobile accident in Hollywood. Details in the picture section.

Schiller Out

(Continued from page 1)

place Schenck in the booking office.

Col. Schiller is one of Loew's oldest employees, having been with the organization for 18 years, serving most of that time as one of Marcus Loew's closest lieutenants. He has been the nominal operating chief of the theatre company.

Schiller is responsible for much of the Loew circuit's territorial expansion, and particularly influential in the many Loew theatre deals in the south. A southern theatre operator himself, Schiller interested Marcus Loew in Atlanta and several other properties there and subsequently was brought to New York on the strength of his activity in those negotiations.

Schiller's withdrawal is not through his own action or that of the Loew company, but strictly on advice of his physicians.

Under the circumstances there probably will be no official announcement by or from Loew's as to the changes. Theoretically, and as far as retaining the title is concerned, Schiller is said to have been assured that he can remain the Loew's, Inc., general manager as long as he desires.

LETTERS

When Sending for Mail to VARIETY Address Mail Clerk.

POSTCARDS, ADVERTISING or CIRCULAR LETTERS WILL NOT BE ADVERTISED

LETTERS ADVERTISED IN ONE ISSUE ONLY

Barnes Howard
Byal Carl
Cripps Mrs K
Fitch Dan
Goodwin K
Lawton Frank
Martan Nita
Stuart Steve

Outdoor Show Reviews

Fashion Plate Circus

Paulding, O., May 14.

Newest entry in the motorized circus field, with F. O. Gregg and Dennie Curtis, two veteran showmen at the helm, opening recently, is playing to excellent business in the small towns in southern Ohio. Show ranks with the best of the smaller mud shows, has up to date equipment, and is offering a most satisfactory circus performance in three rings. Several standard circus acts are with the outfit, canvass is new and motor eqiupment a real flash. Outfit is keeping away from opposition and is leaving Ohio this week, invading Michigan, which is at the present time without a motorized show.

Program opens with the usual tournament, with all performers and ring stock participating. Costuming is excellent and opening walkaround presents a real flash. Comedy acrobats, Morris Duo (on bar); Harold Conn and clowns; ring 1, Aerial Cowdens, double traps; ring 2, Morris girls, balancing traps; ring 3, Aerial Duvals, double traps. Principal riding act, Harriet Hodgini, bowing out to much applause; ring 1, Hamilton's dogs and ponies; ring , Mlle. Edna's dogs and ponies; ring 3, Duvals ' goats and dogs. All three offer entertaining routine, especially good were Mlle. Edna's dogs in leaps and somersaults; Swinging ladders, Misses Morris, Ethel and Miss Estelle; Liberty hose number, with sextet of black horses, ranking with the best seen on the smaller shows, presented by Denny Curtis; Slack wire, neatly done by unannounced girl; rings 2 and 3, Ethel Marine and Miss Morris, single traps; Miss Marine also worked on web and iron jaw whirl; Albert Hodgini Family's riding act, Harriet Hodgini working straight and Albert, Jr., doing both comedy and straight. One of the high spots of the program. Clown walkaround; menage horses, Dennie Curtis and Leo Hamilton; elephant act (solo), by Mena, despite its size worked fast and scored heavily; aerial iron jaw, Ethel Marine and Miss Morris; Morris family in center ring three men two girls, ground and lofty tumbling closing with teeter board flips. Dennie Curtis and Edna Curtis Taximeter Mule, closes the program. Still one of the best mule acts.

In clown alley are Harold Conn, Cliff O. Downing, C. Gillete, Morris Trio and Paul Smith.

Sideshow is under the management of Jake Friedman, formerly with 101 Ranch Wild West, has a flashy banner line, all new. On the platforms are Tommy Stevens and his negro band; Ethel Friedman (Mercedes) dancer; Mme. Alice, snakes; Larry Benner, Punch and Judy; magic and ventriloquist; Tom Oliver, knife thrower; Ed Nelson sword swallower and several minature cages small animals. On the ticket boxes are Thomas O'Connel and Ben Willis.

L. L. Hall, of Milwaukee, is in charge of the concessions. Assisting him are Mrs. Hall and their daughter, Ruby. All concessions are new.

Executive staff includes, in addition to the owners, Dennie Curtis, F. O. Gregg and Mrs. Edna Curtis; Albert Sigsbee, general agent; J. L. Barnes in charge of merchant tickets in advance; Steve Cass, in charge of bill posters; Les Minger, legal adjuster and auditor; Leo Hamilton, equestrian director; Ralph Noble, boss canvassman; Jack Friedman, sideshow manager; Floyd Harvey, electrician, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Arndt, in charge of cookhouse; Walter Reed, boss hostler; Bill Rice, publicity and advance; F. P. Darr, bannerman; Paul Karacunas, in charge of dog wagon; the Brown family band players for the big show. Archie Royer has charge of the concert which features Patty Royer, the lady "Jack Dempsey"; John Brisko, billed as the living cannonball, is presenting the free act.

PROSPECTING A FAIR

Charlotte, N. C., May 21.

C. W. Hollowbush, of Wilmington, N. C., here gathering information on feasibility of a fair for this and adjacent counties. He is president of Greater Ten Counties Fair at Wilmington and wants similar setup here. He is also member of executive board North Carolina Fair Association.

He is here at request of several interested local parties.

Gorman Bros. Circus

New Haven, May 18.

If the reception given Gorman Bros. hereabouts is any criterion, then this is a circus year—in Connecticut, at least. Opening April 25 in Jersey City (winter headquarters), trick hopped into Penn for stands at Easton, Reading and a few others, then cut back through Jersey to Stamford, Bridgeport, Waterbury, Meriden and here (as first circus of season). After hitting a few more Connecticut spots, show will head into other N. E. states, with no attempt to strike west. Outfit is motorized, with Buzz Barton using elaborate truck with Pullman berths, tile floor, showers, etc.

It's a new departure for the Gorman family, this break into circus biz, but it looks like they got off on the right foot. Locally, following a single mat, it took two evening shows to handle the crowd, with second show pulling a two-thirds house.

It's a single-ringer, 34, operating on a daily nut around $1,400, which seems plenty high for a 3,000 capacity, but the extra shows help pile up the gravy. General admish 25c, with an extra two-bits for unnumbered reserve section. Wherever possible, tieup with local merchant spreads 15c service charge tickets, limited to 1,000. Show played same lot used regularly by R.B.-B.B.

Sideshow, operated by Max Kessell and Julius Kuehnel, has the usual magic, snakes, Punch, double sex and torture cabinet. Biz oke when caught. Fat lady has been lifted out of sideshow and operates separately. Another freak lifted from sideshow is Susie, elephant-skinned girl, who features the menagerie. Freak is heavily plugged as trick's outstanding novelty. Menagerie is negligible, with few cages, camels and bulls.

Program opens minus pageant of any kind, clowns (including Ross Trio) coming on for some fast acro stuff, rumbling, table fall, head balancing, etc. Number two is Irmanati, femme barebacker whose turn is closed by some clown gags. Number three is Faust Duo (man and woman), working double trapeze in ring, and Gadoni and Stafford (femmes), doing ladder swings at finish. Christiansen follows with a single high school horse in a waltz number in the ring, closing with a dance around track. Clowns again, then Buzz Berton in a ride-around intro.

Number five is Ray Goody on the wire, closing with somersault. Clowns in lively baring bout, followed by Torelli's dogs, ponies and monkeys, then Alda May Cole, working on horizontal high rope. Miss Cole, who doubles in Wild West show, had been shot in candle-snuffing act, at mat, but returned for evening show, including the swinging rope turn. Hodgini Family on next in bareback act, with Joe handling the comedy riding.

Number ten brings Christiansen back with his eight Cremolian Stallions, which rated top applause of show caught. Six Sensational Lelands follow in teeter board turn, then clowns again. Ray Goody back for rope slide as next-to-closer and Max Gruber's elephant, zebra and dog combo as a finale.

Show runs about 90 minutes and offers the biggest two-bit value seen here in some time. Wild West show, featuring Buzz Barton, from films, and including Rex Cole, runs about 30 minutes.

Executive staff: Tom Gorman, owner and general manager; Burns O'Sullivan, superintendent and legal adjuster; Al Gruber, treasurer; Jean Belasco, general publicity; Fletcher Smith, p.a. ahead; Blackie Freeman, boss canvasman and Doc Leon, front door. Bone.

BOARDWALK BEER O.K.

Atlantic City, May 21.

In an effort to provide a revenue for the Steeplechase and Garden Piers so that these amusement plants will catch up on their taxes, the City Commissioners last Thursday (17) amended the prohibition ordinance to permit the sale of beer on the ocean side of the Boardwalk. According to the terms of the amendment, no bars will be permitted. Purchasers must be seated at tables.

New Fair Building

St. Paul, May 21.

Minnesota's new conservation building going up on the State Fair grounds here. Log exterior, 80x165 feet.

To be ready by September for the annual fair.

KILLED AT TRAINING

Waterloo, Ia., May 21.

R. C. Kerlee, 25, Fort Worth, Texas, riding trouper, was killed when a bucking broncho unseated him in preliminary training work for the Clyde S. Miller rodeo at the Dairy Cattle congress.

House Reviews

(Continued from page 17)

chant, instead of just nodding. Mob gets restless looking at one spot throughout.

George Givot treyed. A first date for him here. Considering his recent film shorts surprise was that they didn't give him a reception. He found it pretty tough all the way. Using his familiar Graeco-gab at outset, his imitations of Richman and Cantor went awry. He had asked whom they wanted and they shouted as a man, 'Penner.' When he said 'Richman' they grew sulky.

Seiler & Wills have played this house about six times in past four years, yet invariably have virtually new act each repeat. Currently the man's barrel-stave ski dance only h.o. bit since last around. Pair does dual dance at start and wind up with solo specialties sandwiched between. One of these, Miss Wills' acro-control routine, aced decisively.

Al Trahan closes and properly. Nothing else on this bill could have followed. Has added a sentence or two of chatter and a bit of biz, but his comedy turn otherwise hasn't been changed. Mob recognized him upon entrance and it was off-to-the-races thereafter.

Sadie McKee' (M-G) the picture and house was well peopled at first show opening day.

MET, BOSTON

Boston, May 19.

Edward A. Smith, craftily puts over another home production by hooking in on the radio fame hereabouts of Nick Parkyakakas, Greek dialectician (Bostonian, Harry Einstein, in real life). It's a debut on stage for Nick, and to his credit that he shines nicely in vet company.

Smith's presentation is well staged, with plenty flash. Opening with ballet in four overseas episodes, each having quarter of stage and opening consecutively, with ensemble at close. Thereafter, Long Tack Sam's unit is broken up and it spices the bill with action stuff.

Chung and Pen are the first of the Oriental troupe to appear, and they give way to Bayes and Speck, who garner laughs.

Then Parkyakakas, in cream flannels, gets through his continuity easily and effectively. A mike would help him a lot, though; and Nick's newness to big audiences was easy to see. End of the week should see Nick smoothed out as actor. But he does need better script than he is using this initial week on stage.

House ballet goes Chinese effectively, and that paves way for Long Tack Sam, a grand showman. His show lasted about 40 minutes.

The old boy does his tricks to good hands, and sells his dancing daughter grandly, and she lives up to his praise. Her 'Carmen' went over swell. All the acrobatic fellows in the company pulled applause, especially one who did a neck turn on the bar.

Finale has all hands out, with Long Tack Sam snapping off his patter and getting big ovation for the whole show, home-town star and all. Libbey.

Paramount, Seattle

(WORLD'S FAIR FOLLIES)

Omaha, May 17.

The usual stage menu is doubled here this week, the Jay C. Flippen 'World's Fair Follies' augmenting the reg five-act Bert Levey vaude bill. Stage show runs around 90 mins. Jules Buffano's 'Club Villa' band is in the pit. On the screen, 'Wharf Angel' (Par), but the dual stage fare is accountable for the nice biz. With so much stage stuff it's a real event for this town, and that no one runs out speaks well for the entertaining quality.

The Paramount has been a graveyard for various ownerships and managements. Now Evergreen Theatres, headed by Frank L. Newman, Sr., operates the spot. Vaude has done something for this house the past two or three months, upping the grosses about 250%. It is figured by Newman that with the same pix minus the stage band, takings would be little more than one-third. So here is positive proof that there is a kick left in variety. So much so that other houses are angling for unit shows from time to time. Fifth (Evergreen) this week used Pearce and his Radio Gang, while Music Hall (Hamrick) next has Duke Ellington and revue.

Levey vaude makes first half of the current bill. Gordon and Day open nicely as comedians with a bicycle. Short and Long get laughs in odd steps. Three Grenadeers acrobat dancers. Lane and Harper on for more comedy. Then Page Bros. and Class on tightrope to the biggest returns. One of the boys cops with a handspring without umbrella, and does all his tricks that way. Gal on her toes also gets big hand.

Flippen opens his show with three blackouts hand running. Oke. Clare Carter brings blonde looks and gets along. Highlight of this half of the show is the dance routine that leads up to Elinore, with two fans. She spaces them wide at times, and none too fast, so the fellows with good eyes see plenty. The shadow effects with the 10 girls as part of the dance number are splendid and elicit most approbation.

Burns Twins tap dance with their unison work nice enough. Jack Dalton Co., pirate ship skaters, get top laughs when they take stooges from out front. Flippen works all through the show, and well. There is snap to the whole revue and laugh-loaded. Barney Dean foils with Flippen. Trepp.

Chi Fair to Open 80% Complete; Buildings Ready, Exhibits Tardy

Chicago, May 21.

Second edition of the Chicago World's Fair will open this Saturday (26) approximately 80% complete. This a better average than last year, when it was generally breezed about that the Fair opened a month too soon. It is expected that the Fair will be entirely completed by the first week in June.

Fair itself from the sustaining point of view is complete; the painting, fountain and lighting are all ready. What's holding up the works is the exhibitors and concessionaires, many of whom signatured for space very late.

For instance, the Armour show will not be ready at the opening bell. Ford's $2,500,000 exhibit expected to open right on the line without a day to spare.

Most of the buildings themselves will be ready for occupancy on the opening date, but many of the exhibits will not yet be set up inside. In the Midway everybody is about ready to go, though several of the hold-over buildings from last year, such as the Casino, are not yet cided about ownership or shows.

Split Bullet Plugs Marksman's Helper

New Haven, May 21.

Alda May Cole, wife of Rex Cole, playing here in Wild West end of Gorman Bros. Circus, was shot when defective slug in sharpshooting stunt went astray at Friday mat.

Lou Morphy, doing the shooting, was snuffing out candles atop performer's head when pellet struck her on nose close to right eye. Other half of split slug extinguished candle. Miss Cole finished act without Morphy's knowledge of accident, but collapsed on leaving big top. Bullet was removed at hospital and performer returned for evening show where she doubled in inging rope acro turn.

Just a Gesture

Washington, May

Bill repealing admissions tax on 'a declining national institution which is a great educational and recreational benefit to the people of the nation, particularly farmers, wage workers, and small producers, popularly known as the circus' was introduced in Congress last week by Rep. Truax of Ohio. Measure has no chance of passing before adjournment.

GILRONAN GOES UP

Youngstown, O., May 21.

Eddie Gilronan, one of the best-known of eastern Ohio amusement park executives, many years associated with the management of Idora Park here, has joined the managerial staff of Geauga Lake Park at Geauga Lake, Ohio.

DOWNIE IN VT.

Burlington, Vt., May 21.

Downie Bros.' circus has announced its intention of playing this city next month in a letter to the mayor. No date has been set. Show has not been in Vermont since 1932.

Ia. Fair Set

Manchester, Ia., May 21.

Delaware county fair set for Aug. 14 to 17. Premi m awards to be upped to bolster the attendance.

G B Reorg

(Continued from page 4)

directorate. The new deal for Par additionally washes up around $1,300,000 in indebtedness over the G-B houses.

Par originally paid something like $2,700,000 for the theatres involved, considered one of the overbuys that Par made in boom times. The Paramount theatre in Springfield is not included in the new setup owing to certain conditions surrounding the lease on that spot. However, if the decks can be cleared this house may become a part of the new fold later.

In cleaning up the G-B thing, the Par trustees through the Lynch advisory committee thus have only two major theatre spots to clear up before ultimate reorganization of Publix Theatres is completed and the new financial reorganization of the parent company of Paramount-Publix can become effective as planned.

These territories are the Minneapolis and northwestern sector of Publix and the Olympia chain in New England.

The effective speed in which the Lynch committee has cleaned up the Publix setup for the trustees has brought commendatory mention from all sides downtown, including creditors and bankers.

Hamid Repeats Ottawa's Annual Fair's Stage Show

Ottawa, May 21.

Central Canada Exhibition, sponsoring Ottawa's annual fair in August, again has awarded the contract for the stage revue in front of the grandstand to George Hamid, of New York, who attended the executive meeting to discuss details. The name of the outdoor revue will be 'Follies Revue of 1934.'

Creatore's Band will be the musical attraction.

AFTER THE SHERIFF

Tipton, Ia., May 21.

Usually it is the resort keeper that is dodging the sheriff, but in this instance J. A. Lamp, proprietor of the West Side Amusement park, is on the tail of W. W. Christian, Cedar county sheriff, in a $10,000 damage action, alleging false and humiliating charges against him.

The park is the 'Coney Island' of the county with Lamp pinched for operating a dance without a license, no formal charge ever having been made against him after his arrest.

JUVE CIRCUS

Charlotte, N. C., May 21.

In the grip of the circus fever because the Barnett Brothers Circus winters there, York, S. C., youngsters several years ago organized a circus of their own and are now giving a performance every spring. The annual offering for the year, just given, started with a street parade. The kids had a band, horses and riders, decorated vehicles, and clowns. The performance, staged near the high school, was featured by acrobatic stunts. Many acts of Barnett Brothers duplicated by the youngsters.

WHEEL ON LEVEL

Baltimore, May 21.

Edward Hackett, a concessionaire with Glick Shows, carney outfit, was picked up by police last Wednesday (16) on complaint of a Mrs. Josephine Lang of Washington that he was operating an illegal and crooked gambling device.

Hackett's machine was a simple paddle-wheel. Case was dismissed.

ANGELS A ZOO

San Antonio, May 21.

What is believed new angle on angeling originates here. Local animal fancier guarantees government he'll buy $10,000 worth of animals for city zoo to increase revenue. This as inducement to secure PWA loan for zoo administration-commissary-auditorium building.

TOO COOL UPSTATE

Albany, May 21.

The circus season is getting into its stride again in upstate New York. Russell Brothers and Kay Brothers shows are playing smaller cities and towns. Carnivals also are beginning to bob up. Continued cool weather, however, is tending to put the brakes on biz.

"We Take From Our Own To Serve Humanity"!!

•

JOIN TODAY!!

•

The JEWISH THEATRICAL ... GUILD! ...

(WILLIAM MORRIS, Founder)

This week, THE JEWISH THEATRICAL GUILD OF AMERICA, Inc., is launching its FIRST membership appeal in its 10 years of unselfish service.

EVERY man and woman of Jewish faith, connected with the theatrical profession or any other business, SHOULD JOIN AT ONCE.

Life Members

Jacob P. Adler *
Belle Baker
A. J. Balaban
Leonard Bergman
Irving Berlin
Nat Bernard
Sam Bernard *
Wm. Block
Paul Block
Paul Block, Jr.
Frederick Brown
David Bernstein
Eddie Cantor
Jimmie Cooper
Henry Dazian
Felix F. Feist
Leo Feist *
Donald Flamm
H. B. Franklin
Samuel Forrest
Wm. Fox
Daniel Frohman
I. J. Fox
Morris Gest
A. S. Gilbert
Francis Gilbert
I. N. Gilbert
Sallie S. Goldsmith
Maurice Goodman
Bessie Gottlieb
Abraham Greenberg
Samuel H. Golding
Nan Halperin
Sam H. Harris
Marcus Heiman
Fanny Henning *
Houdini *
Mrs. Harry Houdini
Arthur H. Jacobs
Al Jolson
Nathan H. Jonas
Aaron J. Jones
Otto H. Kahn *
Sam Katz
Wm. Klein
Eugene B. Kline
Joe Leblang *
Benny Leonard
Asher Levy
Ted Lewis
Hamilton Loeb
Jacob Loeb
David L. Loew
Marcus Loew *
Mrs. Marcus Loew
Louis B. Mayer
William Morris *
B. S. Moss
George E. Price
Molly Picon
Adolph Ramish
Walter Reade
Hugo Riesenfeld
Rose Rosoff
Jos. M. Schenck
E. A. Schiller
Lillian Shaw
Chas. Zig Shye
Geo. Sidney
Mrs. Sime Silverman
Max D. Steuer
Mrs. Max D. Steuer
Oscar S. Strauss *
Louis Sterling
Sophie Tucker
Sol Tekulsky
Billy Watson
Mrs. Billy Watson
Mrs. Wm. Degen Weinberger
Benjamin Winter
Al H. Woods
Ed. Wynn
Bella N. Zilberman

* Deceased.

MAIL THIS WITH YOUR CHECK TODAY!

Application Blank

PHONE BRyant 9-0498

JEWISH THEATRICAL GUILD OF AMERICA
INCORPORATED
William Morris, Founder

SUITE 1104 — 1560 BROADWAY — NEW YORK CITY

Date _____

Received from _____

Address _____

the sum of $ _____ for (ONE YEAR) / (LIFE) Membership

JEWISH THEATRICAL GUILD OF AMERICA, Inc.
EDDIE CANTOR, Pres.
DAVE FERGUSON, Exec. Sec'y.

DUES: $10.00 annually — Life membership $250.00.

Make all checks payable to the Jewish Theatrical Guild of America, Inc.

ABE LASTFOGEL, Chairman Membership Drive

Mrs. SIME SILVERMAN, Chairlady Women's Division

Mrs. WM. MORRIS Honorary Chairlady

OFFICERS

EDDIE CANTOR . . . . President
GEORGE JESSEL . . 1st Vice-President
JULIUS TANNEN . . Vice-President
SAM H. HARRIS . . . Vice-President
WM. MORRIS, JR. . Vice-President
WM. DEGEN WEINBERGER Chairman Board of Trustees

DR. HUGO RIESENFELD . Treasurer
FRED BLOCK . . Financial Secretary
HARRY COOPER . . Corresponding Secretary
DAVE FERGUSON . . Executive Secretary
DR. LEO MICHEL . . . Relief

We co-operate with the activities of The Actors Fund of America; National Variety Artists; Catholic Actors Guild; and Episcopal Actors Guild.

RADIO SCREEN STAGE

VARIETY

PRICE 15¢

Published Weekly at 154 West 46th St., New York, N. Y., by Variety, Inc. Annual subscription, $6. Single copies, 15 cents.
Entered as second-class matter December 22, 1905, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879.
COPYRIGHT, 1934, BY VARIETY, INC. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.
Vol. 114 No. 11 NEW YORK, TUESDAY, MAY 29, 1934 56 PAGES

CHARITIES GO FOR NITERIES

Pitchmen Steal Chi Expo Opening As Big-Wigs Muzzle Concessions

Chicago, May 28.

Pitchmen swiped the entire publicity and business wallop of the opening of the second edition of the Chicago World's Fair on Saturday (26). Due to a mix-up in the administration offices of the Fair permits allowing the concessions to open were withheld.

Concessions were largely ready to go when the gates swung open at 9 a. m. but the Fair wouldn't give them the okay to get started. Officials held up the entire proceeding by refusing to send in the cash registers and cashiers. Concessionnaires went around the grounds tearing their hair and howling but the Fair officials just shrugged their shoulders and said they were very sorry. But they weren't half as sorry as those dining room concessionaires who had stacked up with chickens, meats and other perishable viands. They had to let the stuff rot in their iceboxes until the Fair heads made up their minds to release the permits.

False Start

Some concessions forgot about the whole thing and just locked their doors for the day and chalked the loss up as another gay experience of life. Others threw open their doors and let the customers roam around the concessions on sightseeing tours, and chalking that up to advertising. They made no coin since they couldn't charge the entrance fee without having permits

(Continued on page 50)

WHERE ACTORS ONCE TROD BUSES WILL ROLL

Elimination of two Broadway theatres by razing rather than by dilapidation or third run picture grinds, would take out the Bijou and Fulton. Houses back up to each other on 45th and 46th streets and it is proposed to spot a bus station on the combined sites.

Deal is on with the Shuberts and Walter Reade, who control the Bijou and the Erlanger estate, which has the Fulton, virtually in accord with bus proffer. Some question about the Fulton end of the proposition, however, because the Erlanger ate is in litigation. Recently the court ruled that ownership stock of the Fulton and adjoining Gaiety theatre, along ith other realty, belongs to the estate and not rightfully a gift to Erlanger's kin. Latter are expected to appeal the decision. Yet it is possible the court may permit the sale of the Fulton, with the contestants fighting it out over the proceeds.

Bijou was recently offered for commercial use which led to the bus terminal plan. Report that the owners were considering renting it for dime museum purposes was set down as unfounded.

Chinese Phone Exchange In Frisco to Broadcast

San Francisco, May 28.

KFRC will emanate a special transcontinental for the CBS network on June 15 (6:45 p.m. PST) when lines will be run into the Frisco Chinese telephone exchange, only such phone center in the world.

The Chinese bilingual operators who are selected for their knowledge of the numerous dialects, will be heard putting through actual calls, and Loo Kern, manager, and son of the man who started the exchange some 25 years ago, will be interviewed, with Ed Fitzgerald of the KFRC staff probably doing the spieling and quizzing.

Local Chinese residents are called by name, not by phone number, and operators must know the names as well as numbers, and be able to speak each of the 20-odd dialects.

N. Y. THEATRE OAKLEYS FOR GOBS

When the fleet gets in Thursday (31), the New York film theatre circuits are going to play Santa Claus and hand out passes to the 50,000 salties.

Working out plans with the Mayor's Committee, RKO, Loew and Paramount have agreed to allot a set number of free tickets to the Navy. Warners has decided to give passes as prizes for athletic and other events in which naval men will figure while here. WB dealt

(Continued on page 49)

INVITATION TO A SLAM

WJSV Speaker Wants to Punch Profane Moron

Washington, May 28.

Record for strongest language ever put into local mike is now held by Arch MacDonald, sports spieler for WJSV, Columbia outlet. Fan called up station earlier in day and poured stream of profanity at telephone operator because Washington was losing ball game with St. Louis and used rest of his vocabulary to berate station.

MacDonald, burned at way switchboard femme had been talked to, took five minutes of his air time to invite the guy to come up and get punched on the nose. Called him 'low-down skunk,' 'despicable rat' and 'dirty louse.'

Papers all carried yarn, but no response has come from culprit.

SPONSOR SHINDIGS FOR BIG MONEY

Organizations Ducking Theatres, Prizefights, Operas, Etc.—Clubs Find Extra Revenue from Charity Events — Weak Nights Now Quite Profitable

PREVIEWS

Chicago, May 28.

Promotional charities here have deserted the theatres, opera, prizefights and dog shows and have gone into the dine-and-dance field for their money-raising stunts. Societies and charity enterprises are finding that the best way to raise the do-ra-me is to charter a nitery for a special showing.

With theatres, the opera and prize-fights in the alley, there are no avenues of money-raising left in these fields. In the entire Chicago area at present there are only three legit shows running, and two of these at cut-rates. That gives the charities no excuse to charge any big coin for ducats, and therefore no rake-off for their end.

Nite clubs, however, are not only on the likely charity promotion spots because of general public acceptance of this form of entertainment, but because of the easy coin split for the charities. Theatre ducats have a natural limit to the amount that can be charged, but there's no top to the nite club rate. Usual tariff for a nitery charity affair is five bucks a person, but several parties recently thrown jumped as high as $25 per attendee. And if things in general continue to get better, it's likely even this top price will be lifted.

On a regular five-buck ticket the charity association is able to gobble the bulk of the take, receiving three of every five fins for its share. The nite club, however, is plenty happy with the two greens for its share, and for those two skins shoves in a full dinner plus the show and dancing. Clubs are practically guaranteed a sellout, and capacity means plenty of profit for the joints.

ress Rehearsals

Nearly all nite clubs sell out to charity groups for their opening

(Continued on page 21)

Too Much

Erie, Pa., May 28.

Al Vees, stage director and playwright, took a flyer in radio at WLBW, Erie.

He quit when the station handed him a book of rules and demanded a deposit to guarantee the return of the book.

Liquor Companies Newest Angels; Looking for Tieups on Broadway

'Chain Gang' Libel Suits Settled, Then Dismissed

Atlanta, May 28.

Two $100,000 libel suits brought against Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., by Judge E. L. Rainey and G. A. Johns, of the Georgia Prison Commission, based on the motion picture, 'I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang,' have been settled out of court 'for substantial amounts,' it was learned here when the suits were dismissed in superior court.

The prison officials claim they were libeled through certain brutal scenes in the film which was made from the book, 'I Am a Fugitive,' by Robert Elliott Burns, an escaped convict.

John I. Kelley and Edith Campbell, attorneys for the plaintiffs, announced that the suits had been settled but would not divulge the amount. Under a judgment of retraxit, any grounds for action were forever barred.

Four similar suits resulting from the film already have been settled out of court. Several others are pending.

DROUGHT CUTS MIDWEST FAN MAIL 75%

Chicago, May 28.

Most unusual radio phenomenon of the drought that has pestered the midwest during the past three weeks has been its effect on the mail count. It has practically eliminated all mail, the count having dropped more than 75% in some 20 days. It has been the sharpest and deepest drop in mail response since the advent of radio.

Mail from the rural sections was practically annihilated. Only the metropolitan areas retained any semblance of letter-writing habits. The farming element was too busy, too hot and too worried to take the trouble to pen a note for a sample of some freckle lotion.

Slump in the letter replies has caused many advertisers to rein in their expenditures, and many advertisers who started out with the best intentions of continuing on in full blast through the summer have sent in countermand orders. This takes in such big radio users as United Remedies, which in the past two weeks has sliced deeply into its radio expenditures throughout the midwest territory.

Fresh bankrolling for Broadway is in sight, coin coming from distillers, wine makers and brewers, judging from the interest shown by the wet goods people, who are looking to the stage for exploitation. Novelty of post-prohibition is over and the myriad brands of booze, beer and wines is resulting in intense competition.

Recent advances are reported to showmen from sponsors of bottled goods, who sought to have brands displayed or mentioned during performances, or program credited, indicating that Broadway endorsement is highly desirable. Offers from the booze and wine interests are claimed to include cash bonuses.

Several distilleries are said to be considering the angeling of shows for the specific purpose of plugging the product. Importers of champagne are considering a tie-up with an incoming musical, and another in the making has had nibbles from whiskey people because of booze scenes in the show.

Many of the brands which were popular before prohibition have been virtually forgotten, and there is a scramble to establish the new names. Even the imported liquors that became best known during prohibition are competing for attention, but mostly through newspaper and magazine ads. American liquor is being criticized as to quality, and the better brands are in a stiff fight to win recognition as being on the level.

At least one park in the metropolitan district is angling for brewery backing. In New York State brewers are not allowed to finance wet spots, as was formerly the custom, and are using other methods of exploitation.

Booze money is not new in show business. Prohibition saw a number of productions on Broadway having bootleg backing. But there is a marked difference in procedure. The bootleggers put coin into shows under cover, either for purposes of profit or diversion, whereas the distilleries, wineries and breweries today are seeking to popularize brands through and on the stage.

Social Recognition At Capital for Web Announcers

Washington, May 28.

Radio won another unofficial step in its battle to win equality with press in official precincts of Capital when invitation list to Mrs. Roosevelt's dance for Washington newspaper fraternity last Thursday (26) came out.

Bob Trout, CBS presidential announcer, and Carlton Smith, NBC White House man, got bids along with one engineer per net.

Frank Scully, Riviera Hillbilly, Confesses Why He's Going H'wood

By FRANK SCULLY

Hollywood, May 28.

For years I've reversed the hillbilly formula about big towns. They're great places, to live in, but I wouldn't want to go there for a visit; so, for 15 years, though a born New Yorker, I haven't been visiting them. But who can resist the call of Hollywood?

As the author of the 'Fun in Bed' books and a biographical collaborator, I had been prepared to get the Hollywood works. That is, to come as a somebody and to be cut so dead that nobody would know I was on the payroll 'till months after I had been fired. That, writers had assured me, was the formula.

Rather than take such studied rebukes, I had decided to go anti-Hollywood. On leaving the Catskills I gave my evening clothes to Rip Van Winkle's grandson. On leaving New York I gave my dinner jacket to a night watchman. I was prepared to come here as nature made me, stripped of side. It wasn't such a bad idea, as it turned out, L. A. was so hot when we finally arrived by way of the Canal I could have walked ashore in my underwear. Even so I didn't think the place was so hot and was still ready to sell when it got to 100.

On Hospitality

But that was on the road from San Pedro. As to hospitality, I found all I could handle. From the transportation of our 30 bundles, to a bungalow to house the heirs to all our miseries, I found willing hands on every side. We saw everything from a shack in Seattle to a couple of silent peaks in Darien on our first day. But however you spelled it it was still Los Angeles.

Still, it might be argued that a writer among writers doesn't indicate how a whole community may feel toward you. Just because Rupert Hughes and J. P. McEvoy, Irvin S. Cobb and Rob Wagner, Wm. Patterson McNutt and John Monk Saunders, Donald Ogden Stewart, and others too humorous to mention, may blow you to a dinner is no proof that you're more than a microbe in the picture colony. They're great kidders, these writers, and its great to hear them in action, if to prove that ribbing didn't go out with long underwear. But you'd be kidding yourself if you thought they mattered. In fact, they don't think so either. Stewart thinks you can only explain a screen writer on the theory that his mother had been frightened by a studio exec.

So I still would have had a case against Hollywood if it hadn't been for a visit from Harry Lachman, once a painter in France, and now a Fox director. I was in bed of a Sunday afternoon, calming a writer's sore throat (since dialog came in they suffer much more from this than from writer's cramp) when Lachman arrived. I hadn't seen him in years. They told me he had gone plenty. Hollywood. If that means taking your two-and-a-half-year-old son out to the corner for

(Continued on page 30)

INDEX

Bills	43
Burlesque	54
Chatter	53
Editorial	44
Exploitation	17
Film Reviews	12-13
Foreign Film News	15
Foreign Sho News	48
House Reviews	14
Inside—Legit	46
Inside—Music	39
Inside—Pictures	44
Inside—Radio	37
Inside—Vaude	44
Legitimate	45-47
Literati	49
Music	39-40
New Acts	43
News from the Dailies	52
Nite Clubs	39-40
Obituary	54
Outdoors	55
Pictures	2-30
Radio	31-38
Radio Reports	34
Talking Shorts	13
Times Square	51
Vaudeville	41-42
Women	50

Indie Field Scribblers Form Protective Body

Hollywood, May 28.

Hoping to establish a minimum wage and price on stories, roup of writers working in the independent field met Wednesday (23) to form an organization.

Jack Natteford, indie writers' representative with the Screen Writers' Guild, was chairman. Committee was appointed to probe sentiment of the approximately 80 writers in the western and action story class toward protective organization.

Col. After Barthelmess And Ronald Colman

Hollywood, May 28.

Columbia has deals on with Richard Barthelmess and Ronald Colman for one picture each. Firm has borrowed Warner Baxter from Fox for 'Broadway Bill,' the Mark Hellinger story, which Frank Capra directs. Nancy Carroll, just signed for four pictures, may be the lead. Alison Skipworth also likely in the cast.

This studio is also dickering with Ed. G. Robinson for 'The Racket,' which Howard Hawks directs.

Harry Cohn flew in from New York last week after several weeks' stay in the east setting next season's program.

Meighan Back in Pix

Hollywood, May 28.

After a three-year absence, Thomas Meighan is returning to Hollywood for a part in 'Peck's Bad Boy.' Film starts June 9.

Actor in Great Neck, L. I., closed deal over the phone with Principal Pictures.

Wm. Powell's Next

Hollywood, May 28.

William Powell's initial starrer under his contract with Metro will be 'Casino Murder Case,' S. Van Dine story.

'Black Chamber,' Herbert Yardley mystery yarn which was originally set for the player's first, has been moved back on the schedule.

Extras Still Low

Hollywood, May 28.

Extras job total picked up a little over last week's low mark, but it is still below par. Only 3,769 people found spots for the week ending Friday (25) through Central Casting.

Best day was Wednesday (25), when 815 were working, 250 of them being dress people for Metro's 'Merry Widow.'

AL SELIG, LITERARY AGT.

Al Selig, former Columbia Pictures advertising chief, is representing George Hembrett Westley on latter's latest play, 'Belle of Baltimore.' Westley is the author of 'House of Rothschild'.

Selig also is representing other people for film contact on their literary works.

VICTOR MOORE GOES U

Hollywood, May 28.

Victor Moore is due June 5 from New York, holding a one-picture deal with Universal.

Player slated for a featured part in 'Romance in the Rain,' tanley Bergerman production which Stuart Walker directs.

FOR 'ENTER MADAME'

Hollywood, May 28.

Paramount will put Herbert Marshall and Kitty Carlisle in the principal parts of 'Enter Madame,' the stage play just acquired.

Stager was written by Gilda Zarlsi and Dolly Byrne.

LEMAIRE'S CAPRA

Hollywood, May 28.

Rufus LeMaire has taken Frank Capra under his personal management.

WILL MAHONEY

'Variety' said: "Mahoney tore 'em right out of their chairs with his inimitable tomfoolery and top-notch hoke hoofing. Did 19 minutes at performance glimmed and had 'em grovelling for more. Apparently parcel of mob had not had a gander at the Mahoneyphone and he scored an ace reception with his toe-tune-smithing. His gab, incidentally, is the most insidey that has been flipped over a trough hereabouts in years."

Direction
WM. MORRIS AGENCY
Mayfair Theatre Bldg.
New York City

Hollywood-at-Fair Claims Hays Okay; W. C. Thalians in Chi

Chicago, May 28.

Oscar Rosenthal claims full backing of the Hays office and all the studios for his second edition of the Hollywood exhibit at the World's Fair.

Last year the Hollywood-at-the-Fair couldn't get started when the Hays office and the west coast nixed co-operation. Already in town for the Hollywood exhibit are the Thalians from the west coast, with the group including Arthur Lake, Mary Carr, Shirley Densted, Edna Callahan, Billy Taft, Betty Eagan, Audrine Briar, John Hanon, Victor Lewis, and Lillian Steadman.

Maurine Watkins Back From Round-World Tour

Hollywood, May 28.

Maurine Watkins is due in New York from her trip around the world and will be met there by her agent, Arthur Landau, who is planing eastward to offer her one of two writing offers here.

Propositions are from Metro and Paramount each for a term contract.

Mugglet Sells Yarn

Hollywood, May 28.

Jack Stanley, 19-year-old student at the University of California at Los Angeles, has sold an original story, 'General Alarm,' to Majestic, for production by Larry Darmour. Fire yarn will be scripted and dialoged by Earl Snell.

He is the son of Fred Stanley of VARIETY's Hollywood staff.

BLOCK BOLAND HEGIRA

Hollywood, May 28.

Mary Boland has been called back from New York by Paramount for a part in the Ben Schulberg production, 'Her Master's Voice,' which is slated to start tomorrrow (Tuesday) with Marion Gering directing.

Player was forced to cancel vacation trip to Europe because of studio call to return to the Coast for the picture.

Cagney-O'Brien's Air Pic

Hollywood, May 28.

James Cagney and Pat O'Brien are teamed Warners' 'Air Devils.'

Yarn is an original by John Monk Saunders. No other assignments as yet.

MONTGOMERY'S 'HIDE OUT'

Hollywood, May 28.

Robert Montgomery arrived Saturday (26) from 10-week vacation on his New England farm.

Player's next for Metro will be 'Hideout,' which W. S. Van Dyke directs.

As to Dancing, or Dancing, Says Astaire, Difference Is in the Selling

By CECELIA AGER

Dancing is always a good idea, reckons Astaire believes, if an actor's seen too little, both on and off the boards. The most important thing for an actor to know, he says, is where to stop. Mr. Astaire not only says it, he means it, and lives up to it.

Mr. Astaire's devotees complained that there wasn't enough of him in 'Dancing Lady'—he himself considers that a darned good break, because he wanted to creep into pictures quietly, modestly, so as not to hurt whatever stage reputation he's managed to build for himself. He didn't know, did anyone else, whether he had anything for pictures. Better, then, to find out unobtrusively. 'Dancing Lady,' dancing with a star, gave him a good opening. In his second picture, 'Flying Down to Rio,' there was more Astaire. But just about enough Astaire, he thinks. In his succeeding pictures he'd like to do but two numbers of a minute and a half each, at the most. He's not the straight leading man type, he argues, but with his hoofing he may make up for his shortcomings in other ways. Yes, his next picture will be 'Gay Divorce,' but he is not a straight romantic lead in that, he thinks. It's sort of a character role, he says. That's what he is, sort of a character actor. Nobody could believe him saying 'I love you,' he declares.

As to Hoofing

Hoofing in pictures is a little bit different than stage dancing, he's found. Chiefly because there's so little time allotted to work up a routine. For the stage he's been used to weeks of preparation and practice; 'Carioca' had to be ready in two days. He had it ready. They let him cut his dances. That way he was able to match the steps and get continuity from whichever angle they were shot.

He'd heard that you have watch yourself in pictures, take care that you get your share of space on the screen, that you're not shoved aside. Well, it wasn't like that at all. In the first place, the director's there, seeing to it that everybody does what he's supposed to do, and besides, if you've got anything to offer the public's watching you anyway.

The difference between dancing and dancing, Astaire believes, is i the selling. A series of hard steps is not enough. It isn't the steps you've got to sell, it's your personality. Astaire can do hard steps, but he never stresses them in his routines, never builds his routines upon that fact. A routine must primarily have an idea behind it. He's been pretty lucky so far, finding ideas, but it doesn't keep him from worrying, worrying where his next idea's coming from.

Get Easy

When he works up a routine his goal is what he calls 'an easy result.' Get easy at it. Get the steps down so that you don't worry about the next one. Let your routine flow naturally. 'Never let the public feel you're worrying about the next step.' When he devises a routine for a girl partner he tries to suit her with what she can do, to make her feel comfortable in what she's doing. He adapts his own style to that of the abilities of his partner, saves his own stuff for his specialties. He does not, for instance, work up a tap routine for a partner who isn't swell at taps. Ease for both of them, that's it. No straining; it's easier on the audience, too.

People often ask him if he misses Adele, his sister. He doesn't. That is, as a stage partner. He always knew that one day she would marry and retire from the stage. So he prepared himself, developed his style so that when the time came he could go on alone. That's what he's doing now. Nobody knows him in pictures yet, he says, but perhaps they will. At least they've come to accept him on the stage without Adele.

Blowout Halts Air Show From Hollywood Studio

Hollywood, May 28.

Blowout of power lines shortly after 8 o'clock Sunday night resulted in suspension of broadcasting on 'Hollywood on Air, over NBC from RKO studios. Lines were not fixed until 8:47 and time was set to expire at nine. Those who were to go on air were Fay Wray, Gene Austin, with Candy and Coco, Hazel Forbes, Carol Lee, and Jan Rubini.

Blowout also affected Paramount lot, where DeMille was working on 'Cleopatha,' and held up production for couple hours.

Lloyd Passes Previews To Show Foxites 'Paw'

Hollywood, May 28.

Harold Lloyd left here Saturday (26) with a print of his 'The Cat's Paw' to show at the Fox sales convention in New York. Lloyd took along his cutter, Bernard Burton, to edit the film after previewing it for the convention, as pleture is 1,500 feet over length.

Actor, who generally has a half dozen previews around Hollywood to get reactions on his gags, did not show 'Cat's Paw' around here at all officially, although he is reported to have had one sneak preview in a suburb.

Rivkin-Wolfson's Raise

Culver City, May 28.

Metro has pacted Allen Rivkin and P. J. Wolfson for another year, although writing team still had a month to go on present contract. New deal calls for 52 weeks a year, instead of 40, and a raise.

Rivkin and Wolfson are scripting 'Dolly.'

MISS VENABLE'S 'OUTRAGE'

Hollywood, May 28.

Paramount has set 'Outrage' as second picture on the 1934-35 program to feature Evelyn Venable. Production will follow her next, 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch.'

Story is an original by Beulah Marie Dix and Bertram Millhauser, with Tristram Tupper engaged by Paramount to write the screen play and script.

TIE HELEN TRENHOLME

Burbank, May 28.

Warners has tied Helen Trenholme, stage actress, on a contract. She is due here in two weeks.

ASTAIRE COAST-BOUND

Fred Astaire becomes Coastbound Tuesday (29), taking it on the run to plunge into 'Gay Divorce.'

It's a Radio picture and to which studio Astaire is under contract.

SAILINGS

June 13 (London to New York) Will Morris (Champlain).

June 16 (New York to London) Lou Brock (Ile de France).

June 1 (Los Angeles to New York), Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler (St. Helena).

June 1 (New York to Paris) Mr. and Mrs. Jim Furman (Westernland).

June 1 (Honolulu to Los Angeles Joe E. Brown (President Coolidge).

May 30 (Los Angeles to Honolulu), Harry Green and wife (Monterey).

May 28 (London to New York), Herbert Agar (Olympic).

May 23 (London to New York), Clifford Fischer, Jacques Charles, American cast of 'She Loves Me Not' (Champlain).

May 27 (New York to London) George Lait (Montcalm).

May 26 (New York to Italy) Edna May Oliver, Arthur Train, Boris Morros (Rex).

May 26 (New York to London), Walter Wanger, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Eckman, Jr.; Laudy Lawrence. Mrs. William Field, Roy Sheldon, Colette d'Arville, Raoul Fleischmann, Fritz Reiner, Edward Paul England, Lee Ephraim, Robert Riskin, Fleur Fenton, Nat Karson (Ile de France).

May 25 (Nassau cruise), Richard Crooks (Reliance).

—Tether Preston Foster

Hollywood, May 28.

Preston Foster stays at Metro under a term contract.

He is set for parts in 'Sacred nn Profane Love' and 'Painted Veil.'

WASH. CENSOR RUMBLES

Pic Agents Told To Stay Out of Other Biz Lines

Hollywood, May 28.

What promises to develop into a fight prevent picture agents from invading the business management, income tax, insurance, real estate, finance and other specialized fields, is foreseen in move sponsored by a group of Hollywood insurance men.

The underwriters met Friday (25) and inroads of the artists' reps in the insurance and investment securities field came in for spirited discussion with decision reached to convene on June 4 for the purpose of organizing for mutual protection.

Only a half dozen of the numerous Hollywood and Beverly Hill agents handling talent are confining their labors to straight biz management, etc., for clients. Several have taken on real estate, insurance and investment selling licenses, while others are extending their outside activities to insurance.

Lehar's Short for MG To Be Made in Vienna

Hollywood, May 28.

Franz Lehar, composer of 'Merry Widow,' 30 years ago, and many other operettas, will make a short for Metro.

Irving Thalberg has arranged for the filming to be done in Vienna.

Improving on Kern

Hollywood, May 28.

Franz Waxman, German composer, arrived here Saturday (26) to write tunes for 'Music in the Air' at Fox. Otto Harbach-Jerome Kern wrote the original.

Picture will be produced by Eric Pommer and due to go into production the second week in July.

WODEHOUSE BACK TO PIX?

Has Offers From Par and Hecht-MacArthur

Paris, May 21.

P. G. Wodehouse may return to writing for films, he said today on returning to Paris from a spell of scribbling in Cannes.

'Paramount cabled me yesterday about writing a scenario,' said the British humorist, 'and I have another offer from Ben Hecht and Charlie MacArthur, who want me to collaborate on a play for the Marx brothers.'

Wodehouse leaves for LeTouquet Tuesday (22) to chin with Guy Bolton on a play for Vinton Freedley, which will go into rehearsal on Broadway, September 1, he says. Also writing a new novel, which he says is best he's ever done.

Mary McCormic's Film Chatter, 1 for Korda?

Paris, May 21.

Mary McCormic is angling for a film job, it was revealed as she sailed for New York. She let it be known that she was dickering with Alex Korda in London to make a film of Charpentier's 'Louise,' one of her big opera roles.

Miss McCormic, who has been singing at the Opera Comique, and who gave a recital last week at the Theatre des Champs Elysees, says she'll be back here in Paris for more film talk in September. She's going over to fill some New York engagements, she says, and will not go to California to press suit against Serge Mdvani, her ex.

Preparedness

Chicago, May 28.

Everybody thought Georgie Sidney, son of L. K. and nephew of the performer, had his fishing tackle with him when he passed through the burg with a long four-foot bundle.

After much pleading they got him to reveal the contents. Was six long salamis from the East Side, Georgie claiming that it's impossible to get genuine salami out the west coast.

Cops Okay With E. G. Now; May Do 'Racket' For Hecht-MacArthur

Hollywood, May 28.

If Edward G. Robinson goes to New York for the stellar spot in the contemplated Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur production of 'The Racket' on his one-picture leave from Warners, he will undoubtedly play the part of the police captain, not that of the killer crook.

Robinson has expressed himself as wanting to help glorify the American cop on the screen, and 'The Racket' would provide such a vehicle, provided it were revamped to shift some of the stress between the cop and the crook characters.

Gene Fowler accompanied Howard Hawks, director, to New York by plane for conference with Hecht and MacArthur, presumably to work on the play adaptation.

Robinson, under contract to Warners, but now on layoff period, is being offered for one picture by Lester Cowan, functioning as agent and co-producer. Robinson left for N. Y. Saturday (26) with his wife on a script hunt.

MG Unties Alice Brady

Hollywood, May 28.

Alice Brady is through at Metro, where she has been under contract for the past year. Studio failed to pick up their option when it came due last week.

Likely that Miss Brady may join the Paramount brigade of stock players.

CHARLIE RAY BACK

Silent Star Spotted in Par's 'Ladies Should Listen'

Hollywood, May 28.

Charles Ray is back on big time, going to work today (Monday) in Paramount's 'Ladies Should Listen.'

Ray has been away from the screen since a contract with Metro about five years ago.

Three other former silent stars are currently in Paramount pictures in Jack Mulhall and George Walsh in 'It Ain't No Sin,' and Ruth Clifford in 'Ladies First.'

Virginia Pine's Relapse

Hollywood, May 28.

Virginia Pine, who was discharged from local hospital, where she had been interned for observation until Sunday morning (27), was rushed from her home Sunday night back to the institution in a serious condition.

WB SIGNS DOROTHY DARE

Dorothy Dare, legit ingenue, goes to the Coast in August for Warner Bros. She's currently in 'The Only Girl,' musical revival at the 44th St., New York.

Before sending Miss Dare to Hollywood, Warners will use her in two shorts at the Flatbush studio. Dennis DuFor (Bentham office) set the deal.

ROXY GANG SHORT

S. L. Rothafel (Roxy) and his Gang will make a musical two-reeler for Warners at the Flatbush studio the first week in July.

Short reel was set by Charlie Morrison, who handled Rothafel's stage bookings.

ACE LEGISLATORS NOW INTERESTED

Formal Protests from Congressmen to Industry Solons—Objections to Dodging the Issue

NEW IMPETUS

Washington, May 28.

Congress will adjourn without acting on film censorship proposals—but the next session will see a highly determined drive which is being given better than an even chance to reach its objective.

Most serious aspect of Congressional situation is that, while most of the proponents of film regulation are the perpetual reform type or have an axe to grind, many members of much higher calibre are climbing on the clean-up bandwagon under pressure from back home.

That was the outlook here today as solons and representatives drove ahead in hope of adjourning within the next fortnight. If session were to last another six weeks, it is probable that in view of rapidly crystallizing public sentiment Patman bill would be revived.

Nationwide movement for enforced Hollywood house cleaning received unexpected impetus last week when Representative William P. Connery, of Massachusetts, former hoofer, lambasted indecent pictures and threatened to start gunning for offenders.

Declaring his views have been misrepresented since he appeared at hearings to oppose the Patman bill, Connery wrote Adolph Zukor, Sidney R. Kent, Nicholas M. Schenck, and Harry Warner that he wants plenty of action in a hurry, or else.

Letter drew tepid response from Paramount and Warners, Connery office said Saturday (26). Replies were described as perfunctory acknowledgments which glossed over situation and blamed objectionable features on slips in production. Reaction obviously was not particularly pleasing to Connery who had made a hit with industry leaders by his stand on the Patman regulation idea.

Can't Stem the Tide?

Friends of industry here are convinced that next session will find Congress so aroused that it may be impossible to stop drastic regulatory legislation if present viewpoint of producers is not changed. Claim smugness on part of Hays New York office cannot continue to curb demands for action. Mail of members is filled with resolutions of protest against pic morals and requests for action, outgrowth of militant Catholic Church drive and general revitalized movement.

Industry advisers are suggesting that tactics be changed and instead of placing responsibility on public and exhibitors, producers make some move to satisfy protests by real action. Leaders should quit reciting figures which are intended to disprove contentions of reform element and produce some visible results, they believe.

Film regulation idea has received momentum from exchange between Darrow Board and NRA, block booking particularly coming to the front because this issue is most comprehensible to persons not acquainted with industry problems and technic.

Madge Bellamy, Silent Day Player, Back at Fox

Hollywood, May 28.

Madge Bellamy, a long-timer on the Fox contract list during the silent days, is back on the lot again for supporting parts.

Miss Bellamy's last picture was 'White Zombie,' an early talker made by Halperin Bros. She has been playing vaude in the east lately.

MG Plans World Exploit Tour Via Alaskan Ship with Radio Tie-ups

Hollywood, May 28.

Metro is trying to make a deal to purchase the square rigger, Alaskan Star, which ran from San Francisco to Alaska during the '98 gold rush, to make it a floating museum, representing Hollywood on a tour of the world. Boat was recently rebuilt by the studio for use in the making of 'Treasure Island.'

Boat, as it is now constructed, has a Diesel engine and test through soundings have shown that with its shallow draught it can go up the Mississippi as far as Cairo, Ill.

Plan studio has in mind is to carry on it exhibits of costumes and props used in the important Metro pictures of the past few years, also to have paintings and souvenir photographs of the stars on board, with the latter to be distributed to the visitors. It will carry a crew of around 20 as well as a couple of press agents and have them work in conjunction with exploitation men of the exchanges in the territory visited.

Figured that the ship will go around the Horn and up through the Southern American countries, around the Atlantic seaboard, then through the Gulf of Mexico to New Orleans, then up the inland waterways, with a possibility it may also go through the St. Lawrence into the great lakes area.

Besides the exhibits the is to have its own broadcasting appliances with the idea being advanced it can etherize once or twice a week possibly on a national hookup and nightly in the areas it is visiting. Figured that the tour the square rigger will make will take about two years.

A Tuff Job

Hollywood, May 28.

Samuel Goldwyn has begun his final personal selection of the 60 girls, all screen novices, who will comprise the dance and decorative ensembles the Eddie Cantor picture.

Three score femmes are to be picked from 200 tested as possibilities from over 1,000 lamped by Robert McIntyre, casting director.

Wallace Smith Goes To Mex. Jungles for Pic on Orig. Aztecs

Hollywood, May 28

Wallace Smith, film scenarist, leaves here tomorrow for the jungles of Mexico, 300 miles southwest of Mexico City, to make a picture backed by Mexican capital and okayed by the government.

Smith will base his yarn around the activities of a jungle tribe, said to be descendants of the original Aztecs. He'll write, produce and direct. Bolton Mallory goes with him.

Appreciation

Hollywood, May 28.

Al Rosen, agent, who has had a number of clients whom he took from nothing to stardom, walk out on him, is so appreciative that Harry Green has been loyal and is sticking that he is giving actor and his wife a trip to Honolulu with all expenses paid.

Green sails Wednesday (30) on the Monterey, and will be gone for three weeks, returning then to do picture at Fox.

CANTOR'S 40%

Orph, Fri , one Week—Subbing For Gov. in Boy Scout Address

Hollywood, May 28.

Eddie Cantor grabs himself 40% of the gross at the Orpheum, San Francisco, the week of June 1. Expectations are that his share will be around $10,000 for the stanza. Deal was made for him by Rufus LeMaire with Marco.

Before playing Frisco, Cantor, on account of illness of Governor James Rolph, Jr., will pinchhit for the latter at state convention of Boy Scouts at Sacramento on May 31. Governor requested Cantor to talk on citizenship to the youngsters.

San Francisco, May 28.

For Cantor's local Fanchon & Marco date at the Orpheum for one week, theatre again is revamping its admission scale, this time to 25 and 40c.

Jolsons Sailing East

Hollywood, May 28.

Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler leave here June 1 for New York via the Canal.

The Jolsons will summer at their new Scarsdale (N. Y.) home. He returns here the end of September to ready for his next Warner picture, starting Oct. 15.

Gatzert Serials at U

Hollywood, May 28.

Myron Gatzert, recently general manager for Ken Maynard productions, is the new chief of the Universal serial department.

Henry MacRae, who has handled the cliffhangers for several years, remains in the studio to work with Gatzert.

RADIO OUTBIDS METRO, $65,000 FOR 'ROBERTA'

Hollywood, May 28.

Radio has outbid Metro for the screen rights to 'Roberta,' the Max Gordon operetta. Sale price $65,000. M-G bid up to $60,000 several months ago.

Radio has nobody in mind for the cast at present but Metro wanted it for Marion Davies.

Powell's RKO Quartet

Hollywood, May 28.

Radio has contracted William Powell for four pictures.

Powell will star in two this year, and two next year.

TOO MUCH RADIO

Joe 'Cook's 'Fun on the Air' to Be Switched to Another Setting

Hollywood, May 28.

Because of the recent preponderance of radio station films, Fox has decided to change 'Fun on the Air' to another type of yarn and then give it a new title.

Arthur Ripley, who has been working on the 'Caravan' set as dialog director, joins Frank Scully today (Monday) in collaboration on the new treatment. Joe Cook, to be featured in the film, is due here from New York next week.

Metro did the same stunt with 'Excess Baggage.' Original vaudeville background was switched to radio, but later the whole thing was dropped.

Rodgers-Hart One More For Par, Then a Show

Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart have one more picture chore for Paramount, Booth Tarkington's 'Magnolia,' and then they will concentrate on a legit musical for the fall.

They go back to Hollywood in a month or so, and are specifically limited to but six months on the Coast.

See Early RKO Reorg. as Rcvr. Files 3d Report; Should Be OK'd by Fall

Irving Trust's third report, which shows that RKO's financial has considerably improved from an operating standpoint, looks to indicate early reorganization of that outfit. Reorganization plans will likely get under way this summer for completion in the fall.

RKO's receivership is about 16 months old presently, and with this anniversary Col. William Donovan's law firm, counsel for the receivers as well as the Irving Trust, is ready to partake of partial fees for its services amounting aggregately to $225,000. Bank gets around $100,000 of this figure when okayed by the court.

Total claims filed against the estate were $35,413,733.11, of which amount 17 claims have been withdrawn. The withdrawn claims represent $2,031,441.19. This total is outside of $16,239,708.76 represented in funded indebtedness of RKO, presumably the RCA holdings in the company and by order of the court these security holders have been exempted from filing these claims.

The receivers' report does not indicate the identity of the security holders thus exempted.

Summary of Claims

A revised summary of the claims as filed by the receivers follow:

Contingent claims based upon rent guarantees and direct leases, $29,483,217.61.

Contingent claims based upon guaranties of financial obligations and direct obligations of RKO, $4,525,114.40.

Claims founded on alleged breach of contract, $814,123.45.

Claims for goods and commercial services rendered, $25,769.78.

Claims for other services tendered such as legal, banking, etc., $106,101.64.

Income tax claims, $259,763.23.

Miscellaneous claims, $119,644.

Former Federal Judge Thomas D. Thatcher is special master in certain claim situations, appointed to consider testimony among others to the claim of Rockefeller Center, Inc., which amounts roughly to $12,000,000. So far he has not made any report on his findings in the matter. Additionally all claims disallowed by the receivers have been referred to Judge Thatcher. Hearings already have been held on claims amounting to $11,928,457.27.

Aftermath

The month of gruelling days and nights devoted by picture men last fall to the NRA battleground is believed to be exacting its toll in the physical condition of more than one man who was concerned in the Washington endurance contest.

Protracted vacations of executives is seen as having been brought on by the hectic and endless conferences while the Eagle was being born.

RECOGNITION OF PAR STOCK PREDICTED

Recognition of the Paramount stock under a reorganization of the company out of bankruptcy is predicted from informed inner circles. Additionally, the shareholders' protective committee, headed by Duncan A. Holmes, and including bankers, believes that there is no doubt but that the common stock outstanding will be favored in some manner or other.

The question with the shareholders committee, voice of which will soon speak for a large block of the stock, is whether or not the initial gesture toward recognition of the common securities will be acceptable.

To date a total of 1,500,000 shares of 3,300,000 which are outstanding, has been deposited with the committee and its counsel, Cook, Nathan & Lehman. This is close to a majority. Although the stock is scattered and in a lot of hands, the committee is hopeful of soon rounding up enough additional shares to constitute a majority, thus giving the protective group a powerful voice in reorganization.

Within a week or two the committee proposes to meet for discussion of plans and whatever steps are thought advisable in advance of a reorganization draft and positive knowledge as to what is going to be done about the common stock.

Committee does not expect that a tentative draft of reorganization measures can be worked out by Kuhn, Loeb for some time and until all facts and figures have been gathered together, a job that is now being undertaken.

In view of the improved condition of Paramount and the likelihood of a basis for reorganization that will be more favorable to creditors than in the average bankruptcy, it is now believed certain the stock will not be left out in the cold. The fact that many of Paramount's own employees bought the stock on the installment plan when it was $52 a share, also is expected to figure in its favor. Some are still paying off to banks on the stock they bought.

Col. Rubens Again Com. On Joliet's P.&F. Board

Joliet, Ill., May 28.

Col. L. M. Rubens, president of the Royal Theatre company here, has been appointed a member of the police and fire board of this city.

Col. Rubens had previously served on the commission from 1923 to 1931.

WB's 38G Net for 6 Months as Against 3½ Million Loss in '33

Warner Brothers reports a net operating profit after all charges of $38,855 for 26 weeks ended February 24, 1934. This compares with a loss of $3,442,325.96 for the corresponding period in 1933. Net profit before amortization and other charges was $3,639,151.

Company has credited $905,015 to its deficit account as representing profit on the redemption of funded indebtedness, adjustment of income tax reserves of prior years and profit on sale of capital assets. There was charged against the deficit account of $475,318.30, representing appropriation authorized by the board of directors in respect of investments and advances to affiliated companies.

Company's consolidated balance sheet as of February 24 shows total current assets of $16,661,155. Figure includes cash of $3,463,435. Current liabilities total $12,782,522.87.

BRITISH 'COPPERFIELD' PROD. IDEA DROPPED

London, May 21.

Idea of MGM producing 'David Copperfield' in England was quickly dissipated on the arrival of David Selznick, George Cukor and Howard Estabrook in London. They are recruiting some of the cast here, but most of the players will be selected from Hollywood's English colony.

Selznick is having innumerable photographs taken of locations which will be reproduced on the Hollywood lot.

Fox-H'wood Lot Cleans Up '34 Sked of 26 Pix

Hollywood, May 28.

Fox Hollywood studio completed its current year's program Friday (25) with the closing of 'She Learned About Sailors.' It's the first studio here to wash up the 1933-34 schedule.

After a week's lull, lot starts on 'Judge Priest,' Will Rogers picture, for the new program. This studio, run by Sol Wurtzel and John Stone apart from the Fox Westwood lot, has made 21 features and five Spanish pictures this year.

Seventeen features and six to eight Spanishers have been lined up for next year.

PEGGY'S POWDER

Albany, May 28.

The Secretary of State has granted a business charter to Peggy Hopkins Joyce, Inc., to deal in cosmetics.

The incorporators, beside Miss Joyce, are Charles P. Sakin and Isidore H. Mandel, both of 247 Fifth avenue, New York.

Pathe Ties Chi Fair on Exclusive Free News Deal; 2-Reel Plug Set

Happy Holiday

If it's a nice day this Wednesday (30) that rumbling noise will be the Fox conventioneers.

Company picked the holiday on which to launch its annual conclave in New York and what with the horses running at Belmont, the ball games, and all those golf courses—the Foxites wish you a happy Memorial Day with thunder showers.

PAR-ERPI 50-50 SETTLEMENT ON

Appears likely that present negotiations between the Paramount trustees and the Electrical Research Products, Inc. (Erpi), for settlement of the latter's claim of $1,900,000 against Par will be ironed out on a part-cash basis and that Paramount will get as a concession a substantial reduction in its future service charge fees on talker equipment in the theatres and at the studio.

Unofficial inquiry would indicate that Par is inclined to offer Erpi 50% in cash as a settlement figure, with Erpi also giving Par a 50% cut in weekly service charges. That alone would save Par something around $15,000 to $20,000 weekly, according to estimate.

No deal is closed, but the whole thing has been more or less under persistent consideration by parties involved for several months.

In connection with this Erpi claim, Austin C. Keough, general counsel for Par, spent several weeks on the Coast, while other Par execs concentrated at home on other phases of the Erpi tie-in with Paramount.

Settlement of the Erpi claim would vitiate Erpi's position on one of the creditor committees but would have no effect on the trustees' position, although C. E. Richardson, one of the three trustees, is generally considered to have been sponsored for his post through Erpi.

Mono Names Schlom as Mgr. to Aid Robt. Welsh

Hollywood, May 28.

Monogram has engaged Herman Schlom as production manager and assistant to Robert E. Welsh. Latter steps into the post of executive producer for the company Thursday (1) with the departure of Lou Ostrow to Universal, where he produces a series of features.

Schlom has been head of the Universal leasing department for several years and a veteran on that lot. A successor is slated to be selected this week.

Alfred Stern, who has been an assistant director and in various other jobs on the Universal lot for several years, has been appointed head of the leasing department. Schlom starts his new job at Monogram today (Monday).

Chicago, May 28.

RKO-Pathe has made a deal with the World's Fair for an exclusive two-way tie-up. Sold through Jack Osserman, chief of the local RKO exchange, the World's Fair will use the Pathe News for nightly showing on a gigantic screen hung above the middle lagoon. The daily news flashes will be free.

Plenty of howling among the various newsreel companies all angling for that Fair in but Pathe sold strictly on an exclusive basis. Rival companies have subtly threatened reprisals about cutting down on the Fair plugging in their films.

But Pathe had one big selling argument. That was the two-reel film on the Fair last year which was played through most of the theatres in the United States and many cities all over the world with proof that it was a box office winner. Claim that the two-reel story of the Fair sent plenty of visitors to Chicago last year. And the reel company is promising the Fair that they will make and release another two-reel exposition of this year's festival and have it on the screens before August rolls around.

Roxy, N. Y., Involved in Suit as a Preliminary To Reorganization

Continental Bank as trustee on the first mortgage began proceedings to prove said mortgages Monday (28) against the Roxy theatre, N. Y. Action is routine in foreclosure proceeding already pending and preliminary to the reorganization, and although there were objections by the Chase Bank as trustee under the second mortgage on the property, looks like everybody will get together in the final showdown.

The Chase Bank contention is that the Roxy name, as carried by the theatre, is conditioned by the second mortgage and not the first mortgage. First mortgage, originally amounting to $4,200,000, was essentially a construction mortgage and made before the theatre began operating.

Junior and the senior security holders may work on a reorganization plan together. This looks to be the plan as submitted through downtown bankers, and in which S. L. Rothafel (Roxy), Herbert Lubin and Harry G. Kosch, formerly a receiver of the theatre, are involved.

The bankers are ready with their $1,300,000 cash to supersede the present first mortgage and Roxy to operate the theatre for the new company. Question mostly involved still is how much salary Roxy will personally draw. Bankers are holding out for $500 plus a portion of the new stock for Roxy, but latter may get $750. Lubin will also get a salary but that's likely to be conditioned so that it will not come about until after the 6% on the $1,300,000 is paid, plus interest on the second mortgage. This second mortgage will likely be the present second mortgage and for which bondholders will receive new bonds at par value.

The new stock will likely go to the junior security holders plus the new first mortgage holders. Lubin as promoter of the deal will probably get a slice of new stock payment.

So far no deal has been signed. In the meantime, Receiver Howard S. Cullman has filed a report showing that the theatre earned a net of $52,518.79 before fixed charges for the past 25 weeks as compared to an operating loss of $56,325.70 for the corresponding period the year before.

Cullman's term as receiver expires June 15, but this term may be extended because the reorganization plan, even after approved, may take some months to work out. Cullman became receiver after Harry G. Kosch resigned.

U WANTS LAUGHTON

Hollywood, May 28.

Universal is negotiating with Charles Laughton for the lead in 'Sutter's Gold.'

J. M. Ridge Back To ERPI; Glennon Succeeds at Gen.

Hollywood, May 28.

J. M. Ridge has resigned as operating head of the General Service Studios to return to the ERPI organization, from which he came six months ago. T. Keith Glennon, vice-president and general manager, who was in charge during Ridge's recent three weeks' absence in New York, will continue to operate the studio.

Ridge's spot with ERPI in the New York home office will be in the general sales department. Accompanied by his wife, Ridge will spend a vacation motoring back to New York.

Col's 48, Incl. 8 Westerns

Columbia is dropping its action features this year in favor of eight westerns, under decision reached by Harry Cohn and others prior to the prez's plane departure Thursday (24) for the Coast.

Col will make 40 features, plus the westerns, for 1934-'35.

ALICE FAYE EAST

Hollywood, May 28.

Getting a four-week layoff from her Fox contract, Alice Faye left here Saturday (26) for New York, after finishing work in 'She Learned About Sailors.'

Player is expected to do a guest artist two weeks with Rudy Vallee and band in New York before returning to the Coast.

Ed Marin's Initialer

Hollywood, May 28.

First for Edwin L. Marin at Metro under his new directing deal will be 'All Good Americans.'

Film, based on the Laura and S. J. Perelman story will be produced by Lucien Hubbard.

RICHARD WALLACE ABROAD

Hollywood, May 28.

Richard Wallace leaves today for Scotland to film background footage for Fox's proposed film 'Marigold.'

Director will pick up a cameraman in England to make the necessary scenes.

RADIO CITY FLICKER

Hollywood, May 28.

Wallace Sullivan is writing the scenario for Radio's 'Radio City Revels', which will be based on the activities at Radio City.

Production will be handled by H. N. Swanson.

Pic Producers Won't Talk to News Services on Off-Color Outbursts

Hollywood, May 28.

News services attempting to get interviews from producers on the recent growth of religious campaigning against Hollywood on the off-color angle, are meeting with a general refusal from the film makers to talk.

Reporters endeavoring to get statements, answering the numerous outbursts of indignation from pulpit and lecture platforms, have been told to take the matter up with Will Hays in New York, as the official spokesman for the industry.

FRED S. MEYER IMPROVES

Hollywood, May 28.

After five and a half weeks in Cedars of Lebanon hospital, Fred S. Meyer of Milwaukee, secretary of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, is convalescing from a major operation.

Stricken during the closing hours of the MPTOA convention here in April, for several weeks his condition was critical. Hopes to go home in three weeks.

CHURCH DRIVE PROGRESSES

CA CALLS HALT IN DUAL CASES

Chicago, May

Possibility again looms that double features may be rushed back into this territory, along with the rest of the country, due to the likely decision by the national motion picture Code Authority that double features are an individual problem and cannot be forbidden by any code board ruling.

This possibility comes from John C. Flinn, C.A. sec, who has written all code boards throughout the country that they must make no decisions regarding double features grievance complaints, and that the national body will shortly issue a statement on this problem.

Flinn is due in town shortly on a general tour of the midwest exchange centers and will at that time clarify the situation in person.

Local grievance board has one double-feature case on the docket, filed by the westside Haymarket which is asking for the right to play two pictures. But the code board has passed up the case and will not bring it up to trial on Flinn's arrival.

Rebuff Insurgents In Aim to Trade on Catholic Crusade

The Catholic Church is reported turning a deaf ear to insurgent groups within the industry which would capitalize the religious crusade against Hollywood.

In several key cities certai - dependent theatre owner groups have gone to high men of the church and proffered suggestions that Catholics be urged to shun major theatres in which Hollywood producers are financially interested and concentrate their patronage, on the small independent box offices.

One bishop is reported to have flatly declared to emissaries from one such indie organization that the church is not interested in feuds within the industry; that it will take no sides and concentrate on the one mission of cleaning the screen.

No $2,000,000 'War Chest' To Fight Church Attack

The Hays office, along with other representative trade groups, went emphatically on record Monday (28) that filmdom is not raising a war chest to oppose the Catholic Church's fight for a clean screen.

Anent a Hollywood dispatch that the industry, with inference especially about the Hays coast office, is collecting $2,000,000 for a vast counter-exploitation campaign.

NRA on Church

The NRA this week may be looked to as an important intermediary in the Catholic vs. Flims.

Members of the Code Authority while certain that relief could be obtained through the Blue Eagle refused to commit themselves as to whether the morals trouble will be aired at the C.A. meeting, Thursday (31).

Leon Gordon Produces

Hollywood, May 28.

Leon Gordon joins Edward Small as associate producer on the Reliance filmusical, 'Transatlantic Showboat.'

Gordon wrote the original, screen play and dialog for the picture.

Church Preview OK's

A nationally united strategy in the form of a church board in Hollywood which would preview all pictures and wire decisions to all Catholic dioceses in the U. S. is being advocated in church circles.

This is prompted by the theory that one source must ban and approve pictures, otherwise there will be disunity and disagreement which would dissipate the general intent.

F-WC Bankruptcy Trustees in L. A. For Final Reorg.

Los Angeles, May 28.

After three months in New York in connection with reorganization plans, Charles P. Skouras and W. H. Moore, Jr., two of the three trustees in bankruptcy for Fox-West Coast Theatres, have returned here to complete final details that will bring about a discharge of the bankrupt estate.

No operation deal following reorganization has so far been signed with the Skouras Bros., but understanding here is that all details for such a plan have been worked out. Actual closing of the agreement will, it is expected, be held up until the bankruptcy proceedings are terminated.

Also returning during the week were Charles A. Buckley, circuit v.-p. and counsel; W. T. Powers, attorney on real estate matters, and Atty. W. B. Carmen, representing the trustees.

Earliest date on which proceedings can be cleared up is July 12, with actual discharge in all probability to follow around the last of that month.

DUAL BUGABOO HAS SHORTS' PRODS.' CHARY

Short subjects producers, according to leaders in their field, are no longer just fighting double features. They admit they are fighting for their existence; that the doubles thing has gotten beyond control and reduced them to a point where they are planning only one-third of the usual filler production for 1934-35, and uncertain that even that slash will not have to be deeper before the season is over.

Certain of the larger shorts heads predict that many of the major feature companies will be in a similarly bad way if they fight fire with flame and glut the market with cheap full-lengths during the year.

Some of the shorts men with major company affiliations hold that cheap films are essentially makeshift product and that big league trademarks cannot be sustained with such a policy.

WANGER TALKS FOX

May Release Own Productions on Deal Like Kane's

Walter Wanger may work out an arrangement with Fox similar to the basis of Bob Kane's deal. Negotiations are in progress. Wanger would finance and produce independently for Fox release.

Hollywood, May 28.

Walter Wanger is reported negotiating with Miriam Hopkins for a starring contract on a series of independent features for major release.

Player is under contract to Paramount until the middle of August, with the producer attempting to get her under his wing before too many bidders enter the field.

CATHOLICS WOULD ENLIST ALL FAITHS

Need for Prompt Action to Avert Drastic Penalties Upon Picture Industry Urged in East

REAL DANGER

Adding to the alarm of high film leaders over the impervious attitude to date of picture men to the agitation of church and others for clean screens is the revelation by church sources that over 1,000,000 Catholics and nearly as many Protestants have joined what is called the Legion of Decency. This has the threefold purpose of boycotting objectionable films, protesting against their exhibition and recruiting new members.

The Cincinnati June date to which the Catholic Bishops' convention to frame a national offensive has been postponed, will, astute picture minds believe, be too late for the industry to accomplish much in stemming the clean-up.

Already dioceses in 20 leading cities have organized independently, Catholics combining with Protestants in the drive against the box office which is considered unclean. These cities, according to 'America,' leading national Catholic organ, house a total of nearly 4,000,000 members of the church, of which one-fourth have already signed the clean-up pledge.

At this rate, within another month the drive can spread until film leaders, conversant and appreciative of the seriousness of the issue, see where fully half of the U. S. Catholic population of 20,000,000, can be counted upon as enlisted crusaders.

Very Serious Threat

Then, they hold, the Bishops will merely have to broadcast details of their method of national attack. It will be too late for the industry to act then, because by that time little

(Continued on page 23)

The Pledge

The pledge of the Legion of Decency which Protestants as well as Catholics are asked to sign reads:

'I wish to join the Legion of Decency, which condemns vile and unwholesome moving pictures. I unite with all who protest against them as a grave menace to youth, to home life, to country and to religion.

'I condemn absolutely those salacious pictures which, with other degrading agencies, are corrupting public morals and promoting a sex mania in our land.

'I shall do all that I can to arouse public opinion against the portrayal of vice as a normal condition of affairs, and against depicting criminals in any class as heroes and heroines, presenting their filthy philosophy of life as something acceptable to decent men and women.

'I unite with all who condemn the display of suggestive advertisements on billboards, at theatre entrances and in newspapers, and favorable reviews often given to immoral motion pictures in the daily press.

'Considering these evils, I hereby promise to remain away from all motion pictures except those which do not offend decency and Christian morality. I promise further to secure as many members as possible for the Legion of Decency.

'I further promise never to buy or read indecent books or magazines.'

Cross-Roads Exhibs in with Local Censor Bds. to Ban Over-Buy Pix

Chicago, May 28.

Chicago Film Board of Trade has a new censorship headache to solve. It's a censorship angle which is promoted by the exhibitors themselves in order to cancel overbought product. Exhibitors in nearby small towns with individual censorship bodies are working hand-in-hand with these censors in order to get out of playing certain pictures, whether or not these pictures have anything immoral in them.

One north side community recently had the Radio army picture 'Keep 'Em Rolling' banned by censor edict. This picture has passed through the country without a cut, being a picture about an army horse.

Film Board is calling a special meeting this week to discuss this situation which is now becoming unbearable in such ritz suburbs as Evanston, Lake Forest, Oak Park and others of that type.

It is likely that an appeal will be made to the national Code Authority for some ruling in these exaggerated cases of censorship.

Rebuttal

To prove the point that films are getting better, some newspapers are picking the 10 best films of the year so far. Such editorials are written as an indirect reply to the current clean-up agitation.

Radio Abolishes V.P. Spot; Other Changes Coming

Hollywood, May 28.

With the resignation of Merian C. Cooper at Radio, studio will abolish the office of vice-president in charge of production. Ben B. Kahane, studio prez, will have no liaison officer between himself and Pandro Berman, who signed a contract several months ago as executive producer.

Understood several changes are coming up in production ranks shortly. David Lewis and Glendon Allvine are slated to breeze as quickly as they complete their present duties, according to the report. Latter is finishing 'Let Who Will Be Clean,' while Lewis is unassigned. Miles Connolly, who resigned as producer some time ago, leaves as soon as 'The Family Man' is previewed.

H. N. Swanson, another producer, is on a week-to-week basis and has two pictures to complete, while Cliff Reed is awaiting assignment for a trio of pix for next year.

CARDINAL HAYES SAYS A WORD ON FILMS

Albany, May 28.

Cardinal Hayes of New York, stopping briefly in Albany, was asked his opinion of the boycott being waged in the Albany Catholic diocese against 'improper' motion pictures.

He said: 'The movies ought to be purified—they need it badly. The American people do not realize the harm that is being done to the youth of the land by those movies of a character that glorifies crime instead of horrifying it. After all, you know, American ideals are not unclean with regard to pleasure and entertainment.'

Mannix Held on Coast To Rush Current Sked

Hollywood, May 28.

Eddie Mannix, due to leave here Thursday (24) to discuss the Metro 1934-35 lineup with Nick Schenck, postponed the trip.

He is being held at the studio to rush through the pictures yet to be made on the current season's schedule, including 'Vanesse,' 'Movie Queen,' for Marion Davies, 'Imberline' and 'Five Days.'

New Indie Producer

Another independent company, waiting to clear its title, is Major Pictures Corp. It has signed Rose Hobart and Luther Reed to play title role and direct, respectively, the first of a series of six features. Production is scheduled at Irvington (N. J.) studios.

Dave Thomas, brother of Harry H. Thomas of First Division, is president. His son, Al, is doing the publicity.

ZUKOR SITS IN ON PARA'S REORG.

Hollywood, May 28.

Adolph Zukor leaves here tomorrow (Wednesday) for New York, staying east for about two weeks to sit in on conferences concerning financial reorganization of Paramount.

He expects to return to the Coast for a long stay to supervise the production branch of the company.

Eugene W. Leake, one of the three Par trustees, is en route east from the Coast.

This Stockholder's Suit vs. Warner Bros. Doesn't Miss a Thing

Receivership suit and accounting is asked from Harry M. Warner and 11 other defendants by Mrs. Holly Levine, a holder of 200 shares in Warner Pictures, through attorneys Foster, Cutler & Weiss, alleging mismanagement and misfeasance. Suit is brought in the N. Y. Supreme Court.

Defendants besides Harry Warner include Albert Warner, Warners Pictures, Inc., Waddill Catchings, Henry A. Rudkin, Harold S. Bareford, Stanleigh P. Friedman, Abel Cary Thomas, Moe Mark, Jack L. Warner, Morris Wolf, Sam E. Morris and Renraw, Inc.. Thomas & Friedman are counsel for Warners while others named are directors and officers. Renraw, Inc., is the private investment company of the Warner boys.

Mrs. Levin's suit is a squawk against almost everything Warners has done in theatre and music publishing acquisitions, operations, etc.

Laemmle, Sr., Postpones Trek to U's N. Y. Confab

Universal City, May 28.

Carl Laemmle, Sr., has postponed his trip to New York for the Universal convention.

Laemmie leaves June 20 instead and sails for Europe July 7 on the Ile de France. Producer will spend three months in Europe, mostly in Paris, Switzerland and Carlsbad. He will not go to Germany.

Amusements Make Small Fractional Gains After Dull, Low-Volume Week

tocks closed generally hi with volume improved from recent lows today (Monday). Amusements made minor fractional gains. Stocks failed to display strength shown by wheat, corn and other grains, wheat closing up the limit of 5c, while corn gained more than 3c. net. Stock market remained dull and almost featureless as it has been in past week.

Market continued at snail's pace Saturday (26) and closed with some dullness that was characteristic of whole week, a week that was marked by smallest volume in last eight or nine years. Small recovery last three days of week brought Dow-Jones industrial averages to 95.05, or just .08 below close on preceding Saturday. Prices sold off Wednesday, industrial averages declining to 92.23. The biggest dip of week came Tuesday. Recovery Thursday and Friday was slow and marked by little interest or activity.

Amusement group, on other hand, had much healthier recovery, and 12 representative issues advanced 0.905, or nearly a point net over previous Saturday's close. This splendid showing by film and amusement stocks brought group back to about where it was the latter part of April. Improvement was aided by three stocks going to new highs for year on big board and two soaring to new tops on Curb Exchange. Group passed 23-point mark and closed at 22¾. Even big drop in volume on Stock Exchange did not hit this group as hard as many others, the 12 issues used in VARIETY's amusement group showing that a total of 173,200 shares changed hands in week, not much less than week preceding.

Loew's common, however, did not share materially in this improvement, chart movement showing that this issue is evidently in a period of accumulation. Volume did not fall off materially but stock could not penetrate 31¾ level, and closed at 31⅜. It did not decline to lows reached preceding week and week before, and throughout week stock did not fluctuate more than two points. Warner Brothers common acted in much the same manner, though its action was disappointing to many, particularly after favorable earnings report.

Radio's Even Level

Radio Preferred B seems to have tested out the 30½ level for two successive weeks and never has sunk below 30⅝. Considering its recent advances to new highs, it did well to get above 33. Stock closed at 32¼, or slightly above close of previous week. If this issue follows its previous trend, it would again seem to be in process of accumulation. However, the trade outlook for immediate future is too vague to expect much of any amusement issue right now. Fox Class A apparently has established a new base near 13¾, for only once in the last three weeks has it been able to pierce this level. This stock has been most active between 14 and 15, since its climb to 17½.

Stock market traders were favored most of week by preponderance of good trade news, together with higher grain prices and almost sensational strength in wheat.

Columbia Pictures certificates reflected favorable dividend action late in the week by soaring 4⅞ points net, and hanging up a new high at 33½. Dividend of 25c. a share, plus stock extras was declared. Issue was highly active on upside, 13,000 shares changing hands. Eastman Kodak went to a new high at 96½, and closed week with a net gain of 1⅝. Favorable decision in Supreme Court on patents was excuse for boosting stock. Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer Preferred was other big board stock to advance to a new 1934 top at 26¾. However, it wound up with a fractional loss.

Pathe A Up 1¾

Other large gains included Pathe Class A, which was up 1¾ points net. It sold at 21¾ during week. Loew's common showed a net gain of three-fourts. Radio Preferred B; RKO, Paramount certificates and American Seating made fractional gains. Only losses in amusement group were small fractional declines, excepting Warner Brothers Preferred, which dropped 1¾ points net.

Technicolor advanced on heavy volume to a new high at 11¾, and finished week with net gain of 1⅜ points. Columbia Pictures stock on curb also soared to a new 1934 top at 32½. It showed a gain of 5¾ points at this level, and all trading was confined to Friday. Holders of this stock are to receive same payment as certificate owners. Diminishing volume of stock exchange transactions probably affected Trans-Lux, which dipped to a new low at 1¾.

Bonds also reflected apathy found in stock trading, but amusement liens in the main sported nice gains at close Saturday. Paramount-Famous-Lasky '47 certificates climbed 2⅝ points, while certificates of Paramount-Publix 5½s went up 2 points. RKO debentures also advanced two points to 31. Of amusement bonds, only General Theater Equipment '40 liens showed a loss, and this was of a fractional nature.

Paramount-Publix stock on produce exchange was remarkably active, and went to 5 on greatly increased volume. It showed a net gain of half a point at close, Paramount certificates on stock exchange were extremely active on Thursday when they climbed back to 5. This stock slid off later to 4¾c.

WB's Net

Warner Brothers Pictures reported a net operating profit of $38,855 for 26 weeks ending February 24, after taxes and charges compared with net operating loss of $3,442,326 in similar period in 1933. Common stock of company reflected this a bit by advancing to 6⅛, but closed week without a gain. Bonds of company showed a net gain of a point.

Silver message of Roosevelt proved a dud as far as stimulating stock market. And after publication of message on Tuesday, stocks sold down on following day. Hope of amending securities act to enable legitimate business to expand and expectation that stock exchange control measure will be comparatively mild if and when actually passed, are items of real interest just now. Usual decline in business activity this summer may not be as bad as indicated a month ago. But threat of strikes and recent outbursts of strikers in various sections of country have not materially improved sentiment in Wall Street.

Many feel that there will be a better feeling after Congress adjourns. Numerous doubtful measures and the forms they will eventually take as laws will be out of way for a time, and then traders will be able to get a much clearer picture of whole outlook.

Continuance of the advance in grain prices is apt to be reflected in time in stock prices. Just now, the present dullness in market and minor fluctuations are beginning to look like present period is one of quiet accumulation. Whether this drab, dispirited market will continue until Congress is out of way is anybody's guess. But it is evident that present market is strictly professional and that public participation is at its lowest ebb. A continued period of accumulation over the next week or so makes the market look a lot more like a buy than a sell.

Yesterday's Prices

Sales.		High.	Low	Last	Net chge
800	East. Kod.	96	95⅝	96	+ ⅛
200	Con. Film.	3⅝	3⅝	3⅝	– ⅛
11,200	Gen. Elec.	20⅜	20	20	+ ⅛
400	Fox A......	15	14¾	15	+ ½
2,500	Loew's	31⅝	31½	31⅝	+ ¼
9,300	Pathe A...	22⅜	21¾	22⅜	+ ⅞
1,800	Par. ctfs..	4⅞	4¾	4¾
4,800	RCA	7¾	7½	7⅝	+ ¼
900	RKO	3	2⅞	2⅞	– ⅛
1,000	W. B.....	6	6	6	+ ⅛
	CURB
1,000	Tech.	10¾	10½	10½	– ⅜
800	Trans-L ..	1⅞	1¾	1⅞	+ ⅛
	BONDS
$2,000	Gen. Th...	9⅝	9⅝	9⅝	+ ⅝
6,000	Loew's ...	100	99½	100
1,000	P-F-L	51⅞	51⅞	51⅞	– ⅛
5,000	Do ctfs..	51⅛	51⅛	51⅛	+ ⅛
15,000	Par-Pub. ..	52⅜	51½	51½	– ½
5,000	Do ctfs..	51⅛	51⅛	51⅛	+ ⅛
41,000	War. Bros.	60½	59½	59¾	– ¼

Summary for Week Ending Saturday, May 26

STOCK EXCHANGE

High.	Low.	Sales.	Issue and rate.	High.	Low.	Last.	Net chg.
7⅞	3¼	700	American Seat	4½	4	4⅜	+ ⅜
5¾	2½	1,200	Consol. Film (1)*	3⅞	3⅝	3¾	– ⅛
33½	23	18,000	Columbia P. vtc.	‡33½	29	33⅛	+4⅞
17½	10⅝	1,900	Consol. Film pfd.†	10⅞	10	10¾	– ⅛
99½	79	8,500	Eastman Kodak (4)	‡99½	92	95⅞	+1⅝
17½	12¼	1,700	Fox, Class A	14¾	13¾	14½	– ⅜
25¼	18½	33,700	Gen. Elec. (60c.)	20½	19⅜	19⅞	– ⅛
30	20	100	Keith pfd.	30	30	30
35⅛	25¾	28,500	Loew (1)	31⅝	30⅛	31⅜	+ ¾
7	4⅝	1,000	Madison Sq. Garden	7	6⅝	6⅝	– ⅜
20¾	21	400	Met-G-M pref. (1.80)	‡20¾	20	20	– ⅛
5⅞	1¾	47,200	Paramount ctfs.	5	4⅛	4¾	+ ⅜
4¼	1½	12,000	Pathe Exchange	2⅞	2⅝	2¾
24½	21½	14,800	Pathe, Class A	21¾	19¼	21½	+1¾
9⅛	6½	82,700	Radio Corp.	8	7¼	7⅜	– ⅛
35⅝	15	16,500	Radio pfd. B	33⅛	30⅝	32¼	+ ¼
4¼	2¼	2,300	RKO	3	2¾	3	+ ⅛
40½	10⅞	¶30	Universal pref.	38	38	38	–2
8¼	4⅞	24,000	Warner Bros.	6⅛	5½	5⅞	– ⅛
31⅞	18½	600	Do pfd.	24¾	21¾	23¼	–1¾
47¼	30¼	21,800	Westinghouse	34⅝	31⅜	34¼	+1

* Paid this year on account of accumulations. lus stock extras. ‡ New 1934 high.
¶ Unit of trading, 10 shares.

32¼	24½	200	Columbia Picts.*				+5¾
11¾	7⅝	10,100	Technicolor				+1⅜
8½	1¾	500	Trans Lux (10c.)				– ⅛

13	3⅛	$12,000	Gen. Thea. Eq.	9⅜			– ¾
72	51	9,000	Keith 6's, '46	68
102	85	34,000	Loew 6's, '41
98⅝	85	9,000	Pathe 7's, '37	97	95	95	+1
47	30	16,000	Par-Broadway 5½'s, '51	46	45½	45½
55	29⅛	23,000	Par-Fam-Lasky 6's, '47	52	49	52	+1
54¼	28½	25,000	Par-Fam-Lasky 6's, '47,	51	47⅛	51	+2⅝
53	29¼	71,000	Par-Pub 5½'s, '50	52	49¼	52
54½	29	83,000	Par-Pub 5½'s, '50, ctfs.	51¼	47	51	+2
41	18¼	2,000	RKO debs 6's	31	31	31	+2
65⅛	40⅞	185,000	Warner Bros. 6's,	60	57¼	60	+1

OVER THE COUNTER, N. Y.

Bid.
¼	Roxy, Class A
⅝	De Forest Phono

PRODUCE EXCHANGE, N.

15,000	Par-Pub	4⅝	+ ½

* Plus stock extras. † New 1934 high. ‡ New 1934 low.

SAAL-KELLY'S DOZEN

Turning Out 12 Pictures Which U. A. May Release

Bill Saal and Burt Kelly (formerly of KBS-Tiffany Picts) are doing 12 indie features at the old Biograph studios, New York, for major release. Negotiations are on with United Artists reported the likely outlet.

First is Dashiell Hammett's 'Woman in the Dark,' mystery meller, which Sada Cowan in scripting. Phil Rosen may direct this or others, having been in negotiations with Saal-Kelly.

Ushers' Union Finale Seen As Walkout Fails

The Theatre Amusement Employees Union, Local 118, is seen as going on the shelf as result of the attempted strike of less than a week's duration. This followed the report of two representatives of the Department of Labor who checked with front-of-the-house employees, janitors, etc, to find that 85% were satisfied with their jobs and their salaries.

The strike vote taken was supposed to have covered 2,200 employees in RKO and Loew theatres. Only about 100 responded, mostly service employees. The 25 drawn from the Music Hall and RKO Center were cleaners who are somewhat organized through a cleaning corporation with which the Hall and Center has its contract.

At a conference at which C. C. Levey, organizer of 118, was convinced that his offensive was without strength and support, the RKO and Loew chains made no concessions except to consider restoring to jobs the men who walked out in sympathy with the strike.

16 C.A. Appeals

Some 16 cases are crowding the appeals calendar of the Code Authority, most of these to be passed upon by the C.A. May 31.

NRA aides expect that Skourases will appeal the N. Y. Grievance Board decision finding them overbuying in Port Chester, N. Y.

Chi Code Bd. Tosses UA Elimination Battle in Lap of N. Y. Authorities

Chicago, May 28.

Local grievance board refused to decide in the case of the Morris theatre, Morris, Illinois, against the United Artists exchange on a plea for 10% elimination as provided in the code. Case has been certified for a decision by the national board in New York.

Morris theatre asked for a 10% elimination right as designated in the motion picture code. But the UA attorney pointed out that United Artists signatured the code originally only on the representation by the Deputy Administrator, Sol A. Rosenblatt, that the 10% elimination clause would not apply to UA product since it is sold on individual contracts.

Morris theatre, on its side, pointed out that Rosenblatt also interpreted that the 10% elimination would be okay on UA pictures if the exhib bought them on a single work-sheet even though the contracts were individually signatured. The theatre claims that the pictures were bought from one work-sheet.

This is the first case of this kind nationally and its decision will affect the sales policy of UA during the selling season. For this reason the local board hesitated to render a decision for a national policy.

Metro Elimination

Another question was the claim of the Montclare against Metro, the theatre asking for the right to name elimination within 21 days after availability announcement; while Metro insists on 14 days, according to its current contracts. However, in the battle before the board the matter of availability interpretation brought the board up against a stone wall, Metro wants the availability time to be considered from the time of the first release in the territory while the exhibitor claims that the availability and notification period should start with the notice through the publication of the regular monthly release sheet.

Grievance board couldn't decide on the first try and will reconsider the problem this week.

1st Runs on Broadway

(Subject to Change)

Week June 2

Paramount — 'Little Miss Marker' (Par) (3d wk.) (uncertain).

Capitol—'Viva Villa' (MG)

Strand — 'The Key (WB) (29).

Rialto — 'Hollywood (MG) (2d wk.).

Roxy—'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) (2d wk.).

Music Hall — 'Little Man, What Now' (U) (31).

Rivoli—'Born to (UA) (30).

Week June 8

Paramount — 'Many Happy Returns' (Par).

Capitol — 'Men White' (MG).

Strand — 'Fog risco' (WB) (6).

Roxy — 'Such Women Are Dangerous' (Fox).

Music Hall—'Sisters Under the Skin' (Col) (7).

Rivoli — 'Are We Civilized?' (indie).

$2 Pictures

'Rothschild (UA) Astor 12th wk.).

MAJOR DISTRIBS WOULD TEST INDIES' RIGHTS

The Blue Eagle is irking major distributors, and they are preparing to test this issue very shortly, on the subject of individual buyers being entitled to the same concession made to wholesale purchasers of film when a grievance board orders a switch in bookings.

In other words, if a board orders a major circuit to relinquish certain of its bookings in favor of an independent, the distribs want something done about the rental status. Distrib spokesmen hold that it is unfair for an indie with one or two small houses to be able to get the same type of deal made with a big wholesaler. Once the board has held that a major in a locality has overbooked the distribs feel they should have the right to redicker, as though a new deal were being made with the indie.

L. A. to N. Y.

Margaret Ettinger.
Ross Shattuck.
Bert Wheeler.
Austin Keogh.
Gene Fowler.
Howard Hawks.
Alice Faye.
Sammy Weisenthal.
Adolph Zukor.
J. M. Ridge.
James Dunn.
Katharine Hepburn.
Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Robinson.
Harold Lloyd.
Arthur Landau.
Andre Berley.
Richard Wallace.
Al Jolson.
Ruby Keeler.

N. Y. to L. A.

Marian Marsh.
Teet Carle.
Sidney Skolsky.
George Schenck.
Bebe Daniels.
Ben Lyon.
Bill Pine.
Fred Astaire.

BERLEY GOES ABROAD

Hollywood, May 28.

Andre Berley, French actor who was brought here by Fox to appear in the French version of 'Caravan,' leaves for the east today (Monday). He'll sail for France within next two weeks.

JUDGMENTS

(First name is that of the debtor; judgment taker follows.)

George A. Godfrey; Hubert & Hubert; $551.

Shepard Amusement Corp.; Bank of U. S.; $656.

Rayart Picture Corp.; Empire Laboratories, Inc.; $7,316.

Attachment

(First name is that of the debtor; creditor follows.)

Lyon & Healy, Inc.; M. Banner; $10,000.

INCORPORATIONS

NEW YORK

Albany.

Millhyde, Inc.; operate musical works, literary works, dramas, etc.; capital stock, 100 shares, no par value. A. E. Garmaize, 801 West End avenue, New York; S. Abrams, 315 Mt. Eden avenue, Bronx, and A. Brackman, 2401 63d street, Brooklyn.

Winninger, McNamara & Cameron, Inc.; theatrical enterprise; capital stock, $20,000. Charles J. Winninger, Peter J. McNamara and Duncan Cameron, all of 515 Madison avenue, New York.

Wired Vision Utilities, Inc.; television equipment; capital stock, 1,000 shares, no par value. Arthur J. Block, T. McGurn and G. W. Daly, all of 11 Niagara street, Buffalo.

D'Andrea Manufacturing Co., Inc.; musical instruments; capital stock, 100 shares, no par value. Ann Miller, Cecelia B. Simon and Sidney Sigelman, all of 551 Fifth avenue, New York.

Westchester Theatre Festival, Inc.; pictures, plays, etc.; capital stock, 120 shares, no par value. Louis B. Miller, William Heltzler and Juliet W. Levy, all of 1450 Broadway, New York.

American Decca Corp.; making of phonograph records; capital stock, 100 shares, no par value. Nathan Falk, Ralph Copland and Alfred H. Schultz, all of 745 Fifth avenue, New York.

Chick Lewis Theatre Corp.; operate theatres of all kinds; capital stock, 200 shares, no par value. Jeanette Zucker, Blanche Posner and Annette Freeman, all of 1501 Broadway, New York.

Colony Radio & Television Co., Inc.; general radio business; capital stock, 200 shares, no par value. Dorothy Gelfand, 9720 Kings highway; Julius Dell, 170 North Ninth street, and Ethel Teitler, 327 Bedford avenue, all of Brooklyn.

Javee Amusement Corp.; pictures; capital stock, $10,000. Alvin Gelfon, Jackson G. Cook and Charles Rubman, all of 11 West 42d street, New York.

Manter Amusement Corp.; theatrical business of all kinds; capital stock, $2,000. Benj. Weber, 865 West 180th street; Shirley Platz, 67 West 44th street, and Nathan Parnes, 166 Second avenue, all of New York.

Change of Name

From American Radio Sales Company, Inc., to Hamilton Radio Corp.; filed by Harold Alpert, 44 Court street, Brooklyn.

issolutions

American Theatre Corp., Schenectady; filed by Howard Hendrickson, 78 State street, Albany.

CALIFORNIA

Sacramento.

Hollywood Enterprises, Inc. Capital stock, $50,000. No stock subscribed. Directors: Tillie Ellman, Murray Ellman, Murray Feil.

United Artists Studio, Inc. Capital stock, 100 shares, no stock subscribed. Directors: Abraham Lehr, J. B. Codd, A. R. Evens, William B. Dover.

Permits to Sell Stock

Santa Barbara Theatres, Inc. Theatre operating. To issue 30 shares of total of 100, par value $100.

Strand Cinema Corporation, theatre operating. To issue three shares of 1,000 total, no par value.

INSURANCE CLAIMS SALVO

Lindsay, Peevish Petrel of NRA On Coast, Quits; Runs for Judge

Los Angeles, May 28.

Judge Ben B. Lindsay, stormy petrel of NRA agencies in Southern California, has resigned as State Labor Compliance Director, effective Friday (25).

Lindsay at the same time announced his candidacy as Superior Court judge in L. A. county.

Resignation was prompted chiefly by Judge Lindsay's official activities in connection with film code violation complaints by extras had been balked by order of Divisional Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt, after Lindsay had started hearings on the squawks.

His Swan Song

Emulating Clarence Darrow of the Review Board, Judge Lindsay had forwarded through George Creel, State NRA Director, to Washington his swan song in the form of a 42-page plaint, charging a thwarting attitude by major studios, and the Studio Labor Committee and Standing Committee on Extras toward NRA principles and procedures. His resignation preceded the arrival of this document at Washington.

Lindsay's battle for jurisdictional precedence in connection with the code squawks of extra players began practically from the day of his appointment through Creel some four months ago. He undertook hearings of several score cases, but was called off after a week's taking of testimony. Backed by Dr. Charles H. Cunningham of the local NRA bureau and by his immediate superior, Creel, Lindsay refused to comply with Rosenblatt's order to turn over the extra cases to Mrs. Mabel Kinney's standing committee.

Constant protests against his frustrated efforts to function in the motion picture code compliance field, although that was but part of his prescribed activities, kept Judge Lindsay's name public. He figures that the publicity will prove helpful in his candidacy for superior judgeship.

He may remain as advisor in the resigned spot until a successor, if any, be appointed.

Hearing June 12 on Pic Code Amendment Defining 'Employee'

Washington, May 28.

Film code will be reopened for amendment covering definition of employees on June 12, NRA announced Friday (25), but general discussion of pact will not be permitted.

Following new policy of reopening codes only for certain specified changes, NRA will not throw entire picture pact into the pot and will refuse to take testimony on assorted subjects or accept suggested changes in any other provisions.

Amendment, proposed by Code Authority, redefines term 'employee' with intention of making it more inclusive and eliminating possibility of evasion. Says:

'The term employee as used herein shall be deemed to refer to and include every person employed by any producer, distributor or exhibitor as hereinabove defined and shall also be deemed to include any and all persons however or by whomsoever compensated, regularly performing their services in motion picture theatres, which services are of a kind usually and customarily performed by theatre employees directly compensated by exhibitors.'

OMAHA INDIES REBEL

Omaha, May 28.

Strong majority of the 300 indie exhibs in the Omaha territory have filed notice with Code Authority that they will withdraw from enforcing NRA code provisions.

Exhibs, however, are in accord with labor provisions of code and will continue to comply 100% with this section of the regulations.

OFF-KEYERS $15

Fox Singers Not Worth $25 Daily, Code Authority Rules

Hollywood, May 28.

Reversing an award of the Executive Board of the Standing Committee for Extras against Fox Film in the matter of payment for 25 extras, Picture Code Authority has ruled that the bit players should be paid at the rate of $15 per day, compared with the $25 per day award made by the local body.

Case covered extras engaged to portray the role of intoxicated cab drivers who were required to sing in unison, but off-key, in a revelry sequence. C. A. ruled the players came under the group singers classification in reversing the local decision.

'DUTY DEFENSE' BY ROBINSON

Washington, May 28.

A lukewarm friend of film industry raised his head during Congressional shooting at NRA and Review Board last week, but industry so far remains without a really enthusiastic defender outside the Blue Eagle camp.

Registering a perfunctory defense of the recovery machine rather than any personal convictions, Senate Democratic Leader Robinson, who is President Roosevelt's official Congressional spokesman, put in a few good words for the picture pact and a tepid defense of Rosenblatt in responding to call of duty to answer Senator Nye.

With admission that he never expected NRA to prove a remarkable success, Robinson asserted that thousands of exhibs have praised the picture pact.

'There is not one single complaint of an independent or small picture exhibitor closed on account of the code, while thousands telegraph and write to NRA that it has saved them,' Robinson replied to Nye and Darrow.

'The code set up grievance boards with very broad powers,' Robinson stated. 'The evils of block booking are not due to the code. They are due to the copyright laws. The National Recovery Administration, however, obtained 25% relief of the rigors of block-booking contracts.'

'The National Recovery Administration has been blamed for the results of patent laws and copyright laws. It has been appealed to to take away from the patentee or the holder of a copyright his benefits under authority of national statutes. Quite manifestly that was an impossibility and it is unjust to criticize the National Recovery Administration in that way.'

Exploding shot in the direction of Allied camp, Robinson read to the Senate portions of bulletin put out by H. A. Cole, Texas Allied leader, praising work of Dallas grievance board in a dispute between one of his members and a circuit. Quoted Cole's statement that 'Here is the first piece of really good news that the independent has heard in many years. . . . Do you know what this means to you? If that principle is accepted in this business, it means that you can go home and sleep at night without the nightmare that a chain can come into your town and take it away from you. . . . This is the first ray of sunshine in the years of the battles of independents.'

SPOT JOE VALENTINE

Hollywood, May 28.

Joe Valentine goes to Metro today (Monday) as top camera on 'Student Tour.'

Valentine's last camera work was photographing 'Call It Luck,' at Fox.

PUBLIC LIABILITY DEMANDS SPREAD

Theatres Alarmed by Increase of Insurance Claims for Injuries—Plenty of Fake and Racketeering Insurance Demands

WOMEN PREDOMINATE

Chicago, May 28.

Alarming jump in the number of insurance claims for alleged injuries in the theatres has the industry staying up nights trying to figure a solution. Various conferences have been held among theatre managers and insurance company to seek an answer. B.&K. last week held a general managerial get-together with Harry Anderson, N. Y. insurance expert. This was only one of the many sessions being held throughout the country to acquaint managers with the growing problem and in an attempt to keep the claims from increasing.

In many cities the theatres are certain that a good many of the public liability claims by patrons are more or less in the nature of a racket. Evidence has been presented that in many towns there are regular organized insurance racketeering groups sniping for insurance claims from theatres.

But other than the strictly racket side of the picture, there is the general economic depression for the basic cause of the jump in claims. Lack of ready money has led ordinarily okay people to hop at any reason or excuse to pry some coin out of the theatres. People who formerly forgot about a stubbed toe now run with loud wailings to the nearest police court to ask for everything but the manager's toupee.

The Big Three

Theatre business now belongs with street car transportation and department stores as the ace insurance claim industries.

Orders have gone to all circuit managers throughout to go over their houses with a fine comb to make certain that all possible hazards are reduced to a minimum. Which means repairing all carpets which might catch ladies' heels, lighting all dark corners, making certain that all aisle lights have bright globes, that stairways have handrails. In many cases the extra lighting in theatres has brought kickback squawks from the patrons that the bright lights are annoying and distract attention away from the stage and screen.

But managers are willing to put up with this angle in order to make certain that the darkness isn't such that it becomes dangerous. Especially to people on their entrance, when they might stumble before becoming accustomed to the dimness of the theatre.

Most insurance claims are by women. And most of their claims have to do with slipping, tripping and falling, which is due mostly to their high heels. Most falls occur going downstairs. Women also have complaints about ripped stockings. But the managers are not worried about stocking claims. That's a 79c item for replacement.

F.D.R.'S NRA DICTUM IN NO WISE EFFECTS PIX

NRA aides and film spokesmen Monday (28) were unanimous in opinions that President Roosevelt's latest dictum effects the film code in no way.

The motion picture industry has an industrial code and it is in a classification which necessitates all signers to observe prescribed fair trade practices, as well as minimum wages, minimum hours and collective bargaining.

See a General Code Field Day Next Fall to Clarify Some Trade Angles; Pix Ignoring Attackers

NYE ROASTS ROSY

Calls im Plenty Conceited, Inefficient, Evasive

Washington, May 28.

Charges of misrepresentation and evasion were fired at Sol A. Rosenblatt last week by Senator Nye of North Dakota in one of series of speeches upholding Darrow board and assailing NRA. Solon ripped into trade practice clause defense by Rosy and was particularly incensed at Divisional Administrator's 20-page answer to Darrow suggestion that a new Blue Eagle exec be put in charge of film pact.

Remarking that Rosy's personal defense comprises one-third of his entire response, Darrow champion told colleagues 'Undoubtedly, as far as the deputy himself is concerned, the meat of his whole answer is in the last title inasmuch as it contains his extravagant rationalization in defense of his retainer. It devotes page after page of a government report to pure self-adulation and defense of an injured vanity which could far better have been exponded by the very simple statement 'I love me'.'

Characterizing Rosy report as filled with 'rantings and ravings' and 'frantic defenses based on unfair statements,' North Dakotan endorsed Reviewers' recommended code revisions in toto.

OVERBUY BEEF WINS 46 PIX FOR EXHIB

Chicago, May 28.

In the first decision by the grievance board in the matter of overbuying complaints the board voted in favor of the plaintiff and ordered the defendant to release pictures to the rival theatre immediately. This was the case of the Anette theatre in Cicero against the Schoenstadt circuit's Palace.

Board ordered the Palace to release 46 pictures starting with the releases of June 10 and divided as follows; 11 from Fox, 13 from Paramount, 15 Radio and 7 from Universal. There's further clarification necessary on this decision following the entrance of another theatre into the picture on subsequent runs.

One more over-buying case is on the docket for grievance board decision this week. That's the complaint of the Lake theatre, Michigan City, against the Tivoli in the same town.

Sinclair on Air

John F. Sinclair, who got considerable publicity as a member of the Darrow NRA Review Board when he filed a minority report disagreeing with the majority findings, is going on the air. He will do a nightly series for WMCA, New York.

Will talk on financial matters.

Mulls Studio Labor

Hollywood, May 28.

W. Jefferson Davis, local attorney, has been appointed by the Code Authority, to the code studio labor committee, as the impartial third member, to serve without pay.

This is the committee which has as its other two members, Pat Casey, representing the producers, and E. L. Smith, formerly of the musicians' union, representing the employees.

While independent leaders the code with keeping hundreds of smaller exhi business today, both they and major spokesmen are in agreement for the first time that regardless of Government action the formula must undergo a final field day. At least three clauses so far have proved stumbling blocks for official interpretation. These, and whatever other haziness develops during the summer, must be aired in an open Washington session for clarification. The date will probably be in September.

The reopening of the code, however, will be entirely voluntary on the part of the industry, leaders maintain. Simultaneously they predict that minor insurgent groups which cooperate with outside bombardments, like that of the Darrow committee and various civic associations' attacks on industry practices, will quite likely before the end of the summer find themselves in the discard, rather than the business.

In substantiation of this new philosophy of ignoring and letting die by their own hand such organizations which would blight the industry, wise men of the business point to the fight which was started in such associations as the Independent Theatre Owners of America in New York last week.

A booking combine reported to have been fostered by Harry Brandt within his own group—an insurgent offshoot of the Theatre Owners' Chamber of Commerce, started the flare-up, according to one version. Allied Exhibitors' reported effort to float funds for that national outfit's lifelong ambition to produce its own pictures only served to aggravate the situation, it leaked out of the meeting.

More Definition

On the imminent issue of code clarification leaders see where there must be sharper definitions for such clauses as those relating to non-theatrical field and prior advertising. Although the NRA in Washington over the weekend rendered an interpretation for lotteries and premiums there are some codists who believe this matter will also

(Continued on page 50)

Ticket, Coupon, Music Printing Code Approved

Washington, May 28.

Code authorities for ticket and coupon manufacturers and music printing industries were approved last week by NRA. Both lines come under graphic arts code covering all forms of printing.

Ticket and coupon code will be bossed by C. A. Lick, Jr., Fort Smith, Ark.; J. F. Hancock, San Francisco; J. A. Keller, New York; Charles Manshel, Newark; H. A. Kelly, Indianapolis; W. K. Treschel, Birmingham; E. H. Farr, Cincinnati; P. C. Snow, Philadelphia; P. P. Beyer, Chicago; H. M. Loth, Chicago; J. S. Arcus, Chicago; Clifford Elliott, New York, and H. F. Rawll, New York.

Music printing agency includes George Bornstein, New York; Gilbert J. Clappin, New York; L. Del Guercio, New York; Michal Mahony, New York; H. G. Mady, Chicago; Morgan O'Brien, New York; Joseph G. Ranc, New York; William T. Small, Boston; Herman J. Strohb, New York; Rudolph Tauhert, New York; William R. Teller, Jr., New York; William E. Zabel, Philadelphia, and Arthur Zimmerman, Cincinnati.

L. A. Pretty Poor; Scant Interest In 'Hitler's Reign,' 1 Wk. and Out; 'Little Miss Marker,' $11,500, N.S.G.

Los Angeles, May 28.

Top trade by the downtown first run contingent goes to holdover 'Viva Villa', which got off on the first day of the second stanza to better than a $2,000 take. Paramount was not so forte with 'Little Miss Marker' on screen and Helen Morgan and the Jay C. Flippen unit on its stage, getting off to rather poor start with little more than $1,400, which suggests a rather slim and unprofitable week for the house. 'Hitler's Reign of Terror', at the 514-seater Olympic, was just a busteroo. Opened to a $300 average for first three days and not attracting any attention with result it blows at the end of the first stanza.

Warner Downtown had no chance at all with 'Harold Teen', which went off the screen after three days (Saturday) playing to around $2,000. House on Sunday went back to policy of playing simultaneously with the Warner Hollywood bringing in 'Merry Wives of Reno' for the four-day stretch. Hollywood with 'Merry Wives' got off to best start.

'Twentieth Century' at RKO got off to better than average start for house and looks as though it will pile up nice take.

'House of Rothschild', in eighth stanza, holding okay with house continuing to advertise 'last two weeks'. 'Murder at the Vanities' for second and final week, departs Decoration Day from the house with just fair take and the theatre goes dark until new product is lined up.

Estimates for This Week

Chinese (Grauman) (2,028; 55-$1.65)—'The House of Rothschild' (20th Century) and stage show (8th week). Announcing early closing of run, trade holding fairly consistent with take around $11,500. Last week very satisfactory at just short of $14,000.

Downtown (WB) (1,800; 25-35-40-55)—'Harold Teen' (WB). This one just could not get over the hurdle so blew at end of three days to tune of $2,000. For final four days of week 'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB) will wind up with around only $2,000. Last week 'Upperworld' (WB) no trade at all, coming in with $3,300, which is red.

Hollywood (WB) (2,756; 25-35-40-55)—'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB). Just short of $4,000 opening day and looks as though take will hit around $5,000. Last week 'Registered Nurse' (FN) after little week-end flurry dropped like a thud and wound up with $4,300.

Olympic (Bdwy) (514; 25)—'Hitler's Reign of Terror' (Cummins). Nobody got excited about this one, and for its seven-day session will be lucky to hit $2,300, which is no profit for an opus that was heavily advertised and exploited, with take about even with advance expense.

Orpheum (Bdwy) (2,270; 15-25-35-40)—'Orders is Orders' (Gaumont) and 'As the Earth Turns' (WB) split, and in vaudeville. Getting pretty tough to make them go through ordeal of two pics and lots of vaude with result take not so hot around $3,500.

Pantages (Pan) (2,700; 25-40)—'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) and 'Take the Stand' (Liberty) split. Having preview spotted in Friday helped a bit as the cash register will sound off on week to tune of $2,700. Last week 'Laughing Boy' (MG) and 'Affairs of a Gentleman' (U) just shot over the $2,100 mark, which does not spell an even break.

Paramount (Partmar) (3,595; 30-40-55)—'Little Miss Marker' (Par) and stage show. Started off surprisingly poor, but with Decoration Day take may hit around $11,500, which is nothing to brag about. House issued 2,700 tax free passes on week. Last week 'Private Scandal' (Par) and Kate Smith on stage house was lucky it had Miss Smith to draw them in as final take ran short of $14,500. Miss Smith credited with more than 50% of the draw.

RKO (2,950; 25-35-40)—'Twentieth Century' (Col). Started off at fairly good pace and built daily. Due to come in with around $9,000. Last week 'Wild Cargo' (Radio) for final five days without Frank Buck tuned in with the expected $3,600.

State (Loew-Fox) (2,024; 30-40-55)—'Viva Villa' (MG) (2nd week). They want this one as second stanza started off very big and income for the week will run around $13,500, which is best holdover week house has had on a picture since going straight sound. Last week got a terrific play that wound up with $23,-900.

United Artists (Grauman) (2,100; 25-35-40)—'Murder at the Vanities' (Par) (2nd week). Doing just so-so on holdover, which will amount to around $5,800. Last week, first stanza slowed down after week-end and wound up with take of around $9,400.

'McKEE' STRONGEST IN OMAHA, $7,500

Omaha, May 28.

Total biz for this week will slightly better that of last week, mainly becausc of the holiday ending the week. Attractions mediocre with sole exception of 'Sadie McKee' at the Par, which bids fair to top $7,000, commendable.

State, fourth Blank Tri-State house downtown sector which has been showing double feature second runs on a split week, goes first run with 'Narcotic,' and top raised to 35c.

Last week heat and dust again took toll, and biz in all spots disappointing. Heaviest drop taken by Brandeis. The Dix-Dunne pic with 'Crime Doctor' yanked after six days; originally set for eight.

Ralph D. Goldberg's Town theatre upped its biz last week with a re-play of 'All Quiet on the Western Front.' House shuttles between first run indies, westerns, and second runs, ordinarily on split weeks, sometimes as many as three bills per week, but took 'All Quiet' in for a week and glad of it as income more than average.

Estimates for This Week

Paramount (Blank) (2,765; 25-40)—'Sadie McKee' (MG). Crawford a natural (fans look for her only in this house) and should lead the town this week; around $7,200, okay. Last week 'Villa' (MG) under expectations but above average, $7,000, satisfactory. Heat probably most reason.

Orpheum (Blank) (2,976; 25-40)—'30 Day Princess' (Par) and 'Glamour' (U) dual. Good enough fare, but only that; stands to do average biz, though not even with last week, $6,500, ordinary. Last week 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) and 'Uncertain Lady' (U) led to a cheering $7,200.

World (Blank) (2,100; 25-35)—'Merry Wives Reno' (WB) and an original matrimonial contest on the stage hallyhood is second attraction. In effect house is taken off its double feature policy one of the few times since it began nearly three years ago. Extra plugging may realize as much as $4,200, good. Last week slack at $3,800 with 'I'll Tell the World' (U) and 'All Men Enemies' (Fox) as twin features.

Brandeis (Singer) (1,200; 20-25-35)—'Party's Over' (Col) and 'Whirlpool' (Col), double features. Only six days to give way to a Decoration Day opening next week; looks $3,000, poor. Last week 'Stingaree' (Radio) and 'Crime Doctor' (Radio) pulled after six days of scheduled eight day run. Heat with no cooling plant here main reason; $4,000, saddening.

LINCOLN'S PRICE WAR

Not Quality But Quantity of B. O. Admish Seems to Count.

Lincoln, May 28.

Price war still on and gate tariffs sink lower and lower. Cal Bard shook his end of the street about five months ago when he began spilling four indie features a week at the Rialto before showgoers at a dime top. Other houses in that area, first class B-runners and repeaters, maintained a 15c nite gate and grumbled. Their ads in the papers drew the people into the area and the Rialto got 'em with the price sign.

J. H. Cooper was in town last week and whittled the Liberty's top to a dime which was immediately followed by Bob Livingston at the Capitol. Now the three houses use 12 features a week and grind for a dime all day. The Stuart, deluxer, with a 40c top, is showing the effects of cheaper admis. It gets the big chance this week to slip into some money for the first time in a month with 'Viva Villa'. In spite of everything, the neighbors are proving it's the gate and not the quality they're interested in here.

Estimates for This Week

Capitol (Livingston) (875; 10)—'Hold That Girl' (Fox) with 'White Zombie' (U), dual. About $600, okay for one half. Last week 'Morning After' (Maj) and 'Affairs of Gentleman' (U), and 'After Tonight' (Radio) with 'Girl Without Room' (Fox) last half, take neared $1,100, all right.

Colonial (LTC) (750; 10-15)—'Double Door' (Par). Should take the house up to $850. Last week 'Bring 'Em in Dead' (Indie) and 'Hell Bent' (Col) with 'Chance at Heaven' (Fox) split took $900.

Lincoln (LTC) (1,600; 10-15-25)—'Stand Up Cheer' (Fox). Doesn't look too good, $2,000 will make 'em happy. Last week 'Men White' (MG) neat taker topping the town with $2,700.

Orpheum (LTC) (1,200; 10-15-25)—'Sorrell and Son' (UA) and 'You're Telling Me' (Par) split. First straight pic week, $1,400 plenty good. Last week 'Sinners Meet' (Radio) and 'Springtime for Henry' (Par) with vaude got $1,800, about average.

Stuart (LTC) (1,900; 10-25-40)—'Villa' (MG). Should garner $3,500, very nice. Last week 'Change of Heart' (Fox), a steady dwindler to $2,300.

DUALS, SCALE, BLAMED FOR SF'S OFF BIZ

San Francisco, May 28.

Frisco business Plenty houses planning closure but all grimly hanging on meanwhile.

What worries them most of all is the tremendous business done by other attractions. The six-day bike race just closed, for instance, with a reported $46,000 take. The Barnes Circus got an all time high of some $40,000 on its four days. And yet the picture houses, with rare exceptions, can't hit a profitable gross, as witness the Orpheum with Ben Bernie last week.

Many blame double bills. Ticket buyers, they fear, are seeing so much show at one sitting that they aren't in a theatre mood for another two weeks or more. The customers are punch-drunk from bargain shows and don't go unless they can get a dollar's worth of entertainment for two bits.

A cheery note is the holdover of 'Villa' at the St. Francis, giving it three weeks at that house, and the fourth on Market street.

After stumbling along with high-priced shows and low grosses, the Orph is trying another angle, price cutting. With Olsen and Johnson on stage, house has slashed to two bits anywhere in the house up until 6 p. m., figuring to build up matinee play that way.

Topping the town is 'Manhattan Melodrama,' with Gable and Loy repeating their money draw of 'Men in White,' aided by William Powell. Film doing well and stage show a helper, too.

This is curtains for United Artists which closes Wednesday night (30) after five days of 'Modern Hero.' House shutters until mid-August because of lack of product. Strand has gone back to dual subsequents after a futile six-day try at 'Hitler's Reign of Terror,' which went toom.

Elimination of stage shows hasn't meant much difference to the Fox one way or another, except possibly in profit. Take on last week without the vaude was virtually the same as before, and at a lower cost, and current stanza is looking up with a pair of Columbia pix including 'Sisters Under Skin,' which was originally booked for the Golden Gate. 'Money Means Nothing' the other.

Between Sidney and Grant in '30 Day Princess' and William Rogers in 'Upperworld' Paramount is catch-

(Continued on page 10)

'Murder,' Dave Apollon, Nice $24,000; RKO Boston Without Vaudeville Sets New Low; 'Beyond Bengal' $4,000

Boston, May 2

Biz is lively for the spots with good shows, and outlook is that others with poor to middlin' product will take it on the schnoz. What help the holiday may be is in the dice; good weather for the outdoorists will be bad for the theatre, or t'other way around. But chief trouble is with low average on show appeal. Town had a splurge earlier, everybody sh ring.

Estimates for This Week

Keith's (RKO) (4,000; 25-35-40)—'Black Cat' (U) and 'Strictly Dynamite' (Radio). Like most of rest in town, much depending on Memorial Day weather, but $8,500 would be fair. Last week, off, with 'Stingaree' (Radio), at $7,000.

Boston (RKO) (4,000; 25-30-40)—'I' Tell World' (U) and 'Crosby Case' (U). N.s.g. on quality and may hit $9,500. Last week, 'Party's Over' (Col) and 'Line Up' (Col) down to $7,500. New low record and less than half the lowest it ever did when it had stage shows.

Orpheum (Loew) (3,000; 30-40-50)—'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) and vaude. Film active on the draw, and spot looks set to nail very fine $15,500. Last week, 'Viva Villa!' and vaude crashed the purses for $16,000, extraordinary.

State (Loew) (3,000; 30-40-50)—'House of Rothchild' (UA) held over because of smash biz first week at glorious $14,500. Likely to garner $12,000 on second semester, which should be hoorayish, too.

Met (M&P) (4,330; 30-50-65)—'Murder at the Vanities' (Par) and Dave Apollon. Generally fine stage show. Show surely ought to harvest $24,000, very sweet. Last week, 'Change of Heart' (Fox) and stage show headed by Nick Parkyakakas began well, but slanted, totaling $20,500, just fair.

Paramount (M&P) (1,800; 35-45-55)—'Witching Hour' (Par) and 'Very Honorable Guy' (FN). May get $7,000, fair. Last week, 'Such Women Are Dangerous' (Fox) and 'Private Scandal' (Par), so-so at $6,500.

Majestic (Shuberts) (1,600; 25-35-55) — 'Beyond Bengal' (Harry Schenck). Finely ballyhooed, grand premiering, film interesting and exciting. Probably around $4,000. Schenck's in town in-personing, for schools, clubs, etc., and making good impression, which may send 'em to his show.

LOMBARDO ORCH. UPS 'TROUBLE' TO 21G, PITT

Pittsburgh, May 28.

Summer's here in fancy if not in fact. rosses already hitting mid-July levels and a couple of sites already talking of folding for the warm months, which is still an additional tip-off.

Current week's topper is Stanley, where Guy Lombardo in person is magnet. 'Looking for Trouble' on screen, but it's the band that's pulling 'em and should give spot a little bit of manna at $21,000, which is balm here after b.o. wounds of last few weeks. Only other site in the money is the Warner, where twin bill policy seems to be catching on, although not entirely without materially affecting other WB sites, particularly the Stanley, where, without a stage attraction last week, gross was below that of Warner. Current week with 'Merry Wives of Reno' and 'Wharf Angel' should bring in $5,750, all right.

Penn should manage an even break with 'Manhattan Melodrama' at $10,000, while Fulton dips discontentedly into the red with 'Murder at Trinidad' at $3,700.

Estimates for This Week

Fulton (Shea-Hyde) (1,750; 15-25-40)—'Trinidad' (Fox). Succession of weak pictures sending house into red, but should pick up with a stronger line-up in prospect. Nothing cheerful about $3,700 in prospect currently. Last week, 'Show Off' (MG) not much better at $3,900.

Penn (Loew's-UA) (3,300; 25-35-50)—'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG). Incessant Hearst plugging should further help natural impetus Gable got in recent 'Men in White.' An even break at $10,000. Last week, 'Viva Villa' (MG), sturdy at $13,000.

Pitt (Shafer) (1,600; 15-25-40)—'Twin Husbands' (Indie) and 'Harlem Is Nice' on stage. House feeling the warm-weather pinch and it probably won't be long now. Looks like $4,600, brutal, this week. Last week, 'Social Register' and 'Midway Nights' on stage, around $5,000.

Regent (WB) (900; 25-35)—'Crime Doctor' (Radio) and 'He Couldn't Take It' (Indie). Small-seater managing to hold its own and turn a scant profit each week. Matter of product, however, may become serious in time with major distributors increasingly against letting site have first-run product. At $1,750, no kicks coming. Last week, 'Where Sinners Meet' (Radio) and 'One Is Guilty' (Col), about $1,800.

Stanley (WB) (3,600; 25-40-60)—'Looking for Trouble' (UA) and Guy Lombardo's band. First time for orchestra leader on a local stage and radio rep giving him a draft which should account for excellent $21,000. Last week, 'Melody in Spring' (Par), plenty headachy at $5,000.

Warner (WB) (2,000; 25-40) — 'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB) and 'Wharf Angel' (Par). Bargain dual should do all right, $5,750. Last week, first of new policy, 'Black Cat' (U) and 'Man Is Mine' (Radio), all right at $5,500.

His Majesty's, Mont'l, Goes Pix with 'All Q't' Revival, Nice $3,500

Montreal, May 28.

With His Majesty's coming into pix this week and average shows at other main stems outlook is not over sweet currently, although Palace and Capitol both opened to good biz. Temperatures still wintry but weather fine and long week-end with Monday holiday will cramp grosses.

His Majesty's opens today (Monday) with 'All Quiet' at 50c top and may gross $3,500. Palace has '20 Million Sweethearts' and 'Registered Nurse' which started well and will likely top town at $9,000. Capitol also made good start with 'Change of Heart' and 'Believe in You', which should run to $8,000. Loew's has gone British showing 'Jack Ahoy' and 'Lost Chord'; may gross $7,000 and around the same figure for Princess on '20th Century' and 'One Is Guilty'. Cinema de Paris repeats 'Liberte Cherie' for $1,250.

Nabes beginning fine weather.

Estimates for This Week

His Majesty's (CT) (1,600; 25-50)—'All Quiet' (U). Starting Monday, not much over $3,500. Last week French operetta $3,000.

Palace (FP) (2,700; 50)—'20 Million Sweethearts' (WB) and 'Registered Nurse' (WB). Looks for $9,000, okay. Last week 'Earth Turns' (WB) and 'Honorable Guy' (WB) $6,500.

Capitol (FP) (2,700; 50)—'Change of Heart' (Fox) and 'Believe in You' (Fox). Should gross $8,000, nice. Last week 'Tarzan' (MG) and 'Private Scandal' (Par) $7,500.

Loew's (PP) (3,200; 50)—'Jack Ahoy' (British) and 'Lost Chord' (British). Experimental, maybe $7,000. Last week 'Glamor' (U) and 'Tell the World' (U), $6,000.

Princess (CT) (1,900; 50)—'20th Century' (Col) and 'One Is Guilty' (Col). Should garner $7,500. Last week 'Palooka' (UA) and 'Social Register' (Col) $5,500.

Cinema de Paris (France-Film) (600; 50)—'Liberte Cherie'. Second week $1,250, after $1,500 last week.

Portland's Unique Plaint—It's Hot!

West Is Unusual—Kate Smith Unit Takes Smacko $7,000

Portland, Ore., May 28.

Heat is the alibi this week and taking its toll at the b.o. Cooling plants in all theatres are working overtime.

Attractions at all houses about par with the exception of 'Viva Villa' (MGM), which is getting its second week of unusually large biz.

Kate Smith and company at the Music Box attracting a few more dimes for Hamrick. Pic doesn't mean anything.

Al G. Barnes' circus got a big play for two days last week, and the boys were glad to bid them a fond farewell.

'Murder at the Vanities' (Par) got rave notices and may do better biz than usual at the Paramount.

Estimates for This Week

Broadway (Parker) (2,000; 25-40)—'I'll Tell the World' (U) and 'Lazy River' (MGM) won't end any record, but getting a consistent play. Probably $4,500. Last week 'Twenty Million Sweethearts' (WB) got more than its share. Critics raved and $6,000 came in.

Paramount (FWC) (3,000; 25-40)—'Murder at the Vanities' (Par) and 'The Party's Over' (Col). Vanities given lotsa attention by the press and should register a big $3,800. Last week 'Change of Heart' (Fox) and 'Witching Hour' (Par) held an even gait and romped home with $4,800.

Music Box (Hamrick) (1,400; 25-35)—'This Man Is Mine' (Radio) and Kate Smith and company. Looks like another banner week for this Hamrick house, but the pic is a weak sister. Maybe $7,000. Last week 'Finishing School' (WB) and 'Heat Lightning' (FN) first dual this house has shown, and got $2,300.

Oriental (Hamrick) (2,500; 25-35)—'Sing and Like It' (Radio) and 'Modern Hero' (WB) combo, which might reach $2,500. Last week 'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB) and Ted Lewis. Most this house has seen for several years, $7,000.

Loop Repeating 1933 Fair Get-away Dip; 'Murder' Will Do $24,000, Chi; 'McKee' at $18,000, Palace Up at 19G

Chicago, May 28.

the opening doldrums of last year, the loop is feeling the competition of the Fair. Local mobs are already headed for the expo and the loop will go into a three or four week slump until all Chicagoans get the Fair out of their system and the visitors hit the burg from the other parts of the country.

Business off throughout the town. Pictures are not holding up and even those with acknowledged punch are doing only so-so trade. This happened last year, but the summer ended with huge profits all along the line.

Chicago has been forced into a Wednesday opening these last two weeks, and against its will. Yanked '30 Day Princess' (Par) after five days last week and replaced with 'Murder at the Vanities' (Par) hoping for a nine-day run for the Earl Carroll flick to bring it up to a Friday opening again. But Vanities' will have difficulty in doing $24,000 and that's not a nine-day score. So goes out on Wednesday (30), with 'Thin Man' (MG) coming in for that nine-day hope.

Even 'Sadie McKee' (MG) is not up to expectations at the United Artists. Had hopes for truly big grosses but won't top $20,000 on its opening session. At that, pace will be lucky to go more than a fortnight.

Real trade of the town, in comparison, is being turned in by the Palace which this week starts its series of 'World's Fair' shows. Has brought in Ken Murray for a stock m. c. and also a regular produced and a line of girls. Business opened excellently on Friday and indications are for the best take for this box-office in more than three months.

Estimates for This Week

Chicago (B&K) (3,940; 35-55-75)—'Murder in Vanities' (Par) and stage show. Opened on Wednesday (23) after '30 Day Princess' (Par) sank to all-time low of $12,000 for its five-day stay before being yanked. But 'Murder' is not much better at the box office and will scram this Wed. (30) with a likely $24,000, sad. Replacing will be 'Thin Man' (MG). This low ebb of grosses is a repetition of last summer's trend and as the trend repeats 1933 identically house will wait until late in June before the real pick-up gets started.

McVicker's (B&K) (2,284; 25-35-65)—'Viva Villa' (MG). Had a good run after a slow start. Lams on Wed. (30) to give way to 'Change of Heart' (Fox), the Gaynor-Farrell pic. 'Villa' tops $9,000 for final seven days after hitting fine $16,100 for previous seven.

Oriental (B&K) (3,200; 25-35-40)—'Trumpet Blows' (Par) and vaude. No change in pace at the register, remaining within the $11,000-$12,000 brackets which mean no profit anywhere. Last week was slightly under $11,000 with 'Once to Every Woman' (Col).

Palace (RKO) (2,500; 35-55-83)—'Upperworld' (WB) and Ken Murray headlining vaude show. One of the few Warner pictures to play this house. Theatre is on the spot regarding product. Business perking like a freshly watered flower and things look better than they have in some time. Every indication for the right side of the ledger this week, and may run over $19,000 currently. Last week fair for 'Stingaree' (RKO) at $16,200.

Roosevelt (B&K) (1,500; 25-35-45)—'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG). Holding for third week in loop, doing fine $9,900 last session on hold-over and continuing over $6,000 pace currently.

State-Lake (Jones) (2,700; 20-25-35)—'Poor Rich' (U) and vaude. House holding its patronage steadily and touching $11,000 this week for profits. Last week, 'Hips, Hips, Hooray' (RKO) okay at $11,400.

United Artists (B&K-UA) (1,700; 35-45-65)—'Sadie McKee' (MG). Being slowed down by the general lassitude of the burg. Maybe $18,000 on the first session, fair enough. 'Rothschild' (UA) finished a sensational four-week run at $12,600.

WB Sales Powwows to Settle 15c and % Terms

Whether Warners will maintain its sales policies of 1933-'34, including the 15c admission minimum and straight percentage, will be threshed out at a series of four regional conventions.

First opened yesterday (Monday) in Montreal, second will be in Atlantic City June 4-5. Third at Chicago June 11-12 and the fourth in San Francisco June 18-19.

N. O. NSG

'Vanities,' $9,000, Sole Bright Spot—Others Plenty Off

New Orleans, May 28.

People every place but in the theatre this week and the cinema tempis are overflowing with red ink. Without official designation, its a new low week. One ray of light is 'Murder At the Vanities,' which will bring $9,000 into the Saenger.

Loew's State and the Orpheum have Durante and Velez playing against themselves so to speak in 'Strictly Dynamite' and 'Hollywood Party.'

Estimates For This Week

Saenger (3,568; 40)—'Murder At Vanities' (Par). Nicely spotted here and, with clear field, will ensnare nice $9,000. Last week 'Change of Heart' (Fox) ditto.

Loew's State (2,218; 40)—'Hollywood Party' (MG). Weak sister will drop house to $6,000. Last week 'Sadie McKee' (MG) to wopping $12,000.

Orpheum (2,400; 35)—'Strictly Dynamite' (Radio), Starving to death and will not get more than $4,000. Last week dual, 'Whirlpool' (Col) and 'Sisters Under Skin' (Col), to $5,000.

Tudor (700; 30) — 'Registered Nurse' (FN), rawing the nurses and some others to the extent of $2,000. Last week 'Women Are Dangerous' (Fox), same.

St. Charles (2,200; 25)—'Son of Sailor' (WB). Not so hot at $1,700. Last week 'I'll Tell the World' (U), $1,600.

'Change of Heart' and Raft in Person Tops Buffalo with $17,500

Buffalo, May 28.

Continued cool spell keeping business at a lively pace at local box offices. Takings holding their own currently after excellent returns last week.

George Raft in person is helping out at the Buffalo and the gross should equal or exceed last week's good business which was substantially over anticipations.

'House of Rothschild' took a sudden spurt during its second week on the strength of the comment by fans with the second period going almost to the same figure as the first week.

Estimates for This Week

Buffalo (Shea) (3,600; 30-40-50)—'Change of Heart' (Fox) and George Raft in person. Strong and well balanced program opened nicely and may go $17,500. Last week 'Sadie McKee' (MG) and Habenera Revue. Good show kept takings up with the Crawford-Tone local angle stressed for much interest. Bettered expected figures at $17,000.

Hipp (Shea) (2,400; 25-40)—'Murder at the Vanities' (Par). Business back at normal figures for this one, the opening days pays' indicating about $8,000. Last week 'House of Rothschild' (UA) in second week, real surprise near $13,500, only $500 under the first week's figure, and making over $27,000 for the two weeks.

Century (Shea) (3,400; 25)—'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) and 'Heat Lightning' (WB). Moderate gross indicated for this period which will probably run a little above average, at $6,500. Last week 'Come on Marines' (Par) and 'Sing and Like It' (Radio), around $6,000.

Lafayette (Ind.) (3,400; 25)—'20th Century' (Col) and 'One Is Guilty' (Col). Takings holding up in fine style. Barrymore feature warmly received and seems to be drawing extra clientele for the theatre. Running neck and neck with last week. May go $8,500. Last week 'Gambling Lady' (WB) and 'Manhattan Love Song' (Mono), obtained $8,600 for the best week since mid-winter.

'Smarty' $6,200; 'McKee,' $5,800; In Indianapolis

Indianapolis, May 28.

'Sadie McKee' is the only thing like a big noise in a quiet week among the downtown houses. The Crawford following will hold the Loew's Palace gross up to the $5,800 mark for the week, which is a respectable figure, if nothing more. The usual influx of 500-mile race fans didn't start as soon as usual this year, and the early birds passed up the theatres in favor of the niteries. The night before Decoration Day, however, is expected to be a large evening for the show houses, as a result of the race visitors.

Estimates for This Week

Apollo (Fourth Ave.) (1,100; 20-25-40) — 'Change of Heart' (Fox). Gaynor and Farrell aren't so strong as they were formerly, but the house held them over for a second week in memory of better days. Holdover will only hit $3,000, fair. Last week same film did no better than moderately well with a total of $6,000 for nine days (having opened two days early).

Circle (Katz-Feld) (2,600; 25-40) —'Murder at Vanities' (Par). Not anywhere near hopes and is running just fairly well at $3,700. Was given extra big newspaper ad space, but no avail. Last week, 'Thirty Day Princess' (Par) was weak at $3,000.

Indiana (Katz-Feld) (3,100; 20-25-40)—'Little Miss Marker' (Par) and 'Whirlpool' (Col). Mailed in weak $2,400, which is sad, and the house closes its doors for an indefinite period. Last week, 'Sisters Under the Skin' (Col) and 'Finishing School' (Radio) on twin bill only garnered a measly $2,000, pitiful.

Lyric (Olson) (2,000; 20-25-40)—'Smarty' (WB) and vaude. Stage show attracting enough out-of-town business from race crowds to lift the gross a shade to $6,200; not bad. Last week, 'Black Cat' (U) and vaude was only average at $5,900.

Palace (Loew's) (2,800; 25-40) — 'Sadie McKee' (MG). Crawford name and good campaign in newspapers helped to attract $5,800, all right. Last week, 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) not so hot at $4,200.

25c Top the Kansas City Rule

'Hollywood Party' Light at $9,500 in Loew's Midland

Kansas City, May 28.

With the Mainstreet changing its policy this week to two features for twenty-five cents, any seat any time, the two-bit price becomes unanimous for all the downtown first runs.

Newman is also shooting two features for one admission. Midland only one sticking to single features. Running races in the afternoon and night baseball is cutting into the grosses of all the houses.

Estimates For This Week

Mainstreet (RKO) (3,200; 25)—'Finishing School' (Radio) and 'Crime Doctor' (Radio). First time the house has given two features for a quarter and the result is being watched with interest by the opposition and the RKO home office. Opened fair and should draw close to $3,500. Last week 'Registered Nurse' (FN) and the George Olsen band $9,500, not as good as was expected.

Midland (Loew) (4,000; 25)—'Hollywood Party' (MG). A lot of familiar and well like names in this. But light biz at $9,500. Last week 'Sadie McKee' (MG) lived up to its advance estimates and holdouts were frequent, $13,000.

Newman (Par) (1,800; 25)—'Murder in the Vanities' (Par) and 'All Men Are Enemies' (Fox). The Carroll picture was the teaser for the customers and they bought it heavily the first three days which indicates close to $9,000, big. Last week '30 Day Princess' (Par) and 'Uncertain Lady' (U). Never got a real start but was helped some by the convention visitors as the house is the nearest to the leading hotels, for $4,000.

Tower (Rewot) (2,400; 25)—'Easy to Love' (WB), and stage show. Saturday and Sunday business good which helps a lot towards the week's gross. Maybe $5,500. Last week 'Countess of Monte Cristo' (U) and colored stage show, got $5,000.

Uptown (Fox) (2,040; 25-40)—'Change of Heart' (Fox). This is the second week for the Gaynor-Farrell picture and it is holding up well. Probably $3,000 after $3,500 for the first seven days.

'Tell' Pushing for $30,000, Roxy And 'Party's' $20,000 Spells H.O.; 'Marker's' 2 Wks $67,000 for Par

'MISS MARKER' $9,000

New Haven Enthuses Over Shirley Temple

New Haven, May 28.

Paramount looks to lead the town for first time in months, with word-of-mouth on Shirley Temple a big factor.

Subsequent run booking of 'Tarzan' across the street at Bijou won't help 'Wild Cargo' any at Palace. Campaign on 'Cargo' stuck to news space, with house passing up exploitation stunt of Leroy Phelps, local cameraman, with Buck.

Whally (nabe) running weekly parents-children nights, with programs sponsored by local Better Films Council.

Estimates for This Week

Paramount (Publix) (2,348; 35-50)—'Little Miss Marker' (Par) and 'Uncertain Lady' (U). Jamming 'em in for heavy sugar, $9,000 in sight. Last week 'Thirty-Day Princess' (Par) and 'In Love With Life' (Ches). Very okay at $6,500.

Palace (Loew) (3,040; 35-50)—'Wild Cargo' (Radio) and 'Sisters Under Skin' (Col). Kids going for animal film, but femmes steering clear. Co-feature will help to a moderate $7,700. Last week 'Sadie McKee' (MG) and 'Crime of Helen Stanley' (Col). Showed nice profit at $9,400.

Roger Sherman (WB) (2,200; 35-50)—'Strictly Dynamite' (Radio) and 'Fog Over Frisco' (WB). Having a tough battle to reach light $3,800. Last week 'Uppper World' (WB) and 'Very Honorable Guy' (WB). Touched bottom at $3,500.

College (Loew) (1,565; 25-40)—'Bottoms Up' (Fox) and 'Whirlpool' Col.) Good response on this bill should bring nice $4,800. Last week 'Black Cat' (U) and 'Half a Sinner' (U). Over the top with satisfactory $4,400.

Georgie Price, 'Murder' $18,500 in Washington; 'Finishing School' 8G's

Washington, May 28.

Season of deliver the goods or take it on the chin has arrived. Three spots with topnotch pics are standing up all right, but everybody else is fighting the ghost.

Rialto, which always folds over summer, had hoped to stick out few weeks longer, but gives up this week. House is off mainsteam, and is first to suffer in general slump.

Closing of Wee & Leventhal stock at Belasco is helping somewhat as legit price scale was in direct competition with flickers.

Estimates for This Week

Fox (Loew) (3,434; 25-35-60)—'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox) and vaude. Rave notices on Shirley Temple and generally nice reviews of films plus Herm Williams on stage is netting nice $22,000. Last week 'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) can thank Lupe Velez on stage for nice $21,000.

Earle (WB) (2,424; 25-35-40-60)—'Murder at the Vanities' (Par) and vaude. Earl Carroll's rep for leg stuff plus Georgie Price on stage, who gets nice radio fan crowd shooting at nice $18,500. Last week 'Smarty' (WB) drew fair $14,500.

Keith's (RKO) (1,830; 25-35-60)—'Finishing School' (Radio). Heading for sickly $4,500. Last week 'Stingaree' (Radio) took oke $8,000, but missed anticipated holdover.

Palace (Loew) (2,363; 25-35-60)—'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG). Not clicking like Gable and Loy did in 'Men in White,' but looks like good $17,000. Last week 'We're Not Dressing' (Par) took oke $15,500.

Met (WB) (1,583; 25-40)—'Sing and Like It' (Radio). Zazu Pitts has her own fan tribe, but they're not enough to buck weather and opposition. Slipping to light $3,000. Last week 'Forgotten Men' (FN) took meager $2,200.

Rialto (U) (1,853; 25-35-50)—'Affairs of a Gentleman' (U). Last week of season ought to get fair $3,700. Last week 'Half a Sinner' (U) made satisfactory $4,000.

Columbia (Loew) (1,232; 25-40)—'House of Rothschild' (UA). Going strong after two big weeks up street at Palace. Maybe big $6,500. Last week 'Hold That Girl' (Fox) down in the cellar with $2,500.

MARIAN SHILLING SUBS

Universal City, May 28.

Illness forced Janet Chandler out of 'The Red Rider,' Universal's serial, and she has been replaced by Marian Shilling.

Company has been filming a week.

Weather that beckons to the countryside is a Broadway bugaboo, but on the whole the interference isn't so serious. The fleet comes in Thursday (31), dumping close to 50,000 sailors on the town and this should help.

Paramount this week is staging something of a rarity on its hold-over of 'Little Miss Marker,' which may even get a third week. With much talk about the picture second week started better than the first. Decoration day holiday tomorrow (Wednesday) at Saturday-Sunday scales also a factor here and for the Street in general.

Par got $33,500 the first week and ought to hit around the same on the holdover or better. Having a racetrack background 'Marker' has been helped somewhat by the sports pages. The house has been going to that department for attention.

Capitol is also currently on a holdover, but it isn't doing as well. 'Sadie McKee' probably won't better $30,000 on holdover after initial seven days near $41,000.

Of the new pictures 'Where Sinners Meet,' at the Music Hall, and 'Hollywood Party,' at the Rialto, and 'Now I'll Tell,' at Roxy, setting the pace.

Hall, with the holiday finishing the present week there, looks like $75,000. While the Rialto is pushing its way to a fancy $20,000 and intends to hold 'Party' over, Metro gave Arthur Mayer the picture in preference to trying it at the Cap. Roxy may hit big $30,000 on 'Tell.'

While it isn't proving costly to the house, 'Murder at Vanities' is a disappointment and takes air tonight (Tuesday) after only 11 days at the Rivoli. Management is somewhat nonplussed. A check on 'Vanities' elsewhere around the country shows it is doing well. Riv gets 'Born to Be Bad' tomorrow morning (Wednesray). Strand has 'Upper World' and likely to be short of $13,000.

Estimates for This Week

Astor (1,012; $1.10-$1.65-$2)—'Rothschild' (UA) (11th week). Last week countup showed $16,800, picture standing up well. First five days of this week (11th), including Sunday night (27), $12,300.

Capitol (5,400; 35-75-85-$1.10)—'Sadie McKee' (MG) and Fred Waring band. Weaker than anticipated on first week, $41,000, and must struggle for $30,000 on holdover with Decoration Day.

Mayfair (2,120; 35-55-65)—'Unknown Soldier Speaks' (Lincoln). Assemblage of war material not around long, picture going out Sunday night after three days at $1,100. 'Sorrell and Son' (UA) took possession Monday morning.

Palace (1,700; 35-50-66-75)—'Stingaree' (Radio) and vaude. Wasn't so good at the Music Hall and unlikely to surprise here. Maybe $11,000 getting house out. Last week 'Change of Heart' (Fox), under $10,000.

Paramount (3,664; 35-55-75-99)—'Little Miss Marker' (Par) (2nd week) and stage show. Starting its holdover stronger than first week, current pace suggests another $33,500 or better. First seven days $33,500. Third week possible.

Radio City Music Hall (6,945; 40-60-85-99-$1.65)—'Where Sinners Meet' (Radio) and stage show. Did not open as briskly as expected but began building Friday night (25) and on week may do $75,000. Last week 'Stingaree' (Radio) lost opening momentum, ending around $65,000.

Rialto (2,000; 40-55-75-85)—'Hollywood Party' (M-G). Ad campaign helping to big $20,000 and a holdover. 'Crime Doctor' (Radio), eight days on holdover, $8,000.

Rivoli (2,200; 40-55-75-85)—'Murder of Vanities' (Par). Disappointing despite good notices, but at $29,000 on 11 days profitable for house. 'Born to Be Bad' (UA) opens tomorrow morning (Wednesday).

RKO Center (3,525; 25-40)—'Change of Heart' (Fox), four days, and 'I'll Tell the World' (U), three days. Off slowly and house doesn't look for more than $5,000 on week. Last week, 'Twentieth Century' (Col) started so well house kept it seven days, $11,000.

Roxy (6,200; 25-35-55-65)—'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) and stage show. Arousing considerable talk and may raise itself to a big $30,000 and may hold over. Last week, 'Black Cat' (U), $22,000.

Strand (2,900; 35-55-75-85)—'Upper World' (WB). Unlikely to hit $13,000. Last week, 'He Was Her Man' (WB) fell down to $9,200.

State (2,300; 35-55-75)—'Twenty Million Sweethearts' (WB) and vaude. Howard Thurston, magician, on stage aiding a good grosser toward $20,000 or above, fine. Last week, 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) and Cab Calloway just under $18,000.

Weather Saves Providence

Too Many Musicals, 'Sweethearts' Tepid at $5,000—'Sadie McKee' Best, $16,000

rovidence, May 28.

Continued cool weather only thing that is keeping theatres from complete flops. Grosses have been very bad of late, and judging from present outlook the new stanza will be no exception. Only one or two stands in town have been getting anything that looks like fair money. In one or two cases grosses have been worst experienced in a year.

Legit opposish for the week will be Katharine Cornell in three-day engagement at Carlton last half of the week and stock show, 'Smilin' Thru' at the Modern for entire week.

Estimates for This Week

Fay's (2,000; 15-25-40)—'Now I'll Tell' (Fox) and vaudeville with Roscoe Ails. No doubt that the main reason for the peppy state of affairs at this house is largely due to the stage show. Fans seem to like Tracy in pix, but it's stage entertainment that will be responsible for a nice $7,200 for the week. Last week 'A Modern Hero' (WB) with the aid of all-colored revue managed to ease through a fair $6,700.

Loew's State (3,200; 15-25-40)—'Sadie McKee' (MG) and vaude. Joan Crawford big drawing power in this city; opening very brisk, and regardless of what may turn up there's no doubt that house will be able to garner at least $16,000 in the till. Last week 'House of Rothschild' (UA) was another bullseye for this favorite stand, gross touching $16,200 for a nifty week.

Majestic (Fay) (2,200; 15-25-40)—'20 Million Sweethearts' (WB). This one may be a great musical film, but it's the third one in a row to show at this stand, and that's too many. Start tepid, and nothing to indicate that gross is going to go over $5,0000 mark, if that. Last week 'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox) didn't prove very hot fodder, touching a poor $4,800.

Paramount (Indie) (2,200; 15-25-40)—'Thirty-Day Princess' (Par) and 'In Love With Life' (Mono). Bill so-so, and opening just about. Shoved in quite cold last Wednesday, no more than $3,500 indicated. Last week 'Witching Hour' (Par), 'Manhattan Love Song' (Mono) was yanked after six-day run, at $2,400 worst house has had in a year.

RKO Albee (2,000; 15-25-40)—'Strictly Dynamite' (Radio) and 'Affairs of a Gentleman' (U). All the ballyhoo house is concentrating on can't possibly bring them in with the mediocre films being screened. Just now it appears house will be very fortunate if it touches $4,000. Last week 'Stingaree' (Radio) and 'The Party's Over' (Col) was in the doldrums, in spite of campaigns and tieups, at $4,200.

RKO Victory (1,600; 10-15-25)—'One Is Guilty' (Col) and 'Secret Sinners' (Mayfair); this spot is doing better than the other more classy stands; gross looks like a nice $1,400 for split week. Last week 'Wild Cargo' (Radio) and 'Glamour' (U), both second run, were so-so at $1,100 on split week, too.

SAN FRANCISCO

(Continued from page 8)

ing and pleasing its share of customers.

Estimates for This Week

Fox (Leo) (5,000; 25-35)—'Sisters Under Skin' (Col), and 'Money Means Nothing' (Col), split. House pulling around $8,000, better than many previous shows with vaude. Last week, first minus flesh, saw $6,800 on 'When Strangers Meet' (Col), and 'Twin Husbands' (1st Div), split.

Golden Gate (RKO) (2,844; 25-35-40)—'Finishing School' (Radio) and vaude. Doing surprisingly well and may hit big $14,000. Last week it was $13,500 on 'Singaree' (Radio), best Richard Dix gross in some time, with Irene Dunne, Tom Brown and Mitzi Green in person to start it off.

Orpheum (F&M) (2,400; 25-35-55)—'Embarrassing Moments' (U) and tab version of 'Take a Chance' with Olsen and Johnson. New low prices bringing more people in. O. and J. did a week at $2.75 at the Columbia fortnight ago, and n.g. Running big $11,000 here. Ben Bernie got started slowly last week with 'Uncertain Lady' (U) the film, the heat holding him down over the week-end. But after his Tuesday night broadcast he blossomed out, and the maestro came in with a shade over $13,500—to give him the second highest gross of the F&M policy, next to Lombardo.

Paramount (FWC) (2,400; 25-35-40)&—'30 Day Princess' (Par) and 'Upperworld' (WB), split. Combined cast draw of both a help and looks best on double features in six weeks, $12,500. Last week, 'Tarzan' (MG), $11,000.

St. Francis (FWC) (1,500; 25-35-40)—'Villa' (MG) (3d week). Still going strong and $4,b00 is okay, after $5,500 week previous and $7,000 week before. Did a record week at the Warfield before that too.

United Artists (1,200; 25-35-40)—'Modern Hero' (WB). Likely $4,000 on the five days before the house closes for the summer. Last week, 'No Greater Glory' (Col), very bad at less than $4,000 for the week.

Warfield (FWC) (2,700; 35-45-65)—'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) and stage show. Gable, Loy and Powell money pullers and $20,000 neat piece of change. 'Stand Up, Cheer' (Fox) last week didn't stand up to its predecessors of the past two months and got but $17,500, which still is good.

Labor Strife Hurts Cincy; 'Cat' $1,800

Cincinnati, May 28.

Downtown exhibs keeping smelling salts handy while tabbing b.o. Several large factories idle pending wage disputes and operators of other plants taking it slow and easy pending outcome. A difficult pull for general trade during past fortnight. Last week the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus did heavy biz on 3-day stand, strawing 'em the last two nights; take exceeded that by show here last year. Saturday (26) marked opening of 37-day racing meeting at Latonia, Ky., opposite Cincy, and season start for Coney Island, which spent lotsa dough in improving rides and fun houses and has Benny Meroff's band for the terps spot, and the Zoo, featuring new barless enclosures for bears and big cats.

Current screen coin topper is 'Murder at the Vanities,' heaving $12,500, more than double any other single gross. 'Change of Heart' transferred from Palace to Capitol for extended first run and getting $5,000, a grand less than 'Such Women Are Dangerous.'

The Grand, only RKO house locally with flesh, is to go shut for summer so soon as weather compels. Theatre is unchilled and added pop vode to pix a couple of months ago. Strand, indie pop vaudfilm, continues to brave the tide.

Estimates for This Week

Albee (RKO) (3,300; 35-44) 'Murder at the Vanities' (Par). Press puffs for Earl Carroll's expert craftsmanship in overcoming lack of originality in part of his first flicker. Combo of murder mystery, msical revue and looker gals a general trade puller for $12,500, a lovely figure. Last week 'Thirty-Day Princess' (Par), $7,000, all right.

Palace (RKO) (2,600; 35-44)—'Such Women Are Dangerous' (Fox), Warner Baxter bigged. Cricks no like story. A slow $6,000 in sight. Last week 'Change of Heart' (Fox), $10,000, good.

Capitol (RKO) (2,000; 35-44)—'Change of Heart' (Fox) switched from Palace for continued first run, $5,000, okay. Last week 'Sadie McKee' (MG), in second week, $5,000, nice, following heavy $12,000 on first 7 days.

Lyric (RKO) (1,394; 35-44)—'Half a Sinner' (U), $4,000, fair. Last week 'You're Telling Me' (Par), strengthened in last half for $4,500, nice.

Keith's (Libson) (1,500; 30-40)—'A Very Honorable Guy' (FN). Lauded by press boys for clean comedy. Damon Runyon material plus Joe Brown, with a bit of aid from Alice White, spelling $4,200, comfy. Last week '20 Million Sweethearts' (WB) finished 16-day run with a neat $4,000, totaling $14,000 for the engagement.

Grand (RKO) (1,025; 25-35)—'Man of Two Worlds' (Radio) and Boice and Marge the vode topper, $3,500, so-so. Last week 'Eight Girls in a Boat' (Par) and Gaudsmith Bros. headlining, $3,400.

Family (RKO) (1,000; 15-25)—'Black Cat' (U) and 'Behind Jury Doors' (Indie), split. First pix a better than average draw, helping for $1,800, fine. Last week 'Hell Bent for Love' (Col) and 'Honor of the Range' (U), divided, $1,500.

Strand (Ind) (1,200; 15-20-25-30)—'In Love With Life' (Indie) and Keaton and Paige acting the 5-act bill, $1,800, tough sledding. Last week 'Sin of Nora Moran' and Capps Four fronting vaude, $1,700.

Acad Tech. Problems

Hollywood, May 28.

Following the recent resumption of activities of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences Research council, the technicians' branch is beginning a new series of semi-monthly meetings for discussion of studio technical problems.

Committee, comprising S. J. Twining, L. E. Clark, Martin Cohn, Harris Ensign, George Folsey, J. C. Okey, William F. Rudolph and Gordon Mitchell, meets today (Tuesday) to lay out a program for the coming year.

Dust 'Lancer' Again

Hollywood, May 28.

Although abandoned as a probable picture after $600,000 had been expended on it, 'Lives of a Bengal Lancer' is again off the shelf at Paramount.

Yarn, for which Ernest B. Schoedsack went to India to photograph background stuff, is expected to go into production in July. Intention is to put Gary Cooper in the top spot after he returns from doing one for Sam Goldwyn on a previous commitment.

Concoct Laurel-Hardy

Hollywood, May 28.

After absence from the lot of four months, Laurel and Hardy back. Hal Roach preparing fourth of their series of six two-reelers for the current season's program.

Comics are working with Charles Rogers and Frank Terry, writers, in concocting a yarn.

Bad Weather Helps Baltimore

Abe Lyman Credited for $20,000—'Strictly 'Dynamite' $13,000

Baltimore, May 28.

Sudden and inordinate chill, accompanied by murky skies, that saddled town over week-end kept the pleasure seekers inside city limits, stymied the beaches and boosted the box-offices.

Fairly strong layout currently, with the Century going into its eighth consecutive session as town topper. '30-Day Princess' on the screen is playing second fiddle to Abe Lyman band on rostrum, first time in moons the flesh fare has been the prime biz provoker at the Loew standard-bearer.

Estimates for This Week

Century (Loew-UA) (3,000; 25-35-40-55-66) '30-Day Princess' (Par) and Abe Lyman Revue on stage. Nifty $20,000 in sight credited to stage draw. Last week 'Sadie McKee' (MG), and five strong acts, smash $22,000.

Hippodrome (Rappaport) (2,500; 25-35-40-55-66) 'Strictly Dynamite' (Radio) and Isham Jones ork heading acts. Maybe $13,000, fair. Last week 'Stingaree' (Radio) and King's Scandals' unit, indifferent $11,000.

Keith's (Schanberger) (2,500; 25-30-35-40-55) 'Murder at Vanities' (Par). Earl Carroll name has a marquee meaning hereabouts, and though critics shrugged it, hefty exploitation and title values means $6,000. Last week 'Come on Marines' (Par) didn't, ending out in the alley at $3,000.

New (Mechanic) (1,800; 25-30-35-40-50) 'Change of Heart' (Fox) (2d week). Still plenty perky after shining $6,000 on the first stanza. Appears cantering in for a good $3,800 on second and last lap. The Gaynor-Farrell reunion is doing it.

Stanley (WB) (3,450; 15-25-40) 'Witching Hour' (Par). Mild mystery meller started sluggishly and looks to end at same snail's pace. No more than $7,500, dire. Last week 'Upper World' (WB), with Ben Hecht's monicker as author, billed over all else, off, $8,000.

Valencia (Loew-UA) (1,000; 25-35) 'Show-Off' (MG). The show is old spuds to this town and if mob didn't already know about it crix tipped the mitt soon enough. Tracy's name means a fraction on the marquee, but not enough to budge mild $3,500. Last week 'Sadie McKee' (MG), 2-a-day, pop-prices, sank deep into mire, $2,000.

Comparative Grosses for May

Total grosses during May for towns and houses listed as previ reported weekly. Dates given are the closing days of the week.

NEW YORK

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
CAPITOL (5,400; 35-75-85-1.10) High..$110,400 Low.. 16,000	Tarzan $48,000 (Stage Show)	Tarzan $21,000 (2d week)	Manhattan Melodrama $50,500	Melodrama $30,000 (2d week)
PARAMOUNT (3,664; 35-55-75-99) High. $95,000 Low.. 14,000	Wharf Angel $25,000 (Stage Show) (Gloria Swanson on stage)	Witching Hour $20,000 (Jessel-Merman on stage)	Double Door $14,200	Day Princess $29,000
MUSIC HALL (6,945; 40-60-85-99-1.65) High..$113,000 Low.. 44,000	Stand Up, Cheer $85,000 (Stage Show)	Cheer $60,000 (2d week)	20th Century $75,000	Change of Heart $69,800 (Opera)
ROXY (6,200; 25-35-55-65) High..$173,600 Low.. 5,200	Tell the World $23,000 (Stage Show)	Journal of Crime $21,000	Greater Glory $18,500	Glamour $17,000
RIALTO (2,000; 40-55-75-85) High. $72,000 Low.. 5,200	Lost Patrol $7,000 (4th week, 6 days)	Made Her Bed $8,000	Success, Any Price $7,700	Crime Doctor $14,000
STRAND (2,000; 35-55-75-85) High. $81,200 Low.. 6,500	Modern Hero $14,200	Million Sweethearts $26,200	Sweethearts $17,000 (2d week)	Sweethearts $11,700 (3d week)

CHICAGO

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
CHICAGO (3,940; 35-55-75) High. $75,000 Low.. 18,500	Not Dressing $38,100 (Stage Show)	Bottoms Up $32,900	Million Sweethearts $25,800	Manhattan Melodrama $37,100
PALACE (2,583; 35-55-83) High. $34,700 Low.. 7,000	Glamour $14,200 (Vaude)	Sisters Under Skin $17,300	20th Century $7,000 (New Low)	Finishing School $14,100
UNITED ARTISTS (1,700; 35-45-55) High. $43,500 Low.. 3,300	Looking for Trouble $7,900	Rothschild $25,800	Rothschild $16,100 (2d week)	Rothschild $13,800 (3d week)

LOS ANGELES

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
DOWNTOWN (1,800; 25-35-40-55) High. $38,500 Low.. 4,000	Earth Turns $4,000 (New Low)	Gambling Lady $5,000	Million Sweethearts $9,700	Honorable Guy $4,200
HOLLYWOOD (2,756; 25-35-40-55) High. $37,800 Low.. 3,100	Earth Turns $4,400	Gambling Lady $5,200	Million Sweethearts $11,300	Sweethearts $7,200 (2d week)
PARAMOUNT (3,595; 30-40-55) High. $57,800 Low.. 5,600	Witching Hour $12,300 (Stage Show) ('Century Progress' on stage)	Made Her Bed $17,900 (Olsen & Johnson on stage)	Double Door $14,600	Day Princess $12,000
STATE (2,024; 30-40-55) High. $48,000 Low.. 4,900	Tarzan $11,200	Men Are Enemies $2,150 (5 days)	Stand Up, Cheer $11,000	Men in White $17,900

ST. LOUIS

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
AMBASSADOR (3,000; 25-35-55) High. $48,800 Low.. 10,000	Death Takes $12,000 (Stage Show)	Not Dressing $15,000	Glamour $12,000	Catherine and House of Mystery $10,000 (New Low)
FOX (6,000; 25-35-55)	Bottoms Up and 3 on Honeymoon $10,000	Wild Cargo and One Is Guilty $12,000	Stand Up, Cheer and Murder in Trinidad $12,000	Sinners Meet and Now I'll Tell $10,000
STATE (3,000; 25-35-55) High. $31,500 Low.. 8,000	Tarzan $15,000	Rothschild $22,000	Rothschild $14,000 (2d week)	Villa $18,000
MISSOURI (3,500; 25-40) High. $29,500 Low.. 6,000	Showoff and Monte Cristo $7,000	Telling Me and Cross Streets $7,000	Tell the World and Witching Hour $6,000	Manhattan Love Song and Uncertai Lady $7,000
ST. LOUIS (4,000; 25-35-55)	Pals and Finishing School $3,000	Waltz Time and Sisters Under Skin $4,000	All Quiet and Night and Day $4,000

BROOKLYN

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
FOX (4,000; 25-35-50) High. $48,600 Low.. 8,900	Sing, Like It $13,000 (Stage Show)	Tell the World $14,500	3 On Honeymoon $10,500	Whirlpool $10,500
ALBEE (3,500; 25-35-50) High. $45,000 Low.. 9,000	Man Is Mine $15,000 (Vaude)	Earth Turns $14,000	Stand Up, Cheer $17,000	20th Century $15,000
STRAND (2,000; 25-35-50) High. $28,500 Low.. 4,000	Gambling Lady $7,000	Modern Hero $5,500	Million Sweethearts $8,000	Sweethearts $7,000 (2d week)
PARAMOUNT (4,000; 25-35-50-65) High. $57,800 Low.. 5,600	Wharf Angel $19,000 (Stage Show) (Daniels and Lyon on stage)	Witching Hour $15,000	Double Door $8,600	DARK
METROPOLITAN (2,400; 25-35-50) High. $39,000 Low.. 13,000	Tarzan $14,000 (Vaude)	Looking for Trouble $14,000	Manhattan Melodrama $18,000	Laughing Boy $13,000 (New Low)

(Continued on page 19)

'Change of Heart' $21,000 in Philly; Calloway, 'Whirlpool' Get $20,000

Philadelphia, May 28.

Present array of films in the local downtown sector do not promise any great rotation of the turnstiles or activity in the box offices, but at least two houses should do better than average business. Very bad weather and, of course, the presence in town of the circus may have caused the slow start.

Cab Calloway has a following here and his name on the Earle's stage bill promises some biz, but it will hardly reach the level this house was hitting a few weeks ago when $24,000 or $25,000 was being turned in regularly. Picture this week is 'Whirlpool,' not particularly strong.

Estimates for This Week

Aldine (1,300; 40-55-65)—'House of Rothschild' (UA) (5th week). Will make it the expected sixth without undue trouble. This week's gross should be near $7,000. Last week's was $8,500.

Arcadia (600; 25-40-50)—'Trumpet Blows' (Par). May gain through George Raft's personal appearance here last week. $2,100 estimated for this second run. Last week, 'Wharf Angel' (Par). Very sad, $1,400 for five days.

Boyd (2,400; 40-55-65)—'30 Day Princess' (Par). Picture didn't start fast and $11,000 a generous allowance. Last week, 'Sadie McKee' (MG) $9,000 for five-day holdover. Okay.

Earle (2,000; 40-55-65)—'Whirlpool' (Col) and vaude. Cab Calloway and his Cotton Club Orchestra should prove magnet. $20,000 figured. Last week, 'This Man Is Mine' (Radio) and vaude. George Raft's personal appearance helped gross up to $18,000.

Fox (3,000; 30-40-60)—'Change of Heart' (Fox) and stage show. Touted as sure two-weeker and will undoubtedly be held although opening pace disappointed. $21,000 figured anyway. Last week, 'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox) and stage show, $13,000 in second week was up to expectations and okay.

Karlton (1,000; 30-40-50)—'Sisters Under the Skin' (Col). Lucky to hit $2,700. Last week, 'Glamour' (U) $2,900. House is definitely under former pace with new policy of first-runs.

Stanley (3,700; 40-55-65)—'Murder at the Vanities' (Par). Opened Saturday with many brass against it. Hard to figure but ought to hit $15,000 or $16,000. Last week, 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) $14,000 for seven days. Disappointing.

Stanton (1,700; 30-40-55)—'For Love of Frisco' (FN). Opened with midnight show last night. Average biz expected. Last week, 'The Witching Hour' (Par). Flopp o with $4,000.

'All Men Are Enemies' Yanked at Par, Denver; 'Harold Teen' $3,000

Denver, May 28.

Fishing season and both Lakeside and Elitch Amusement parks open together, with hot weather providing theatres stiff competition. But still all first-runs seem average or above. 'All Men are Enemies' put in Paramount following 'Viva Villa' lasted one day, yanked to allow 'All Quiet Western Front.' Others showing better boxoffices than in last two or three weeks; Denham having evening standouts. Last week of stageshow at Orpheum, but word being withheld from theatregoing public. Orpheum best gross since Mills Bros., in person, headed for ten thousand.

Estimates for Thi Week

Aladdin (Huffman) (1,500; 25-35-50)—'Harold Teen' (WB). Will grab $3,000, nice. Last week, 'As the Earth Turns' (WB) did below average, finishing with $2,500. Picture started week after films were subject of Catholic sermon and pledges signed by thousands to attend only best of films. Huffman ran ad challenging them to support this film, and recommended it as one they must see if they really wanted to support good films. But no go. They wouldn't go.

Denham (Cooper) (1,500; 25-40)—'Murder at the Vanities' (Par). Sporty $7,500 sight.d. That's gratifying. Last week, '30-Day Princess' (Par), let the house down with $3,500, a grand and a half below average. Matinees were way down, with evenings good. Evidently, afternoon crowds thought it too much of a Cinderella touch to the title. Of course, the weather here has been perfect for golf and other outdoor activities.

Denver (Huffman) (2,500; 25-35-50)—'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG). Maybe $6,000. Last week, 'Change of Heart' (Fox), $5,500 for the week. Picture well liked by those who saw it but weather proved too much competition.

Orpheum (Huffman) (2,600; 25-40-65) — 'Twenty Million Sweethearts' (FN), and Fanchon & Marco stage show. Nice takings at $10,000. Last week, 'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB) coupled with a smooth-running and entertaining stage show, failed to attract crowds in usual numbers and the box office suffered, garnering only $7,500 for the week.

Paramount (Huffman) (2,000; 25-40)—'Viva Villa' (MG). Three days, after four on last week and a week at the Denver, saying fine business; and 'All Quiet on the Western Front' (U), four days. Figure $2,500, divided between three films, 'All Men are Enemies' (Fox) having been yanked after one day. Last week, 'Crosby Case' (U) and 'Love Birds' (U), first double bill for this first-run house, two days after a fair four days on last week, and 'Viva Villa' (MG), five days, after a good week at the Denver, split week, turned in a better than average box-office of $3,000. 'Viva Villa' was one of the pictures condemned at local Catholic sermon on films, but in spite of that picture still did fine business.

'Murder at Vanities' Oke $17,000 in St. Louis; 'McKee' Tabs $16,000

St. Louis, May .

Much improved is the outlook this week. With the holiday thrown in at the tag end, it looks like business will be better than for some time. Two houses appear to be in for nice profits, and the others have little cause for complaint.

Loew's and Ambassador are the pair of leaders, the former with Joan Crawford's latest and the latter with the film version of the 'Vanities.' Although no records will be broken, both will have some black figures in the books.

Estimates for This Week

Ambassador (Skouras) 3,000; 25-35-55)—'Murder at Vanities' (Par). Good $17,000. Last week 'Thirty Day Princess' (Par) around $12,000.

Fox (F&M) (5,000; 25-35-55)—'Change of Heart' (Fox) and 'Springtime for Henry' (Fox), held over until Tuesday (29), and then 'Stingaree' (Radio), 'Such Women Are Dangerous' (Fox). Figure $11,000.

State (Loew's) (3,000; 25-35-55)—'Sadie McKee (MG). Hefty $16,000. Last week 'Manhattan Melodrama' (MG) got $14,000.

Missouri (Skouras) (2,500; 25-40)—'Private Scandal (Par) and 'Twin Husbands.' Fair $7,000. Last week 'Double Door' (Par) and 'Half a Sinner' (Radio) got $6,000.

Shubert (Warners) (2,000; 25-40) 'Upper World' (WB) and 'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB). Around $8,000. Last week 'As the Earth Turns' (WB) and 'Very Honorable Guy' (FN) estimated about the same.

ELLINGTON HYPOS TACOMA

Music Box Grosses Smacko $6,000 With Stage Help

Tacoma, May 28.

Stage fare at the Music Box was the town's sock first half of this week. Duke Ellington band spotted there. This band costs the Hamrick house some dough and so admish upped. Originally planned to use the name-unit shows a week in the town, but second thought places engagement at half week. Hamrick house also steps on the gas for the week end with Al Pearce and his gang, from radio in person, on the stage, the last half of the week. The two stage shows account for biz upping nicely.

Estimates for This Week

Music Box (Hamrick) (1,400; 25-35-50)—'You're Telling Me' (Par), with Duke Ellington band in person first half of week, three days; 'Fashions of 1934' (FN) with Al Pearce and his radio gang, last four days. Should gather a swell $6,000 on week. Last week, 'Wild Cargo' (RKO) good $3,600.

Rex (J-vH) (1,700; 15-25)—'Bottoms Up' (Fox) and 'Ninth Guest' (Col), dual, first half, then 'As Husbands Go' (Fox) and 'Social Register' (Col), dual, last half. Anticipated $3,000 is good. Last week, 'This Side of Heaven' (MGM), and 'Cross Country Cruise' (U), dual, first half; 'Three on Honeymoon' (Fox) and 'Beloved' (U), dual, last half, for $2,800, good.

Blue Mouse (Hamrick) (650; 15-25)—'Come On, Marines' (Par), and 'Journal of a Crime' (FN), dual, first half, then 'Modern Hero' (FN), and 'Private Scandal' dual, last half. May get $1,200, slow. Last week, 'She Made Her Bed' (Par), and 'Upper World' (WB), dual spit, with 'Registered Nurse' (FN), and 'Four Frightened People' (Par), dual, at usual $1,600. Fair.

FIGHT OVER DICKENS

Darmour and U Both Want to Make His Stories

Hollywood, May 28.

Boom in popularity of Dickens for film material has put Larry Darmour and Universal at odds. Darmour announced last February he would make 'Great Expectations,' but only a few weeks ago Stanley Bergerman of U announced the same thing.

Darmour has sent a protesting letter to U, which is now thinking up a reply. Dickens' stories are in public domain, and so both producers can make the picture if they choose.

'NOT DRESSING' $14,000 IN NEWARK

Newark, May 28.

Rai cold Friday and Saturday brought in business everywhere and even with a fair Sunday the weekend exodus was stopped. But the weather Decoration Day will tell the story as a rainy day with holiday prices jumps the grosses by thousands.

Counting the usual clear Memorial Day the booking of good pictures will bring in nice money with Loew's leading with $15,000 for 'Sadie McKee' and the Paramount-Newark with 'We're Not Dressing' and Proctor's with 'Change of Heart' around $14,000.

Ringling-Barnum and Bailey Circus in for two days and will probably take plenty. Shubert reopens for 'Caviar' and has Katharine Cornell coming in 'The Barretts.'

Estimates for This Week

Branford (WB) (2,966; 15-65)—'The Black Cat' (U) and 'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB). 'Wives' got a great review in the News which will help. Shared in the weekend pull and should better $9,000, okay. Last week 'Journal of a Crime' (FN) and 'Very Honorable Guy' (FN) mild at $7,800.

Capitol (WB) (1,200; 15-25-35-50)—'Tarzan and His Mate' (MG) and 'In Love with Life' (Chesterfield). They used to like this kind of bill and maybe they do now. At any rate good at over $4,500. Last week 'Trumpet Blows' (Par) and 'Catherine the Great' (UA), $3,500.

Little (Franklin) (299; 35-50)—'Prince of Wales' (BG) and 'Waltz Time in Vienna' (BG). Heavy publicity and high hopes mark the inauguration of English programs. Anyhow unless this is a complete flop Germans are done. Maybe $1,200. Last week $450 for 'Heidesschulmeister Uwe Karsten' (Ufa) and 'Der Korvettenkaiptan' (Tobis).

Loew's State (2,780; 15-75)—'Sadie McKee' (MG) and vode. Joan Crawford opening to her usual jams and anyhow ought to reach a fine $15,000. Last week, despite the well-spoken of 'Spices of 1934' on the stage, 'Laughing Boy' (MG) was miserable at $3,500.

Paramount-Newark (Adams-Par) (2,248; 15-99)—'We're Not Dressing' (Par) and vode. Going great and at its worst should reach a fine $14,000. Rumored this is the last week of vode here. This will make things interesting for competitors when a lower scale goes in, but it is said they are afraid to play pictures alone although invited to join in the move. Last week '30 Day Princess' (Par) did not hold up and on eight days poor at $7,800.

Proctor's (RKO) (2,300; 25-35-40-55-60-75-85)—'Change of Heart' (Fox) and 'King's Scandals.' Strong opening and can hardly miss $14,000. Last week 'Now I'll Tell' (Fox), $10,600.

Terminal (Skouras) (1,900; 15-25-40)—'Woman Unafraid' (Hollywood) and 'Party's Over' (Col) with 'Crime Doctor' (Radio) and 'Hell Bent for Love' (Col) split. Ought to be okay at $4,500. Last week 'Such Women Are Dangerous' (Fox) and 'Wild Cargo' (Radio) with 'This Man Is Mine' (Radio) and 'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox) first half hurt by hot weather, but came up okay to $4,000.

Lupe Velez in Person, $19,000, Met, Brooklyn; 'Cat,' Pennington, 14G's

rooklyn, May 28.

Better week in the downtown sector. Loew's Metropolitan appears to be doing the best business hereabouts with 'Hollywood Party' (MG) on screen and Lupe Velez copping stage honors. Business will probably amount to $19,000, okay.

Paramount's closing, judging by this week's attendance, at the remaining four de luxers is helping a little. Strand, by the way, goes back to two for one effective this Friday.

Estimates for This Week

Albee (RKO) (3,500; 25-35-50)—'Stingaree' (Radio) and vaude headed by Jeanie Lang of radio. Looks like $18,000, satisfactory. Last week 'Change of Heart' (Fox), $15,000, off.

Fox (Conco) (4,000; 25-35-60)—'Black Cat' (U) and stage show featuring Ann Pennington. Good $14,000 in tow. Last week 'Success at Any Price' (Radio), $12,000, okay.

Metropolitan (Loew) (3,000; 25-35-50)—'Hollywood Party' (MG) and vaude topped by Lupe Velez. About $19,000, nice. Last week 'Sadie McKee' (MG) $20,000, good.

Strand (WB) (2,000; 25-35-50)—'He Was Her Man' (FN) weak $7,500. Last week 'Journal of Crime' (FN) and 'An Honorable Guy' (FN) did $6,000, not so good.

DE MILLE'S 'BUCCANEER'

Maxwell Anderson-Laurence Stallings' 'Buccaneer' has been taken by Paramount as a spectacle for Cecil B. DeMille.

Sally Rand, Minneapolis, $12,000; 'Villa' $9,000, 'Modern Hero' $2,500

Minneapolis, May 28.

Drouth continues unabated, but the turbulent teamsters' strike which has been causing riots, tying u transportation and hurting business generally ended Saturday. This latter is a break for the showhouses and should mean as much as $4,000 additional on the week for the Orpheum, where Sally Rand and her stage show unit hold forth. It also should add at least $2,000 on to the takings of 'Viva Villa,' another strong attraction, at the Minnesota.

In short, grosses that have been sinking to nearly the zero point seem in a fair way to take on a new lease of life.

Estimates for This Week

Innesota (Publix) (4,200; 25-35-40)—'Viva Villa' (MG). Plenty of raves over this picture, and it should build from a good opening. Fine advertising campaign, with newspaper display columns liberally used. May hit $9,000. Good. Last week 'Stand Up and Cheer' (Fox), $5,500. Okeh under all circumstances.

Orpheum (Singer) (2,890; 25-35-55)—'Journal of a Crime' (FN) and Sally Rand and her stage unit. Miss Rand the big draw, of course. Lots of publicity helping to bring in the customers. Opening only fair, but with truck drivers strike over business should build considerably. Looks like around $12,000 at this writing, but may climb to $14,000. Very good. Last week, 'Stingaree' (Radio) $2,500. Poor.

Century (Publix) (1,600; 25-35-40)—'House of Rothschild' (UA). Third week still at a profitable gait and will remain a fourth. About $6,000. Okeh. Second week, $8,000. Good.

State (Publix) (2,200; 25-35-40)—'Bottoms Up' (Fox). Still another musical, but a good one and should do some biz, even though local public seems fed up on 'em. On way to about $4,000. Fair. Last week, '30-Day Princess' (Par), $3,500.

World (Steffes) (350; 25-35-50-75)—'Catherine the Great' (UA). A swell attraction for this house and should stay at least a month. Off to fast start, despite tough opposition. May reach $3,000. Big. Last week, 'I Was a Spy' (Gau), $800. Light.

Uptown (Publix) (2,200; 25-35)—'Wonder Bar' (WB). Around $2,500 indicated. Pretty good. Last week 'Death Takes a Holiday' (Par), $2,200. Fair.

Lyric (Publix) (1,300; 20-25)—'A Modern Hero' (WB). Picture not highly regarded and $2,500 indicated. So-so. Last week 'Trumpet Blows' (Par), $2,000. Bad.

Grand (Publix) (1,100; 15-25)—'Riptide' (MG). Second loop run. Set to touch $2,000. Good. Last week 'Three on a Honeymoon' (Fox), first run, and 'As Earth Turns' (WB), second run, $1,200. Light.

Aster (Publix) (900; 15-25)—'Palooka' (MG) and 'Four Frightened People' (Par), second loop runs, and 'Heat Lightning' (WB), first run, split, should garner $1,000. Okeh. Last week 'Moulin Rouge' (UA), 'Hi Nellie' (WB) and 'She Done Him Wrong' (Par), subsequent runs, split, $1,500. Good.

Longshoremen and Weather Both Hot

Seattle Off, but Ted Lewis Band, 'Merry Wives' Headed for $11,500

Seattle, May 28.

Four name stage units in a row booked for Music Hall, with announcement that general evening fare will be cut from 55 cents to 50 cents, including the tax, is the main show dope of the week in this town.

Duke Ellington band got big Saturday and Sunday biz at 55 cents, then slumped a little, apparently the price shying them away. So Music Hall cuts fare for Ted Lewis, opening this week, to four bits, and ran in five shows Saturday and Sunday to offset the nickle price drop by making a bid to handle more people.

Warm weather cut in the past week, while the longshoremen strike has put 2,000 dock workers and several thousand flour mills and other workers out of employment for the time being. This, naturally, affects all business.

Estimates for This Week

Blue Mouse (Hamrick) (1,000; 25)—'A Very Honorable Guy' (FN) and 'Success at Any Price' (Radio), dual. Expected to cop about $2,500, not speedy. Last week, 'As Earth Turns' (WB) and 'Uncertain Lady' (U) dual, $2,600.

Coliseum (Evergreen) (1,300; 15-25)—'David Harum' (Fox) and 'Jimmy, the Gent' (UA) dual. Should do $3,500, fair. Last week, 'Mystery of Mr. X' (MG) and 'Devil Tiger' (Fox), dual split with 'Moulin Rouge' (UA) and 'Three on a Honeymoon' (Fox), slow $2,700, first half flopping, last half fair.

Fifth Avenue (Evergreen) (2,400; 25-40)—'Viva Villa' (MG). Held over five days, as considered pix with real punch; five days may gather $4,800. Last week, same film, started like a house afire, then tapered, but good at $12,000.

Liberty (J-vH) (1,900; 10-25). — 'Love Birds' (U) and 'Public Stenographer' (Mono) dual. Big campaign, especially playing up Summerville and Pitts in 'Birds' indicated $4,500, good. Last week, 'I'll Tell the World' (U) and 'My Pal, the King' (U) dual, big, $4,600.

Music Box (Hamrick) (950; 25-35) — 'Rothschild' (UA). Second week here, fourth week in town, anticipated to get about $2,500. Last week, same film, good, $4,100.

Music Hall (Hamrick) (2,300; 25-35-50)—'Merry Wives of Reno' (WB) with Ted Lewis band on stage. Latter responsible for expected $11,500, if holiday helps as figured. Last week, 'Wild Cargo' (Radio), with Duke Ellington on stage, got $11,000.

Paramount (Evergreen) (3,106; 25-35)—'30 Day Princess' (Par) and stage. Fair $5,500 sighted. Last week, 'The Witching Hour' (Par) and stage, slow at $4,100.

'ROTHSCHILD,' $7,800, TOPS BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, May 28.

Little chance of anyone beating 'House of Rothschild' this week or any other week soon. It's the cakes. However, 'Palooka' at the Ritz should be oke.

Estimates for This Week

Alabama (2,800; 30-35-40) 'House of Rothschild' (UA). Rollin K. Stonebrook, the manager, away on a vacation confident of one of the best weeks in a long time, $7,800. Last week 'We're Not Dressing' (Par), $6,900.

Ritz (Wilby) (1,600; 25) 'Palooka' (UA), Runner up for top grosses more than likely, $3,000. Last week 'Moulin Rouge' (UA), $2,500.

Empire (BTAC) (1,100; 25) 'Journal of a Crime' (FN). Not so good for this usually well attended house, $2,500. Last week 'Whirlpool' (Col), about same.

Strand (Wilby) (800; 25) 'This Side of Heaven' (MG) and 'Murder in Trinidad' (Fox). Lionel Barrymore will bring in a few more than usual, $1,200. Last week 'Wharf Angel' (Par), weak $900.

Metro Cashier Killed

Hollywood, May 28.

G. S. McMillan, 43, cashier at Metro studios in Culver City was killed when he either fell or jumped from a six-story hotel window in San Diego, Sunday (27).

He is survived by sister Worcester, Mass.

UPPER WORLD

Warner Bros. production and release. Ginger Rogers, Warren William, Mary Astor featured. Directed by Roy Del Ruth. Adapted by Ben Markson from Ben Hecht story. Tony Gaudio, photog. At Strand, New York, starting May 23. Running time, 70 minutes.

Alexander Stream	Warren William
Mrs. Stream	Mary Astor
Lilly	Ginger Rogers
Chauffeur	Andy Devine
Tommy	Dickie Moore
Banker	Henry Kolker
Lon	J. Carroll Naish
Moran	Sidney Toler
Rocklen	Theodore Newton
Clark	Robert Barrat
Marcus	Ferdinand Gottschalk
Caldwell	Robert Grieg

Nicely done feature in playing, irection and script. It is entertaining and with general appeal.

Ben Hecht, who wrote the story, and Ben Markson, who adapted it, had an oldie on their hands with which to start. A woman who neglects her loving and faithful husband for social activities; a husband who, thus neglected, turns to solace from an outside love affair, and a girl who attracts lonesome husband, the three principal characters. All pretty familiar in themselves as well as together, which left everything up to the development. The author, and perhaps the adapter as well, exerted considerable imaginative powers over the musty plot, and the result is a compelling screen story.

Shortly after the triangle is formed the theme changes from a domestic problem drama to melodrama. The husband, who is wealthy and noted for his business prowess, sets the girl up in an apartment, and that leads to a double killing, of which the rich man is accused. But he's acquitted and the ending is a satisfactory one.

Between the dialog and the performances of the principals, the plot is clearly and concisely presented. Roy Del Ruth's direction had not a little to do with the net result. For Warren William, as the husband, Mary Astor, as the wife, and Ginger Rogers, as the girl, the assignments were naturals. Andy Devine handles all the comedy, and too bad the lighter phase of the story had to be so awkwardly injected. Devine does all right under the circumstances, Sidney Toler gives a gem of a performance as a traffic cop who is 'broken' by the wealthy husband for giving him a ticket, and later gets his revenge by solving the murder mystery. There are no casting flaws, from the bit players up. Bige.

All Men Are Enemies

(WITH SONGS)

Rocket production and Fox release, featuring Hugh Williams, Helen Twelvetrees, Mona Barrie. Directed by George Fitzmaurice. From novel by Rich. Aldington; Samuel Hoffenstein, Lenore Coffee, screen play and dialog. John Seitz, camera; Louis De Francesco, music. At Loew's 86th St., N. Y., May 28-28,. Running time, 78 mins.

Tony	Hugh Williams
Kathi	Helen Twelvetrees
Margaret	Mona Barrie
Noggins	Herbert Mundin
Scrope	Henry Stephenson
Walter Ripton	Walter Byron
Annie	Una O'Connor
Allerton	Matt Moore
Clarendon	Halliwell Hobbes
Filomena	Rafaela Ottiano
Mamma	Mathilde Comont

Before release this story, pictured from Aldington's war yarn, was confidently announced as the picture which would create a new star in the person of Hugh Williams, new to pictures, but not the stage. The picture does more for Mona Barrie than for Williams, but more through the pallidness of Helen Twelvetrees' assignment than by virtue of her own strength. Still, if any star material comes from the film it will be Miss Barrie. It was an error to force Williams to the front. Picture is not strong in its own right and cannot carry the players along, No b. o. strength.

That's too bad, for it's a nice production, in which several able players do their best to support the directorial efforts of George Fitzmaurice. The outdoor sets were mostly done around Carmel, and pictorially are very beautiful, with one excellent structural set for the inn at Capri. The continuity is abrupt, which may in part be due to cutting, which has quickened the action, but blocked the movement.

For example, Miss Barrie finds that Williams has returned home, but apparently is hiding from her. She takes the betraying tray of food from the servant and announces she is herself will carry it up. Next instant she is marching out of the church with her victim on her arm. A moment later she has forced him back into business and already has driven him to creative work. Seldom that more than two or three scenes hang together, and this is a sub-irritant.

Dialog job is poor, with too high a note of romanticism in the early love scenes and a loss of illusion. Now and then a bit comes through nicely, as in the one scene Miss Twelvetrees has with her rival. It's her one chance to rise above the mawkish sweetness with which her character is imbued.

Story is the rather trite theme of sweethearts parted by the war, but reunited at last. In this instance not until Miss Barrie has been permitted to bag her game and discard him. Most men, and possibly some of the women, will feel that Miss Barrie should have been permitted to hold him, since she is the more virile of the twain. On the other hand, women will probably pronounce Miss Twelvetrees 'just too sweet.' That may help some in spots where the feminine trade is dominant, but not much.

Williams is clean-cut and good-looking without suggesting a collar ad. He seems ill at ease before the camera at times, but in general carries himself well. But his accent, or brogue, is too thick for American ears. It's not so much the accent as the pitch and placement of inflection which makes him rather unintelligible at times. On the other hand, Henry Stephenson speaks delightful English—smooth and intelligible.

Halliwell Hobbes is another who finds his accent no handicap. Herbert Mundin is in for a couple of bits, supposed to be comedy. One of the lines handed him reads, 'Very well, then, I'll call you Mrs. Tidbits for short—but not for long.' Some of it isn't as bad as that. Some is worse.

Suspense is seldom present, there is no intense desire created to see the sweethearts united, and while the story does not drag, it suffers from a jumpiness that is about as bad. Chic.

HOLLYWOOD PARTY

(MUSICAL)

Metro production and release. No director or associate producer credited (although Harry Rapf worked on it). Screen play, Howard Dietz and Arthur Kober. Songs, Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart. Walter Donaldson and Gus Kahn, Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed; Howard Dietz with Donaldson. Dance numbers by Seymour Felix, George Hale, Dave Gould; camera, James Wong Howe. Mickey Mouse sequence by Walt Disney. At Rialto, N. Y., week May 24. Running time, 68 mins.

Cast includes James Durante, Laurel and Hardy, Charles Butterworth, Polly Moran, Lupe Velez, Frances Williams, Jack Pearl, Eddie Quillan, June Clyde, George Givot, Richard Carle, Ben Bard, Tom Kennedy, Mickey Mouse, Harry Barris, Shirley Ross Quartet, Ted Healy and Stooges.

'Hollywood Party' is a big short. It's a succession of bits and numbers which are none too adroitly dovetailed but which will not bore. Averagely passable screen divertissement.

Plot is no problem play. It's a hodge-podge, seemingly studio-inspired, to introduce some of its lesser comedy contract list, plus such spot specialists as were added from the varieties and radio.

The real authors of 'Hollywood Party' are the several teams of songwriters, plus Messrs. Felix, Hale and Gould, who produced the dance sequences.

The slightest of story threads makes it all hang together. This revolves about competitive animal picture producers. Durante is 'Schnarzan the Ape Man' and George Givot is the opposition Liondora. Both are after the ferocious animals which Baron Munchausen (Jack Pearl) has just brought back from the African wilds. Durante turns this 'Hollywood Party' as a setting to influence Munchausen to sell him his menagerie, but Givot muscles in, disguised as a Greek ambassador (thus bringing in the dialectic stuff).

After that it's a series of scenes and numbers, sustained principally through yeoman comedy efforts of Jimmy Durante, Polly Moran, Charles Butterworth and Lupe Velez. The others, Laurel and Hardy, Givot, a Technicolor scene with Mickey Mouse, etc., supplements 'em.

Considering the general looseness of the basic structure, the unreelage isn't altogether messy. The numbers with a couple of exceptions are not permited to run overboard or bore; there is a judicious mixing up of the several styles of comedy and there is enough lavishness, spec and girly stuff to impress optically.

Durante and Polly Moran are particular outstanders. Schnoz's reincarnation scene and his general clowning, bolstering the footage throughout, are highlights, particularly opposite Polly in 'I've Had My Moments.' That and 'Hot Chocolate Soldiers' (Mickey Mouse sequence) are the song outstanders and already have been around. Donaldson-Kahn authored the first and Brown-Freed the latter. Moran-Durante in the travesty on 'Moments' milk it. It's first planted by Eddie Quillan and June Clyde as the romantic interest. Their portion of it is one of the two instances where song footage gets overboard. Incidentally, Polly looks kinda handsome with her new schnoz 'n' everything.

Outside of wearing the most extreme decollete yet, Lupe Velez doesn't materialize particularly. Butterworth's droll comedy style is likewise uninspired. Pearl is merely a stooge with his Munchausen, this picture having been made a supplementary chore to his major 'Meet The Baron' film for Metro. Givot's likewise is just another bit, excepting that he screens rather nicely and might throw away the Greek comedy and get somewheres straight. Frances Williams merely leads the title song, doing better on her own style than the song material handed her. Laurel and Hardy have a walk-through, crashing the party and ending on a chase, which gives an idea.

Film was designed as the 1934 sequel to the memorable 1929 Metro 'Hollywood Revue.' With the current filmusical cycle having gone through a more sophisticated and highly specialized phase, where lavishness of novelty and numbers, combined with book values, figured more than they did in '29, this effort must rely on its multi-cast names to pull 'em in. It'll satisfy mildly for they'll probably come in if only because of the marquee draft.

Abel.

NOW I'LL TELL

Fox production and release. Starring Spencer Tracy, Helen Twelvetrees, Alice Faye featured. Directed by Edwin Burke. Story by Mrs. Arnold Rothstein, adapted and dialoged by Burke. Ernest Palmer, photog. At Roxy, New York, week May 25. Running time, 75 mins.

Murray Golden	Spencer Tracy
Virginia	Helen Twelvetrees
Peggy	Alice Faye
Mositer	Robert Gleckler
Doran	Henry O'Neil
Freddie	Robert Cavanaugh
Hart	G. F. Huntley, Jr.
Mary	Shirley Temple

A little more care in story development would have made this a contender for real money. As is it should give satisfactory results as an entertainment and probably also as a grosser, thanks to a sparkling performance by Spencer Tracy and a cutey that has power despite not having reached full potentialities.

From the title and the name of the author immediately following it in the billing, it is to be presumed that this is the lowdown on the still unsolved Arnold Rothstein case. Theories as to how the gambler met his violent conclusion have made picture scenarios before, a few of them very good. This time the 'solution' is not only plausibly presented and worked out, but it has an air of authenticity—the value of which can't be discounted.

If Mrs. Rothstein wrote what she believes to be the real story — and there is no attempt by the producers to class it as fiction—she wrote herself in for an extensive share of the story. It is her romantic twist that has the gambler-hero deliberately walk into a death trap in order that his wife may collect his life insurance.

Gambler in this case, called Murray Golden, resembles the noted Broadway gambling man in his moods and methods, many of which will be recognized by those who knew or studied him. As presented, he'll gamble on anything, but at the same time is not opposed to advance fixing in order to lessen the element of chance. But he's a good guy all the way, and on the level in his fashion. And he also loves his wife above all, despite being mixed up for many years with a blonde singer of songs. This story kills her off in an auto accident before the finish.

Oddly enough, Edwin Burke, who directed the picture and adapted the story, was an author before becoming a director, yet his direction seems superior to his writing, in this instance. He was handicapped by a story that covered 20 years of a man's highly eventful life, and the customary lapses in continuity were the result. There are too many half-finished passages, too many abrupt endings to engrossing situations. The picture's flaws are mainly in this respect.

Tracy's performance should enhance his standing everywhere, and now that he's a star in billing he can use it. He has the knack of making a difficult assignment look simple, so simple that he appears to be walking through it rather than strenuously acting it out; and that's trouping. Helen Twelvetrees is miscast as the wife, but Alice Faye, looking rather buxom, shines as the other woman. Robert Gleckler is properly menacing as the rival gambler who kills Golden at the end, and Hobart Cavanaugh good in a sentimental stooge role. Little Shirley Temple, an unknown when this was made, has a small and hardly noticeable bit.

They might have forgotten the Rothstein case or lost interest in it by now, which had better be kept in mind in selling this one. The stronger the reminder the better they'll recall it. The right kind of exploiting should cinch this one. Bige.

Miniature Reviews

'Upper World' (WB). Nice twist on an old plot, resulting in satisfactory entertainment. Cast largely responsible for results.

'All Men Are Enemies' (Fox). Nice production, but no box office strength on names, and not strong enough go out and sell itself.

'Hollywood Party' (M-). Mild revusical, which should get b.o. attention via its cast names, including Durante, Moran, Butterworth, Velez, Pearl, Givot, Laurel and Hardy, Mickey Mouse, et al.

'Now I'll Tell' (Fox). Supposedly the Rothstein inside, written by Mrs. Arnold Rothstein. Satisfactory entertainment, chiefly due to Spencer Tracy's performance.

'Where Sinners Meet' (Radio). Artificial farce that obtains laughs, but at the expense of credibility. Despite fine performances and good production, very dubious.

'The Unknown Soldier Speaks' (Lincoln). War prints given an unusual continuity and suspense due to narrative slant.

'The Line-Up' (Col). Under fair as screen entertainment. Racketeer story. No names.

'Man Trailer' (Col). Buck Jones western that's slightly above its class. Should please where they like horse stuff.

'Love Birds' (U). Fair comedy which drags in the first half and puts on speed for the close in a redeeming effort.

'urder in Trinidad' (Fox). Mystery with Nigel Bruce as an unostentatious detective something like Sherlock Holmes. Mildly entertaining.

'Twin Husbands' (Invincible). Hardly first class, but fairly interesting. Dialog bears the brunt of the denouement.

'War's End' (Smythe). War pictures without horror angle Too late to be of much appeal. Runs 30 minutes.

'One Is Guilty' (Col). Simple detective mystery. One of the Inspector Trent series, with Ralph Bellamy. Neatly donc, but hardly able to stand up without support.

'Badge of Honor' (Mayfair). Buster Crabbe in a cuff story designed for that actionalful second half of the dual era.

Unknown Soldier Speaks

Assembled by Lincoln Productions, Inc. Narrated by Alan Bunce from writing of Robert Thomsen. At Mayfair, N. Y., week of May 24. Running time 70 mins.

A brilliant idea holds another batch of old war clips together in a way that is novel, and tensely emotional. It's big enough to make a time-worn subject palatable even to those who may have seen every war archive edition. Only drawback is the print itself. But those long rainy streaks will tire the strongest pair of eyes in any house.

Offering opens at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Then a voice represented as the spirit begins reciting as cynical a narrative as has been heard against the war subject on any screen.

But the voice and the story make the audience forget they are looking at old stuff. Disjointed action and scene jumping from Mussolini to Hitler, as well as checking over the World War from inception to finis.

Lincoln Productions is partial to the Negro's part in the conflict. But that isn't prejudicial to the picture's success. Instead, it is to its advantage because it gives regular customers a generous slice of war life which most of this offering's predecessors have minimized. Picture is intended for a cleanup in colored towns and neighborhoods.

Waly.

Where Sinners Meet

Radio production and release. Starring Diana Wynyard and Clive Brook. Directed by J. Walter Ruben. Adapted from play 'The Dover Road,' by A. A. Milne. Scenario, H. W. Hanemann; camera, Nick Musuraca. Film editor, George Hively. At Music Hall week May 24. Running time, 68 mins.

Anne	Diana Wynyard
Mr. Latimer	Clive Brook
Eustasia	Billie Burke
Leonard	Reginald Owen
Nicholas	Alan Mowbray
Dominic	Gilbert Emery
Maid	Phyllis Barry
Footman	Walter Armitage
Maid	Katherine Williams
Footman	Robert Adair
Saunders	Vernon Steele

Not a good picture. Seems likely to annoy and irritate many because of the silly ass English hokum and to confuse and mystify others with the A. A. Milne brand of whimsical lunacy.

Story is incredible to start with. A millionaire eccentric Shanghais eloping couples and keeps them at his estate a week to determine if they are making a mistake. After that, if they still want to, they may proceed to elope. Of course, the elopers have left hubbies or wives at home.

This is the sort of picture that creates laughs but no satisfaction. Illusion is never achieved. Clever tricks in direction and performance make individual moments and incidents amusing. There is even a fair amount of brisk tempo. Yet the picture fails to deliver.

Six performances, all about equal in merit, are handed in by Diana Wynyard, Clive Brook, Reginald Owen, Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray and Gilbert Emery. Miss Wynyard plays straight, but the others are farceurs from the first foot to the last.

For one reason or another numerous lines of dialog were practically inaudible at the Music Hall. Cast is over-casual in its readings.

Land.

S. A.-MANN BRAND

(GERMAN-MADE)

Bayerische-Bavaria Pictures release of film made by Emelka. Directed by Franz Seitz. Cast including Otto Wernicke, Elsie Aulinger, Heinz Klinghcrg, Fritz Greiner, Josef Stockel and Max Weydner. Script by J. Dalman and J. Stockel. Franz Koch, photography. At Yorkville, New York, week May 20. Running time, 85 minutes.

'S. A.-Mann Brand,' subtitled 'A Romance of Our Day,' is the first 100% Nazi propaganda film to get a public showing in the United States. Picture found its logical berth in the Yorkville sure-seater located in New York's German neighborhood. Even to get into this house it took a year. It's been showing around Germany for 14 months. 'S. A.-Mann' part of the title stands for 'Sturm-Abteilung' ('Storm Trooper').

Being unalloyed propaganda, film's story and characters ar framed along extreme lines. The Nazis are shown to be lofty-minded, ideal-driven Sir Galahads, whose every act is a sacrifice for the good of the Fatherland, while those who oppose them are the scum of the earth and the enemies of Deutschland uber Alles. Singled out for the narrative's whipping are the Communists, with every one of them characterized as vicious gutter drivel swept on by the conniving of a Soviet-paid agent. Latter character is pictured as living in utmost luxury, surrounded by nude paintings and his houris.

The Soviets, who themselves are no inept hands at the art of propaganda, have a punch or two to gain from this Nazi affair when it comes to working up the emotions. Perhaps an object lesson for them along these lines would be the kid shooting episode in the Nazi production. A band of Hitler's followers are holding a street parade when a sniper fires in the crowd. Picked out by 'Brand's' story writers to receive the bullet is a 14-year-old boy attired in a brown shirt and the rest of the Hitlerite trimmings. The incident is given the expected finish, the lad dying in the arms of his mother, a widow, after he has given lipservice to a patriotic oration.

Indicating the scissors of the censor on this side are the absence of the Hitler person and voice in the film. Only flash of Hitler is that contained in a small framed photograph which the protagonist, Brand, gives the widow's youngsters for a birthday present.

Eliminated from the American version of 'Brand' are the mob scenes in which the Nazi shibboleth, 'Juda verrecke!' ('Perish Jewry') constituted part of the uproar. In the original there was a distorted caricature of a Jewish industrialist who in the foreparts of the picture fires the protagonist because of his activity as a Nazi and who, with the triumph of Hitler, is forced to re-employ Brand and make his escape to Switzerland. For American palates all this has been toned down. The industrial who does the firing is pictured in somewhat of a ridiculous light but there is no aftermath other than his being warned not to repeat the Nazi firing tactics.

Several scenes are devoted to the maneuvers of the Nazi cohorts after Hitler comes into power, but all these are kept on a high plane. There isn't even a suggestion of violence, nor is there the slightest reference to the Jews. Nazi payoff period is recorded as an extremely courteous event, with even the Communists picked up on a raid shown as being daintily assisted by the elbow into the paddy wagon.

Technically, 'Brand' is a smooth piece of work. The photography and recording are good, the acting tiptop and the direction a credit to Franz Seitz. Odec.

ONE IS GUILTY

Columbia production and release. Featuring Ralph Bellamy, Shirley Grey, Warren Hymer. Directed by Lambert Hillyer. Story and screen play, Harold Shumate. Photographer, John Stumar. At Loew's New York on double bill. Running time, 58 minutes.

Inspector Trent	Ralph Bellamy
Sally	Shirley Grey
Walters	Warren Hymer.
Lola Deveroux	Rita La Roy
Jack Allen	Carroll Naish
Toledo Eddie	Wheeler Oakman
Miss Kane	Ruth Abbott
Wells Deveroux	Wil rd Robertson

Unpretentious detective mystery. None of the cast commanding extraordinary b. o. interest, but as a whole a neatly told story even if somewhat obvious in plot.

Here is Inspector Trent, once again, in the familiar writers' routine he catches his man, but not until a second murder has been committed. Logically that's inadroit detecting, but for those who don't expect too much from fictitious police genii, will do.

The romance angle is weak also, and that's another obstacle. The love 'tack hangs on Shirley Grey, who has little to say and even less to do. She winds up with the handsome inspector in a curtain clutch. The unseen triangle romance between the millionaire's wife and a double crossing pugilistic champ is only dialoged.

The millionaire sure enough is the murderer and the pug is the victim, as also the pug's manager. Photography okay and settings plain. Shan.

THE LINEUP

Columbia production and release. Features William Gargan, Marian Nixon, John Millan, Noel Francis. Directed by Howard Higgin. Story and adaptation by George Waggner. Film editor, Jack Rawlins. Photography, Benjamin Kline. At Loew's, New York, May 23-24, on double bill. Running time, 64 mins.

Bob ..... William Gargan
Peggy ..... Marian Nixon
Doyle ..... Paul Hurst
Fields ..... John Millan
Mile-a-way ..... Harold Huber
Mrs. Peterson ..... Greta Meyer
McGrath ..... Joseph Crehan
Mable ..... Noel Francis
Trigger ..... Francis McDonald
Chuck ..... Charlie Browne

This one just misses being fair as entertainment. 'The Lineup' lays its foundation in the activities of racketeers, their successful efforts in framing an innocent girl, and in detectives who uncover the truth. In one respect, it offers something different, a police lineup at which cops and others try to identify a string of persons, subjecting one in particular, the heroine, to humiliation and an unpleasant grilling.

From all appearances the producers attempted to make the lineup look official, with markers to indicate exact heighth of those on display and cops forcing those under suspicion to turn around, take off hats, coats, etc.

Aside from this sequence, which is not too long, the story follows a familiar pattern. The racketeering is in the form of stolen furs, which are turned over to a fence and altered or otherwise prepared for illicit marketing.

Marian Nixon plays the checkroom girl who gets innocently involved and probably would not have avoided conviction on the evidence had not one of the detectives on the case, smitten by her, gone to work to clear her. The usual fade results, duck getting the girl, as well as a choice of higher rank.

For mild comedy, a brother detective on the case gums things up at every turn. He's Paul Hurst, and as good a type for the assignment of a dumb Sherlock as a picture of this kind could wish for.

William Gargan isn't the classified Hollywood type as a detective, but it doesn't matter much. He's okay, otherwise, opposite the meek Miss Nixon who always looks agreeably sweet and feminine. Greta Meyer tries to play a Swede landlady.

Usual effective menace offered by [illegible] Millan and lessers, including [illegible] Huber, fine gangster type; [illegible]apris McDonald and Charlie Browne. Char.

WARN LONDON

(BRITISH-MADE)

London, May 16.

British Lion Films production, released through British Lion. Directed by T. Hayes Hunter. Cast: Edmund Gwenn, John Loder, Leonora Corbett, D. A. Clarke-Smith. Previewed Phoenix theatre, London. Running time, 74 mins.

Very creditable suspensive police-crook melodrama—creditable for a British production. Should prove particularly acceptable over here and playable in the States under limitations.

A German criminologist, connected with the Paris police, is ruined by a gigantic swindle and his life savings wiped away. A burglar breaks into his home, they have a chat, and he tells the thief he is just as broke. Intruder replies he can never get rich being on the level.

Criminologist thinks this over and decides to plan one grand coup. A London police inspector is put upon the case. He is a double for the burglar. The criminologist realizes the resemblance. After much suspensive and cleverly concocted situations, the international gang is rounded up.

Edmund Gwenn gives a splendid characterization as the criminologist and John Loder is effective in the dual roles of burglar and inspector. Clarke-Smith, as the leader of the gang, also stands out. Leonora Corbett, the only woman in the cast, has a minor role, and does it effectively but doesn't photograph so well.

Entire production well directed, but photography a bit faulty at times. Jolo.

THESE 30 YEARS

(INDUSTRIAL)

Caravel Films, Inc. release, produced for Ford Motor Co. Cast includes Robert Strange, Elma Lowe and Dona MacDonald. Directed by David Plotnick. Story by James Creelman; dialog, Phil Stong. At Globe, N. Y., week May 21. Running time, 62 mins.

Ford Motor has been exhibiting this saga of the horseless wagon around the country under local dealer auspices for almost a year. It remains its Broadway debut as part of a double feature setup, minus rental consideration. In some spots it is reported the company has paid theatres to play it, but there is no verification of this rumor.

Had Ford and the ad agency concerned, McCann-Erickson, kept the narrative down to two reels they might have evolved a compact, interest-fetching footage on industrial history. Stretched out to feature length, 'These 30 Years' presents a meandering series of sequences, frequent and long patches of dullness, padded and stilted dialog and patience-cloying demonstrations of the Ford car's virtues. It's a the type of selling that rams it down the throat.

In front of the Globe the film is ballyhooed as the dramatic story of the 'rise of the auto industry.' No reference is made of the actual sponsor. What the picture actually resolves itself into is a saga of a small-town Ford dealer who had faith in the development of the auto as a common public conveyance and in the Ford product.

Yarn begins interestingly enough. A farmer dies because the doctor had to depend on a horse and buggy vehicle to get there. The farmer's son is impressed by this inadequacy of speed and when a sample of the first of the Ford line stops near the old homstead for water the youth determines to dedicate his life to the distribution of the gas buggy. With his end in money received from the sale of the farm he launches a Ford agency.

Next two reels concern themselves with his propaganda efforts in behalf of the auto, the following two to an awkwardly sketched chronicle of Ford history as paralelled by the output of one Ford model after another, and the last reel to the romantic difficulties of the Ford dealer's son. Through a weak character role Henry Ford is able to ring in one of his pet hates, stock market gambling. Also the moral is that determination and hard work are the only paths to success and happiness.

Interpolated as aids to the cavalcade idea are newsclips, stills and newspaper headlines. Odeo.

MAN TRAILER

Columbia production and release, starring Buck Jones. Directed by Lambert Hillyer, who also wrote story and screen play. Wilbur McGaugh, Ben Kline, camera. Cast: Cecilia Parker, Arthur Vinton, Clarence Geldert, Stephen Clark, Chas. West. At Criterion, N. Y., on grind, starting May 21. Running time, 58 mins.

Well-made western, apparently given extra attention in the hope of reaching beyond the strictly western spots. Familiar theme of the outlaw who becomes town marshal, but, of course, an innocent man. Nicely photographed, well directed, and excellent sound. Good enough to justify the hope of a little extra booking.

Love interest better played up than in the average stable scenario, with Cecilia Parker holding up well, but the story is mostly he-man stuff with Jones easily holding his own against Arthur Vinton and Clarence Geldert, who gives capital support. Plenty of hard riding, most of it lacking the blurred effect resulting from poor photography, one fist fight and two good gun battles.

Story is convincingly told and gets interest in other than the swashbuckling. Chic.

LOVE BIRDS

Universal production and release, starring Slim Summerville and ZaSu Pitts. Directed by William Seiter. Screen play by Doris Anderson from story by Clarence Marks and Dale Van Every. At Stanley, N. Y., April 28-24. Running time, 60 mins.

Henry Whipple ..... Slim Summerville
Araminta Tootle ..... ZaSu Pitts
Gladwyn Tootle ..... Mickey Rooney
Barbwire ..... Frederick Burton
Forbes ..... Emmet Vogan
Kelly ..... Dorothy Vaughan
Madam Bertha ..... Maude Eburne
Bus Driver ..... Hugh Enfield
Janitor ..... Arthur Stone
Teacher ..... Ethel Mandell
Burlesque Girl ..... Gertrude Short
Blewitt ..... Clarence H. Wilson
Dentist ..... John T. Murray

Slow in action and with little or no suspense until the middle, 'Love Birds' then perks up to the point where it can rate fairly.

The first half is held together by the thinnest story thread. Slim Summerville in a chicken store is allowed to bump into ZaSu Pitts as a school teacher and Mickey Rooney as the classroom pet. Then they part, and little Rooney is given overtime to prove his precocity.

With such a barren story area director had to rely upon a couple of laughs and forget continuity. He permitted the youngster to overpan. Dialog during the early sequences for Rooney is also exaggerated to the point where customers could become easily wearied.

Production does not settle down to serious comedy until the teacher and the chicken man are sold the same abandoned rancho by sharps and take possession. Even during the first few hundred feet, when this situation is reached, there is an impression registered with the audience that action and some of the gags are forced.

When Summerville loses a gold filling and a crazy prospector reports a strike, the picture is suddenly jerked into high speed. Hordes pour out to the rancho, bars are set up and fights start. One of the most amusing sequences is that involving the leads with a trio of prosties who call themselves 'show girls.'

Another old but nevertheless funny situation is a public tooth abstraction, with a Negro beating a drum to drown Slim's yells.

There is a rapid-fire close, with the fraud discovered after the realtors have bought back their property at twice the money they collected. Waly.

MURDER IN TRINIDAD

Fox production and release. Features Nigel Bruce, Heather Angel, Victor Jory. Directed by Louis King. Based on novel by John W. Vandercook. Adaptation, Seton I. Miller. Photography, Barney McGill. At Mayfair, N. Y. Running time, 74 mins.

Bertram Lynch ..... Nigel Bruce
Joan Cassell ..... eather Angel
Howard Slade ..... Victor Jory
Major Bruce Cassell ..... Murray Kinnell
Gregory Bronson ..... Douglas Walton
Duval ..... J. Carrol Naish
Sir Ellery Henson ..... Crauford Kent
Inspector Henley ..... Pat Somerset
Davenant ..... Francis Ford

Unpretentious murder mystery constructed around a detective who works quietly and modestly, much in the manner of a Sherlock Holmes. Amusing, but not particularly intriguing material comes from the 'Murder in Trinidad' novel. In pattern it takes few departures from form, but in casting picture is a pleasant relief.

Nigel Bruce's performance as Lynch, the super-detective, is not only refreshing but so played as to overshadow everyone else, including Heather Angel and Victor Jory, who are featured with him. Not so much attention has been given Miss Angel and there is only mild love interest centering around her and the young man who volunteers to court danger by assisting in the detection campaign.

Bsuce, who has a soft English accent, moves slowly through the picture in keeping with the character he plays, never getting excited, never voicing the many opinions average detective roles are cluttered up with. That helps.

Story isn't much, and in its screen dressing the same old tricks of the trade prevail, including the guilty looks and actions of virtually every one in the cast but Sherlock himself. Action is in the tropics, with a bad swamp adding to the menace.

It is so full of quicksand that only those who know where to step can cross its fortresses and reach the hideout of the diamond smugglers, who play villains in this instance. The swamp is also filled with crocodiles, but the reptiles and the quicksand do not seem half so dangerous as the picture attempts to make them.

Three murders figure, each with a knife.

Running time is a little long, causing some dragginess and leaving room for details that aren't essential. Char.

IN LOVE WITH LIFE

Maury Cohen-Invincible production, released by Chesterfield-First Division. Directed by Frank Strayer. Story and dialog by Robert Ellis. Camera, M. A. Anderson. At Casino, N. Y. Running time, 68 mins.

Sharon ..... Lila Lee
Boy ..... Dickie Moore
Professor ..... Arthur Stevens
Morley ..... Claude Gillingwater
Brouquet ..... Rosita Marstini

'In Love With Life' is a likeable minor film that rehashes with a fair degree of skill and sincerity some sure-fire sentimentalities. In this instance a grouchy old grandfather (Claude Gillingwater) has disowned his daughter (Lila Lee) but adopted his grandson (Dickie Moore) whom he adores. Eventually, and after the stock market crash has wiped grandpa's fortune away, the family is restored to harmony and unity.

There isn't a lot of action. There isn't a lot of laughs. Story is dilatory and never works up to anything memorable. Yet Frank Strayer has succeeded in making it human and the narrative not too incredible. It seems reasonable to guess that in regions where sophistication is not rampant and where the heart-tug is missed the peasants will okay this effort.

Gillingwater's peevish old duffer is a fine characterization. While the story speaks about but does not show the antecedents of his animus against his daughter, Gillingwater's trouping covers up and keeps the stern prejudices of the gent plausible.

Onslow Stevens, wearing silver-rimmed spectacles and greying at the temples, weaves a quiet spell. He is a leading man without the rowdy or flashy sex appeal in vogue of late, but rather suggestive of the Thomas Meighan sort of appeal that once was potent. It is his task to impersonate an academic day-dreaming fellow. For a hokum touch along the absent-minded professor line he sticks his paw in the icing in a cake in the last two minutes of the feature.

Lila Lee's prettiness has now passed from the girlish to the womanish. She looks very well and gives a nice performance. She is the chief name of the cast. Dickie Moore was good casting in the vital kid role. Land.

WILD BOY

(BRITISH MADE)

London, May 10.

Gainsborough Picture released through Gaumont-British. Directed by Albert Ve Courville. In cast: Gwyneth Lloyd, Leonora Corbett, Sonnie Hale, Lyn Harding, Ronald Squire, Flanagan and Allen. Running time 75 mins. Previewed Prince Edward theatre, London.

Budgeted to cost $200,000 and to take 12 weeks, picture was actually completed in 20 weeks at a cost of about $300,000.

Picture has several good things to commend it, and should prove good box-office here. It can even rate as a fair second feature for America, where first class Greyhound racing is still a novelty.

Story is old fashioned with very little originality. Concerns the offspring of 'Wild Man of Borneo,' a famous dog and winner of the Waterloo Cup, a coveted prize in the coursing field.

'Wild Boy,' the dog who is part of a litter by 'Borneo,' to be sold by auction as the owner, General Warren, died a poor man, is bought by an admirer of the General's daughter and presented to her. Also in the sale is 'Black Prince,' another prospective champion, bought by Frank Redford, a famous greyhound owner, who is determined to win the dog Derby with him. From then on, there develop a string of incidents and a matching of wits between the owners of these two dogs; each owner determined to beat the other.

Love element is maintained through Billy Grosvenor who bought the dog for Marjorie, daughter of the late General Warren, falling heavily for the gal. Further interest is maintained by Gladys Scrivener, secretary of Redfern, who is also sold on Grosvenor.

Plenty of action; several attempts to steal 'Wild Boy,' who is the only likely to stop 'Black Prince' from winning the Derby. Couple of fights and hold-ups across beautiful stretches of the English countryside. Finally 'Wild Boy' wins, the villain is ruined and the hero and heroine marry and live happily ever after.

Some very good shots of dog trailing grounds and usual filming of a Dog Derby, taken at White City.

Best and most natural actor is Mick the Miller as 'Wild Boy,' a dual winner of the Greyhound Derby. Among the women, Leonora Corbett as the secretary, is outstanding. Flanagan and Allen, local favorites, supply the comedy as two bookmakers, which is pretty thin. Most disappointing is Gwyneth Lloyd, a Gaumont-British discovery, as the heroine. Girl lacks poise and realism and at times seems amateurish.

Talking Shorts

'FLYING HUNTERS'
Pete Smith Oddity
6 Mins.
Capitol, N. Y.
Metro

'Flying Hunters' is an anomaly in title and truly an oddity, showing a little known cross-section of Montana sheep-herding and some of the problems the ranchers have to contend with.

A seemingly daredevil but obviously very expert aviator pilots a plane which flies very low in chasing the Montana coyotes, which, it is explained, are the menace of the sheep ranchers. The coyotes' natural prey are the sheep, and to preserve their flocks, this plane, with an expert marksman in the cockpit, pursues the coyotes over the landscape and mows 'em down on sight. The state not only pays a bounty for every coyote carcass, but a fertile source of income are the coyotes' skins, which the 'flying hunters' are privileged to keep and sell.

Lauren A. Draper produced and cameraed this novelty short, which Pete Smith dialoged. It's a pip for any program. Abel.

LILIAN ROTH
'Story Conference'
Musical Novelty
19 Mins.
Strand, N. Y.
Vitaphone Nos. 1665-5

This impresses as though Warners wanted to get Miss Roth immediately to work, and, not knowing what to do about it, just decided to declare field day for director and cameraman.

Travesty on a Hollywood story conference, of which the average audience is supremely ignorant, is used in an effort to unite several unrelated specialty numbers.

Cornfield and laundry are settings before hodge podge connects with a jewelry store. Latter is spectacular, providing illusion of girls as jewels in settings.

Miss Roth isn't shown to advantage in such a messerup as this. Her solo on divorce manages, however, to sound through all of the other firecrackers and jackanabobs that are dumped into this short. Waly.

'TRICK GOLF'
Pete Smith Oddi
10 Mins.
Capitol, N. Y.
Metro

Tom Hudgins is the casually mentioned star of this Pete Smith oddity. Hudgins' claim to fame seemingly are his trick shots done back-hand, with elongated golf clubs, out of men's whiskers and the like.

Pete Smith effectively gags the proceedings, making them a very acceptable 10 minutes; while the intricate drives and mashie shots—with suitable femme company to dress the picture—visibly captures the interest of the onlooker. Abel.

'JAILBIRDS OF PARADISE'
Musical (in color)
18 mins.
State, N. Y.
Metro

Another grind at the luxurious jail idea, this one written by Al Boasberg. Usual stuff of the club-like prison with girl attendants and plenty of dancing tossed in. Winds up with a cabaret with the prisoners all enjoying themselves with machine guns and blackjacks.

Not well knit and too few jokes for the length. Nicely done in color, with the production numbers chiefly profiting. Bit number is staged in the old 'Big House' cell block set, but too widely spread to be effective.

Just filler. Chic.

SEEING THE U.S.A.
Georgia; travelogue
15 Mins.
Embassy, N. Y.
Amity

Chambers of Commerce, cooperating in the production of this series, are availing themselves of opportunities to present their states in Sunday garments.

Fifteen minutes, however, is too long. Such subjects would be better if the running time were halved because the average audience wearies of so many stately buildings and laudatory comment.

This series would be better in full length for geography students in grammar schools. Waly.

'GOING SPANISH'
With Bob Hope, Leah Ray
Comedy, Singing
19 Mins.
Mayfair, N. Y.
Educational

Potpourl of nothing much, which permits Bob Hope to attempt comedy and Leah Ray to project the intriguing personality and voice which she possesses. Though the material does not do her justice, Miss Ray emerges an interesting element in an otherwise dull short.

Hope is also at the mercy of poor material. Efforts to inject some laughs via a comic opera type of Spanish president or something fall pretty flat. Some soldiers are fed jumping beans and hop around a lot. That's an idea. Char.

VINCENT LOPEZ and ORCHESTRA
9 Mins.
Strand, N. Y.
Vitaphone No. 1555

The much photographed Lopez and orchestra are a little belated in feature offering and atmosphere. They play 'Stormy Weather' in a speakeasy. To positively identify the pre-repeal vintage of this subject the director had the place raided. Exhibitors that won't shy from this falling can book this current Lopez offering unhesitatingly. Waly.

MAN OF ARAN

(BRITISH MADE)

London, May 8.

Gainsborough production, released through Gaumont-British. Directed by Robert Flaherty. Cast composed entirely of natives. Running time 80 mins. Previewed, Tivoli theatre, London.

Robert J. Flaherty, directory of 'Nanook,' here presents another unique travel film.

The Aran Islands (there are three of them) are located north of Ireland. They are bare rock, with no trees and no soil. Some of the cliffs are 500 feet high. Director has utilized the natives for a film depiction their existence, which is comprised mostly of fishing. There is excellent sound synchronization of the scenes, which includes shark spearing.

While entertaining, there is too much repetition. Summed up, it would make an exceptionally interesting educational two-reeler. Jolo.

TWIN HUSBANDS

Invincible production. Presented by Maury M. Cohen. Directed by Frank Strayer. Story, continuity and dialog by Anthony Coldewey and Robert Ellis. Photographer, M. A. Anderson. At Ideal, N. Y., on double bill May 23. Running time, 60 minutes.

Jerry Van Trevor ..... John Miljan
Chloe Werrenden ..... Shirley Grey
Colon Drain ..... Monroe Owsley
Gordon Lewis ..... Hale Hamilton
Sergeant Kerrigan ..... Robert Elliott
Butler ..... Wilson Benge
Chuck ..... William Franklin
Red ..... aurice Black

Misleading title. No dual role in this film, as the title might imply. Otherwise a fairly interesting plot about a gentleman crook who is kidnapped by a woman and a man in order to get him to impersonate the woman's missing husband whom the crook resembles. The idea being that via such an impersonation the woman can come into possession of certain bonds.

Action is limited and the dialog simple and shoulders too much of the denouement, so that altogether

(Continued on page 23)

MUSIC HALL, N. Y.

Those who criticize what they term the 'newsless newsreels' have a swell case for the prosecution in the assortment of clips chosen for this week at the Music Hall. Nothing about the Darrow report, the big controversy, nothing about the Minneapolis riots, nothing about Clyde Barrow's ambushing. Instead such hot fillers as clearing the snow to Pike's Peak, polar bears taking a plunge, the English gentry dancing in the streets of Helmsford, a factory test for the cloth to be used in a balloon, a horse race (they all look the same), Dern pinning a medal on somebody, motorcycles trying a steep hill (done before many times).

Only thing topical was some views of the smouldering ruins of the Chicago stockyards fire. But otherwise nobody could tell from the newsreel that the country was mangy with drama and incidents ranging from violent strikes to NRA storms.

Final clip of the newsreel seems unadulterated propaganda in favor of the steel companies and shipyards that make battleships. By now there certainly can be no doubt that there are two bodies of opinion on the subject of how much tax money shall be poured into armaments. And regardless of how anybody feels on the subject the fact that there is a division of opinion ought to be sufficient to keep editorializing off the screen of any theatre. Comment during the navy footage was special pleading of pronounced bias and quite inexcusable in thrusting one side of a controversial subject upon a defenseless audience. It seemed like poor showmanship on the part of the theatre to be a partner to such obvious propaganda.

As to the rest of the show the Music Hall runs true to form. Leon Leonidoff is away for a month unkinking his nervous system and Russell Markert is putting the shows together. Natural enough that with Markert the girls should dominate and the production elements be played down. Those girls never fail to seem overworked and underpaid. Overworked because speculation on the hours of rehearsals staggers the imagination. Underpaid because by ordinary standards no wage could be adequate for the rigors. There probably no better example of perfect team play and organizational discipline in the country.

Alice Dawn sings with considerable sock. George Meyer assists, Arend and Martinez handle a ballroom routine spiffily, notably a couple of difficult lifts, and The Three Waltons stagger in mock-inebriation before the drapes and to the amusement of the payees. That's about the story, apart from the Rockettes and their fanciful footwork.

Jacques Gasselin, concertmaster, steps upon the stage to solo with the orchestra and shows himself a grade A musician. And the usual Dick Leibert organlude. Attendance okay opening night. On the screen is Radio's 'Where Sinners Meet.'

Land.

PARAMOUNT, N. Y.

With a rave picture on its screen for a holdover week, the Paramount's booking office probably figured the draw established and, therefore, a strong stage show unnecessary. Whether right or wrong on this premise only the b.o. at the end of the week will tell, but it must be said in advance that the change in the flesh portion of the entertainment here was not Par's fault. Dave Apollon, in with 'Little Miss Marker' (Par) last week, could not duck out of a booking at the Metropolitan, Boston, currently, and Par had to change the stage end.

Layout in now is strong in individual talent, but most of it is dancing. Nothing in the way of a big name in the show, with Hal Sherman the headliner. Others are The Kitchen Pirates, Rome and Grant, Pete, Peaches and Duke, and Babs Lavelle, making three dancing acts out of the five in the show.

As usual, The Kitchen Pirates slammed their way over here with their tt.illing tossing routine. The three boys and girls have been together so long in this adagio turn that every one of their breath-taking throws and catches are timed nearly perfect. They're on after the male vocal team, Rome and Grant, who spend entirely too much time singing 'Fit as a Fiddle' as various better known personalities would deliver it. Early portion of their stint, however, is the most incongruous. Dressed in the height of Atlantic City boardwalk fashion, they shove across Old Man River.

Opening is an excellent hot-cha routine by the 16 Danny Dare girls. This is extremely well lighted and the maneuvers of the girls are along Albertina Rasch lines. Towards the close, though, it gets a bit dirty, being altogether too reminsdful of one of the paintings on the walls of the Frenchy outdoor garden of Leon & Eddie's.

Immediately following the femme line come Peter, Peaches and Duke, one of the smoother colored hoofing combos. Their tapology, despite the fact that it came so soon after the girls' strong number, went over very well.

Then, to continue the cycle of continuous dancing, Babs LaVelle wowed with an unusually effective eccentric acrobatic dance. She got laughs, frequently strong ones, which is something quite away from the ordinary for an entertainer of her type.

Hal Sherman, working with a snappy looking blonde, was not very effective until he went into his dancing. Reason is the usual ineffectiveness of patter in a theatre as large as the Paramount. When in his routines, Sherman got the well-filled house so well in hand he could have danced on forever. His clever interpretation of a fan dancer is his topper for everything, and it leaves the audience laughing.

Aside from two more unimportant routines by the line of girls, that's there is to the presentation, which runs an unusually brief 46 minutes.

PALACE, N. Y.

A fairly agreeable show occupies the hard oak here this week. Headlined by Buster West and braced on all sides pretty well by the acts of Arren and Broderick, Owen McGivney, Eddie South Orchestra and Don Ruiz and Bonita.

If nothing else, the show is conspicuously different because it has a great deal of variety. Something else runs in its favor is compactness and speed, the only padding of routine coming at the last in the South band act, which in view of its virtual straight orchestra numbers shouldn't be doing as much as 19 minutes.

South, who heads a colored eight-piece orchestra, playing the violin himself as leader, has the outfit do five numbers in addition to the choral work on a pop. Less would suffice, at the same time tightening up a closing turn that has everything else in its favor and, happily, lacks the blatancy and brass of most Harlemish combinations.

West has mowed down 13 minutes, making all of 'em count. His wind-up routine is one of the swellest of its kind the stage offers, and it did the trick Friday night, nearly buckling the show. West carries a mixed team with him, the girl mostly to do a song and dance number while clowning is going on. Her song isn't hot, but her acrobatic specialty rates.

Comedy honors are shared with Arren and Broderick, a mixed team that's pretty well established by now. They drew No. 2 and made it talk, nearly having to do an encore after a long hand.

Opener is the weakest act on the show, Don Ruiz and Bonita, but by comparison with the lightest on most five-act shows, is okay. Flashed up a little with stage nicely set and three women carried, the team's efforts, though not of the highest culture, at least benefit by background. Finish is fast as the team spins around in the best ballroom manner for that final applause takeoff. Sis team poor in the first number, much better in the second. Third girl pianos.

In the middle Owen McGivney, veteran quick change artists, strikes a note of novelty in enacting numerous assignments in a murder-mystery plot that is highly melodramatic, theatrical and backwoodish. He's been doing substantially same turn since King Edward's reign. Dialog and action wouldn't interest the Pulitzer prize judges.

This week the Palace plays 'Stingaree' (RKO) on its screen. Business Friday evening off. Dave Mordecai, a veteran pit boss with RKO, is this side of the foots. He plays a pop overture this week in addition to handling the music on the show in a capable manner.

Char.

ORPHEUM, LINCOLN

Lincoln, May 25.

Last week of vaude at the Orph had a very nice bill in spite of the short and skimpy look three acts give. The regulation booking is followed with a novelty, a comedy, and a class dancing act placed in that order. This house is rapidly turning into an oven the biz is beginning to slip in proportion to the temperature.

The Banfields, bouncing ball artists, opens the 32-minute show and keep as many as 10 balls in the air between them. Both people have engaging personalities and get the audience after the first trick.

Gifford and Pearl, with nuttery down to a fine point, do some robust clowning in the deuce. Gifford acts as m.c. for the rest of the bill, too. Turn could stand a little polish, but got enough laughs here.

A pair of youngsters called Petch and Deauville, class dancers, closed the bill with a sock. The girl in this act is clever on both feet and hands, besides being a looker. Lad has some steps, too, but detracts with awkward use of hands and arms.

Pic is 'Springtime for Henry' (Par). Two shorts and (U) news. This is supposed to close the house for flesh, unless Melroy, the magician, comes to town. Negotiations unsuccessful so far.

Barney.

FOX, BROOKLYN

Flo Kelly, who once produced shows over here, is back again in time for the summer cutting to keep costs down. A couple weeks ago Alex and Peggy Gumansky went on after a record stay in this topsy-turvy house of 21 weeks. At the same time the line of 24 girls was cut in half and other knots tied in the purse strings. It's obvious from looking at the stage, particularly this week when a draggy, lightweight show is at attention, but doesn't get a great deal.

Bert Frohman remains as master of ceremonies. He fails to get any laughs currently and is no great shakes on the two song numbers on which he works himself up in a heat in an effort to cover up something lacking otherwise. Maybe he took a cut, too.

The Kelly unit, labeled 'Moderistic Shoes' for some reason or another, runs just under an hour, about twice as long as it should take to display what little talent there really is in the show. Opener is in what looks theatrically like a shoe shop and has Frohman chattering something about brogans as four show girls march out in flashy togs. The line of 12 doesn't presage much in the opener, many of them displaying poor form in a set of routines that have little shape or reason. Catherine McKenna, an acrobatic dancer, tops the introductory line number, and not bad but far from sensational.

About middle there is another production number with the girls as a means of bringing on Ginna and Vinay, dance team which offers nothing exciting either here or in the finale. Number is announced by Frohman with a plug for Miss Kelly, stager, and before the hour is over the m.c. has done a big job of trying to make everything sound big. Much of this currently in view of what he's auctioneering.

Miss Kelly's big production number is called 'Slaves of Love' and has the line girls chained up for a number that is interminably long and repetitious. It isn't particularly original to begin with. Fifteen girls are split into two groups, making them uneven, plus which the two factions are out of step most of the time.

Ann Pennington heads the talent in two dance numbers, received mildly Saturday afternoon. The act that came close to breaking the show was the Maxellos, risley five, which shows how the audiences are over here. Always a lot of kids around and they probably go for acrobatics.

Comedy team of Nash and Fately are up front around the No. 2 position. This is a fairly good little act of a Mutt and Jeff mixed twain and they had the sense Saturday to hold their routine down to its meatiest content.

After the stage show had slouched along for over 45 minutes people began to walk on it Saturday, not caring how the finale number would end. Picture, 'Black Cat' (U), which, in the rain on the Sat mat, wasn't packing the house.

Char.

ROXY, N. Y.

The fleet's due in, so the Roxy sets itself up as a reception committee of one to welcome the boys with a battleship set and all the trimmings. Specialties in this one haven't much to do with the navy, nor has the picture ('Now I'll Tell,' Fox), but the scenery and the Gae Foster girls' costumes make up for it.

In the specialty line-up there are five turns, ranging from very good to not so hot, and in back of them is the customary house support: Wesley Eddy, m.c.; the stage band, and the girls.

Taken as they come, the acts lead off with The Gretonas, high wire family of five in a routine that resembles that of the Wallendas with the big show. The Gretonas can't work as high in a theatre, of course, but they do work about 10 feet directly over the bandstand, and without a net. Four men and a girl, their bicycle and chair balancing tricks which are standard for a turn of this type, but everything in a showmanly fashion.

Pettet and Douglas, one full grown man and one midget, are no strangers to Broadway, nor are their gags, which always play return dates with them. The midget is still cute and talented, however, and that's what counts mostly, anyway.

Don Ford is introduced as the ship's radio operator, having a special set to himself on the pneumatic orchestra pit, which lifts him up to stage level for an entrance. He starts off with the steel guitar and finishes on a banjo. Mild stuff.

Jack Pepper, fortunately, shows up at this juncture to lend the show the wallop it needs pretty badly. This time he's carrying four unbilled boys who are stooges insofar as they dress that way, but who can give and take on the entertainment end as well. They look like a catch-as-catch-can instrumental combination that has seen better days, for they can make listenable music. Pepper has dovetailed their musical abilities very neatly with some plain and fancy stoogery, and the net result is an exceptionally high powered vaudeville act. Pepper does his usual sweet singing in addition to keeping the boys keyed up. It's Pepper's best act to date, which is saying something for a boy who has had plenty of good ones.

Foster girls have their customary three spots, which they fill with the usual routines. A stair dance is a novelty as staged and puts them through some rather difficult formations.

Eddy, in here for a run, m.c.'s, sings and conducts the band through its one specialty, and number is announced as a 'special arrangement' of 'Road to Mandalay,' and so special hardly anybody will recognize it. But that's probably not Eddy's fault. The m.c. appears to be the likeable type, which is the first requirement for m.c.'ing, and then he can sing, too. But he should do more work with his announcements, for they're none too clear; with one exception. The exception, clearly delivered, was worded somewhat as follows:

'They say a sailor has a sweetheart in every port. But that's only a dream. Which reminds me of a very popular song, 'Why Do I Dream Those Dreams?' featuring a dance by Jeanne Devereaux. Well, Miss Devereaux does a toe dance, very nicely, and Eddy sings the accompaniment. The audience didn't seem to mind the double talk.

Business extra good Friday night.

Bige.

HIPP, BALTIMORE

Baltimore, May 25.

This week's entertainment, vaudeville, is an improvement over what the customers have been getting the past fortnight—but then it wouldn't take much scanning of submitted acts to arrange a better show than the pair of units house just finished playing.

Four acts this week, headlined and easily topped by Isham Jones' ork. Hasn't flash or speed, but mob apparently wanted it just as it was, in ether style. Eddie Stone and Joe Mayer chant a refrain apiece and Ina Ray, blonde eyeful, comes on and far-and-away surpasses everything with a torrid s. and d. Girl should be accorded more opportunity. Jones' own song creations figured in a medley that went over about best among the musical bits. Also, Jones is the most modest, unaffected baton-wielder this town has ever glimmed.

Gray Family opens. Four girls and a single boy. Altogether oke dance flash, and the singing is all right, too, especially the femme single. Six costume changes.

Tom, Dick and Harry, knockabout hoofers, deuce. It's not what they show, but number of acts which have shown same stuff so many times previously that largely lessens the effect.

Jolly Bill and Jane follow, a current NBC early morn act. But far from jolly enough for vaude. Open with few mins. of pallid patter, during which they seem to think references to radio and other big-shots is o.k. in lieu of anything approaching entertainment. Then man chases and girl dons cheaters and gives a garrulous imitash of a porch-rocker grandmaw. Man returns in smock and beret with easel and crayons Penner, Wynn, an unnamed yap in a swim suit and finales—while pit ork softly plays 'Maryland, My Maryland'—with a barque sketching of F.D.R. steering the Ship of State.

'Strictly Dynamite' (RKO) the film. Biz n.s.h. second show, opening day.

PARAMOUNT, L. A.

Los Angeles, May 24.

Combination of Helen Morgan and Jay C. Flippen revue on stage and Par's 'Little Miss Marker' on screen didn't mean a dime at the box office at the opening.

Aside from the lack of draw, stage names didn't dish out the brand of entertainment that calculated to bring the word of mouth advertising to bolster biz. Miss Morgan was a distinct disappointment. Restricting her four songs to verse and chorus, the torcher lacked punch and failed to arouse the small crowd to anything that spelled enthusiasm.

Flippen revue has Mahon and Tucker, ballroom dancers and the Burns Twins, pair of nimble hoofers, besides Jack Dalton and a femme partner in a somewhat unique roller skating diversion. Elenore, exotic dancer, who does a fan dance using a couple of feather covered parasols and wearing considerably more clothes than customary; Claire Carter, comedienne foil for the m.c., and a goofy stooge who provides a few guffaws.

Flippen, acting as m.c., gags all the way, does a lot of nonsensical clowning and works hard, but ineffectively for the Par type of family audience. House band is batoned by Max Bradfield, with the combo pianist accompanying Miss Morgan.

Line girls have a couple of effective routines, setting is tasty. Screen shorts included a Hollywood on Parade, Par News and comedy.

Edwa.

PALACE, CHICAGO

Chicago, May 26.

Recalling the sensational business of the summer of 1933 with Milton Berle on the stage as stock m.c., the Palace has decided to repeat that style of show this summer. Has brought in Ken Murray to hold down the pivot gag spot, while Murray has brought in a cane, bass saxophone, a gag man and Helen Charleston.

Also in on the picture are Will J. Harris and Ainsley Lambert, ex-Balaban & Katz stage showmen. Harris will supervise all stage and vaude shows on production, lighting, etc., while Lambert will figure out routines for the line of girls.

Murray is good choice as m.c. He carries the bulk of show, sticking with it during the entire 80 minutes running time. He's in there gagging, clowning, doing blackouts, doing cross-fire with the acts and hobnobbing with the audience. Murray sold himself quickly to the audience on the last show Friday, running up and down the aisles, climbing over the footlights and introducing himself to people generally. He was the genial host and the public went for it. It's that type of audience at present.

Other than Murray, there was the Rimacs act and maybe Helen Charleston. Miss Charleston is with Murray regularly and they've changed her from a misfit stooge to a mimic. She's doing Pitts, West, Gaynor, Jackie Cooper and Jimmy Durante. With Murray's help she's managing to sell them. Murray has ducked his previous male stooge who used to work with Miss Charleston.

Those Rimacs were the outstanding regular act on the show. Taking the next-to-closing spot they furnished a hearty dose of showmanship, flash and color. This type of Cuban music has received a terrific impetus recently due to such clicks as 'Flying Down to Rio' and the songs associated with it. They are in the nature of a natural with any audience these days and the 'Carioca' is fair to become the national anthem. Rimacs exploded the show at this point and it took plenty on the part of Murray to quiet the audience down to continue.

In comparison with the sock act of the Rimacs, there was the inexcusable act being messed around by Cliff Edwards. For a performer who has been around all these years, playing the best in vaude, Cliff Edwards has not a right on earth to come back to vaude with that what-the-hell attitude. He's muffing his gags, adding to the orchestra and the wings and not giving the public their money's worth. Besides some of his material, such as the Polly Moran gag, doesn't belong in a theatre. And it was made particularly bad by Edwards' smart-alecy afterthought that 'I didn't think you'd get that one.' Edwards died brutally.

Art Jarrett and the swimming champ frau, Eleanor Holm, have a spot in the center of the bill for 15 minutes' worth of yodeling by Jarrett and some minor tonsilling by Miss Holm. It's an act that gets by primarily on its sentimental associations. It's two years since Jarrett started in vaude at the ill-fated attempt of the loop-end Rialto to go vaude, and this is his turn as it stands and can't last long. It's a freak turn.

Anyhow, the first week of the World's Fair policy starts out well enough. Now the trick is to follow through. They've lined up some ace names to sock in every week. Coming in succession are the Phil Spitalny band, Boswell Sisters, Ben Bernie band and Lupe Velez. That shapes as box-office potency and the Palace may pay off after all after four months of deep red ink and plenty of headaches.

Business was good at the last show Friday night and the picture was a B. & K. turndown, 'Upperworld' (WB).

Gold.

STATE, N. Y.

(Howard Thurston)

Howard Thurston has been playing picture houses in the middle west for past three years, and a question whether he does not show to better advantage in this curtailed form, in spite of the fact that picture bookings keep out of the program one or two of the bulkier stunts. However, there's room for a majority of the highlights, and to audiences accustomed to the hour shows which constitute vaudeville these days, the shorter length is more acceptable.

He manages to pack plenty into his 55 minutes, including the Kellar Levitation, the Traveling Globe, which presses the Levitation close for mystification and dexterity in handling, and a vanishment which is advertised as his newest idea, though it is not new to the old-timers. Show is enlivened by the appearance of his daughter, Jane, who spells him with a routine of simpler tricks. He carries a visible company of about 20, including six or eight girls, all of whom are lookers, but not so much on shape. Showgirls who work for mystics

(Continued on page 21)

U. S. GOV'T TO THE RESCUE

French Techs Ask 20% Maximum Use Of Foreign Labor

Paris, May 21.

Strict restriction of the employment of foreigners in film making to 20% of the total employees in each technical category, including directors, is recommended in a petition submitted to Minister of Labor Adrien Marquet by the French union of film technicians.

Union of film directors (Syndicat de Chefs Cineastes Francais) has seen the projected decree proposed by the Federation but withholds support until it can be passed on by a membership meeting.

Most drastic provision of the proposed decree is that labor cards issued to foreigners be good for one film only, and not renewable if more than 20% of foreigners are working in film trade in France and colonies at the time.

This will hit American cameramen, soundmen and laboratory men working here for French and foreign companies, but is chiefly directed against German imported labor, which American firms who want to produce here would like to use largely.

Text of proposed decree cites seven categories of workers to whom the 20% restriction would apply: directors, cameramen, set designers, production assistants, sound operators, cutters and musicians.

Minister of Labor would have to ask the Federation to report the number of foreigners working in the country before delivering any labor permits.

FOX TO MAKE SEVEN PICTURES IN BERLIN

Berlin, May 19.

German Fox Film Company is going to produce seven German pictures during next season. It will also release ten American films.

Fox's German picture, 'Ein Walzer fur Dich' (A Waltz for You), with Louis Graveure, has just been concluded. Eberhard Klagemann will produce four films with Jenny Jugo for it.

American films to be released in Germany are: 'Cat's Paw,' with Harold Lloyd; 'Bottoms Up,' 'Three on a Honeymoon,' 'Scandals,' 'Stand Up and Cheer,' '1930,' a Fantasy of Tomorrow,' and 'The World Moves On,' three pictures with Lillian Harvey, '365 Days in Hollywood,' 'Song of Love' and 'The Proud Princess.' Also Erich Pommer's 'Lilliom,' which was made in Paris.

Frank Neill, Antipodes Caster, in New York

Frank Neill, casting director for Fuller theatres, Australia, is due in New York shortly. He's currently on the Coast, and goes to London from New York.

Fullers may do 'O Susanna,' musical, which was produced on the Coast, with Carlotta King and Herman Wells. Wells owns the production rights. His partner, Janet Gilmore, who has played for Fullers before in 'Sunny,' etc., would do the lead. She is wanted for the stage version of 'Wonder Bar,' but prefers the 'Susanna' part, which affords greater opportunities.

Suedfilm Liquidates

Berlin, May 20.

Suedfilm has decided to liquidate. General meeting approved the balance report, which shows a deficit of $123,712 for the 1932-33 season.

Former director of the company has been appointed as liquidator. Reduced claims of the principal creditors will be met, the remaining will receive 7½%.

HEARST WORRIES PARIS

French Don't Like M-G-Hearst Reel Split

Paris, May 21.

Local newsreel circles are hot and bothered over what is going to happen when Hearst comes into the field, on account of the feeling in this country that W. R. is public enemy number one. They're wondering if the Metro reel will actually operate in France, and if so, what reception it will get from the authorities.

Trip of Laudy Lawrence, M-G European chief, to New York, is rumored outside of the Metro office to have something to do with this question. Lawrence decided he had to go home for a conference just a little while before the boat sailed that took him over.

Lawrence sailed Saturday (26) on his return to Paris.

Korda's Ambitious Plans Include Wells Yarn at $750,000 Cost

London, May 20.

Alexander Korda has imported George Teague, back projection specialist, and Lawrence Butler, model building expert, in addition to his present crew, for the H. G. Wells' picture 'The Shape of Things,' which is likely to be known as 'Whither Mankind.' Korda intends to spend around $750,000 on this production, designed to be the biggest ever out of a British studio.

Picture, due to other commitments, has been held up for four months, but is ready for shooting any day now. Several Hollywood directors have been under consideration, but it is now practically settled Lewis Milestone will be chosen. Understood Milestone gets $3,000 per week, clear of income tax, transportation paid both ways, and a percentage of grosses.

Korda is also negotiating with Francis Hackett, brother of Walter Hackett, who wrote the scenario of 'Henry VIII,' to write a sequel, titled 'The Field of the Cloth.' Cast thus far lined up are Charles Laughton in his original role of 'Henry VIII,' Maurice Chevalier as Francis I, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., as Charles V and Merle Oberon in her original role of Ann Boleyn.

'Scarlet Pimpernel' is another Korda is doing shortly, with Leslie Howard in the title role, which was originally intended for Charles Laughton.

U. S. PIX DROP 20% IN SYDNEY; BRIT. UP

Sydney, May 2.

During 1933, 1,476 films, including 463 features, were imported. Of the latter, 332 came from America, 108 from United Kingdom, and 23 from other countries.

Those passed without eliminations totalled 212; with eliminations, 207; and rejected, 44. Among these last 44, 22 were passed on appeal; 10 were passed after reconstruction; in 3 cases there was no appeal; and 9 were rejected after appeal.

In 1930 America supplied Australia with 86.5% of pictures, and England 8.6%. In 1933, 66.5% came from America, and 25.7% from England.

Anna May Wong's Walk

London, May 20.

Anna May Wong walked out of the studio for several hours one afternoon during the making of 'Chu Chin Chow', returning in the evening when her part in the picture was finished. Salary was withheld and Miss Wong sued, with Gainsborough entering a counter-claim for damages.

Litigation is closed, both parties withdrawing their respective claims, and Miss Wong making an apology to the company and all others engaged in the production.

UNCLE SAM AIDS OWN PRODUCERS

Federal Intervention in French Ban of U. S. Films Indicates General Official Help for Future

ECONOMIC ANGLE

Washington, May 28.

Active Federal support in movement to fight trade restrictions in foreign countries has been enlisted by the motion picture industry, with expectation that when new tariff bargaining policies go into operation Uncle Sam will come openly to the assistance of film exporters.

Change of policy on the part of the State Department was reflected in its handling of suggested French ban on American products. For the first time the government intervened on behalf of Hollywood producers and made representations against the suggested restrictive program.

When the new tariff legislation goes into effect, it is hoped the State Department will make use of economic strength in an attempt to get a better break from Italy, Germany, England and other countries which have put up the bars either in protest against type of pictures cranked out here or as a means of

(Continued on page 27)

ONLY 1 WEEKLY CHANGE HOUSE LEFT IN SYDNEY

Sydney, May 2.

With the Regent going long-run policy, the Capitol is the only weekly-change house operating here. At present there are nine theatres playing long runs. Capitol's gross is now expected to hit a high mark weekly.

Regent is presenting what is considered here the finest program to come into an Australian theatre. Bill includes 'The Masquerader' (UA) 'Perfect Understanding' (UA), 'Three Little Pigs,' newsreel, organist and an orchestra of twenty.

Charles Munro, co-director of General Theatres, booked the show in conjunction with Cecil Marks of United Artists. This bill originally played Par's Capitol, Melbourne, but with arrangements being completed for the ace pictures of U. A. by G. T. the show now goes into their theatres, outside of the recent Melbourne engagement.

Weisenthal Goes Abroad For U's English Prods.

Universal City, May 28.

Sammy Weisenthal is in New York on his way to London for a production job with Universal when it starts a program of English pictures in a month.

Weisenthal left here by plane Thursday (24) and takes an early boat for London.

Stafford Films Back

London, May 21.

John Stafford Film Productions is again in the producing field. This time it is a complete remake in English of an old German picture titled 'Suzie in the Bath.' Gene Gerrard will play the lead, with Wendy Barrie opposite.

Picture is to cost around $175,000, to be made at the British International studios, with BIP to have a half interest and release rights.

Sydney Goes West

Sydney, May 2.

'I'm No Angel' goes into its 8th week at the Prince Edward, Sydney, under Carroll management.

First half of bill has been changed three times to allow the West pic to stay.

Zola Heirs' Suit on 'Nana' Stymied; Battle in Press Continues Unhindered

Paris, May 21.

While the row over 'Nana' goes merrily on in the press, lawsuit of Zola's heirs to get the name changed or the film suppressed came up before referees in the Palais de Justice and was postponed for two weeks because plaintiffs had not properly cited Samuel Goldwyn, the producer. Lord Byron Cinema, the exhib, was properly cited, but that wasn't enough. United Artists seems to be out, from the French legal standpoint.

In the public row the Zolas are not getting all the breaks. Jean-Pierre Llausu in Comedia, trade daily, says that if they signed a contract permitting Goldwyn to change the story, what are they kicking about?

Mme. Denise Le Blond-Zola wrote to the paper to reply to United Artists' statement, in which she cites that the contract permitted changes only on condition that the general plan of the novel remain untouched in the screen version. She charges that the general plan of 'Nana' has been completely thrown overboard in the film.

The Zola family's thesis is the thesis of the French nation, she says, making an affair of patriotism out of the matter.

Henry Kistemaekers, president of the Authors' League, backs her and Dr. Jacques Emile-Zola up in a letter he wrote to them, in which he took plenty out of American film producers, without mentioning them by name. The League, he wrote, 'is every day the scandalized witness of enterprises similar to the one you have called to its attention and which would seem to be concerted against the literary and moral prestige of France, if we did not know that they were above all due to a commercial hard-boiled attitude based on contempt for the public on one hand and absolute contempt for spiritual rights on the other.'

Comedia, pointing out that it is going to stop the discussion now that the affair has come up before the courts, says it cannot understand why the heirs, in return for a fat sum, consented to changes in the story which belongs not only to them but to the entire French nation.

'In doing this, they betrayed Zola before others profited from the contract, which is a contradiction in terms,' paper says, adding:

'Since 'Nana' was in the public domain in America, the producers acted courteously, and if they made a mistake, the real guilty parties are those who, today, are trying to prevent them from cashing in on an agreement which was freely signed.'

Jannings, George Refuse To Follow Laughton Role

Vienna, May 16.

Josephstadt theatre acquired Albert Joseph's 'Henry VIII' with a view to starring Emil Jannings in title part. Jannings turned down the part as he would not appear in this role after the success Charles Laughton made in the talker.

Josefstadt thereupon approached Heinrich George, who decided to turn down offer with the argument that he does not intend to appear in a play by a Jewish author.

Stagma in Cinema Truce, Film Houses To Pay Royalties

Berlin, May 20.

War that has been going on for years because of music royalties between motion picture house owners and the composers' unions has been settled by a contract between the Reichsverband deutscher Elmtheater (Union of Film Theatres) and the Stagma (Staatlich genehmigte Gesellschaft zur Verwertung musikalischer Urheberrechte). This contract is retroactive to April 1, 1934.

By reason of this new contract the cinema owner must pay the Stagma a fee for performances, the amount depending on the size of the cinema. Lowest fee per seat and year is 35c., the highest 51c., which is much lower than the amount asked by the Musikschutzverband (Protective Association for Music).

Lowest fee is applicable to theatres with 200 seats, highest for those with more than 1,000 seats.

CANTY IN WARSAW TO STRAIGHTEN WB JAM

Warsaw, May 28.

George Canty, United States film commissioner, is here to try to untangle Warner Brothers' trouble with the Polish government. WB was banned unconditionally from this country and showings of all its films forbidden because of using names of Polish heroes indiscriminately in casts.

While European governments have frequently threatened expulsion of film companies it is very seldom they carry the threat through. Last time on record was against Metro in Spain on 'Merry Widow'.

Canty came here from Prague where he was working on an American peace settlement with the Czechoslovak government. He expects to go back to his headquarters in Berlin towards the end of the week.

RUMANIA BARS MINORS FROM ALL PIC HOUSES

Belgrade, May 18.

Rumanian Government has issued an order by which it is forbidden for youths under 18 years of age to frequent cinemas. The only exception to this rule is on Sundays, when all the picture houses must release cultural films and newsreels only. Even in this case it is not allowed for minors to go after eight o'clock in the evening.

Besides this order, the government has issued another by which all cinema programs must have at least 600 metres of cultural films. This usually makes one-quarter of the total program.

Cinema owners are rebelling against these orders, saying they will completely ruin the business.

G-T BUYS COLUMBIA PRODUCT FOR SYDNEY

Sydney, May 2.

General Theatres has contracted for the 1934 output of Columbia. This will give the combine sufficient pix to carry on with for some considerable time. Deal went through after okay by Munro (G. T.) and Mason and McCurdy (Columbia).

It was thought at one time that Columbia would go over to the Fullers, but a tie-up with M-G-M prevented this.

Columbia's deal is that it can pick a maximum, of four films out of the season's product for long-run projection on its own pictures otherwise going straight to G-T.

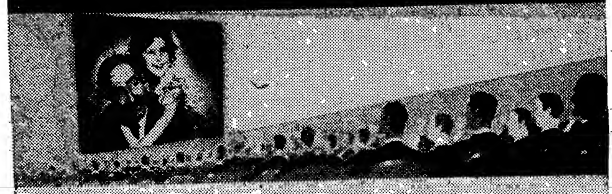
Kelly in Anzacs

Sydney, May 2.

Arthur Kelly has arrived to look over the local situation. United Artist foreign chief was met at the boat by G. T. officials and it looks as though the U. A. pictures will go into all of the G. T. theatres without any further holdup.

With U. A. going over to G. T. the combine will be in a position unequalled by any other concern.

Paramount's 'Little Miss Marker' makes strong men weep



At Damon Runyon's screening of "Little Miss Marker", New York's blase sport-writers laughed through their tears.

"A knockout — I'm always a sucker for a kid trouble. I was laughing with tears in my eyes.
Frank Graham, Evening Sun

"It brought tears - but it also made me laugh. A swell show. —George Dailey, Herald-Tribune

"It's a picture almost anyone would want to see twice. —Al Dayton, Evening Sun

"My hat's off to Damon. It's better even than his 'Lady For A Day'. —Hype Igoe, Journal

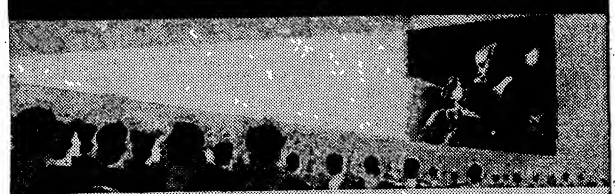
"Clean, simple story, full of humor and pathos. It's a sure-fire bet. —Murray Lewin, Daily Mirror

"One of the most enjoyable pictures I ever seen. —Ed Neale, Associated Press

"It' a honey that even out-entertains Runyon 'Lady For A Day'. —Marcus Griffin, Enquirer

"You're laughing out loud — when you're not crying softly. —Joe Nichols, N. Y Times

Paramount's 'Little Miss Marker' steals women's hearts



New York's leading feminine motion picture critics rave about Damon Runyon's new picture, "LITTLE MISS MARKER."

"'Little Miss Marker' is one of the most amusing and touching films of the season. It is my advice that you beg, borrow or lift the price of admission to see it. —Wanda Hale, N. Y. Daily News

"'Little Miss Marker' is thoroughly delightful and as funny a picture as you're likely to see for a good many months.
—Eileen Creelman, N. Y. Sun

"'Little Miss Marker' a heart-warming yarn that alternates comedy with sobs and emerges as utterly delightful entertainment.
—Rose Pelswick, N. Y Journal

"A load of laughter, salted with a tear or two, characterizes the excellent entertainment submitted for nothing less than your enthusiastic approval. This vehicle proves at least as effective a film drama as 'Lady For A Day'."
—Regi Crewe, N. Y American

SHIRLEY TEMPLE as "Little Miss Marker"

Adolph Zukor presents DAMON RUNYON'S

"LITTLE MISS MARKER"

with ADOLPHE MENJOU, DOROTHY DELL, CHARLES BICKFORD, SHIRLEY TEMPLE

A Paramount Picture • Directed by ALEXANDER HALL • a B. P. SCHULBERG Production

EXPLOITATION

By Epes W. Sargent

'Stingaree' Stunts

The radio press book gives a good stunt in the audition based on the story of the picture, but if this is done, something should be planned to offset the idea that it's a picture about opera. Good idea to capitalize on the audition gag, but put out a mounted man, with an advertising saddle blanket to dash around the streets with a black mask. It should be a good looking horse, and the man should suggest that he is no mollycoddle.

Gag was extensively used for the old Kalem series, and the 'Stingaree' rider was a big asset. Still can be used to good effect. For a little variety announce that on stated hours the bandit will visit named stores, patrol the aisles and present invitations to young women to be his guest at the picture.

Cards should read 'Meet me at the Blank theatre tonight. Present this card at the box office,' and signed Stingaree, with the date stamped in if the gag is worked more than one day. He should have a pack of cards, advertising the picture to present other patrons, and these cards should be picked up by him as he enters the store to avoid cumbering him with the load of advertising matter while he rides.

Cooperating stores should be required to give advertising space in their own announcements and the visits should be timed at two hour intervals between stores. Store managers are generally glad to cooperate to get people into their shops. Only a few passes need be given out.

Miniature Planes

Los Angeles.

Figuring that juve good will is an added asset at the box office, Manager Hi Peskay of the Fox-West Coast Golden Gate (suburban) is working an exploitation stunt in connection with the serial, 'Mystery Squadron,' which he plays shortly, that already has been worked to high pitch.

Peskay has a competitive display of miniature planes and other models of aerial transportation in the forecourt of his house, and is offering 10 admissions for the 10 best exhibits chosen by a jury of newspaper men with himself. Already he has more than 65 planes in the forecourt, with additions being made daily.

Cottoned to 'Spring'

Washington.

Local WB office evolved perfect tie-up between 'Melody in Spring' and local cotton week celebration. Stunt drew in every major department store with window displays and rated eight-page section in Daily News.

Using angle that Lanny Ross is showboat star, exploiteers roped in pics of cotton bales along levees, etc., to connect up with cotton dresses. Title of film was adapted to stuff along lines of 'Melody in Spring Fashions.' In return for bally of the show in 10 downtown stores, Earle theatre gave each shop a model in display which ran entire length of lobby.

Newspaper section was sold by Maurice Sloutin of WB direct following attitude of paper that it couldn't be done. All ads hooked up with show, one using theatre mistress of ceremonies as model for dresses.

Selling Wholesale

Baltimore.

Ben Garrett, p. a. for Carlin's Park, burg's big amusement lot, has interested the local Barbers' Ass'n in holding a once-weekly Barbers' Dance. Costs each hirsute-shearer, of whom there are 1,000, one buck a week, for which he is handed a fist of ducats to the dance. The barbers hand these out to customers to garner good-will.

Garrett has papered the town with announcement show-window cards and has bought a half-hour weekly over WFBR, the nights the dance is in progress and airs the orchestra. The 'cast's attendant chatter equally plugs the Ass'n and the Park.

Now going after the beauty shops and the shoe repairers, both of whom are represented by local organizations.

Fooled the Kids

Here's a stunt for a baseball hook-up that worked plenty in one town. It was started as the usual boy parade to advertise a picture; in this instance Joe Brown's 'Honorable Guy.'

Initial announcement told of the parade for boys with Joe Brown mouths, adding that sister's lipstick could be employed if nature had been stingy. That was all the kids needed to know, and most of them turned up at the rendezvous looking as though they had been gashed from ear to ear. Instructions told them not to make any arrangements for the afternoon so they figured they would be let in to see the picture after the parade.

That was all right by them, but after they had gone through the main streets with their banners, the four-piece fife and drum corps headed for the ball park, where they circled before parking their banners and climbing into the bleachers, each being handed a bag of peanuts.

One of the banners was planted in centerfield with the offer from a local tailor for the player whose batted ball hit the sign. The manager was a heavy holder in the stock of the local team, so he promoted the admissions, and most of the kids taken on came to the theatre and paid cash to see the picture they had been advertising.

Coaxing Them

House with a policy of two acts of local talent on Friday night makes the gag work double. It has a list of about 25 turns, some singles and a few doubles, which have found favor in the past.

Monday morning five names are taken from this list and posted in the lobby as possible selections for the coming Friday, the stateament that the exact selection will be left to the vote of Wednesday's audience.

Wednesday, starting at 6 p. m., each patron is given a voting slip. To save filling in, it is merely required that the vote be dropped into one of the five ballot boxes, each lettered with the name of one of the acts. Two with the highest number of votes get the jobs, and it means that at least five hustlers are out trying to persuade all their friends to go to the Wednesday show so they will get a chance a couple of days later.

Acts getting the choice go to the bottom of the list, not to emerge for eight weeks, so that almost everyone gets a chance. It has been making a difference of around 30% on the Wednesday business, and it helps on Fridays, too.

Dead Mike Auditions

Los Angeles.

Frank Regan, manager of Warners, Huntington Park, put on a three-day radio talent contest on the stage during the running of '20,000 Sweethearts.'

More than 60 locals worked before a dead stage mike during the six evening performances, with the winners drawing a professional audition at KFWB, the Warner station in Hollywood.

Changed for 'Men'

Exhib who had a hunch to stencil an ad for 'Men in White' on street cleaners gave up the idea when so many people asked him why he was running a play about street cleaners. He did not realize how few knew of the play about docs, and thought it was ready-made publicity. Can't figure out how much money the bright idea cost him outside of what he paid for new coats for the workers. Next time he'll figure a little more closely.

Not the first time that a seemingly good idea has brodied. One of the early ones was gagged for 'The Red Lantern' in Salt Lake many moons ago and an exhib figured to save money by borrowing red globe lanterns from the railroad, with the result that people thought it was a railroad play and stayed away. A few Chinese lanterns would have saved the day.

It wasn't so long ago that another bright idea went flooey. Man in a police uniform was perambulated with a handcuff on his wrist. The other cuff was stiffened with wire to stand out, and a back sign told that the pram was taking 'The Invisible Man' to the theatre. Plenty of people got the suggestion that this must be an underworld story and stuck to the radio, several expressing regret later that they had missed the feature.

Hook-ins cannot be too subtle or they are likely to backfire.

Caters to Seadogs

Montreal.

George Rotsky, manager Capitol, has worked out novel method of getting new biz by contacting ships in port. With 5,000 sailors here weekly, large passenger liners carrying three to five hundred of crew, he sent window card for notice on board ship while executive officers of ships are entertained at theatre, stories of which make good space in local press.

Old Stuff, But—

Barcelona.

Warner Bros. and Jantzen organized a tea at Sitges to advertise 'Footlight Parade' and the bathing suits. Just as good in Spain as on your side of the water. Brought out the socialites.

Stills Got a Story

Baltimore.

When Loew's' Century screened 'Sadie McKee' (MG), Herb Morgan, p. a., sat in and noticed as the yarn unspooled that Joan Crawford had let her eyebrows thicken since last glimmed in a flick. Gave him an idea which he scribbled down and in which he interested the beauty ed. of an afternoon sheet. He supplied a pair of stills and the ed. carried an article during the pic's run telling all the femmes that plucked eyebrows were hereafter going the way of knee-length skirts, as witness the change in the 'new' Joan Crawford. The stills, one a full-face, the other a horizontally rectangular close-up of her eyes, adorned the write-up.

Shaving the Lawn

Manager of a New York house in a better class residential suburb has made a hit with his patrons by establishing a lawn club. For a fixed sum the lawns will be seeded, planted and put in shape with one mowing each week and if necessary a half-day sprinkling weekly. Explained that a thorough wetting is better than the nightly sprinkle.

Manager recruited his help through the state relief agency, getting men with practical gardening experience, with an expert gardener in charge of everything. Men get their full wages and the householders are given the assurance that the grass plot will be looked after, even though they may not be in town.

Most of the work has been done in previous years by odd jobs men, to the eventual dismay of the homeowner. They feel a gratitude to the theatre for supplying competent workmen, and the price works out at less than that charged by the inexperienced.

Same manager was one of the first to use the home patrol to remove advertising and other matters from the doorways, which is more or less a proclamation to the light fingered that there's nobody home. He's keeping that up, too, but for this employing his now well-trained staff of neighbor boys.

Manager has built himself such a reputation in the vicinity that he has located boarding schools, private hospitals, dancing teachers and dentists for various inquirers. He finds it all pays.

Getting the Laughs

One of the best form of gags is one in which the product will be sent to Hollywood. Generally done on a congratulatory letter, but given a new blow-up when a house offered tickets for every Burns and Allen gag taken in a campaign to promote 'We're Not Dressing.'

Contest was worked with the local paper and entrants were required to contribute a dialog bit between the pair, using not less than four nor more than 10 lines of dialog, with the promise that tickets would be given for all bits good enough to be sent the team for possible use on the air.

Only single tickets offered, but it brought out hundreds of replies and cost but 28 tickets. Many people came to see the show to find out how Burns and Allen talked. Same gag can be used for any comedy feature, and can be applied to business as well as dialog, though it's not probable that many good gag situations will be developed.

If the stuff really is sent to Hollywood, it would be a good plan to require the contestants to execute a release, to prevent possible suits. Possesses a stronger appeal than costumes or hat designs, for each entrant will think that perhaps the studio will send a contract.

BEHIND the KEYS

White River Junction, Vt.

Motion picture theatre owners of Vermont and New Hampshire met here and formed two Allied organizations, Walter Littlefield of Boston presided at the meeting. Vermont Allied elected E. R. Hutchinson, president; C. S. Cray, v.-p.; Andrew Togu, sec, and A. M. Graves treas.

Charlotte, N. C.

Mrs. Pauline Griffith, secretary grievance and zoning boards for motion picture code authority in this territory, also secretary of the Theatre Owners' Association of the Carolinas, has been recognized for services in resolutions of praise adopted by board of directors of owners' organization.

Old Ritz theatre, High Point, completely renovated and renamed Delano (for the President), with Fred S. Bugg, manager-operator.

Canton, O.

Harry E. Clifton, owner of the Cliftona theatre, Circleville, O., has leased the Hippodrome theatre in Circleville and will rename it the Liberty. Erway Briner will manage.

A. Alex, manager of the American, East Liverpool. George S. Ellis continues as city manager.

Dream theatre, Mason, O., reopened.

Rex, formerly Ideal, at Alliance, reopened under W. J. Cuthbert.

Memorial, Mt. Vernon, O., dark for some time, reopened.

Strand, Middletown; Lyric, Mt. Vernon, closed.

Milwaukee.

With the posting of two weeks' notice at the Alhambra, report here that Wisconsin Amus. Enterprises, the salvage of the defunct Fox-Midwesco chain, would take the Universal exploitation house over. For past seven years the Alhambra has been leased to Carl Laemmle and until a year ago operated by Universal. Then Fred S. Meyer, currently ill in Los Angeles, took the house over on a sub-lease from U. and has run it until the present, his son, Stanley, being house manager.

St. Paul.

Cliff Rust, mgr., and Art Steagall, asst., at RKO Orpheum, are out and Lou Golden and Harvey Henreddy are in.

Ed Furni, for several decades a theatre manager, now on the state payroll as inspector of malt beverages.

Charlotte, N. C.

N. C. State Council Motion Picture operators and stage employees, with representatives from nine cities, met at Salisbury to discuss wage scales and working agreements. Definite stand taken for restoration of at least part of the 15% salary cut of year ago.

S. S. Toler and Sons, Rocky Mount, N. C., awarded contract to repair negro theatre at that place.

F. W. Johnson, owner Rex theatre, Bessemer City, N. C., indicted alleged violation copyright law. Gene Buck, plaintiff, seeks restraining order covering future actions.

Seattle.

Joseph Rosenfield here from Omaha to be manager of Music Hall (Hamrick), with Don Redden assistant, the new Hamrick ace house being handled out of the main offices under supervision of H. E. Daigler. Rosenfield former city manager for A. H. Blank in Omaha.

Bronx, N. Y.

Bob Ungerfeld manager of the RKO Franklin, replacing Joe Golden. Ungerfeld comes from the RKO Regent in Harlem.

Greenwich, Conn.

Pickwick here may be again operated by RKO. Circuit gave up the spot about a year after handling the theatre for a couple of years.

Ottawa.

Joe Franklin (Franklin-Herschorn circuit) announces erection of a 1,000-seater in St. John, N. B.; third new house in two years.

Albany.

Alcide O. LaFlamme, manager of Warners Madison theatre, nabe films, is chuckling over the poor luck of a thief who broke into the office. Door was forced open and a steel cabinet broken to get 60 cents.

Pine Hills theatre, nabe films, forced out of business by the opening of Warners Madison nearby and closed for a number of years, has been leased to be occupied as a food market.

Chris Buckley has given the new Variety Club rooms in Harmanus Bleecker hall with rent free.

Charlie Smakwitz, div. mgr., directed a 'Managers' Testimonial Week' at the Warner theatres in Albany, Troy and Utica.

Atlanta.

Erlanger opens as a pop price double feature house with Harry Hall as manager.

Omaha.

United Artists closes May 30 until mid-August. Foldup is an annual thing because product isn't available. Herman Cohen is part owner of the house with UA.

Advertising-publicity department of the A. H. Blank Tri-States Theatres Co. for Omaha theatres has been moved into the third floor office space on the Harney street side of the Orpheum building. Move was made to provide convenience for managers of company's other city houses and to give department more room.

Marriage Contest

Omaha.

As the climax of a series of new and clever exploitation stunts the World theatre trumped the game with a new development of the marriage and stage wedding stunt. Gag was titled a 'Marriage Contest' and was actually just that with girl applicants vying for the chance at a groom selected by the theatre.

Manager A. E. Abelson of the World has had the idea of a marriage contest for some time, but has held it up awaiting a desirable groom. Abelson set the contest currently when the long awaited groom in the person of John L. Sourbier, farmer near Watertown, South Dakota, played right into his hand.

Sourbier wrote the office of Mayor Towl asking assistance in finding a life mate, and mayor's office at Abelson's request turned matter over to him. Abelson then wrote Sourbier promising to find him the desired spouse if the bride-seeker would agree to appear on the stage of the theatre a full week and abide by the vote of the audiences in selecting his mate.

Theatre then asked willing gals to make application requiring that each applicant appear on the stage daily, explain to the patrons why she should be chosen, and abide by the vote of the audience. At end of the week gal getting most votes gets the groom, and all expenses for wedding paid. Before opening Abelson had ten applicants.

Sourbier owns a well stocked farm, has something in the bank and has a mug and a build good enough to help sell in the dailies, on throw aways and on the theatre front.

Contest climax came with the stage wedding eighth day after contest opened. Abelson has applied for copyright on the idea of selecting a wife from the stage by vote, the method not the idea.

Picture in conjunction, 'Merry Wives of Reno,' fit right in.

Keeping Busy

Taking advantage of a booking gap, Columbia shoved a western into the Criterion, which had been vacated by 'The Last Roundup,' also a western.

'Roundup' utilized in large part the Metro front left from 'Viva Villa,' and Columbia had small trouble in slightly changing to get another western front.

Backed this with a man and girl in western rigs to stand in the entrance and grin, with another girl on horseback to perambulate the vicinity of Times Square. Simple, but effective and not costly.

Story Hour

Repeating a stunt from last year, neighborhood house is planning to resume its story telling hour during the school vacation period. Gag was suggested when several mothers confided to the manager that they hated having the children in the hot sun all day, and yet averse to keeping them in the house.

Manager had a cooled theatre and worked out the idea of a story telling hour except Saturday, his regular club morning, and of course Sunday. Contacted a kindergarten teacher who for $5 a week gave an hour each morning to telling the kids a story, selecting standard classics for short versions.

House does not open until one, and the period runs from 11 to 12, which provides for an occasional prolongation. Two or three mothers attend each meeting, dividing the chore, to ride herd on the children and to see that they are gotten out quickly in case of a panic. Manager opens the show with a little talk about the current film, and heralds are passed out on each change. Admission is by ticket, but these may be had free on application to the box office in off hours.

Care must be taken that the narrator does not talk down to the children or assume the 'now little children' style, which they are prone to resent. Local library station works in by offering book suggestions to the older children.

Not only keeps the youngsters quiet for an hour, but sends them home to lunch in a proper mental and physical condition and they enjoy the hard play of the afternoon all the more.

Trailing a Herring

With so much loose talk about poor pictures, a shrewd exhibitor has made the gesture of drawing a herring across the trail by starting a contest on '10 Best Pictures and Why I Liked Them.' Choice is limited to pictures shown in his theatre since Sept. 1, with a list given to aid the writers, and a flock of tickets for prizes.

Exhib argues that writing about

(Continued on page 19)

WORLD PREMIERE
RKO MUSIC HALL
N. Y. MAY. 31

Carl Laemmle has the honor to present—

LITTLE MAN WHAT NOW

starring Margaret Sullavan

with

DOUGLASS MONTGOMERY

Fred Kohler, Alan Hale, Mae Marsh, George Meeker, Muriel Kirkland, De Witt Jennings, Hedda Hopper, Catherine Doucet, Bodil Rosing. From the novel by Hans Fallada. Screenplay by William Anthony McGuire. Directed by Frank Borzage.

•

The Most Important

FRANK BORZAGE

Production Since The Immortal "Seventh Heaven"

Comparative Grosses for May

(Continued from page 10)

PHILADELPHIA

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
EARLE (2,000; 40-50-65) High. $33,000 Low.. 10,500	Wharf Angel $21,500 (Vaude) (Ozzie Nelson on stage)	Success Any Price $17,000 (Georgie Price on stage)	Upper World $13,500	Telling Me $20,000. (George Jessel on stage)
FOX (3,000; 30-40-60) High. $41,000 Low.. 10,500	Men Are Enemies $13,500 (Stage Show)	Women Are Dangerous $15,000	Now I'll Tell $16,000	Stand Up, Cheer $19,000
STANLEY (3,700; 40-55-65) High. $48,000 Low.. 3,750	Million Sweethearts $14,500	Sweethearts $4,000 (4 day 2d week)	Tarzan $11,500	Not Dressing $11,500

BOSTON

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
KEITH'S (4,000; 25-35-40) High. $43,000 Low.. 4,000	Catherine and Glamour $12,500 (Split)	Catherine $3,000 (4 days 2d week)	Stand Up, Cheer $12,000	20th Century $11,500
ORPHEUM (3,000; 30-40-50) High. $23,000 Low.. 4,000	Laughing Boy $13,500 (Vaude)	Men in White $15,500	Tarzan $9,000	Sorrel and Son $9,500
METROPOLITAN (4,330; 30-50-65) High. $69,000 Low.. 12,500	Bottoms Up $32,500 (Stage Show) (George Raft on stage)	Not Dressing $34,500 (Thurston on stage)	Million Sweethearts $24,500	Day Princess $20,000 ('Up Pops the Ring') on stage)

BUFFALO

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
BUFFALO (3,000; 30-40-55) High. $42,000 Law.. 9,000	Good Dame $17,500 (Stage Show) (Roxy on stage)	Not Dressing $18,000 ('New Yorkers' on stage)	Manhattan Melodrama $18,500 (New Revue)	Million Sweethearts $15,000 ('Continental Revue' on stage)
CENTURY (3,400; 25) High. $21,000 Low.. 3,200	Showoff and Bedside $7,000	Harold Teen and Lazy River $4,000	Journal of Crime and Telling Me $6,000	Deluge and Believed in You $4,500 (6 days)
HIPPODROME (2,400; 25-40) High. $22,000 Low.. 3,600	Scandals $9,000	Tarzan $8,600	Stand Up, Cheer $8,000	Rothschild $14,000

DETROIT

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
MICHIGAN (4,045; 10-25-35-40-55) High. $58,100 Low.. 6,600	Melody in Spring $31,600 (Stage Show) (Olsen and Shutta on stage)	Million Sweethearts $21,000	Not Dressing $24,000 (Gloria Swanson)	Tarzan $20,000
FOX (5,100; 15-25-35-40-55) High. $50,000 Low.. 4,000	Wild Cargo $20,000 (Stage Show)	Stand Up, Cheer 20,000	20th Century $17,000	Sisters Under Skin $23,000 (Walter Winchell on stage)
FISHER (2,730; 15-25-35-40) High. $29,000 Low.. 3,000	Telling Me $7,500 (Stage Show)	Harold Teen $4,000	Million Sweethearts $4,000 (Repeat)	Men in White $4,000 (Repeat)

SAN FRANCISCO

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
PARAMOUNT (2,400; 25-35-40) High. $37,500 Low.. 5,000	Bottoms Up and Earth Turns $11,000	Mr. X and Harold Teen $11,500	Such Women and Smarty $12,000	Trumpet Blows and Now I'll Tell $11,000
GOLDEN GATE (2,844; 25-35-40) High. $22,500 Low.. 5,400	Glamour $9,500 (Stage Show)	Man Is Mine $9,500	Tell the World $10,000	20th Century $12,000
WARFIELD (2,700; 35-45-65) High. $57,400 Low.. 8,200	Men in White $24,000 (Stage Show)	Not Dressing $19,000	Villa $27,000	Sadie McKee $21,000

PITTSBURGH

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
PENN (3,300; 25-35-50) High. $41,000 Low.. 3,750	Trumpet Blows $16,750 (Stage Show) ('50 Million Frenchmen' on stage)	Tarzan $11,000	Rothschild $18,000	Not Dressing $13,000
FULTON (1,750; 15-25-40) High. $12,000 Low.. 1,900	Coming Out $2,200 (4 days)	Bottoms Up $6,200 (8 days)	Mr. X $4,800	Sorrel and Son $4,000
STANLEY (3,000; 25-35-50) High. $48,000 Low.. 3,750	Wild Cargo $9,500	Sisters Under Skin $17,000 (Sally Rand on stage)	Million Sweethearts $10,500	Gambling Lady $6,000

SEATTLE

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
FIFTH AVE. (2,400; 25-40) High. $26,000 Low.. 2,500	Men in White $9,200	Tarzan $4,800	Not Dressing $7,000	Melody in Spring $12,700 (Al Pearce on stage)
PARAMOUNT (3,100; 25-35) High. $21,000 Low.. 1,600	Death Takes $6,300	Bottoms Up $6,900 (Stage Show)	Laughing Boy $5,700	Wharf Angel $9,100 (J. C. Flippen on stage)
LIBERTY (1,000; 10-25) High. $12,000 Low.. 2,100	It Happened $4,600 (9th week)	Happened $4,400 (10th week)	Happened $3,900 (11th week)	9th Guest and Speed Wings $3,400
MUSIC BOX (900; 25-35) High. $17,000 Low.. 2,000	Man Is Mine $3,200	Catherine $4,700	Catherine $1,800 (2d week 5 days)	Looking for Trouble $4,400 (10 days)

PORTLAND, ORE.

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
BROADWAY (2,000; 25-40) High. $21,000 Low.. 2,500	Cat and Fiddle $4,100	Death Takes $5,700	Come on Marines and Monte Cristo $4,200	Sadie McKee $5,500
UNITED ARTISTS (1,000; 25-40) High. $13,200 Low.. 1,200	Rothschild $11,500	Rothschild $7,200 (2d week)	Rothschild $4,300 (3d week)	Rothschild $3,300 (4th week)
ORIENTAL (2,300; 25) High. $24,000 Low.. 800	Hips, Hooray and Crosby Case $2,200	Wharf Angel and Let's Be Ritzy $2,300	Nana $1,900	It Happened $3,000

TACOMA

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
MUSIC BOX (1,400; 25-35) High. $10,500 Low.. 1,100	Wonder Bar $5,300	Earth Turns and Melody in Spring $3,100	Bolero and Man Is Mine $3,400	Rothschild $5,300 (8 days)
ROXY (1,300; 25-35) High. $7,000 Low.. 2,000	Cat and Fiddle $2,100 (5 days)	Men in White Tell the World and S.O.S. Iceberg $3,300 (Split)	Tarzan and Poor Rich $3,100	Scandals Every Woman Suzanne and Shadows of Sing Sing $3,100 (Split Duals)

MINNEAPOLIS

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
STATE (2,200; 25-35-40) High. $28,000 Low.. 3,000	Cat and Fiddle $7,000	Mr. X $5,000	Telling Me $9,000 (Olsen's Band)	Witching Hour $1,500 (5 days)
ORPHEUM (2,800; 25-35-40) High. $25,000 Low.. 2,200	Wild Cargo $6,500	Glamour $1,500 (5 days)	Million Sweethearts $7,500 (8 days)	20th Century $4,500
LYRIC (1,300; 20-25) High. $17,000 Low.. 1,200	Jimmy, Gent $4,000 (8 days)	Lazy River $1,800	Come on Marines $2,000	Tarzan $2,000 40c

NEW HAVEN

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
PARAMOUNT (2,348; 35-50) High. $21,000 Low.. 2,600	Telling Me and One Is Guilty $8,100	Not Dressing and Two Alone $10,200	Witching Hour and Stolen Sweets $5,300	Double Door and Private Scandal $6,200
POLI'S (3,040; 35-50) High. $20,000 Low.. 4,200	Tarzan and Glamour $8,700	Villa and Finishing School $10,700	Rothschild $14,400	Stand Up, Cheer and Lazy River $8,100
SHERMAN (2,200; 35-50) High. $16,000 Low.. 1,500	Earth Turns and Crime Doctor $5,000	Million Sweethearts $6,300	Registered Nurse and Keep 'Em Rolling $4,100	Modern Hero and Wives of Reno $4,300

KANSAS CITY

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
MIDLAND (4,000; 25) High. $35,000 Low.. 5,100	Tarzan $9,700	Rothschild $16,000	Villa $16,500	Manhattan Melodrama $11,400
MAIN STREET (3,200; 25-35-50) High. $35,000 Low.. 3,700	Wild Cargo $7,500	Lost Patrol and Sing, Like It $5,000	Journal of Crime $11,000 (Sally Rand unit)	Million Sweethearts and Greater Glory $6,000
NEWMAN (1,800; 25) High. $33,000 Low.. 4,000	Earth Turns and More Women $6,000	Not Dressing and Buy Everything $10,000	Melody in Spring and Women in His Life $4,000	Telling Me and Modern Hero $5,000
UPTOWN (2,040; 25-40)	Bottoms Up $4,000	3 on Honeymoon $2,500	Stand Up, Cheer $5,000	Cheer $3,200 (2d week)

MONTREAL

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
PALACE (2,700; 50) High. $18,000 Low.. 6,500	Gambling Lady and Easy to Love $7,500	Wild Cargo and Sing, Like It $6,500	Stand Up, Cheer and Murder at Trinidad $10,500	Bottoms Up and Telling Me $9,500
CAPITOL (2,700; 50) High. $30,000 Low.. 5,500	Mr. X and Meet the Baron $8,000	Riptide and Hold that Girl $10,500	Riptide and Girl $8,000 (2d week)	Not Dressing and Double Door $9,000
LOEW'S (3,200; 50) High. $18,000 Low.. 5,500	Beloved $12,000 (Vaude) ('Greenwich Village Follies')	Headquarters $10,000	Madame Spy $10,500 (Blackstone on stage)	Love Birds and Trumpet Blows $6,000
PRINCESS (1,000; 50) High. $25,000 Low.. 3,500	Lost Patrol and Man Is Mine $6,500	Rothschild and Chance at Heaven $12,000	Rothschild and Heaven $8,500 (2d week)	Rothschild and Heaven $8,500 (3d week)

PROVIDENCE

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
STATE (3,200; 15-25-40) High. $29,000 Low.. 2,500	Tarzan $12,000 (Vaude)	Sorrel and Son $8,000	Villa $10,500	Manhattan Melodrama $9,200
MAJESTIC (2,200; 15-25-40) High. $17,500 Low.. 2,800	Wonder Bar $3,200 (2d week)	Love Birds and Earth Turns $4,800	Bottoms Up and Crosby Case $3,300	Journal of Crime and Half Sinner $4,100
PARAMOUNT (3,200; 15-25-40) High. $18,000 Low.. 2,200	Come on Marines and Quitter $4,300	Twin Husbands and Trumpet Blows $3,900	Telling Me and Wharf Angel $3,000	Not Dressing and City Limits $6,500
ALBEE (2,500; 15-25-40) High. $20,000 Low.. 2,500	Greater Glory $7,000	Tell the World and Sinners Meet $3,500	20th Century and Sisters Under Skin $4,200	Whirlpool and Finishing School $4,000

(Continued on page 25)

EXHIBS VOTE THE NIX ON M.P. RESEARCH BODY

Motion Picture Research Council, headed by Mrs. August Belmont, is openly condemned as an enemy of the exhibitor in a resolution adopted by the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Western N. Y. That aassociation calls for action against the council by theatre owners nationally.

In one clause of a lengthy indictment the resolution reads: 'We learn with alarm that the Motion Picture Research Council under the guise of a crusade for 'clean pictures,' has avowed plans for promoting non-theatrical competition that would destroy thousands of independent exhibitors, some of whom have already been deceived into indorsing and pledging their support to this alleged Research Council.'

Fox Bklyn's Fate?

Anything is likely to happen with the Fox Brooklyn. While bankers are hesitant about reorganization plans, and the spot is reported around $500,000 in arrears on taxes, this matter must be cleaned up i some way by Friday (1). Understood that the city looks for payment or else.

Bankers are given as having several bids for the theatre which presently is being operated for them under the direction of Sydney S. Cohen. House was slated to shut down, but it hasn't as yet.

WANTS A HOMELAND

Hollywood, May 28.

Ali Hubert, art director on 'Merry Widow' at Metro, is in Mexicali, Mex., in order to obtain a quota number and return into the country as an immigrant. A German, he plans to take out American citizenship papers.

Hubert, who has worked with Ernst Lubitsch on all the latter's recent pictures, has been in Hollywood on a visitor's permit.

SCRIPTS 'GAILY I SIN'

Hollywood, May 28.

Houston Branch has been engaged by Majestic to script 'Gaily I Sin,' formerly dubbed 'Hit and Run.'

'Sin' will follow the current 'Scarlet Letter,' to star Colleen Moore.

DIRECTS 'ELDORADO'

Hollywood, May 28.

Irving Cummings has been assigned to direct 'Eldorado' for the Jesse Lasky unit at Fox studios.

Director recently completed 'Grand Canary' for the same producer.

Exploitation

(Continued from page 17)

their 10 will make the patrons realize that there were good as well as poor pictures, and they may revise their opinions on some pictures to get into the prize class.

Same exhib has been working a gag all season. When his regulars tell him they did not like this or that picture, he counters with: 'Perhaps that did not appeal to you —but did you see ———?' and he names the most recent hit. He never admits a picture was poor. He'll merely agree that this or that did not appeal to the speaker.

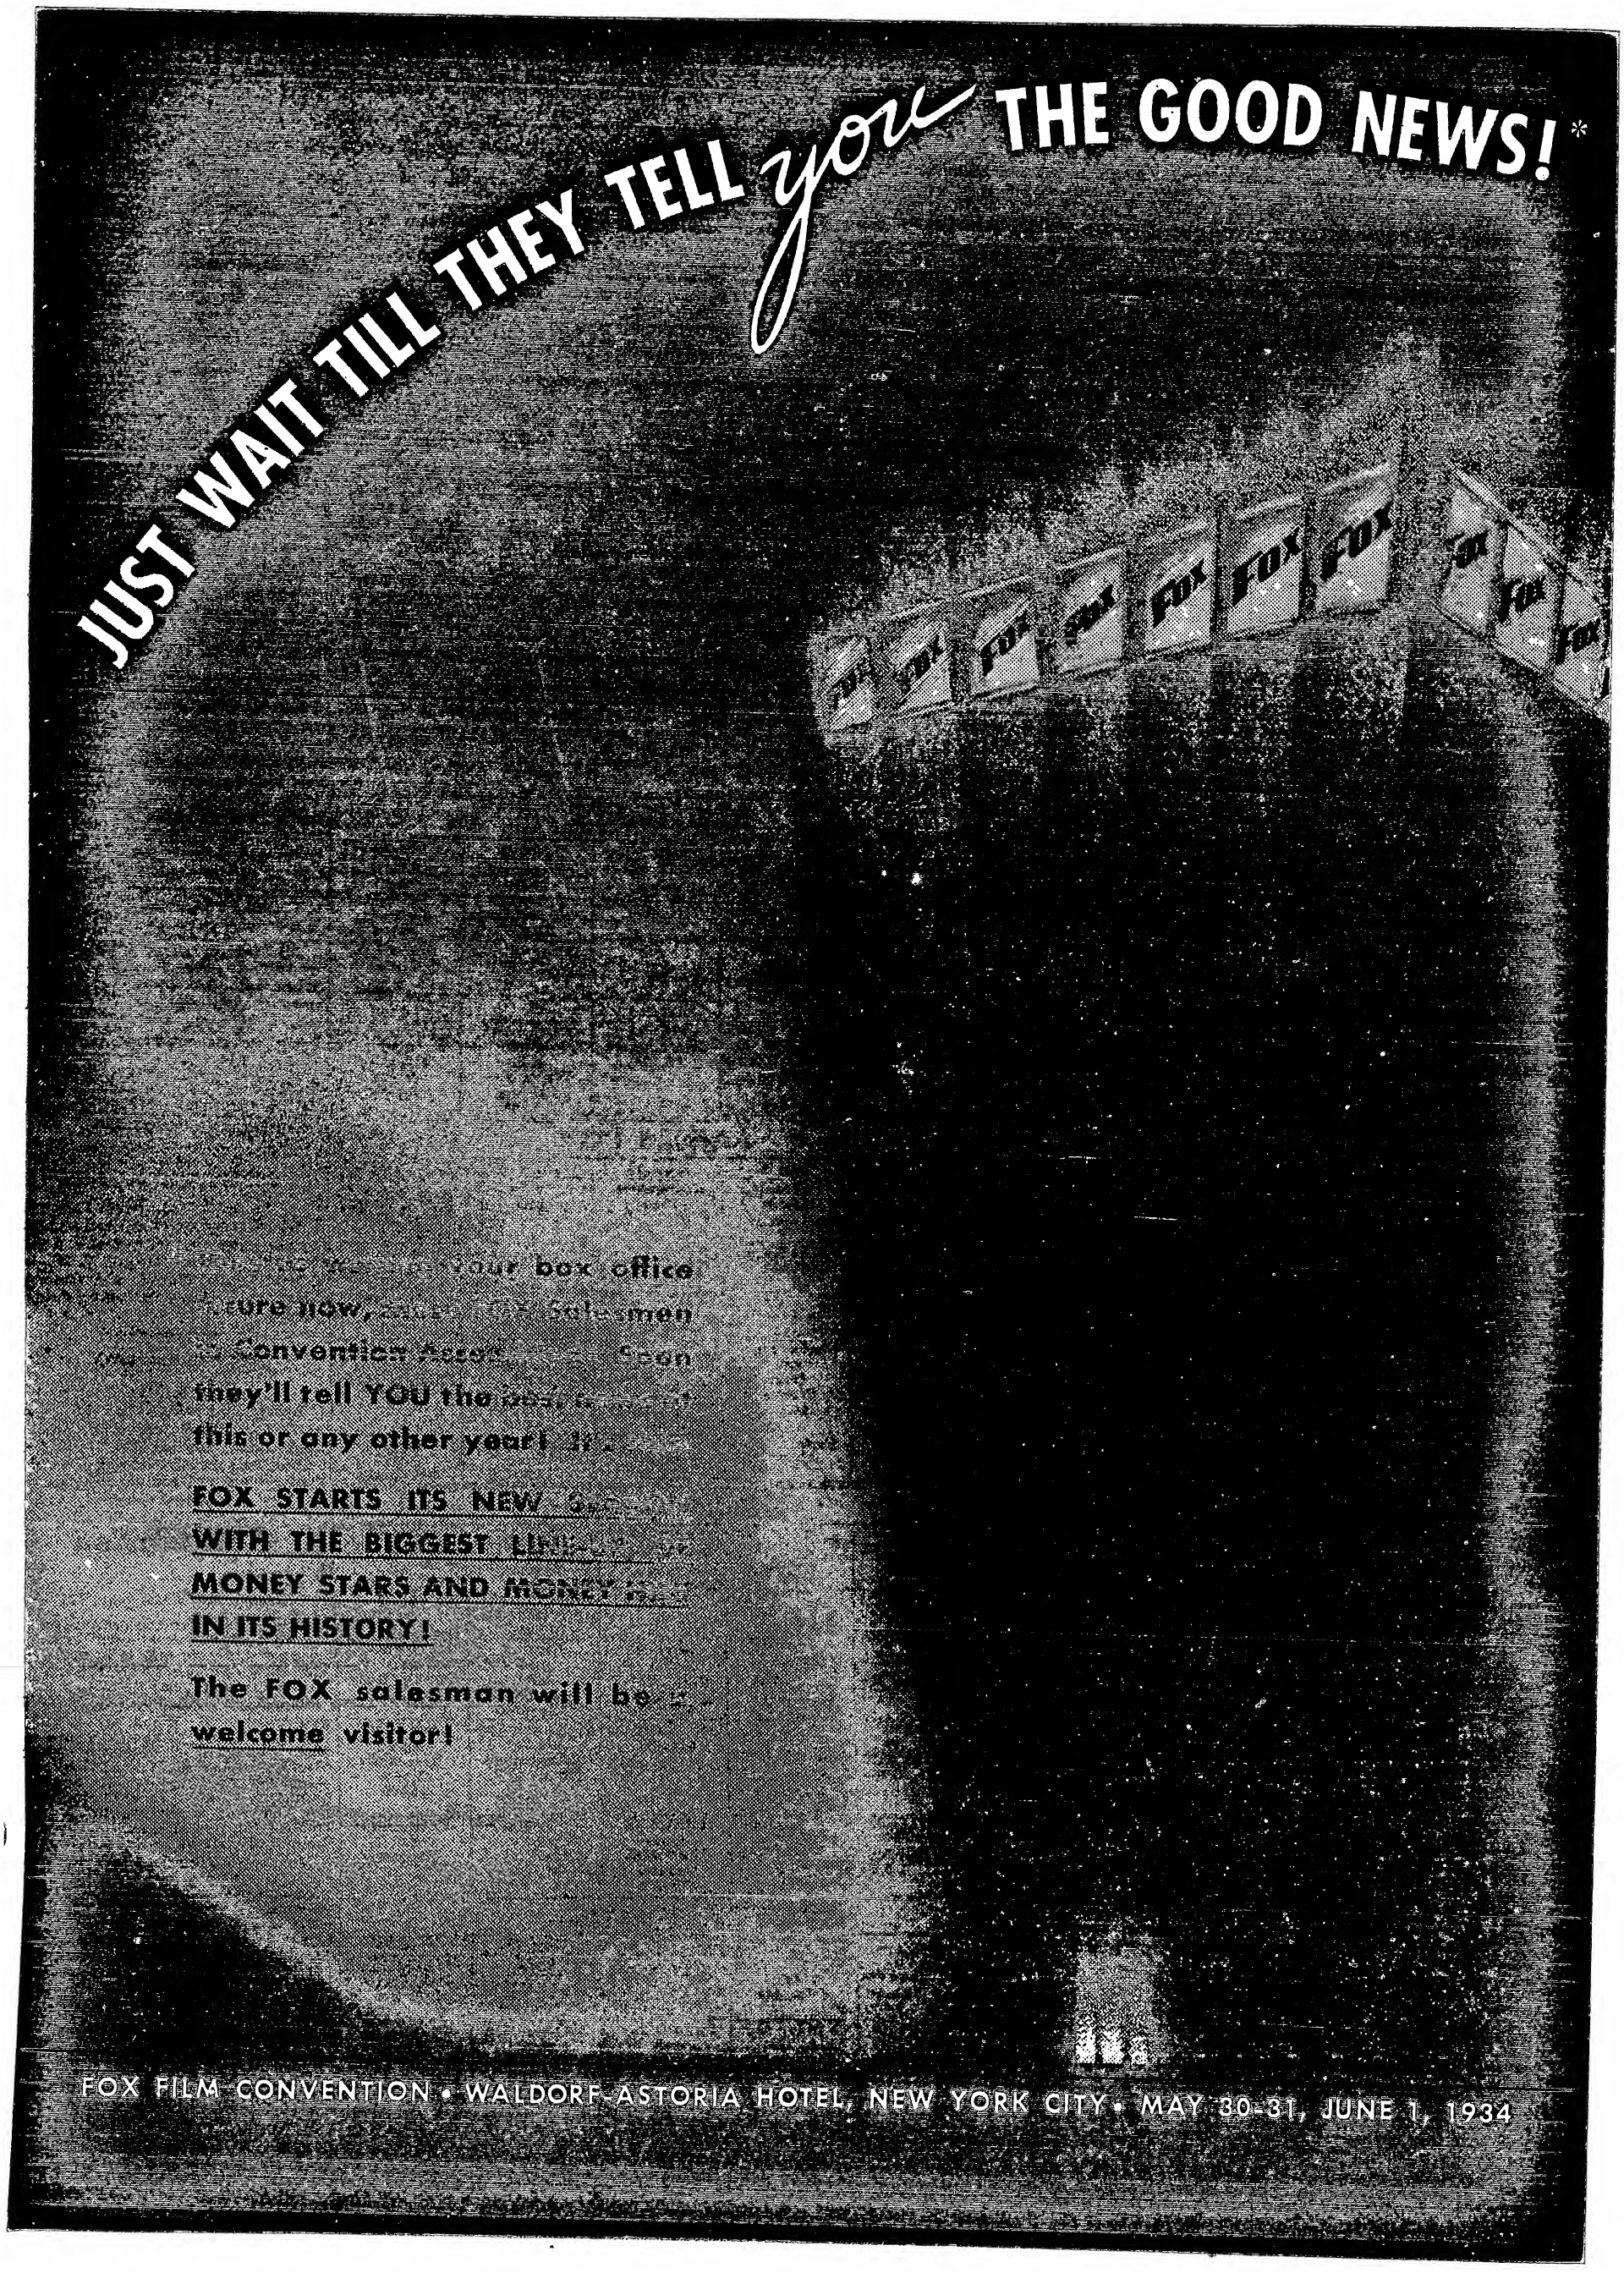
Idea was suggested by another exhibitor years ago, who spent time and screen space educating his patrons to use 'did not appeal to me' instead of saying that a picture was rotten. Argued that some people liked pictures which did not appeal to others and there was no good reason for branding a feature which the spectator did not care for, but for which others might entertain different opinion.

It worked well in the old days, and still does.

Copped Plenty

Seattle.

This week for first time Times let publicity crash into rotogravure section. On last page a 5 by 14 inch ad. carried pic of Wallace Beery, 'Viva Villa,' with the rest of the page (back page, too) showing pixes of Fay Wray, Katherine De Mille and Stuart Erwin, all gratis. Herb Sobottka, pinch hitting for Vic Gauntlett, adv. mgr. for Evergreen, did the p. a. stuff.



JUST WAIT TILL THEY TELL you THE GOOD NEWS!*
FOX
your box office
ture now, ... Salesmen
Convention Accept ... Soon
they'll tell YOU tha...
this or any other year!
FOX STARTS ITS NEW ...
WITH THE BIGGEST LI...
MONEY STARS AND MONEY ...
IN ITS HISTORY!
The FOX salesman will be ...
welcome visitor!
FOX FILM CONVENTION • WALDORF-ASTORIA HOTEL, NEW YORK CITY • MAY 30-31, JUNE 1, 1934

Hollywood Productions

Week of May 28

(Pictures now filming, or about to start, are listed below alphabetically by studios. Symbols are: D—Director, A—Author, C—Cameraman)

ALEXANDER BROS.' STUDIO
(Showmen's Pictures)
'Within the Rock'
(3rd week)
D—Al Ray
A—Marie Buxton Martin
C—Geo. Meehan
Cast:
Lila Lee
Creighton Chaney
Edmond Breese
Francis McDonald
Audrey Ferris
Helena Grant
Vic Potel
Tommy Bond
Fern Emmet
Milton McDowell
Lafe McKee

COLUMBIA
'The Defense Rests'
(2nd week)
D—Lambert Hillyer
A—Jo Swerling
Wilbur McGaugh
C—Joseph August
Cast:
Jack Holt
Jean Arthur
Donald Meek
Sarah Padden
Ward Bnd
Joan Wray
Raymond Hatton
Raymond Walburn
Frank O'Connor
Arnold Gary
Reginald Simpson
Tony Martelli
Ernie Young

'Blind Date'
(2nd week)
D—Roy Wm. Neill
A—Ethel Hill
C—Al Siegler
Cast:
Ann Sothern
Paul Kelly
Mickey Rooney
Spencer Charters
Jane Darwell
Joan Gale
Geneva Mitchell
Arthur Rankin

FOX
'Baby Take a Bow'
(6th week)
D—Harry Lachman
A—Ed E. Paramore
Phillip Klein
C—L. W. L'Connell
Cast:
James Dunn
Claire Trevor
Shirley Temple
Dorothy Libaire
Ray Walker
Alan Dinehart
Ralf Harolde
James Flavin

'Caravan'
(7th week)
D—Erik Charell
A—Melchior Lengyel
Robert Liebmann
Samson Raphaelson
C—Ernest Palmer
Ted Sparkuhl
Cast:
Charles Boyer
Jean Parker
Louise Fazenda
Loretta Young
Phillips Holmes
Eugene Palette
C. Aubrey Smith
Richard Carle
Dudley Digges
Charles Grapewi
Billy Bevan
Harry Bradley
Armand Kaliz
Blanca Vischer
Mathilde Comont

'She Learned About Sailors'
(6th week)
D—Geo. Marshall
A—Wm. Conselman
Henry Johnson
C—Harry Jackson
Cast:
Lew Ayres
Alice Faye
Frank Mitchell
Jack Durant
Nick Foran
Harry Green

'Charlie Chan's Courage'
(6th week)
D—Geo Hadden
Eugene Forde
A—Earl Derr Biggers
Seton I. Miller
C—Arthur Miller
Cast:
Warner Oland
Drue Layton
Donald Woods
Paul Harvey
Murray Kinnell
Harvey Clark
Si Jenks
Virginia Hammond
Jerry Jerome
Paul Hurst
Wade Boteler
Jack Carter
Reginald Mason
Frank Rice
Paul McVey
John D. Horsley

'Servants' Entrance'
(1st week)
D—Frank Lloyd
A—Sigrid Boo
Samson Raphaelson
C—Hal Mohr
Cast:
Janet Gaynor
Lew Ayres
Louise Dresser
Ned Sparks
Sigfried Rumann
Frank Milton

'Marie Galante'
(1st week)
D—Henry King
A—Jacques Deval
C—John Seitz
Cast:
Ketti Gallian
Spencer Tracy
Siegfried Rumann
Ned Sparks
Stepin Fetchit
Michael Morita
Hugh Williams

'She Was a Lady'
(1st week)
D—Hamilton McFadden
A—Elizabeth Cobb
Josephine Lovett
Ainsworth Morgan
Cast:
Helen Twelvetrees
Robert Young

Untitled
(2nd week)
D—Paul Martin
A—Wynn Starling
Sally Sandlin
Cast:
Lilian Harvey

METRO
'Treasure Island'
(11th week)
D—Victor Fleming
A—Robert Louis Stevenson
John Lee Mahin
C—Hal Rosson
Cast:
Wallace Beery
Jackie Cooper
Lionel Barrymore
Otto Kruger
Dorothy Peterson
Wm. V. Mong
Douglas Dumbrille
Cora Sue Collins
Nigel Bruce
Lewis Stone
Chic Sale

'Barretts of Wimpole St.'
(11th week)
D—Sidney Franklin
A—Rudolf Besier
Claudine West
Ernest Vajda
Donald Ogden Stuart
C—Wm. Daniels
Cast:
Norma Shearer
Charles Laughton
Maureen O'Sullivan
Fredric March
Ferdinand Munier
Katherine Alexander
Marian Clayton
Ian Woolf
Una O'Connor

'The Merry Widow'
(7th week)
D—Ernst Lubitsch
A—Franz Lehar
Ernest Vajda
Samson Raphaelson
C—Oliver Marsh
Cast:
Maurice Chevalier
Jeanette MacDonald
Una Merkel
Edw. Everett Horton
George Barbier
Sterling Holloway
Minna Gombel
Barbara Leonard
Joan Gale
Sheila Manors
Leona Walters
Edna Walden
Barbara Barondess
Shirley Ross
Dorothy Granger
Jean Hart
Elinor Hunt
Dorothy Wilson
Gill Dennett
Tyler Brook
Cosmo Kyrle Bellew
George Lewis
John Merkyl
Charles Pegua
Maria Troubetzkoy

'100 Percent Pure'
(4th week)
D—Jack Conway
A—Anita Loos
John Emerson
C—Ray June
Cast:
Jean Harlow
Lionel Barrymore
Patsy Kelly
Lewis Stone
Franchot Tone
Hale Hamilton
Clara Blandick
Alan Mowbray
Henry Kolker
Russell Hopton
Gary Owen
Ben Bard

'The Green Hat'
(6th week)
D—Robert Leonard
A—Michael Arlen
C—Charles Rosher
Cast:
Constance Bennett
Herbert Marshall
Henry Stephenson
Mrs. Patrick Campbell
Leo Carroll
Hugh Williams
Alec B. Francis
Elizabeth Allen
Robert Lorraine

'Rear Car'
(3rd week)
D—Harry Beaumont
A—Edward E. Rose
Harvey Thew
Al Boasberg
C—James Van Trees
Cast:
Charles Ruggles
Una Merkel
Mary Carlisle
Russell Hardie
Porter Hall
Clif Robertson
Sterling Holloway
Burton Churchill
Wilfred Lukas
Snowflake
Akim Tamiroff

'Stamboul Quest'
(2nd week)
D—Sam Wood
A—Leo Berinski
C—James Wong Howe
Cast:
Myrna Loy
George Brent
Lionel Atwell
C. Henry Gordon
Douglas Dumbrille
Christian Rub
Rudolph Armendt
Robert Gleckler
Reginald Barlow

MONOGRAM
(Lone Star Productions)
'Shock'
(2nd week)
D—Roy J. Pomeroy
A—Madeline Ruthven
C—Jack MacKenzie
Cast:
Ralph Forbes
Gwenllian Gill
Monroe Owsley
Reginald Sharland
Billy Bevan
Clyde Beck
Douglas Walton
Alex Courtney
Olaf Hytten
Montague Shaw

'Jane Eyre'
(2nd week)
D—Christy Cabanne
A—Charlotte Bronte
Adele Comandini
C—Robert Planck
Cast:
Virginia Bruce
Colin Clive
Doris Lloyd
Aileen Pringle
Janison Thomas
Lionel Belmore
Ethel Griffies
David Torrence
Joan Standing
Wm. Burris
Olaf Hytten
Desmond Roberts
Edith Kingdin
Wm. Wagner
Claire DuBrey
Clarice Selwyn
Hilda Tyson
John Rogers
Greta Gould
Gale Kay
Gene Darling
Ann Howard
Richard Quinn

PARAMOUNT
'It Ain't No Sin'
(10th week)
D—Leo McCarey
A—Mae West
C—Karl Struss
Cast:
Mae West
Roger Pryor
John Mack Brown
Katherine DeMille
John Miljan
Libby Taylor
Stuart Holmes
Harry Woods
Edward Gargan
Frederick Burton
Augusta Anderson
Warren Hymer
Duke Ellington & Or.
Benny Baker

'She Loves Me Not'
(8th week)
D—Elliott Nugent
A—Howard Lindsay
Edward Hope
C—Chas. Lang
Cast:
Bing Crosby
Miriam Hopkins
Kitty Carlisle
Eddie Nugent
Lynne Overman
Warren Hymer
Henry Stephenson
Judith Allen
Geo. Barbier
Maude Turner Gordon
Margaret Armstrong
Ralf Harolde
Vince Barnett
Matt McHugh
Franklin Ardell

'The Old Fashioned Way'
(6th week)
D—Wm. Beaudine
A—Walter DeLeon
J. P. McEvoy
Garnett Weston
C—Ben Reynolds
Cast:
W. C. Fields
Baby LeRoy
Joe Morrison
Judith Allen
Tammany Young
Jan Duggan
Jack Mulhall
Oscar Apfel
Joe Mills
Samuel Ethridge
Emma Ray
Ruth Marion
Otis Harlan
Nora Cecil
Richard Carle
Lew Kelly
Oscar Smith
Edward LeSaint
Davison Clark
Dorothy Bay
Maxine Elliott Hicks
Larry Grenier
Wm. Blatchford
Dell Henderson

'Now and Forever'
((rd week)
D—Henry Hathaway
A—Jack Kirkland
Melville Baker
Sylvia Thalberg
Gilbert Pratt
Cast:
Gary Cooper
Carole Lombard
Shirley Temple
Sir Guy Standing
Charlotte Granville
Tetsu Komai
Jameson Thomas

'Notorious Sophie Lang'
(3rd week)
D—Wm. Cameron Menzies
A—F. Irving Anderson
Anthony Veiller
C—Al Gilks
Cast:
Alison Skipworth
Gertrude Michael
Carole Lombard
Paul Cavanagh
Arthur Byron
Ben Taggart
Leon Errol
Charles Judels
Franklin Pangborn

'One Way Ticket'
(1s week)
D—Alexander Hall
A—Ethel Turner
Oliver H. P. Garrett
Cast:
Sylvia Sidney
Fred MacMurray

'Ladies Should'
(2nd week)
D—Frank Tuttle
A—Alfred Savoir
Guy Bolton
Claude Binyon
Frank Butler
Cast:
Cary Grant
Ed. Everett Horton
Gertrude Michael
George Barbier

"Ladies First'
(2nd week)
D—Gilbert Pratt
Cast:
Geo. Bancroft
Frances Fuller
Roscoe Karnes

RADIO
'We're Rich Again'
(4th week)
D—Wm. Seiter
A—Alden Nash
Ray Harris
C—Nick Musuraca
Cast:
Billie Burke
Edna May Oliver
Joan Marsh
Marian Nixon
Grant Mitchell
Reginald Denny
Larry Crabbe
Gloria Shea

'Bachelor Bait'
(4th week)
D—Geo. Stevens
A—Victor Halperin
Ed Halperin
Glen Tryon
C—Dave Abel
Cast:
Skeets Gallagher
Pert Kelton
Chick Chandler
Stuart Erwin
Edgar Kennedy
Rochelle Hudson

'Afterwards'
(4th week)
D—James Cruze
A—Walter Hackett
Marion Dix
Arthur Caesar
C—Harold Wenstrom
Cast:
Za-Su Pitts
Slim Summerville
Ralph Morgan
Bruce Cabot
Wm. Gaxton
Huntley Gordon

'Hat, Coat and Glove'
(2nd week)
D—Worthington Minor
A—Wilhelm Speyer
Frances Faragoh
Cast:
John Barrymore
Barbara Robbins
John Beal

UNITED ARTISTS
(Edward Small)
'Count of Monte Cristo'
(3rd week)
D—Rowland V. Lee
A—Alexandre Dumas
Phillip Dunne
Dan Totheroh
C—Peverell Marley
Cast:
Robert Donat
Elissa Landi
Louis Calhern
Sidney Blackmer
O. P. Heggie
Raymond Walburn
Lawrence Grant
Luis Alberni
Georgia Caine
Lionel Belmore
William Farnum
Wilfred Lukas
Tom Ricketts

UNIVERSAL
'One More River'
(2nd week)
D—James Whale
A—John Galsworthy
R. C. Sheriff
C—John Mescal
Cast:
Diana Wynyard
Frank Lawton
Colin Clive
Melville Stephenson

'There's Always Tomorrow'
(3d week)
D—Edward Sloman
A—Edward Sloman
Christine Ames
William Hurlbut
C—Norbert Brodine
Cast:
Frank Morgan
Lois Wilson
Louise Latimer
Elizabeth Young
Robert Taylor
Helen Parrish
Dick Winslow

'The Rec. Rider'
(2nd week)
D—Louis Friedlander
A—W. C. Tuttle
Geo. Plympton
Vin Moore
Ella O'Neill
Basil Dickey
C—Richard Fryer
Cast:
Buck Jones
Grant Withers
Janet Chandler
Walter Miller
Richard Cramer
Margaret LaMarr
Chas. French
Edmond Cobb
Al Ferguson
J. P. McGowan
Wm. Desmond
Mert LaVarre
Frank Rice
Monte Montague
Jim Thorpe
Jim Corey
Bud Osborne

WARNERS
'British Agent'
(4th week)
D—Michael Curtiz
A—H. Bruce Lockhart
Laird Doyle
C—Ernest Haller
Cast:
Kay Francis
Leslie Howard
Irving Pichel
Walter Byron
Dorothy Tree
William Gargan
Ivan Simpson
J. Carroll Naish
Paul Porcasi
Halliwell Hobbes
Doris Lloyd
Gregory Gaye
Alphone Ethier
Tenen Holtz
George Pearce
Walter Armitage

'Dragon Murder Case'
(3rd week)
D—H. Bruce Humberstone
A—S. S. Van Dine
F. Hugh Herbert
Robert Lee
Rian James
C—Tony Gaudio
Cast:
Warren William
Margaret Lindsay
Lyle Talbot
Robert Barrat
Phillip Reed
Arthur Aylesworth
Robert McWade
Hobart Cavanaugh
Eugene Pallette

'The Kansas City Princess'
(3rd week)
D—William Keighley
A—Manuel Seff
Sy Bartlett
C—George Barnes
Cast:
Joan Blondell
Glenda Farrell
Hugh Herbert
Robert Armstrong
Gordon Westcott
T. Roy Barnes
Osgood Perkins
Ivan Lebedeff
Vince Barnett

'Dames'
(3rd week)
D—Ray Enright
Busby Berkley
A—Robert Lord
Delmar Davis
C—Sid Hickox
George Barnes
Cast:
Joan Blondell
Dick Powell
Ruby Keeler
Za-Su Pitts
Guy Kibbee
Hugh Herbert
Arthur Vinton
Phil Regan
Sammy Fain
Arthur Aylesworth
Johnny Arthur
Leila Bennett
Berton Churchill

Charity at Night

(Continued from page 1)

nights. These are listed as 'previews' and on that angle are able to attract everybody who thinks it's snooty to attend a new spot before the rest of hoi polloi hit it. The recently opened Cascades did its only real biz on its charity preview.

Other clubs have designated a special evening each week for a charity sponsorship. Most of them are on Tuesday or Wednesday, since these are usually the poorest evenings in biz for the cafes. The weekends are never given to charity deals, since they manage to hold up on their own.

The joints never include wine for their take, therefore managing to clear some extra real mazuma on the liquor buying, which goes on the check as extras.

High-Salaried Promoters

Charity groups are handling these evenings smartly. They are run as a strictly business proposition, usually by shrewd members of the 400 for their particular organization or club, and operating out of swanky offices in ritzy buildings. They put on plenty of dog and the officers are down on the salary list at phone number wages.

But that 400 pressure gets the results that pay off. The Italian Village at the World's Fair sold its 'preview' evening to an organization, which sold 1,500 ducats at $10 apiece although the place can't seat over 800. The 'Streets of Paris' sold its preview to capacity. The French Casino, which opens on June 5 with the imported 'Folies Bergere,' has already disposed of enough ducats to more than fill the mammoth nite club at $5 a ticket.

Sponsored evenings are usually accomplished by flooding the town with numbered pasteboards, with the association keeping a record of the number of the ticket and the name of the holder. Which allows a check-up at the door on whether or not the person has sent in coin for the ducat. In this way there's no chance of gypping the organization, and once the person has arrived on the spot he always pays off rather than do a walk-away.

BOB NEVILLE JOINS FOX

Hollywood, May 28.

Robert Neville, former European correspondent for the New York Times, has joined the Fox writing staff. He will work on Spanish pictures.

Neville at one time was a writer for pictures in London and Berlin. He is the brother of Jack Neville, screen writer.

Variety House Reviews

STATE, N. Y.

(Continued from page 14)

have to be thin enough to do various types of contortion.

Opening trick is the production of hats and umbrellas from a hat about 30 inches in diameter, followed by a little card tossing, with the Levitation coming next. For years this trick was the outstander and as a trick has never been beaten. It was several years before even the professional magicians could solve the mechanism. But it is so old that it has been shoved back to an early position, though it's still fascinating. The closer is the trunk in midair.

If this reviewer's memory is as good as it should be, the late Alexander Herrmann used it back in the '80s. Certainly it was in use before the end of the last century. A trunk suspended in the dome of the theatre is lowered to the stage after a girl has vanished from a cabinet which is swung out over the audience. Placing the cabinet in midair is Thurston's improvement over the old stage vanishing. Effectively worked and got plenty of applause. The seance cabinet is still in, but chiefly used to introduce the traveling globe, which remains the best trick of the magician's own creation.

Another good effect is a horizontal frame which encircles a girl and through which a pointed steel rod apparently pierces her body. Also using the Sawing a Woman in Two, with about half the audience piling on the stage to act as committee; the only time a committee is used. There is also a cabinet variant on the Chinese Torture, in which two solid steel plates are slipped into a cabinet barely large enough to contain the girl.

Jane (she's a platinum blonde now) takes up nearly 10 minutes with some of the smaller bits, none of which call for sleights of importance, but which are done in neat style and serve as a breather to the more ponderous apparatus her father uses. Thurston himself does no small stuff, confining himself to cabinets and productions. All done in showmanly fashion and not too much alike.

Judging from the size of the house on a rainy evening, Thurston is pulling. Chic.

NEWSREELS

(EMBASSY, N. Y.)

Uncle Sam is warned that the United States is fearfully below naval parity. We must build more warships and keep up with Britain and Japan. King Carol, on a black charger, smiles upon a military demonstration in his honor. Strikers and police clash violently in Minneapolis. Paris police struggle against violent citizenry.

Those shots of the police and strikers battling in Minneapolis and the Paris riots are thrilling. Cameramen must have hazarded their lives to get those clips. The Minneapolis scene is most stirring. No offscreen voice can improve upon the action shown. Nevertheless, an offscreen voice is permitted to discuss the clip.

Senator Nye talks with Clarence Darrow. The famous lawyer says industry must return to old-time competition. Donald Richberg, counsel for the NRA, solos immediately following. Richberg insists Darrow's report on the NRA is contradictory and silly.

Offscreen comment can shift a clip from being just a current event picture to a hunk of one-sided and sometimes lop-sided propaganda. Sometimes the screen shot itself is propaganda, but the Embassy screen currently by its mass of offscreen talk with clips bring this latter point to the fore.

Makes the difference between a bad and a good show at the Embassy, although another weakness is that the Embassy lacks humor altogether. The offscreen stuff was unnecessary in the riot scenes. But it was accompanied. On the other hand, in a shot of the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont, the offscreen voice failed to realize the human interest involved.

Here was a shot of a great hor race, Chase Me toppled and broke his leg. The horse had to be destroyed. Back of the accident was the tremendous human interest of the horse being the only race horse of a woman owner. She had trained the horse herself, although a male trainer's name was used to fit track rules. She had bought the steed as a saddle horse. He was the family pet and she broke him into racing and watched him. He had won seven consecutive races. Was never beaten and then in his biggest race had to die.

Nevertheless, the newsreels do go out of the way currently to discuss how the U. S. should build more warships and why, by action shots of the fleet and by graphic charts. Even a photo of President Roosevelt is shown in connection with this clip.

The Embassy screen spots a clip of Cleveland police marksmen shooting at a still photo of Dillinger. In the 56-minute program offered several peaceful shots are shown, but these are mostly novelty clips. If a person were to announce he was to commit suicide, police and everybody would rush to prevent him. But the reels show a crowd of people curiously and unconcernedly watching a bird buckle himself into an auto seat and then driving the car into a lake.

If the war and riot stuff and inferential social and industrial unrest which the Embassy screen shows currently were not enough to jar customers' minds without a one-laugh letup, the screen also projects a short, 'Battle of the Century.' About membranaceous insects, but the life and death struggle which the ants and the termites indulge in under the rotten bark of a wasted tree stump mocks even human instincts for fiery viciousness.

Another short, 'Flemish Folks' (Fox) is a travelog, part silent and part singing, with an offscreen voice describing the scenes, mostly photographic and scenic stuff.

Again the Embassy screen shows the California lion tamer's place. Only this time it's the owner's infant who lashes his whip at some lion cubs.

Advertising gets its end of the program by Metrotone showing Palisades Park in bloom. Park is owned by Joe and Nick Schenck, but other resorts also shown.

Little hot news stuff outside the Minneapolis riot. Johnny Goodman is shown making the final putt in the Walker Cup series. Secretary of War Dern is shown decorating a U. S. Army officer for certain aero skill. Just a clip. Otherwise the Pikes Peak snow shoveler in action and a couple of other snowy mountain scenes besides some motorcycle stuff comprise most of the action novelty material, nothing highlighted this way enough to rate mention. Shan.

Par Adds Trio

Hollywood, May 28.

Paramount added three writers and dropped one over the week-end.

Frank R. Adams returns to the lot to work on the script of 'Big Broadcast of 1934.' Dana Burnet goes to work on 'End of the World' to collaborate with Marguerite Roberts, and John Florey is on the roster for an original.

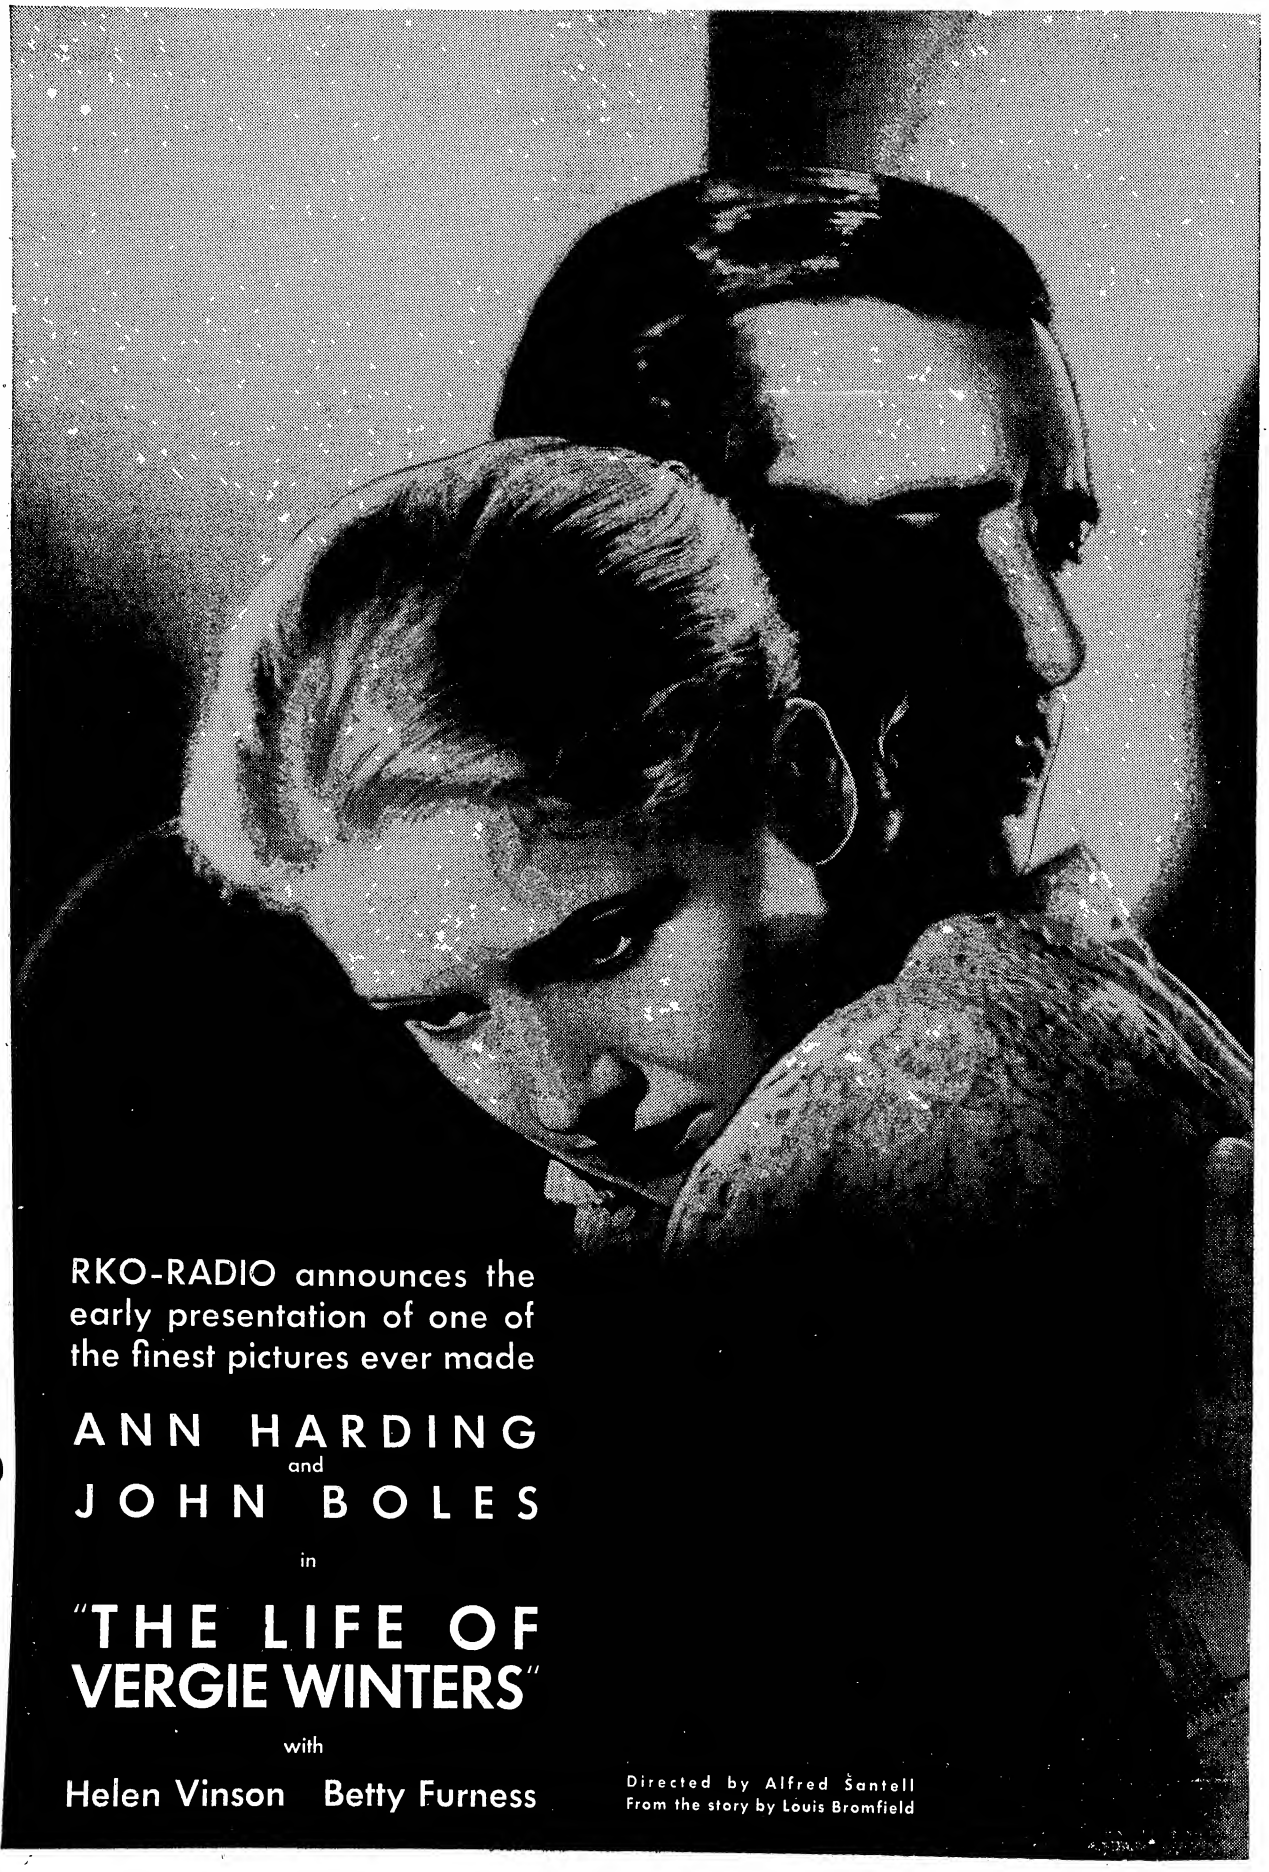
Vincent Lawrence, last on 'One-Way Ticket,' has left the studio.

SULLY AIDS VOIGHT

Hollywood, May 28.

G. P. Sully has joined Columbia studio publicity staff handling special exploitation and tie-ups under Hubert Voight.

Sully was last with 20th Century in a similr capacity.



RKO-RADIO announces the early presentation of one of the finest pictures ever made ANN HARDING
and
JOHN BOLES
in
"THE LIFE OF VERGIE WINTERS"
with
Helen Vinson Betty Furness
Directed by Alfred Santell
From the story by Louis Bromfield

Church Drive Progresses

(Continued from page 5)

more than 24 hours will be required to set the country-wide machine into action. And once the national offensive is underway, it will be a year or more before it can be halted.

Prior to the deciding session of Catholic generals the Church will probably be asked to co-operate with producers by submitting to them a bill of particulars before they put a picture on the blacklist.

In various parts of the country where a parish is especially active, and skirmishing in advance of the national signal, features are now being banned with Hollywood reported none the wiser for the reason.

Picture strategists see where much of the difficulty, especially hazards for the industry and irritation for the crusading forces, would be lessened if the Church will follow this course:

Quite possibly a few lines of dialog of part of a sequence, or even some gesture on the part of a performer, may be responsible for an entire feature being condemned.

If the producer of such a picture were able to get information to this effect and know that it wasn't the entire feature which riled, it might be possible for such objectionable matter to be deleted in at least the territories recording the complaint.

Declared Code Author

Crusade is revealing publicly for the first time the authorship of the Hays production code, kept more or less a secret even from the average member of the film trade by the Hays organization during the five years the code has been in effect. 'America' puts the name of the author in print with 'the so-called Hays code of morality—was written by Father Daniel Lord, S. J.'

That the Catholic Church should be most active in the present crusade is because of charges within its ranks, also printed in various of its 310 newspapers and organs, which have a combined circulation of 7,108,456, that a good part of Hollywood has, in simplified English, failed to take the writing seriously.

Father Gerard B. Donnelly, S. J., well known in picture political circles, reveals the present Catholic front, giving Church and Catholic populations and describing methods which already have been introduced in each to war against the box office. This is the first survey made to date.

In Philadelphia, which has 387 Catholic churches and 823,000 communicants, the radio is being used to start the drive.

In Baltimore, with 249 churches and 323,500 Catholics, a pastoral letter is the opening gun while in Boston, Washington and East Orange the National Council of Catholic Women and the Knights of Columbus are active.

A list of the others include:

Cincinnati (churches, 229, Catholic population 234,000): Archbishop McNicholas issues pastoral letter, asks clergy to enroll all faithful, urges each parish to form vigilance committee to forward the drive.

Monterey-Fresno (78/63,000): With launching of diocesan campaign, the Methodist-Episcopal churches of three states (742 congregations) announce that they will co-operate with Catholics.

Los Angeles (284/308,000): Bishop Cantwell announces ECOMP plan. Catholic women in 20-state convention urge support. In San Diego the local council of women announces complete co-operation, writes to Hollywood producers demanding clean films.

Omaha (160/98,000): Bishop Rummel writes letter on menace of movies, inaugurates drive, forms special committee on Catholic standards to oversee public entertainment; and to disseminate pledge.

Peoria (236/121,000): Pastoral letter read in all churches; pledge distributed to all.

New Orleans: Students, 2,000 in number and representing 60 colleges and high schools, promise support.

Mobile (108/51,000): Pastoral letter opens drive; every Catholic receives copy of pledge; parish vigilance committees formed.

Detroit (345/622,000): Every sermon in this diocese on May 6 deals with campaign; each church distributes pledge.

Spokane (99/29,000): Under Bishop White crusade is begun in the northwest.

Tucson (128/97,000): Each English-speaking Catholic receives copy of pledge.

Albany (237/227,500): On Clean Movie Sunday, May 6, specially appointed preachers talk at all masses in 60 churches. Later they address all students in Catholic schools. Strong continuing committee is set up in each locality. Explanatory letter sent to every theatre owner. Pledge distributed 100 percent.

Denver (255/136,000): Bishop starts drive, 100,000 pledges are distributed; copy of Cantwell analysis sent to every priest.

Rochester: Students' union and women's council promise entire co-operation; faculties meet to plan educational conditioning of all children against lure of films.

Little Rock (116/29,500): The ECOMP's plan is initiated by bishop.

St. Louis: National Sodality Headquarters, with branches in nearly all high schools, colleges and parishes of United States announces whole-hearted co-operation with bishop's drive and an independent organization campaign to help it.

Syracuse Broadcast on Pix

Syracuse, May 28.

Bishop John A. Duffy of the Diocese of Syracuse, today invited non-Catholics to join with the Catholics of Central New York in a war on screen 'filth,' urging personal censorship of indecent films. The bishop's fiery attack was broadcast by WFBL.

First response was the unanimous pledge of the Cathedral Holy Name Society to enroll in the League of Decency.

The prelate, declaring 'The moving picture industry has departed from its prime purpose of entertainment,' estimated that 25% of its productions were 'purposely and definitely immoral,' and that 75% were written by 'definitely pagan writers.'

Assailing producers and distributors 'who have prostituted their industry,' Bishop Duff said, 'I appeal to the Jewish people who are so basically moral and well intentioned to influence the many members of their people who are identified with the industry.'

Referring to caustic newspaper criticism of a current picture, 'Registered Nurse' at Keith's, bishop charged 'such pictures are causing men and women to lose their sense of moral life.'

CARDINI

"THE SUAVE DECEIVER"

PARADISE, NEW YORK
This Week (May 25)

21st Week CASINO DE PAREE

Thanks to Billy Rose

World-Telegram

"Cardini the magician, whose blase manipulations of playing cards and cigarettes is as mystifying as any of the late Houdini's sulkier feats."

BEN BLUE

WARNER BROS. COMEDIES
Dir. JOE RIVKIN
LEO MORRISON, Agency

'SERVICE'

F+M STAGESHOWS

1560 Broadway New York City

A Subsidiary of
FANCHON & MARCO, Inc.

Film Reviews

TWIN HUSBANDS

(Continued from page 13)

the film is not first-rate entertainment.

As the plot unreels, the woman winds up okay and the gentleman crook begins to reform. Not a bad angle employed where the crook has his own henchmen impersonate police to get out of a jam. But Hale Hamilton as the lawyer in the case is too fidgety.

For once Robert Elliott plays a phoney cop instead of a real one, and John Milian does fairly well in the chief role, but looks like his direction faltered in letting him act too nonchalantly in the tight squeezes. Shirley Grey will appeal to customers' eyes.

Not much breadth to the scenery, and most everything takes place indoors. Shan.

BADGE OF HONOR

Mayfair production and release. Stars Buster Crabbe. Directed by Spencer Gordon Bennet. Robert Emmett story adapted by George Morgan. At Times Square theatre, N. Y., on double bill. Running time, 62 mins.

Rob Gordon	Buster Crabbe
Helen Brewster	Ruth Hall
Brewster	Ralph Lewis
Mrs. Van Alstyne	Betty Blythe
Larkin	John Trent

Plenty of action to satisfy on double biller.

Buster Crabbe does as best he can with an incredible role. He does everything, from driving fast cars to barroom battling, but strangely, he doesn't swim. Nearest he gets to the water is watching a cop wade into a park lake for some boys.

He explains to the girl he rescues from a runaway, 'Well a newspaperman can do a little of everything.'

Crabbe can get to the toughest news spots in town because he's a society boy from a strange town on masquerade. Picture unwinds so as to give idea this was an afterthought with the director.

Only sure-story angles mix in this plot. It's a bromide on script, but the action saves it. Waly.

WAR'S END

Harry K. Smythe production. Release not indicated. Compiled by the late Col. Thomas J. Dickson. Narrated by Lester Scharf; script by Stewart B. Moss. At the Globe, N. Y. Running time 30 mins.

Another war compilation apparently resurrected from the vaults to take advantage of the current newspaper publication of war horror pictures supposedly as a part of peace propaganda. Worked out from government negative by the late Col. Thomas J. Dickson, who was chief chaplain of the First Division. Apparently made for that unit of the A. E. F. and now on the screen to capitalize on the current humor.

In a traveling foreword disclaimer is made that it is the intention to appeal through horror, but rather to depict the part the U. S. troops played in forcing the armistice. Progress of the war in the closing period is shown by means of a map with the active units designated by black discs with white figures with the rest troops in black circled figures. Enemy area is shown in black with regained terrain in white, these areas changing as the forces advance. Device is adroitly handled and serves to give continuity to the pictorial film.

Latter is from the government archives, showing the usual trips over the top, bombardments and gun service. No horror shots. Chic.

PICTURE BRIDES

Allied production and release. Starring Dorothy Mackaill. Featuring Regis Toomey, Dorothy Libaire, Based on play by Charles E. and Harry Clay Blaney. Adaptation and dialog, Adele Buffington. Additional dialog, Will Ahern. Directed by Phil Rosen. Photography, Harry Newman and Tom Galligan. At Times Square, N. Y. Running time, 60 minutes.

Mame	Dorothy Mackaill
Dave	Regis Toomey
Mary Lee	Dorothy Libaire
Van Luden	Alan Hale
Brownie	Will Ahern
Castro	Fred Malatesta
Mateo	Mary Kornman
Flo	Esther Muir
Laoma	Gladys Ahern
Gwen	Mae Busch

Not an expose of Hollywood, as may be supposed from the title, but instead a yarn of fugitive white men in a Brazilian diamond outpost who order their brides by mail from an agent in the States. The villain wants one of the girls, but his straightaway partner gets her. Not a particularly bright concoction, but has its moments. Also players of moderate name value, sufficient to uphold the film's intended ranking in double features.

Two shootings in the picture. One killing is that of a native by the villain. The other death is the villain himself.

Alan Hale is the big bad man, a Teuton with a bad accent. Regis Toomey is the hero. The women fit variously. Dorothy Mackaill bears the brunt of the femme histrionics. Common chatter and cheap romantics.

Photography simple, but okay. Settings stagey. Shan.

CHANNEL CROSSING

(BRITISH-MADE)

Gaumont-British production and release. Starring Matheson Lang and Constance Cummings and featuring Edmund Gwenn. Directed by Milton Rosmer. No other credits available. At the 55th St. Playhouse, N. Y., week May 24.

Jacob Van Eeden	Matheson Lang
Marion Slade	Constance Cummings
Peter Bradley	Anthony Bushell
Vi Guthrie	Dorothy Dickson
Nigel Guthrie	Nigel Bruce
Trotter	Edmund Gwenn
Dr. Walkely	Douglas Jefferies
Captain	H. G. Stoker

Still another of the better British films which just fails to make the grade by an eyebrow. It will, however, arouse interest and do well in double feature programs through the nabes.

Film is another variation of the 'Grand Hotel' theme, but spotted on a boat crossing the Channel from London to Paris. Central story is wound around Jacob Van Eeden, biggest of the big financiers. He's put everything on a bit of flimsy paper and it looks like a crash which will drag down the world. A bare chance of saving the pieces if he can make the crossing. Sweetheart of his secretary gets wind and threatens to tell the world, which would ruin everything. Van Eeden gets desperate, tosses the lad overboard, but nothing helps—he eventually has to commit suicide.

It's none too original, but fast enough and with pace—practically a new element in British films. New at any rate, since prior to 'Rome Express,' which, incidentally, is recalled in this film by several incidents.

Matheson Lang as the financier turns in a polished and colorful performance, and Constance Cummings as the secretary is not far behind, except that she doesn't have nearly as much to do. Anthony Bushell as the boy is somewhat over-directed, but convinces, nevertheless, while Nigel Bruce, in a smaller part, is good.

Film is handicapped by photography that doesn't make the grade, although the sound is A-1. Kauf.

BACK—

will he come back to YOUR THEATRE AGAIN?

A pain in the back doesn't help your box office. People won't endure uncomfortable chairs. Easy, restful seating builds "come-back-again" patronage.

Ask Us, "How can I reseat and pay for new chairs conveniently?"

American Seating Company

Makers of Dependable Seating for Theatres and Auditoriums

General Offices: Grand Rapids, Michigan

BRANCHES IN ALL PRINCIPAL CITIES

NRA WE DO OUR PART

READ BETWEEN THE LIONS!

NORMA SHEARER — JOAN CRAWFORD — CLARK GABLE, MYRNA LOY

There is nothing unusual about the

JOHNNY WEISSMULLER — GABLE, WM. POWELL, M. LOY — WALLACE BEERY amazing run of hits that M-G-M is

WILLIAM POWELL, MYRNA LOY — ALL STAR MUSICAL — MARION DAVIES, GARY COOPER

delivering. It has always happened

WALLACE BEERY, JACKIE COOPER — JEAN HARLOW — MYRNA LOY, GEORGE BRENT

and you can always depend on it!

Comparative Grosses for May

(Continued from page 19)

BIRMINGHAM

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
ALABAMA (2,500; 30-35-40) High. $29,000 Low.. 3,500	David Harum $8,500	Telling Me and Trumpet Blows $6,500 (Split)	Scandals $6,200	Men in White $6,900
STRAND (800; 25) High. $5,100 Low.. 800	Devil Tiger $1,000	Massacre $1,500	Hold That Girl $1,100	Showoff $900
EMPIRE (1,100; 25) High. $12,000 Low.. 800	Ever My Heart $2,300	Easy to Love $2,000	Greater Glory $3,400	20th Century $2,900

DENVER

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
DENHAM (1,500; 25-40) High. $16,000 Low.. 2,000	Come on Marines $6,000	Not Dressing $7,500 (8 days)	Witching Hour $4,000	Telling Me $5,000
DENVER (2,500; 25-35-50) High. $27,700 Low.. 3,000	Bottoms Up $6,500	Tarzan $7,000	Stand Up, Cheer $5,500	Villa $9,500
ORPHEUM (2,600; 25-35-55) High. $20,000 Low.. 3,750	Glamour $9,500 (Chic Sale on stage)	Man Is Mine $7,500	Honorable Guy $7,600 (Blossom Seeley)	Women Are Dangerous $9,500
PARA-MOUNT (2,000; 25-40) High. $22,000 Low.. 1,500	Looking for Trouble and Two Worlds $5,500 (Split)	Lazy River and Showoff $2,000	Laughing Boy and 3 on Honeymoon $2,000 (Split)	Journal of Crime Crosby Case and Love Birds $2,000 (Split)

CINCINNATI

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
ALBEE (3,300; 35-44) High. $33,500 Low.. 5,800	Not Dressing $14,500	Rothschild $13,500	Stand Up, Cheer $10,500	20th Century $7,000
PALACE (2,600; 35-44) High. $28,100 Low.. 4,500	Trumpet Blows $5,000 (6 days)	Villa $14,500 (8 days)	Manhattan Melodrama $9,000	Finishing School $7,000
LYRIC (1,394; 35-44) High. $23,900 Low.. 2,900	Tarzan $9,000	Tarzan $4,000 (2d week)	Villa $10,000 (Repeat)	Done Him Wrong and Witching Hour $3,000
KEITH'S (1,500; 30-40) High. $22,100 Low.. 3,200	Wonder Bar $4,400 (3d week)	Earth Turns $5,500	Modern Hero $2,000 (5 days)	Million Sweethearts $10,000 (10 days)

WASHINGTON

	May 3	May 10	May 17	May 24
EARLE (3,427; 25-35-40-65) High. $27,000 Low.. 6,000	Registered Nurse $15,000 (Vaude)	Million Sweethearts $21,000	Upper World $12,500	Melody in Spring $13,500
FOX (3,434; 25-35-60) High. $41,500 Low.. 11,000	Good Dame $23,000 (Vaude) (Spices of '34' on stage)	Bottoms Up $22,000	Telling Me $19,000	Trumpet Blows $20,000 (Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels on stage)
KEITH'S (1,830; 25-35-60) High. $21,000 Low.. 3,500	Spitfire $11,000	Man Is Mine $9,000	20th Century $9,500	Sisters Under Skin $3,500 (New Low)
PALACE (2,363; 25-35-60) High. $32,000 Low.. 6,000	Tarzan $20,000	Tarzan $9,500 (2d week)	Rothschild $25,000	Rothschild $14,000 (2d week)
COLUMBIA (1,238; 25-40) High. $19,000 Low.. 1,100	Riptide $5,000 (Repeat)	Men in White $6,000 (Repeat)	Coming Out Party $2,500	Tarzan $3,300 (Repeat)

WB Likely to Make Half Of Briefies in Burbank

Burbank, May 28.

Warners is returning to heavy production of shorts on the Coast and will likely make around half the filler program this year out here. With the exception of six Technicolor two-reelers produced every summer because of color equipment and experts available here, Warners have not made shorts here since the first days of sound.

Already set for Burbank studio filming are nine Technicolor films (three already made), six black-and-white two-reelers, and an indefinite number of one-reelers. Ralph Staub is in charge of production, and will also direct most of them.

First black-and-whiter, Sailor's Holiday,' starts today (Monday) with El Brendel. Brendel also does another one.

New York end will take care of 24 two-reel musical.

Lou Ostrow's First U

Hollywood, May 28.

'They Didn't Want Love,' an original by Adele Buffington, will be the first Lou Ostrow production at Universal.

Story deal set by Lewis J. Deuser. Author will also make the adaptation.

'Gang' Goes Tuney

Hollywood, May 28.

'Our Gang' comedies at Roach are going musical.

New one starting Thursday (31) will have some of the kids playing instruments and singing. If this one goes, future ones for a while will be given a musical tinge.

Shattuck on Own

Hollywood, May 28.

Ross Shattuck resigned from Metro's advertising department last week after three years when the studio asked him to give his full time to the job.

Shattuck is in New York tieing up national accounts and will go into the agency biz with his wife, Margaret Ettinger, when he returns.

PAR RESUMES WESTERNS

Hollywood, May 28.

At least three westerns will be produced by Paramount for release on the 1934-35 program, company resuming the outdoor dramas after a large number of theatres had requested that type of picture from Paramount.

First of the group will be 'Wagon Wheels,' which will star Randolph Scott. Jack Cunningham is writing the story and screen play, and Harold Hurley will likely produce the series.

Life of Pasteur

Hollywood, May 28.

'Man Against Death,' an original by Pierre Collings based on the life of Louis Pasteur, has been purchased by Warners.

Writer has been added to the Warner scenario staff to prepare the screen play.

POWERS' TRAVELOGS

Hollywood, May 28.

Series of Chinese travelogs will be released by Pat Powers in New York. Chester Bennett is in Hongkong filming them in Cinecolor.

Emil Offeman is in Hollywood representing Powers.

Trade Combines to End Preview Menace by Banning Ads on Coast

Los Angeles, May 24.

Plan has been worked out by producers, distribs and exhibs here that will, it is believed, put an end to the so-called preview menace by banning any and all forms of advertising in connection with these advance screen feature showings.

Plan would be put into effect if and when double feature bills are eliminated in the territory, and would prohibit the use of marquee display, searchlights or advance newspaper info, and would also bar enterprising house managers from notifying patrons by phone of such showings, under penalty of being denied future previews.

Gus Kahn, writing three songs for 'Caravan,' Fox. Werner Richard Heymann doing music.

Broadway's Most Talked of Dance Team

JANE MOORE AND BILLY REVEL

ENGAGED

April 30th to appear at The Hollywood Restaurant, New York, for two weeks. Immediately held over, and now in our 10th week

RE-ENGAGED

For the Summer Edition of The Hollywood Restaurant

RECENTLY CONCLUDED

TWO "SHOW STOPPING" WEEKS
PARAMOUNT, NEW YORK, WEEK MAY 11
RKO ALBEE, BROOKLYN, WEEK MAY 18

SEASON'S SENSATION IN FLORIDA AT THE HOLLYWOOD COUNTRY CLUB

WHAT THE FLORI CRITICS SAID

MIAMI DAILY NEWS, January 11, 1934

"....And oh yes, I must say a word about the dance team of Jane Moore and Billy Revel, who have a true sense of burlesque and put their act across in marvelous shape. Miss Moore's facial expressions are as unique as her expressive legs, which she twists and bends in ridiculously funny poses. I think the 'Follies' missed a good act there."

MIAMI TRIBUNE, February 9, 1934

"Heading the cast of players at the new Hollywood Country Club are Moore and Revel, 'Royal Jesters of the Dance,' whose comic caricatures of modern and fancy dances have lifted them to a unique position in the show world."

MIAMI DAILY NEWS, January 25, 1934

"....Moore and Revel, 'The Royal Jesters of the Dance,' whose terpsichorean comicalities keep the customers of the New Hollywood Country Club in almost as many stitches as Sophie Tucker."

WHAT THE NEW YORK CRITICS SAID

NEW YORK DAILY MIRROR, April 20, 1934
Walter Winchell on Broadway

MAN ABOUT TOWN—
"Orchids to Moore and Revel's immensely amusing 'smart' dancing, a long series of howls at the Hollywood...."

NEW YORK AMERICAN, LEO MARSH
"....Broadway has taken to Moore and Revel, the comedy act which Joe Moss brought up from Florida for his revue, 'Hollywood Revels of 1934' at the Hollywood Restaurant. While something of what the old time press agents would call a sensation down at the Hollywood Country Club at Miami, the team had yet to make its New York bow until Joe Moss came along and signed them."

NEW YORK EVENING JOURNAL, April 13, 1934
The Voice of Broadway by Louis Sobol

PRATTLE AND TATTLE—
"Clap Calloused Mitts for the hilarious dances of Moore and Revel at the Hollywood...."

VARIETY, May 15, 1934

MOORE AND REVEL
Comedy Dancers
Paramount, N. Y.
"....Jane Moore's exceedingly funny gondolas and the way she holds those dogs is something new. Moore and Revels own style, too, is impressive.... they're more than satisfactory as a night jaf act, ideal for big capacities." Abel.

Thanks to MR. JOE MOSS

Exclusive Management
WALTER BATCHELOR
234 West 44th Street, New York City

EVERY WOMAN WHO SEES IT WILL

BE A WALKING ADVERTISEMENT FOR

KAY FRANCIS

in

"DR. MONICA"

WARNER BROS. HAVE MADE IT THAT KIND OF SHOW

With Jean Muir, Warren William, Verree Teasdale. Directed by William Keighley. Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors.

CALENDAR OF CURRENT RELEASES

Harold Auten

Office: 1540 B'way, N. Y. C.

End of the World ('Fin du Monde' (Fr). Scientific dream based on Flammarion novel. Dir. Abel Gance. 65 mins. Rel. April 15.

elo (German). Sensitive study of psychological difficulties. Elisabeth Bergner. Dir. Paul Czinner. 93 mins. Rel. Feb. 1. Rev. Feb. 6.

irages de Paris (French). Adventures of a girl who wants to be a star in Paris. Jacquelin Francell, Roger Theville. Dir. Fedor Ozep. 82 mins. Rel. Dec. 23. Rev. Jan. 9.

Poil de Carotte (Red Head) (French). A story of adolescence. Robert Lynen. Dir. Julien Duvivier. 96 mins. Rel. Sept. 1 Rev. Dec. 20.

Savage Gold. Commander Dyott's thrilling adventures with savage hunters. Comm. Dyott. Dir. Commander George Dyott. 67 mins. Rev. Aug. 8.

Chesterfield

Offices: 1540 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

City Park—3 Men and a Girl. Sally Blane, Henry B. Walthall. Dir. Richard Thorpe. Rel. May 1.

In Love with Life. Lila Lee, Onslow Stevens, Dickie Moore. Dir. Frank Strayer. 68 mins. Rel. April 18.

Fifteen Wives. Conway Tearle, Noel Francis, Natalie Moorhead, Raymond Hatton. Dir. Frank Strayer. Rel. May 15.

Notorious But Nice. Marian Marsh has a hectic love adventure. Betty Compson, Marian Marsh. Dir. Rich. Thorpe. 71 mins. Rev. March 6.

Murder on the Campus. Mystery with a college background. Shirley Grey, Charles Starrett and J. Farrel McDonald. Rel. Dec. 27. Rev. March 13.

Quitter, The. Newspaper business in a small town. Chas. Grapewin, Emma Dunn. Dir. Rich. Thorpe. 67 mins. Rel. Feb. 5. Rev. March 20.

Rainbow Over Broadway. Musical romance. Grace Hayes, Joan Marsh, Lucien Littlefield. Dir. Richard Thorpe. 72 mins. Rel. Dec. 23. Rev. Dec. 27.

Stolen Sweets. Dramatic romance. Sally Blane, Charles Starrett. Dir. Richard Thorpe. 79 mins. Rel. March 16.

Columbia

Studio: Gower at Sunset, Hollywood, Cal. Offices, 729 Seventh Ave., New York, N.Y.

Crime of Helen Santley, The. Murder mystery in a picture studio. Ralph Bellamy, Shirley Gray, Gail Patrick. Dir. D. Ross Lederman. 58 mins. Rel. April 20.

ighting Code, The. Typical horse opera with mystery angle. Buck Jones. Dir. Lambert Hillyer. 64 mins. Rel. Dec. 30. Rev. Jan. 16.

ighting Ranger, The. Round-up of killers by a temporary furloughed ranger out for vengeance for killing his brother. Buck Jones, Dorothy Revier. Dir. George B. Seitz. 60 mins. Rel. March 17. Rev. April 17.

Hell Bent for Love. Young state policeman defeats his gang rival. Tim McCoy. Dir. D. Ross Lederman. Rel. May 19.

It Happened One Night. Girl marries without father's approval and on leaving his yacht meets boy on bus heading for home, developing comedy-romance. Clark Gable, Claudette Colbert. Dir. Frank Capra. 105 mins. Rel. Feb. 23. Rev. Feb. 27.

ing of Wild Horses. Home life of wild horses on the range. Little romance and less comedy. Rex, William Janney and Dorothy Appleby. 61 mins. Rel. Nov. 10. Rev. March 27.

Let's Fall in Love. Musical with usual backstage romance with a different twist. Edmund Lowe, Ann Sothern, Miriam Jordan, Gregory Ratoff. Dir. David Burton. 67 mins. Rel. Dec. 26. Rev. Jan. 23.

ost Previous Thing in Life. Abandoned mother relives her own romance through her son. Jean Arthur, Donald Cook, Richard Cromwell. Dir. Lambert Hilyer. Rel. May 19.

inth Guest, The. Eight people mysteriously invited to dinner after arriving told Death is ninth guest and all will die. Six perish. Donald Cook, Genevieve Tobin. Dir. Roy William Neill. 69 mins. Rel. Jan. 31. Rev. March 6.

No Greater Glory. Ferenc Molnar's 'Paul Street Boys' with a mostly juvenile cast. Geo. Breakston, Jimmy Butler, Ralph Morgan, Lois Wilson. Dir. Frank Borzage. 78 mins. Rel. April 20. Rev. May 8.

One Is Guilty. Well-planned murder mystery. Ralph Bellamy, Shirley Grey. Dir. Lambert Hillyer. 64 mins. Rel. March 31.

Once to Every Woman. Heavy drama of hospital life centering around big operation. Ralph Bellamy and Fay Wray. Dir. Lambert Hillyer. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. March 13.

Party's Over, The. Bruce Blakely ends the party when he realizes his efforts to support his parents and brothers and sisters is robbing him of his own happiness. Stuart Erwin, Ann Sothern, Arline Dodge. Dir. Walter Lang. Rel. May 16.

Shadows of Sing Sing. Racketeer's sister in love with detective's son. Both sides obtaining fix romance. Boy framed by redhots and saved by father. Mary Brian, Bruce Cabot. Dir. Phil Rosen. 63 mins. Rel. Dec. 3. Rev. Feb. 27.

isters Under the Skin. Tired business man takes a matrimonial vacation and gets it out of his system. Elissa Landi, Frank Morgan, Jos. Schildkraut. Dir. David Burton. 70 mins. Rel. April 15.

Social Register. A chorus girl's adventures in high society. Colleen Moore, Chas. Winninger, Paulina Frederick, Alex. Kirkland. Dir. Marshall Nielan. 74 mins. Rel. March 10.

Speed Wings. Western with airplanes to break monotony of sagebrush. Tim McCoy, Evalyn Knapp. Dir. Otto Brower. 61 mins. Rel. Feb. 5. Rev. April 3.

Straightaway. Tim McCoy discards the chaps and sombrero for the speedway. Tim McCoy. Dir. Rel. Otto Brower. 58 mins. Rel. Dec. 22. Rev. Jan. 23.

Twentieth Century. From the stage hit. Temperamental theatrical manager and temperamental star on same train. John Barrymore, Carole Lombard. Dir. Howard Hawks. 91 mins. Rel. May 11. Rev. May 8.

Voice in the Night. Complications in the telephone business. Tim McCoy. Dir. Chas. C. Coleman. 59 mins. Rel. April 6.

Whirlpool. A self-sacrificing husband meets death to shield his wife. Jack Holt, Jean Arthur. Dir. R. eW. Neill. 74 mins. Rel. April 10. Rev. May 8.

DuWorld

Office: 729 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y.

Beast of Borneo. Melodrama and animals. John Preston, Mary Stuart. 70 mins. Rel. April 15.

Dawn to Dawn. Artistic rural story. Julie Hayden. Dir. Cameron McPherson. 35 mins. Rel. Jan. 1. Rev. Jan. 9.

Fantomas (Fr) (dubbed English). Murder mystery. Dir. Paul Fejos. 60 mins. Rel. March 1. Rev. March 20.

irl in the Case. Comedy in the Continental manner. Jimmy Savo, Eddie Lambert, Dorothy Darling. Dir. Eugene Frenke. 60 mins. Rel. June 15.

Hollywood, City of Dreams (Sp). Jose Bohr. Spanlard's impression of cinematown. 68 mins. Rel. March 30.

Romance in Budapest (Hung). Franciska Gaal. Musical. 70 mins. Rel. April 15. Rev. May 15.

Tod Uber Shanghai (Ger). Mystery of Americans in Japan. Dir. Rolff Randolf. 75 mins. Rel. Dec. 15.

First Division

Offices: R.K.O. Bldg., New York, N. Y.

Releases Also Allied, Chesterfield and Monogram

Beggars in Ermine. Lionel Atwill, Betty Furness. Dir. Phil Rosen. 70 mins. Rel. May 1.

Broken Dreams. A father's devotion to his young son. Randolph Scott, Martha Sleeper, Beryl Mercer, Buster Phelps. Dir. Robert Vignola. 68 mins. Rel. Dec. 1.

ity Limits. A millionaire, ailing and tiring of wealth, fails in with two hoboes and enjoys life for a time. Frank Craven, Sally Blane, Ray Walker. Dir. Wm. Nigh. 70 mins. Rel. May 1.

City Park. Three men voluntarily become the guardians of a destitute young girl. Sally Blane, Henry B. Walthall, Matty Kemp, Johnny Herron. Dir. Richard Thorpe. Rel. May 15.

Cross Streets. Young doctor, jilted by the woman he loves, ruins his career, until daughter of same woman falls in love with him, years later. Rel. Jan. 22. Dir. Frank Strayer.

Eat 'Em Alive. Jungle super thriller. 56 mins. Rel. Feb. 1.

Forgotten Men. Collection of uncensored war film, taken from government archives of 14 warring nations. Rel. April 1.

He. French production of a de Maupassant story. Dubbed in English. A village paragon who lost his virtue. 55 mins. Rel. Dec. 26. Rev. Jan. 9.

He Couldn't Take It. Inside story of a process server who makes good with his summonses and gets his man. Ray Walker, Virginia Cherrill, George E. Stone. Dir. Wm. Nigh. 64 mins. Rel. Jan. 1.

House of Mystery. An archeologist returns to America from the Far East, with a curse on his head for his stolen wealth. Verna Hille, Ed Lowry. Dir. Wm. Nigh. 61 mins. Rel. May 30.

In Love with Life. A hard-hearted millionaire, refusing aid to his starving daughter, takes her young son from her. Lila Lee, Claude Gillingwater, Dickie Moore. Dir. Frank Strayer. 68 mins. Rel. May 1.

These tabulations are compiled from information supplied by the various production companies and checked up as soon as possible after release. Listing is given when release dates are definitely set. Titles are retained for six months. Managers who receive service subsequent to that period should preserve a copy of the calendar for reference.

The running time as given here is presumably that of the projection room showings and can only approximate the actual release length in those states or communities where local or state censorship may result in deletions. Running time in the reviews as given in 'Variety' carry the actual time clocked in the theatre after passage by the New York state censorship, since pictures are reviewed only in actual theatre showings.

While every effort is made to hold this list accurate, the information supplied may not always be correct, even though official. To obtain the fullest degree of accuracy, 'Variety' will appreciate the co-operation of all managers who may note discrepancies.

Gov't to Rescue

(Continued from page 15)

encouraging development of their own national industries.

Paris Embassy's Interest

Hays office here was informed Friday (25) that strong representations had been made in Paris by the American Embassy. Ambassador Straus reported that his staff is keeping watch on situation and will do all possible to help American producers.

Commercial attache took up subject with French Commercial Accords chief several days ago, State Department said, and was given pledge that before any tightening up occurs American representatives will have a chance to present their views at hearings. Proposal of Chambre Syndicale for restrictions so drastic they would amount to an embargo has not been formally submitted to government officials, Straus reported.

Pointing out that American tariff duties are lower than any other nation's and American market is wide open to foreign producers whose films are being used in growing volume, Hays organization blamed the suggested French barrier on 'an influential French political body' which is pressing the government 'to take an unfriendly step against an important American industry.'

American producers stand to gain everything and lose little under new Roosevelt tariff program. Since the underlying theory is to trade with foreign countries for mutual concessions involving articles of distinctive character, highest quality, and produced cheapest and with greatest efficiency, it is generally believed that films will be one of the commodities this country will make great efforts to sell abroad.

Wallace's Theory

Indicating the theory behind the program, Secretary Wallace has said that American hothouse industries which cannot produce as efficiently and cheaply as foreign competitors must expect to be sacrificed on behalf of those domestic enterprises which have a marked advantage over alien rivals. For example, this country can try to get a concession from France in favor of U.S. films in return for preferential tariff treatment for French perfumes, gloves, laces and liquors. Same tactics could be used in dealings with Germany and Italy which have placed progressively higher barriers in the way of American film exportation.

French scheme is regarded as most serious blow struck yet at U.S. picture industry, embodying as it does the idea of a subsidy to French exhibitors who use more than their quota of pictures turned out in that country. Suggestion that valuations on U. S. films be boosted is another serious threat, since French government could continue to cite unchanged rate figures to disguise the attempted embargo, a detail at which that nation has proved extremely able.

Manner in which tariff negotiations will be conducted remains uncertain because Congressional bickering over the scheme has confused the nature of the final bill.

In the Money. A goofy family, suddenly broke, pin their hopes on a Shakespearean-minded prize fighting champ. Skeets Gallagher, Lois Wilson, Warren Hymer, Sally Starr. Dir. Frank Strayer. 67 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Lawless Valley. Western horse opera. Lane Chandler. Rel. May 1.

Loud Speaker. Comedy-drama of a radio star. Ray Walker, Jacqueline Wells. Dir. Joseph Santley. Rel. May 21.

Manhattan Love Song. Two orphaned Park Avenue society deb sisters, forced to go to work, change places with their servants who go 'society.' Dixie Lee, Robert Armstrong. Dir. Leonard Fields. Rel. May 30.

Money Means Nothing. Efforts of a poor clerk to make a go of marriage with an heiress wife. Wallace Ford, Gloria Shea. Dir. Christy Cabanne. Rel. May 31.

Murder on the Campus. Mystery with college background. Shirley Grey, Charles Starrett, J. Farrel McDonald. 69 mins. Rel. Feb. 6. Dir. Richard Thorpe.

Mystery Liner. Noah Beery, Astrid Allwyn, Dir. Wm. Nigh. Rel. Dec. 19.

Quitter, The. A father with the wanderlust returns home long enough to straighten out the affairs of his now grown-up sons. Barbara Weeks, Billy Bakewell, Charles Grapewin, Emma Dunn, Glen Boles. Dir. Richard Thorpe. Rel. March 12.

Rainbow Over Broadway. Musical romance of an ex-musical comedy star of twenty years before who makes a sensational, overnight comeback in a Broadway night club. Joan Marsh, Grace Hayes, Frank Albertson, Lucien Littlefield. Dir. Richard Thorpe. 72 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Road to Ruin. Innocent girl finds shame through ignorance and neglect of modern parents. Film on modern youth. Helen Foster, Paul Page, Nell O'Day, Glen Boles. Dir. Mrs. Wallace Reid and Melville Shyer. 58 mins. Rel. Feb. 17. Rev. Feb. 20.

Stolen Sweets. High pressure insurance salesman falls for heiress and wins her via determined, rapid line of chatter route. Charles Starrett, Sally Blane, Johnny Harron, Jameson Thomas. Dir. Richard Thorpe. 73 mins. Rel. May 1.

Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. College musical comedy romance. Based on the famous campus fraternity song. Buster Crabbe, Mary Carlisle, Sally Starr, Florence Lake, Ted Flo Rito and band. Dir. Edwin L. Marin. 73 mins. Rel. Dec. 15.

Texas Tornado. (Kent.) Texas Ranger cleans up the rustlers. Lane Chandler. Dir. Oliver Drake. Rev. March 6.

Throne of the Gods. Travel in the Himalayas. 55 mins. Rev. Dec. 27.

Twin Husbands. Crook comedy drama. John Miljan, Shirley Grey, Monroe Owsley. Dir. Frank Strayer. 69 mins. Rel. May 15.

Woman's Man. Hollywood inside story. John Halliday, Marguerite de la Motte, Wallace Ford. Dir. Edward Luddy. 68 mins.

Young Eagles. Boy Scout adventures in wilds of Central America. Twelve episode serial. Dir. Harry Hoyt. Rel. May 15.

First National

Studios: Burbank, Calif. Offices: 321 W. 44th St., New York, N. Y.

Bedside. Comedy-drama of a women's doctor. Warren William, Jean Muir, Allen Jenkins. Dir. Robert Florey. 65 mins. Rel. Jan. 27. Rev. Mar. 13.

Big Shakedown, The. Dramatic expose of the cut-rate drug racket. Bette Davis, Charles Farrell, Ricardo Cortez. Dir. John Francis Dillon. 64 mins. Rel. Jan. 6. Rev. Feb. 3.

Circus Clown, The. Roaring comedy under the big tent with a winsome romance wound into hilarious situations. Joe E. Brown, Patricia Ellis, Gordon Westcott, Tom Dugan. Dir. Ray Enright. Rel. June 30.

Convention City. The hilarious lowdown on big business conventions. Adolphe Menjou, Dick Powell, Mary Astor, Guy Kibbee. Dir. Archie Mayo. 69 mins. Rel. Dec. 30. Rev. Dec. 27,

Dark Hazard. Edward G. Robinson as a whippet racer. Genevieve Tobin, Glenda Farrell. Dir. Al Green. 60 mins. Rel. Feb. 3. Rev. Feb. 27.

Fashions of 1934. Story of a style stealer set against a lavish background. Wm. Powell, Bette Davis, Verree Teasdale. Dir. Wm. Dieterle. 80 mins. Rel. Feb. 17. Rev. Jan. 23.

Fog Over Frisco. Mystery melodrama set in San Francisco. Donald Woods, Bette Davis, Lyle Talbot, Margaret Lindsay. Dir. William Dieterle. Rel. June 2.

Journal of a Crime. Drama by the French playwright Jacques Deval, and depicts the effect of a murder on a woman of fine instincts and delicate sensibilities who kills an unscrupulous rival. Ruth Chatterton, Adolphe Menjou, Claire Dodd, Dir. William Keighley. 65 mins. Rel. March 10. Rev. May 1.

Mandalay. Adventure in the Indies. Kay Francis, Lyle Talbot, Ricardo Cortez. Dir. Michael Curtiz. 65 mins. Rel. Feb. 10. Rev. Feb. 20.

Massacre. Drama of the modern Indian and his conflicts with the white men Richard Barthelmess, Ann Dvorak. Dir. Allen Crosland. 70 mins. Rel Jan. 13. Rev. Jan. 23.

Merry Frinks, The. Comedy-drama of the typical family stepping all over Ma until she turns and leaves them on their own. Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee, Allen Jenkins, Hugh Herbert. Dir. Al Green. Rel. May 26.

Registered Nurse. Drama of the romantic side of a nurse's life in a metropolitan hospital. Bebe Daniels, Lyle Talbot, John Halliday. Dir. Robert Florey. 73 mins. Rel. April 7.

Return of the Terror, The. Mystery drama with plenty of heart interest. Mary Astor, Lyle Talbot, John Halliday, Frank McHugh. Dir. Howard Bretherton. Rel. July 7.

Side Streets. Love drama based on an original story by Ann Garrick and Ethel Hill. Aline MacMahon, Paul Kelly, Ann Dvorak, Patricia Ellis. Dir. Alfred E. Green. Rel. June 30.

Son of a Sailor. Comedy of a sailor who gets into a funny situation because of his habit of telling romantic stories about himself. Joe E. Brown, Jean Muir, Frank McHugh, Johnny Mack Brown and Thelma Todd Dir. Lloyd Bacon. 70 mins. Rel. Dec. 23. Rev. Dec. 5.

Twenty Million Sweethearts. Musical romance taking place behind scenes of a broadcasting studio. Dick Powell, Pat O'Brien, Ginger Rogers, Allen Jenkins, the Dear Sisters, Ted Fio Rito and Band. Dir. Ray Enright. 90 mins. Rel. May 26. Rev. May 1.

Very Honorable Guy, A. Comedy from the story by Damon Runyon about a guy who always kept his promises. Joe E. Brown, Alice White, Robert Barrat, Alan Dinehart, Irene Franklin. Dir. Lloyd Bacon. 62 mins. Rel. May 26. Rev. May 22.

Wonder Bar. Dramatic musical spectacle laid amid the gay revelries of a fashionable Parisian night club. Kay Francis, Dick Powell, Dolores Del Rio, Al Jolson, Ricardo Cortez, Hal LeRoy, Guy Kibbee, Hugh Herbert, Ruth Donnelly, Fifi D'Orsay. Dir. Lloyd Bacon. 84 mins. Rev. March 6.

World Changes, The. An epic drama of a family through four generations Paul Muni, Aline MacMahon, Mary Astor, Donald Cook, Margaret Lindsay, Jean Muir, Patricia Ellis. Dir. Mervyn LeRoy. 95 mins. Rel Nov. 25. Rev. Oct. 31.

Fox

Studio: Fox Hills, Hollywood, Cal. Offices: 444 West 56th St. New York, N. Y.

All Men Are Enemies. Hugh Williams, Helen Twelvetrees. Dir. Geo. Fitzmaurice. 79 mins. Rel. April 20.

As Husbands Go. 'When Ladies Meet' with the sexes reversed. Warner Baxter, Helen Vinson, Warner Oland. Dir. Hamilton McFadden. 65 mins. Rel. Dec. 29. Rev. Jan. 30.

Baby Take a Bow. The Fox child star comes through again. Shirley Temple, Claire Trevor, James Dunn. Dir. Harry Lachman. Rel. June 22.

Bottoms Up. Breaking into Hollywood with a fictitious pedigree. Spencer Tracy, (Miss) Pat Paterson, John Boles. Dir. David Butler. 85 mins. Rel. March 30. Rev. March 27.

Call It Luck. Pat Paterson, Herbert Mundin. Dir. Jas. Tinlin. Rel. June 1.

Carolina. From Paul Green's stage play of last season. Janet Gaynor, Lionel Barrymore, Robert Young, Henrietta Crosman. Dir. Henry King. 82 mins. Rel. Feb. 2. Rev. Feb. 20.

Change of Heart. From the story, Manhattan Love Song. Janet Gaynor, Chas. Farrell, James Dunn, Ginger Rogers. Dir. John G. Blystone. Rel. May 18.

Charlie Chan's Courage. Another episode in the life of the Chinese sleuth. Warner Oland, Drue Leyton. Dir. Geo. Hadden. Rel. July 29.

Coming Out Party. Original done by the Lasky unit. Frances Dee, Genc Raymond, Alison Skipworth. Dir. John Blystone. Rel. March 9. Rev. March 20.

Constant Nymph (British Gaumont. British-made version of a frustrated love. British cast. 85 mins. Rel. March 23. Rev. April 10.

David Harum. The old York State Hoss' trader. Will Rogers, Louise Dresser, Evelyn Venable. Dir. Jas. Cruze. Rel. March 2. Rev. March 6.

Devil Tiger. Wild animal yarn made in Asia. Marion Burns, Kane Richmond, Harry Woods and natives. Dir. Clyde E. Elliott. 60 mins. Rel. Feb. 16. Rev. Feb. 13.

Ever Since Eve. Country boy licks New York. Geor Marshall. 75 mins. Rel. Feb. 9. Rev. April 3.

Frontier Marshal, The. Familiar theme of the unknown cleaner-up. O'Brien. Dir. Lew Seiler. 66 mins. Rel. Jan. 19. Rev. Feb. 6.

(Continued on page 28)

Studio Placements

Hollywood, May 28.

G. W. Pabst, directs, Liam O'Flaherty scripts, 'S.O.S.,' O'Flaherty's orig, Schulberg-Par.

Lucian Prival, 'Merry Widow,' MG.

Margaret Seddon, 'Shock,' Mono.

William Berres, 'Jane Eyre,' Mono.

Doris Lloyd, Ralph Morgan, 'She Was a Lady,' Fox.

Russ Powell, Lionel Belmore, 'Count of Monte Cristo,' Small-Reliance.

Desmond Roberts, Dick Quine, 'Jane Eyre,' Mono.

Bertha Singerman, Spanish films, Fox.

Dudley Nichols, Lamar Trotti, scripting untitled yarn for Claire Trevor, Fox.

Mary Astor, 'Your Leave,' RKO.

Willard Mack, Edward Paulton, scripting Kate Rockwell Matson yarn for Marjorie Rambeau, Harry Weber indie.

Houston Branch, scripting 'Gally I Sin,' Darmour.

Mike Simmons, 'Young and Beautiful,' Mascot.

William Cagney, 'Red Head,' Mono.

Leslie Fenton, 'House of Strangers,' Invincible.

Donn Hayes, 'Peck's Bad Boy,' Principal.

Karl Brown, adapting '20,000 Leagues Under the Sea,' Goldstone.

Edward Arnold, 'Million Dollar Ransom,' Schulberg-Par.

Frank R. Adams, collabing with Harry Ruskin, David Boehm, 'Big Broadcast of 1934,' Par.

Ethel Hill collabing with Harvey Gates, 'I'll Fix It,' Col.

Fred Niblo, Jr., Herbert Asbury collabing with George Waggner, 'Among the Missing,' Col.

Harold Shumate, screen play, 'Produce the Body,' Col.

Rosita Moreno, 'Ladies Should Listen,' Par.

Gilbert Emery, Henry Kolker, Harry Stubbs, 'Now and Forever,' Par.

Joe Morrison, Lyda Roberti, 'College Rhythm,' Par.

Arthur Pierson, '652 Weeks for Fleurette,' Par.

Charles E. Ernst, Rafael Corio, 'Ladies Should Listen,' Par.

Charles Sellon, Helena Phillips, 'Ladies First,' Par.

Florinne McKinney, tudent Tour,' MG.

Frances Fuller, 'Ladies First,' Par.

Neil Hamilton, 'Blind Date,' Col.

Alfred J. Cohen, Robert T. Shannon, collabing on script of their orig, 'King of the Ritz,' WB.

Jim Keefe, hunting story material for William Anthony McGuire, U.

Phil Regan, 'Student Tour,' MG.

C. Aubrey Smith, 'One More River,' U.

Larry Ceballos, dance sequences, 'Transatlantic Showboat,' Reliance.

Edward Segwick, directs 'King of the Diamond,' MG.

Joe May, directs 'Music in the Air,' Fox.

Caryl Lincoln, Eric Mayne, 'Merry Widow,' MG.

Dorothy Short, 'Student Tour,' MG.

Barbara Leonard, 'Servants Entrance,' Fox.

Mae Busch, Walter Long, Harry Dunkinson, Laurel and Hardy short, Roach.

Ralph Morgan, Paul Harvey, Barbara Weeks, Ann Howard, 'She Was a Lady,' Fox.

El Brendel, Technicolor short, Fox.

Glenn Lambert, scripting untitled film, Roach.

George Stevens, treating 'Blondes and Redheads,' Radio.

Ann Ronnell, writing songs 'Big Broadcast of 1934,' Par.

Eddie Baker, Duke York, 'Ladies First,' Par.

Francis Faragoh, revamping 'A Hat, a Coat, a Glove,' Radio.

Glen Boles, 'Flirtation Walk,' WB.

El Brendel, 'Sailor's Holiday,' WB.

Warren William, 'The Case of the Howling Dog,' and 'Case of the Curious Bride,' WB.

Ricardo Cortez, 'A Lot Lady,' WB.

Leopold Atlas, adapting 'Mystery of Edwin Drood,' Col.

Lowell Sherman, directs 'Night Life of the Gods,' U.

John K. Butler, scripting ' linger of Naples,' WB-Spanish.

Roy Chansior, scripting untitled yarn, WB.

Lane Chandler, Willis Kent.

Cora Sue Scarlet Letter,' Maj.

Hiram Hoover, 'Happy Landings,' Mono.

Lindsay Parsons, scripting western, Mono.

Otto Kruger, Stuart Erwin, 'Sacred and Profane Love,' MG.

Elsa Lancaster (Mrs. Charles Laughton), 'Marie Antoinette,' MG.

Henry Armetta, Gino Corrado, Stanhope Wheatcraft, George Nardelli, Eric Mayne,' Merry Widow,' MG.

Ralph Forbes, 'Barretts of Wimpole Street,' MG.

Max Barwyn, 'Merry Widow,' MG.

Pauline Garon, French version 'Merry Widow,' MG.

Egon Brecher, 'Now and Forever,' Par.

Tristram Tupper, screen play 'Outrage,' Par.

Michael Visaroff, Mischa Auer, William von Brincken, Hank Mann, Harry Hohiman, 'House of Strangers,' Invinc.

Monte Blue, John Hale, tudent Tour,' MG.

CALENDAR OF CURRENT RELEASES

(Continued from page 27)

Grand Canary. Warner Baxter, Madge Evans, Ir. Irving Cummings. Rel. July 13.

Handy Andy. Will Rogers, Peggy Wood. . David Butler. 81 mins. Rel. July 27.

Heart Song. British made with Lillian Harvey and Mady Christians in the cast Erich Pommer production. Dir. Frederich Hollaender. Rel. April 27.

Hold That Girl. Original story. James Dunn, Claire Trevor. Hamilton MacFadden. 65 mins. Rel. Feb. 16. Rev. March 27.

I Am Suzanne. Novelty story with puppet sequences. Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond, Piccoli Marionettes, Yale Puppeteers. Dir. R. V. Lee. 99 mins. Rel. Dec. 22. Rev. Jan. 23.

I Believed in You. Original story. Rosemary Ames, Victor Jory, John Boles. Dir. Irving Cummings. 69 mins. Rel. Feb. 23. Rev. April 11.

I Was a Spy. (British) Based on the story by Marthe MacKenna. Herbert Marshall, Madaleine Carroll, Conrad Veidt. Dir. Victor Saville. 83 mins Rel. Dec. 15. Rev. Jan. 16.

Jimmy and Sally. James Dunn. Claire Trevor. Dir. Jas. Tinling. Rel. Nov. 24. Rev. Dec. 19.

Mr. Skitch. From the story 'Green Dice.' Will Rogers, Zasu Pitts, Rochelle Hudson, Harry Green. Eugene Pallette. Dir. Jas. Cruze. Rel. Dec. 29 Rev. Dec. 27

Murder in Trinidad. Mystery story from Vandercook's novel. Niegel Bruce. Heather Angel. Dir. Bol Wurtzel. 74 mins. Rel. April 6.

Now I'll Tell. Mrs. Arnold Rothstein's story based on her husband's life. Spencer Tracy, Helen Twlevetrees. Dir. Edwin Burke. 87 mins. Rel. May 11.

Orient Express. Mystery on a railroad train. Heather Angel, Norman Foster. Dir. Paul Martin. Rel. Jan. 12. Rev. March 6.

Scandals. Staged by George White on the lines of his revue. Rudy Vallee, Alice Fay, Jimmy Durante. Dir. Geo. White, Harry Lachman, 80 mins. Rel. March 22. Rev. March 20.

She Learned About Sailors. Alice Faye, Lew Ayres, Mitchell and Durant. Dir. Geo. Marshall. Rel. July 6

She Was a Lady. Helen Twelvetrees, Robert Young. lystone. Rel. July 20.

Sleepers East. From the novel by Fredk. Nebel. Wynne Gibson. Preston Foster. Dir. Kenneth MacKenna. 69 mins. Rel. Jan. 26.

Smoky. From the novel by Will James. Victor Jory, Irene Bentley, Francis Ford. Dir. Eugene Forde. 66 mins. Rel. Dec. 8. Rev. Jan. 9.

Springtime for Henry. From Benn Levy's stage play. Otto Kruger, Nancy Carroll, Nigel Bruce, Heather Angel. Dir. Frank Tuttle. (Lasky produced). Rel. May 25.

Stand Up and Cheer. Musical. Warner Baxter, Madge Evans, Sylvia Froos Dir. Hamilton MacFadden. Rel. May 4. Rev. April 24.

Such Women Are Dangerous. From the story, 'Odd Thursday.' Warner Baxter, Rosemary Ames, Rochelle Hudson. Dir. Jas. Flood. 79 mins. Rel. May 4.

Three on a Honeymoon. Love affairs on an ocean liner. Sally Eilers, John Mack Brown. Dir. Jas. Tinling. 70 mins. Rel. March 23. Rev. May 8.

Wild Gold. John Boles, Claire Trevor, Harry Green. Dir. Geo. Marshall. Rel. May 11.

Freuler Associates

Office: R.K.O. Bldg., New York N. Y

Kiss of Araby. Original. Saraha story of British army and Riff, with love interest. Maria Alba, Walter Byron, Claire Windsor. Dir. Phil Rosen Rel. April 21

Love Past Thirty. A woman's struggle against the lure of youth for the man she loved! Aileen Pringle, Theodor von Eltz, Gertrude Messinger, Phyllis Barry. Dir. Vin Moore. 73 mins. Rel. Jan. 27.

War of the Range. Tom Tyler western. Dir. J. P. McGowan. ins. Rel Sept. 22. Rev. Dec. 12.

When a Man Rides Alone. (Monarch.) Tom Tyler does a modern Robin Hood with a gold mine. Dir. J. P. McGowan. 55 mins. Rev. Dec. 27.

Gaumont-British

Office: 226 West 42nd St., New York

Channel Crossing. Drama. Matheson Lang, Constance Cummings. Dir. ton Rossmer. 63 mins. Rev. Oct. 31.

Falling for You. Comedy drama. Jack Hulbert, Cicely Courtneidge. Dir. Jack Hulbert. 71 mins. Rev. Aug. 4.

Friday the 13th. Bus crash and what led up to it. Jessie Matthews, Frank Lawton, Sonnie Hale. Dir. Victor Saville. 70 mins. Rel. May 15. Rev. May 22.

Ghoul, The. Thriller. Boris Karloff. Dir. T. H. Hunter. 73 mins. Rel Jan. 1. Rev. Jan. 30.

Leave it to Smith. Mystery comedy by Lonsdale. Tom Walls, star and director. 70 mins. Rel. April 13. Rev. April 24.

Orders is Orders. Comedy of American making film in British army. James Gleason, Charlotte Greenwood. Dir. Walter Forde. 70 mins. Rel. May 1. Rev. May 8.

Prince of Wales. Newsreel compilation of ins. Rel. April 15. Rev. April 24.

Majestic

Offices: RKO Bldg., Radio City New York City

Charming Deceiver, The. (British made.) Romantic drama of Cinderella type Constance Cummings and Frank Lawton. Dir. Monty Banks. Rel Dec. 8.

Morning After, The. A merry mix-up of international spy systems. Ben Lyon and Sally Eilers. Dir. Allan Dwan. Rel. Jan. 1.

Sin of Nora Moran, The. Woman is framed to shield the higher-ups. Zita Johann Alan Dinehart, Paul Cavanagh, John Miljan. Dir. Phil Goldstone. Rel. Dec. 12. Rev. Dec. 19.

Unknown Blonde. From the novel "Collusion." The divorce racket. Edward Arnold, Helen Jerome Eddy Dir. Hobart Henley. 61 mins. Rel. March. Rev. May 15.

Metro

Studios: Culver City, Calif. : 1540 Broadway, New York, N. Y

Cat and the Fiddle, The. From the successful musical play by Jerome Kern and Otto Harbach. Ramon Novarro, Jeanette MacDonald, Frank Morgan, Charles Butterworth, Jean Hersholt, Vivienne Segal. Dir. William K. Howard. Rel. Feb. 16. Rev. Feb. 20.

Eskimo. Love and hate in the Icelands. Native cast. Dir. W. S. Van Dyke. Roadshow length, 120 mins. Rel. Jan. 13. Rev. Nov. 21.

Fugitive Lovers. Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans as the lovers in a story, most of whose action takes place on a transcontinental bus. Nat Pendleton. C. Henry Gordon, Ruth Selwyn. Dir. R. Boleslavsky. 84 mins. Rel. Jan. 5 Rev. Jan. 16.

Going Hollywood. Marion Davies chases a radio crooner to the studio. Marion Davies, Bing Crosby. Dir. Raoul Walsh. 75 mins. Rel. Dec. 22. Rev. Dec. 26.

Hollywood Party. All star musical film. Rel. April 13.

Laughing Boy. Ramon Novarro in the title role. Based on the Pulitzer Prize winning novel by Oliver La Farge. Lupe Velez. Dir. W. S. Van Dyke 75 mins. Rel. May 20. Rev. May 15.

Lazy River. Story of the shrimp fisheries among the Cajuns in the Louisiana bayou country. Jean Parker, Robert Young, C. Henry Gordon. Dir. George Seitz. 77 mins. Rel. March 16. Rev. April 10.

Manhattan Melodrama. Story of old and new New York. Clark Gable, Wm. Powell, Myrna Loy. Dir. W. S. Van Dyke. 93 mins. Rel. May 4. Rev. May 8

Men in White. Picturization of the successful Broadway stage play of hospital life. Clark Gable. Myrna Loy, Jean Hersholt. Dir. R. Boleslavsky. 72 mins. Rel. April 6. Rev. May 1.

Mystery of Mr. X. Based on the Crime Club novel by Philip MacDonald. Robert Montgomery, Elizabeth Allan, Lewis Stone. Dir. Edgar Selwyn. Rel. Feb. 23. Rev. Feb. 27.

Old Hannibal. May Robson as a Wall Street manipulator. Lewis Stone. Jean Parker. Dir. C. Riesner. Rel. Jan. 26.

Operator 13. Based on the last novel of the late Robert W. Chambers. Marion Davies, Gary Cooper. Dir. Richard Boleslavsky. No release set.

Queen Christina. Greta Garbo as the seventeenth century queen who was brought up as a boy. Lewis Stone, Ian Keith, Elizabeth Young. Dir Rouben Mamoulian. 90 mins. Rel. Feb. 9. Rev. Jan. 2.

Rip Tide (Opposing Forces Within Woman). An American girl marries into English nobility and suffers disappointment and disillusionment. Norma Shearer, Robert Montgomery, Herbert Marshall, Mrs. Pat Campbell. Dir. Edmund Goulding. Rel. March 23. Rev. April 3.

Sadie McKee. Based on the novel by Vina Delmar. Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone. Dir. Clarence Brown. Rel. May 11. Rev. May 22.

Should Ladies Behave. From the stage play, 'The Vinegar Tree.' Lionel Barrymore, Alice Brady. Dir. Harry Beaumont. 89 mins. Rel. Dec. 1. Rev. Dec. 19.

Showoff, The. Old stage play of a conceited man who makes good. Spencer Tracy, Madge Evans. Dir. Chas. Riesner. 78 mins. Rel, March 9. Rev. March 20.

Sons of the Desert (Hal Roach). Laurel and Hardy attend a fraternal convention. Dir. Wm. A. Seiter. 65 mins. Rel. Dec. 29. Rev. Jan. 9.

Tarzan and His Mate. Further adventures of the characters created by Edgar Rice Burroughs. Johnnie Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan. Neil Hamilton. Dir. Cedric Gibbons. Rel. March 30. Rev. April 24.

This Side of Heaven. Domestic drama from a novel. Lionel Barrymore, Fay Bainter, Mae Clark, Una Merkel, Tom Brown. Dir. Wm. K. Howard. 78 mins. Rel. Feb. 2. Rev. Feb. 13.

Viva Villa. Wallace Beery portrays the famous Mexican character, Pancho Villa. Stuart Erwin, Fay Wray, Leo Carrillo. Dir. Jack Conway. 112 mins. Rel. April 7. Rev. April 17.

Women in His Life, The. Criminal lawyer, deserted by his wife, sends to the chair the man who stole her. Otto Kruger, Una Merkel, Ben Lyons. Dir. Geo. B. Seitz. 74 mins. Rel. Dec. 3. Rev. Jan. 30.

You Can't Buy Everything. Story of a domineering old woman. May Robson Jean Parker, Lewis Stone. Dir. C. H. Reisner, 72 mins. Rel. Jan 26 Rev. Feb. 6.

Studios: 6048 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood, Cal. Monogram Office: R. K. O Building, Rockefeller Center, N.Y.C.

Beggars in Ermine. Bankrupt steel man organizes a mendicants trust. Lionel Atwell, Betty Furness. Dir. Phil Rosen. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 22. Rev. May 1.

Blue Steel. John Wayne, Eleanor Hunt. A Lone Star Western. 59 mins. Rel. April 30.

City Limits. Ray Walker, Sally Blane, Frank Craven. Story of breezy newspaper reporter who gets his story—and the girl. 67 mins. Rel. April 15.

He Couldn't Take It. Story by Dore Schary, inside story of process serving racket. Ray Walker, Virginia Cherrill, George E. Stone, Dorothy Granger, Paul Porcasi. Dir. William Nigh. Rel. Dec. 11. Rev. March 27.

House of Mystery, The. Verna Hillie, Ed Lowry. Dir William Nigh. 62 mins. Rel. March 30.

Lucky Texan, The. Western story of a man accused of the murder of his pal. John Wayne. Dir. Paul Malvern. 56 mins. Rel. Jan. 22. Rev. Feb. 13.

Mystery Liner. Noah Beery, Astrid Alwyn. Dir. William Nigh. mins. Rel. March 15. Rev. April 10.

Manhattan Love Song. Dixie Lee. Robert Armstrong. Ir. Leonard Fields. 72 mins. Rel. April 30.

Sagebrush Trail, The. Lone Star western. John Wayne, Nancy Shubert. Dir Armand Schaefer. 53 mins. Rel. Dec. 15. Rev. Jan. 9.

Sixteen Fathoms Deep. Sponge diver's romance. Sally O'Neill, Creighton Chaney, Russell Simpson, Maurice Black. Dir. Armand Schaefer. 59 mins. Rel. Jan. 4. Rev. Jan. 23.

West of the Divide, Lone Star western. John Wayne, Dir. R. N. Bradbury. 52 mins. Rev. May 15.

Woman's Man. Hollywood inside story. John Halliday, Wallace, guerite de la Motte. Dir. Edward Luddy.

Studios: 5851 Marathon St., Hollywood, Calif Paramount Offices: 1501 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Alice in Wonderland. The Carroll story visualized. Charlotte Henry and most of the Par. stars. Dir. Norman McLeod. 76 mins. Rel. Dec. 22. Rev. Dec. 27.

All of Me. From the stage play, 'Chrysalis.' Fredric March, Miriam Hopki Geo. Raft. Dir. Jas. Flood. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 26. Rev. Feb. 6.

Bolero. Story of a gigolo who started in Hoboken. Geo. Raft, Carole Lombard, Sally Rand. Dir. Wesley Ruggles. 83 mins. Rel. Feb. 23. Rev. Feb. 20.

Come On Marines. Marine corps rescues a shipwrecked girls' seminary. Richard Arlen, Ida Lupino, Roscoe Karns. Dir. Henry Hathaway. 64 mins. Rel. March 23. Rev. March 27.

Death Takes a Holiday. Death takes a holiday to learn of life. From the stage play. Fredric March, Evalyn Venable. Dir. Mitchell Leisen. 79 mins. Rel. March 30. Rev. Feb. 27.

Design for Living. Adapted from Noel Coward's play. Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Miriam Hopkins, Ed. E. Horton. Dir Ernst Lubitsch. 90 mins. Rel. Dec. 27. Rev. Nov. 28.

Double Door. Thriller story of a dominant old maid. Mary Morris, Evalyn Venable, Kent Taylor. Dir. Chas. Vidor. 75 mins. Rel. May 4. Rev. May 8.

Eight Girls in a Boat. Love in a girl's school. Douglas Montgomery, Kay Johnson. Dir. Rich. Wallace. 85 mins. Rel. Jan. 5. Rev. Jan. 16.

Four Frightened People. Mixed quartet in the jungle. Claudette Colbert, bert Marshall, Mary Boland, Wm. Gargan. Dir. Cecil de Mille. Jan. 16. Rev. Jan. 30.

Girl Without a Room. Americans in Paris. Chas. Farrell, Chas. Ruggles, Marguerite Churchill, Gregory Ratoff, Walter Wolff. Dir. Ralph Murphy. 72 mins. Rel. Dec. 8. Rev. Dec. 12.

Good Dame. Fredric March on a carnival lot. Sylvia Sidney. Dir. Marion Gering. 72 mins. Rel. Feb. 16. Rev. March 20.

Here Comes the Groom. Escaping burglar is forced to impersonate the groom of a deserted bride. Jack Haley, Patricia Ellis. Dir. Raoul Pagol. Rel. June 15.

His Double Life. (Dowling.) Light comedy. Lillian Gish, Rol Dir Arthur Hopkins. 63 mins. Rel. Jan. 12. Rev. Dec. 19.

I Married an Actress. Matinee idol loses out to his wife, an actress, who takes his glory. Adolphe Menjou, Elissa Landi, Dir. Ralph Murray. Rel. June 22.

It Ain't No Sin. Mae West as a burlesque queen. Roger Pryor, John Mack Brown. Dir. Leo McCarey. Rel. June 29.

Kiss and Make Up. Beauty doctor marries his model. Cary Grant, Genevieve Tobin, Helen Mack, and the Wampas Baby Stars. Dir. Harlan Thompson, Joan Noguiesco. Rel. July 13.

Last Roundup, The. Western with a Zane Grey title and a new story. Randolph Scott, Monte Blue, Barbara Adams. Fred Kohler. Dir. Henry Hathaway. 60 mins. Rel. Jan. 26. Rev. May 15.

Little Miss Marker. Damon Runyon story of a child who was pledged with a bookmaker. Adolphe Menjou, Dorothy Dell, Chas. Bickford, Shirley Moore. Dir. Alex. Hall. 80 mins. Rel. June 8. Rev. May 22.

Lone Cowboy, The. Western with Jackie Cooper as the hero. From a Will James story. Dir. Paul Sloan. 68 mins. Rel. Dec. 1. Rev. Dec. 6.

Many Happy Returns. Burns and Allen at their dizziest. With Guy Lombardo, Joan Marsh. Dir. Norman McLeod. 66 mins. Rel. June 8.

Melody in Spring. Radio singer at home and abroad. Lanny Ross. Chas. Ruggles, Mary Boland. Dir. Norman McLeod. 75 mins. Rel. April 20. Rev. April 3.

Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen. Farcical play. Dorothea Wieck, Alice Brady. Dir. Alex. Hall. 67 mins. Rel. Jan. 12. Rev. Jan. 23.

Murder at the Vanities. From the Earl Carroll stage production. Murder backstage. Carl Brisson, Victor McLaglen, Jack Oakie, Kitty Carlisle, Dir. Mitchell Loisen. 96 mins. Rel. May 11. Rev. May 22.

No More Women. Flagg and Quirt as deep sea divers. Edmund Lowe, Victor McLaglen, Sally Blane. Dir. Al Rogell. 73 mins. Rel. Feb. 23. Rev. March 6.

Old Fashiond Way, The. W. C. Fields in a road show in the LeRoy, Judith Allen. Dir. Wm. Beaudine. Rel. July 6.

Private Scandal. Suicide which is decided to be a murder because none of the witnesses dares his own exposure to scandal. Zasu Pitts, Phillips Holmes, Ned Sparks, Mary Brian. Dir. Ralph Murphy. 64 mins. Rel. May 11.

Search for Beauty, The. Pseudo-physical training yarn to display winners in Par's international beauty contest. Buster Crabbe, Ida Lupino, Toby Wing, Jas. Gleason. Dir. Erle Kenton. 77 mins. Rel. Feb. 2. Rev. Feb. 13.

She Made Her Bed. Show lot story about a brutal animal trainer Rich. Arlen, Sally Eilers, Robt. Armstrong. Dir. Ralph Murphy. Rel. March 1. Rev. May 1.

Shoot the Works. A denatured 'The Great Magoo.' Jack Oakie, Ben Bernie, Dorothy Dell. Dir. Wesley Ruggles. Rel. June 29.

Six of a Kind. The humors of a share-expenses trip. Chas. Ruggles, Boland, W. C. Fields, Geo Burns, Gracie Allen, Alison Skipworth. Leo. Carey. 60 mins. Rel. Feb. 9. Rev. March 13.

Thirty Days a Princess. Obscure actress plays at being a princess. Sylvia Sidney, Cary Grant. Dir. Marion Goring. 76 mins. Rel. May 18. Rev. May 15.

Trumpet Blows, The. George Raft becomes an amateur bull fighter. Geo. Raft. Adolphe Menjou, Frances Drake. Dir. Stephen Roberts. 68 mins. Rel. April 13. Rev. April 17.

We're Not Dressing. Comedy of shipwrecked royalty. Bing Crosby, Carole Lombard. Burns and Allen, Ethel Merman, Leon Errol. Dir. Norman Taurog. 80 mins. Rel. April 27. Rev. May 1.

Witching Hour, The. Augustus Thomas play of a murder innocently caused by hypnotism. Sir Guy Standing, John. Hailday, Judith Allen. Dir. Henry Hathaway. 65 mins. Rel. April 27. Rev. May 1.

Wharf Angel. Romance in San Francisco of 1907. Victor McLaglen, Dorothy Dell. Dir. W. C. Menzies. 65 mins. Rel. March 16. Rev. April 24

You're Telling Me. Fields as a small town garage man. W. C. Fields, Joan Marsh, Buster Crabbe, Adrienne Ames. Dir. Erle Kenton. 66 mins. Rel. April 6. Rev. April 10.

Principal

Office: 1270 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y.

Jaws of Justice. Kazan, the dog, in a melodrama of the Northwest Mounted Police, with Richard Terry and Ruth Sullivan. 54 mins. Rel. Dec. 15.

Ferocious Pal. Kazan, the dog, in a thrilling mystery-melodrama of the sheep-raising country. Ruth Sullivan and Robert Manning. Dir. Spencer Gordon. 54 mins. Rel. Feb. 1. Rev. April 24.

Fighting to Live. Captain, the dog, and Lady, his mate, in a story based on a true incident in their lives. Mary Shilling and Gaylord Pendleton. 60 mins. Rel. May.

Studios: Hollywood, Calif.

R.K.O. Radio

Office: R.K.O. Bldg., Radio City, N.Y.C.

Allen Corn. Talented young musician realizes after a series of disappointing love affairs that love and a career won't mix and chooses career. Ann Harding, John Boles, Margaret Hamilton, Arnold Korff. Dir. Edward H. Griffith. Rel. May 25.

Blind Adventure. Adventures in London during one foggy night. Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack, Roland Young, Ralph Bellamy. Dir. Ernest B. Schoedsack. 63 mins. Released Aug. 18. Rev. Nov. 7.

Crime Doctor. A famous detective, jealous of his wife who no longer loves him, plans the perfect crime. Otto Kruger, Karen Morley, Nils Asther, Judith Wood. Dir. John Robertson. Rel. April 27. Rev. May 15.

Finishing School. A young boarding school girl becomes involved with a young doctor. Ginger Rogers Frances Dee, Bruce Cabot, Billie Burke. Dir. Wanda Tuchock and George Nicholls, Jr. 70 mins. Rel. May 4. Rev. May 1.

Flying Down to Rio. Musical extravaganza which takes place in the air above Rio de Janeiro. Dolores Del Rio, Gene Raymond, Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire, Raoul Roulien. Dir. Thornton Freeland. 89 mins. Rel. Dec 29. Rev. Dec. 27.

Keep 'Em Rolling. One man's life-time devotion to his loyal army horse. Walter Huston, Frances Dee, Robert Shayne, Frank Conroy. Dir. George Archainbaud. Rel. March 2.

Hips, Hips, Hooray. Musical girl show. Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Ruth Etting, Dorothy Lee, Thelma Todd, George Meeker, Phyllis Barry. Dir Mark Sandrich. Rel. Feb. 2. Rev. Feb. 27.

Were Free. A modern romance of two people, disappointed in marriage who meet and try to find happiness together in their way. Irene Dunne, Clive Brook, Nils Asther, Henry Stephenson.

Walter Byron, Steffi Duna, J. Farrell MacDonald, Sarah Padden. Dir J. Walter Ruben. 92 mins. Rel. Feb 9. Rev. Jan. 16.

Meanest Gal in Town. Farce comedy love in the beauty parlor. itts. El Brendel, Pert Kelton, James Gleason. Dir. Rich. Schayer. ins. Rel. Jan. 12. Rev. Feb. 20.

f Human Bondage. A poignant story of a man who faces life as a partia, cripple. Leslie Howard, Bette Davis, Reginald Denny. Reginald Sheffield, Alan Hale. Dir. John Cromwell. Rel. June 1.

ing and Like It. Gangster backs a Broadway show and makes sure of good reviews by furnishing special 'escorts' for each reviewer. Zasu Pitts, Pert Kelton, Edward Everett Horton, Nat Pendleton, Ned Sparks. Dir William Seiter. 69 mins. Rel. April 20. Rev. April 17.

Son of Kong. Further adventures of Carl Denham, the director who brought King Kong to civilization, this time with the Son of Kong. Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack, Frank Reicher, John Marston. Directed by Ernest B. Schoedsack. 69 mins. Rel. Dec. 22. Rev. Jan. 2

Spitfire. A powerful story which deals with a beautiful mountain "witch" whose naivete, temperament and personality combine wickedness and immaculateness. Katharine Hepburn, Robert Young, Ralph Bellamy, Martha Sleeper, Sidney Toler, Lois Moran, Sara Haden. Dir. John Cromwell. Rel. March 30, Rev. March 30.

Stingaree. Notorious Australian bandit of the "Robin Hood" type with a flair for the esthetic things of life. Irene Dunne, Richard Dix, Conway Tearle, Mary Boland. Dir. William Wellman. 76 mins. Rel. May 25. Rev. May 22.

Strictly Dynamite. A poet becomes a gag writer for a famous radio comic Jimmy Durante, Lupe Velez, Norman Foster, Marian Nixon. Dir. Elliott Nugent. Rel. May 11.

Success at Any Price. Ruthless business man finds love at last. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Colleen Moore, Genevieve Tobin. Dir. J. Walter Ruben. Rel. March 16. Rev. May 8.

Success Story. The ruthless rise to power and wealth of a boy of the New York tenement district. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Colleen Moore, Genevieve Tobin, Frank Morgan. Dir. J. Walter Ruben. Rel. March 16.

is Man Is Mine. To preserve her marriage a young wife virtually hurls her husband into the arms of his first love. Irene Dunne, Constance Cummings, Ralph Bellamy, Kay Johnson. Dir. John Cromwell. 75 mins. Rel. April 13. Rev. April 17.

Two Alone. An orphan girl and a young boy who escaped from a reformatory fall in love and try to escape the inhuman farmer who keeps them enslaved on his farm. Jean Parker, Zasu Pitts, Tom Brown, Arthur Byron, Nydia Westman, Beulah Bondi, Willard Robertson, Emerson Tracy. Dir. Elliott Nugent. Rel. Jan. 5, 1934. Rev. April 10.

Where Sinners Meet. An eloping couple have a break-down in their car and spend the night in an unusual hotel where the host, a philosopher, shows them the error of their way. Clive Brook, Diana Wynyard, Reginald Owen, Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Gilbert Emery. Dir. J. Walter Ruben. Rel. May 18.

Wild Cargo. Frank Buck's expedition into the Asiatic jungles to capture wild animals. Frank Buck. Dir. Armand Denis. Rel. April 6.

United Artists

Offices: 729 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y.

Advice to the Lovelorn. Romance and adventures of reporter who edits the agony column and eventually exposes the drug racket. Dir Alfred Werker. Rel. Dec. 1. Rev. Dec. 19.

irs of Cellini, The. The love life of Benvenuto Cellini. Fredric March, Constance Bennett, Frank Morgan, Fay Wray. (No date set.)

Born to Be Bad. Story of a woman apparently destined by circumstances to be always wicked in spite of herself. Loretta Young, Cary Grant, Paul Harvey. Dir. Lowell Sherman. Rel. May 18.

Bulldog Drummond Strikes Back. Further adventures in crime solution. Ronald Colman, Loretta Young, Warner Oland, Charles Butterworth, Una Merkel. (No date set.)

Catherine the Great. The story of Russia's greatest ruler. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr, Elizabeth Bergner, Flora Robson, Gri ths Jones. Dir. Paul Czinner. 93 mins. Rel. April 13 Rev. Feb. 20.

Count of Monte Cristo, The. The famous romantic old classic of the French nobleman's struggle with his adversaries. Robert Donat, Elissa Landi, Louis Calhern. Dir. Rowland V. Lee.

Gallant Lady. An unwed mother who pays the price of silence in order to be near her child. Dir. Gregory La Cava. Ann Harding, Clive Brook Otto Kruger, Tullio Carminati. 82 mins. Rel. Jan. 5. Rev. Jan. 23.

House of Rothschild, The (20th Cent.). Strong drama of the great financial house. George Arliss, Boris Karloff, Loretta Young. Dir. Alfred Werker. 94 mins. Rel. April 6. Rev. March 20.

Last Gentleman, The. Shrewd and elderly millionaire cleverly foils the plans of his children to chisel his money away. George Arliss, Edna May Oliver, Janet Beecher and Ralph Morgan. Dir. Sidney Lanfield. (No date set.)

Looking for Trouble. Thrills in the lives of telephone linesmen, with a couple of love stories on the side. Spencer Tracy, Jack Oakie, Constance Cummings, Arline Judge. Dir. Wm. Wellman. 77 mins. Rel. March 9. Rev. April 17.

oulin Rouge. A talented wife proves her ability by a clever impersonation ruse. Dir. Sidney Lanfield. Constance Bennett Franchot Tone, Tullio Carminati. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 19. Rev. Feb. 13.

Nana. Adapted from the Zola novel with Sam Goldwyn's new star, Anna Sten. Phillips Holmes, Mae Clark, Lionel Atwill, Rich. Bennett. Dir. Dorothy Arzner. 87 mins. Rel. Mar. 2. Rev. Feb. 6.

Palooka. The son of a prizefighter follows in his father's footsteps. Ir. Benjamin Stoloff Jimmie Durante, Stuart Erwin, Lupe Velez. Rel. Jan. 26. Rev. March 6.

Private Life of Don Juan. Somebody insinuates to the great legendary lover that all his conquests really didn't love him—so he gathers them around and puts the question to the test. Douglas Fairbanks, Merle Oberon, Benita Hume, Elsa Lanchester. (No date.) Dir. Alex Korda.

Roman Scandals. A town simpleton transported in a dream back to the grandeur that was Rome. Dir. Frank Tuttle. Eddie Cantor, Ruth Etting, Gloria Stuart. 91 mins. Rel. Dec. 29.

Sorrell & Son. An epic of the love between father and son. H. B. Warner. Peter Penrose, Hugh Williams, Winifred Shotter. Dir. Jack Raymond. Rel. April 20.

Studios: Universal City, Calif.

Universal

Offices: 730 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.

Affairs of a Gentleman. Drama. Paul Lukas, Lella Hyams, Patricia Ellis, Onslow Stevens, Lillian Bond, Dir. Edwin L. Marion. Rel. June 18.

Beloved. Musical. John Boles, Gloria Stuart. Dir. V. Schertzinger. Rel. Jan. 29. Rev. Jan. 30.

Bombay Mail. Edmund Lowe Production. Rev. Jan. 9.

Black Cat, The. Mystery. Karloff, Bela Lugosi, David Manners. Dir. Edgar Wilmer. 70 mins. Rel. May 7. Rev. May 22.

By Candlelight. Sophisticated comedy-drama. Paul Lukas, Elissa Landi, Nils Asther, Esther Ralston. Dir. James Whale. 70 mins. Rel. Dec. 18. Rev Jan. 9.

Counsellor at Law. Drama. John Barrymore. Dir. Wm Wyler. Rel. Dec. 25. Rev. Dec. 12.

Countess of Monte Cristo. Drama. Fay Wray, Paul Lukas, Paul Page, Carmel Meyers, Reginald Owen. Rel. March 19. Rev. April 3.

Cross County Cruise. Comedy-drama. Lew Ayres, June Knight, Alice White. Dir. Eddie Buzzell. 78 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. Jan. 23.

Crosby Case, The. Drama. Wynne Gibson, Onslow Stevens, William Collier. Rel. March 5. Rev. April 3.

Embarrassing Moments. Comedy-drama. Chester Morris, Marion Nixon. Dir. Ed. Laemmle. Rel. May 14.

Funny Thing Called Love. Comedy. Charles Morris, Andy Divine, Lois Jannery, Frank Craven. Dir. Curt Neumann. Rel. June 25.

Glamour. Comedy-drama. Constance Cummings, Paul Lukas. William Wyler. 75 mins. Rel. April 9. Rev. May 15.

Gun Justice. Western. Ken Maynard. Rel. Dec. 18. Rev. April 3.

Half a Sinner. Drama. Joel McCrea, Sally Blane, Buster Churchill. Dir. Kurt Neumann. Rel. April 30.

Honor of the Range. Western. Ken Maynard. Alan James. 60 mins. Rel. April 16. Rev. May 1.

Her First Mate. Comedy. Summerville-Pitts. Dir. Wm. Wyler. Rel. Aug. 8. Rev. Sept. 5.

Horse Play. Comedy. Summerville-Devine. ir. Ed Sedgwick. Rel. Nov. 27. Rev. March 13.

I Like It That Way. Musical. Rodger Pryor. Gloria Stuart. ir. Harry Lachman. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 12. Rev. April 24.

I'll Tell the World. Comedy. Lee Tracy, Gloria Stuart, Roger Pryor. Dir. Edwin Sedgwick. 78 mins. Rel. April 16. Rev. April 24.

Invisible Man. Mystery-drama. Claude Rains, Gloria Stuart, Henry Travers, Una O'Connor. Dir. James Whale. 70 mins. Rel. Nov. 13. Rev. Nov. 21.

Let's Be Ritzy. Comedy-drama. Lew Ayres, Patricia Ellis, Frank McHugh, Isabelle Jewell, Hedda Hopper. Dir. Edward Ludwig. Rel. March 26.

Little Man, What Now? Drama. Margaret Sullavan, Douglass Montgomery Dir. Frank Borzage. Rel. May 21.

Love Captive. Drama. Nils Asther, Gloria Stuart. Dir. Max Marcin. Rel. June 4.

Love Birds. Comedy. Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts. Dir. Wm. Seiter.

Madame Spy. Drama. Fay Wray, Nils Asther. ir. Karl Kreund. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 8. Rev. Feb. 13.

Midnight. Drama. Sidney Fox, Henry Hull, Chester Erskine. Rel. Jan. 22. Rev. March 13.

Myrt and Marge. Musical. Myrtle Vail, Donna Domerli, Eddie Foy, Jr., Ted Healy, Grace Hayes, J. Farrell MacDonald. Dir. Al Boasberg. 66 mins. Rel. Dec. 11. Rev. Jan. 23.

Smoking Guns. Western. Ken Maynard. Rel. June 11.

Poor Rich, The. Comedy. Edna May Oliver, Edward Everett Horton. Dir. Ed. Sedgwick. 76 mins. Rel. Feb. 26. Rev. May 15.

Uncertain Lady. Comedy-drama. Genevieve Tobin, Edward E. Horton. Dir. Karl Freund. Rel. April 23.

Wheels of Destiny. Western. Ken Maynard. Dir. Rev. April 3.

Studios

Warner Brothers

Offices: 321 W. 44th St., New York, N. Y.

As the Earth Turns. Epic in the romance of American life and a revelation of the character of the New England farmer taken from the story of Gladys Hasty Carroll. Jean Muir, Donald Woods, Dorothy Peterson. Dir. Alfred E. Green. 73 mins. Rel. April 14. Rev. April 17.

Disraeli. Political drama of England. George Arliss, Joan Bennett. fred Green. 88 mins. Re-rel. Dec. 16.

Easy to Love. A frothy farce. Adolphe Menjou, Genevieve Tobin, Mary Astor, Guy Kibbee, Edward Everett Horton. Dir. William Keighley 61 mins. Rel. Jan. 20. Rev. Jan. 16.

Friends of Mr. Sweeney. Comedy-drama of the browbeaten husband who turns the big trick for his newspaper. Charlie Ruggles, Ann Dvorak, Eugene Pallette, Dorothy Tree. Dir. Edward Ludwig. Rel. July 7.

From Headquarters. A crime drama with a murder committed right in headquarters. George Brent, Margaret Lindsay and Eugene Pallette. Dir William Dieterle. 63 mins. Rel. Dec. 2. Rev. N v. 21.

Gambling Lady. Based on the drama by Doris Malloy of a gambling lady who is such a sport she is willing to sacrifice her love to save her husband from a murder charge. Barbara Stanwyck, Joel McCrea, Pat O'Brien, Claire Dodd. Dir. Archie Mayo. 66 mins. Rel. March 31. Rev. April 10.

Harold Teen. Hilarious comedy romance which brings to life on the screen the characters of Carl Ed's comic strip. Hal LeRoy, Rochelle Hudson, Patricia Ellis, Guy Kibbee. Dir. Murray Roth. 66 mins. Rel. April 7.

Heat Lightning. Thrilling romance of desert love and hate, based on the Broadway stage hit by Leon Abrams and George Abbott. Aline MacMahon, Ann Dvorak, Lyle Talbot, Preston Foster. Dir. Mervyn LeRoy. 63 mins. Rel. March 3. Rev. March 13.

He Was Her Man. Action melodrama of the gal who double-crossed herself in love when her past came back. James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Frank Craven, Harold Huber. Dir. Lloyd Bacon. 70 mins. Rel. June 16. Rev. May 22.

Hi, Nellie. Comedy-drama of a newspaper 'love' columnist. Paul Muni, Glenda Farrell, Kathryn Sergava. Dir. Mervyn Le Roy. Rel. Jan. 20. Rev. Feb. 6.

House On 56th Street. Drama of a gambling lady. Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez, Gene Raymond, Margaret Lindsay and Frank McHugh. Dir. Robert Florey. 68 mins. Rel. Dec. 30. Rev. Dec. 5.

Isle of Fury. Fighting for love while the Sinn Fein and the Black and Tan crossfire during the Irish trouble. From the London stage success, 'The Key.' William Powell, Edna Best, Colin Clive, Henry O'Neil. Dir. Michael Curtiz. Rel. June 6.

I've Got Your Number. Rowdy, rollicking story of the telephone trouble hunter who finds it. Joan Blondell, Pat O'Brien. Dir. Ray Enright. 67 mins. Rel. Feb. 4. Rev. Feb. 6.

Jimmy the Gent. Hilarious comedy romance based on the story by Laird Doyle and Ray Nazarro, which reveals a new kind of racket, that of digging up heirs. James Cagney, Bette Davis, Allen Jenkins. Dir. Michael Curtiz. 67 mins. Rel. March 17. Rev. March 27.

Lady Killer. Jimmy Cagney bats 'em around again. Jas. Cagney, Mae Clark, Leslie Fenton. Dir. Roy Del Ruth. 67 mins. Rel. Dec. 5. Rev. Jan. 2.

Merry Wives of Reno. Comedy-farce of the Reno divorce mill in action. Margaret Lindsay, Donald Woods, Guy Kibbee, Glenda Farrell, Hugh Herbert and Frank McHugh. Dir. H. Bruce Humberstone. 64 mins. Rel. May 12.

Modern Hero, A. Based on the novel by Louis Bromfield, opening with the gay romance of circus life and carrying the hero through tremendous financial battles to a captain of industry. Richard Barthelmess. 70 mins. Jean Muir, Marjorie Rambeau, Verree Teasdale. Dir. G. W. Pabst. Rel. April 21. Rev. April 24.

Smarty. Comedy of the wife who wanted to commute between husbands. Joan Blondell, Warren William, Edward E. Horton, Frank McHugh and Claire Dodd. Dir. Robert Florey. 64 mins. Rel. May 26.

Upperworld. Drama by Ben Hecht dealing with a millionaire's adventures with a chorus girl. Warren William, Mary Astor, Ginger Rogers, Dickie Moore. Dir. Roy Del Ruth. Rel. April 28.

When Tomorrow Comes. Drama of woman who tries to help her hubby's girl friend. Kay Francis, Warren William, Jean Muir, Verree Teasdale. Dir. William Keighly. Rel. June 23.

Miscellaneous Releases

Ariane. (Blue Ribbon.) British-made story of a woman who pretends sophistication to win her love. Elizabeth Bergner, Percy Marmont. Dir. Paul Czinner. 80 mins. Rel. April 1.

Beyond Bengal (Showmen). Animal picture with narrative. 65 mins. Rel. May 15. Rev. May 22.

Big Race, The. (Showmen.) Race track story. Boots , John Darrow. Dir. Fred Newmeyer. 62 mins. Rev. March 6.

Cheaters (Liberty). Paroled convicts find love through crookedness. Bill Boyd, June Collyer, Dorothy Mackaill. Dir. Phil Rosen. 65 mins. Rev. May 18.

Cri inal at Large. (Helber.) Edgar Wallace mystery story, ritish made. British cast. 74 mins. Rev. Dec. 27.

(Continued on page 30)

B'WAY THEATRE FRONT CLEANUP

The New York City fathers have decided again to clean out the bunting, banners and whatnot on Broadway theatre fronts. Borough President Levy has sent out fresh orders for a clean sweep to have all valances, hanging pieces, underslung banners, etc., taken off theatres. New drive results from complaints of the Broadway Association.

WB Turns Back 3

Wheeling, W. Va., May 28.

Three Warner Bros. theatres, Court, Liberty and Virginia, acquired by the West Virginia Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., operators of the Capitol here. R. T. Kemper named city manager all three houses. Kemper was city manager of houses before taken over by Warners.

At the Court, Tony Stern, former manager has resigned. Frances X. Linn remains at Liberty and Russell Richards his assistant. Earl Oschenbein remains at Virginia, William Baldwin assistant. Ted Thomas will manage the Capitol, Pat Gilligan as assistant.

Poli Setup All Framed

With Loew's agreed upon Lou Sagal as operator of the Poli chain, circuit has started to spot some of its men in Poli's and to furnish advertising service. Oscar Doob's department at the home office is taking care of advertising and publicity for the theatres.

Harry Shaw becomes assistant to Sagal. Gene Rodney becomes manager of Poli's, New Haven, while Earl Wright, who has been handling the house, becomes publicity director for the circuit with headquarters in New Haven.

Pantages, Portland, Foreclosure Suit

Portland, Ore., May 28.

Suit to foreclose a mortgage on the Pantages theatre property has been filed in federal court by the Security Savings & Trust Co. Defendants named are Alexander Pantages and wife, Radio-Keith-Orpheum company, et al. Pending the termination of the suit a receiver is asked.

It is alleged in the complaint that there is due $425,000 in principal on a $500,000 bond issue for which the property is security. The property was conveyed to Radio-Keith-Orpheum in 1929 and that company assumed the debt.

Buchanan-Adler

Chicago, May 28.

B. B. Buchanan, theatre construction engineer, who has supervised the building of all the Balaban & Katz and Paramount Publix theatres in the past four years, has gone into the theatrical illuminated sign and construction biz.

Has affiliated with the Ben Adler Signs Co. as v.-p.

CAL. INDIES' ELECTION

Los Angeles, May 28.

Annual election of directors and officers of the Independent Motion Picture Theatre Owners association of Southern California has been set for June 5, at which time Ben N. Berinstein retires as head of this indie association.

At a meeting of the board of directors last week Russell Rogers, president and general manager of Pacific National Theatres, resigned from the association directorate, due to his duties as a member of the L. A. zoning-clearance board. He was replaced by Robert Gumbiner.

TITLE CHANGES

Hollywood, May 28.

'Loves of a Sailor' at U has been changed to 'Let's Talk It Over.'

'Now and Forever,' final on Gary Cooper-Carole Lombard film, previously called 'You Belong to Me,' from the orig. 'Honor Bright.'

'Fisherman's Luck' to 'Angl Worms,' Roach.

CALENDAR OF CURRENT RELEASES

(Continued from page 29)

rums o' Voodo (International). All-Negro cast in screen version of stage play 'Louisiana.' Dir. Arthur Hoerl. 70 mins. Rel. May 7. Rev. May 16.

Enlighten Thy Daughter. (Exploitation.) Warning to parents. Remade from a silent. 75 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. Feb. 20.

Found Alive. (Ideal.) Jungle story. Barbara Bedford, Maurice Murphy. Dir. Chas. Hutchinson. Rel. Feb. 10. Rev. April 17.

ility Parents. (Jay Dee Kay.) Sex education story. Jean Lacy, Glen Boles. Dir. Jack Townley. 53 mins. Rev. April 10.

ired Wife. (Pinnacle.) Man hires a bride to get a fortune and falls in love with her. Greta Nissen, Weldon Heyburn. Dir. Geo. Melford. 60 mins. Rev. March 13.

Love Past Thirty. (Monarch.) Beauty parlor rejuvenation for a faded fiancee. Aileen Pringle, Theodor von Eltz, Phyllis Barry. Dir. Vin. Moore. 60 ins. Rev. March 13.

The. (Showmen's.) Sally O'Neill astray in New Orleans. Dir. Fred Newmeyer. 64 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. April 17.

Marriage on Approval. (Monarch.) In which a girl gets married in the first reel and finds it out in the last. Barbara Kent, Donald Dillaway. Dir Howard Higgin. Rev. Jan. 9.

Stenographer. Title tells the story. Lola Lane, Wm. Collier, Jr. ir. Lew Collins. Rev. Jan. 30.
ins. Rev. Nov. 21.

Trapeze. (Protex.) Anna Sten's first German picture. English. 65 mins. Rel. Feb. Rev. Feb. 20.

What's Your Racket. (Showmen.) Familiar gangster frameup. Regis Toomey, Noel Francis. Dir. Fred Guiol. 50 mins. Rel. Jan. 1. Rev. March 6.

Wine, Women and Song. (Chadwick.) Lilyan Tashman's last picture. Backstage story. Lilyan Tashman, Lew Cody. Dir. Leon D'Usseau. 64 mins. Rev. March 27.

Woman Unafraid. (Story of a policewoman.
Skeets Gallagher, J. Cowen. 68 mins. Rev.

Foreign Language Films

(Note: the slow movement of foreign fi this list covers one year of releases.)

(Most of these available with English titles.)

Adieu Les Beaux Jours (Fr) (Ufa). Greek romance. Brigitte Helm. Dir. Andre Beucler and Johannes Meyer, 90 mins. Rel. April 15. Rev. May 1.

Iraune (Ger) (Capitol). Test tube babies. rigitte Helm. Dir. ichard Oswald. 70 mins. Rel. May 1.

Bettelstudent, Der. (German.) (Operetta. Viktor Janson. 80 mins. Rel. Oct. 15.

Blonde Christl, Die (Ger) (Bavaria). Musical. Karin Hardt. Dir. Franz Seltz. 75 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

Broken Shoes (Russ). (Amkino). Child reaction to politics. Anti-Hitler. Dir. Margarita Barskaya. 80 mins. Rel. March 15. Rev. April 3.

Chalutzim (Hebrew) (Acme). First talker made in Palestine. Dir. Alexander Ford. 70 mins. Rel. March 15.

ludad de Carton, La (Sp) (Fox). Drama of marital relations. Antonio Moreno, Catalina Barcena. Dir. Louis King. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

Crown of Thorns (Kinematrade) (Ger) (Dubbed Eng.). Biblical drama. Dir. Robert Wiene. 70 mins. Rel. March 15.

ruz Y La Espada, La (Sp) (Fox). Historical romance. Jose Mojica. ir. Frank Strayer. 75 mins. Rel. Feb. 1.

Deux Orphelins, Les (Fr) (Blue Ribbon). Costume melodrama. Yvette Guilbert. Dir. Maurice Tourneur. 90 mins. Rel. Feb. 1. Rev. Feb. 15.

ream of My People, The (Jewish) (Palestine). Silent travelog of Palestine with records by Cantor Rosenblatt. Dir. Jos. Fox. 60 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

In Gewisser Herr Gran (Ger) (Capital). Spy drama. Hans Albers. Dir. Gerhard Lamprecht. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

in Toller Einfall (Ger) (Ufa). Farce comedy. Willy Fritsch, Dorothea Wieck. Dir. Kurt Gerron. 70 mins. Rel. May 15.

ine Stadt Steht Kopf (Ger) (Capital). Farce. Dir. Gustav Gruendgens. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

ines Prinzen Junge Liebe (Ger) (Ufa). Romantic comedy. Willy Fritsch. Dir. Artur Robinson. 80 mins. Rel. March 15.

En Glad Gutt (Norwegian) (Scandinavian). From Bjornson's novel. Dir. John Brunius. 80 mins. Rel. Nov. 15.

Enemies of Progress (Russ) (Amkino). Last of the Czarist generals. Dir. Bereshnyeff. 85 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. Jan. 16.

Es Wird Schon Wieder Besser (Ger) (Ufa). Farce. Dolly Haas. Dir. Kurt Gerron. 65 mins. Rel. Jan. 1.

Feldherrnhuegel, Der (Ger) (Bavarian). Military comedy. Dir. Eugen Thiele. 70 mins. Rel. April 15.

Frau Lehman's Tochter (Ger) (General). Melodrama. Hansi lese. Dir. Karl Heinz Wolff. 82 mins. Rel. Oct. 15.

Fraulein—Falsch Verbunden (Ger) (Capital). Musical comedy. Trude Berliner. Dir. E. W. Emo. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Frechdachs, Der (Ger) (Ufa). Romantic comedy. Willy Fri illa Horn. Dir. Carl Boese. 75 mins. Rel. Jan. 1.

Galavorstellung, Die (Ger) (General). Mystery comedy with music. Max Adalbert, the Fratellinis. Dir. Fredrich Zelnik. 87 mins. Rel. Dec. 1.

Geld Regiert die Welt (Ger). Domestic comedy. Gustav Froehlich, Camilla Horn. Dir. Max Neufeld. 70 mins. Rel. May 1.

Iris in Uniform (dubbed English) (Ger) (Filmchoice). Dorothea Wieck and Hertha Thiele. Dir. Richard Oswald. 80 mins. Rel. March 1.

lueckszylinder, Der (Ger) (Capital). Boarding house romance. Felix Bressart, Charlotte Ander. Dir. Rudolf Bernauer. 75 mins. Rel. March 1.

rosse Attraction, Die (Bavaria) (Ger.). Drama is show bis. Richard Tauber. Dir. Max Reichmann. 70 mins. Rel. Aug. 1.

Heideschulmeister Uwe Karsten (Ger) (Ufa). Nazi back to the farm propaganda. Dir. Carl Heins Wolff. 70 mins. Rel. April 15.

Hell on Earth (Ger) (Garrison) (dialog in five languages). Horrors of war. Dir. Victor Trivas. 80 mins. Rel. Jan. 15. Rev. Feb. 6.

Hellseher, Der (Ger) (General). Farce. Max Adalbert. Dir. Eugen Thiele. Rel. Sept. 1.

Heute Nacht Eventuell (Ger.) (General). Musical comedy. Dir. E. W. Emo. 80 mins. Rel. July 1.

Hochtourist, Der (Ger) (Ufa). Romantic comedy in Otto Wallburg. Dir. Alfred Zeisler. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Ich Glaub Nie Mehr an Eine Frau (Bavaria) (Ger.). Life of a sailor. Richard Tauber. Dir. H. Reichmann. 80 mins. Rel. Oct. 1. Rev. Oct. 24.

Inge und di illonen (Ger) (Ufa). Romantic crook drama. Brigitte Helm. 65 min ir. Erich Engel. Rel. April 15.

Island of Doom (Russ) (Amkino). Two men and a woman on a desert isle. Dir. Timoshenko. 90 mins. Rel. July 15. Rev. July 18.

Juarez Y Maximiliano (Sp) (Col). Mexican royalty's fall. Dir. Miguel Torres. 80 mins. Rel. May 1.

July 14 (Protex) (French). Sentiment to music. iair 75 mins. Rel. Oct. 15. Rev. Oct. 24.

Kara Siakten (Swedish) (Scandinavian). Romantic musical. Dir. Gustaf Molander. 80 mins. Rel. May 1.

Lachende Erben (Ger.) (Ufa). Farce. Max Adalbert. Dir. Max Ophuels. 77 mins. Rel. Nov. 15.

Laughter Through Tears (Yiddish) (Worldkino). From a Sholom Aleichem novel. Dir. G. Critcher. 78 mins. Rel. Nov. 15. Rev. Nov. 21.

Lockende Ziel, Das (Ger.) (Bavaria). Musical. Richard Tauber. Dir. Max Reichmann. 85 mins. Rel. June 15. Rev. June 20.

Liebe Muss Verstanden Sein (Ger.) (Ufa). Comedy drama with music. Dir. Hans Steinhoff. Rel. March 15.

Luegen auf Luegen (Ger) (General). Otto Wallburg. Dir. Viktor Janson. 80 mins. Rel. Dec. 15.

eisterdetektiv, Der (Ger) (Bavaria). Mystery satire. Weiss Ferdl. Dir. Frank Seltz. 75 mins. Rel. Feb. 1.

Melodia Prohibida (Sp) (Fox). Musical fantasy. Jose Mojica. ir. Frank Strayer. 70 mins. Rel. March 15.

Milady (General) (French). Sequel to Three Musketeers. Dir. Henri Diamant-Berger. 120 mins. Rel. Sept. 1. Rev. Sept. 12.

lle. Nitouche (French) (Protex). Charming love story. Rai Dir. Chas. David. 90 mins Rel. Nov. 15.

Moj Wujaszek z Ameryki (Polish) (Capital). Musical comedy. 120 mins. Rel. Oct. 15.

Mutter Der Kompagnie, Die (Ger) (Bavaria). Military farce. Weiss-Ferdl. Betty Bird. 70 mins. Dir. Franz Seltz. Rel. March 1.

Oded the Wanderer (Palestine) (Hebrew). Life in Palestine. Dir. C. Halahmi. 65 mins. Rel. May 15.

Parada Rezerwistow (Polish) (Capital). Dir. Michael Waszynski. 75 mins. Rel. May 1.

B&K Garrick Starts Wed. (30) at 40c Scale

Chicago, May 28.

B. & K. will open the former legit Garrick as a picture house on Wednesday (30). Will play subsequent run pictures in 'B' week which calls for 25c afternoon and 40c night prices. Will play flickers on a full week ride and usually those pictures out of the two B.&K. first run spots, McVickers and United Artists.

Initial picture will be 'Wonder Bar' (WB).

Downtown B'klyn Admits Theatres' Importance to Biz

The importance to merchants and other business men of open theatres to attract people downtown is being signally recognized in downtown Brooklyn, N. Y., where things have been looking so bad that local business men are ready to play ball on the ground that by helping the theatres they are at the same time helping themselves. A plan involving all of the big downtown Brooklyn department stores and the Downtown Brooklyn Business Men's Association is under way to draft means by which business enterprises will co-operate with theatres in that zone for mutual benefit.

Tentative scheme provides that the department stores like Namm's, Abraham & Strauss, Loeser's, Oppenheim Collins and others will tie in with one of the big downtown theatres each week. Every store, regardless of the theatre it ties up with, is to carry a box in their ads listing all downtown theatres and pictures. One week Namm's will work with the Fox, next week with Met, then Albee and so on down the line, providing window displays, heralds, wrappers, etc., for benefit of the theatre.

Larry Cowen, publicity manager of the Fox, originated the idea.

COMMISSIONER JARRETT

Carbondale, Ill., May 28.

Roscoe B. Jarrett, picture theatre operator here, has been appointed city commissioner.

Patriots, The (Russ) (Amkino). Dir. . Barnett. 80 mins. Rel. Sept. 15.

Petterson & Bendel (Swedish) (Scandinavian). Comedy-drama with music. Dir. Perl-Axel ranner. 80 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

Quick, Koenig der Clowns (Ufa) (Ger). Comedy. Lilian Harvey, ibers. Dir. Robert Siodmak. 80 mins. Rel. Dec. 1.

Saison in Kairo (German) (Ufa). Musical comedy. Renate Mueller, Willy Fritsch. Dir. Reinhold Schunzel. 80 mins. Rel. Dec. 15. Rev. Dec. 25.

Sang d'un Poete (Fr) (Ricci). Jean Cocteau's idea of modern films. 60 mins. Rel. Nov. 1. Rev. Nov. 7.

Schicksal der Renate Langen (Ger) (General). Domestic drama. Mady Christians, Franz Lederer. Dir. Felix Guenther. 70 mins. Rel. Oct. 15.

Simple Tailor (Russ) (Amkino). Drama of Jewish life. Silent with sound track. Dir. V. Pilner. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 15.

Sobre Las Olas (Mex.) (Latino). Historical romance. ir. Ramon Peon. 70 mins. Rel. March 15.

Serment, Le (Fr.) (Protex). Heavy drama of love. Dir. Abel Gance. 90 mins. Rel. March 1. Rev. March 20.

Sohn Der Weissen Berge (Capital) (Ger.). Alpine drama. Luis Trenker, Renate Mueller. Dir. Mario Bonnard. 75 mins. Rel. Oct. 15.

Sombra de Pancho Villa (Sp) (Col). Life of the Mexican bandit chief. Dir. M. C. Torres. 70 mins. Rel. March 1.

Spy, The (Polish) (Capital). Drama. 80 mins. Rel. March 1.

Stern von Valencia, Der (Ger) (Ufa). White slave traffic in Europe. Liane Haid. Dir. Alfred Zeisler. Rel. April 15.

Storch Hat Ufa Getraut, Der (Ger.) (General). ermaa Kosteritz. 80 mins. Rel. Nov. 15.

Tannenburg (Ger) (European). Military drama. Hans Stuwe. Dir. Heinz Paul. 85 mins. Rel. March 15.

Tante Gusti Kommandiert (Ger). Romantic comedy. Hansi Max Adalbert. Dir. Carl Heinz Wolff. 70 mins. Rel. May 1.

Tausend fur Eine Nacht (Ger) (Capital). Farce. Trude Berliner. Dir. Max Mack. 70 mins. Rel. Feb. 1.

Tochter Der Regiments, Die (Ger) (General). Military musical. Ondra. Dir. Karl Lamac. 70 mins. Rel. April 1.

Trenck (Ger) (General). Military drama. Dorothea Wieck. Dir. Hans Paul and Ernst Neubach. 80 mins. Rel. April 1.

Und es Leuchtet die Puszta (Ger) (Ufa). Musical romance. Wolf Albach-Retty. Dir. Heinz Hille. 80 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Verkaufte Braut (Ger) (Kinematrade). Smetana's operetta diluted. Jamila Novotna. Dir. Max Ophuls. 80 mins. Rel. April 15. Rev. May 1.

Vi Som Gar Kokavagen (Swedish) (Scandinavian). Musical. Rel. April 15.

Volga Volga (Fr.) (dubbed English) (Kinematrade). Adventure of a Cossack Robin Hood. 70 mins. Rel. Dec. 15. Rev. Dec. 25.

Wandering Jew (Jewish American) (Yiddish). Terror of Hitler regime. Ben Aml. Dir. George Rolland. 70 mins. Rel. Oct. 15. Rev. Oct. 24.

Wie Mann Maenner Fesselt (Ger). Franziska Gaal. Musical comedy. Dir. Carl Boese. 75 mins. Rel. May 15.

Wie Sag Ich's Meinen Mann? (Ger) (Ufa). Farce. Renate Mueller. Dir. Reinhold Schuenzel. 70 mins. Rel. Jan. 15.

Wenn Die Liebe Mode Macht (Ufa) (Ger). Comedy with music. Renate Mueller. Dir. Frank Wenzler. 80 mins. Rel. Nov. 1.

Zwei Gute Kameraden (Ger.) (General). Military musical. Fritz Kampers Dir. Max Obal. 75 mins. Rel. Nov. 15.

Key to Address

Acme, 56 East 14 St.
Amkino, 723 Seventh Ave.
Bavaria Film, 489 Fifth Ave.
Blue Ribbon Picts., 154 W. 55th.
Capital Film, 630 Ninth Ave.
Embassy Picts., 729 Seventh Ave.
European Film, 154 West 55th.
Filmchoice, 509 Madison Ave.
Garrison Films, 729 Seventh Ave.
General Foreign Sales, 729 7th Ave.
Jewish American, 630 Ninth Ave.
Kinematrade, 723 Seventh Ave.
Protex Trading, 42 E. 58th.
Edward Ricci, 66 Fifth Ave.
Palestine-America Films, 189 2d Ave.
Scandinavian Films, 220 W. 42d.
Ufa, 729 Seventh Ave.
Worldkino, 1501 Broadway.

Illinois and Protection; Report B&K to Ask Extra Week Clearance

Chicago, May 28.

Fight over protection is in the making and is expected to break with the the new selling season. Balaban & Katz are understood ready to make a flat and general request for increased protection right down the line.

This demand will be made despite the fact that B.&K. were turned down on just that proposition at the recent zoning code board meeting. At that get-together B.&K. proposed that a dead week be placed between all regular release weeks as now scheduled. This would have the effect of exactly doubling the present protection schedule and would mean that it would take 26 weeks to release a picture through the entire territory instead of the present 13 weeks.

Understood that the exchanges are not going to go along with B.&K. on this request and will insist that B.&K. buy pictures according to the present zoning and clearance setup. Feel that if B.&K. wants to change the current zoning system in whole or in part the circuit should make formal application and protest to the motion picture industry code zoning board.

However, B.&K. has the buying power in the Chicago territory and the exchanges will be necessarily influenced by the very bulk of the contracts to be considered and the hefty amount of coin that is involved in the B.&K. picture deals.

Cedar Rapids Theatre Has $100,000 5-Hr. Fire

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 28.

In a $100,000 blaze the Majestic theatre, L. F. Garman, manager, town's oldest and largest playhouse, vaude and stage for many years and lately a motion picture house, was gutted by fire of unknown origin Friday (25).

Had been closed for a week and readying for on the stage entertainment. Projection booth, pipe organ and balcony were twisted masses of steel from the intense heat, the blaze resisting efforts of firemen more than five hours.

Scully Confesses

(Continued from page 2)

an ice cream cone and going gaga over the tumbling tricks of your six-months'-old daughter, then Lachman has certainly changed a lot since he used to be the Chicago Tribune's child photographer, 20 years ago.

An Orgy

He invited us a party that night. 'Your bosses will be there,' he explained. 'Clive Brook is moving across the street — you know how it is in Hollywood—and we're giving him a party.'

'Orgies,' I think they used to call them. Well, I had read about those parties. We went prepared to fight for our honor. But there wasn't any fight. There was only a nice home and a nice garden and a quiet array of guests. We were asked did we want something to drink. We chose a lemon squash. It didn't get us thrown out. For all I could see I might just as well have kept those evening clothes. I promised myself not to go out nights and if I had no evening clothes I couldn't go out. So, at least, I reasoned. But if they're going to be so nice as not to mind and invite you anyway—

So if all of Hollywood is similar to what I've seen in a week I'm afraid I'm going Hollywood.

Story Buys

Hollywood, May 28.

'King of the Ritz,' an orig by Albert J. Cohen and Robert T. Shannon, has been taken at Warners, champion chef yarn for James Cagney or Pat O'Brien.

'Her Excellency's Tobacco Shop,' by Bus Fekete; taken by Metro for Ramon Novarro.

Vina Delmar's 'Man Crazy,' by Metro for Joan Crawford.

Several new story purchases have been made by Par, including 'Goddess,' by Paul Hervey Fox; 'Target,' an original with an Annapolis background, by Stephen Morehouse Avery, and dialog rights to the George S. Kaufman-Marc Connelly play, 'To the Ladies.' Following purchase of 'Rhuma' from Guy Endore, the author has gone to Hollywood to aid on the adaptation.

'Eye of the Eagle,' orig by Neil Shipman, has been taken by Par for Cary Grant and Frances Drake.

Lone Star has taken 'The Dawn Rider,' orig by Burl R. Tuttle, as the next for John Wayne.

Metro takes film rights to 'No More Ladies,' N. Y. stage comedy by A. E. Thomas.

Contracts

Hollywood, May 28.

Warners has exercised option on Virginia Pine.

Maybelle Lewis, appearing in 'Shim Sham Revue,' in Hollywood, given pact at Par.

Dorothy Dare pacted at Warners for 'Sweet Adeline.'

Preston Foster gets seven year pact at Metro. Initialer 'The Painted Veil,' with Greta Garbo.

Fox has picked up option on Lew Ayres.

Jack Donahue, dance director, contracted by Fox to act as well as handle dance scenes.

Wesley Ruggles tied at Par for another year.

CUMMINGS ON COMEDIES

Hollywood, May 28.

Jack Cummings, head of Metro shorts production, is changing to the feature field and, with Charles Reisner, will handle a unit making four full length comedies for next year's program. Reisner is to direct, the first comedy starting when he completes 'Student Tour.'

Marty Brooks, who assisted Cummings, takes over his shorts job.

GEO. SCHENCK'S SIESTA

George Schenck, older brother of Nick and Joe Schenck, left Saturday (26) to vacation in California. He has been in ill health.

Schenck is a Loew district manager in Brooklyn. While away, his houses will be divided among the other six district chieftains in the metropolitan area.

AIR PRESSURE HITS BRITAIN

Broadcasters, Advertisers Will Mull Many Problems June 19-20

National Association of Broadcasters and the American Federation of Advertisers will meet to discuss the commercial problems of radio on June 19-20 at the Pennsylvania hotel.

Topics slated for the opening day are 'Standardizing Units of Sale and Rate Practices Under the Code,' by James Baldwin; 'Suggested Standard Forms for Local Contracts,' by Roy Harlow of the Yankee Network; 'The Present Trend of Station Relations with Advertising Agencies,' also by Roy Harlow. Martin Campbell will lead a discussion by Walter Damm of WTMJ on 'Studying Listener Habits' and on 'What We Have Learned About Station Coverage,' by C. M. Jansky.

Second Day Line-Up

On the following day the talks will be started by Francis D. Bowman, advertising manager of the Carborundum company, on 'Making a Program Work.' Harry Howlett of WHK will tell them about 'Station Merchandising and the Radio Program.' Dr. Herman S. Hettinger will discuss 'The Market for Radio Advertising.' Leslie Fox speaks on 'Pertinent Problems of Radio Sales,' while Roy Witmer of ABC will bring up the eternal question of 'Studio's Audiences—Yes or No?'

H. K. Carpenter of WPTF has 'Are You Making a Profit and How Do You Know?' and gabfest winds up with John Patt of WGAR telling the assembly how to go about 'Solving the Relations of the Station and the Network.'

BOSS PROVIDES CAR FOR KFEL HOLIDAYS

Denver, May 28.

A week's vacation with pay—and a Ford V8 to use.

KFEL, a half-time station here, is doing that for its employees this summer. Eugene O'Fallon, owner of the station, makes th gesture.

This station operates 66 hours a week, and uses three operators, each working 22. And with a minimum wage scale of $20 in the station the NRA doesn't affect the station.

CHARITY PAYS

Belle Baker, Sid Gary Auditioned At Benefit

Belle Baker and Sid Gary will head the King's Beer show, which starts June 2 on WABC, New York. It's Miss Baker's first commercial since the Every-Ready program two years ago.

Sam Rosoff, the subway builder-brewer, personally selected Miss Baker and Gary for King's after seeing them at a New York benefit performance last week. Probably the first time any actor has caught anything but a cold from playing a benefit.

Peabody with NBC

Eddie Peabody, who completed five months at the Hollywood Restaurant on Broadway Saturday (26) passes from the management of his friend, Rudy Vallee, to the NBC Artists Service. It's an amicable separation between Vallee and the banjoist.

At NBC the booking of Peabody will be entrusted to Harold Kemp. Peabody's commercial for Pure Oil runs until July.

Brokenshire's 3-Way Job

Norman Brokenshire, former spieler on the Chesterfield cigaret shows, has taken a three-way assignment with WOR, Newark.

Station unveils next Tuesday night (5) a program in which he will announce, do a comedy patter act and conduct the orchestra.

Censor Insull Gag

NBC feared the gag on at least two of the personages mentioned, and so it cut out of Fred Allen's script for the Sal Hepatica-Ipana program the joke that Samuel Insull made his biggest mistake when he left the United States as he would have been safe had he, like Machado and Dillinger, remained in the country.

Insull as head of the Commonwealth Edison Co. was responsible for the turning over of WENR, Chicago, to NBC three years ago.

TIME BREAK A MUST, SEZ NBC

Agencies with full hour programs have been advised by NBC that henceforth they will have to so routine their segments of the clock as to allow for a station announcement on the half hour. Although a regulation of the Federal Radio Commission specifically requires this break, both NBC and Columbia have got into the habit of permitting their 60-minute commercials to run through without local interruption.

NBC's reminder to the agencies was done to forestall a sudden kickback from the commission. Agencies principally affected are J. Walter Thompson and Benton and Bowles, each responsible for three full hour affairs on the web.

Freckle Cream Tests E-M-O Pix Fan Column; Planning Expansion

Chicago, May 28.

Stillman freckle cream is going on WJJD, the local Ralph Atlass station for a series based on the E-M-O picture fan gossip column. Figures as a test and if a click Stillman will spread to other stations now using the E-M-O fan service, which is understood to be on about 60 at present on sustaining.

E-M-O is E. M. Orowitz, the former advertising and publicity director for the RKO theatres.

BERNIE IN CHICAGO FOR PABST 3D ANN.

Chicago, May 28.

Ben Bernie and band due back in Chicago on June 12 for their third anniversary on the Pabst Blue Ribbon broadcast.

Bernie is still hot for a Fair spot but no negotiations have yet reached any agreement.

KFWB LOSES 'LAFF CLINIC'

Los Angeles, May 28.

KFWB has lost the Wilshire Oil 'Laff Clinic,' a weekly vaude show, to KHJ and the Coast Don Lee network.

On the new station, routine has been changed to have the material originate from a court room, with the handle now the 'Laff Court.' Principal characters will be Kenneth Niles, Hanley Stafford, Windy Heran, Pedro Gonzales and J. C. Lewis.

Vern Ripley, who was to have reported to WSGN, joined WAPI, Birmingham, after arriving in town area.

GOOD PROGRAM BLIGHTS BIZ

Broadcasting with Attractive Entertainment Hurts London Theatres

FIRST TASTE

London, May 20.

Royal Command Performance which is given annually in London with the King and Queen present was broadcast for the first time this year. And theatre owners and managers are still calculating how much they lost in paid admissions that night because of citizens staying at home to tune in.

For the broadcast privilege of the Royal Command Performance the British Broadcasting Corporation, government controlled, paid the sum of $2,500 to the Variety Artistes' Benevolent Fund. Program consisting of the best of English and American vaudeville headliners was an all-evening affair from the Palladium theatre, London.

London theatre managers alone figure that at least $100,000 in theatre admissions was lost to them because of the broadcast. Cinemas and variety houses throughout the provinces were half empty or worse. Restaurants, cafes, saloons, also suffered big shrinkage in average business that night.

In England the radio is not allowed to compete with theatres ordinarily. Nature of the programs, the long periods of silence between programs, all tend to keep radio pretty much in its own compartment. Incident of the Royal Command Performance broadcast probably gave some English showmen their first taste of radio competition. And indubitably they didn't fancy it. Whether the playhouses will combine to fight next year's Royal Command Performance going on the air is of course not known.

The 'Command Performance' broadcast and its $1,000,000 estimated damage to the English theatre boxoffices coincides with the theories of international show people that the present high stage of British theatrical prosperity can be traced directly to the radio—or, rather, the lack of it as regards England.

That the same thing can eventuate in England and its blight on the b.o.'s repeated as in America is vividly exemplified by the damage through the 'Command Performance' broadcast. It indicates that given something worthwhile in the ease and comfort of their homes around the radio loudspeaker the paying public will be deterred from going out into West End or the neighborhood cinemas and will accept the lazier of the two entertainments, staying home for economy and comfort.

But the BBC's dry and limited programs, with but an hour of dance music, and the educational and talk programs on the air in the evening are not conducive to keeping 'em home and has thus kept radio from becoming much of an anti-theatre bane.

Show people in America and abroad recognize that when the Cantors, Jolsons, Vallees, Bennys, Allens, et al. are on the air they're tough opposish to the other forms of living and shadow entertainment in auditoriums which require (1) a trip out from the home, and (2) a fee at a box office for admission.

Harry Fox to Coast

Harry Fox of the Music Publishers Protective Association left for the Coast Friday (25) to straighten out matters pertaining to transcription licenses with radio disc makers and ad agencies in the Pacific

Litigation Spree for Foreign Composers Is Radio's Fear If America Ratifies Berne Pact

NBC Vetoes Sprites

program department took no chances on leaving itself open to kidding from the Broadway columnists and thumbed down last week a British Broadcasting Co. stanza, 'What th Fairies Know,' offered it for American rebroadcast.

Affair was described as a 'fantasy for midsummer eve.'

DICKENS HOT AS AIR DRAMA

Hollywood, May 28.

With Dickens' stories currently popular at studios for films, radio is likewise getting hot on the material of this author.

Several local stations are planning etherizing of Dickens' stuff, with KFWB first under the wire with a serialization of 'Tale of Two Cities,' starting tonight (Monday).

Program is being written and handled by Sara Langman as a sustainer, with cast including Frank Glendon, Fred McKaye, Janet Nolan and Cy Kendall.

WBBM Sells Weeks Air Discs as Orch. Starts WGN Sustaining Ride

Chicago, May 28.

Taking advantage of the opening of the Anson Weeks orchestra at the Aragon ballroom in Chicago, WBBM rushed in with a number of Weeks radio discs. Sold the idea to Studebaker for sponsorship. It is widely thought in Chicago that the WBBM radio disc splurge on Phil Harris last year hurt the Harris band stay at the College Inn.

Weeks and the Aragon are regularly on Andrew Karzas previously to give WBBM the Aragon-Trianon wire, but Karzas remained loyal to WGN.

GROUP BREAKS ICE

First Contract Is for Chrysler 15 Min. Discs

Group Broadcasters, Inc., composed of a group of 27 indie operated stations, last week closed its first commercial contract. Deal is with Chrysler Motor Co., with the plug involving the manufacturer's air flow and Chrysler Six models.

Production of the recorded shows, a dual series including Frank Luther and the Men Around Town quartet, will be in charge of the Byer studios. One series will carry out the style idea of the Chrysler model and the other the speed qualities. Discs will be timed for 15 minutes each and will have a minimum run of 13 weeks.

Contracts were through the Lee Anderson agency.

Nilsson, Dana on Air

Hollywood, May 28.

Anna Q. Nilsson and Viola Dana will have the principal parts in a radio serial 'The Boulevard of Make Believe,' to be disced here by Radio Release.

It's one of those Hollywood affairs dealing with an extra girl's rise to film stardom. It will be directed by Georgia Fifield.

Strenuous opposition to the ting Bill, which would make this country a party to the Berne Copyright Convention, is anticipated from American broadcasting interests when the measure comes up for a hearing Washington this week. Radio will contend that the adoption of Senator Cuttings' amendment to the United States copyright statute would place it at the mercy of any foreign composer who is disposed to sue for infringement of copyright.

Under the Cutting Bill, which would change the American copyright law so as to make it conform with the provisions of the Berne convention, it would no longer be necessary for a foreign composer to register his work in this country or obtain copyright protection here through the process of publication. Berne convention gives the writer international copyright protection without the formality of registration in any of the countries allied with the Berne pact.

Nuisance Suits

Argument set up by the American broadcasters is that the Berne arrangement would create a performing rights monopoly and would subject radio to thousands of claims for copyright infringements caused unwittingly.

At the present time broadcasting recognizes as copyrighted material only those works registered in Washington, and everything else is rated in the public domain. With the principle of the Berne Convention in effect here, radio would be restricted to using the compositions controlled by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers and a couple indie European performing rights agencies represented on this side, out of fear of running into an infringement jam.

American broadcasting maintains that the letting down of the registration bars would expose it to millions of dollars' worth of copyright violation suits a year from foreign sources. Lined up to battle the Cutting Bill in behalf of the broadcasters is Senator C. C. Dill of Washington. Also committed to oppose the measure are the motion picture producers as represented in the Will Hays organization.

ill No Threat

Given slight hope of passage, the Cutting bill for American adherence to International Copyright Union came up for consideration today (Mon.) before Senate Foreign Relations Committee in Washington, D.C.

Enactment of measure was requested by officials of State Department, Library of Congress, and representatives of American authors. Radio and picture opponents go on Tuesday (29).

Expecting to complete hearing this week, sub-committee headed by Senator Duffy of Wisconsin does not anticipate action before adjournment due to controversial nature of proposal, although part of opposition is said to have dwindled through conversion of Federation of Labor by advocates of American entry into Union.

Ota Gygi Promoting

Chicago, May 28.

Ota Gygi, former vice-president of the erstwhile Amalgamated network (Ed Wynn), is here. He is associated with Harry Delf, vaude and screen actor-writer, in a program building idea for feeding to stations from a central point throug wires.

Edward G. Nockles, mentioned as interested, disavows any affiliation on WCFL's part with the venture.

Press Owned-Operated Stations Talk Special Representatives For Print-Ether Sales Coupling

Chicago, May 28.

Trend towards the coupling of radio and newspaper ads for complete market coverage has led newspaper owned and operated stations to feel that they should have a special sales representative to present their sales argument to the advertising agencies and sponsors. Several newspaper owned and operated stations have already put out feelers for a possible meeting of all stations this summer to form some sort of individual style of representation.

These newspaper owned transmitters feel that they belong in a field that's separate and distinct from the other radio stations without newspaper ownership, and that they need a sales representative who recognizes these differences and angles.

Particularly do they believe so because of the growing tendency of clients to place advertising on both the station and the newspaper and to ask for special rate consideration because of this doubling. And the newspaper-radio outfits are inclined to agree with the clients that this two-edged advertising schedule needs individual attention.

Air-Minded Reps

These stations don't want the regular newspaper representatives to handle their business because the stations feel these print reps are not sufficiently radio-minded and radio-educated to sell radio properly or effectively. This has been proven by several conspicuous failures of newspaper representatives trying to handle the newspaper-owned station sales.

Entire advertising business has come to recognize this strong bond between the newspapers and the station affiliates, so that it has become difficult to keep the two separate. Many advertisers have fallen into the habit of sending a schedule of business to the station and then writing 'reader pluge' for the newspaper to handle. And they have put up squawks when the newspapers have failed to print these yarns.

Charlotte Air Show For Armory at 10-15c

Charlotte, N. C., May 28.

J. F. Fincher, manager of Crazy Crystals (patent medicine), is negotiating to lease the local Armory-Auditorium, with a capacity of 10,000 persons in order to put on a two-and-a-half hour performance every Saturday night. Probably a small admission, 10 or 15 cents, will be assessed. Show would consist entirely of hillbillies who work practically free as the Charlotte program is called a 'training school' for hillbillies and the possibility of other Crazy Crystal companies in other cities sponsoring the various acts is the attraction offered the backwoods talent.

Station WBT will pick up the program by remote control. Combination of the broadcast and a patent medicine providing 10,000 cheap seats in a city of 80,000 population competing with motion pictures on the best night of the week has irked the theatre showmen hereabouts plenty.

New KMOX Faces

t. Louis, May 28.

KMOX has made certain shifts and additions to its staff, bringing in Martin Wickett as musical director.

Also adding Jane Porter as guiding light of the station's Magic Kitchen program.

YODELLING FOR PERUNA

Chicago, May 28.

Harry O'Neal continues to grind out shows and copy for the United Remedies products. Latest order is for 48 radio discs to plug Peruna.

Talent is Uncle Lem and the Apple-knockers with Dick Voynow at the local Columbia recording lab setting the yodellers in the wax.

M. E. Coyle, president of Chevrolet, sailed for Europe May 26 from Manhattan.

Pinkie Lee Alone

San Francisco, May 28.

Inkie Lee has dropped out of the vaude team of Lee, Port and Dotty to go it alone in radio as a monologist, getting an NBC ticket for six weeks with an option for more. After his first program last Saturday night comic got a wire from Detroit, where his mother and father had been seriously injured in an auto crash, so he got a leave of absence and aeroplaned back there. Will return this week.

Lee was signed by Lew Reis, former p. a. for Fox-West Coast, who sold him the network. Because of his bustup with Port and Dotty, Lee paid their train fare back to New York, where latter pair plan a new vaude turn.

Ruggles-Boland Combo Indef for Lehn & Fink

'Hall of Fame' series for Lehn and Fink on NBC Sunday nights will drop its guesting policy with the July 1 program and go in for a string of comedy sketches with Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland in the lead parts.

Change in the show's plotting will obviate the necessity for the agency on the account, Lennen and Mitchell, to maintain a producer in Hollywood whence it has drawn most of the program's guestees. Jack Nelson, who has been on this Coast assignment the past three months, returns to New York at the end of June.

39, Skidoo for Sylvia; She Tries Vaudeville

Ralston Purina (Ry-Krisp) retires Madame Sylvia from her Friday night niche on NBC June 22, making it a run of 39 weeks for the masseuse. She will be brought back for a similar mike series in the fall.

Madame Sylvia makes her personal appearance bow in a six-person act opening at the Metropolitan, Brooklyn, this Friday (1). If her dramatized reduction idea clicks other Loew time will follow.

Woodbury Return Dated

Woodbury soap returns the Elsie Hitz-Nick Dawson combination to NBC Sept. 24 in another serial authored by Carl Bixby. New script show will retain the characterizations of 'Dangerous Paradise,' in which Dawson did a royal mounted and Miss Hitz a globe-trotting reporter.

Time contract on the blue (WJZ) is for a minimum of 26 weeks.

Look Into Aurandt

San Francisco, May 28.

Dick Aurandt, KFRC organist, is in French hospital, where he parted with the appendix last week. Gertrude Lyne substituting at the studio console during his absence.

Another KFRC staffer, Jean Ellington, singer, is back on the job after a throat ailment shut her out of opening with Ben Bernie at the Orpheum.

Colgate Shifting

Colgate's 'House Party' show on NBC is switching time.

Moving from its present Saturday spot to Mondays. Last Saturday broadcast is June 2, then lays off nine days to return on June 11.

ICE CREAM'S MIN. PLUGS

Chicago, May 28.

Good Humor ice cream company has had the local Brunswick recording studios turn out a series of 48 one-minute dramatized announcements for the midwest and south territories.

Placed through Mitchell-Faust agency here.

ALWAYS SUSPICIOUS

WCAU Musicians' Salaries Again Excites Union

Philadelphia, May 28.

Local Musicians' Union stepped in last week to snatch $35 of the weekly salary of the WCAU house band. Money was held in escrow, pending investigation of station's operations as regarding band's salary.

Action is backwash of trouble which brewed several weeks ago, during reign of Paul Mason's unit at WCAU. Former band had been allegedly playing under scale, and union wasn't taking any chances with Jan Savitt's orchestra, just in.

A quick look at the situation caused the union to drop charges and smooth the matter over. Individual men in the band are reported incensed.

ARTHUR BERGH AIRS LENNEN & MITCHELL

Arthur Bergh quits as radio production head at the Lennen & Mitchell agency, with Mann Holiner, formerly with Federal Broadcasting, succeeding. Bergh is through as of June 1.

Holiner was a song writer and also did a standard act in vaudeville before going radio.

3 Ill. Utilities Co-op on WGN 'Headlines' Show

Chicago, May 28.

Lord and Thomas agency here has signatured with WGN, the Tribune station, for the 'Headlines of Yesterday' show, which last week entered its third year on ether. Show moves from its previous Atlas Beer sponsorship to gas heating, with three utilities footing the bill. Companies involved are Peoples Gas Light, Public Service of Northern Ill. and the Western United Gas and Electric.

Show will continue to ride seven nights weekly with flashbacks to old-time headlines and will be miked by Quin Ryan. Take-over date is June 4.

Jimmy Grier Orchestra Set for Benny Programs

NBC's proposal that the Jimmy Grier unit be used during the run of the Jack Benny stanza from Hollywood has been okayed by General Tire. Grier and the comic get together for the first time this Friday (1).

Grier's previous commercial contact was with Bing Crosby for Woodbury soap on CBS. This program folded last night (28).

Firestone Sticks

Firestone Tires isn't quitting NBC for the summer as it has in previous years. Starting with next Monday's (4) broadcast the entertainment will be left to a unit under William Merrigan Daly and a mixed choir. Lawrence Tibbett and Richard Crooks will resume their alternating stint on the session in the early fall.

Tire maker decided not to pull out over the warm spell when NBC advised that there were several other commercials with options on the half-hour niche and that there would be no assurance of Firestone getting it back in the fall.

Dorothy Page Inherits

Chicago, May 28.

With Irene Beaseley pretty busy on commercial programs it's set that Dorothy Page, new NBC import, will be given Beaseley's sustaining spots on the network.

Page comes in from a long stay as warbler with Seymour Simon's orchestra, now at the Blackhawk.

VENABLE-MONTGOMERY AIR

Los Angeles, May 28.

Evelyn Venable and Douglas Montgomery will be featured on the CBS Coast Sheli Show tonight (Monday).

They will be leads in a dramatic playlet.

Don Searle, general manager of WIBW, Topeka, Kans., has engaged Bernar Fennar as continuity supervisor.

Air Line News

By Nellie Revell

Frank Parker will not go to the Coast, despite reports to the contrary. The artists' bureau at NBC left it up to the Revelers to find a replacement for Parker—one whose voice would blend with the quartet and still be able to do Frank's solos. Last Saturday morning the 'Revelers' had not found a suitable substitute, which resulted in George Engels advising Parker that he was expected to remain. Jack Benny left for the Coast Saturday and will probably recruit someone there.

Schlitz Set

The new Schlitz Beer show which will replace the current half-hour program is slated to be on the air for a one-hour stretch. Talent consists of Everett Marshall, Vivien Ruth, Frank Crumit, Stoopnagle and Budd and Vic Young ork. Arthur Pryor handled Chicago end of deal, while Roy Durstine looked after New York auditions. There is a possibility that show may be sold for less than slated hour schedule, in which case Stoopnagle and Budd may be dropped.

roke Goes

Norman Brokenshire, one of radio's pioneer announcers, starts a sustaining June 5 over WOR, conducting his own ork.

Brokenshire has had a yen to do this for many years, but has not had the opportunity previously. Brokenshire is to conduct the program entirely himself doubling as commentator and announcer for his numbers and guest artists.

After Three Years

George Hall is leaving the Taft hotel, New York, after a three-year engagement. Hall wanted a three weeks' leave of absence for a dance tour of southern colleges, which the management refused. Since Hall felt he was entitled to the time off and no deal could be arranged it was mutually decided to terminate the contract.

Short Shots

The Fleet Parade as reviewed over WINS will be sponsored by the Empire Gold Buying Service....James McConnell of sales dept. at NBC, will be wed in Detroit next week and take a three-week honeymoon before returning....Jack Berger will have both WOR and NBC wires from Astor Roof when he opens on June 5....Bob Grant ork will have an NBC wire from the Mounds Club, St. Louis....Frank Curran is 'The Voice of Health', a medical 'voice of experience', sponsored by Modern Medical Ass'n over WNEW and WMCA....CBS has new sustaining show coming up. Dramatization of Terris Traveltalks which are well known film shorts....Soconyland Sketches are experimenting with a new commercial; great secrecy about the technique; supposedly something startling different....Paul White, head of CBS public events broadcasts, is in Chicago handling World's Fair pickups....Ed Lowry writes his own material for his NBC program....Freddy Martin, Mike Porter, Jimmy Melton and Stoopnagle and Budd will watch the fleet coming up the river in their own little river craft....Frank Luther suddenly decided he was homesick last week, and two hours later was on a plane bound for Kansas....Three Scamps will make six recordings....Tom Coates, new announcer at CBS, comes from WMCA....Jean Sargeant will sing in the Benny picture....A. A. Gormier, vice-president at WOR, has been resident of N. Y. for almost eight years and was never tapped for jury duty. Last week he was called after he had moved to New Jersey.

Scrambled Notes

B. A. Rolfe, Ed Lowry and the Cavaliers auditioned for White Rock at NBC last week. Show also had dramatic sketch which client didn't like and had reauditioned later in week....Walter Preston, western program manager for CBS and WBBM, Chicago key station, is organizing a Columbia artist bureau to operate in Chicago. Was in town for conference with CBS moguls....'The Spirits of Rhythm', NBC sextet, sails for Monte Carlo with Felix Ferry June 27.....John B. Gambling, WOR announcer, recuperating at dad's home in Cambridge, England....Joe Cook and Don Voorhees reunited on Colgate show after five years. Worked together in 'Rain or Shine', a Cook musical of pre-depression days....Jolson returns to the Kraft show early in July....Elsie Hitz and Nick Dawson will show thrice weekly for Woodbury in the fall....Death Valley Days was renewed for 52 weeks....Ethel Shutta will be piped in from Galveston for her Nestle show four times starting June 1....Paul Keast is sole vocalist on CBS Silver Dust show....Thelma Goodwin, who shared vocal spot with Keast, is off starting tonight (Monday)....RCA-Victor auditioned the Frank Black operettas that Lucky Strike listened to....Fred Uttal, former CBS announcer, now free-lancing, is emoting on Borden '45 Minutes to Hollywood' show....Larry Hasbrouck, vocalist in Don Bigelow ork over NBC, was at one time member of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne staff....Reggie Childs and 'The Country Gentlemen' audition next week for CBS baking account....Rudy Vallee yanked Eddie Peabody from Maxwell show last week at the last minute for use on his show. Vallee was supposed to use Charles Alcott but deal fell through at last minute and Peabody was switched....Tim Frawley emoting on Death Valley Days....Will Osborne will be heard over WOR twice weekly from Playland in Rye.

Stand By

Mills Blue Rythm Band auditioned for Listerine....Ben Alley recovered from a wee bit of laryngitis and resumed his NBC and CBS commercial....Firestone tires auditioned a summer show....Wilfred Lytell, brother of Bert Lytell, is emoting at NBC....Cook show switches to Monday eves June 11....Irene Taylor returns to NBC at end of her six week Loew tour....Ralston show with Tom Mix returns to air Oct. 1....Andre Baruch trouped with his own ork before switching to announcing. At one time he was staff pianist on seven small local stations....With Camel leaving air June 6, Glen Gray will be heard over CBS three times weekly at 11:15....If the 'Franconia' doesn't dock on time returning from a round-the-world cruise, Hendrik Van Loon will miss his Valiee show engagement....Nate Tufts switched from J. Walter Thompson to Rauthruff-Ryan where he will handle the Boston radio dept....Tom Luckenbill takes over Cutex account at Thompson, which Tufts handled before change....'Dixie Circus Parade' may troupe for one-nighters this summer....Lord & Thomas is building show around Tom Howard for Lucky Strike. Auditioned Al Siegal and Caroline Marsh, Frances Langford and Mary Cortlandt....Al Goodman and Martha Mears auditioned for American Radiator....Paul Whiteman auditioning talent in search for choir for Kraft show....Parker Games, Inc., auditioned a new mystery show at NBC. Script by Elizabeth Todd. Show gives listeners all the clues and then asks for letters with solution. Correct answer wins free game....Dean Markham from Paramount lot in Hollywood to production staff at NBC....Albert N. Hoxie Harmonica band of 125 uniformed youngsters auditioned at NBC last week....Larry Harding, CBS announcer, does the press radio reports in the morning. Is six foot six, which gives him a half inch on Tiny Ruffner. Harding played center on the Stanford team that starred Ernie Nevers....American Weekly, insert in Hearst Sunday papers, is on WOR with a recording once weekly. What about WINS?....WOR will use NBC's hook-up for the fleet review....WOR plan to utilize an Army blimp for broadcast fell through and they tied in with NBC....Commercials on that afternoon stepped aside to give their listeners a chance to hear review....Ironized Yeast auditioned talent at NBC.

DIRECT AIR SALES EXITING

A&P, Big Daytime Pioneer, Folds Radio Department; 18 Lose Jobs

Great Atlantic and Pacific Stores, one of the pioneering big spenders in daytime broadcasting, has folded its radio department. Move involved the letting out of 18 persons and followed the chain's decision to shut down on all forms of daytime air merchandizing and restrict itself to the Harry Horlich stanza on NBC Monday nights.

For years the A. and P. lead the daytime radio field with its annual expenditures. Its morning affair with 'Judge Gordon,' 'Colonel Goodbody' and George Rector, filled a niche on NBC six times a week. Supplementing this were spot broadcasting campaigns. Even after the chain about a year ago withdrew the Gordon-Goodbody-Rector combination it maintained a radio department to handle the broadcasting of the Horlick program from the A. and P. exhibit at the Chicago World's Fair.

Chicago, May 28.

Atlantic and Pacific grocery stores are quitting their ether parades in four cities towards the end of June. Have been using 120-minute musical clocks in four midwest key spots, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Milwaukee, the shows running from 7-9 a.m. with records and announcements.

Has been a 26-week ride on these stations, and placed through the Charles Daniel Frey agency here. May return to the stations in the fall, but if at all, likely with a shorter schedule.

Radio Illusions

Reflex on the radio theatre audience thing is the instance of one woman who went to Maxwell House Showboat program and was very much disappointed in not seeing Cap'n Henry's Showboat literally pull up on the rostrum, nor see the curtain rise and fall with each changing act.

Now all her illusions about the radio are shattered.

BOB CONVEY STEPS INTO DAD'S SHOES

St. Louis, May 28.

Set that Bob Convey will assume the lead spot of KWK, taking the place left vacant by the death of his father, Thomas Convey, last week. New chief man has been on the station for some time as Bob Thomas, sports announcer.

Clarence Cosby, commercial manager, will take over additional duties in general management of the station.

TUXEDOS ARE EXTRA

Odds-Bodki , Stooges Rebel at Unsponsored Bosoms

Bristol-Myer's 'Hour of Smiles' on NBC Wednesday nights has a costuming problem. Sponsor believes that since the program is broadcast before a studio audience the thing should be done in real theatre-like style and everybody in the cast instructed to dress especially for the occasion. Stumbling block to the commercial's idea are Fred Allen's stooges, who have been asked to wear formal evening regalia. Allen's stooge brigade don't object to the incongruity of doing clown parts in starched fronts and decolete as much as they do to furnishing this stylish wear without collecting extra for it.

Sponsor has taken care of Lennie Hayton's musicians by equiping each of them with a red and yellow mess-jacket. As for Fred Allen the commercial couldn't decide whether it should be formal swallow-tail and all the trimmings or a pair of white flannels and a dark blue coat. Allen solved the dilemma by appearing before the mike last Wednesday night in the latter toggery.

Agency on the 'Hour of Smiles' has also had its worries with the costuming of Palmolive's Tuesday night operetta tabloids. For one of these programs the actors filling minor parts had been overlooked with the result that the broadcast itself produced the bizarre picture of players garbed in regalia of the 17th Century carrying on, before the mike, opposite others in the cast dressed in their everyday street clothes.

RADIO DISCS' SURCHARGE ENDS

Chicago, May 28.

With radio discs getting their faces washed and receiving official okays from NBC for its individual stations the next step in the general rejuvenation of platters in the industry is the trend towards the elimination of the nuisance tax on ether discs. Stations are now largely doing away with the radio platter surcharge, with the past week bringing two large western Columbia web spots into the picture with announcements of the cancellation of the disc surcharge.

Starting June 1 WCCO in Minneapolis will kick its previous 20% radio platter surcharge in the alley. But that 20% is peanuts compared with the Don Lee stroke out on the west coast where he is eliminating a regular 50% surcharge on discs during the daylight hour. However, the Lee stations are continuing their stiff surcharge for discs during the evening hours in an attempt to make the cost for night discs prohibitive.

Other than the occasional feeling against radio discs the reason for the surcharge was usually due to the extra cost to the station, such as the additional union help in several spots and particularly the fact that discs were usually sent in by time brokers. But with the business shifting over to exclusive reps and the time brokers being sliced from the picture the stations are saving that time brokerage fee and are passing that saving on to the advertiser.

Easy Aces Renew

Goodman and Jane Ace and Jad Salts are mutually agreed to continue the association next fall. Present plans call for the Easy Aces to drop off July 6 and resume Oct. 3. At that time a salary tilt will apply.

Most of the current broadcast season the Aces were on afternoons but now have a thrice weekly evening schedule which the sponsor contemplates as the arrangement for next season.

Meanwhile the Aces could not accept the film offer from Hollywood, as it meant immediate production.

Lukemia Fatal to Warren

Boston, May 28.

George J. Warren, for the past year chief engineer at WEAN, Providence, died May 22 at the Waltham (Mass.) hospital from lukemia, after an illness of six weeks.

A native of Waltham, he attended Waltham High School, Haverhill Academy, and Massachusetts Radio School. He was made chief engineer at WEAN after serving for some time as control operator at WNAC. He had also spent some time on the west coast with the Don Lee chain. He was 28 years old.

PUBLIC QUITS SENDING COIN

Farmers and Others No Longer Enclosing Cash in Envelope for Blind Purchases—Direct Sales Had Five-Year Span

HITS AND MISSES

Chicago, May 28.

'Handsome, beautiful, useful; send your money.' That phrase, reiterated through thousands of loudspeakers for the past five years, is fading rapidly. Direct sales are passing out of the picture as a source of revenue to radio stations. The public is fed up, finished, through. No more will they stick a dollar bill into an envelop and hope that the stockings fit or that the candy will be fit to eat.

It has been estimated by specialists in the field that more than 750 distinct and separate items have been offered to the public for direct sales over the microphone. The more popular merchandise has been perfume, stockings, electric clocks, silverware, candy, novels, books of instruction, song books, mechanical gadgets, such as dinguses to make your 1917 flivver act like a two-year-old and make 80 to 90 miles on a half-pint of gasoline, neckties, overalls, shirts, cosmetic and, finally, medical preparations of all sizes and shapes, ranging from 'new gland life' to tar oil hair shampoo.

But the direct sales muggs are on the descending curve of the business chart; they have discovered that you can fool the people some of the time, but that after they're gaffed two or three times with phoney merchandise they get fishhooks in their pockets and the coin won't come out of hiding even if they were offered saw-bucks for a frogskin. The public has been gimmicked into a state of perpetual sneer. They're tired of hunting bargains over the loudspeaker, and are returning to the friendly gypping of their town's general store.

Stations Tightening

Stations are growing more strict in regard to direct sales account. During the lean years of the depresh they allowed anybody who had a couple of bucks to buy time on the transmitter and nuts-to-the-listener. But with general biz on the upgrade the stations are getting enough legit accounts to take care of their overhead without risking public censure through gimmick clients.

During the heyday of the direct sales there were examples of outstanding clicks and brutal failures. Topping everything for direct sales was the song-book, and particularly the hill-billy song-book. Selling for two-bits or half a buck, they have sold into the countless millions among the farm element of the country.

After songbooks, which appealed to everybody, comes perfume and stockings. No one has ever been able to explain why this should be. Some claim it is an act of God.

Elaborate Stuff Out

Outstanding fizzes in direct sales have been electric clocks, candy and medical preparations. Bust-up of the electric clock attempt was due to the facts, first, that most direct sales customers don't have electricity, and, second, it was a mechanical gadget which took plenty of involved vocabulary to explain. Direct sales men all state that the article must be simple and understandable immediately. Best of all are articles which the public knows—stockings, shirts, handkerchiefs, and such. As soon as it gets involved the public can't understand what it's all about and won't send any money for articles can't understand.

Auditioned Merchandise

One firm which has had a regular direct sales booking office never accepted articles for plugging over the other unless they gave it the audition test first. Anyone coming in to sell the outfit an article had to do the selling job from the other side of the door. Only the voice was permitted; no drawings, hand-waving or demonstrations. If the article could be made understandable from the other side of the door, the direct sales office would take a chance on it for the radio

Amos-Andy Off Air First Time To Visit Europe; Junis Folds

According to present plans Amos 'n' Andy will go off the air on June 15, marking the first vacation from the mike for these two boys since they started for Pepsodent some four years ago.

Gorrell and Gosden have been wanting to go to Europe for several years now but each time have been prevailed upon to trade it for a United States vacation spot with the sponsor putting in special wires to such havens as Lake Geneva in nearby Wisconsin.

Team would return to NBC for toothpaste and mouthwash account early in September with a continuity based upon the old country tour.

This move will leave Pepsodent with only the 'Rise of the Goldbergs' for its summer pluggings since it is canning the Junis face powder show on June 23 when Eddie Duchin comes into the Dells for a suburban dine-and-dance spot run.

Junis has been on NBC for 13 weeks. Show will likely resume this fall.

Where Did It Go?

Los Angeles, May 28.

The Don Lee Television station has used 6,000,000 feet of film in its see and hear broadcasts.

Station broadcasts film footage every day.

GRANT CRISIS LATITUDE AT NBC

Chicago, May 28.

Plenty of upheaval caused in the local radio circles by a fire that was concentrated in the Chicago stockyards. Most important organization touched by the fire was NBC, which was scooped badly on the news angle. NBC didn't get on to the fire until CBS had reached New York by some three hours earlier with news flashes. NBC didn't start until nine p.m., some four hours behind the parade.

Result of the beat which brought plenty of squawks was a special meeting called on Monday regarding emergency news broadcasts. It was decided to give Charlie Phelps, night program director, more authority in ordering special broadcasts.

Fire proved again that the networks are clumsy and bulky in handling emergencies of this nature, and that indie outfits such as KYW and WGN can step right around the webs in news gathering. WGN, the Chicago Tribune station, is generally admitted as having had the best news reports on the affair, with a regular staff of men right at the mike at the fire scene and general manager Quin Ryan at the desk in the city room to pick up regular Tribune bulletins.

WAAF Rebuilding

Station WAAF, the Drovers' Journal outlet in the stockyards district, was completely destroyed by the holocaust. Station, however, has received a permit from the commission to suspend operation temporarily and has gone ahead on a rebuilding plan. Expected that the station will be ready to hit the air again by June 15.

Angle on the WAAF matter, however, is the report that several applications are being made to the commission for the station's wave length, particularly by out-of-the-state outfits, on the grounds that Illinois and this zone are already over-quota. Not figured that these applications will get anywhere since WAAF has been giving service regularly for the past 10 years.

Rambeau Designated

Chicago, May 28.

WOR, Newark, and the entire Michigan network are moving over to the exclusive representative side of the fence. Have individually appointed Bill Rambeau as exclusive rep for Chicago and the midwest territory.

Rambeau has been representing these stations for some time now and has turned in the bulk of the Chicago accounts to these stations.

Advertising Agencies' Rap Shuts NBC Door In Publishers' Faces

Bars against the contacting by music publishers' reps of the artists around the studios at night have been put up by NBC. Reason given by the network for the new rule is that ad agency producers have complained that the buttonholing has tended to interfere with the talent in their getting to the broadcasts in time. Also that the song pluggers in many instances have exercised poor judgment in breaking in on last minute rehearsals with their quests.

Prior to last week's action the publishers' contacteers were free to make their approaches around the studio layout either night or day as long as they had the required admission cards. These cards, as affecting night time entry, are now void. Following the restriction order several publishers' contactmen last week discussed among themselves the advisability of getting together with John Royal and other network execs and working out a code of operations around the studios which would amicably bring the situation under control.

CHANGE KHJ SETUP

Aboli rograms and Traffic Mgr. Posts

Los Angeles, May 28.

KHJ, key station of the Coast Don Lee CBS network, has abolished the posts of program director and of traffic manager, held respectively by Mahlon Merrick and Herbert Witherspoon.

For programs, the station and network goes back to its original form of handling by a committee comprising eight station execs, including Merrick and Witherspoon.

Merrick also has the spot as singing director, and Witherspoon goes to the commercial department as an account exec.

Francisco Ducks West

Dor Francisco, executive v.-p. of Lord & Thomas, went back to the Coast last week without picking a man to head up the agency's radio department. Meantime he has left the searching for a candidate to Tradeways, Inc., and an employment agency specializing in business executives.

Francisco is due back York in about a month

CRAZY CRYSTAL BARN DANCE
(Free Talent)
Hillbillies
Two and a Half Hours
COMMERCIAL
WBT, Charlotte, N. C.

This hillbilly marathon is sponsored by the Carolinas distributors of Crazy Water Crystals.

Isher Hendley, who heads the North Carolina Fiddlers' Association, is master of ceremonies and chief shouter for the period. Clair Shadwell, WBT announcer, is in general charge.

Barn dance is a riot of fiddling, mountain singing and jokes. It runs along at a good clip with some 15 string bands participating in a single broadcast. The Crazy Barn Dance is a riot with those who like noise and bombast mixed with their entertainment. Numbers are interspersed with mountain yodles, ringing cow bells, whistles and what not.

Whole thing is quite rustic and wholesome in the atmosphere that it creates. Fisher Hendley has a good figure-calling swing your partner voice.

Bands are not paid for appearing on the program. This is being used as a training ground for the new organization of hillbilly bands in the Carolinas. Hendley has been retained by Crazy Crystals to organize and polish off these bands. They are made available for other Crazy Crystal programs over the country.

DANI
Address
15 Mins.
Sustaining
WEAF, New York

At the odd hour of quarter to midnight NBC is carrying, once a week, a series of talks by mayors of large American cities. This one was on 'Housing' and delivered by the mayor of Milwaukee. He has held the job for 18 years. This longevity was mentioned by NBC, but the fact that Hoan is a Socialist was studiously ignored. It seemed like omitting the one thing that would have aroused the curiosity of potential listeners.

Politicians in the bulk make poor radio speeches. Their bombast and poverty-stricken mentalities quickly bore. Not so Hoan. There's experience and authority and calm reason behind his remarks. Question of slum clearance and cheap housing for the poor was well covered by him. His voice unfortunately is not melodic or resonant, being rather husky and shrill, but what he says is worth hearing. There was no propaganda for Socialism, but a straight dissertation on the subject which increasingly concerns the prophetic elements of the citizenry. Land.

SOPHIE KERR
Talk
10 Mins.
Sustaining
WGY, Schenectady

Short story writer, novelist and playwright opened a series of afternoon talks, over the NBC net, on opportunities for young women in various lines. Miss Kerr naturally discussed their chances in the literary field, paying particular attention to the publishing, magazine, publicity and newspaper, and straight writing lines.

Her advice to hopefuls trying to crash the first-named two pastures was to familiarize themselves with the type of books or the kind of stories printed by the house with which they were trying to connect. In both fields, Miss Kerr, emphasized, ability to type and to write shorthand is a valuable asset. Stated many stenographers and secretaries had made the editorial grade.

Miss Kerr is a clear speaker, with an air of brisk efficiency about her. Incidentally, this talk marked her second over the NBC red network in recent weeks. Her comedy, 'Big Hearted Herbert,' was plugged in the introduction; 'Woman's Home Companion,' of which she was once editor, was also mentioned several times.

RADIO SCHOOL OF THE THEATRE
With Mrs. Charles Ripley
Sustaining
30 Mins.
WGY, Schenectady

Program, directed by Mrs. Charles M. Ripley, one-time dramatic critic of an Albany newspaper, is geared to give instruction, over the air, to Little Theatre and amateur acting groups. Presented about once a month, it consists of a 10-minute talk by Mrs. Ripley on some phase of acting or producing, followed by the presentation of a playlet in which members of the Schenectady Civic Players appear. Added information and advice, via letter, is offered to stage units already formed or in the process of organization.

Series of broadcasts—last one caught was the sixteenth—is a well-planned, comprehensive one. It should smarten up actors and directors who 'attend the school' regularly,' for the teacher is both competent and experienced in stage and Little Theatre work. On the shot heard, Mrs. Ripley spoke on make-up. She discussed this subject briefly but informatively. Jaco.

WELCH'S GRAPE JUICE
'Jewels of Enchantment' with Irene Rich
15 Mins.
COMMERCIAL
WJZ, New York

This is a continuation of the Welch-Irene Rich association, but with an entirely new program idea. Story is well-written and well-acted, but employs the always-dubious narrative device of a story-within-a-story. This is handled with some adroitness, but still is awkward and destructive of illusion.

Natural enough for the sponsor to think along cinematic lines since its headliner is a former film star. Hence the story itself is represented as being exhibited as a motion picture in episodes like a serial. The program is called 'Welch's Movie Theatre of the Air.' And to complete the parallel it opens with Irene Rich supposedly stepping out of her limousine at the theatre. That's not logical of course since stars do not arrive at film theatres in upholstered cans, except for Hollywood openings. Furthermore, continuity suggests the arrival of the star to participate in a performance.

This may sound like cavilling, yet it does seem a bit complicated as a means for presenting a story. After the main drama the on-the-screen thought continues to introduce an imaginary newsreel without news showing three ladies guzzling chocolate eclairs and other fat-producing delicacies. That ties with Welch's theme that the 'predigested sugar' (whatever that is) of Welch's—and only Welch's—grape juice burns away fat.

Years ago Welch's prospered simply by being the best grape juice on the market, but today the product has to think up a lot of pseudo-scientific nonsense to compete in a market glutted with phony research hokum. A booklet and mixing spoons are giveaways.

Irene Rich plays Lady Margo Carstairs, a London swell, who goes traipsing off to Australia on a clue that her husband, thought dead for 10 years, still lives. Story will henceforward transpire in the South Seas with melodramatic jewels figuring in the plot. First installment suggests that the authorship may be sufficiently suave to make it seem plausible and engrossing.

Irene Rich is a good trouper. Her acting is nicely tempered on the safe side of gushiness. Her voice is at all times pleasant. As a radio personality she is probably without counterpart. She definitely 'stars' in her own productions. An air of established importance is given to her by the program. Her entrances are built up as in legit, and she is the pivot of the entire enterprise, again star-like.

A good deal of her value to the sponsor undoubtedly is off the air and away from the program. Her background; her professional woman status; her young ma'on with grown daughters snappiness—all are assets to the product. Land.

LITERARY DIGEST
Graham McNamee, W. Funk, Alvin Bach
15 Mins.
COMMERCIAL
WJZ, New York

Literary Digest, whose circulation exceeds its rival, Time, takes to the air with an entirely different type of show than the 'March of Time.' Where the latter program has been dramatic and theatrical, the Digest quarter hour is factual and untheatrical, except for the acting of Graham McNamee.

Specifically the Digest is on the air to exploit its Roosevelt policy poll, which is now well under way. These polls are perhaps one of the greatest promotional stunts ever pulled in the publication world. After four or five polls on various subjects have proven remarkably accurate as prophecy, the Digest's prestige as statistician and seer is tremendous. Latest undertaking is timed perfectly for maximum interest. Tabulations are being broadcast and published just as the Darrow report, the outbreak of strike violence in Toledo, Minneapolis, etc., and the G. O. P.'s gradual emergence from its long coma make the Blue Eagle highly topical and controversial.

Digest hits the NBC blue web at 7:15 p. m. EDST every Wednesday. McNamee reads the figures for Stamford, Conn., or Plentyhot, Ga., like he reports a broken field dash to touchdown. McNamee is never negative, even while rolling out rows of numbers, six abreast.

W. J. Funk of Funk & Wagnalls, publishers of the Digest, participates briefly on the program. His diction is good and his manner cultured, but he might get away a bit from the reading-it-from-a-paper tone.

Naturally, the Digest wants to put over the readibility of the 'new' Digest. Mention was made that the magazine carries twice as much sports stuff as any other publication of the same kind.

In toto the Digest's 15 minutes is an interest-holding and workmanlike supplement to the publication itself. Alvin Bach is regular announcer, McNamee being the star. Land.

DICK TRACY
With Bob Burlen
Dramatization
15 Mins.
COMMERCI
WBZ, Boston

Dick Tracy, the ace detective of the newspaper comic strip, is having a radio tryout for Tastyeast over the New England NBC stations WBZ and WBZA. Incidentally, this is the first time the popular strip by Chester Gould has been aired, and when it finally got the okay for radio it was most reluctantly given by the author.

The script is good. Reputedly aimed at all ages and probably will have many grown-ups tuned in to the thrice-weekly offering. The casting of characters is the only drawback, and if the show moves to New York, which it probably will, this fault will undoubtedly be eliminated as the facilities for perfect casting locally are limited. Bob Burlen does not put across the Dick Tracy one visualizes from reading the strip in the newspapers. His voice does not possess the crispness or the vitality a role of this type should have.

It is well produced, NBC having sent a production man from New York, and is good radio entertainment and should at least bear out the author's point of view, which is to teach the children to respect the laws of their country and not to glorify the gangster and others of the criminal element.

RED and BLACK REVUE
Merle Johnson, Ross McLane, Beth Challis, Clarence Williams Trio, Dave Vine
Band, Songs, Comedy
30 Mins.
COMMERCIAL
WOR, Newark

WOR started off this weekly affair on a sustaining basis. Now the program is doing plug duty for the Yankee Network plus Group Broadcasters, Inc. Appeal in either behalf is a specialized one. It is directed to potential buyers of time on the air with the copy telling how the New England market can be reached through the Yankee link and the eastern market through the GBI, co-operative time booking organization membering 27 indie operated stations. Proposition of using an outlet in this area to ballyhoo the advertising facilities of a regional network and a time booking service of the GBI description comes as an innovation. Revue originates from WOR and for added releases gets every one of the stations in the Shepard string.

Stanza in itself is entertaining. Joe Bolton does the m.c.ing and frequently makes an irritating time of it with his bellowing of the continuity.

Merle Johnson's baton proves the outstanding item on the list. His arrangement of pop numbers affords the aggregation an opportunity to dish it out in a style that makes listening both interesting and pleasant. High point of Johnson's repertoire is the playing of what is described as the most popular number of the week. This selection has for its source the numbers leading tops on Variety's box of the 'Most Played on the Air.'

For warbling on the bill there's the sprightly larynxed Beth Challis, the fluent baritone of Ross McLane and the trio of femme voices accompanied by Clarence Williams at the piano. His is a Hebe dialect and a batch of gags whose humor might pass muster via the loudspeaker. Odec.

ELLSWORTH VINES
Tennis Talks
15 Mins.
Sustaining
WGY, Schenectady

Former national amateur champion and present member of the touring professional troupe is sending a series of shots over the NBC red network on the proper way to play the game. It is an early-Sunday morning program, apparently aimed to wing tennis fans before they leave the house for a few sets on the court.

In the first talk, Vines pounded home on three points which he thought listener-players should grasp before he opened up his bag of instruction on shots, footwork and strategy. These were: Keep your eye on the ball, keep the ball in the court, and play always with opponents of superior ability. Vines strove to clinch these points by reference to his own experiences, particularly in his pre-championship days, and to the fundamental characteristics of the game which other stars play.

Californian lad is a clear speaker, and impresses one as a likable, modest chap. There is none of the know-it-all about his remarks, though obviously his knowledge of the court game is deep. Vines' voice has a slight twang. Apparently, Vines envisages his listening audience as predominately male; perhaps women, especially school girls just taking up the game, are, or could be, included in the dialing group.

Sign-off is 'Keep your grip on the racquet' (Vines has a tie-up with the manufacturer of a racquet, and on his recent barnstorming with Tilden et al. delivered tennis talks in sporting goods stores). Jaco.

Radio Chatter

New York

John Royal and Harold Kemp framed a Vince Barnett on Duncan Buckhahn of the NBC sales department, with Pete Mack, vaude agent, in the ribbing role. Campaign of annoyance took place during NBC's golf tournament of last Wednesday (23).

Cal Swanson, J. Walter Thompson p.a., making a swing of Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago with a double mission. One to get acquainted with the radio eds and the other to do a bit of plugging for Cutex via Phil Harris' theatre tour.

M. H. Aylesworth last week attended in Chicago the General Motors' convention of industrial and professional minds.

Bob Colwell still in Porto Rico working on a new play.

Michael Strange, John Barrymore's ex-frau, auditioned a poem reading idea before the NBC program board. It was to musical accompaniment.

Rod Arkell will do 45 minutes of the spieling for CBS Thursday (31) on the broadcasting describing the entry into New York harbor of the Navy's fleet.

Edith Murray opens Saturday at the Paradise restaurant Broadway, Saturday (2) for an unlimited stay.

Jack Denny remains on the Hudnut stanza (CBS) after Jack Whiting and Jeannie Lang step out this Friday (1).

E. P. H. James, NBC's sales promotion manager, out to Chicago to open the network's exhibit at the World's Fair.

CBS press department is operating on the brain trust plan.

Edythe Meserand, formerly of NBC press, now doing publicity for WINS.

Don Flamm sailing Saturday (2) on the Virginia for a stay in Hollywood.

Fred Allen sent an aunt in Boston to Ireland on the outfo.

Ed Wood, WGN sales rep, all mended from hand-ripped puttering around in his Scarsdale cellar.

Goodman Ace's sister on from Kansas City to spend a month seeing New York.

Sneddon Weir, studio manager of WOKO, and Bill Meenam of WGY wrote the radio columns for the Albany Evening News during a vacation of William H. Haskell, air columnist.

WESG, Elmira, has been assigned a new carrier frequency of 1090 KC.

Matt Richardson, 'Round Towner and news reporter for Elmira Star-Gazette, and William Pope, commercial manager, stood up bravely before the WESG mike and did very nicely in answering an interviewer's quiz.

Edith Trimbath is the new studio hostess at WESG, Elmira, succeeding Gladys Emmons.

Andrew Kelly, whose 'Horse Sense Philosophy' sketch is now being fed by WGY to the entire NBC red network on Monday nights, has letters of congratulation from many prominent persons, including Newton D. Baker, Owen D. Young and Elihu Root.

WGY is originating a 'Gypsy Trail' program for the NBC red network on Friday noon, with Jack Chapman, basso, and Chester D Vedder, narrator, as the artists.

When Herald Goodman and Dean Upson, of the Vagabonds, and Hank Keene, head of the Radio Gang, both WGY features, go on the golf links, they leave hill-billy and mountain singing behind them.

Tony Wons' scrapbook stanza is eight years old next Friday (25).

Annette Hanshaw operated a music store in Mt. Kisco, N. Y., before she went radio.

Allen Sisson, who subbed as press manager while Frank W. Kelly was on sick leave, has been added to the announcing staff of WHAM, Rochester.

Babe Ruth and Norman Sweetser did their Quaker Oats show last week on Friday noon, with WHAM.

William Fay, WHAM gen. mgr., in Washington last week to attend White House reception in connection with transfer of Roosevelt Ball funds to Warm Springs Foundation.

WHAM spending plenty in Rochester dailies to plug station's commercials.

Helen Meinardi scripted a sketch for Bing Crosby's Woodbury program on May 28.

Pauline Alpert's 'Dream of the Doll' is being published by Mills. She's the WOR pianiste.

Harold Levy, composer and former musical director for Warner Brothers, conducts the house orchestra on the Woman's Radio Review, over NBC, for the series of talks which women executives of the picture industry are giving on behind-the-scenes topics.

When Sarah Lyons, of Paramount's distribution department, NBC'd last week, the orchestra played two numbers from 'Many Happy Returns,' slated for release on June 1.

Midwest

WISN has installed studio orchestra, after being without one for year, and is now competing with WTMJ for remote controls in dance halls and night clubs.

Creditors of the defunct Midwesco circuit will get 14 cents on the dollar, according to an accounting filed in federal court here by the referee in bankruptcy. Former state chain has liabilities of more than $400,000.

Hearst's Wisconsin News has opened up for amusements, Saturday News now carrying two-full pages of amusement copy. Sentinel recently went from a column and a half of show news to a full page. News also has discarded Harrison Carroll gossip column in favor of Lloyd Pantages' pix chatter.

Illinois

Les Atlass has put up dorayme for a thoroughbred nag.

Pierre Roche shaping some radio platters for Studebaker plugs.

Freddy Weber through Chicago on a station relation visit to St. Louis.

Pat Kennedy and Jackie Heller are practically playing stock at the State-Lake.

William Rambeau readying open quarters in Detroit.

Pacific Northwest

Philip Irwin, recently of the cast of Ned Lynch players at the American theatre in Portland, has been added to the KGW-KEX staff of announcers.

Friday, May 18, was primary election day in Oregon. Thursday night, between 6 and 10:35 p.m., 16 political speeches were sent skimming out over the air by stations KGW and KEX of The Oregonian Publishing Company, Portland.

Maryland

WCAO has new warbler in Loyal Corlon.

Genevieve Cain, WFBR, sister of Jim Cain, pix scribbler and author of 'Postman Always Rings Twice.'

Bob Maslin, Jr., week-ended in N. Y. C.

Purnell Gould, WFBR commercial mgr., makes air debut via spiel on adv. biz.

Hammand Brown, radio ed. News-Post, guest m. c. at WFBR Frolic.

Abe Lyman's band tied the NBC red ribbon for WFBR Fri. (25) on its Phillips Magnesia 'Waltz Time' period.

WFBR using Johnny Johnston ork nightly this week on a sustainer.

C. M. Jansky, Washington ether engineer, guest-speak at Balto Ad Club luncheon.

Contract has been let for new WFBR antenna; will have vertical radiator, three-quarter wave. New 234 ft. steel tower will be state's tallest.

Walter Linthicum back on WBAL announcing forces after three years' absence.

George Givot, Al Trahan and Gypsy Nina guest-aired over WFBR last week. All were on vaude bill at Century.

Felice Iula made second lieutenant in Reserve Corps.

WFBR celebrating Baltimore Radio Week in honor of its twelfth anny.

Tennessee

Beasley Smith, orchestra leader of WSM, engaged to put on some presentations at the Princess Theatre, Nashville, beginning June 1. With him will appear Velma Dean, blues singer, and a band of fourteen pieces.

Francis Craig and his boys, WSM's broadcasting band, and Alpha Loulse Morton, Tommy Harrison, "Pee Wee" Cecil Bailey, Powell Adams, Clint Garvin, Red Hern, Bill Yandle, Mickey Tinty, Newt Richardson, John Gordy, Red Cunningham at Loew's Vendome theatre, Nashville.

Zeke Clements and his Broncho Busters will appear thirty minutes earlier each Saturday night beginning immediately on the Grand Old Opry.

Bachelorhood is a rarity at WLAC, Nashville. Latest announcement is engagement Edwin Gleaves, youngest of the Nashville station's announcing staff.

Plans have been completed for carrying a running account of the Nashville Boosters trip over WLAC, in a manner similar to that of last year when microphones were placed at all strategic points along the route taken by the club. J. T. Ward, WLAC executive, is president of the organization.

'Hooky Dooks,' WLAC feature of

(Continued on page 37)

WBBM Discount on CBS Right-of-Way; Chicago Station Rates Going Up

Chicago, May 28.

General wave of upped prices is in the making locally as WBBM, the CBS , for a boost on June While the other stations are refusing to jack rates at this time, it seems certain that by September all rates locally will be higher. WBBM officials had a long discussion with Niles Trammel, local NBC chief, on a possible boost at this time, but Trammel chilled to the idea. All NBC local or national price changes will have to wait for final decision on the recently completed field strength survey.

WBBM rate will hop from $460 to $480 an hour with several clauses being added to the new rate card. One new clause calls for the lowering of the discount rate on 52-week contracts from 20% to 10%.

But the important discount item in the new WBBM card, which is not yet released, will be an attempted solution of the station's big worry regarding CBS right-of-way over local shows, which right-of-way has been scaring local sponsors away from the outlet on evening shows. WBBM will offer all advertisers a 15% discount on shows programmed between 7-10 p.m. if they will agree to a run-of-the-station schedule, which gives WBBM the right to okay schedule move non-network shows at its own discretion and without notice.

Lower WGN Rate

Big thorn in the side of the WBBM general rise argument is WGN, the Chicago Tribune station, with a national rate of $450 and a local rate of $380. WGN has a local morning rate of $200 and a national scale of $235 as compared with a regular WBBM morning price of $240. Particular burn-up is that WGN is now selling time at 50,000 watts. However, WGN intends to keep its present rate setup until September at least.

That a general rise in rates is inevitable is agreed among radio men since the Chicago market is now being sold at a lower per capita cost than any other market in the world. Chi radio men point to smaller towns as Minneapolis, St. Louis and Kansas City, which carry station rates practically as high as Chicago, which has two and three times the population.

Stations also are reaching the maximum earning power locally on their present setup. WBBM, for instance, is almost solid due to the jam of CBS accounts and the only way it can possibly increase its revenue is to jack its rates.

KHJ'ER MOVES TO FRISCO

Los Angeles, May 28.

'Happy-Go-Lucky' hour, which has been a five times a week air vaude show on KHJ for the last two years, is being switched to KFRC, San Francisco.

Moving to the northern key station of the Don Lee chain is in order that the program, long a sustainer here, might be sold. It will continue to go out on all stations of the Lee CBS coast network.

Ohio Stations Seek FRC Okay to Rearrange

rrangement worked out among radio stations WKBN, of Youngstown, WJAY, of Cleveland, and WAIU and WOSU of Columbus, is approved by the Federal Radio Commission— and the prospects are said to appear bright—Youngstown will have more Columbia programs on a full time station.

These stations have presented to the commission a plan by which WKBN and WJAY will have full time on the air at a higher power, and Columbus will have full time divided between WAIU and WOSU of that city.

WKBN requests authority to change its frequency from 570 to 610 now occupied by WJAY, and to operate during the daytime with 1,000 watts power and at night with 500 watts, its present power, with the aid of a directional antenna.

WJAY would change from its present 610kc channel to 640 now used by WAIU and also increased power from 500 to 1,000 watts.

WAIU and WOSU, the two Columbus stations, then would divide time on the 570 kc channel now used jointly by WKBN and WOSU, WAIU asks 1,000 daytime power and 750 at night.

Warren Williamson, head of WKBN, declares the stations involved are all in agreement and the sentiment in Washington appears favorable to the changes. While WKBN's transmitter is capable of using the increased power, considerable technical change will be necessary before the new plan goes into effect.

Michigan's Radio Course

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 28.

Prof. Gail Densmore, who lectured on the subject of pronunciation over CKLW, Windsor, will launch a new English course at the University of Michigan this fall. Course is the outgrowth of his radio contacts and said to have been suggested by George Storer, radio showman, and owner of several stations.

Densmore will teach the grammar and technique of radio announcing and also take up the question of script writing for the air.

LANNY ROSS STAYS EAST

Hollywood, May 28.

Lanny Ross, radio singer, will not take a featured part in the Paramount filmusical, 'Her Master's Voice,' as originally intended.

Player, who is under contract to Paramount, remains east until the studio has an assignment for him in another picture.

'Brother' Is Hubby

San Francisco, May 28.

That she was married last October in Los Angeles to Harry Sarkin was revealed this week by Nanette LaSalle, bluester at NBC here.

She had introduced him as her brother to everyone around the studios.

MJB Back to L. A.

San Francisco, May 28.

MJB's Demi Tasse Revue moves back to Los Angeles on June 4 when Gus Arnheim's band opens at the Cocoanut Grove there.

Program will originate in the Grove, via KFI, and to the NBC network, with Tizzie Lish continuing to hold the comedy spot.

ANZAC PUBLIC PREFERS WAX

, May 14.

A fight is progressing locally for a reduction in the license fee of 24 shillings per annum. Federal Government for some time now has been collecting an extra three shillings formerly paid on patent rights from each license issued.

Listeners say government should play ball and give them the benefit by reducing the fees for air entertainment.

General opinion has it that 24 shillings is much too high for the class of programs put over by the A-class stations. Squawks have been heavy at the dry and drab bills given to the knob twirlers by the big bugs of the local field.

B-class stations only get revenue through advertising channels, copping not one cent from the government. Odd twist to the present situation is the fact that the masses got real entertainment from the B's. Although mostly wax, nevertheless, it is preferred to the flesh-and-blood performers heard over the A's.

McCLELLAND CHI NBC P.A.

Chicago, May 28.

Gilbert McClelland joins the local NBC press outfit.

Comes in from the United Press and press work with the World's Fair last year.

Standard Brands Won't Spare the Bankroll Competing with Cantor

Transatlantic Pickups For Burns and Allen

Columbia may pick up Burns and Allen by short wave during their scheduled tour of Europe for a series of crossfire travelogs on a sustaining basis. Pair sail for Italy June 16.

Idea as it now stands would be to bring them in from Rome or Florence at the start and give them a couple more airings when their itinerary take them to Paris and London.

Proposed travelog idea is the J. Walter Thompson Agency, which is interested in having the team kept in touch with the listeners while the White Owl stanza is off the air for the summer. Burns and Allen Wednesday ight, June 13.

Don Lee's Cabinet

San Francisco, May 28.

Don Lee has instituted a production cabinet for his KFRC, Frisco, and KHJ, Los An pooling the ideas of all department heads and members of the program and production departments for use in framing programs.

Execs and writing staff meet for a short spell each morning for an exchange of ideas, which are to be carried out during the day for the period intended.

Sidney Ten Eyck has returned to WCKY, Cincinnati, as morning announcer. Since making his radio bow at that station several years ago, Ten Eyck has done mike work at WLW, WOR, for NBC in New York, and also for WRC. He replaces Russell Hodges, who goes to Rock Island, Ill.

Word has gone out from Standard Brands to its agency, J. Walter Thompson, to let no expense stand in the way of framing the strongest talent setup possible to give opposition to Eddie Cantor when the comic debuts this winter on CBS for Lehn and Fink. Bitterness of the food packing combine arises from the fact that Cantor has agreed to compete for listeners with his former paycheck, Chase and Sanborn coffee. Lehn and Fink will have him slotted from 8 to 8:30 Sunday nights, which is parallel to the first half of the java shindig on NBC's red (WEAF) loop.

Standard Brands will not pick up the eight weeks' option it has on Cantor's services for the coming fall. Nor will it continue Dave Rubinoff on the Chase and Sanborn show after Jimmy Durante completes his present series.

Instead Standard Brands will give the coffee roaster's round of the clock an entirely new talent casting. Several outstanding names now on the air have already been approached, with one, a warbler, offered the privilege of selecting all the other talent for the show.

CJLS Starts

St. John, N. B., May 28.

CJLS has started broadcasting at Yarmouth, N. S. This station has been established by Laurie L. Smith, a local radio dealer and servicer. It is of 100 watts power.

Kiernan Kelly is station manager. He was formerly manager of a Yarmouth moving picture theatre, and lately manager of a broadcasting station at Glace Bay, N. S. Mansfield Ross has been erecting engineer in charge of the towers and antenna. The studio and broadcasting apparatus are on the top floor of a Yarmouth hotel.

This station was established over the protests of a local newspaper publisher who claimed the new unit would mar the reception of U. S. programs.

Don Lee Bags Del Monte

San Francisco, May 28.

Don Lee network is about set to put a line into the swank Hotel Del Monte, into which exclusive beach hostelry the network's artist bureau put Jackie Souders' band last week.

Al Cormack, technical director of KFRC, is now down there lining up equipment, and plans are to emanate several transcontinentals from there this summer, including the national golf tournament and the annual Quartz Arts ball, staged by the nearby art and literary colony of Carmel.

Drop Trent Meredith

San Francisco, May 28.

Trent Meredith is out of the Thomas Lee artists bureau where he was band booker for a few weeks, entire bureau remaining in the hands of Ellis Levy.

Change was made by Peter De Lima, bureau chief, when he was up from Los Angeles last week.

Choice Dial Spot Costly to Defend

Small Fortune in Railroad Fares to Washington for Hearings

Fairmont, W. Va., May 28.

Radio station WMMN still is battling for its life but prospects are brighter. A Pittsburgh group made and still is making efforts to obtain the wavelength assigned to WMMN. A. M. Rowe, owner and operator of WMMN, has had to do some tall defending in Washington to keep his wavelength. Senator M. M. Neely of Fairmont and for whom WMMN is named, has assisted Rowe.

Wavelength of WMMN tunes in right in the middle of the dial and is highly desirable.

Rowe's fight to keep his wavelength already has cost him thousands of dollars just in trips to Washington. Struggle has received no publicity locally. Local listeners know little or nothing about it.

Tufts to Boston

Nathan A. Tufts has quit J. Walter Thompson's program producing staff to join the Boston office of the Ruthrauff and Ryan agency. New connection will place him in charge of Kentucky Club tobacco's baseball broadcasts.

Tufts came to Thompson in June, 1932.

Geo. Storer at Desk

George Storer is back at his desk at WMCA, New York, after temporary indisposition due to overwork.

He aeroplaned to and from WWVA, Wheeling, W. Va., over the week-end to attend ceremonies in connection with new studios of that station.

New Business

SEATTLE

Mutual Creamery, daily 15-minute program, starting May 11 to run indefinitely. KOL.

Tums, series of 13 one-minute discs, to run two a week, starting May 15. KOL.

John Davis, daily announcement for two weeks starting May 14. KOL.

Lindgren Footwear Store, three quarter-hour live talent programs per week; started May 14, to run indefinitely. KJR.

Triangle Auto Parts Co., 13 announcements, between May 12 and June 2. KJR.

Western Dairy, 30 30-word announcements on KOMO between May 7 and May 30, and 23 50-word spots on KJR.

Washington Motor Coach, 13 30-word announcements on KOMO; 13 50-word announcements on KJR.

Hamrick's Music Hall, series of 31 spots between May 13 and 19. KOMO.

First Church of Christ Scientist, one year renewal of hour each Sunday evening for church services remote. KJR.

Northwestern Mutual Insurance Co., daily announcements over KPCB for one year.

Pittsburgh Paint and Glass Co., series of daily 100-word announcements over KOL; started May 7, to run four weeks.

Towers' Sport Shop, half hour remote of new store opening; May 15. KJR.

Better Homes and Gardens, announcement May 11. KJR.

Great Northern Railway, series of 25 announcements, three a week, started May 9. KJR.

Dodge Motor Co., series of announcements, started May 7, to run indefinitely. KJR.

General Tire Co., one announcement each week; started May 18, to run indefinitely. KOMO.

Proctor's (dept. store), half-hour morning and quarter-hour afternoon daily. KOMO.

Washington Motor Coach Co., series of 26 announcements divided between KOMO and KJR, three a week on each station; starts May 15.

Henderson Bros., six announcements. WOL.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., 24 announcements. WOL.

Sherman Clay & Co., 34 announcements. WOL.

PORTLAND, ORE.

Columbia Optical Co., through Gerber Crossley, Inc. Agency, night time spot announcements twice daily. KGW.

Reo Motor Car Co., through Maxon Inc. Agency, 13 night time announcement service. KGW.

Meier and Frank, department store, through station, daily 15-minute 'Home Furnishing Bureau' program, one month. KGW.

Arab Inn, through Frederick Schmalz agency, 25-minute, KGW.

Conrad Bruce Co., through Terry Tebault Agency, renewal for year, 15-minute daily financial service. KGW.

Portland Gas and Coke Co., through McCann-Erickson, Inc. Agency, 13 fifty word announcements night time, nine announcements day time. KGW-KEX.

Meier and Frank, department store, through station, four night time, seven day time announcements. KEX.

Golden West Coffee, one minute daily announcement on Jeannette Cramer's morning cooking school program, for one month, May 8 to June 8. Through MacWilkins & Cole. KGW.

Great Northern Railway, 26 night time announcements spotted between May 10 and July 10. Through Altnow-Singleton. KGW.

B. M. Pilip, painting and decorating contractor, half hour program, Sunday morning. KGW.

Welch's Grape Juice, one minute electrical transcription morning time, three times weekly for 15 weeks. KGW, KEX.

Chrysler Corporation, Dodge division, one minute night time announcements, six times. Through Ruthrauff & Ryan. KGW.

DENVER

Cook Sporting Goods Co., five daily announcements, three mos., KFEL.

Hertz Driverless Car Co., 500 run of schedule announcements, KFEL.

Northwest Radio Advertising Agency, 500 run of schedule announcements, KFEL.

Harry Sternburg, furrier, one additional announcement daily, making two, to June 21, KFEL.

Golden Eagle Dry Goods Co., five Sunday announcements, one time, KFEL.

Channing's Restaurant, five Sunday announcements, one time, KFEL.

May Co., 500 run of schedule announcements, KFEL.

Victory Theatre, 13 announcements, KFEL.

American Typewriter Exchange, nine announcements each Thursday and Friday, one month, KFEL.

First United Broadcasters, for Willard Tablets, 15-min. program weekly, six months, KFEL.

American Legion, one announcement daily, exc. Sun., KFEL.

Darrow Music Co., one announcement daily, exc. Sun., KFEL.

Shanghai Tea Room, one announcement daily, exc. Sun., KFEL.

Pagoda Inn, one announcement daily, exc. Sun., one month, KFEL.

Old Town Hall, three announcements daily, exc. Sun., one month, KFEL.

Rocky Mountain Chromium Plating Co., one announcement daily, exc. Sun., KFEL.

Broadway Buick, 500 run of schedule announcements, KFEL.

PHILADELPHIA

Hartman's Soap, beginning June 1, 10:15 a. m., Wednesday and Friday, indefinite period. Placed direct. WFI.

Robbins and Myers (electrical fans) at 6:15 p.m. daily, indefinite period. (Feigenbaum Agency) WFI.

Knox Company (Cystex), 15-minute discs renewed for 26 weeks. Dillon and Kirk Agency. WIP.

Spiritual Psychic Science, 30 minutes week-days, 30 minutes on Sunday for six months. Placed direct. WIP.

Kellogg Sales Company, announcements on Uncle Wip's children's program and participation in Home Makers' Club. Direct. WIP.

Quaker Oats Company, three times with Uncle Wip reading Sunday comics. Fletcher and Ellis Agency. WIP.

Lentheric (perfume), five-minute talks on Home Makers' Club program. Placed direct. WIP.

German-American Chemical Co., program for 13 weeks. Placed direct. WRAX.

Quality Furniture Company, eight weeks' renewal. Direct. WRAX.

Truly-Warner (hats), sports broadcast with Bob Paul, 15 minutes nightly for nine weeks. Placed direct. WPEN.

Laundry Gems, program for 14 weeks. Paris and Peart. WRAX.

Girard Rug and Carpet Co., spot announcements for 3 weeks. Placed direct. WRAX.

German Railways, travelogue programs for five weeks. Placed direct. WRAX.

Camden County Beverage Company, baseball scores daily for duration of baseball season. Placed direct. WPEN.

Delaware-Kent Orchards, five-minute programs nightly. Placed direct. WPEN.

Kaps Ice Cream, daily spot announcements, indefinite contract period. Direct. WPEN.

BOSTON

Spencer Chain Stores, Inc., daytime time signals 52 weeks starts July 1, through Chambers & Wiswell, Boston. WBZ-WBZA.

Sears Roebuck & Co., four one-minute announcements; started May 8 through Chambers & Wiswell, Boston. WBZ-WBZA.

New England Flower Producers' Association, six one-minute announcements, started May 10. WBZ-WBZA.

James Hawley Co., first half hour of Musical Clock daily for three weeks; started April 30 through Chambers & Wiswell, Boston. WBZ-WBZA.

Roxon Sales Co., daily announcements on Old Farmers' Almanac for 11 weeks; started April 24. WBZ-WBZA.

Ford Motor Co., 17 announcements in Evening Tatler, starting May 31, through Harry M. Frost Co., Boston. WEEI.

Morgan Furniture Co., 100 15-minute programs; started May 22, through Harry M. Frost Co., Boston. WNAC.

Kamphene Company, 30 15-minute programs; started May 25, through Harry M. Frost Co., Boston. WAAB.

Gentles Baking Co., 364 daily announcements; started May 27, through John B. Mitchell, Boston. WNAC.

Whittemore Cleaner, 224 announcements; started May 20, through Ingalls Advertising, Boston. WNAC.

Henley Kimball Co., 28 announcements; started May 20, through Scott Advertising Agency, Boston. WNAC.

PORTLAND, ORE.

Dr. J. J. Colton, dentist; through station, daily daytime announcements, two each day; one year. KGW.

Eastern Outfitting Company, department store; through Bob Smith Agency; six five-minute programs, May 18 to 25. KGW.

Jubilee Committee, Jackson County, Oregon; through station, 15 daytime announcements, May 17 to June 2. KGW.

Shearer-Bennett, dental offices; through Terry Tebault Agency; half hour daytime dramatization of Sunday Oregonian comic pages; weekly, Sunday morning; one year. KEX.

Western Paint and Varnish Company, through station; 13 100-word daytime announcements; three times weekly, beginning May 21. KEX.

Fairvale Country Club; through Associated Advertising service; 13 five-minute programs; three times weekly, beginning May 11. KEX.

NEWARK, N. J.

Fischer Baking Co., 13 weeks, Tuesday and Friday nights, 15-minutes, 'Mystery Sketches' by Charlotte Geer and Richard Salisbury. WOR.

Cragston Associates, Inc. (West Point Yacht and Country Club), 13 weeks, Monday nights, 15 minutes, 'Robert Yap's Hawaiians.' WOR.

New York American (American Weekly), renewal, 52 weeks, Friday nights, 15 minutes, recorded dramatic show. WOR.

Reid Ice Cream Co., renewal, five weeks, Tuesday nights, half hour, Borrah Minevitch and His Harmonica Rascals. WOR.

Rickhey's Swiss Restaurant, Jersey City, one 1-minute announcement a day six times a week, indefinitely. WNEW.

CHICAGO

Kooloz Shaving Cream (Rit Products company), time signals at 8:59 p.m. each Tuesday, Wednesday and Sunday. Placed direct. WGN.

Miles Laboratories (Alka-Seltzer), 15-minute radio disc three times

(Continued on page 38)

Rewenals

Wasey Products, 13 weeks, 'Voice of Experience,' four matinee and one night time programs, effective June 11 and involving 40 stations over CBS.

Northam Warren Corp. (Cutex-Odorono), 13 weeks, effective June 22, Friday night show with Phil Harris and Leah Ray, over 31 stations on NBC's blue (WJZ) link.

Pacific Coast Borax, 13 weeks, starting July 5, 'Death Valley Days,' 17 stations on the blue (WJZ).

GRACIE BARRIE

"The Sweetheart of the Blues"

Weeks June 1st and June 8th
Earle, Washington
Booked for 2 Weeks

Reprint from Variety May 1st

PALACE, CHICAGO

Top list of standard acts assist in current show. Gracie Barrie is here again and brings a constantly satisfying pair of pipes. Miss Barrie has the stamp of quality. An individual style in song-selling, backed by face and figure that are eye-filling. Entertainment to the hilt.

Sole Direction
HERMAN BERNIE
1619 Broadway, New York

Always a Little Ahead of the Rest

SIZZ-LERS

For Further Information
HAROLD KEMP, NBC Artist Bureau
Personal Direction, CHARLES A. BAYHA

MGM STUDIOS
CULVER CITY, CALIF.

"The Singing Lady"
IRENE WICKER
4th Year for W. K. Kellogg Co.
All Material by Irene Wicker
Music by ALLAN GRANT
N.B.C.—WJZ 5:30 Daily

RADIO SHOWMANSHIP

(Merchandizing and Program Tieups)

OUTSTANDING STUNTS:

Farmers' Intervi
Ruth Etting, Li

ing the Iceman.
, Philadelphi

Etting Goes Technocrati

Lincoln.

Ruth Etting, stopping off here en route to the Coast, pulled as neat a mid-western publicity gag as she could ever find. She owns a farm in David City, Neb., and immediately upon alighting from the train, told the news lads she was going to junk all the farm machinery on her homestead that did away with either man or horse and put men at needed work.

Every sheet in the middle west as well as press associations carried the story. She has numerous relatives here and left after three days for Los Angles.

Tong-Boys Comeback

Philadelphia.

Eastern States Ice Association, with headquarters in Philadelphia, has lined up 29 ice dealers to locally sponsor a series of recorded programs whose purpose it will be to bring the iceman back into prime favor with the housewife and argue the advantage of natural ice over that of the frigidaired variety. Series runs to 13 stencils with each a musical melange and time for 15 minutes.

As part of the comeback campaign the dealers are pledged to supply themselves with new and attractively decorated trucks and to staff themselves with young, good-looking delivery men, each decked out in a smart uniform with Sam Browne belt.

isualize Scene for Fans

Chicago.

A picture of the trial scene, recently holding the spotlight in the 'Ma Perkins' sketch over the NBC red network, is now being offered to listeners.

To stimulate and to check up on the purchase of the sponsor's product, dialers are required to send in the back of an Oxydol carton.

Cholly in the Flesh

New York.

Cholly Knickerbocker is on the air under his real name, Maury Paul, which is unknown and unimpressive, and using his own voice, which is thin, high and scratchy. That constitutes two drawbacks to a program that otherwise packs considerable potential interest to womankind on behalf of Elizabeth Arden cosmetics.

Another unfortunate fact is that Paul seemingly cannot mention names. His society people are unlabeled, his incidents unidentified as to date or family. Yet of such a commonplace as a wedding, the chronicler of balls and suppers created a word-picture of much vividness and interest, embroidered with a wealth of detail. It was calculated to stimulate the feminine imagination

WIP Women's Picnic

Philadelphia.

Plans for the fourth annual WIP Home Makers' Club outing calls for a trip down the river to Riverview Beach, with studio furnishing talent and work crew for entertainment. Old-fashioned picnic will be held, with special contests for kids, arranged by Uncle Wip, station's premier 'Uncle.' Grand prizes to be awarded before return moonlight trip will be two all-expense trips to the World's Fair.

Home Makers' Club is largest woman's unit being sponsored by any of the local stations, and usually draws a crowd of more than two thousand on these annual affairs. Cost of event pays for itself in free publicity from the dailies, all of which is used promotionally by the outlet to secure new air advertising. Time on these shows is considered precious here, with the old newspaper angle working—the more the membership of women, the more time sold.

Nothing fancy, but plenty to eat for the gals, and lots of entertainment by stars from local theatres.

Here, ity!

New York.

Pepsodent, which has generally been quite gentlemanly in its commercial copy on the Amos 'n' Andy programs, is now hinting broadly that if teeth are clouded, yellow or stained, it may be the other fellow's tooth paste that's causi trouble. Change right Pepsodent is the idea.

There is a nice boundary between extolling the virtues of a product and rapping competitive produc as ineffective, useless or actually harmful. Evidently the rugged individualism of Pebeco, Colgates, Kolynos, Phillips, et al. has been contagious.

All this, of course, may ultimately hurt advertising in general. Too much success in breeding doubt and suspicion of the 'other fellow' may eventually boomerang.

Paging a Butt

New York.

Milton Blow agency, on behalf of Phillip Morris, expects to spot quickie announcements exclusively before and after sustaining dance periods on various stations. Announcements take the form of a page boy in a hotel crying 'Call for Phillip Morris.'

To tie in further with dance bands, company will provide trays for the cigaret girls in night clubs, cafes, hotel dining rooms, et al.

CBS Tells About CBS

New York.

Columbia has prepared for distribution at the Chicago World's Fair a 40-page booklet telling what the network is doing for its listeners. Brochure is illustrated, and besides plugging its own virtues as to showmanship and general achievement the web puts in a pat for the CBS station affiliates.

Booklet will be given away to those visiting the CBS exhibit at the exposition grounds. Compilation was done by the network's sales promotion department.

CHARLES CARLILE
TENOR
COAST-TO-COAST
CBS

COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM
Presents
LEON BELASCO
MON., FRI., WABC, 12 MIDNITE
Coast-to-Coast
St. Moritz Hotel, New York, Nightly
Sole Direction HERMAN BERNIE
1619 Broadway, New York

ABE LYMAN
AND HIS
CALIFORNIA ORCHESTRA
COAST-TO-COAST
WABC
SUNDAY, 2:30 p. m.-3 p. m.
WEAF
WED., 6:30 p. m.
9 p. m.

Isham Jones Orchestra
COMMODORE HOTEL
NEW YORK
Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 11:30-12 P.M.;
Saturdays, 11-11:15 P.M.
coast to coast, WABC
Direction
Columbia Broadcasting System

A LEADING ORCHESTRAL AND ENTERTAINMENT ORGANIZATION WANTS CAPABLE AND EXPERIENCED MAN TO ASSUME CHARGE OF BOOKING DEPARTMENT. MUST BE FAMILIAR WITH HOTELS, CAFES, RESORTS, BALLROOMS, ETC., ESPECIALLY IN EASTERN PART OF UNITED STATES. EXCELLENT OPPORTUNITY FOR RIGHT PARTY. STATE QUALIFICATIONS FULLY, EXPERIENCE, ETC. ALL REPLIES STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL. BOX 26, VARIETY, NEW YORK.

Inside Stuff—Radio

Mrs. Jack Little, who manages her husband's affairs, denies that the warbler-bandman has gone over to the Music Corporation of America. She avers that she made Little Jack Little's contract with the Ambassador hotel, Atlantic City, direct, after obtaining permission to take the assignment from Lawrence Lowman, CBS v.p., whose supervisory duties include the CBS Artists Bureau.

Warbler-bandman's wife says she turned down the Ritz, opposition spot to the Ambassador, because her husband didn't like the idea of playing a floor show. CBS Artists Bureau has booked Isham Jones into the Ritz with June 23 the starting date.

Her husband's contract, with CBS, relates Mrs. Little has until Oct. 6, 1934, to go and also that she has no intention of doing business with or through MCA. Little Jack Little, she adds, will pay CBS a commission on the Atlantic City stand and the network will give him a sustaining ire out of the spot.

WDAS, Philadelphia, feeling the icy attitude of local press as regards free publicity, is going the sheets one better. Station this week will begin to print its own newspaper, for circulation among the trade and for all listeners who request copies. Paper will contain newsy briefs, biographical data, and studio chatter.

Unusual feature of the sheet will be an editorial corner, which will be penned by the studio's execs on policy subjects and general radio information. Simultaneously with the release date of the paper each week, the station will air a special show devoted to the paper's editorials, with outlet's management speaking anent various station problems as they rise.

This marks first attempt by a local aircaster to break through the thick skin of Philly newspapers in an effort to publicize time sales and artists. Weekly will be edited by Jerry Stone, WDAS publicity agent, with heavy lay for public sympathy.

highers-up are still trying to decide what penalty the network can impose on WLW for a violation committed by the Cincy outlet last Dec. 31. At the request of the J. Walter Thompson agency WLW on that date picked up by wire and released over its transmitter a regular CBS program, the Union Central Life Insurance Co.'s 'Roses and Drums'. Stanza on the occasion devoted itself to a dramatization of the history of the Roosevelt family in America. WLW at the time further favored the Thompson agency by stepping up its power to 500,000 watts.

NBC execs first learned of the CBS program's release over WLW when the NBC traffic department a couple days later turned in a report on the incident. Richard C. Patterson, Jr., NBC's executive v.p., immediately took WLW sharply to account for the affair. Instance was the first in which an affiliated outlet carried an opposition network's commercial program.

Boswell Sisters switch their management to Rockwell-Mills, Inc., from the CBS Artists Bureau June 7. Move is in line with an agreement made with William S. Paley the past winter when the team sought to get a release from its contract. After doing a walkout on the network the act compromised the situation by consenting to remain under the CBS banner until June 6 in return for a cancellation of a renewal which would have bound the threesome to the web for another year.

Girls go on a theatre tour next week. First date is the Palace, Chicago (7).

With a printers' strike on in Montana, and several newspapers not publishing temporarily, radio stations stepped into the breach. All Montana stations subscribe to the independent news service from KNX, Hollywood, and called for increased news coverage.

One of the KNX clients, who operates a department store plus his station, also utilized the news service by posting dispatches in his store window.

General Tire is ceding its Friday night spot this week (1) to the City of Chicago for an hour's program over both NBC and CBS as a ballyhoo for the exposition. Show will run from 10:30 to 11:30 EDST.

Tire company has also okayed the inclusion of Jack Benny on the World's Fair broadcast of that night.

Premier Doumergue of France made third radio address of his administration May 14. Speech was recorded on eight disks, at the time it went over the air, and was later repeated on short wave length, from the disks, for French colonies and foreign countries.

Brunton Adds San Jose

San Francisco, May 28.

Ralph Brunton has signed papers making him owner of KQW, San Jose, which on Friday (1) will be joined with KJBS in the Northern California Broadcasting System.

Brunton also received permission from the Radio Commission to up KJBS from 100 to 400 watts, which goes in Friday (1), giving chain two stations of 500 each.

Margie Ann Knapp, 10-year-old warbler with a daily assignment on WGBF, Evansville, Ind., is in New York with her folks for a vacation and a summer course of study.

Radio Chatter

(Continued from page 34)

three years ago, soon to return to the air. Roger Sweet engaged in recruiting his gang of nit-wits.

Randy, organist at the Birmingham theatre, over WLAC, Nashville, Sunday afternoons.

One of the most interesting broadcasts from WLAC during the week, was the premiere of 'The Wagon Wheel,' Nashville's newest recreational center, which was formerly opened to the public on last Saturday night. The Wagon Wheel Orchestra is to be heard each night, with the exception of Monday and Tuesday, during the summer, going on the air at 11 P. M. The orchestra is that formerly directed by Beasley Smith.

Ted Grizzard, announcer at WLAC, lost his car from its parking place in front of the station. Thief drove the machine outside the city and removed every wheel, including the spare.

DeFord Bailey, joined the Saturday night Grand Old Opry at WSM.

Pennsylvania

Jim Londos, champ grappler, airing the inside of wrestling via WIP, Philly, last week.

Catherine Rand, playing at the Adelphia, severely burned by fire in accident. Gal in critical condition at Jefferson hospital in Philly.

George Jessel over WIP from the Earle theatre dressing room.

Lou Kelly and Andy Stanton back in Philadelphia after a sojourn on the Bermuda sands.

WFI signs singing find in Carl Davis, former Penn State Univ. grind.

Murray Arnold, WIP announcer, wading for the altar with a Philly blonde.

Larry Tate walked out a WCAU program last week.

Bill Bailey fills press agent job vacated by Fred Coll, now at WMCA.

Lillian Smith up from Baltimore for a turn at the Rafters nitery this week.

WPEN-WRAX readying the move to the new wave length, and holding the event for the day of their fifth air anniversary next month.

Vincent Travers band may go to Detroit, after fading from the Walton.

Jack Diamond, of the Isham Jones office, in Philly for a look-see at some local air talent.

Joe Feldman, Earle theatre chief, nixing all future cocktail parties for visiting celebs. Bills running too high.

Bill Green, ex-stock and legit actor, is chief announcer at WLBW (Erie, Pa.), owned by the Pennsylvania Telephone Corporation.

George Probert, for years a Broadway actor (last engagement 'Vagabond King'), back home in Erie, and may get on local broadcasting staff.

Patty Jean, diet talker, is now with Buffalo Broadcasting Corpn. (WGR).

Indiana

'Krausmeyer and Cohen' new wax program for Centlivre brewery over WOWO, Fort Wayne.

Marguerite Hitzman completing her first year as staff organist over WOWO.

Maury Neuman now with WLW a frequent visitor back to see his family in Fort Wayne.

Baseball getting a nice plug over WGL as Central league swings into action.

Paul Mills taking that funny Emil Boreo publicity photo around to all of his clients.

Gunnar Elliot, vet sports announcer, sticking to radio after all, since the sheriff's badge will not be a part of his person as planned.

Lincoln Life Insurance company still interested in a station of its own. Main hold-backs are the surrounding stations in Chicago and Cincinnati.

WINS sales department lining up some new commercials for direct appeal to children.

80% of 570 Papers Carry Radio Listings; Fan Magazines Multiply

Even though the newscasting pact between the press and radio has served to get broadcasting a better break on publicity among the newspapers in the East and Midwest, there has been a hefty increase the past several months in the number of local and regional fan mags. As compared to the publications of this description in existence at the end of last year the current list represents a boost of around 20%. Fan mag field as affecting radio has shown fewer dropouts the past four months than for any parallel period since the inception of the national networks.

Still showing a substantial resistance toward giving space to radio program matters are the newspapers in the South and in the Pacific area, with the dailies in the former region taking top rating in this respect. As far as the Coast is concerned the recent order from William Randolph Hearst his editors to spread out on picture and text space for radio is expected to result in a general easing up among the western newsprint fraternity.

In a recent survey of 570 newspapers in 300 cities it was disclosed that 80% carried program listings, only 25% maintained what might come under the heading of radio columns, and a spare 15% occasionally used pictures of radio personalities.

Here and There

Thomas R. Sterck has joined the Jean V. Grombach recording studios as director of sales. Sterck was formerly with the Gardner Advertising Co. and the William H. Rankin Co. His more recent connection was as eastern sales mgr. of Jim Handy Pictures.

Dwight W. 'Doc' Norris resigned last week as sales manager for NBC in Boston, to enter the free lance field.

Fred Girard has been added to the staff of WSGN, Birmingham. He will act as program director, handle the publicity and do some announcing. He comes from station WGAT, Cleveland.

Lee Everett, program director for WBT, Charlotte, N. C., has disguised himself by removing the moustache that he grew some months ago to fit a stage character that he played for the Charlotte Little Theatre.

Carl Zomar, who has conducted a program over WSOC, Charlotte, N. C., for several weeks, is now on the air over WBT, same city. Billed as a phychologist, he answers questions and gives advice.

Goodrich Tire and Rubber has waxed 13 five-minute announcements which it figures will be bankrolled on local stations by over 100 of its dealers.

Collins Riley, boss of Kansas City transcription firm, Associated Broadcasting, touring south and southwest.

Cuban Radio Chaos Ending

But Squawkers Delay Reforms—Dailies Seek To Stop Verbatim News Lifts

Havana, May 22.

New radio law has brought about a lot of complaints from the small broadcasters who went right up to President Mendieta and talked him into naming a commish to study the effects of the new radio bill as drafted by Dr. Marino Daiz, head of the Cuban Radio Commission.

Eduardo J. Chibas and Raul de Cardenas are president and secretary of the board, and have called everyone interested in the radio biz to get their opinion of the bill. At the last meeting it was agreed to ask President Mendieta to withhold the bill until the commish is ready to report.

Evidently the new radio bill tends to place radio in its right level, doing away with the air pirates, and those broadcasting disks all the time and getting paid in merchandise, as is the case in many stations here.

Cheap broadcasters went as far as trying to get all the stations here to get off the air as protest, but it was no go, as the regular stations no like idea. The new radio bill will only grant clear channel to stations of 5,000 or more watts, and now CMCD, CMQ, CMX and CMY are getting their plants ready for increased power.

Eduardo Alonso, newsman, has asked the Radio Commish to curb the epidemic of 'talking dailies,' as the news broadcasts are called here. More than 40 such programs are heard daily here, each one with a duration of an hour, and some of them going into two and three hours consecutively. They all read the news from the dailies, as none of them has any special service.

It is understood that the musicians, operators, announcers and singers will get together to ask President Mendieta to maintain the bill, as it means more work for them with better pay.

NBC Artists Service Is Happy To Announce That Musicland's Most Versatile Ambassador

EDDIE PEABODY

IS NOW UNDER THE EXCLUSIVE MANAGEMENT OF

HAROLD F. KEMP

NBC ARTISTS SERVICE

RCA BUILDING, 30 ROCKEFELLER PLAZA, RADIO CITY, NEW YORK

12TH WEEK
Pure Oil Pep Show
Every Saturday
WEAF, NBC NETWORK
7:30-8:00 P. M. E.D.S.T.

JUST COMPLETED
Five Consecutive Months
Hollywood Restaurant,
New York
with Rudy Vallee

GUEST STAR
Fleischmann Hour
Six Times
Also Show Boat Hour

GUEST ARTIST
Bab-O Surprise Party
Sunday, June 3
WEAF, COAST-TO-COAST NETWORKS
1:30-1:45 P. M., E.D.S.T.

COMMERCIALS

WEEK OF MAY 28

This Department lists sponsored programs arranged alphabetically under the advertiser's name.

All time is p. m. unless otherwise noted. Where one advertiser has two or more programs they are listed consecutively.

An asterisk before name indicates advertising agency handling account.

Abbreviations: Su (Sunday); M (Monday); W (Wednesday); Th (Thursday); F (Friday);

ACME LEAD
6:30-Su-WABC
12:30-W-F-WABC
Ed McConnell
*Henri H-Mc

A. C. SPARK PLUG
9-W-WJZ
'Cookoos'
*Campbell-E

A & P
9:30-M-WEAF
Harry Horlick
Frank Parker
*Paris & Peart

ARMOUR
:30-F-WJZ
Phil Baker
H McNaughton
Mabel Albertson
Irene Beasley
Roy Shields Orc
*N. W. Ayer

B. T. RABBITT
1:30-Su-WEAF
Mary Small
Wm. Wirges
*Peck

A. S. BOYLE
(Floor Wax)
2:30-Su-WABC
'Lazy Dan'
Irving Kaufman
* lackett

BARBASOL
8:15-M-WABC
Edwin C. Hill
*Erwin Wasey

BAUER & BLACK
(Blue Jay Corn Plaster)
4:15-Tu-F-WJZ
Wade Booth
Dorothy Day
*Needham, L & B

BAYER
9:30-Su-WEAF
Frank Munn
Virginia Rae
Ohman & Arden
Bert Hirsch
Haenschen Orc
*Blackett

BISODOL
6:30-W-WABC
Everett Marshall
Elizabeth Lennox
Ohman & Arden
Irving Kaufman
Victor Arden's Orc
*Blackett

BORDEN
10:30-Su-WABC
'45 Min. in H'lyw'd'
Mark Warnow
11:45-W-WABC
Jane Ellison
*Young & Rubicam

BRISTOL-MYERS
9-W-WEAF
(Sal Hepatica)
(Ipana)
Fred Allen
Portland Hoffa
Jack Smart
Lionel Stander

Eileen Douglas
Irwin Delmore
Minerva Pious
Ipana Troubadours
Thomas Webb
Lennie Hayton
*Benton & Bowles

E. L. BRUCE CO.
10:30-Th-WABC
Doris Loraine
Cadets' Quartet
C Wheeler Orch
*O'Callahan

CALUMET BAKING
9:30-M-WEAF
H Barrett Dobbs
Doric & Kn'bocker Quartets
M Wilson Orc
*Thompson

CALSODENT CO
4:15-Th-WJZ
'Rhyming Rover'
*Thompson

CAMPANA
10-F-WEAF
'First Nighter'
June Meredith
Don Ameche
Carlton Brickert
Cliff Soubler
E Sagerquist Orc
*Aubrey Moore

CARNATION MILK
10-M-WEAF
Gene Arnold
Lullaby Lady
M L Eastman
Jean Paul King
*Erwin, Wasey

CENTAUR
(Fletcher's)
10:30-M-W-WABC
Albert Spalding
Conrad Thibault
Don Voorhees
*Young & Rubicam

CHERAMY
(Cosmetics)
10:30-F-WABC
Maxine Lash
String Quartet
*Gumbinner

CITIES SERVICE
8-F-WEAF
Jessica Dragonette
Cavaliers
*Lord & Thomas

CLIMALINE
12-Th-WEAF
Harold Stokes
Jackie Heller
Gil Page
King's Jesters
*W. S. Hill

CUTEX
9-F-WJZ
Phil Harris
Leah Ray
*J. Walt. Thomp.

COLGATE-PALM
(Colgate Dentifrice)
9-Su-WEAF
'C'ig'te Ho'se P'rty'
Joe Cook
Donald Novis
Frances Langford
Don Voorhees
Brad Browne
*Young & Rubicam

10-Tu-WEAF
(Palmolive Soap)
W. A. Backer, Dir.
ladys Swarthout
Eustace Wyatt
William Shelley
James Melton
John Barclay
Nat Shilkret
W. A. Backer, Dir.
*Benton-B
10:15-daily-WEAF
(Super Suds)
'Clara, Lu & Em'
Louise Starkey
Isabelle Carothers
Helen King
*Benton-B

CONTINENTAL OIL CO.
10:30-W-WJZ
Harry Richman
Jack Denny
John B. Kennedy
*Tracy-L-D

CRAZY CRYSTALS
12-M to 6-WEAF
Gene Arnold
8:30-M-W-F-WEAF
Maple City Four
*Mc-C-Eric

CONT. BAKING
9:15-F-WABC
Little Jack Little
*Ruthrauff & R

CORN PRODUCTS
11:15-M-W-F-WABC
(Kremel, Etc.)
Will Osborne
Pedro de Cordoba
*Hellwig

R. R. DAVIS
(Baking Powder)
0 A. M.-W-F-WJZ
0:45-Tu-Th-WABC
'Mystery Chef'
John McPherson
*Ruthrauff-R
6:30-M-W-Th-WEAF

'Buck Rogers'
Curtis Arnall
Adele Ronson
Edgar Stehli
Joe Granby
Walter Tetley
Allan Devitt
Georgia Backus
Elaine Melchoir
Aidele Klein
Bill Shelley
Henry Gurvey
Harry Swan
Lionel Stander
Emmet Gowan
Beatrice Allen
*Ruthrauff & R

ELIZABETH ARDEN
9-Tu-WABC
Maury H. B. Paul
Fray & Braggiotti
Freddy Martin
*Blaker Agency

E. R. SQUIBB & SONS
9:30-M-WABC
'The Big Show'
Helen Menken
Gertrude Niesen
Erno Rapee
*Katz

FIRESTONE
8:30-M-WEAF
H. Firestone, Jr.
Lawrence Tibbett
Wm. Daly Orc.
*Sweeny-James

FITCH
7:45-Su-WEAF
Wendell Hall
*K. W. Ramsey

FORD MOTOR
9:30-Su-WABC
9:30-Th-WABC
Fred Waring
Ted Pearson
*N. W. Ayer

FUNK & WAGN'LL
(Literary Digest)
7:15-W-WJZ
Graham McNamee
*Badger & B

GEN. BAKING
5:30-Su-WABC
Julia Sanderson
Frank Crumit
*B., B., D. & O.

GENERAL CIGAR
9:30-W-WABC
Guy Lombardo
Burns & Allen
*J. Walt. Thomp.

GENERAL FOODS
(La France)
(Walsh's Powder)
9:30-Sa-WEAF
'Beatrice Fairfax'
Marjorie Johnson
Mc. Stella Orc.

11:15-Th-WEAF
Frances Lee Barton
*Young & Rubicam

9-Th-WEAF
(Maxwell)
Chas Winninger
Lanny Ross
Annette Hanshaw
Conrad Thibault
Muriel Wilson
'Molasses 'n' Jan'ry
Gus Haenschen Orc

3-F-WEAF
'Marla's Certo
Lanny Ross
Mary Lou
Conrad Thibault
Gus Haenschen Orc
*Benton & Bowles

10-W-WABC
'Byrd Expedition'
*Young & Rubicam

GENERAL HOUSEHOLD
(Grunow)
Refrigerators
9:30-Tu-WABC
Minneapolis Symp'y
Eugene Ormandy
*Hays MacFarland

GENERAL MILLS
5:30-Daily-WABC
Jack Armstrong
All American Boy
4-Daily-WJZ
'Betty & Bob'
Betty Churchill
Don Ameche
Betty Winkler
Art Jacobson
Carl Bickford
Louis Roen
*Blackett

GENERAL MOTOR
(Chevrolet)
10-Su-WEAF
Victor Young Orc
*Campbell-E
(Oldsmobile)
9:15-Tu-F-WABC
Ruth Etting
Johnny Green
*B., B., D. & O.

GENERAL TIRES
8:30-F-WEAF
Jack Benny
Mary Livingston
Frank Parker
Don Bestor
*Hays MacFarland

GERBER & CO.
10-Su-WJZ
Mme. Schumann-H
*Erwin Wasey

GILLETTE
(Safety Razor)
7:15-Daily, except Sa-Su-WJZ
Gene and Glenn
*Ruthrauff & R

GOODRICH
7:45-M-W-F-WJZ
'Taxi'
Max Baer
Franc Hale
Jean Southern
*Ruthrauff-R

GULF
9-Su-WJZ
Irving Berlin
Frank Parker
Revelers
Pickens Sis
Al Goodman
*Cecil Warwick

HECKER H-O
(White Cod)
3-Su-WJZ
'Bar X Ranch'
Carson Robison
John Mitchell
Bill Mitchell
Pearl Pickens
*Wm. Esty

HECKER H-O
6:15-Daily-WABC
'H-Bar-O Rangers'
Bobby Benson
Neil O'Malley
Florence Halian
Billy Hallop
John Barthe
*Erwin-Wasey

EDNA HOPPER
2:15-Daily-WABC
'Helen Trent'
Lester Tremayne
Virginia Clark
Karl Heube
Dolores Gillen
Jack Doty
*Blackett

HOOVER
5:30-Su-WEAF
Edward Davies
Chicago Concerto
Joe Koestner
*Erwin-Wasey

HORLICK
9:45-Su-WJZ
Dr. H Yunkansen
*Lord & Thomas

HOUSEHOLD
9-Tu-WJZ
Edgar A Guest
Alice Mock
Joe Koestner's Orc
*C. D. Frey

HUDNUT
:30-F-WABC
Jack Whiting
Jack Denny
Jeannie Lang
Three Rascals
*B. B. D. & O.

HUDSON MOTORS
10-Sa-WEAF
Saxon Sis
Lennie Hayton
Graham McNamee
8:30-Tu-WJZ
Conrad Thibault
Lois Bennett
Honey Dean
Harry Salter
*Blackman

INDIVIDUAL CUP CO.
(Dixie Cups)
6:45-M-WABC
Bob Sherwood
Bradley Barker
Frank Novak's Orc
*Young & Rubicam

INSTITUTE AM. MEAT PACKERS
4-Sa-WEAF
'Romance of Meat'
*Direct

JERGEN'S
9:30-Su-WJZ
Walt. Winchell
*J. Walt. Thomp.

JOHNS-MANVILLE
8:30-Sa-WEAF
Floyd Gibbons
Nat Shilkret Orc
*J. Walt Thompson

JOHNSON & SON
(Floor Wax)
1:45-Tu-Th-WABC
5:15-Su-WABC
Tony Wons
Keenan & Phillips
*Needham, L. & B.

KELLOGG
5:30-Daily WJZ
The Singing Lady
Irene Wicker
Allan Grant
*N. W. Ayer

KRAFT-PHENIX
10-Th-WEAF
P Whiteman Orc
Deems Taylor
Ramona
Peggy Healy
Jack Fulton
*J. Walt. Thomp.

KOLYNOS
7:15-Daily-WABC
Just Plain Bill
Arthur Hughes
*Blackett

LADY ESTHER
10-S-M-WABC
8:30-Tu-W-WEAF
Anson Weeks Orch
Seymour Simon Orc
*Stack-Goble

LAMONT-CORLISS
(Nestles)
8-F-WJZ
Ethel Shutta
Walter O'Keefe
Bobby Dolan Orc
*J. Walt. Thomp.

LARUS
(Edgeworth)
10-W-WEAF
Corn Cob Pipe Club of Virginia
*BBD&O

LEHN & FINK
(Lysol)
10:30-Su-WEAF
Helen Hayes
Nat Shilkret Orc
*Ruthrauff & R

LIGGETT-MYERS
(Chesterfield)
9-M-W-S-WABC
(Monday)
Rosa Ponselle
Andre Kostelanetz
(Wednesday)
Nino Martini
Andre Kostelanetz
(Saturday)
Greta Stueckgold
Andre Kostelanetz
Mixed Chorus
Ford Frick
*Newell-Emmett

LUXOR
(Armour)
3-Su-WEAF
'Talkie Pic Time'
June Meredith
John Goldsworthy
John Stanford
Gilbert Douglas
Mary Forbes
*N. W. Ayer

MANHATTAN SOAP CO.
11:30-Th-WJZ
Jack Arthur
DeMarco Sis

11:30-Th-WJZ
Harriet Lee
Edward Kennedy
*Peck

J. W. MARROW
(Oil Shampoo)
1:15-Tu-Th-WABC
Joan Marrow
Bob Nolan
Eddie House
*Placed direct

MACFADDEN
(Liberty Magazine)
10-F-WJZ
'Stories That Should Be Told'
Fulton Oursler
(True Story)
2:30-Fr-WABC
'Court of Human Relations'
Percy Hemus
Arnold Johnson's Orc
Elsie Hitz
Ned Weaver
Lucille Wall
Allyn Joslyn
Paul Stewart
*Stack-Goble

MET. LIFE CO.
6:45-Daily WEAF
Arthur Bagley

DR. MILES LAB'S
(Alka-Seltzer)
10:30-Sa-WJZ
WLS Barn Dance
Ridge Runners
Mac & Bob
Clarence Wheeler
*Wade

MOHAWK MILLS
(Carpets)
10:30-Tu-Th-WEAF
Orch & Singers
*B., B. D. & O.

MOLLE CO.
:30-M-Th-WEAF
WEAF
Shirley Howard
Guy Bonham
Wamp Carlson
Dwight Latham
Milt Rettenberg
Tony Caluci
Stack-Goble

RENJ. MOORE
11:30-W-WEAF
Betty Moore
Lew White

MUELLER C.
10:15-M-W-F-WABC
'Bill & Ginger'
Virginia Baker
Lyn Murray
*Hellwig

NAT'L SUGAR
9:30-M-WJZ
Theo Karle
Joseph Pasternack
*Gotham

NORTHWESTERN YEAST
9-M-WJZ
Jan Garber Orc
*Hays MacFarland

OXOL
5:45-M-Tu-W-Th-WABC
Dave, Bunny & G
Bunny Coughlin
Dave Grant
Gordon Graham
*B., B., D. & O.

OXYDOL
(Proct'r & Gamble)
2:45-Daily Except Sa & Su-WEAF
'Ma Perkins'
Virginia Dayne
Margery Hannon
Karl Hubel
Will Forman
Chas. Eggleston
*Blackett

PACKARD
10-M-WJZ
Walter Damrosch
John B. Kennedy
*Cecil Warwick

PACIFIC BORAX
9-Th-WJZ
'Death Vall'y Days'
Tim Frawley
Joseph Bell
Edwin W. Whitney
Lonesome Cowboy
Joseph Bonime Orc
*McC.Erick

PALMER HOUSE
10-Tu-WJZ
Ray Perkins
Gale Page
Harold Stokes Orc

PEPSODENT
7-Daily, Except Sa & Su-WJZ
Amos 'n' Andy
Charles Correl
Freeman Gosden
('Rise of Gold')

7:45-Daily, Except Sa & Su-WEAF
Gertrude Berg
James Waters

9:30-Tu-Th-Sa-WJZ
(Junis Cream)
Eddie Duchin
*Lord & Thomas

PHILCO
7:45 daily ex. Sa-Su-WABC
Boake Carter
*F. W. Armstrong

PHILIP MORRIS
9-F-WEAF
Leo Reisman's Orc
Phil Duey
*Blow

PILLSBURY
10:30-Daily-WJZ
'Today's Children'
Irma Phillips
Walter Wicker
Bess Johnson
Irene Wicker
Lucy Gillman
Fred Von Amon
Jean Gregor
*Hutchinson

11-M-W-F-WABC
'Cooking Close Ups'
*Hutchinson

PARST
9-Tu-WEAF
Ben Bernie Orc
*Matt-Fogarty

PLOUGH, INC.
10-W-WJZ
Vincent Lopez
Ed Sullivan
*Lake-Spiro-C

PUROLL
7:30-Sa-WEAF
Eddie Peabody
De Marco Sisters
Joey Nash
Richard Himber Orc
*Freltag

QUAKER OATS
8:45-M-W-F-WJZ

Babe Ruth
*Fletcher-A & E

RALSTON
5-F-WEAF
Mme. Sylvia of Hollywood
*Gardner

REAL SILK
7-Su-WJZ
Chas. Previn Orch
Charles Lyons
*Erwin-Wasey

RED STAR YEAST
11-Tu-Th-S-WEAF
Edna Odell
Phil Porterfield
Irma Glen
Earl Lawrence

R. J. REYNOLDS
(Camels)
10-Tu-Th-WABC
Casa Loma Orc
Connie Boswell
Stoopnagle & Budd
*Wm. Esty

RITCHIE
(Eno Salts)
8-Tu-W-WJZ
'Eno Crime Club'
Spencer Dean
*N. W. Ayer

SCHLITZ
10-F-WABC
B. B. D. & O.

SILVER DUST
7:30-Tu-Th-WABC
Paul Keast
Vivian Goodwyn
Rollo Hudson's Orc
*B., B., D. & O.

SINCLAIR
9-M-WJZ
Gene Arnold
Bill Childs
Mac McCloud
Joe Parsons
Cliff Soubler
Harry Kogen
*Federal

STAND. BRANDS
(Chase & Sanborn)
8-Su-WEAF
Jimmy Durante
Rubinoff
(Baker's)
7:30-Su-WJZ
Joe Penner
Harriet Hilliard
Ozzie Nelson Orc

8-W-WEAF
(C & S Tea)
Jack Pearl
Cliff Hall
Peter Van Steeden
Kathleen Wells

8-Th-WEAF
(Fleischmann)
Rudy Vallee and His Conn. Yanks
Margaret Anglin
Judith Anderson
Henrik Van Loon
*J. Walt. Thomp.

STD. OIL (N. Y.)
8-M-WEAF
Socony Sketches
Arthur Allen
Parker Fennelly
Kate McComb
Isabelle Winlocke
Ruth Russell
Robert Strauss
*J. S. Getchell

STERLING PROD.
9-F-WEAF
(Phillips Mag)
'Waltz Time'
Abe Lyman Orc
Frank Munn
Vivienne Segal
5:15 daily ex. Sa-Su-WABC
'Skippy'
8:30-Th-WABC
Abe Lyman
Vivienne Segal
Oliver Smith
*Blackett

STUDEBAKER
6:30-Sa-WABC
Richard Himber
*Roche-W-C

SUN OIL
6:45-Daily-WJZ
Lowell Thomas
*Roche-Williams

TASTYEAST
7:30-Tu-WEAF
Brad Browne
Al Llewellyn
*Stack-Goble

TEXAS CO.
9:30-Tu-WEAF
Ed Wynn
Graham McNamee
Don Voorhees
*Hanff-Netzger

TIDEWATER
(Tydol)
7:30-M-W-F-WABC
Jimmy Kemper
Robert Armbruster
Hummingbirds
*Lennen Mitch

U. S. TOBACCO
(Dill's Best)
9:30-F-WEAF
'One Night Stands'
Pic Malone
Pat Padgett
Josef Bonime
*McC.-Erick

UNION CENTRAL
8-Su-WABC
'Roses & Drums'
Elizabeth Love
George Gaul
Robt T Haines
Blaine Cordner
*J. Walt. Thomp.

WANDER CO.
(Ovaltine)
5:45-Daily-WJZ
'Little Orphan A'
Allan Baruck
Henrietta Tedro
Ed Sprague
Stanley Andrews
Shirley Bell
*Blackett

WARD BAKING
9-Su-WABC
'Family Theatre'
James Melton
Josef Pasternack
*Fletcher-E

WM. R. WARNER
(Non Spl)
10-Su-WJZ
Cary Grant
Sketches
*Cecil, W. & C.

WASEY PROD
12-M-Tu-W-Th-F-WABC
3:15-M-W-F
5:15-Tu-WABC
Voice of Exp'rience
*Erwin Wasey

R. L. WATKINS
9-Su-WJZ
Tamara
Davis Percy
Men About Town
Jacques Renard
*Blackett

WELCH
(Grape Juice)
7:30-W-WJZ
Irene Rich
*Kastor

WESTERN CO.
(Dr. West T'thp'ste)
6:30-M-W-F-WEAF
'Frank Merriwell'
Donald Briggs
Dolores Gillen
*J. Walt. Thompson

WOODBURY
8:30-M-WABC
Bing Crosby
Jimmy Grier Orc
*Lennen-M

WORCESTER
(Salts Toothpaste)
8 p. m.-F-WABC
Zool Parenteau's O
H Van Emburgh
*Fuller & Smith

WYETH CHEM
(Jad Salts)
8:15-W-Th-F-WABC
'Easy Aces'
Goodman Ace
Jane Ace
Mary Hunter
*Blackett

New Business

(Continued from page 36)

weekly for 13 weeks at 9:45 p.m. Titled 'Comedy Stars of Hollywood' (Wade Agency, Chicago). WGN.

Walgreen Company, program by Ben Potter at 6-6:15 p.m. for 13 weeks. (Blackett - Sample - Hummert). WGN.

Wieboldt Stores, time signal at 8 p.m. each Wednesday. Till forbid. WGN.

Illinois Central Railroad, time signal, three times weekly for six weeks. WGN.

Gas Applican Society, participation in Home Management period, 15 minutes daily except Sunday. (Campbell Ewald Agency.) WGN.

'Bordens, Cunningham's and Weiland' ice cream companies jointly, 'The Puzzler' program Wednesday and Friday at 9:45-10 p.m. (Aubrey, Moore and Wallace Agency, Chicago.) WBBM.

CHARLOTTE, N. C.

Byrd Products, Greensboro, N. C., series of 52 15-minute programs Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays from 5:45-6:00 p. m., hair tonic account, beginning May 30, 1934, ending Aug. 28, 1934. Placed locally. WBT.

Black Flag Co., Baltimore, 55 one-minute announcements, beginning May 21, 1934, ending Aug. 3, 1934, daily except Saturday and Sunday. Placed by Radio Sales, Incorporated, New York. WBT.

L. E. Mahaffey, Clinton, S. C., 26 one-minute announcements for 'World Tours, Monday, Wednesday and Friday daytime, beginning May 18, 1934, ending June 16, 1934. Placed locally. WBT.

Willard Tablet Co., Chicago, continuation contract for 39 15-minute programs, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 5:30-5:45 p. m., beginning June 4, 1934, ending Aug. 31, 1934. Placed by Radio Sales, Incorporated, Chicago. WBT.

LINCOLN

Stors Brewing Company, 100 announcements to run over period of a year. KFAB.

Remington Rand, 18 announcements. KFAB.

Farmers Serum, daily spot announcements for a month. KFAB.

City Fuel, five days a week, 10-minute Little Emo movie chat broadcast for one year. KFOR.

Gold & Co., announcements before and after the chain Hudnut program. KFAB.

Doane College, participation in the morning Time and Tunes program, for one month. KFAB.

Willard Tablets, 13 announcements. KFAB.

Beacon Coffee Shop, announcements for four months. KFOR.

Table Supply, daily announcements for one year. KFOR.

Modern Method Shoe Repair, daily announcements for a month. KFOR.

ITTSBURGH

Benjamin Moore and Co., renewal of 15-minute program weekly on interior and exterior decorating for 26 weeks. Placed direct. WWSW.

Smithfield Ham and Products Co., one announcement daily, except Sunday, for two weeks. Placed direct. WWSW.

Saupp-Kilroy Co., Oldsmobile distributors, seven announcements. Placed direct. WWSW.

SEATTLE, WASH.

A. H. Lewis Medicine Co. (Tums), 13 announcements. Through Ruthrauff and Ryan. WOL.

Western Dairy Products, nouncements. WOL.

S. L. Savidge, Inc. (Dodge dealer), 13 quarter-hour programs. WOL.

KANSAS CITY

Hi Grade Groceries, 15 minutes daily, six days weekly, 52 weeks, disc. KMBC.

Ford Auto Agencies, 125 words daily, six days weekly. KMBC.

Jack and Loretta Clemens
WJZ
10:45-11 A.M.
Mon., Wed., Fri.
WILBERT'S FLOOR WAX
Direction
NBC Artists Bureau
and
Ben Rocke Productions

FRANK PARKER
Featured Soloi
A. & P. GYPSIES
GENERAL TIRES
First Tenor with
THE REVELLERS

fred allen's
HOUR OF SMILES
With
PORTLAND HOFFA
JACK SMART
IRWIN DELMORE
LIONEL STANDER
MINERVA PIOUS
EILEEN DOUGLAS
LENNIE HAYTON'S ipana TROUBADOURS
Material by Fred Allen and Harry Tugend
Management Walter Batchelor
Wednesdays, 9-10 P. M., D. S. T.
WEAF

HOTEL PIERRE
JACK DENNY
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Conoco Oil
Wed., 10:30 P.M.
WJZ
Richard Hudnut
WABC
Fri., 9:30 P.M.
WEAF
Sat., 12 Midnight
Mon., 11:30 P.M.
Tues., 12:30 A.M.

VIVIAN JANIS
"ZIEGFELD FOLLIES"
CBS, Mon.-Fri., 12 Midnight
Sole Direction
HERMAN BERNI
1619 Broadway
New York City

ROY FOX
AND HIS BAND
ON TOUR
B.B.C. NETWORK

THE GREEK AMBASSADOR OF GOOD WILL
GEORGE GIVOT
Loew's Deluxe Theatres
Sole Direction
HERMAN BERNIE
1619 Broadway New York

LEO REISMAN
AMERICA'S MOST EXPENSIVE RECORDING DANCE ORCHESTRA
on
BRUNSWICK RECORDS

HENRY BUSSE
AND HIS MUSIC
NOW
CHEZ PAREE
Chicago
SCHLITZ BREWING CO.
Fri. 9-9:30 P.M. CST
Columbia Broadcasting Co.

EMERSON GILL
AND ORCHESTRA
HIS CLEVELAND
WTAM
Nightly
NBC
Tuesday
Wednesday
Friday
1 p.m.
E.D.S.T.

Songwriters' Gala Benefit Nets $10,000 and Proves a Signal Click

The Songwriters' Protective Association, marshalled by Sigmund Romberg, president of the S.P.A., staged a benefit for the Dramatists Guild at the Casino de Paree, N. Tuesday night, May 22. Show a sellout at $5 per, netting close to $10,000, including check for $3,000 donated by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Surprise of the evening to the benefit-worn audience was in finding the vast amount of showmanship in the program, from Gene Buck's m.c.ing to the smart work of the songwriters' themselves. Latter, sensing the rare mood of the audience and its friendliness, swept the show along into a memorable success.

Audience, Broadway wiseys, Park ave., the literati and songwriters' wives, found themselves singing the second choruses, and soon discovered they could do four part harmony. It was that kind of a night; warm—from the heart. The chink in their armor revealed by the sentimental memories evoked hearing the old tunes, the hard-boiled first night mob turned sucker—for a popular song. They all sang and liked the other fellows' singing almost as much as their own.

Everybody on the program was a hit; stand-outs, George M. Cohan turning his difficulties in finding the right page of his script of 'I'd Rather Write a Song' into a howl with his ad libbing, 'These Eugene O'Neill songs!' and his 'wait a minute—wait a minute' to the orchestra, then topping the ovation that greeted his 'Over There' by spryly going into his dance, Irving Berlin playing and singing 'Alexander' and holding each hand up separately while playing with the other to scotch the rumor of his one finger piano playing, so endearing himself to the throng that he was compelled to do an encore, George Gershwin doing 'I've Got Rythm' in sophisticated harmony interrupted by the spontaneous applause of the audience, Harry Armstrong leading the house in 'Sweet Adeline,' greeted by a dam-bursting of harmonizing.

Songwriters who appeared on the smooth-running, fast moving bill included Ferde Grofe, Harold Arlen, Dorothy Fields and Jimmy McHugh, Dick Rodgers, Herman Hupfeld, Jean Schwartz, Johnny Green, Dana Suesse, Lew Brown, Harry Warren, Fred Ahlert, Rudy Vallee, Arthur Schwartz, Sigmund Romberg, J. Rosamond Johnson and Gus Edwards. Mrs. Ethelbert Nevin and Miss Ella Herbert were asked to take bows.

Show started promptly at midnight, at which time it went on the air over CBS. The fear expressed beforehand by some meanies that no songwriter would leave the piano before he had played his whole medley turned out to be a base canard. Each performer left the stage quietly after he had done his prescribed bit, though on this sentimental occasion nobody in the audience wanted him to stop.

Lyman Baton-Wavers' Ass'n Temp. President

Movement among dance band leaders, with membership in the New York musicians' union, to organize themselves into an association last week reached the elections stage. At a meeting, at which some 20 batonists were present, Abe Lyman was voted temporary president.

Also appointed was a committee to formulate the group's articles of association.

Irving Mills has taken over the management of Joe Venuti's band, currently spotted at Delmonico's, Broadway niterie.

Club Lido, Sea Girt, N. J., opens tomorrow night (29) for its seventh season, with six acts and a band. Peppino, male member of mixed dance team, doubles as m.c.

Billy Hill Seeking British Pix Tieup

Billy Hill is currently in England negotiating with Gaumont British and British International Pictures for the writing of several scores. Hill accepted the invitation to cross the ocean and talk it over after he had failed to get a favorable offer from American producers.

Probabilities are that Louis Bernstein, of Shapiro, Bernstein & Co., Hill's publishing contact, will go over to put the finishing touches to the negotiations.

DIRECTORS MAY END MPPA FOLIO

Mounting opposition from the publishing end of the trade is expected to put a halt to the operations of the Music Publishers' Protective Association in the song folio field. Indications are that the directorate at a meeting scheduled for this week will vote to discontinue the lyric sheet idea.

John G. Paine, chairman of the MPPA board, declared last Friday (25) that, although the publishers are strongly aligned against continuing with the project, the dealers, particularly the syndicate stores, are divided on the question as to whether the MPPA lyric folio has helped or harmed the sale of sheet music. Meantime the MPPA is putting out another nickel lyric collection, this edition for the newsstand trade, totaling 500,000 copies. Latest folio representation is limited to 60 sets of lyrics, as compared to the 75 in previous issues.

In a survey taken by the Kresge stores, said Paine, it developed that the chain's managers were predominantly in favor of the songsheet folio. One out of every three Kresge managers answered that the folio had served to stimulate the sales of sheet music. There was, however, an instance of a manager reporting that a woman customer asked for a refund on a sheet of music after she had found that this song was included in an MPPA lyric folio bought at the same counter.

It is Paine's contention that, while the music business has taken a huge slump in the past three months, the drop would have been still worse had it been for the stimulus produced by the lyric compendium. As a case in point, Paine cited the report of a Kresge store in New Haven, Conn., which found its songsheet business boosted 40% with the sale of the lyric collections at the same counter.

ASCAP MEMBERSHIP PACT ABOUT READY

New membership contract of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers should be ready for ratification by the organization's board of directors within the next two weeks. Minor clauses are still to be straightened, while the major angle awaiting settlement is whether to make the agreement run for five or 10 years beyond the current contract, which expires at the end of 1935. Majority opinion on the board favors the 10-year term.

Negotiations for an extension of contract with the broadcasters will be resumed after the new ASCAP membership agreements are signatured by the writer and publisher factions.

Par has renewed contract with Ray Turner, piano player in the music department. Accompanist was soloist with Whiteman's band.

Merle Carlson's orch. opened at Cafe de Paree, L. A.

Fio Rito's Tour

Hollywood, May 28.

Ted Fio Rito and band close Saturday night (2) at the Hotel Ambassador (Cocoanut Grove) and begin a vaude tour of 10 weeks for Fanchon & Marco at the local Paramount June 14. After nine additional weeks on the Coast, outfit hits east, playing Cleveland, Detroit and other RKO spots, and winding up at the Palace, Chicago, late in August.

After a few weeks' rest Fio Rito combo reopens at the Grove early in October.

Fly-By-Nite Clubs Find Chi Rags Now Chilly to Cuffo Ads

icago, May 28.

Chicago dailies are approaching the nite club advertising splurge with more caution this year following the flood of bad debts from the niteries during the 1933 World's Fair. Last year the dailies, particularly the Hearst papers, stepped out of their way to boost the nite club angle in stories and advertising, with the niteries topping the theatres in ad space.

But the dailies learned to their sorrow that nite clubs come and go like ships in the night, leaving a load of advertising debts unpaid. It is reported that 25 to 33% of all the nite club space in the dailies last summer is still on the bad debt list.

Dailies this year are demanding security or payment on the line from the doubtful clubs. Papers are once more making up to the theatres, realizing that the picture spots are year-round propositions.

SYD CHAPLIN SPOTS SONGS WITH MILLS

Paris, May 28.

Syd Chaplin, Charlie's brother and himself a former screen comic, keeps interested professionally through writing songs. He has just placed two of his original compositions, 'I Love You in Different Languages' and 'Give It to Me,' with Irving Mills' Exclusive Publications in N. Y. Bill Arnold, local fav maestro, who first introduced the ditties, now in America, did the placing of the publishing rights on behalf of Chaplin.

Chaplin's main business is playing the market.

Plan Show and Band In Salvin's Surf Club

Sam Salvin is planning an elaborate floor show and name band for his Sun and Surf Club, Long Beach, a membership club opening this summer. Salvin has bowed out of Ben Marden's Riveria in Englewood, N. J., with which he was associated last summer.

Ritz Bros. and Leo Reisman's orchestra are mentioned for the Sun and Surf.

BERNIE'S ONE-NIGHTERS

San Francisco, May 28.

Following his week at Marco's Orpheum, from which he also did his Pabst broadcast, Ben Bernie did one-nighters at the auditorium in Sacramento and Sweet's ballroom in Oakland before returning to Hollywood.

There, the maestro is scheduled for retakes on the Par lot. He expects to be back in New York about June 30.

SPOT LOU TRAVELLER

Hollywood, May 28.

Venice pier ballroom reopens May 26 for the summer season, as the Balboa Gardens, sponsored by makers of Balboa beer. Lou Traveller's band has been engaged, with Fred Howard and Nat Vincent booked as m.c.'s.

Pair, known on the air as the 'Happy Chapples' will remote their programs from the ballroom floor.

HAPPY HOUR IN S. F.

San Francisco, May 28.

The Don Lee network moves its matinee Happy Go Lucky Hour from KHJ, Los Angeles, to KFRC, San Francisco, Friday (1). Show will be sent out from here daily.

Mayer Issues Ultimatum to 19 Pubs—End MDS Tieup or Face Another Suit

Max Mayer is preparing to start court action against the 19 publi ers who have designated Maurice Richmond's Music Dealers Service, Inc., as their exclusive distributing agency. His complaint will charge these publishing firms with granting Richmond exclusive sheet music discounts that threaten the economic existence of others in the jobbing field. Suit will declare that this price discrimination is contrary to the fair competition, and that the combination is in restraint trade provisions of the Clayton and Sherman acts.

Mayer last week held informal conferences with a number of the publishers involved with a view to getting the situation amicably adjusted. In these discussions the pubs were advised that he (Mayer) would much rather avoid any further litigation, but, unless they express themselves by June 1 as amenable to dealing with him on the same basis as with Richmond, he would take the issue to court.

ichmond's Discount

Firms that have named Richmond as their exclusive agent sell to the latter at a 6% discount. Mayer, to get the product of these publishers, must buy from Richmond, who in turn allows his competitor (Mayer) a 1% discount. This gives Richmond a margin of 5% and permits him to service the dealer at a profit, while if Mayer sells to the counterman at the same price as Richmond the transaction resolves into a loss.

Richmond took over the facilities of the Music Dealers Service, Inc., when that central distributing bureau suspended operations following the withdrawal of nine member publishers during the trial of Mayer's $1,250,000 anti-trust suit in the New York Federal court. At the same time Richmond assumed the exclusive agency of the publishing firms that did not settle with Mayer.

Publishers that are tied up with Richmond on an exclusive basis, and against whom Mayer proposes to bring his unfair competition action, are Bibo-Lang; Broadway Music Corp.; Crawford Music Corp.; L. B. Curtis; DeSylva, Brown & Henderson; Donaldson, Douglas & Gumble; Harry Engel; Leo Feist; Isham Jones Music Corp.; Keit Music Corp.; Kornheiser-Schuster; Luz Bros.; Melo-Art Music Publishing Co.; Miller Music; Olman Music Corp.; Select Music Publications; Sherman, Clay & Co.; Superior Music, and Milton Weil Music Co.

Henderson Replaces Lunceford at Cotton

Fletcher Henderson and his band, who recently came under Irving Mills' direction, succeeds Jimmie Lunceford at the Cotton Club, New York, June 16. Lunceford goes out on a New England dance tour.

Henderson is the band which was taken on by Mills as a result of threats by Jack Hylton, London jazz maestro, to import Henderson and book him as opposition to Mills' Cab Calloway combo in London last February. Mills and Hylton at that time were engaged in litigation over a previous tour involving Duke Ellington.

Spokane Minus Nite Spots Due To Liquor Ban

Spokane, May 28.

There is not a single night spot or speak left in Spokane as a result of the recent police edict that persons illegally dispensing beer and hard liquors would feel the brunt of the state liquor laws.

Newspaper drive is accredited by some operators as being the cause of the police shutdown on the gay spots. Beer in taverns, with a 1 a.m. closing, is all that is available to those seeking late entertainment.

Beer and wine licenses for the Cotton Club and Hofbrau, two popular nite resorts, were refused by the state liquor board. Both closed.

H. Arnold Replaces Bro. Billy in Riviera Casino

Paris, May 28.

With Billy Arnold now in America, his brother Henry Arnold and the old B. A. band assume the dance engagement at the Hollywood casino, Juan-les-Pins of the Riviera, opening in mid-June.

Billy Arnold has been around these resorts for 15 years since the war, until the settling of his father's estate took him back to his native Paterson, N. J.

PWA Concerts in Phila.

Philadelphia, May 28.

Philadelphia Municipal Works fund is providing free concerts for the benefit of locally unemployed musicians. Plans were announced last Monday eve (21) at the Bellevue-Stratford hostelry during a big shindig.

Occasion marked the first time Leopold Stokowski, of the Philadelphia orchestra, consented to lead a pickup group of men. Maestro was quoted as saying that United States should follow the European lead by appropriately setting aside yearly funds for free music concerts.

Show was arranged by Eddie Sherman, with Jimmy Jones conducting a gratis 30-piece band. Guest talent at the show included Nick Lucas, George Raft, Vera Van, Bill Robinson, with Eddie White as m.c.

Wittstein's Prom Date

New Haven, May 28.

Eddie Wittstein and his orchestra of 25 are slated to perform at the Yale Senior Prom June 18. MCA also has Wittstein set for the General Motors show at the local State Armory June 2-9.

Wittstein starts his season at the swank Dunes club, Narragansett Pier, R. I., on July 1.

Frisco Spot Reopens

San Francisco, May 28.

Harold Maguire and 'Dutch' White, operators of night spots around here for a long time, have taken over the Coq D'or, which did a brody within a fortnight of its inauguration recently.

Renaming it the Kit Kat club.

Native Pride Puts Screen Hits Over In Great Britain

Reg Connolly, of the English music pub firm of Campbell-Connolly, is in New York on a fortnight's business trip in connection with the American subsid firm of C-C, Ltd. Connolly brought his London accountant over to check the American business records and wind up sundry details.

Connolly states that picture songs in Great Britain mean even more than in this country, as the native pride in its favorites exceeds that of the American regard for Bing Crosby. Besides, there are more Crosbys in England than locally, in that the music hall and comic opera favos who have gone cinematic enjoy a greater hold on their publics. Hence the screen songs sell much better.

Furthermore, screen musicals with any sort of a native appeal, and locally made, get more b.o. attention than the best Hollywood-made pictures.

Otherwise, however, music biz is on a par with American conditions at this time—poor.

Shapiro, Bernstein will publish the score of 'Saluta,' operetta, which Cort and Abramson are slated to produce. Script co-authored by Frank D'Armond and Will Morrissey.

Amateurish Beginning Mars Chances Of Theatre-Cafe in Auditorium

May 28.

Housed in the former artistocratic opera home, the mammoth Auditorium, an attempt to ape the Casino de Paree in New York has proven a soggy dud. Opened on May 18, the place, renamed the Cascades, has already gone through several changes in production, setup and operation. But so far it hasn't done anything at all. And won't mean anything until several radical changes are made.

Last year an architect by the name of Andy Reborl was associated with the Streets of Paris concession at the Fair. Reborl has now entered show business. He built the Cascades in the Auditorium and started to produce his own show. It was pitifully amateurish. He gave up the ghost after seven days and turned the production job over to Fritz Blocki and associates. Blocki is a local p.a. and playwright.

They've brought in Lottie Mayer and her diving act, added a male quartet, a femme dancer and a line of girls. It all summed up to hash and small-time vaude. The meagre audience yawned and drooled into its coffee. People got up and went home.

Business is still lousy, and it will continue to be unless they bring in a sock name or attraction, or until they pep up that show with some laughs. They're trying to be very high class and hoity-toity, and they're succeeding only in being boring. They're letting the audience go to sleep.

Two orchestras make a fine flash on either side of the big house, but still that isn't enterta1nment.

House had and still has an excellent chance to make coin, especially with the Fair on tap. But they're not going at it in the right way, and if they continue in their present manner they're not going to continue at all.

Sidewalk Cafe Opens

Philadelphia, May 28.

The Rafters, one of the largest drinkeries in Philly, opens this week with a right-off-the-sidewalk idea. Front of the place, facing on a main highway centrally located, is opened wide.

Show features Oliver Naylor's ork unit, Arthur Williamson, Frank Murtha as m.c., and Carioca team of Dupez and Treese.

Zelli, Arnold Combo

Joe Zelli and Billy Arnold, both Americans who have been in Paris so long that people think them native Frenchmen, will reunite in New York as a cafe combo. Zelli has the spot bearing his name currently on East 58th street, Manhattan, but he is planning another venture with Arnold. They are an old nite life partnership from the Continent.

Arnold is organizing his own native American band and may first essay some dance engagements before taking up the Zelli partnership.

Claremont Reopens At Pop Prices and Roger Kahn's Band

In line with N. Y. City Park Commissioner Moses' plan to reclaim city park property for benefit of the masses, the snooty Claremont roadhouse on Riverside Drive and 124th street, New York, opens tonight (Tuesday) with a pop priced admish scale. Roger Wolfe Kahn marks his comeback as a dance maestro at this spot. With him and an NBC wire are the Three Marshals, Joan Blane, Evelyn Doe and Vincent Calendo as specialists.

Claremont, like the currently agitated Central Park Casino case, was a stiff-priced dinery under previous auspices. New direction (Arnold Schleifer) is bringing it down to pop scale at $1.50 dinner, $1 luncheon and 50c. teas.

The C. P. Casino, under Sidney Solomon's operation, has likewise been scored for its ultra-snooty manner of operation and tariffs. Commissioner Moses has served ouster notice on Solomon and his Dieppe Corp., which was organized during Jimmy Walker's reign with a mixture of Park Ave. and show biz execs on the directorate.

Denver Enditis

Los Angeles, May 28.

Western picture house tours of two draw name bands will wind up in Denver middle of June, after being booked that far by Fanchon & Marco. Combos jump from there direct to New York.

Duke Ellington band closes at the Orpheum, Denver, June 14, with Ted Lewis and his musikers closing there one week later.

Most Played on Air

To familiarize the rest of the country with the tunes most on the air around New York, the following is the compilation for last week.

Plugs are figured on a Saturday-through-Friday week, regularly.

Only the chain stations are listed as indicative of the general plug popularity.

Data obtained from Radio Log compiled by Accurate Reporting Service.

Title	WEAF WJZ WABC
Cocktails for Two	25
Had My Moments	23
Little Man—Busy	23
Nite on Desert	23
All I Do Is Dream	22
I Ain't Lazy	22
Your Love	22
Beat o' My Heart	21
1,000 Good Nites	18
Love Go Wrong	18
Love Thy Neighbor	17
May I	17
I'll String Along	16
Love Me	15
Good Nite Lovely Lady	14
Reminds Me of You	14
Hold My Hand	13
Rip Tide	13
True	13
Why Do ream?	13
My Shawl	12
When a Woman Loves	12

P. England to Stage W-A Show in France As Int'l Exploitation

Paul social director of the Waldorf-Astoria, N. Y., sailed for Paris Saturday (26) to stage 'A Night at the Waldorf-Astoria' galas at the Hotel Georges V, Paris, and also later in Cannes, Nice, Monte Carlo and other spas and resorts.

Intended as a ballyhoo for the swank N. Y. hostelry, and the first time a hotel has gone to such elaborate international exploitation lengths.

One angle is to attract the westflowing tourism from Europe to America, instead of vice versa, now that the exchange favors Europe.

NIGHT CLUB REVIEWS

ZELLI'S, N. Y.

The exchange being what it is, Joe Zelli is doing a Mahomet for the second time—if the Americans won't come to Paris he's coming to America. Joe being originally a Brookiyn Italo-Frenchman (the French part was assimilated at his rue Fontaine bolte in Montmartre) he's really no stranger on this side. However, that kiss-your-hand-madame routine goes great with the East 58th streeters (off Park avenue), where Zelli now holds forth.

It's on the site of the old Park Avenue Club, nee Belle Livingstone's Salon, but a completely redecorated interior, almost severe in its decor, but a motif that grows on the patron. It lacks in acoustics, with the musical sound reverberating, but that will be corrected. Primarily it's designed for all-year comfort, being well ventilated on a warmish Saturday night.

Joe Zelli has a smart room in the 'right' part of the town, but a wrong type of floor show. He's right in not striving to make it too smart and ultra, but he can assimilate a little more chic in keeping with the general atmosphere. As it is, the variety floor show is very Fanchon & Marco, while the auspices are ritzier Ziegfeldian.

Zelli previously essayed a Royal Box on his last time, over a couple of years ago, but it fell under the axes of the prohis. Now that it's legal, he could again incorporate a little of the Royal Box idea, although the table-to-table phone stuff is a bit Babbitty these days and he's wise to eschew it.

However, the informal m.c.'ing which Zelli did at his world-famous Paris nitery on the hill could be restaged again. Instead, Joe hangs around that front-of-the-house bar too much. That's quick and easy money, of course, at 75c. a copy, but the prix fixe $2.50 dinner, with almost 100% wine accompanying, warrants giving the interior more personal attention. Zelli and Charlie are pards in this venture, both putting up the coin.

Bob Grant and band, from the former Embassy club, N. Y., and the Beach and Tennis club, Florida, this past winter, dish up the terp music in a manner which has made them very popular with the smart bunch. Godoy's Argentine band, last at Peggy's Chapeau Rouge, are likewise highly effective with their rumba-tango stuff.

Pops and Louie, colored song and dance team; Van Noys Sisters, dancers; Frazee Sisters, California hotchaists, and Milton Douglas, m.c., complete the show. Zito, who did those caricatures which still adorn Zelli's place in Paris (now the Femina), is also of the staff, sketching the patrons as a house courtesy, sans pourboire, as in the French capital.

Douglas is oke as m.c., but the rest are not gaited to the interior. A smart single woman a la Marion Harris or Helen Morgan, and possibly one other specialty act, is all that's necessary. Too much show and n.s.g.

But that room with the Zelli rep and personality should get 'em, regardless.

Zelli is merely employed as a glad-hander and general greeter, hence the whyfore of his hanging around the bar out front. He has nothing to do with the running of the restaurant. Patrons don't know that, whether in or out of the cafe operating circles, and they may resent it.

Charlie Wagner and Zelli cooperate the spot but the restaurant is a sub-leased concession. Al Howard, entrepreneur of the now defunct Embassy Club, and the Bath and Tennis club, Miami, put Zelli in and was responsible for the Paris cafe man coming to America again. Howard also spotted Bob Grant, although reported Howard has other summer cafe plans somewheres on Long Island and may remove both with him when it gets too hot for the in-town room. (This shouldn't eventuate, however, in view of the excellent cooling system in the current Zelli's).

Zelli was reported also anxious to bring over some typically Parisian talent, but couldn't swing the b. r. for transportation, etc. Hence the above-reviewed makeshift show. That's going out shortly, though, with Gloria Grafton and another act or two succeeding. Grant's orchestra remains, as does Godoy's Argentinians. Meantime a puppet-show entertainment has been booked in. Abel.

Chez Florence, Paris

Paris, May 20.

You have to think twice when you drop into this place, to figure out why it is the marvel of the season and its business keeps going up instead of dropping off. It is perfectly plain and ordinary looking. No atmosphere decorations. No floor show. Not even a singer. Nothing but a mob buying champagne and drinks and having a swell time.

The crowd is completely mixed. High Paris and international society comes. Spot is a must for visiting American show people and for the local theatre crowd. Ordinary French middle class folk drop in after the show. Business suits, dinner jackets and evening dress are side by side, and one can drink anything one likes. Since there is no show the crowd serves as a show for itself, and some of the faces to be seen here are alone worth the price of admission.

Reason is the mysterious thing they call vogue over here. The word has spread that this is the place to come to, and the people come. Spot is known as a 'boite Americaine,' but the crowd has an overwhelming percentage of French, without which this meagre touring year it couldn't live.

This vogue business, however, doesn't grow by itself, and it was carefully nursed along with superb skill by Victor, of Chez Victor's of Cannes, who runs the place. His secret is that he knows his Paris, knows whom to invite on the house to bring in the paying guests, knows how to treat the people who will become his friends, and knows how to treat the newspaper crowd, getting a little piece in the paper by a round-the-towner from time to time, where it will count.

One big thing the spot provides unlike most Paris nitery bosses, is dance music of the first order. Victor keeps the music going 100% of the time, without a break. He has two bands, each of which goes nearly an hour at a stretch before being relieved by the other. Right now he is using Willie Lewis' all-colored band, whom he had in Cannes, which dishes out Harlem jazz such as Paris never hears, except when a stage outfit such as Cab Calloway's or Duke Ellington's comes over and plays a concert hall. For dancing it's almost unknown here.

But it can't be the dancing that brings 'em in, because the floor is so small, especially when they begin stacking on the extra tables toward 1 a.m. This success has got to be put down to the breaks and to Victor's flair—that's all the place has got. Stern.

ADELPHIA ROOF

Philadelphia, May 24.

Huge business marked the move of Jack Lynch's nitery from the dining room to the hostelry's roof garden. Place seats a crowded 400 with a small dance floor.

Room has been remodeled and made into an airy place, nicely ventilated and well able to handle the crowds in the worst swelter. Club is still the only one in town which enjoys a paying biz, with mid-week attendance its crowning glory. Price, fair enuff for Philly, with a week-end minimum of $1.50 and no cover. Cuisine top-notch.

Adelphia's biggest draw for many weeks has been m.c. Mickey Alpert, who has created a greater following than any cane-swinger in nitery history of the town. Floor shows are always tough in this locale, but Alpert has had them eating out of his palm for so long he's become a Philly institution.

Show opens with midget Johnny Morris of the ciggie air program, who pipes the 'calling Phillip Morris' theme song in a cute bell-boy rig, showering the place with samples of the product. Show proper starts with Mildred Tolie in a song and dance—the edge on the voice. Richard and Diane Townsend follow with a ballroom tango and snare a neat Bolero encore. Jerry Dryden, subbing for Cathrine Rand, handles a solo waltz that's just fair, but a fast-stepping trio of tapper

(Continued on page 51)

Ban Song Title Mention

Cincinnati, May 28.

No more mention of song titles in announcements originating in the WCKY studios. It's idea of L. B. Wilson, prez, who is strong for verbal brevity.

'Names of bands and singers, yes,' says Wilson, 'but no waste of words on tune titles, for they go on the air just the same.'

An Old Favorite and Deservedly So
JACK DENNY
who continues to thrill New Yorkers with his unusual music on the Pierre Roof and via the Continental Oil program over NBC. An unusual leader who features unusual tunes. For example:
"I'VE HAD MY MOMENTS"
"ALL I DO IS DREAM OF YOU"
"A THOUSAND GOOD NIGHTS"
"RIPTIDE"
"HOT DOGS AND SASPARELLA"
"SLEEPY HEAD"
ROBBINS
MUSIC CORPORATION
799 SEVENTH AVENUE
· · · NEW YORK · · ·

MOSS WILL O. O. CONTRACTS

Chesterfield Will Try for Wash. Probe If NVA Board Eliminates Social End

After all these years Henry Chesterfield now wants to know what happened to 'all that money.' The secretary-of the NVA last week threatened manager-members of the NVA Fund, Inc., with a Federal investigation of past records unless they live up to an agreement.

The agreement referred to by Chesterfield is the one signed by th NVA Fundera two years ago which guaranteed support for all NVA activities, including the social end, for the next five years. It's the social phase that the managers are trying to run out on now, says Chesterfield.

Anent the proposed scrapping of all social and clubhouse functions by the NVA in New York, Chesterfield said: 'And then what will happen to these poor souls (meaning actors) who will have no place to come in and read, to sit down and rest?'

The manager-members of the NVA Fund are sympathetic about Chesterfield's 'poor souls' with no place to hang out, but they say the organization just hasn't got the money to support a social clubhouse on Broadway. The $200,000 anticipated from the recent NVA drive will not be sufficient to fully provide for what they regard as more needy obligations. Among the latter are the NVA Sanatorium at Saranac Lake, the weekly charitable list in New York and the unpaid debts inherited from the past by the circuits' new NVA operating board.

Chesterfield told the managers he would like a favorable decision on the clubhouse matter this week or else.' The 'or else' implied that a committee of actors, headed by Walter C. Kelly, will go to Washington and ask for an investigation.

Managers' viewpoint is that the money collected from the public through the theatres is represented as for strictly charitable purposes, and that social functions in their opinion do not come under the head of charity.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., May 28.

Dr. Karl Fishel, new medical superintendent of the NVA San, is due here Wednesday (30). He officially takes office June 1.

Par Booked House Turns N. Y. Par Down On Apollon Holdover

Although booked out of the same office (Paramount), the Metropolitan, Boston, last week refused to co-operate with the Paramount, New York, in the latter's request for a release of the Dave Apollon unit. Holding over 'Little Miss Marker' (film) currently, the Broadway house wanted to hold last week's Apollon stage show also.

Boston theatre had Apollon booked for this week, opening Friday (22), and refused to release him, despite that the request was made five days in advance.

The N. Y. Par had to book a new stage show for this week when the receivers operating the Boston house refused to play ball.

QUOTA FILLED

Washington, May 28.

Local Variety Club, organized last month, is up to full quota of 75 active members. Drama editors, none of whom are on active list, have been invited as associate members.

Club will have permanent quarters in Willard hotel.

New 15-People Turn

New 15-people combination of Rosette and Luttman, Paul Tisen's Gypsy femme ork and the Caron Sisters opens at the Earl, Washington, June 1, following into the Fox, Philadelphia, the week after.

Set by Phil Bloom of Rockwell-O'Keefe.

KATE SMITH REJECTS 12 WKS.' FILM WORK IN L.A.

Los Angeles, May 28.

rning down a 12-week offer to stay at the Paramount here and picture jobs with Metro and Goldwyn's Eddie Cantor's film, Kate Smith departed to finish her personal appearance tour. Visits Portland, Seattle, and either Denver or Detroit before returning to New York.

Fanchon & Marco planned to change the show weekly if Miss Smith had accepted the 12-week offer at the L. A. Paramount.

AFA PROTESTS 'RIPE TOMATO' ADVERTISING

American Federation of Actors, through Ralph Whitehead, has vigorously complained to Billy Rose against the advertising of 'Amateur Night' at the Casino de Paree in the N. Y. dailies last week which contained the line, 'You supply the vegetables—we supply the actors.' First tomato-throwing eve was to have been Sunday (28).

At the same time that Whitehead was dictating his protest, the Independent Agents' Association was planning to also voice an official protest at its next meeting, on the same premise as that of the AFA, namely, the degradation of actors by the Casino de Paree's advertising and intentions.

Billy Rose, who is in on the Casino's management and produces its shows, sent a form letter to all vaude agents last week asking for talent for the Sunday night show, gratis. Letter stated that he was looking for new talent and that the 'Amateur Night may result in the discovery of a new Eddie Cantor.' The letter also included the hint, 'Between the Casino and Billy Rose's Music Hall, I am going to need plenty of people this coming year.'

Whitehead's letter stated in part, 'I consider your advertisement a direct insult to every member of the profession under our jurisdiction and I intend to carry this message to every affiliated American Federation of Labor group throughout the United States and Canada.'

Another slap at the same Casino de Paree advertisement may come from the Better Business Bureau over the claim that the Casino features the only shore dinner in Manhattan.

ENFORCING OLD NY AGENCY LAW

All Booking Offices and Artist Bureaus Must Submit Contracts for City Supervision — License Comm'r. Finds Out Through Attorney at Hickey & Anger Hearing

UNIFORM CONTRACT?

All booking offices in New York circuit, indie and the artists' bureaus of the radio chains, will undergo contractural supervision by the License Department within the coming month. Commissioner Paul Moss will invite a committee that is representative of the different branches of the vaude and radio fields to draw up a uniform contract to be used by all bookers of vaude, picture house and radio talent.

It will be the first time since 1916, the last time a Fusion administration controlled the government of New York City, that a License Commissioner will have enforced the clause in the Employment Agency Law forcing booking offices to have their contracts okayed by either the License Department or the Mayor. It is aimed to end the abuses practiced on acts by nondescript booking offices, and to abolish inequitable contracts.

Just Found Out

The fact that he had this power was unknown to Commissioner Moss until it was brought to his attention by J. Robert Broder, theatrical attorney of 1560 Broadway. Broder pointed out this clause in the law when appearing Friday (25) as counsel for John Hickey and Harry Anger, producers, in a hearing before the License Commissioner on their complaint against Eddie Sherman, indie booker, over a last-minute cancellation of the unit, 'Words and Music,' by the Hippodrome, Baltimore.

Clause in the Employment Agency Law allowing Commissioner Moss to wield such an influence on the booking offices reads: 'Such contracts or statements shall contain no other conditions and provisions except such as are equitable between the parties thereto and do not constitute an unreasonable restriction of business. Terms of such contract or statement in blank shall be first approved by the Mayor or Commissioner of Licenses and his determination shall be reviewed by certiorari.' This is contained in Section 183.

In the drafting of a uniform contract, such clauses as give the booking offices the right to cancel

(Continued on page 54)

Code Complaints Against 6 Unit Producers Pending; Godfrey Pays Off

Complaints against six unit producers are pending with the New York Labor Compliance Board of the NRA for violation of the Code's clauses pertaining to chorus girls. Mrs. Dorothy Bryant of Chorus Equity will appear for the chorines at the hearings, when held.

Producers and their units figuring in the complaints are, John Schultz, 'Gossips of 1934'; Sam H. Grisman, 'Manhattan Cocktail'; Billy Rose, 'Crazy Quilt'; Hal Sands, 'Little Show'; Nick Agenta, 'Let's Go Places'; J. H. Jermon, 'Last Round-up.' Charges range from insufficient salaries to payless layoff days and, in the Grisman case, to no pay at all after five days of rehearsals.

George Godfrey and Jack Linder, indie bookers, were forced by the Compliance Board to pay Sanami & Nichi Co., flash act, an extra $125 for a three-day date at the Folly, Brooklyn, March 13-15.

The 10-people act was originally booked by Godfrey for $100, but following the hearing Linder claimed that the agent of the flash, Bill Schilling, had said the act contained only four people and that six extra musicians were rung in at the theatre without the bookers' knowledge, so that the act could be shown for a prospective night club date. Minimum wage for 10 people for three days stipulated in the code is $250.

Vaude Producers to Ask for Code Satisfaction from Rosy, Or They'll Go to Roosevelt

Renewed effort is underway by the Vaudeville Producers' Association to crack what they term the strangling clauses in the Motion Picture Code. A petition detailing their trials and tribulations is to be gotten up for submission to Divisional Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt some time this week.

If Rosy fails them the petition will go to General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA head, and, unless satisfaction comes from this quarter, an interview will be sought with President Roosevelt.

Alex Gerber, producer, and Jack Partington, of Fanchon & Marco, are drafting the petition, which will contain all possible data on amount of stageshow time presently in the U. S.; expenses entailed in staging units and acts; the impossibility of getting an appreciable amount of consecutive playing time for these same units and acts to obviate the necessity of paying chorus girls $3 per layoff day between bookings.

Want Code Seat

Another squawk of the producers is the lack of representation they have on the Code Authority, or anywhere in the NRA for that matter. It is their claim that men with little knowledge of the vaude business are dictating their conduct. At a meeting in C. B. Maddock's office in N. Y. Thursday (24), it was stated by one of the producers present that 'if Rosenblatt knew anything at all about the problems attached to their work the layoff choristers' wage would never have been included in the code.'

A revision of the code or a new code for vaudeville itself, to allow for a reduction in actors' salaries when acts and units play break-in dates will also be requested in the petition.

The vaudeville committee appointed some time ago, consisting of Sam Dembow (Paramount), Charles C. Moskowitz (Loew), and Leslie Thompson (RKO), to study the problem in vaude occassioned by the code and lack of playing time, has not begun to function as yet. The three circuit operators have not been able to find the time away from their regular duties to get down to the vaude study.

SLAP $550 JUDGMENT ON GEORGE GODFREY

George A. Godfrey's flier last summer as a vaude impresario at the Cosmopolitan, New York, had as its latest sequel the filing last week of a $550 judgment against the booker by Hubert & Hubert, renting agents for the house. Judgment taking followed a suit brought on a personal note alleged to have been given by Godfrey in connection with the Cosmopolitan affair.

Godfrey and his vaude attempt occupied the house for six weeks. Maurice Rosenzeig acted as attorney for Hubert & Hubert in the note litigation.

RKO'S SUMMER ECONOMY CUTS

RKO has instituted a severe stage show budget cut everywhere except at the Palace, New York; Albee, Brooklyn, and Palace, Chicago.

In some instances the salary slashes are higher, but the average is 25%.

The three cutless spots remain as is on the assumption they'll play stage shows through the summer, regardless. It's possible they may comprise the total RKO playing time through the summer.

4 Acts—$150

New Haven, May 28.

Al Robbins bringing vaude into Strand (nabe) on a two-day (Wed.-Thur.) weekly policy. Four acts being furnished on daily nut of $150.

Sacramento Folds

San Francisco, May 28.

Plaza, Sacramento, which Sam Harris opened last week with the only flesh show in the state capital, folded after five days.

Performers on the first and only show claim they haven't been paid off.

Marcus Loew BOOKING AGENCY

General Executive Offices

LOEW BUILDING ANNEX

160 WEST 46TH ST.

BRyant 9-7800 NEW YORK CITY

J. H. LUBIN

GENERAL MANAGER

MARVIN H. SCHENCK

BOOKING MANAGER

THREE SAILORS

Thank George Black and Val Parnell for giving them the honor to appear i

THE ROYAL COMMAND PERFORMANCE

Before their Majesties

THE KING AND QUEEN OF ENGLAND, AT THE PALLADIUM, LONDON, MAY 8

And to Eric Wollheim and Clifford Fischer for bri ing them over to Europe.

London "Evening News"

"Turns That Made the King Laugh...the THREE SAILORS who gave the Royal Party the biggest laugh of the evening. When these nobly inane acrobats began to swim for their lives across the stage, spouting water like whales, the King and Queen were enjoying the most helpless fit of laughter in which I have ever had the pleasure to observe them."

Now playing four weeks return engagement at the Savoy Hotel, London.

L. & L. Receivers Ask Maude Hilton for $60, Agency's 7G Creditor

Some sort of reverse-English figures case Lyons & Lyons agency and Maude Hilton, vaude and sister of Matty Rosen, agent associated with Charles Morrison, and of Al osen, manager of Loew's State, N. Y. The receivers in bankruptcy of the L. & L. agency, Irving Trust, have written Miss Hilton, threatening to sue her for $60 commissions allegedly due.

Considering that Miss Hilton is a creditor of Lyons & Lyons for over $7,000, and is so listed in the bankruptcy schedules, the idea of being sued in turn for 60 bucks has her riled.

When her younger brother, Matty Rosen, joined L. & L. some time ago as an associate agency member, she loaned Lyons & Lyons Agency, Inc., $10,000. She was paid back about $2,800. Then the bankruptcy, leaving the balance due.

Irving Trust, merely going through the roster of accounts receivable, came across an open claim by L. & L. against Miss Hilton for $60 commish, and wrote her the usual claimant's form letter.

NAME ACTS FOR POLI THEATRES

Loew booking office is looking for attractions for the Poli theatres in six New England towns, with both percentage and straight salary deals in mind. Loew circuit took over operation of the Poli houses last week.

No regular stage policies will be established over the summer, but Loew will book name turns and shows as frequently as they are available. Towns in mind are New Haven, Hartford, Bridgeport, Springfield, Mass., and Worcester.

Same idea is contemplated by Loew for its own Penn, Pittsburgh, now in straight pictures.

Advice to the Loew agents is that only drawing names are wanted. They can either be in form of units or single attractions, preferably from radio. Loew will build vaudeville shows around the latter.

MILO ASKS FREEDOM ON HABEAS CORPUS WRIT

Syracuse, May 28.

An alimony prisoner in Onondaga County jail here since May 17, when he was arrested on a civil warrant charging him with contempt of court, Robert Grob, professionally Milo, bird mimic, is seeking his release on a writ of habeas corpus, with argument set for tomorrow before County Judge William L. Barnum.

Milo was arrested on the Keith stage here while filling a vaudeville engagement and held in the absence of $3,000 bail to guarantee his apeparance in court in New York City on May 25 to defend the contempt charge. Mrs. Etta Grob claims the actor owes her $33,750 in back alimony. New York authorities failed to send for Grob following his arrest.

Frank Wirth Sues on Newark Cancellation

Newark, May 28.

Frank Wirth, Inc., of New York is suing the Essex Amusement Corp., owner of the local Paramount, and Adam A. Adams, president, for $1,400 in Supreme Court. Suit is for breach of contract.

It is alleged that Wirth had a contract for appearances at the theatre the week of Jan. 13, 1933, and that the act played only two days and was not paid. Among the acts was 'Cloud Swinging Ethelda,' done by Mrs. Ethel Freeman.

Mrs. Freeman stated she had refused to do her act as the theatre was not big enough. Adams testified that not only did Mrs. Freeman refuse to perform, but a special act of clowns contracted for did not appear.

AFA BRANCHES IN HUB, MILWAUKEE, DETROIT

Branches of the American Federation of Actors will be established within the coming month in Boston, Milwaukee and Detroit. Boston is to come first. Ralph Whitehead, executive secretary of the actors' union, is going there Saturday (2) for the first AFA meeting.

Branches of the AFA cannot be formed in other parts of the U. S. unless they have 50 members to start with, according to Whitehead. Another factor holding up a more rapid spread of the AFA throughout the country is the delay in finding men who can head these branches.

First branch outside of N. Y. was formed in Philadelphia a few weeks ago.

Moss Issues Summonses for 8; Test of Law

Inspectors from N. Y.'s License Department invaded Broadway on Monday (28) to serve summonses on eight vaude agents for evasion of the Employment Agency Law. Names of the reps selected by Commissioner Paul Moss to get the summonses would not be revealed by him pending the service.

The summonses are returnable in West 54th Street Court next Monday (4) for a hearing before a magistrate, who can either hold the cases over for General Sessions, or dismiss them if he rules that the vaude reps cannot be classed as employment agents.

Licensing was to have gone into effect May 1, the start of the fiscal year on the License Department's books, with the agents supposed then to have paid $25 license fees, undergone bonding ranging from $500 to $1,000 and submitted to fingerprinting. Instead, they elected to fight the licensing move, retaining Maurice Goodman and Harold M. Goldblatt as counsel for the Loew and RKO franchised agents and the members of the Independent Agents' Association.

Conviction of evasion of the Employment Agency Law, which Moss contends that all unlicensed artists' representative are doing now, entails a mixmum fine of $500 and maximum sentence of six months in jail.

Commissioner Moss stated yesterday afternoon that the summonses would be mixed up among the RKO, Loew and indie agents. At the time called none of Moss' inspectors had notified him that any of the summonses had been served successfully.

CLEVE. STRAIGHT FILMS

RKO Palace, Cleveland, goes stageless Friday (31), when Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford, organists, depart to make way for a straight picture policy.

Console team was originally booked in for four weeks with week-to-week options. They stayed five. Five-act vaude shows booked out of New York went out when the Crawfords went in.

Par May Play Vaude in All Its British Film Houses; Names Wanted

London, May 16.

Paramount is making a determined stand to bolster up the vaudeville policy for all its picture theatres in England.

It is intended to resume vaudeville on a big scale at the Plaza, London, which originally opened some years ago with big flash productions by Francis Mangan, in addition to double features. Harry Foster has been in consulation with Par executives, and it is practically settled that big American acts will play at Paramount's houses in Liverpool, Glasgow, Leeds, Manchester, Newcastle, and the four Astorias, located in London suburbs, Finsbury Park, Old Kent Road, Streatham and Brixton.

Conflictions

Some of these spots are in direct conflict with opposition houses, particularly Manchester, which is opposed by the Palace, an indie house operated for the company by George Black, and the Ritz dance hall, also wanting American attractions.

Another place where Par is likely to encounter opposition is Streatham, where the Streatham theatre is now going over to vaudeville after a 10 years' legit policy. House is booked by Parnell & Zeitlin.

Importance of this house going vaudeville, in conjunction with Golder's Green Hippodrome, owned by same company, and once ace legit house in the suburbs, is fact it is being exclusively booked by Parnell & Zeitlin. They have already lined up Sophie Tucker, Mills Brothers, Jack Hylton, Jack Payne, and Layton and Johnstone.

Paramount has found that names, in conjunction with films, help box office grosses, and with the number of deluxe houses it now controls it is in a position to offer as much time as General Theatres. If they have any difficulty in getting attractions, due to opposition encumberances, it is in a position to do i own importing.

All in all, it looks like the vaudeville situation here is becoming more important rather than declining.

Yates and Lawley Split

Hal Yates and Cooper Lawley, long partners, have parted. Both are back in America, the breach occurring in London some weeks ago when Lawley decided to return to the States and get married. As it developed, the nuptials never came off.

Yates continued as a single in England for some time thereafter.

MARY BRIAN ON THE HOOF

Through in films, Mary Brian is now going into vaudeville as a hoofer.

Miss Brian is rehearsing in New York for a foursome with Gordon, Reed and King, standard dancing act.

PAULINE COOKE
1674 BROADWAY
WILLIAM GARGAN
PICTURES
MIKE CONNOLLY, Pilot

DICK and EDITH
BARSTOW
LAST WEEK (May 18), RKO PALACE, NEW YORK
WEEK JUNE 1st, EARLE, PHILADELPHIA
WEEK JUNE 8th, EARLE, WASHINGTON
irecti IRVING TISHMAN

DICK MIDGIE
NASH and FATELY
FOX BROOKLYN, THIS WEEK (May 25)
While at the ROXY, New York (May 11), "Variety" said: "Nash and Fately, comedy dance team, have an easy time following. Big boy and short girl romped around and got a lot of laughs." (Kauf)
Direction JOHNNY SCHULTZ

ARREN and BRODERICK
Return Engagement Within Six Months
RKO PALACE, NEW YORK, THIS WEEK (May 25)
Direction MILES INGALLS and MARK LEDDY

GINA and GIANO
Dancers of Distinction
FOX, BROOKLYN
This Week (May 25)

KATHRYN McKENNA
FOX, BROOKLYN
This Week (May 25)
Direction GUY MARTIN

DOLORES, ANDE AND DMITRI
"Delineators of Dance Travesties"
Just Completed Two Weeks at the London Palladium, and One Week at the Holborn Empire for General Theatres
Now Playing the Savoy Hotel, London, with Continental Work to Follow
Thanks to Dick Henry and Harry Foster
European Representatives:
FOSTERS' AGENCY
Leicester Square, London

Variety Bills

NEXT WEEK (June 1)
THIS WEEK (May 25)

Numerals in connection with bills below indicate opening day of show, whether full or split week

RKO

NEW YORK CITY
Palace (1)
Sid Page
Sammy White
Harrison & Fisher
(Two to fill)
(25)
Ruiz & Bonita
Arren & Broderick
Owen McGivney
Buster West
Eddie South Orch
Academy
1st half (1-4)
De Guchi Japs
Honey Boys
Joe Termini
Bobby Pincus
Ruiz & Bonita
2nd half (5-7)
3 Whippets
Kay Hamilton
Lewis & Moore
George Beatty
Jack Randall Co
2nd half (29-31)
3 De Long Sis
Jerome Mann
Joe Morris Co
Adair & Richards
Bill Robinson
BROOKLYN
Albee (1)
Christensens
Stuart & Lash
Dancing Maniacs
CHICAGO
Palace (1)
Lucille Page
George Prentice
Murray & Charles'n
Phil Harris Orch
Elaine Arden
(25)
Jarret & Holm
Murray & Charles'n
Cliff Edwards
Rimacs Orch
Sunshine Sammy
CLEVELAND
Palace (25)
Mr & Mrs Crawford
DETROIT
Fox (1)
3 Randalls
Ames & Arno
Jarret & Holm
Johnny Burke
Rimacs Orch
(25)
Frankie Connors
3 Randalls
Howard Fine & H
Hudson Wonders
MINNEAPOLIS
Orpheum (25)
Sally Rand Co
NEWARK
Proctor's (1)
Cooper & Pic't Rev

ON HIS
9th WEEK
CHINESE THEATRE
HOLLYWOOD
JACK POWELL
Placed by
LEDDY & SMITH

Britton Bd
(Two to fill)
(25)
6 Whirlwinds
Paul Gerrits
Jesnie Lang Co
Vic Oliver
Harrison & Fisher
Madison
1st half (26-27)
3 French Misses
Wilbur Hall
Honey Boys
Senator Murphy
Mitza Vermille Co
Tilyou
1st half (26-27)
Ben Beyer Co
May & Stephenie
Olivette Co
Frank Melino
Frank Conville
Red Donohue
Mary Small
Slate Bros
(25)
Kings Scandals
NEW BRUNSWICK
Keith's
1st half (2-3)
A Night in Harlem
1st half (26-27)
Hilton Sis Rev
TRENTON
Capitol
2nd half (5-7)
Baron Lee Co
1st half (25-28)
1 Vespers
Bits Turner
Garner Wolf & H
Bickle & Gray Rev

Loew

NEW YORK CITY
Capitol (1)
B Minnevitch Co
Everett Marshall
Patricia Bowman
Betty Jane Cooper
Lathrop Bros
Boulevard
1st half (1-4)
Osaki & Taki
Rio & West
Vibratones
Joe Kelso
Lee Twins, Rio & E
2nd half (5-7)
Gautier's Shop
Paula Howard Co
Sully & Thomas
H & F Semon
Bryant, Rains & Y
Orpheum
1st half (1-4)
Fuller Bros & Sis
Jos Pope Jones Co
Abe Reynolds Co
Sully & Thomas
H & F Semon
Bryant, Rains & Y
2nd half (5-7)
Fuller Bros & Sis
Gregory & Raymon
Vibratones
Joe Kelso Co
Lee Twins, Rio & E
Metropolitan (1)
Kitchen Pirates
Buster Shaver Co
Mme Sylvia Co
3 Swifts
Valencia (1)
4 Cards
Bill Telaak Co
George Givot
Benny Davis Co
AKRON
Loew's (1)
Joe Penner Co
BALTIMORE
Century (1)
DeMay, Moore & M

OFFICIAL DENTIST TO THE N. V.
DR. JULIAN SIEGEL
PARAMOUNT BUILDING
Is Week: Madeline Hedge; Ildred Emerson

Phil Cook
Chaney & Fox
2nd half (5-7)
DeLong Sis
Rio & West
Cardini
Garner, Wolf & H
Society Scandals
Paradise (1)
Seiler & Wills
J & K Lee
Hal Jerome
Bill Robinson
Long Tack Sam Co
State (1)
Al Gordon's Dogs
Gypsy Nina
Smith & Dale
Bob Murphy Co
Louise Gay
Reiss Bros Rev
(One to fill)
BROOKLYN
Gates Ave.
1st half (1-4)
Willie Mauss
P Howard Co
3 Swifts
May & J & Carroll
3 X Sisters
T Monohan Orch
BOSTON
Loew's (1)
Jas Evans Co
Johnny Hyman
Pease & Nelson Co
Mills, Kirk & H
Dawn & Darrow Rv
(One to fill)
COLUMBUS
Ohio (1)
Zingoni
JERSEY CITY
Loew's (1)
Spices of 1934
NEWARK
State (1)
Thurston
PROVIDENCE
Loew's (1)
Cab Calloway Orch
WASHINGTON
Fox (1)
Abe Lyman Orch

Paramount

NEW YORK CITY
Paramount (1)
F & J Hubert
Raymond Baird
Trojans
Martha Ray
Buster West Co
Charlie Davis
BOSTON
Metropolitan (1)
J Harold Murray
Eunice Healy
Freddie Sanborne
Llazeed Arabs
Eddie Stanley Co
BUFFALO
Buffalo (1)
Davey Kraft
Georgie Price
Colette Carloz
Marie McQuarrie

CHICAGO
Chicago (1)
Al Bernie
Pichianna Tr
Papy Ezra & Z
Outlying (1)
Hudson Wonders
Ross & Edwards
Jed Dooley
Russel Elmer & A
MICHIGAN
Detroit (1)
George Raft
Earl Lavere Co
Roy Smeck
Emmys Pets
FT. WORTH
Texas (1)
Let's Cheer U

Warner

ELIZABETH
Ritz
1st half (2-5)
Variety Gambols
Marcy Bros & B
Karyl Norman Co
Dalton & Craig
Howard Woods Orc
2nd half (6-8)
Harlem Rev
PHILADELPHIA
Earle (1)
D & E Barstow
Vic Oliver
Donatella Bros & C
(Two to fill)
(28)
Cab Calloway Rev
PITTSBURGH
Stanley (1)
Guy Lombardo Orc
WASHINGTON
Earle (1)
Large & Morgner
Gracie Barrie
Britt Wood
Rosette & Luttman
P Tisen Orch
(28)
Chappelle & C'lton
Kirk & Lawrence
Seller & Wills
George Price

Independent

CHICAGO
State Lake (27)
Blossom Seeley
Benny Fields
Jackie Heller
Fred Lightner
(Others to fill)
HOLLYWOOD
Chinese (indef. run)
Cambarelli
Jack Powell
Cookie Bowers
Jackie Hughes
Billy Severin
100 Voice Ens
Grauman Ballet
LOS ANGELES
Orpheum (24)
J & K Hesley
Smith Sis
Nelson's Katland
Manteil's Maneq'ns
Harry Cody
6 DeCardos
Million Dol r (23)
2 Cossacks
Lester Raymond
Winifred, H & B'ce
3 Chocklateers
Sylvia & Dona

Fanchon & Marco

NEW YORK CITY
Roxy (1)
Jeanne Devereaux
Wosloy Eddy Co
Gae Foster Girls
(Others to fill)
DENVER, COLO.
Orpheum (24)
Mills & Green
Bruce Jordan
Bud Hyde Co
XOA 3
LOS ANGELES
Paramount (31)
Student Prince
(24)
Helen Morgan
J C Flippen Rev
PHILAD'PHIA, PA.
Fox (1)
Del Campo
Rose Alexander
Nadine Gae
3 Waltons
12 Drury Lane G'ls
6 Dancing Dandies
(Others to fill)
SAN FRANCISCO
Orpheum (1)
Street Singer
J C Flippen Rev
(25)
Olsen & Johnson

London

Week of May 28

Astoria M. H.
Lauria, Joy & Nick
Canterbury M. H.
1st half (28-'0)
Alf Leonard 3
Frakson
2d half (31-2)
Connor & Drake
3 Glissons
Dominion
Act Superb
Karina, Vadio & H
Palladium
6th Crazy Month
Nervo & Knox
Flanagan & Allen
Naughton & Gold
Eddie Gray
3 Bonos
Irene Vermillion
Alphonse Berg
Chester's Dogs
Agar Young Tr
Melvilles
Palladium Gls
Cliff Berzac
Michaelson
Jans & Whelan
Bibi Delabere
Helen Thompson
Donald Stuart
Pip Powell
Victoria M. H.
Somers Bd
CLAPTON
Rink
Geddes Bros
Beams' Babes
EAST HAM
Kinema
1st half (28-30)
Hartley Sis
Co. as booked
2nd half (31-2)
Co. as booked
Premier
Val Rosing
EDGEWARE RD.
Grand
6 Zlo Angels
2 Sharpes
Van Dusen
FINSBURY PARK
Empire
Mills Bros
Anna Rogers
W & E Myles
Murray & Mooney
Connie Graham
Hal Scott
Co. as booked
HOLBORN
Empire
Harry Roy Bd
Hill & Hoffman
Wright & Marion
Claire, Rowe & C
Co. as booked
HOLLOWAY
Marborough
3 Australian Boys
Thom & Mack
Lester & Andree
KILBURN
Grange
6 Zlo Angels
2 Sharpes
Van Duzen
ISLINGTON
Blue Hall
1st half (28-30)
Connor & Drake
3 Glissons
2nd half (31-2)
Alf Leonard 3
Frakson
LEWISHAM
Palace
'Old Time M. H.'
Chas Austin
Willie Lancet
Harry Bedford
Arthur Reese
Tom Leamore
Neil Calvert
Ida Barr
David O'Toole
LEYTON
Savoy
10 Moonbeams
Van & Ray
NEW CROSS
Kinema
Harry Taft
4 Paulettes
3 Edmund Boys
PECKHAM
Palace
Harry Taft
4 Paulettes
3 Edmund Boys
Tower
Vine, Moore & N
Anderson Sis
Rome & Romaine
STAMFORD HILL
Regent
3 Australian Boys
Thom & Mack
Lester & Andree
STREATHAM
Palace
Vine, Moore & N
Anderson Sis
Rome & Romaine
STRATFORD
Broadway
10 Moonbeams
TOTTENHAM
Palace
Geddes Bros
Beam's Babes
WALTHAMSTOW
Granada
Elliotts
WEST HAM
Kinema
1st half (28-30)
Co. as booked
2nd half (31-2)
Hartley Sis
Co. as booked
WOOD GREEN
Palace
Alfredo Orch

Provincial

Week of May 28

BIRMINGHAM
Hippodrome
Roy Fox Bd
Tracey & Hay
Blondie Hartley
Synco Nymphs
Will Morris
Low & Webster
EDINBURGH
Empire
Alexander & Rose
Trix Sis
Billy Bennett
Charladies
Stanelli
Noyes & Dee
Hengler Bros
Karlson 4
HULL
Palace
Danny Malone
Co as booked
LIVERPOOL
Empire
Layton & J'nstone
Kirks
Jean Kennedy
Enos Frazere
George Lacy
Wiere Bros
Billy Danvers
Cottrillos
MANCHESTER
Palace
Gene Dennis
Forsythe, S'n & F'll
Terrianos
Hatton & Manners
Geraldine & Joe
Russ Carr
Geo Hurd
Olsen's Sea Lions
Norman Carroll
PORTSMOUTH
Hippodrome
George Robey
Ted Ray
Addison & Sylv
3 Zarovs
Buckleys
Wensley & Dale
B & A Pearson

Cabarets

NEW YORK CITY

Airnue Rest
Ernie Hulst
Algonquin Hotel
Cookie F'rchild Orc
Jack King
Ambassador, L. I.
Jackie Maye
Julin van Lowe
Evalyn Martin
Bubbles Shelby
Kathleen Howard
Dot & Dash
Earles Bros.
Will Willis
Thel Dressler
Chas Golden Orc
Arrowhead
Irving Conn Oro
Bal Musette
Millard & Anita
George Marshal
Pierrots
Madam Georgette
Mme Yvette
Leon Bedore
Apache Orc
Bal Tabarin
Betty Calton
Paco & Estelle
Can-Can Orc
Beaux Arts
Lucien La Riviere
Thomara Doriva
Clara Larinova
Inez La Vail
Clothiel Berryessa
Norman Astwood
Siltan & Mari
Maurice Shaw Orch
Lopez's Hawaiians
Biltmore Bleau
Alfred Brito Orc
Black Kat
Luigi
Bossert Roof
Eddie Lane Oro
Casino de Paree
Eleanor Powell
Jimmy Savo
Saxon Sis
Holland & June
Cardini
Hinda Wassau
Carolyn Marsh
Leon Friedman Orc
Ben Pollock Orch
Casino Town Club
Breez Fletcher
Allan Cales Orc
Central P'k Casino
Eddy Duchin Orc
Iberia Strenge
Minor & Root
Chapeau Rouge
Peppy de Albrew
Frances Maddux
De Marcos
Godoy's Tango Bd
Dick Gasparre's Or
Chateau Cresta
Sedane & Swar
Evelyne Darville
Claremont
Roger W Kahn Orc
3 Marshalls
Joan Biane
Evelyn Doe
Vincent Calendo
Club Kentucky
Ada Lee
Wilma Novack
Louise Dryden
Mabel Russell
Ross-Kahan Orch
Club New Yorker
Jack Rees Orc
Club Richman
Jack Mason Rev
Lido Girls Orc
Commodore Hotel
Isham Jones Orc
Isabel Brown
Cotton Club
C C Rev
Adelaide Hall
Jimmy Lunceford O
Croydon Hotel
Charles Eckels Orc
Delmonico's
Blanche & Elliott
N Morton & Boys
Sid Tomack
Selma King
Dorothy Van Alst
Satch & Satchel
Joe Venuti & Orch
Dubonnet
Joe Fejer Orc
El Chico
Tanco & Lorca
Las Ajedas
Adelina Duran
Orlando Ricarde
A B C 3
Pilar Arcas
Menendez Orch
Essex House
Glenn Gray Orc
Gov. Clinton Hotel
Enoch Light Orc
Ha-Ha Club
Danny Healy
Jack White
Jerry Bergan
Lillian Fitzgerald
Roth-Andrews Orch
H'lyw'd Restaurant
Rudy Vallee Orch
Eddie Peabody
Moore & Revel
Beauval & Va
Mickey Brantz
Iris Adrian
Mathea Merryfield
Marion Martin
Drucilla Strain
Gene Marvey
Jerry Lester
Holland Tavern
Florence Bender
Elmer Dade
3 Blue Chips
Hotel Dixie
Art Kahn Orc
Hotel Edison
Raginsky Ens
Hotel Gotham
P Van Steeden Orc
otel Lexington
Jack Little Orc
Hotel Lincoln
Pancho's Orc
Hotel Gt. Northern
Ferdenando Orch
Hotel McAlpin
Sam Robbins Orc
Hotel Montclair
Harold Stern Orc
Mario & Floria
Rosita Ortego
Hotel New Yorker
Charlie Davis Orc
Hausten & Harden
Leata Lane
Ruby Wright
Hotel Pennsylvania
Don Bestor Orc
Baron & Blair
Hotel Pierre
Jack Denny Orc
Hotel Roosevelt
Reggie Childs Orc
Hotel Whitehall
Don Bigelow
Jolly Friars
Joe May
Kelly's
Chiquita Venezia
Peggy La Plante
Jeanne McCauley
Evelyn Thawl
Claire Osgood
Danny Higgens
Ira Yarnell
Carlos Lopez
Billy Plaza
Elaine McCoy
Carlos & Marchan
Joe Capella & Orch
Kings Terrace
Sid Tomack
Rich'dson Orc
Leon & Eddie's
Chas Drew Bd
Ron Perry Orch
Madison
Pancho Orc
Lincoln
Walker O'Neil's Orc
Dwight Fiske
Marden's Riviera
Harry Richman
Ann Greenway
Fred Berrens Orc
Marlborough House
Vivian Vance
Michael Zarin Orc
Mori's Rest
Nye Mayhew's Orc
Moulin Rouge, B'kn
Larry McMahon
Connie Lang
Eleanore Gardner
Frank Morey
Martin Trini Orch
Nautilus Club
Dave Bernie Orc
New Wonder Bar (Union City)
Ann Pennington
Bernard & Rich
Gale Tracy & L
Lily Lido
Noel Sherman
Billy Arnold
Joe Pape
Edith Lowe
Ernie Golden Orc
Old Roumanian
B Thomashofsky
Regina Zuchenberg
Ethel Bennet
Anna Fiordorovna
Viola Cody Co
Sammy Calton
Dorothy Lee
Helen Dean
Sylvia Strauss
Frances Loring
Hy Lemberg
Ted Edwards
Grabowsky Orch
Paradise
NTG Rev
Peter Higgens
J Johnson Orc
Felicia Sorel
Ann Lee Patterson
Needa Kinkaid
Bruno & Manon
Earl, Jack & B
Johnny Hale
Iva Stewart
Park Central Hotel
Chas Barnett Orc
Plaza Hotel
E & J Vernon
Marion Chase
Orlando's Orc
Emil Colman Orc
Restaurant La Rue
Arthur Warren's O
Ritz Tower
Nat Harris Orc
Russian Kretchuna
Kuznetzoff & N
Samovar
Mme Nicolina
Radneff
Simon Philipoff
Mon'negro & Dorita
P Zam's Gypsy Bd
Savoy-Plaza
Freddie Martin Orc
Sernet's Pub
Gertrude Moody
Zora Gray
Pat Whalen
Billy Calligan
Ann Ross
Chris Meehan
Showboat Casino (City Island)
Dave Fox
Ruth Nagel
Helen Davis
Castle Sis
Gordon & Bennett
Merrymakers
Simplon Club
Endor & Farrell
Estelle Taylor
King's Jesters
Wm Farmer Orc
Sherry's
Harry Bush Orc
Mario & Flario
St. Moritz Hotel
Leon Belasco Orch
Wilkins & Meyers
Sheila Barrett
St. Regis Hotel
Vincent Lopez Orc
Medrano & Donna
Surf Club
Jack Myers Orc
Charlotte Murrie
Taft Grill
Geo Hall Orch
Tavern, B'klyn
Jack Murray Orc
Theatre Cafe
Chas Strickland Orc
Henry Fink
Tic Toc Club
Arthur Boron
Cross & Dunn
R & E Reyes
Sugar Marcel
Mimi Rollins
Pomeroy Girls
Buddy Fishers Orc
Tuscany Hotel
Bela Loblov Orc
Ubangi Club
Dave Martin Orc
Vanderbilt Hotel
Joe Moss Orch
Ward & Hopkins
Village Barn
Anthony Trini Orc
Beth Challis
Eddie Ray
Geo McGuire
Frances McCoy
Josh Medders
Sir Jack Joyce
3 Octaves
Ruth Delmar
Rose McLean
Village Nut Club
Cliff Clifton Rev
Nutsy Fagan
Bebe Moffee
Louise Mitchell
Allyn Reese
Walsh Bros
Eddie Clifford
Milt Spielman Orc
Waldorf-Astoria
Margo
X Cugat Orc
E Madriguera Orc
Wash Sq. Club
Frank Farrell Orch
Westchester Club
Froy & Bragiotte
Arthur Brown
Weylin Hotel
Michael Covert Orc
Harriett Lee
3 Jays
Wivel Cafe
Amy Atinsan
Jack Wick
Lillian Lorraine
Ami Pavo
Maldie Du Fresne
La Salle Orch
Zito
Bob Grant Orc
Pops & Lanie
Van Nays Sis
Marie & Jeanne
Zito
Gaday's Bd

CHICAGO

Blackhawk
Seymour Simons
Earl Rickard
Chez Paree
Gus Van
The Tick Tocks
Countess V'n Lossen
Maurice & Cordoba
Henry Busse Orc
Club Leisure
Lucio Garcia
Billy Meagher
Joe Manni's Orch
Betty Chase
Jack Sexton Jr
'Sugar' Harolds Or
Club Royale
Lec Morse
3 Racket Cheers
Nellie Nelson
Szita & Annis
Dorothy Wahl
Fritz Miller Orc
College Inn
8 Evans Co-eds
Jackie Heller
Beuvell & Tova
Frankie Masters Or
Congress Hotel (Joe Urban Room)
Art Kassel
Robert Royce
Cherie & Tomasita
Colosimo's
Julia Lyons
Dorothy Henry
Deronda & Barry
Enrico D'Alba
Eddie Deering
Countess Boriska
Signor Barsoni
Art Buckley
Bob Tinsley Orc
Club Alabam
Trudy Davidson
Eddie Roth Orc
Drake Hotel
Slavic Ballet
Stanley Hickman
Biltmore 3
Frances Willer
Harriet Lindgren
Ruth Lee
The Crusaders
Earl Burtnett Orc
Edgewater Beach
Esther Todd
DeRonda & Barry
Art Carroll
Harry Sosnik Orch
Harry's N. Y. Bar
Joe Buckley
Don Penfield
Germaine LaPierre
Harry Harris
Al Wagner
Billy Meyers
Elmer Schobel
Joe Buckley Orch
Hi-Hat Club
Sunny Gaer
Jimmy Cassidy
Effie Burton
Rick & Snyder
Ruth Barton
Dot Meyers
K-9 Club
Billy Brannon
Half-Pint Jaxon
Ed Casey Orc
Leon La Verde
Earl Partello
George Oliver
Maroni's
Rolando & Verditta
Gwen Gordon
Neecee Shannon
Marge & Marie
Virginia Buchanan
Bob Wyatt
Maurie Moret Orch
Club Minuet
Sylvia Lee
Yvonne Nova
Henry Mack
Adelina Dossena
Frank Sherman
Mural Room (Brevort Hotel)
Earl Estes
Edgar Rice
Stan Rittoff Orch
Jaros Sis
Nut House
Moe Lee
Jo-Jo
Geo DeCosta
Harry Sherman
Jimmy Lane
"Opera Club"
Edwina Mershon
Lawrence Salerno
Tom Gentry Orch
Jose Rivas Orch
Pierce & Harris
Palmer House
Ted Weems Orch
Lydia & Joresco
Stone & Vernon
4 Calif's
Larry Adler
Abbott Girls
Paramount
Dora Vaughn
Phil White
Julia Gerity
Edna Rush
Miss Harriett
Pearl Trio
Rainbo Gardens
Samovar
Leon Lavarde
Dawn Sis
Lyle Smith
Alice Rydner
Terrace Gardens
Roma Vincent
Ainsley Lambert B
Clyde Lucas Orc
Tin Pan Alley
Al Sanders
Eadie Hayes
Crane Sis
Vernon Craig
Gwen Lorry
Barney Gugle
Stuart Woodbridge
Floyd Townes Orc
Via Lago
Bobby Graham
Crane Russell Orch
Zita & Marcelle
Jack Housh
Wanda Kay
Al Handler Bd
225 Club
Al Garbell
Edna Leonard
Billy Richard
Art West
Jean LaMarr

Fanner Seeks Divorce

Seattle, May 28.

Fay Baker, 24-year-old fan dancer, is seeking annulment of her marriage to a Northwest mounted policeman. She married the mountie last spring in upper Saskatchewan.

New Acts

EDDIE SOUTH and Orchestra
20 Mins.; Three
Palace, N. Y.

Here's a colored combo that should make its mark on the rostrum, and on the air in like proportions, because, if nothing else, it's different so far as colored bands are concerned. It doesn't aspire to the Whitemanisms of an Ellington, or the hi-de-ho of a Calloway; but, instead, it modestly confines itself to the prime business in hand—that of pleasant entertainment as a stage attraction. Its musical virtuosity for microphonic purposes becomes evidenced from the stage chores.

South, at the helm of this eight-man combo, is really the band. Yet it wouldn't quite do to advise throwing the support away and go it alone as a colored violin virtuoso. For one thing he's not quite expert enough for concert platform virtuosity, and, the varieties being what they are these days, he couldn't wisely essay one of those colored Duci de Kerekjarto acts.

But a proficient violinist he is. He's somewhat banally billed as 'the dark angel of the violin.' He might protest that distorted attempt at flossiness.

At the helm his expert little troupe, he manifests showmanship from the barrier, to the degree he twice tied it up at the Sunday night frolic at the Palace. He chooses his songs cannily and, even when he essays a Joe Venuti type of hotcha fiddling, he does it with a reasonably familiar air, 'After You're Gone,' so that when he plays around with the melody in the accepted futuristic standards of today, the customers out front get the idea. As a general thing all essay too musicianly intricacies, at the expense of the listener.

South elects all his airs with an ear to the melodic and the popularly appealing. He mixes up 'Cocktails For Two' with Mexican rumbas and Spanish foxtrots, and makes his modest little octet say uncle.

The band is bullish on strings and has only one brass. No sax, the reed being a rhythmic clarinet. There is also some ensemble vocalizing by a sextet.

South has been in Vienna, making casual but impressive mention of this in line with a Viennese waltz motif, 'Pardon Mademoiselle,' which registered. He's also been in a Chi nitery. He mentions the Palace as his first New York date, but played a Harlem theatre recently.

BEAUVELL AND TOVA (4)
Dancing
14 Mins.; Special in Full
Orpheum, New York

As a team Beauvell and Tova rate as anything but new to the picture houses and night spots in New York. Counted among the places where this sleek pair of ballroom gliders have exhibited themselves are the Roxy, New York; Fox, Brooklyn, and Hollywood restaurant, Broadway. But as part of a four-people combination the Beauvell and Tova unveiling is recent.

To the act as unlimbered at the Orpheum the pair contributed three numbers, the first a slow-motion routine of ultra smoothness and grace, the second, a spirited and eye-fetching interpretation of the carioca, and the finale, an exotic rhythmic design based on a courtship theme and climaxed with a whirlwind pirouette. Finished, attention compelling is everything they have to offer. Both the turn and the duo's persons bespeak class.

To give them a breathing spell just prior to the finale number the dance duo have interpolated into the act a lass whose forte is a pleasant little voice of the silver-bellish genre. Though no great shakes of endowing the ballads she undertakes with style and emotional meaning makes the interlude an easy one on the ear.

Fourth member of the troupe is the accompanist. In keeping with the class level of the turn he's togged out in formal evening wear. Act's stage dressing is limited to a black cyke and a white-lacquered platform. Odec.

PALM BEACH REVELS (5)
With Grace DuFaye, Eddie Stuart and Dot, Dona and Teddy
Dancing
16 Mins.; One, full (special)
Orpheum, N. Y.

This is one flash that merits the best of the available vaude time if only on the talent of Grace Dufaye, a superior contortionist to rhythm. Her two routines in this vehicle stopped the proceedings on both occasions during the show caught and, to say the least, she deserved the receptions.

Rest of the act is also dancing, including a girl trio in straight hoofery, and Eddie Stuart's fine tapology on a prop baby grand. They're also applause winners, but not as big as Miss DuFaye.

How this showmanly contortionist has escaped from being catapaulted into the 'name' class is hard to understand. Certainly that acro, tap and control contortion stuff qualifies her for class 'A.'

Flash is nicely mounted and dressed and was the closer here.

VARIETY
Trade Mark Registered
FOUNDED BY SIME SILVERMAN
Published Weekly by VARIETY, Inc.
Sid Silverman, President
154 West 46th Street New York City

SUBSCRIPTION
Annual.....$6 Foreign.....$7
Single Copies.....15 Cents

Vol. 114 No. 11

15 YEARS AGO

(From VARIETY and Clipper)

Broadway Association was having one of its intermittent drives against tack cards and snipes. Snipes are out but the cards still prevail.

'Chu Chin Chow' in its third year in London, still playing to around $25,000 week.

Federal Trade Commission finally rested its case against the Keith Booking Office VARIETY and others Waiting to see if defendants wanted to call witnesses. J. W. Fitzpatrick, of the White Rats, was one of the prosecution's star witnesses, but Harry Mountford dodged.

Labor politicians in Chicago were striving to cut agents to 3% commission.

N. V. A. making a drive for lay members to help finance the clubhouse. Cost $25 a year.

Milo Belden, who sued Winchell Smith, John Golden and Frank Bacon alleging 'Lightning' was a plagiarism from his play, not only took the count but was soaked $500 counsel fees to the defendants.

Last week in May saw 10 new shows, mostly musicals, coming to Broadway. There were 18 musicals to chance the hot weather, including the holdovers.

Hot tip out that the police were after Sunday shows, and many houses cut out dancing. Nothing happened.

Talk of another Equity strike, but merely brought an arbitration agreement.

50 YEARS AGO

(From Clipper)

Prof. E. C. Taylor was doing a handcuff-box trick quite similar to that later done by Houdini, but he used fake cuffs. Houdini's fekes had not yet been invented.

Dion Boucicault, who had announced a private car for the current season, placed an order for two cars to be built during the summer. One was a sleeper for 28; the other a diner-observation.

Carver B. Cline, who later was p. a. for Koster & Bial's, was taking the Hess opera co. through Mexico. One of the best liked of the old timers.

Madison Sq. theatre (Frohmans) announced a single touring company for 'May Blossom,' its current success. till touring 'Hazel Kirke' 'Esmeralda.'

'La Pettite Ada Jones' was pulled out of Miner's Bowery. Later, not so pettite, she was a permanent feature at Hubers' museum and a phonograph best seller.

Herbert ros. played a one night engagement at Koster & Bial's to show the act to a visiting foreign manager.

Plans filed for rebuilding of burned Standard theatre, using the old foundations. House was to cost $80,000. In Greeley Square where the Saks store now stands.

Season was petering out, with some houses cutting prices to prolong the run. Decoration Day then regarded as opening the outdoor season.

Fire in a restaurant next Daly's theatre. Smoke filtered into the auditorium and the ballet girls fled the stage, causing a slight panic.

Inside Stuff—Pictures

Although the Warner-ERPI peace-piping is reported by spokesmen for some of the involved parties to be progressing satisfactorily it was admitted in the Brothers' camp that unless the settlement is signed, sealed and delivered by the end of June there is likelihood of a renewal of hostilities.

Refusing to confirm reports that $5,000,000 paid by the Electric to the Brothers will put the fight for all time in the files. Brotherites indicate that should their arbitration be subjected to an accounting, as was being sought before the armistice, the money would run upwards into $20,000,000.

ERPIites, while maintaining the same formal silence, contend privately that the Electric has no intention of letting the settlement, if reached, run into millions. They call it 'getting rid of a nuisance' and say that their terms are for shouldering expenses of litigation rather than making a gratuitous settlement.

While the negotiations proceed, it is stated, Warners' other anti-trust action against the Electric still remains active. It is on the trial calendar of Wilmington for September. Just how this will be handled in the event the arbitration matter is closed has several angles. Brotherites speak guardedly, at the same time conceding it more than likely that in such a circumstance the anti-trust may also be included in the peace deal.

On the other hand, if hostilities are resumed, the first entanglement to be threshed out is whether arbitration would be returned to star-chamber, or out in open court. A number of appeals already have been made to date on this single issue. As it stands now arbitration would be headed for the open.

Irving Trust's third report on the RKO receivership, filed after weeks of delay on Tuesday (22), contained nothing new except that certain figures of accounts are detailed that are not already generally known in the trade. Fact that RKO realized a profit the first quarter of 1934, ended March 31, was already previously indicated by both RCA and RKO.

However, Irving Trust fussed with the present report more so than with others and a general press gathering was the occasion whereat the report was released after its filing.

RKO's net profit for the first quarter is handed as $498,131, as ended March 31, 1934. The consolidated net profit for the various theatre companies managed by RKO is $99,650 for this period. This compares with a previous report issued by minority interests in Keith-Albee-Orpheum showing that the latter corporation together with its subsid, the B. F. Keith company for the same period netted an aggregate $268,000, before Federal income taxes.

The combined picture end of RKO-Radio Pictures, Inc., and RKO-Pathe Pictures, Inc., netted $308,602 this first quarter.

An appointment to head RKO theatre publicity-advertising, permitting Bob Sisk to confine himself to RKO administrative, production and distribution departments in that sphere, is imminent. With it, according to understanding, someone will be designated to attend to the Music Hall alone, away and apart from whoever is to head RKO theatres advertising. John Dowd, long with the company, is in line for latter, he and the selection for the Music Hall to directly contact RKO theatre operating heads, but not be subject to each other. Sisk got back Thursday (24) after a studio visit on 1934-'35 product and year book.

The publicity-advertising split is among the changes wanted by the John Meehan faction which agreed on certain others and is sitting back seeing them tried out, including the breakdown of RKO into numerous theatre divisions and establishment in some spots of city managerships.

Allied Owners' Corp. is not going ahead to sell guarantee of leases on Brooklyn theatres it built, holding off on this phase of its bankruptcy for the time being at least. Leases concerned are those guaranteed by Loew on Kings and Pitkin theatres, Brooklyn, and Valencia, Jamaica.

These are among the seven houses Allied built for Par and under which Allied has a claim against Par for arbund $6,000,000, including purchase contract and back rent. Par owes its back rent principally on the Brooklyn Par, while Loew is in default for nearly a year on its trio.

Trustee informants in Allied, of which Prudence Bonds is an affiliate, say that matters are being pushed to clean up the bankruptcy at the earliest possible date, but that the sale of Loew's guaranty of leases is not a part of the present program. No meetings have been set to gain court permission to conduct this sale.

What occupies indie distributors more than anything else these days is figuring out answers against elimination of double featuring. Latest to go on record is Nat Levine, head of Mascot, who calls the hue and cry against duals 'a red herring drawn across the trail to cover more important matters now affecting the film industry'. He gives Jack Cohn a little publicity, agreeing with the Col sales head that double featuring is something for the individual distributor and exhibitor to decide, adding it isn't something the exhib must do.

Levine likens duals to bargain day in a department store. He maintains that if an exhibitor feels that doubles give him an opportunity to break even or profit on his investment, then there is no reason why he should not be allowed to continue the practice.

The cross picketing gag, claimed by those in the know to derive from what strictly is a gag, has reached the point where theatre operators are paying no attention to it. Although it's conceded a certain amount of damage must be resulting from the picketing, no one is making any efforts toward restraining orders or other court relief.

Attitude seems to be to let the unions get tired of trying to bother the theatres and to settle their squabbles in some other manner. Having had their experience with the Empire picketing and now with Allied, it's pretty generally known in inner operating circles that even if the 306-Allied mad-on is settled, there are several other state charters laying around under which a similar situation may spring up as many times.

The Frank A. Vanderlip bondholders committee in Paramount, which, in terms of creditor representation will wield the strongest power on a reorganization, does not look for tentative draft of a plan from Kuhn, Loeb, right away, but expects that within a week K-L will talk to them about it. Committee information is that enough figures and facts have been gathered already to warrant some discussion of reorganization measures very soon.

Meanwhile, it is borne in mind that a final plan is not only unlikely but impossible before numerous large claims and other matters, including Paramount Broadway reorganization, Allied Owners bankruptcy, etc., are cleared up.

Universal is using RCA sound for the first time on any of its own pictures on 'The Red Rider' serial in production. Studio has employed Western Electric since signing with the latter five years ago.

Lower royalty charges by RCA over WE caused the change, and as the U serials are made under a separate corporation, Adventure Pictures, company was able to do so without violating its contract with WE.

Adventure Pictures has been incorporated for the past four years, however, but Universal has stuck to WE. Likely that from now on other U films made by separate corporations will go RCA.

Although Ed Kuykendall, head of the MPTOA, immediately went on record as in opposition to Darrow, it was later revealed that many of the points which the lawyer would have the film industry concede in its code are the very points for which the MPTOA battled in Washington during early codedom. A 15% rather than the present 10% rejection privilege, and shorts divorced from features, as well as no designated playdates, are claimed to be as much a part of the MPTOA program as of the Darrow report.

Inside Stuff-Vaude

Financial statement on the RKO booking office, as included in the circuit's report:

'Radio-Keith-Orpheum Vaudeville Exchange, Inc., and Vaudeville Collection Agency, Inc., showed a combined loss for the eight-month period ended August 31, 1933, of $75,401.84. The report noted that drastic reductions in expense, particularly of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Vaudeville Exchange, Inc., had been instituted, and that it was believed that this phase of the business would improve during the 1933-34 winter, especially in view of the renewed interest in the use of vaudeville which seemed to be taking place at the time the report was written. For the four-month period from September 1, 1933, to December 31, 1933, the combined operations of these two subsidiaries resulted in a profit of $2,803.31. This improvement continued, and the operations for the three months ended March 31, 1934, show a combined profit of $9,036.32.'

Improvement was largely due to the last general cutting down in the booking office, such as withdrawal of Martin Beck, George Godfrey, clerical staff, etc.

Question of vaudeville over the summer at the N. Y. Palace is up within RKO but so far this is one of the RKO houses that hasn't been placed on a conditional two weeks' notice permitting change in policy or closing at any time. House may go straight pictures over the hot spell. Nut has been running from $10,000 to $11,000 with vaude with the breaks on profit in the majority over the winter.

When he played Loew's State, N. Y., recently, Penner thanked Manager Al Rosen for advice given the comedian seven years ago. At that time Rosen was managing a New England house which Penner played. Actor asked Rosen what he thought of the act, latter telling the comic to stick to it because it should click with kids. Penner credits Rosen with his present success with the youngsters.

Gummo Marx, the non-pro brother of the Marx brothers, is recovering from a taxi smash in New York in which he sustained a broken leg and then pneumonia. His wife's jaw was fractured and 14 teeth knocked out in the accident.

Gummo was in the dress business but recently secured a seat on the rubber exchange.

Robert Presnell, who had contractual trouble at Warners when studio wanted him to abdicate the post of supervisor to return to writer ranks, is still under contract to that organization though working elsewhere. Deal is 40 out of 52 weeks at $1,000 weekly.

At present Powell is on a 12-week layoff at Metro and after that he may go to other studios on writing assignments with Warners still bound to the grand weekly payment for the balance of the year should Presnell not have available employment.

Player just edging into top picture brackets is boasting how he chiseled an extra day's work out of the studio to which he went on loan. Did it by faking a lapse of memory on his lines in final scene of the picture.

Called back the next day, his memory was perfect both as to dialog and extra pay check. Studio execs found out and their memory may not be so fickle.

United Artists went to the open market to offer its 'Sorrel and Son' a Broadway birth, with highest bidder welcome to it, and the Mayfair (Walter Reade independent) went high enough to land a booking. It's the first time this season and for some time that UA has kept anything from its own N. Y. Rivoli. Story was done as a silent several years ago.

His friendship with the head of a major studio is enabling an agent, new in the per center field, to garner new clients. Agent parks himself in the head man's office and talks to the players as they come in to see the boss.

It's hard for an unattached actor or director to refuse when the request comes right in the boss' reception room.

Heavy demand for writers continues in Hollywood, while the market for other talent is still below par. Known writers have had no trouble getting studio jobs and agents report that those with plenty of experience in film scripting could go to two or three studios.

Lots are preparing heavily for coming production and there aren't enough capable scribblers to go around.

Every city that has 25 theatres and more plays all the pictures produced in America and, in the course of a year, all of the foreign features brought in under quota which have English dialog. Industry leaders divulge this fact to disprove further theories advanced by various welfare groups that the elimination of block booking would enable communities to select their own screen menus.

First preview of Douglas Fairbanks' 'Private Life of Don Juan' be shown in mid-Atlantic about the middle of July on the steamer will bring Fairbanks from London.

Arrangements made by United Artists and London Films with a British line for the showing of this Alexander Korda production.

W. R. Hearst is particularly interested in the next Marion Davies picture, 'Movie Queen', concocted by Sid Skolsky. Hearst, prior to leaving on his European jaunt, conferred with the adaptors and dialogers, giving them an abundance of suggestions as well as lines he feels will strengthen the story.

NRA, and its allegedly broad outlook, played no part in Federal Government's dismissal of its anti-trust action against Warners-FN. This is the opinion of code specialists who hold that the decision should not be regarded as an Eagle precedent by other companies in the industry.

Although service on all individuals but Jesse L. Lasky has been made, there is no immediate prospects that the suit of the Paramount trustees to recover $12,237,071 will be filed in the state courts. Inner circles reveal that while the trustees have served papers, action will not be filed now.

Frank C. Walker is slated for a new post close to the President, Washington picture contacts report, as soon as Congress adjourns in June. When Walker returns from this vacation it will be to the new berth in the fall.

Charlie O'Reilly, codist and TOCC head, had to postpone that official business trip to Omaha because of an ulcerated tooth. He may leave sometime this week to find out what is the source of eagle trouble on the plains.

Warm Interest in June 1 Equity Meet; Expect 2 Factions to Have It Out

roughout Equity's membership there is mounting interest in the association's annual meeting Friday (1) at the Astor, New York. Session seems sure to develop battles between the younger roup and the present regime.

There are so many proposed resolutions in addition to constitutional amendments carded that it does not seem possible for the meeting to be finished during the scheduled period between 2:30 and 5 p.m. That there ill be an adjournment and an additional session appears likely.

Understood that as many as 20 resolutions will be offered from the floor, not all proposals necessarily coming from the group. At another pre-meeting session last week the group recapitulated its program and additional resolutions were agreed on, range of which extend from protests of the code minimum salaries to summer theatres and Sunday performances. Latter matter may be forced to attention by a petition with 30 signatures, said to have been drawn up and signed.

By-Laws Controversy

Perhaps the amendment which may precipitate the tensest contest is that which would give the membership the right to amend the by-laws, which power is now only with the Council, latter, however, also to retain equal right. Amendment stipulates that it must receive a two-thirds majority vote at the meeting. Group seeks its passage on a majority vote. That point will be put to the meeting for decision before the amendment is actually considered, therefore indicating a double struggle over the same point.

Reason the group seeks the adoption of the amendment is the claimed fact that Equity's council has the last word in all controversial matters. If, it is stated, the membership at a general meeting voted for Sunday performances, council is supposed to be empowered to veto. Group therefore aims to remove that power so that the general membership's vote on all important points will be final. If adopted the amendment would switch virtual control of Equity.

Despite the fact that the legit code exempts rural summer theatres from its coverage, one of the group's resolutions would have the minimum $40 weekly pay apply. Declaring that summer theatres with but a few exceptions do not gross enough to pay such salaries, Equity leaders will oppose the proposal. Equity leaders feel that the summer spots furnish some surcease from the depression and higher pay would automatically eliminate the country spots. They added that if Equity ruled out summer theatres, then Equity must take care of distressed members who would be affected—and there are no funds in Equity for such purposes, or certainly not enough.

Authors and Composers Fight N. Y. State Tax Levy; Rice Is Leader

Albany, May 28.

Playwrights, composers and authors joined with Elmer Rice in the later's court action before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court last week against the State Tax Commission to recover taxes assessed against royalties collected from their works.

Rice is endeavoring to obtain from the state $3,231.85, assessed against him for 1929, '30 and '31, on the basis of a United States Supreme Court decision of 1932, holding taxable by the states incomes from copyrights and patents. New York State has taken the attitude that the effect of the decision makes the levy retroactive. Appellants are fighting this assumption of the state.

Arguments required nearly two full days for their presentation to the court. Counsel argued for Rice as well as for the following: Jerome Kern, Robert E. Sherwood, Maxwell Anderson, Oscar Hammerstein, 2d, Sigmund Romberg, Laurence Schwab, Fanny Heaslip Lea, Arthur Schwartz and the estate of David Belasco. All are seeking tax refunds for the three-year period. While Rice asks $3,231.85, the others are endeavoring to obtain smaller amounts.

WHITE BACKING SELF FOR SUMMER MUSICAL

After several changes of plans, 'Scandals' will be produced by George White, due on Broadway early in August, but not at the Hollywood. Revue was virtually set for the house, with Warner's backing, but understood the deal was nixed by one of the brothers. Hollywood appears definitely slated to be remodeled for legit show purposes, however. Warners has acquired additional property back of the house so that the stage can be deepened. House may get Max Gordon's musical, now being written by Buddy De Sylva and Sid Silvers.

White decided to back himself after getting additional coin from Fox on the picturized 'Scandals,' which he supervised. Original cash payment to manager was $45,000. Recently White received $50,000 as against a percentage of the gross. He sailed immediately (May 19) for Paris for material and effects.

Bert Lahr will top the cast for the new White musical. When it looked like the show was off, Lee Shubert negotiated for Lahr for 'Life Starts at 8:30,' musical which is due about the same time as 'Scandals.' Ray Bolger and Louella Gear have been engaged for 'Life.'

SIX MUSICALS GETTING READY

Broadway's next major musical shows are projected for late summer, but a sextette of such productions in sight have taken more definite proportions. Indications are that the four current musicals will hold over into the heat period—'As Thousands Cheer,' 'Follies,' 'Roberta' and 'New Faces.' Newest musical due in is 'Caviar,' next week at the Forrest.

'Follies' principal setup was revised over the week-end when a group of featured artists withdrew, with replacement players opening Monday (28). With the new salary setup the 'Follies' can operate profitably—both house and show—at a pace of around $16,000. Into the show are: Josephine Huston, Gerry and Dixon, Bartlet Simmons and Mildred Webb. Withdrawn are: Everett Marshall, Jane Froman, the Ebsens and Don Ross. Fannie Brice and the Howard Brothers remain indefinitely.

All the 'Follies' withdrawing cast members were booked elsewhere before they quit. Marshall and Miss Bowman open for Loew at the Capitol, New York, June 1, and Jane Froman plays the same house June 22.

Wilma and Buddy Ebsen left the show Thursday night (21) to open the following day with Abe Lyman in Baltimore.

'Life Starts at 8:30,' the corrected revised title of 'The Family Album,' is slated for rehearsal June 25, but without Bert Lahr, who was mentioned as chief comic. Ray Bolger, Louella Gear and Philip Loeb are already engaged, with the latter probably staging the revue. Show will be presented by Lee Shubert. J. J. Shubert, who formerly handled the firm's musicals, is not concerned, nor has he had a hand in the 'Follies,' save for a few weeks early in the try-out period.

Other four later musicals more or less in the making are George White's 'Scandals,' definitely slated after several pro and cons, a new Earl Carroll revue, Lew Brown's forthcoming musical and Ray Henderson and Jack MacGowan's 'And So Are You.' Brown flies to the coast this week for talent, as he did with 'Strike Me Pink,' last season with Jimmy Durante and Lupe Velez.

COLLINS' LIGHT OP.

Norwalk, May 26.

Andrew J. Collins, veteran Connecticut showman, has taken over 'The Theatre in the Woods,' outdoor light opera theatre here.

Collins will open the season late in June with 'The Mikado.' He is the owner of theatres in Danbury and South Norwalk.

FIGHT CHI 'DRUNKARD'

Sponsors Take Legal Action Against Charles O'Neal

Hollywood, May 28.

Attorneys representing the management of 'The Drunkard,' now in its 47th week at the Theatre Mart here, have been ordered to take legal action restraining Charles O'Neal from making false representations in connection with his announced plan to open two 'Drunkard' companies in Chicago.

Local management has been notified that O'Neal, who played in the Theatre Mart cast some months ago, has beeen describing himself to Chicago newspapers and others as a co-owner, star and director of the Hollywood venture.

Sponsors of the company will open their No. 3 'Drunkard' show in the Hotel Schroeder, Milwaukee, June 3.

BANKER BACKER OF 'BLACK CROOK'

Modernized revival of 'The Black Crook,' slated for June 12 on the Bowery, will have downtown backing, it is reported, although Donald Gilpatric is named as the presenter. Stanton Griffis, the banking firm of Temple, Noyes & Co., is named as principally concerned. Griffis is said to have been silent partner in a number of Broadway productions, and he owns stock in corporate activities of Katharine Cornell and Guthrie McClintic.

'Crook,' with several name leads, will have plenty of 'lookers' in the show girl line. It will be spotted in the old People's theatre, renamed the Bowery Gardens. There are tables in the front row space for dining and libation purposes, which is expected to class the house a cabaret rather than theatre.

Nita Naldi, Ann Pennington and Lew Hearn are announced to head the cast.

Equity Drops Osterman, Wini Shaw, 10 Others For Coast Engagement

Hollywood, May 28.

Equity has suspended Jack Osterman, Wini Shaw and nine other members of the cast of 'Shim Sham Revue,' which folded Monday (21) after three disastrous weeks at the Music Box. Members were dropped for appearing with a non-Equity organization.

Walkouts brought about by failure of promoters to pay salaries led to the abrupt closing of the revue.

Revised Legit Code Nearly Ready; No Drastic Changes, but Disputed Points Still Not Fully Solved

Draft of the revised code for the legit theatre was brought to New York last week by deputy administrator William P. Farnsworth, and it went back with him Friday (25) so that further rewriting could be accomplished. That no radical changes in the original had been inserted was indicated, but the plan to present the document to the Code Authority Monday (28) was set back, and such proceedings will likely be held up several weeks.

Outstanding code features—ticket control and labor arbitration—were not solved problems by any means. In some respects legit show business' reputed evils are little changed from the claimed conditions of year ago, so far as the code is concerned. Ticket feature of the code was so at variance with what had been agreed on at the Washington hearings that that portion of the revision was not even considered at Farnsworth's conference Thursday (24). The CA administrator separately huddled with labor heads Friday and then hopped the train. Understood that labor stood pat.

Stiffer Penalties

Code does empower the authority to handle the ticket situation. About the same plan as followed this season will be carried out, but with violators of the rule liable to more drastic punishment. Ticket agencies will be required to file cash bonds of $500 each, such money to be confiscated by the CA in case of violation of the rules. In other words, every time the CA discovers a broker gypping it would cost the spec half a grand. First proposed to make the fine $1,000.

In the first code the authority did not have the right to fine or discipline, all its decisions going to Washington for review. That proved unsatisfactory to the showmen, and the teeth are now inserted.

Ticket provision in the code which would have created a bureau is said to have been deleted. One regulation would have all ducats allotted to agencies perforated with

(Continued on page 46)

2 ACTORS ORDAINED TO THE PRIESTHOOD

South Norwalk, May 28.

Two former roadway actors are being ordained to the priesthood of the Roman Catholic church within a week of each other.

Rev. Joseph Fay, of former Deputy Police Commissioner Thos. Fay of New York, and on the stage as a juvenile lead, was ordained last week. Rev. Walter Plimmer, the son of Walter Plimmer, veteran vaudeville booking agent, will be ordained this week in Baltimore.

Father Plimmer had the leading role in George M. Cohan's 'The Hometowners' a few seasons ago and later played the lead in Thomas Jackson's '10 Percent.' His last engagement was as leading man of the Montgomery Players at Montgomery, Ala. He will celebrate his first mass next Sunday at the Church of Our Lady of Angels in Bay Ridge in the presence of many members of the profession, including George M. Cohan, Hugh O'Connell, Horace MacMahon and Bruce Macfarlane. His father is expected to come from Florida where he has been living for several years for the ceremonies.

'SAILOR' CAST ALL ON PCT.

Cast of 'Sailor Beware' at the Lyceum, New York, is now on percentage. Arrangement is peculiarly framed, salaries being proportioned to $9,000 gross, which level the management claims is necessary for an even break.

Players say that if the pace is $7,000 they will receive as much as previously when takings were $9,000 or better. Show has been getting around $6,000, said to be profitable to the house, which is operated by the management.

Several months ago the 'Sailor' players virtually seceded, signing a blanket notice when informed a salary cut would be made. After several cast meetings during a period when the management backed and filled, there was discord and since then the actors have been strictly on their own. Some accepted the new percentage deal, others reported handing in notice.

Management is counting on revived interest in the show with the arrival of the fleet Thursday (31).

MGRS. REQUEST BAR PERMITS

Next Monday (4) a delegation of legit managers huudle with Edward P. Mulrooney, head of New York State's Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, with the idea of seeking licenses to dispense liquor in theatres. Smoking rooms of the better show shops are ample in size for the installation of bars, but the rules stipulates that all places selling retail must have kitchens and tables where at least 20 persons may dine at one time. Rules also require bars to be fully visible from the street.

Latter provision has not been strictly followed, however, exceptions being noted in any number of class cafes. Showmen feel that theatres should be exempt from both the kitchen and the visibility provisions. Managers contend that amusement spots such as the Casino de Paree and the Manhattan Casino (due to open soon) are as much theatres as they are cafes, since the show's the thing. Both places were formerly devoted to legit.

Opposish

That the Paree type of establishment is regarded as opposition to theatres was indicated recently when the managers objected to its listing among legit shows in the dailies. Publishers assented and ordered cafe ads out of the group. Show and drinking establishments of the Paree or Manhattan type mostly to be spotted in modeled theatres, are further planned for New York and other cities.

Only theatre on Broadway with a license is the Metropolitan Opera House. No explanation for the exception given by the ABCB. If legit houses secure liquor license privilege it would open the way for other types of theatres to secure the same privilege.

Wash. Actors Develop Cold Puppies; Refuse to Do Congressional Satire

Washington, May 28.

'Both Your Houses,' scheduled for first performance in capital this week, was yanked out of rehearsal and cancelled when National Stock Players formally protested playing the show to Manager Steve Cochrane.

Ads were already out on play, with critics pointing out that it had heretofore missed Washington because of sharp ridicule of Congress and government. Rebellion came the first day of rehearsal when Romaine Callender, who drew part of U. S. Senator Fitzmaurice, one of fattest roles in piece, balked at reading his lines. Others concurred in general objections that play was too biting in sarcasm at expense of legislators and went in a body to see Cochrane.

Actor Tells Why

Callender's protest included reading of several lines from the script: 'I object to uttering these speeches. I consider them an affront to the Congress of the United States and a reflection on the integrity of our legislators. Besides I consider this play might be construed as a covert attack on the political administration which is lifting the nation out of the depression. I think the New Deal deserves a better deal particularly as it has been striving to help the actor and the organized theatre.'

Cochrane sided with the cast in dropping the production. His explanation as given to the press was:

'I scheduled 'Both Your Houses' because it had never been done in Washington, had been awarded the 1933 Pulitzer prize and because some members of Congress whom I consulted thought that while its humor was caustic and biting, the main theme was an attack upon a condition rather than on any particular party or administration. I would close the theatre rather than insult Congress.'

National subscription list includes 20 members of Congress. Pulitzer play was replaced by 'Jimmy's Women.'

Plays Abroad

La Machine Infernale

('Infernal Machine')

, May 19.

Four-act tragedy by Jean Cocteau. Sets and costumes designed by Christian Berard. Produced by Louis Jouvet at the Comedie des Champs Elysees, Paris.

Young Soldier	Yves Forget
Soldier	Robert Moor
Chief	Romain Bouquet
Jocasta	Martha Regnier
Tiresias	Pierre Renoir
Laius' Gh	Julien Barrot
Sphinx	Lucienne Bogaert
Anubis	Robert Le Vigan
Matron	Jane Lory
Little Boy	Ichel Monda
Little Girl	Vera Phares
Edious	Jean-Pierre Aumont
Messenger	Marcel Kibl
Creon	Andre Moreau
Shepherd	Louis Jouvet
Antigone	Andree Servilanges

way should know about this play, even though it has not been a commercial success for Jouvet. It's very likely to go down as one of the masterpieces of modern French drama. Piece is a modern rewrite of the Edipus legend, and it's a tragedy worthy of the tradition set by Sophocles. No reason why an outfit like the Theatre Guild should not put it on with the sets and the cast it deserves.

Moreover, Edipus had a good modern press agent named Sigmund Freud, and people may well be willing to go see the origin of the greatest of the complexes.

Cocteau has tackled the story with superb boldness. His second act is the meeting of the Edipus and the Sphinx; his third is the wedding night of Edipus and his mother. The fourth, thanks to the high artistry of everyone connected with the production, reaches a tragic height hard to duplicate in modern times. It is introduced by a prolog spoken through loud speakers from an empty stage, hung with bloodred draperies, in which Cocteau explains that the spectator is beholding one of the most perfect infernal machines ever constructed by heartless gods for the mathematical annihilation of a mortal. As the prolog continues wires carry the red drapes and part of the set upward to make a second story of the Greek structure before which the act is played, and as the voice dies out the drapes are whisked off into the flies, leaving the stage clear for the actors.

Edipus then learns what he has done—killed his father and married his mother—and in the last five minutes he is actually shown with bloody eye-sockets, after he has blinded himself with the brooch of his wife-mother.

It's got to be good in order to avoid being either ridiculous or boring or, both, and Cocteau has proved he can get away with it.

Cocteau's Sphinx is a young girl, and she lets Edipus guess her riddle because she's tired of killing men, and she likes his silly, swashbuckling manner. The character of her lines shifts when she gets ready to do her stuff, so that she is plenty mysterious. Lucienne Bogaert does a grand job, but there are actresses on Broadway who could do as well.

Atmosphere of fatality and horror is further carried by having Edipus and Jocasta doze off momentarily while they talk, their lines then revealing their unconscious. This is done sparingly and is convincing and natural. In the wedding night act the bed is tilted so the audience can see them on it. But there's no dirt. It's a tragedy.

Play is well constructed in the orthodox way—no fancy disjointedness. That's why some of the French critics have contended it's out of date, but for Broadway that's all to the good. It's plenty modern without being so ultra as to be incomprehensible. And the emotions dealt in are fundamental.

Fact it hasn't set Paris on fire commercially is nothing against it, for this is a terrible season, especially for the highbrow stuff. With a good, arty build-up and a striking production it ought to make New York sit up. Stern.

Where Was I Tonight?

('Wo War Ich Heute Nacht?')

Vienna, May 1.

Comedy in three acts by Olga Scheinpflug. Translated from Czech and for the first time produced in German at the Kammerspiele in Vienna.

Authoress Olga Scheinpflug is one of the foremost actresses at the Czech National Theatre of Prague.

Story of the play is about a Professor of Ethics who, behaving in an unethical manner partakes of too much alcohol. He completely loses all idea of what had taken place and, as a result, is credited with having committed various crimes, all of which he believes.

Olga Scheinpflug turns this story into a very amusing detective story. Hans Thimig is the professor, and save for a tinge of over-acting lends color and character to the leading part.

Adequately adapted, it is likely to appeal in the States.

THE CITY OF SHIPS

London, May 15.

Play in three acts by Mary D. Sheridan. Produced by Andre Van Gyseghem for a fortnight only at the Embassy theatre, May 14.

Lucy Layland	Nancy Poultney
Elizabeth Layland	Mary Hinton
Debbie	Cicily Oates
Harvey	Anthony Quayle
Charles	Alan Wheatley
Richard Layland	Vernon Sylvaine
William Roscoe	Alfred Sangster
Captain Hugh Crow	Guy le Fevre

This is an historical play, the action occurring between 1805 and 1807. Authoress claims the incidents described in it are founded on fact.

Subject matter is the abolition of slavery by England, which came about with the passage of a bill to that effect by parliament.

Locale is the drawing-room of a wealthy shipowner, whose family for generations had fattened on the proceeds of the slave trade. His only child engages herself in marriage to the son of another shipowner who had prospered in the same fashion. Boy signs on as a ship's surgeon in one of his father's vessels, and on his return is rabid against slavery. In the end, the girl's father determines to replace the slave cargoes with shipments of commodities, and the audience is shown a far, far, better world.

A conventional story plus an historical background, well written and extremely moving in spots. In the spots where it isn't so moving, it scarcely moves at all. Well acted throughout and artistically produced.

Hasn't been a big slavery play in the States since 'The Birth of a Nation.' If this one could be doctored, with more characters and scenes added, it might prove okay in New York. Jolo.

GUILD MOVING 'MARY' INTO OWN THEATRE

'Mary of Scotland' will move from the Alvin, New York, to the Guild across the street after Saturday's (2) performance. It is a Guild attraction and the organization's own house becomes available by the closing of 'Ah, Wilderness' after a run of 35 weeks. 'Mary' is in its 27th week.

Changes in 'Mary' leads sends Margalo Gillmore and Stanley Ridges in for Helen Hayes and Philip Merivale Monday (4), but the original players rejoin the show for touring in the fall.

It is anticipated that attendance will taper after the cast changes, but with reduced operating expense to offset that in the Guild's own house.

Colloquialism

Chicago, May 28.

Lloyd Lewis took great trouble in doing research work on his new play, 'Brother Burdette,' in order to get the proper tone of the conversation of the 1860 era. However, despite all evidence, he was forced to cut out one phrase which was very popular at the time.

The phrase was: 'That would be the nuts.' Lewis is certain everybody would think that an error.

AFRICAN OPERA GETS NEW LIFE

thiopian 'Kykunkor,' or 'native African ,' which been drawing lovers of dance recitals and such in several spots, switched into the 52d floor Chanin auditorium last Wednesday (23) night and drew turnaway business at the 191-seater. Ticket prices are $2.75, with $1 the lowest admission. Attraction started in a tiny unknown house on 23d street and, when ousted for fire violations, took refuge in the City College auditorium.

Asadata Dafora Horton, head man of the outfit, who is native but educated, has been lecturing on African tribal customs, laid the rent on the line for one week and got his money back on the first night at the Chanin sky place. Performance is a series of ceremonial dance ensembles strung together with a story which has some sex angle. 'Kykunkor' was mentioned for Broadway but Dafora demands guarantees.

Pastor's Folds

Hollywood, May 28.

Tony Pastor's club, replica of the one time variety pride of New York, has folded after four weeks, with actors and other attaches holding the sack for unpaid wages totaling around $3,600.

Two of the actors, Billy Hart, who impersonated Al Smith at the entrance, and John P. Wade, have already filed wage claims with the State Labor Bureau, and others of cast of 'Ticket of Leave Man,' meller, given in connection with the venture, are expected to follow suit first of the week.

Inside Stuff—Legit

Although Noel Coward will produce his own plays, Max Gordon will be a managerial participant if he so elects. Letter from the British author-actor-producer last week assured Gordon that he is welcome to purchase an interest in any of new firm's forthcoming attractions in light of their cordial business relations in the past.

Gordon was concerned with 'Design For Living' and this season sponsored 'The Shining Hour' (engagement ended at Booth, N. Y., Saturday, 26). Cast came over intact from London and returns there for appearances. Gordon and Coward each had one-third interest, balance owned by the principals. Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne who starred with Coward in 'Design' are jointly interested with him in the new producing company.

Three plays by Harvard's John Dos Passos, written some time ago, are now in book form, encompassed in one volume. Titles are 'Airways, Inc.', 'The Garbage Man' and 'Fortune Heights'. First two reached the stage in Greenwich Village, 'The Garbage Man' then (March, 1926) called 'The Moon Is a Gong', as screwy a show as ever staged in the Cherry Lane. Some 67 characters were programed but some doubled and tripled and the cast numbered about 30 players or one sort of another. Stage hooding during a funeral was a highlight.

'Fortune Heights' was not produced but at least one book reviewer rates it the best of the Dos Passos trio and opines it has a good stage chance.

One of the younger managers on Broadway supposedly tried to double-cross his own lawyer. Latter was supposed to be under salary and to have shares of stock in the venture but the manager claimed there was no profit.

Attorney, however, discovered the manager had been collecting a goodly sum in kick-back money from the actors and others. When confronted the showman decided to pay his adviser the agreed salary and stock, while the latter is having the statements audited believing the venture really played in the black.

Irving Berlin will have a 10% interest in 'Merrily We Roll Along', the George S. Kaufman-Moss Hart comedy-drama which Sam H. Harris will present in the fall. Managerial arrangement calls for both authors to have a share with Kaufman making the larger investment.

Kaufman told Berlin he was welcome to buy in on his share, a return favor in connection with the exchange this season's 'Let 'Em Eat Cake' and 'As Thousands Cheer'. Kaufman is collecting on the latter, but lost on 'Cake'. So did Berlin.

Adele Bushnell, author of 'I, Myself', formerly wrote vaudeville acts. Her name in those days was Nancy Bradford.

Revised Legit Code

(Continued from page 45)

the broker's initials, and if found in another agency it would be prima facie evidence of monkey business. Clause was bitterly fought by the agency men in Washington, and now the managers say it is a bad idea, because it might tend to limit rather than aid distribution.

Retain Prohi Rule

Indications are that the rule prohibiting agencies from exchanging tickets will be retained, despite their arguments for the right of resale and doubling the 75c premium limit in such transactions. Small agencies not licensed are ruled out, box offices not being permitted to do business with the 'dissenters,' same going for licensed brokers. Understood code also forbids gratuities to treasurers. One guard against sidewalk specs is a clause requiring agencies to be at least 100 feet from a theatre.

Labor situation looks like a Mexican standoff. Compulsory submission of all complaints to an Industrial Relations Board of three (one impartial, named by the two representatives of both sides). But labor reserves and is conceded the right to strike in the National Recovery Act. How arbitration and striking can be mixed is a query that isn't answered. The board will not have the right to decide on wages, hours or work, its function being rather vague.

Equal Representati

Code Authority's makeup will find the managers and labor equally represented, a majority vote to be decisive, but the right to appeal to Washington retained. So that questions can be decided on without an even split, three public representatives will be named to the CA.

Hours of rehearsal are set, straight shows to rehearse eight consecutive hours, with one hour out for lunch or dinner. Musicals call for seven hours' rehearsal out of 10 consecutive hours, but the rules are off for the last seven days of rehearsals.

Cheap tickets of the throwaway type are permitted, but each 'pass' must stipulate the amount of money to be paid and the approximate location. Managers protest this provision, one declaring that the 40c admissions will spread like a prairie fire to all classes of legit shows. If that proves true, some managers insist, wages back stage and actors' salaries must conform to the cheap admissions.

Pooh-pooh Throwaways

Attempts to oust throwaways were countered by stage hands and Equity, labor insisting that its people be permitted to work regardless of ticket prices. That throwaways mean a short sighted policy that might entirely destroy the business was pooh-poohed by the labor people.

Code does not apply to summer rural theatres unless such be located in communities of more than 30,000 or unless competing with regular stocks and shows. Regional boards will be named to span the country.

Managers say the code has been of great value despite the criticisms aimed at it. They figure without the code Equity might have imposed a basic agreement that could have been a hardship, and the same goes for labor.

Farnsy Optimistic

Washington, May 28.

Revised legit code probably will be mimeographed and distributed for new signatures late this week, NRA said following return of Deputy Administrator William P. Farnsworth from his New York meetings with managers and labor leaders.

Plainly surprised that both factions received the NRA compromises so warmly, Farnsworth expressed his pleasure at outcome of conferences Thursday (24) and Friday (25), and said that only a few slight changes remain to be effected before the document is sent out for okay of individuals and organizations.

Tie-up between NRA and Treasury Department will settle most of the fuss about tracing tickets from box offices through brokers to patrons' hands and obviate necessity for putting inflexible clause in code requiring marking. Provision inserted by NRA to require theatres to designate the broker to which tickets were given has been scrapped as not sufficiently fluid and was bothersome.

Idea is that Internal Revenue Bureau has encountered difficulty in collecting 10% on ducats handled through brokers, while Code Authority has been unable to dope out a simple system for tracing pasteboards. Resources will be pooled in order to strengthen tax bureau enforcement machinery and supplement C.A.'s snooping system. Able to get exact dope from theatres through the C.A., the Revenue Bureau will have more information on which to work and can run down suspected violators of both the code and the tax laws at the same time and with greater ease.

Heartened by reception given his ticket scheme, Farnsworth seemed even more gratified at the attitude of union leaders who had blustered and threatened at code hearings and seemed to be a major obstacle to smooth promulgation perfected pact. Only trivial alterations remain to be made in the clauses covering mediation of labor disputes, which provide for series of arbitration boards with equal membership and impartial chairman to handle each particular controversy. Original plan of setting up permanent regional tribunals has been modified so that for every scrap a new body will be picked by the principals with nearly-final powers to engineer a settlement.

SCHOOL THROWS SHOWS OUT; TOO MUCH DAMAGE

Pittsfield, Mass., May 28.

Stage your shows in the Colonial theatre and not in the high school auditorium is the pointed suggestion made by the Pittsfield School Committee to promoters of plays, amateurs and otherwise.

Such rentals for the Colonial would be a break for this old legit stand, which has been dark virtually throughout the last several seasons. Damage caused to the high school stage by the thespians prompted the recommendation that they do their stuff elsewhere.

New L. & S. Lewis Play, 'Burdette,' D. C. Start

Chicago, May 28.

New play, 'Brother Burdette,' by Lloyd Lewis, of the Chicago Daily News, and Sinclair Lewis, will get its premiere in Washington early in September, with Henry Hammond doing the producing. Casting difficulty called off the previously planned spring opening.

Show is about Bob Burdette, a famous Kansas politician during the Civil War. Joe Losey is directing.

Cooper-Long in Summit

Newark, May 28.

Lyric, Summit, opens June 25 under the management of Irving Cooper and Jesse Long.

Company will play established successes and new plays in stock.

PLAYS OUT OF TOWN

THE MORNING AFTER

Providence, May 23.

Comedy in three acts by John C. Gibbs. Directed by the author. Presented for one performance at Barker Playhouse by Proscenium Club with following cast: Basil Leighton, Catherine Peterson, K. T. Faulkner, Lucille Sutton, Eleanor Caulfield, R. W. Richmond, Walter Shoesmith, Betty Hanson, Walter Roberts, Robert Stone, Henry Owens, Barbara Fisher, Hope Richardson, Dorothy Schloss.

Publicized as first of proposed series of plays by local talent, this farce can hardly be rated a Broadway chance. Its merits are chiefly in the dialog.

Play is based on series of complications following a 'Scavenger' party (game allegedly popular with Park Ave. last winter). Action takes place in Johnny Powell's apartment 'in a large eastern city.' It is Saturday morning. Curtain finds Johnny returning from an unsuccessful seige in Boston trying to sell locomotives. Faced with possibility of losing his job, he gets on the trail of the current president of Cuba who is visiting the country on a good will tour.

Before he can catch up with Fidelio he finds in his devastated apartment certain articles left over from the 'scavenger party'; a lady's slipper, a duck, pair of 'woolies,' etc. Then come the complications.

Play is written with satirical slant, but tries to cover too much territory. Basil Leighton stood out prominently, winning a good hand on his final exit. Other principals were adequate in more stereotyped roles.

Audience seemed to find play consistently amusing. Might be candidate for summer tryout spot.

Chi Legit List Down to Trio Again; 'Horses' $10,000; 'Wednesday' $2,500

Chicago, May 28.

Loop is sticking to its trio of attractions, two homey plays and a musical. Business is fair enough.

'All the King's Horses' is back on its feet after a slight wobble on the start of its second session. Critics have gone out of their way to boost the show and tell the readers to attend. Figures to stick around awhile, with the Shuberts having nothing in view for replacement.

Small coin is enough to satisfy the low overheads of the two other plays, 'Big Hearted Herbert' and 'I Loved You Wednesday.' Latter was the third on the stock production list by Horace Sistare at the Studebaker, and may develop into the best of the trio on business.

Estimates for Last Week

'All the King's Horses,' Grand (M-1,207; $2.75) (3d week). Picking up after a slight drop last week to $10,000. Looks set for a run.

'Big Hearted Herbert,' Cort (C-1,100; $1.50) (5th week). Has nothing to worry about. Going along on pace which keeps it above the $3,000 mark, which is profitable.

'I Loved You Wednesday,' Studebaker (C-1,250; $2.50) (2d week). Clicked on its opening with Edna Hibbard featured. At $2,500 pace for opener and likely to build for stay during the Fair.

MUIR TRIES AGAIN, BUT IT'S STILL NO

At last week's Council session Equity refused to reconsider the Gavin Muir case. Actor was banned for six months for holding the curtain of 'Dangerous Corner' during the final performance as a road show in Washington, D. C., in February, and he did not go on until his demand for $200 in lieu of an extra week's notice was put in his mit.

Despite the fact that the six-month suspension was retroactive and will expire Aug. 27, Muir regarded the punishment as too severe, since it also carried with it a fine of $100. Attorney Philip Wittenberg, representing Muir, appeared before Council, but the answer was that Muir's offense was graver than the average layman could understand and that the suspension would stand.

However, the actor's claims for about $600 for playing extra Sunday night performances during the 'Corner' tour will be arbitrated. Understood that Muir annoyed Equity by taking his case to the NRA and legit code authority, and also threatening suit and delaying the refund of the two hundred bucks.

Duffy-Curran's Plans

San Francisco, May 28.

Henry Duffy and Homer Curran are readying several shows for the Curran, and possibly the Geary here, with first to be Jane Cowl in 'Shining Hour,' which Duffy will bring into the Curran early in June.

Curran has booked the Thomas Wilkes production of 'Mourning Becomes Electra,' which will go into the now darkened Geary if the Curran isn't available. Curran also is planning to do 'No More Ladies' and 'Mary of Scotland.'

Currently, Curran's production of 'She Loves Me Not' is at the Curran, only Frisco piece, and doing fairly well.

ENGAGEMENTS

Lionel Pape, Ilka Chase, Jane Bramley, Winifred Harris, Charles Romano, Alan Marshal, Jane Corcoran and May Marshal, 'While Parents Sleep.'

Sam Levine, 'The Milky Way,' replacing Leo Donnelly.

James Rand, Freda Lubin, John Bothwell, Dorothy Ferguson, E. A. Whitty and Alice Jefferson, 'Hedda Gabler.'

Alice Du Cole, 'Caviar.'

Jane McIntyre, 'She Loves Me Not,' replacing Jane Buchanan.

Nita Naldi, 'The Black Crook.'

Dorothy Raymond, 'Dodsworth,' replacing Maria Ouspenskaya.

Shepperd Strudwick, Joanna Roos, Jean Dixon, Pierre DeRamey, John Miltern, Mary Orr, Thomas P. Gunn, Joe Sweeney, Walter Scott and Arthur Hughes, 'Tight Britches' (complete cast).

Here's Why

, May

Boston commentators, mystified as to the reason for Katharine Cornell's return engagement to that city for three days in the Boston Opera House next month may now be enli

The Cornell company had originally planned three days in Portland, Maine, the date being cancelled immediately after the Buffalo engagement, by reason of the fact that the Portland stage hands refused to work for three days only, stating that it was a rule of the union that they could accept no employment for any period of less than two weeks.

Result: Maine will be deprived of seeing Miss Cornell this season.

YORK, KING LEGITER FOLDS IN REHEARSAL

'Frenchy,' a legit show which was to star Yorke and King, with Chic Yorke the backer, was called off after rehearsing four days at the Vanderbilt, N. Y. Yorke paid the cast one week's salary, the requirement for try-out shows during May, June and July.

Play may be tried out in summer stock. William Francis Dugan was staging, with the authors said to be his wife and sister-in-law, Margarita von Breuning and Ruth Patterson.

Akron Opens June 4

Akron, O., May 28.

Guild Players, Broadway group, will inaugurate a summer season at the Colonial theatre here Monday, June 4. It will be under the supervision of Ed Clarke Lilley, impresario at the old Music Hall in past seasons.

Guest star system is to be inaugurated that will bring Florence Reed to the local stage in her original role in 'The Shanghai Gesture,' as well as other stars from the Broadway belt. Quite a few of the supporting roles will be filled by players who will remain in Akron during the engagement.

Another departure from the customary summer policy will be seven evening performances a week, with matinees every Wednesday and Saturday.

Opening play will be 'Big Hearted Herbert.'

Future Plays

'Saluta,' musical, by Will Morrissey, music by Frank D'Armand. Harry Cort and Charles Abramson will produce the show, opening set for June 25. Play in two acts and 15 scenes, calls for 24 principals and a chorus of 36.

'While Parents Sleep,' comedy by Anthony Kimmins, to be produced by William A. Brady. Play will be presented at the Playhouse June 4.

'Limbo' by Jerome Dreyfuss, planned for production by the Théatre Mart Group at the Brooklyn Little Theatre July 1.

'Dear Queen,' authored by Lillian (Mrs. Arthur) H. Kober and Louis Kromenberger, will be produced in the fall by a new managerial team, Norman Stein and Richard La Marr. Play was reported in other hands.

Current Road Shows

(Week Begi ay 28)

'Ah, Wilderness' (Will Rogers), El Capitan, Los Angeles.

'All the King's Horses,' rand, Chicago.

'Big Hearted Herbert,' Chicago.

'Bitter Harvest,' Hollywood Playhouse, Hollywood.

'I Loved You Wednesday,' tudebaker, Chicago.

Katharine Cornell, Hartford, 28-30; Providence, 31-2.

$7,500 FINALE FOR 'HOUR' IN BOSTON

— Boston, May 28.

Only legit house lighted this week is Shubert, opening tonight (Monday) with 'Mikado' in four-week Gilbert-Sullivan revivals by S. M. Chartock.

'The Shining Hour' closed at Plymouth Saturday (26) after profitable two weeks. The Nagel matinee idea, with autographs as angle for fans, and chance to meet the actors after show, was big help. Final week estimated at nice $7,500. Conrad Nagel, Vincent Heming and John Stacy of the company announced as heading for the Coast to appear in a play for Henry Duffy, two weeks, then same trio to Frisco for four weeks.

ROGERS IN L. A. GRABS $12,000

Hollywood, May 28.

Henry Duffy's production of 'Ah, Wilderness,' at El Capitan, had the legit field virtually to itself, and mopped up for biggest take house has had in years. Will Rogers credited for draw, with the house upped to a $2 top for the three weeks' stay.

First week of the opus, with only one matinee, due to Rogers' picture work, garnered around an easy $12,000, with sale heavy for the remaining two weeks.

Only other legit locally was 'Shim Sham Revue,' which folded Monday night at the Music Box after three financially disappointing weeks.

'Bitter Harvest,' which was premiered two weeks ago at the Little Theatre in Beverly Hills, moves into the Hollywood Playhouse tonight (Monday) for a commercial run. Leslie Fenton, playing the lead, is only member of original cast to continue with the piece.

All downtown houses continued shuttered with nothing in sight for several weeks.

K. Cornell Season's Closer, Takes $10,000 At $2.75 Top in N.H.

New Haven, May 28.

Shubert, town's only legit, folded for season Saturday (26) following an up-and-down season. Regular road show policy was supplanted by seven weeks of Wee & Leventhal bookings beginning around Easter. W. & L. policy may be repeated in September.

Finale was Katharine Cornell for three days (24-26) on former policy. At prices of $1.10 and $2.75 for four performances, run got better than $10,000, which was plenty in the black.

Philly Ends Tough Season; Saw 64 Shows, Mostly Rehash; 30 Break-Ins

Philadelphia, May 28.

Philly's down to one legit house, and that one may call it a season any day now. Erlanger folded Saturday (26) with 'Wind and the Rain,' moved there from Broad, failing to click. Very remote possibility that big house on West Market street will get anything more until fall. Shubert houses are through for the 1933-34 season.

That leaves only the Broad, which has 'Big-Hearted Herbert.' Critics were quite enthusiastic and show did satisfactory biz considering that first-half of the week was sweltering, last half rainy and the circus was in town. Decent weather breaks may give comedy a chance to stay beyond two-week period; this week will tell the tale. A gain over last week's $7,000 is confidently expected.

Summary of the '33-'34 season shows that Philly played 64 legits as against 69 the previous year and 123 during the peak season of 1928-29.

The real gravity of the situation, however, is in the character of the 64 offerings. Four were 'specials,' Monte Carlo ballet, Mask and Wig, etc.; 30 try-outs; 11 revivals or return engagements; 18 shows from New York. Of that 18, only nine were original productions. Others were second-casts used in the two cut-rate Wee & Leventhal houses here.

Of the 30 try-outs, only eight won success later on Broadway; e.g., 'Murder at the Vanities,' 'Roberta,' 'Follies,' 'Dodsworth,' 'As Thousands Cheer,' 'No More Ladies,' 'Her Master's Voice' and 'Pursuit of Happiness.'

If not from the standpoint of quantity, certainly from that of quality, 1933-34 marked a new 'low' for Philly.

Estimates for Last Week

'Wind and the Rain' (Erlanger). Moved here after fairly good week at the Broad. Not so forte in big Market street house. $4,000.

'Big-Hearted Herbert' (Broad). May make a little run of it with any kind of weather breaks. $7,000 in first week quite okay under conditions.

Season's End Finds 22 Survivals on B'way; Tourists May Help Hold 'Em

Season of ically ends Saturday (June 2) the summer period starts Monday with 22 attractions on Broadway. Warm weather may cut down the total, but the chances of the survivors seem better than usual because of the scarcity of new shows slated for the early half of the heated period.

Last week started with a heat wave and ended with plenty rain, despite which business held its own for the most part and some grosses improved. There were no premieres last week, and, although there is one opening this week and two next week, fresh production is at low ebb, with June and July listings sketchy. Several musicals are taking form, but none of major proportions will start rehearsing until late next month, which would date their Broadway debuts around late in July or early August.

Showmen are expectant of increased attendance from an influx of visitors, but hardly from the two championship fights. Monday (28) the Ross-McLarnin fight drew plenty of fans, but mostly sectional. June 14 the Baer-Carnera scrap should attract people from greater distances and theatres should get some of that trade. The fleet arrives Thursday (31) and the unusual ballyhoo probably will bring in the out-of-towners.

Of recent entrants, 'Invitation to a Murder' at the Masque looks best. First full week drew close to $5,000 and attendance is steadily improving. 'Come What May' Plymouth got less money and its chances are still doubtful. Only scheduled closing is 'Ah, Wilderness!' Guild, 'Mary of Scotland' moving there from the Alvin Monday. Next week brings 'Caviar' to the Forrest and 'While Parents Sleep' to the Playhouse.

Total listing of shows includes 'Stevedore,' which is doing well outside Times Square but does not count well attended. 'The Drunkard' revival, nor pop opera at the Hip.

Estimates for Last Week

'Ah, Wilderness,' Guild (35th week) (CD-914-$3.30). Final week; Cohan-O'Neill combination one of season's standout attractions; goes on tour in fall; about $7,500 lately but averaged over $14,000 during height of run.

'Are You Decent?', Ambassador (7th week) (C-1,166-$3.30). Doesn't get much coin but some profit; around $3,000, mostly from cut-rates.

'As Thousands Cheer,' Music Box (35th week) (R-1,000-$4.40). Broadway's class revue and list leader; held to $22,000 gait and sure summer stayer.

'Come What May,' Plymouth (3d week). (C-1,036-$2.75). Reviewers accorded Sunday attention to newcomer and business may improve; little coin to date; $5,000 or under.

'Dodsworth,' Shubert (14th week) (CD-1,387-$3.30). Except early last week business held virtual capacity pace; over $21,000 claimed.

'Every Thursday,' Royale (4th week) (C-900-$2.75). Low grosser getting by through small cost of operation; estimated around $2,500.

'Follies,' Winter Garden (22d week) (R-1,483-$4.40). Cast changes lowers the nut further starting this week; about $17,000; under new set-up betters even break.

'Furnished Rooms,' Ritz (1st week) (C-918-$2.75). Presented by Edgar Allen; written by Ragnhilde Bruland; sole premiere this week; opens tonight.

'Invitation to Murder,' Masque (3d week) (D-789-$2.75). Attracting attention and film people angling for rights; first full week about $5,000 and growing; okay at figure.

'Jig Saw,' Barrymore (5th week) (C-1,096-$3.30). Held to good money during subscription period, which ends this week; should stick into July; claimed $10,000.

'Mary of Scotland,' Alvin (27th week) (D-1,387-$3.30). Cast changes after this week with show moving to Guild; business tilted to big coin lately; nine performances; over $21,000 last week.

'Men in White,' Broadhurst (36th week) (D-1,118-$2.75). Date indefinite, which holds picture out until Broadway date is over; rated around $12,000.

New Faces,' Fulton (12th week) (R-900-$3.30). Will enter summer period and may stick through with few musicals around; intimate revue making some money at approximately $8,800.

'No More Ladies,' Morosco (19th week) (C-961-$2.75). Most shows improved slightly last week but attendance eased off here; about $8,500, okay for comedy, however.

'Roberta,' New Amsterdam (28th week) (M-1,717-$3.30). Should pick up starting this week when the fleet comes in; musical slipped under $14,000 last week.

'Sailor Beware,' Lyceum (35th week) (C-923-$3.30). Also looks to improvement from sailors in particular; grosses around $6,000 probably better even break.

'She Loves Me Not,' 46th St. (32d week) (C-1,413-$3.30). Run well into summer expected; takings around $12,600 turn some profit for former high grosser.

'The Milky Way,' Cort (4th week) (C-1,057-$2.75). Lower floor trade but balcony bare; may insert feminine name in cast; around $5,000 and much less than indicated; but makes some money.

'Tobacco Road,' 48th St. (26th week) (D-969-$3.30). Going into June and may last throughout summer; business still very good for drama; approximately $9,000.

Other Attractions

'Stevedore,' Civic Rep theatre; good thing on 14th street.

'The Only Girl,' 44th Street; revival held over.

'The Drunkard,' American Music Hall—an old church; big with beer.

Grand Opera, Hippodrome; pop opera.

Lynn Riggs' Stager

Hollywood, May 28.

Lynn Riggs, currently on Metro's writing staff, leaves the studio June 13 to go to Chicago to direct the production of his play, 'More Sky,' to be presented by students and graduates of Northwestern University.

Writer then goes to Santa Fe, N. M., to finish two plays and will return here around Christmas.

An acknowledgment to Max Gordon for his consideration and courtesy and Ben Boyer for 28 pleasant weeks in 'Roberta'

LYDA ROBERTI

Leaving for California to start picture work for Paramount July 15

Slump in London, but 'Escape Me,' $11,500; 'Sporting Love,' $10,500

London, May 20.

Despite lull in West-End legit grosses, attributed to summery conditions, daylight saving, military tournament and opera season, managers are in a very optimistic mood, with several new plays lined up.

Position actually is that only 29 houses out of 44 are open, with nine shows in the cut-rate. Belief among managers is the slump is only a flash, and as soon as people get accustomed to warm weather they will return to the theatre habit.

(Estimates, rated at $5 to the £)

Adelphi—'She Loves Me Not.' The surprise flop of the season. Opened to good press, but provisional notice was up after four days. It closed May 19. Wisecracks predicted it would run for a year. Some maintain show is too American, and is receiving adverse word-of-mouth comments. First week around $8,000, which is about $2,500 in the red.

Aldwych—'Indoor Fireworks.' Doing fairly at around $6,000, which is some profit.

Ambassadors—'Country Wife.' One of those revivals which finds appeal. Cheap rental and small overhead helping considerably. At times management even turning money away, and thinking of getting bigger capacity house. Doing $5,500, which is causing satisfaction all round.

Apollo—'Escape Me Never.' Back after nearly four weeks' lay-off, due to indisposition of Elizabeth Bergner, and again doing capacity, with not the slightest sign of waning. Looks like going on forever, so long as Bergner maintains her health. Doing $11,500, which covers plenty of standees.

Coliseum—'Golden Toy.' Puzzle for most show people, who cannot understand why Sir Oswald still persists, as show is definitely not paying. Overhead understood to be near $15,000, and has not taken that in weeks. Probability is Stoll cannot get anything to replace, and compelled to keep theatre open.

Criterion—'Sixteen.' Comparatively a newcomer, which is not likely for long stay. Understood Godfrey Tearle, the star in show, shortly going into Globe in new play. Doing around $500 per performance, low, even for this small capacity house.

Drury Lane—'Three Sisters.' Plenty of reports floating around about this show, with none favorable. Show never got going and company was asked to take cut, but refused. Theatre management cabled Hammerstein & Kern it intends to close 'Three Sisters,' as it is losing heavily, with cast not prepared to take cut. H. & K. replied they are prepared to forego royalties if management will stay open. Arrangement now with cast to take 25% cut in salaries, show staying open indefinitely. Show grossing $12,500, which was about $4,000 on wrong side of ledger.

Duchess—'Laburnum Grove.' One of the longest runs in the West End and still making money, with small overhead and inexpensive cast. Doing $3,500.

Duke of York's—'Without Witness.' Came from Embassy theatre Swiss Cottage, a tryout house, with Ronald Adams presenting in conjunction with Violet Melnotte, owner of York's. Adams has now withdrawn, with Melnotte soloing. Not doing much, and just lingering to make room for 'Happy Week-End,' from the German. About $3,000, and being helped by cut-rate.

Gaiety—'Sporting Love.' Holding its own at $10,500, which actually shows $3,000 profit per week. Likely to stay for quite a while.

Garrick—'The Geisha.' Old-time musical revival finding patronage, doing much better than when operating vaudeville. About $6,000, and with cast on peanuts, profit is considerable. Show is part of revival series, due for a month, but staying extra week, with 'Quaker Girl' following.

Globe—'Tographs.' First production by new combo of Coward-Fontanne-Lunt-Wilson and not a success. Show under knife, doing near $4,500, and with overhead around $6,000 is plenty in red. Talk of staging 'The Royal Family,' with Ina Claire in lead.

Hippodrome—'Mr. Whittington.' Jack Waller and Jack Buchanan show has enjoyed a healthy run, but is now on the decline. Still grossing near $18,000, and is one of the few shows in with libraries, who have another five weeks' commitment to extent of $7,500 per. As is, yielding good profit and may survive summer. Cheap seats being helped by cut rates.

His Majesty's—'Conversation Piece.' Suffered drop when Coward was replaced by Pierre Fresnay, with last weeks of Coward grossing exceptionally. Still doing healthily around $19,000, which is plenty profit for all concerned.

Lyric—'Reunion in Vienna.' Pulled some fine grosses for quite a while, now on slight decline, with Fontanne-Lunt vacating early in June, but not through business, as show is far from in red. Doing $7,500. Stars leaving to return early spring in a new show.

New—'Laughing Woman.' Cheap show and small overhead and cut-rate support likely to help it linger. Around $4,000, which is no loss.

Palace—'Why Not Tonight?' Fair at $1,500 per night, with $2,500 Saturdays, making, with matinees, near $11,500, which is $1,500 profit per week.

Phoenix—'Ten Minute Alibi,' transferred from Haymarket, and in its 450th performance. Operating at cut-rate, and profitable at around $5,000.

Piccadilly—'Counsellor at Law.' Another cut-rate affair, and helping. Doing $3,500, about $500 to the good.

Playhouse—'Libel.' Doing nicely, and not burdened with big overhead. Very healthy at $5,000.

Queen's—'Old Folks at Home.' Dropped considerably after being in the money for a while. Still doing $5,500, keeping it out of danger.

St. James's—'Christopher Bean.' Comparatively an old-timer, and still in the money at around $6,000, as overhead is $5,000. Looks like beating the summer.

St. Martin's—'The Wind and the Rain.' One of those surprise hits, which continues unabated. Still in the money at $5,500, with little sign of declining.

Saville—'Good Morning Bill.' Transferred from Daly's and still doing profitably. Cast on co-operative basis, with highest salary $125 per week and percentage. Cut-rate helping it, and doing around $4,000, which looks like staying for a while.

Whitehall—'Afterwards.' Has made money. Just terminated run here and ending Walter Hackett's connection with this house after three years. Hackett will now write and produce plays in conjunction with the Associated Theatre Properties, with first vehicle likely to be staged at Shaftesbury or Lyric.

Daunou, Paris, Fired

Paris, May 20.

Twenty players are out of work because somebody at the Daunou theatre left a lighted portable lamp too close to a curtain and started a fire. Stage was destroyed. One fireman was injured by a falling beam.

Piece, 'Adrienne's Reign,' was withdrawn, and it's not likely that after repairs are made it will be taken up again.

DANTE WINS SUIT

Sydney, May 2.

Dante, the magician, was awarded $4,740 damages against a non-professional for an alleged street assault.

Dante claimed that his jaw was broken following on a street battle, and he was forced to cancel a tour of the Far East. Defendant replied that Dante had insulted him, but jury awarded the magician the damages.

UNDERSTUDY'S BREAK

Two Divas Ill Before Jacqueline Claude Gets Chance

Paris, May 20.

Fanny Heldy, billed to sing Tosca at the Opera Comique the other night, became suddenly ill, and was replaced by Germaine Pape of the Lyons opera.

After the first act it was announced from the stage that Miss Pape was tired from her rush trip from Lyons, and would the audience please excuse any feebleness in her work.

Half way through the second act, just before the big aria, Miss Pape collapsed, and was quickly replaced by Jacqueline Claude, who got away with it nicely and won some nice notices.

Mary Garden got her start at the Comique years ago by substituting for a diva who was suddenly ill.

PALACE, MANCHESTER, DROPS LEGIT SHOWS

London, May 20.

Palace theatre, Manchester, an indie house which has been playing big productions, and famous as the tryout spot for Charles Cochran's pre West-End shows, has folded its legit policy, which dates from 1924. Lack of good attractions is reason.

Vaudeville is new policy, with opening program, May 21, including four American acts. These are 'orsythe, Seamon and Farrell; Tracy and Hay, Bobby May and Wright and Marion. Theatre is booked by George Black in conjunction with General Theatres.

Short Run

One of the shortest runs in the history of British show business was the production of Lennox Robinson's 'All's Over, Then?'. It was produced at the Comedy, May 11, and closed on the 12th.

Decision was made immediately after the opening performance.

According to John Southern's own statement, he had to borrow money to pay the performers for his last week's tenancy of the Victoria Palace.

When the Variety Artists' Federation asked what he proposed to do with regard to the booking of 26 acts for future dates at the Victoria, he said he would treat the cancellations as postponements and that the performers will have pref-

(Continued on page 50)

Graveure's Operetta

Berlin, May 19.

Louis Graveure, who is very popular as a concert singer in Berlin, will appear as an operetta singer in May in the star role of the newest novelty in comic opera, 'The Duke of Westminster,' which is a musical comedy by Hans Pero.

His partners will be Erika Theilmann, Gretl Theimer and Maria Belling.

Actors' Strikes Vs. Authors

Mexican Thespians Want Salary Slash, but Writers, Stagehands Say No

Mexico City, May 25.

city's last remaining stage show houses, are in peril of being closed for an indefinite period by a unique strike Mexican Actors' Union has called. Strike threat is sole tangible result of Union's convention, which lasted a fortnight and then went floppo. Collapse resulted from organized dramatists and stage crews withdrawing because they don't like actors' proposition that they join thespians in making monetary sacrifices to keep the theatre alive.

Actors voluntarily offered to accept slashed pay scales from managers. Authors and stage hands couldn't see it, and that started trouble. Scribes agreed to a 50% cut in their royalty of 10%, but wouldn't take deeper hacks, while stage crews completely rejected proposals to back down. Unionized prompters—no Mexican stage performance can be conducted without a prompter—backed up the authors and stage crews.

So, instead of this strike against the managers or others who pay salaries, its a sort of spite blockade of union against union. Federal board of conciliation and arbitration is seeking to smooth out the tangle and save the Mexican capital from being theatreless.

THRING LEGITS GIVE W-T PLENTY OPPOSISH

Sydney, May 2.

W. Thring is hitting the high spots in Melbourne with his legit ventures. Thring has just concluded a remarkable season with 'Collitt's Inn' and has another winner in 'The Beloved Vagabond.' 'Children in Uniform' is also being given a revival by this manager and looks like clicking solidly.

Thring is giving Williamson-Tait plenty of opposition in Melbourne, and is waiting the opportunity to break into Sydney.

Actress' Suicide Attempt Reveals Much Pic-Legit Doubling in France

Paris, May 20.

due to appearing nightly in a boulevard operetta and making films at the same time, is given as reason for attempted suicide of Edith Mera, co-star of 'Hortensia Sisters' at the Nouveautes. She was found Sunday morning (13) in her gas-filled kitchen.

Like dozens of French players, Miss Mera has been doing legit and film work simultaneously for several years, and she blames this for a mental breakdown which led her to take an overdose of sleeping potion and turn on the gas after Saturday night's show.

This is calling press attention to the extraordinary amount of work which present conditions are forcing the French to do. Players who have enough name and personality to get continuous two-way engagements think nothing of turning out three or four films a year and appearing in as many legit plays at the same time.

This is physically possible in most cases because the studios are all around Paris and it is easy to come in after a day under the sunlights and make up for a performance. In the case of Pierre Blancher, however, and others who work in the French versions of UFA pictures, even this isn't true—they have to go to Germany to make their films. Branchar is in several current releases and is starring in 'Liberte Provisoire' ('Provisional Freedom'), legit success at the Saint Georges.

One of the wonders of the business is Harry Baur, one of the biggest film draws in France, whose pictures are continually coming out and who is also constantly on the boulevards. Right now he is in the Verneuil hit, 'The Husband I Wanted,' at the Mathurins and his name is on three or four film house marquees, including the Paramount, where he is starred in a local-made called 'Rothchild.' He is now making 'A Man of Gold' for Pathe at Joinville.

Marie Bell and Madeleine Renaud, both of the Comedie Francaise and in constant demand, are other examples, although their tasks are easier, for the Francaise plays repertory and each players has a lot of nights off.

Finding substitute for Edith Mera pending her convalescence was a tough job, for she plays a twin sister of Olga Valery in the operette, and one reason she got the part was because she could make up to look like a twin. Andree Doris, however, was found a close enough resemblance to do. Miss Mera played in 'Three Musketeers' (Pathe), which has been shown in U. S.

French A. L. Confirms Besnard Resignation

Paris, May 20.

General meeting of French Authors' League (Societe des Auteurs et Compositeurs Dramatiques) at general assembly Tuesday (15) confirmed the resignation of Guillaume Besnard as agent. Besnard had handled sales of the rights of some of the leading modern French playwrights. His departure, a couple of months ago, gave rise to a lot of rumors.

Statement of the meeting says that action should not be construed against Besnard's character or ability, but that there had been many objections to his appointment from the beginning because his father had been an author, and in letting him go the League was merely returning to the letter of its statutes.

Henry Kistemaekers was re-elected president of the League, Denys Amiel, Miguel Zamacois, Jean Jacques Bernard, Henri Goubler and Louis Lemarchand were elected directors.

REINHARDT'S GERMAN CHAIN REORGANIZED

Berlin, May 19.

Fate of the former Max Reinhardt Theatres has now taken a new turn. Berlin concern, which comprised five theatres, broke up when he resigned at the beginning of 1933.

Two little theatres on Kurfurstendamm in the west of Berlin, with a capacity of 400-500 persons each, which were dedicated by Reinhardt to fine society plays, have separated and are run by different companies, giving small amusing plays with more or less good luck.

Largest house of the concern, 'Grosses Schauspielhaus,' holding about 4,000 people, in which Charell and Reinhardt used to show reviews or operettas, has been closed for the past year and is now again prosperous by the organization 'Kraft durch Freude' ('Joy Gives Strength'), which fills the house daily with members of the German laborers' front, taking only 29c entrance fee.

Walter Brugemann was appointed the new director of this theatre for the coming season. He comes from southern Germany.

One of the two Reinhardt theatres in the city, the Kammerspiele, has also closed for almost two years. Reinhardt's main theatre, the Deutsches Theatre, apart from several intervals of a few months each, has been directed by Carl Achaz-Duisberg. He is the son of a millionaire director of the largest German chemical concern. However, he had more artistic than financial results.

This autumn Heinz Hilpert, who has heretofore been director at the Volksbuhne and who is at present the best and one of the most successful directors in the German theatre world, will take over the little theatre. He will open the season in September with Shakespeare's 'As You Like It.'

REX STORY'S 3D REPEAT WITH REVUE IN INDIA

Calcutta, May 1.

Rex Story, comedy juggler, and Rose Lee have just left after two week at the Madan theatre, supported by nine 'Eye Dears' and a male vocalist-dancer. The two put on a two-hour 'Nine o'Clock Revue.'

This is the third annual return to Calcutta. After a tour of the provinces the show goes to East Africa.

Moscow Likes Heifetz

Moscow, May 2.

Jasha Heifetz recitals in Moscow created a sensation unprecedented in the current musical season.

Large hall of the Moscow Conservatory was filled to capacity at every one of the six recitals given by Heifetz and his appearance before a Moscow audience aroused great excitement.

BASSERMAN RETIRES BECAUSE WIFE BARRED

Berlin, May 9.

Albert Bassermann, greatest German actor, who today is well over 60 years old, has left the stage to live in his home in Arosa, Switzerland. He resigned from the German Actors' Organization, of which he was an honorary member.

Reason for his resignation is to be found—as he himself stated in an open press letter—in the fact that his wife, to whom he has long been attached, was refused a part in a Leipzig company with her husband, because she is not Aryan.

Basserman is so embittered that he has taken his adieu from German stages forever.

Fischer, Charles Enroute

Paris, May 20.

Clifford Fischer of the local Morris office and Jacques Charles, Paramount stage show director, are sailing on the Champlain Wednesday (23) with their French troupe of 60 to play Pabst Blue Ribbon Pavilion at the Chicago Expo.

Despite an attempt to reach Washington authorities to have the troupe barred, everything is jake, and passports are all visaed and tickets bought. Final rehearsals are now in progress and finishing touches are being given to the costumes, which are reported to be th Frenchiest in years.

Troupe will go str. to Chicago.

Bookbinders' Code Battle

Danger of a rise in retail book prices, which publishers averted when they successfully ducked certain conditions of the Graphic Arts Code, again threatens. Bookbinders' Trade Association is seeking an injunction against the execution of conditions of the code affecting them. If they succeed in raising prices, it's almost certain that others concerned in book manufacture will follow suit.

Bookbinders' Trade Association, through its spokesman, Alexander Schwartz, lays the blame for the adverse condition of the code to O. H. Cheney, the code's deputy administrator. Cheney is the individual who drew up the famous survey of the book biz some years ago at the behest of the publishers themselves. He is charged by the Bookbinders' Trade Association with 'dictatorially' placing the Book Manufacturers Institute before the other in negotiations. The Book Manufacturers Institute is referred to by the Bookbinders as a 'mushroom organization.'

Bookbinders claim that the code as now drawn up oppresses and will eliminate small enterprises unless it is quickly altered.

Inter, Authors' Meet

International Confederation of uthors' Leagues will hold its ninth convention June 11 to 16 in Warsaw, as guests of the two Polish societies, Zwiazek Autorow Dramaticznych Polskich and Zwiazek Autorow I Compozytorow Scenicznich.

It will discuss the proposed revision of the Berne copyright convention, scheduled for Brussels next year; the possible reconciliation of the Havana and Berne conventions; the question of royalties in Soviet Russia; the ratification of the Berne convention by the United States; new royalty legislation in Argentina, Czechoslovakia and Japan; the problem of public domain; the relationship of authors' leagues with the film, phonograph record and radio businesses; the tieup between the Federation of Authors' Leagues and the various professional literary societies; organization of special leagues to control royalties in mechanical reproduction of music and the problems which may be expected to arise out of television.

Charles Mere, Frenchman, will be in the chair.

Fagan's Drama Coverage

Myron C. Fagan, playwright-producer, has a new idea, an international drama news service for newspapers. With Fagan still on the Coast, his representatives here have established headquarters for the new enterprise, to be known as the Associated Newspapers Drama News Service.

Similar idea was once tried by Sanford Greenburger, now a literary agent. Greenburger had correspondents in the theatre capitals of the world serving number of newspapers here.

Book Club's Peace

Book-of-the-Month Club, which used to be about as much anathema to booksellers as the Macy cut-price book counter, has smoothed things over with the retailers, offering bookshop operators an agency plan and getting takers.

To make certain, Book-of-the-Month Club went direct to the American Booksellers' Assn. for approval of its project. Association gave its sanction.

Agency plan is nothing more than an arrangement whereby bookshops take subscriptions for the Club on commission basis.

Scotland Yard Lowdown

ir Basil Thompson, former assistant commissioner of Scotland Yard, is working on a complete history of the British criminal hunting service.

He's now in St. Jean de Luz on the French Riviera working on the manuscript, and expects to bring it to New York in the fall for Doubleday-Doran publication.

New College Monthly

Still another new mag being aimed for the college trade, but not designed to replace College Humor. This one is to be known as Formal, and will be out in the fall. Publication will be monthly.

Charles Van Cott named editor.

Dennison to Chi News

B. W. Dennison, formerly with the Chicago Herald-and-Examiner in charge of amusements advertising, now with the Chi Daily News.

He is handling World's Fair advertising for the afternoon rag.

London Scoop

Charlie Forsythe (Forsythe, Scamon and Farrell) pulled a coup which is the envy of the London newspaper world here.

Going sightseeing in the Caledonian Market, a London spot often visited by foreigners, he was tipped off that the Princess Royal (Princess Mary) was one of the crowd at a junk stall. Forsythe grabbed his camera and took several films of Her Highness. Several news hounds made their appearance but the Princess had departed.

Forsythe was surrounded by the boys, who begged him to release the picture. Eventually he agreed to hand it over to the News-Chronicle, which printed the picture, giving Charlie credit for it.

Skolsky in Chi Trib

Sid Skolsky was all set to return to the Coast last Saturday (26) but ran into some of the boys, and what with one thing and another—well, he got away Sunday.

Skolsky is retracking 'cross country to round out his six months' Hollywood assignment for the N. Y. Daily News and may be ordered to stay there indefinitely.

His column starts in the Chicago Tribune in about a fortnight. This will mark Skolsky's debut in that paper, and it is also the first time the Trib has accepted any matter from a News writer despite the ownership alliance of the two papers.

Woollcott's Tour

Alexander Woollcott plans an eight months' trip around the country this fall. Idea is a series of locality stories which will first appear in the New Yorker magazine.

Former critic's radio appearances will probably be continued, hooked in from the various stopping points. Mike deal, however, is incomplete because of author's reticence in regard to sponsored programs.

Itinerary calls for a month's visit in as many states, Woollcott headquartering in the key cities, and making side trips into adjacent territory.

Dial Press Continues

Dial Press, which experienced financial difficulties following the withdrawal of its former head, Lincoln MacVeagh, who was appointed U. S. Ambassador to Greece, has had a reorganization and will continue. Principal stockholders, headed by Max Salop, have seen to it that the book-publishing concern enters upon a new lease of life.

Not definite as yet whether Salop will direct the rejuvenated organization, or whether an active book man will take charge.

Social Tintypes

A column to run three times weekly has been set with the New York Post along the lines of Skolsky's Tintypes, except that Virginia Stover, writer, will do society people only. It's under the title of 'Lights on Socialites.'

First to run in Post Friday (25) was on Mrs. Robert Bacon, wife of former ambassador to France.

Orleans' Bound Editorials

Edward Orleans, New York Mirror's by-lined editorial writer, had to go all the way to Canada to get a publisher for a volume of his collected newspaper editorial pieces, which he has given the title of 'Interludes.' Publisher is the Hunter-Ross Co., Toronto.

Edward Orleans is really Howard D. Wheeler.

Rob Eden's 22nd

'Murder Upstairs,' detective thriller by Adam Bliss, published by Macrae-Smith, is the 22nd book by Eve and Robert Burkhardt, who also write under the name of 'Rob Eden.'

Burkhardt is a member of the Fox studio publicity department on the Coast.

Honor George Beale

George Beale, L. A. manager of the U. P., was credited with writing the best news story of a disaster in 'News Stories of 1933,' edited by a group of journalism profs.

Beale's yarn was on the So. California quake.

Another Posie Mag

A mag for garden owners, both city and country, is planned by the Forbes Publishing Company, a new organization. Will be called simply Garden.

First issue will appear about the middle of June, with publication monthly thereafter.

Best Sellers

Best Sellers for the week ending May 26, as reported by the American News Co., Inc.

ion

'Lamb in His Bosom' ($2.50)	y Caroline Miller
'Seven Men Came Back' ($2.50)	Warwick Deeping
'Anthony Adverse' ($3.00)	By Hervey Allen
'Private Worlds' ($2.50)	By Phyllis Bottome
'Five Silver Daughters' ($2.50)	By Louis Golding
'Seven Gothic Tales' ($2.50)	By Isak inesen
'100,000,000 Guinea Pigs' ($2.00)	and F. J. Schlink
'Life Begins at Forty' ($1.50)	Walter B. Pitkin
'Men in White' ($2.00)	By Sidney Kingsley
'While Rome Burns' ($2.75)	By Alexander Woollcott
'Robber Barons' ($3.00)	By Matthew Josephson
'Nijinsky' ($3.75)	By Romola Nijinsky
'Merchants of Death' ($2.50)	rank Hanigh

By Helmuth Enger

On Advertising

James Rorty in his book, 'Our Master's Voice—Advertising,' is pretty much like a boy caught playing truant who apologizes by pointing his finger at an older boy who 'forced him into it.' He was an advertising man for years, now he's ashamed of having been one, he's ashamed of the business and he wants to tell everybody how terrible advertising is.

Rorty devotes several chapters to amusements. He takes the Hays office apart in one place and pulls the springs out of the radio business in another.

Mr. Rorty knows a good deal about his subject. He worked for Batten, Barton, Durstine and Osborne for a long time and learned a good deal there, having known a good deal previously. He writes cleverly and has a facile wit and pen. But he needs an editor and a checker badly.

Rorty's book is published by John Day Co. It has excited considerable comment in radio advertising circles. Rorty takes the radical position that advertising is simply lubrication for keeping an archaic economic machinery in motion.

Dodd, Mead Absorbs Sears

Another established book-publishing house disappears from the scene with the absorption of the Sears Publishing Co. by Dodd, Mead. Latter firm only recently acquired Duffield & Green and also takes over Sears' subsidiary, Holston House.

By the terms of the sale, Dodd, Mead, takes the entire Sears list of authors, including Arthur Somers Roche, George Creel, Lee Thayer, Joseph Cummings Chase and Frederic Arnold Kummer.

Joseph Hamblen Sears, founder of the company, is retiring from the business end of the book business and will probably devote his future efforts to writing.

Seton's Collection

Harold Seton, who has one of the largest collections of theatrical photographs in the country, was recently the recipient of letters from the Naval War College and from the White House. To the former he presented, from his collection, a photograph of Rear Admiral Luce, which will be placed on the wall of Luce Hall in the College.

His gift to the President was a miniature battleship in glass.

Exporting Lesbie Tome

Instead of disposing of the American rights to 'Do They Remember' for republication here, the Mitre Press, London book-publishing concern, figures it can do better by exporting the book to this side. That includes prepayment of customs' charges and duties, which usually make sales of foreign books prohibitive here.

'Do They Remember' is a story about lesbies.

Geo. Lait to London

George Lait sailed Sunday (27) from Montreal for London to take up new duties as editorial head of the London branch of International News Service.

For the past few years Lait was on the reportorial staff of the Los Angeles Examiner.

New Publisher

Abraham A. Sacks has formed the Hudson Bay Press.

Sacks plans are in the formulative stage as yet, but will probably consist of books on various subjects, fiction excluded.

Tennis News

A new monthly mag called Racquet, and covering tennis, bows in around June 1.

Publisher is Robert E. Chaffee, who will also edit.

CHATTER

Rosamund Lehmann's sister, Beatrix, has turned novelist.

Joseph Hergesheimer back from London, where he watched the filming of one of his tales.

After all these years, Fannie Hurst has just learned to drive a car.

Anne Parrish going to Sweden in July. May look in on England later in the summer.

Eleanor haler set a precedent by cocktailing her publisher, instead of the other way around.

Herbert Agar, who won the Pulitzer Prize for history tome, gets back from England early next month with the script for a new book.

Pearl Buck in China, in the midst of a

Dashiell Hammett's 'The Thin Man' banned in Canada. No like the sexy references.

rooks Atkinson, Times dramatic critic, doing an account of his voyage around the world in a freighter, with Doubleday, Doran to publish.

Claudia Cranston gets back from the South Seas in a week or so.

Daphne du Maurier will do a blog of her father, the late Sir Gerald du Maurier.

George Cronyn has given up his job as business manager for Story mag to devote himself to scribbling.

Gilbert Seldes' collection of the last of the Ring Lardner pieces, 'First and Last Ring Lardner,' to be published by Scribner's next month.

Donald Scott elected to the board of Appleton-Century, succeeding the late George H. Hazen.

Max Miller's new book will be 'The Second House from the Corner.'

Ishbel Ross, former newspaper girl, has just finished her third novel.

Dutton, totally unprepared for those rave notices on Tatiana Tchernavin's 'Escape from the Soviets,' had only 500 copies on hand.

John Vandercook returning home from Fiji with a new novel, 'Murder in Fiji.' When he got back from Trinidad last year it was with 'Murder in Trinidad.'

That dinner to Thomas Mann scheduled for June 6 at the Plaza will have more notables present than ever greeted a foreign scribbler in this country.

Arthur Williams Row, who used to be Sarah Bernhardt's press agent, is doing a blog of the famous French actress.

Sidney Franklin, the bullfighter from Brooklyn, has turned author with the translation of a Spanish book on bullfighting.

Norman White, literary agent, turns out as much literature as some of his clients.

Henry Olmstead off for Italy, a month earlier than usual.

Sinclair Lewis, his wife and son Michael have arrived at their summer estate, Twin Farms, Barnard, Vt.

Scott O'Dell won a scholarship of the Breadloaf Writers' Conference, of Middlebury College, and is coming to New York. His first novel, 'Woman of Spain,' was published by Houghton, Mifflin a few months ago.

'Soldiers, What Next?' by Katherine Mayo, in an English edition by Cassell's.

Frances Frost back after a winter on the island of St. Lucia.

Joseph Hergesheimer in from a European visit.

Blanche W. Knopf back after a two-month trip through Europe.

British publication arranged for James Warburg's 'The Money Muddle.'

Monica McCall, of International Literary Bureau, has sold McMillan the American rights of 'Life of Beethoven,' by Edouard Herriot, French minister.

Feuchtwanger's novel, 'The Oppermanns,' despite the fact it's barred in Germany, has sold 20,000 copies in that language. Published out of Holland.

Raoul Fleischmann, publisher of the New Yorker, to Europe.

Charles Houssaye, vice-president of Havas, back to Paris after o.o.'ing New York.

Arthur Train off to Italy.

Mary Van Kleeck, director of the Industrial Relations studies at the Russell Sage Foundation, will write a book, 'Creative America,' for Covici-Friede publication in 1935.

Book Reviews

Artistic Flop

There are few writers in American fiction today who merit unconditionally the adjective 'distinguished.' To Evelyn Scott, however, goes that description without reservations for her newest novel, 'Breathe Upon These Living' (Smith & Hass, $2.50).

Miss Scott's story is not pleasant one and her writing is a bit too fine for average consumption. It's a quiet, simple story of quiet, simple people in a corner of England.

There will be those who won't get anything out of it, but for those who can appreciate its beauty of style and writing it is very worth while.

Two Plays

Dawn Powell, who's written several pretty good novels, has turned her hand to drama with 'Jig Saw' (Farrar & Rinehart; $2). As produced by the Theatre Guild, it's pretty good. As reading-lamp theatre it's even better. Miss Powell has her way with slang and snappy dialog. It's more than amusing, having a base of sheer realism despite it's alleged sophistication.

'Stevedore,' on the other hand, makes better watching than reading. As produced on Fourteenth Street currently it's exciting propaganda drama. Between Covici-Friede covers ($1.50) it's only so-so, although propaganda drama has its definite niche on book shelves. 'Stevedore' was written by Paul Peters and George Sklar.

'Jig Saw' can make a film, ' dore' can't.

Too Real!

Most bombastic record in French literature in many years is made by Louis-Ferdinand Celine's 'Journey to the End of the Night' (Little, Brown; $2.50). It's now evident why it's publication here in an excellent translation is likely to bring out just as much literary pro and con as it did abroad.

Celine is a small country doctor who writes realistically—so much so that many will be offended. His book is a fascinating combination of horror, violence, beauty and bombast. Some of it is actually so bitter it's revolting. But throughout comes the certitude that here is one volume which won't be lost in the shuffle and will linger for a long, long time.

Gobs on Cuff

(Continued from page 1)

direct with the chaplain of the Navy, but didn't like the idea of handing out a bunch of passes like the other three circuits, giving as reasons that it was against the code and that it wasn't good business.

Paramount will give away a total of 500 passes for the N. Y. Par, while Loew's and RKO each donate 5,000, good for any of their Greater New York theatres excepting the Capitol or Music Hall. Par's lone house in New York at de luxe prices makes its quota of 500 a relative proportion to the 5,000 from Loew and RKO. Warners' allotment on passes as prizes is 10 for each battleship, five for each destroyer and three for each sub.

Par, Loew and RKO will distribute tickets on a daily basis, Par handing out 50 a day, good only that day, the other circuits 500 a day. None will be issued Saturday and Sunday.

While theatre operators realized the Navy, with two months' pay in pockets of the gobs, will be hot for all amusements, they agreed this gesture of welcome and courtesy to the visiting fleet by the way of free ducats was desirable.

Going Places

By Cecelia Ager

Lupe Shows 'Em

Clothes, the worrisome details of grooming, the nuances of the coiffure—they not perplex Lupe Velez, concern her pretty head with that kind of stuffy old time-taking problem. Clothes interest Miss Velez only in the degree that they reveal her figure; furthermore, Miss Velez, an honest young woman, believes there is only to reveal the figure—the straightforward way.

So Miss Velez is at the height of her form in 'Hollywood Party,' for, since it aims at extravagant burlesque, it provides her with the cherished opportunity to wear no more than the law compels, which in this case turns out to be a little confection of sequins and coque feathers most strategically devised in the strip tease school. There is a clinging skirt of sequin cloth, cut out on the sides for better display of active, shapely hips, then a goodly hiatus, and then some coque feathers artfully placed. The ensemble is thus rather a scattered looking affair, its lack of unity abetted by the undisciplined outline of Miss Velez's long bob and the vehemence of her make-up, but certainly it achieves its goal. There is nothing about it to get in Miss Velez's way. Nothing to inhibit her natural comedy.

Polly Moran's in 'Hollywood Party' too, very grande dame with a haughtily marcelled coiffure and a glistening surplice gown, but 'Hollywood Party' does not quite understand Miss Moran's comic gifts, and Miss Moran does not seem to have so darned much confidence in 'Hollywood Party,' either.

June Clyde, from Oklahoma, the madcaps say, sings her song very nicely in a floaty Hollywood frock, Frances Williams sings hers as chief operator of a 'elephone girls' ballet, and the telephone girls themselves, who believe in realism, wear mouthpieces on their chests and earphones on their heads, though elsewhere all is sequins and shimmering spirals of silver cords.

Now It's Told

Funny how sentimental women get about their jewels, especially when they're $200,000 worth of jewels and they've loaned them to their gambler husbands for a stake, and then decide they want them back—only because they're so sentimental about them. Especially when they've left the husband who gave them the jewels, it's sweet, their sentimental attachment to those jewels. Women are so sentimental, the book-reading little things.

That's what gamblers' wives are like in 'Now I'll Tell by Mrs. Arnold Rothstein.' Certainly it ought to be authoritative. Good, noble, loyal, lonely, literature-hungry, they wait patiently—rarely complaining—for their gambler husbands to come home. Curled up with a good book in their bedrooms, wearing their frothiest negligees, very pretty—with tip-tilted noses, miraculously shaped melancholy eyebrows and lovely soft mouths—well, Helen Twelvetrees shows you what Mrs. Rothstein means.

Helen Twelvetrees, surely an enticing morsel—but good, mind you, so good that the Other Woman, played by Alice Faye, is told right out by the husband that she's not fit to mention Miss Twelvetrees' name. All the more touching, then, to hear Miss Twelvetrees confess how sentimental she is about her jewels, that's why she wants them back.

Miss Faye, who meets the disastrous fate coming to Other Women, enters the picture draped with beaded fringe, prefaces her lines with 'n-n-n-s' just like Mae West, coiffs her hair like a blonde Golliwog, and looks promising. She wears black bird of paradise in her little black hat, white fox, lots of it, on her slinky black coat. That's to show how flamboyant her taste is, how expensive but cheap, as compared to Miss Twelvetrees' modest costuming, all very lady-like, and pretty dull, too. And yet Miss Twelvetrees, for all the virtues the story gives her, is pretty much of a puppet. She has, perhaps, too many virtues to be real.

A New Menace

Mona Barrie is a very naughty girl in 'All Men Are Enemies.' She tells Helen Twelvetrees—yes, Miss Twelvetrees is unhappy in two pictures this week—that her lover is now married to Miss Barrie, when he really wasn't at all. Miss Barrie is naughty in other ways, too; she's unfaithful and bad-tempered and mean, so villainous, in fact, that the 86th Street theatre audience felt it really ought to hiss her, and it did.

Which means that the screen has acquired a new femme menace, which is very nice. The screen needs a new one, but more important, a different kind of one. Miss Barrie's that. She has a good figure for clothes and a way with them—as her flowered chiffon frock with the long sleeves and softly draped bertha neckline proved—the foundation for lady menaces, since it seems villainesses are always well dressed; but what really distinguishes her is the fact that she looks like a nice person and at first glance nobody would be afraid of her.

Most people would be scared to death of the usual femme menace, what with her exotic make-up, her predatory manner and all. It is only after a while that people realize Miss Barrie is going to turn out to be naughty. Her conventional waved coiffure and plain face give them a false sense of security in the beginning, but when they see how she stiffens when she's crossed, hear the cold tones she can put in her voice, watch the steely, determined look in her eyes, then they know that she is definitely not good at heart. Miss Barrie gives a new twist to the unpleasantness business.

Miss Twelvetrees is supposed to be a Viennese, and looks it with thick braids wound round her head. Her diction, however, sort of shatters the illusion. She's awarded fond photography in 'All Men Are Enemies,' and shows, too, that she rates it. Her eyes are filled with tears that sparkle nicely in the studio lights, but even if she didn't cry she'd have everyone's sympathy.

The Magician's Daughter

The daughters of the magicians, it turns out at the State this week, are just like anybody else's daughters, even if they do know how to bring flowers out of an empty paper cornucopia. They want to sing a torch song.

Jane Thurston, daughter of just Thurston, without any preliminary name, finally gets to sing a torch song, and its plea, 'Hocus, Pocus, Mr. Magician, Won't You Bring My Baby Back to Me? is a mighty sad commentary on the helplessness of magicians' daughters, when there's some really important magic to be done. And the curious part of it all is, Miss Thurston doesn't look like she needs any help.

She's a platinum blonde in the first place, which alone is pretty potent witchery. Her figure, set off by white satin leotards with an upstanding silver cloth deep shawl collar, gives her every right to wear leotards, and besides, she can do a buck dance. She is not at all complacent about her gift for stage magic, performs it all with admirable humility, is even a little shy. It's possible Miss Thurston doesn't really mean the words of her song, but just wants to sing into a mike. It's magic, what those mikes do to a voice.

Thurston presents also five other young ladies, very agreeable about being sawed in half, going into boxes and vanishing, having steel bars run through their stomachs, floating in mid-air, and marching out of boxes that but a moment before everybody could see were empty. They wear interesting costumes, these young ladies, interesting to students of the tinsel, rhinestones, velvet and lace that once composed vaudeville costuming.

For Lilian Harvey

Hollywood, May 28.

Lynn Starling has joined the Fox writing staff to work on the screen play and prepare dialogue for 'Serenade,' first starrer for Lilian Harvey on the Fox 1934-35 program.

Richard Carrol wrote the original. Paul Martin will direct under the production wing of Sol Wurtzel.

Did You Know That—

Alice Hughes pins a single Cymbidium orchid on her costumes, which is good enough for the rest of the fashion writers...Ruth Morris insists that she is the local Benny the Gouge...Beatrice Kaufman is a swell raconteuse, which is a pretty swell word for VARIETY. Lillian Kober is taking the forthcoming production of her two plays more lightly than the problem of what to do with her hair... Leonore Gershwin has some devastating black patent leather sandals tied with big floppy bows...Golly Hayes believes in white pique hats for sunny days ...Bebe Daniels is in town... Mary Boland flew back to Hollywood. Darling new Paramount contract...Gracie Allen and Winnie Pearl liked 'Stevedore' so much, they cried...Aunt Ella Berlinghoff stunning in a black laoquer straw chapeau...Alice Duer Miller, the Giant rooter, prefers to go to the ball parks with people to whom she doesn't have to explain the game...At the S.P.A. benefit for the Dramatists Guild at the Casino de Paree: Ellin Berlin in a black taffeta frock with a pleated scarlet dust ruffle; Dorothy Fields in chartreuse with a cluster of dark flowers on its scarf cape; Dana Suesse in flesh chiffon; Elsa Maxwell in black, having a mighty fine time, as always. Millie Ahlert chic in page beige, and the songwriters in conventional black and white, except Lew Brown, a rugged individualist in a delicate green gabardine spectator sports suit.

LONDON SHOW WORLD

(Continued from page 48)

erence in any future variety season with which he is concerned.

Television Factory

A factory with 60,000 square feet of floor space is being erected in North London for the manufacture of television apparatus.

Miss Stanley's Contract

Sydney Carroll has signed a three years' contract with Pamela Stanley, a young actress of whom much is expected in the near future. It is a similar arrangement to that he had with Victoria Hopper. One of the clauses in Miss Hopper's contract is to the effect she cannot marry during the life of the agreement.

Carroll, however, refused to interfere with her private life, but it is significant his taking on another young actress shortly following Miss Hopper's marriage to Basil Dean.

Slow Mystery

After a tryout at the Fulham theatre, Cyril Campion's mystery drama, 'Ladies-in-Waiting,' was presented at the Westminster. Program describes the piece as a play of suspense.

It is a little bit of everything in the way of mystery playwriting of the past decade or more, from 'The Bat' to '13th Chair' and so on. Very slow in action and won't do.

Another Dud

'No Way Back,' by Graham Hope, produced at the Whitehall May 17, has a plot so conventional only a beginner would have the temerity to utilize it. This is the author's first play. Wealthy titled middle-aged lady has a paid gigolo. Her daughter comes from a convent, starts drinking cocktails, and eventually persuades the gigolo to seduce her. She is about to have a baby, young man wants to marry her, but she rushes out and drowns herself.

As Usual

'The Quitter,' gangster melodrama, tried out at the Embassy some time ago, had a West End debut May 15. It was written by four authors, all of them said to be English. When a quartet of English playwrights tries to write an American gangster play, you can guess the result.

Soph

VARIETY representative noticed the people Sophie Tucker was drawing to Cafe de Paris. It is a surprise relatively few of her old-time friends were present at the premiere. The majority of the audience was made up of young people.

On arrival at Southampton, Soph was greeted by a bunch of ship news reporters, who crowded about her and demanded to be entertained. She is assigned for four more weeks at the Cafe de Paris, with six Sundays at Datchet, wayside inn. After the Palladium she goes to Golders Greeen Hippodrome, New Cross, Streatham, and so on.

Writer Gets a Job

John Percy Mitchhill, lessee of the Duchess theatre, has appointed J. B. Priestley as his director of policy. 'Laburnum Grove,' Priestley's comedy currently at this house, and likely to stay for some months, with next show also to be done by same author. But it does not follow house will devote itself to Priestley's productions. Should another author submit a suitable vehicle, it will be staged.

This marks first occasion that such a position has been allocated to a prominent writer in any West-End theatre.

Among the Women

By The Skirt

Best Dressed Woman of the Week:
MARY ASTOR
(STRAND—Film)

Good Stage Show

A cheerful little eyefull is the stage show at Radio City Music Hall this week. Alice Dawn is seated on a bench in a white gown with shimmering cape for the opening. Rockettes are divided in two groups. Eighteen of the girls are in yellow gowns with blue scarfs. The other 18 are in black tights and black ceri tunics with capes of the same material lined with red. Arena with her partner, Martnez, has this miss in a gold gown lined in red. At the finale of their dance something happened to Miss Arena; she either fainted or turned her ankle, but the incident was cleverly covered up by her partner who literally carried her off the stage. 'Cocktail Hour', a number soloed by Miss Dawn, had a modernistic bar in the background. From out of the depths came a staircase with the girls in silver close fitting costumes with flame color at the back. Half of the girls had blue backings with the high feathered hats matching. The color scheme was really beautiful. A tap number was costumed in tomato red with white frillings at the neck extending around the waist line. Black pumps were worn with white socks.

'Where Sinners Meet', the picture, will never make a stir in the picture world. But for its cast names it would be ridiculed. But you can't pass up Diana Wynyard and Billie Burke. Miss Wynyard is given no opportunity for dressing. Her clothes consist of a tweed cape worn over a plain cloth dress and a simple plaid dress followed. Another frock had a frilly front. Miss Burke wore one plaid chiffon faintly familiar. A two-piece tailored suit carried a fox collar and white organza, also fur trimmed was another costume.

Dressing to Fit

'Upperworld' is the name of the picture at the Strand featuring Warren William, Mary Astor and Ginger Rogers. Miss Astor, as the wife of a wealthy man, dresses accordingly. At a fancy dress party Miss Astor is stunning as The Gainsborough in black velvet with the large plumed hat. A white flannel costume was trimmed with anchors. A hostess gown was of satin trimmed with sable and at a dinner party she was in white satin with a criss-cross band of sequins at the neckline. There was a tailored suit and a tweed steamer coat.

Ginger Rogers is seen in a burlesque show leading a number in a one layer black net costume with large jet spangles. One dress was cunningly made with a double breasted effect over a white net blouse. A checked jumper is worn with a plain skirt and a striped material of white had tiny puffed sleeves.

Palace Lineup

The Palace show this week opens with Don Ruiz and Bonita. This miss is in a mauve chiffon trimmed with pink feathers. Diamonds trimmed the neckline. Black velvet was chosen for a second change. Red played an important part in this costume lining the skirt with a ruff at the neck. Diamond studded was a close fitting union suit for the finale. Two girls did a fan dance in a brilliant studded set of costumes. Blue chiffons with cerise trimmings were made full to allow for the high kicking of these two comely girls. A pianist was in green.

Arren and Broderick had the girl in a blue chiffon dress with ruffling at the hem and neck line. Two comedy makeups consisted of a harem costume of black chiffon and black again was of lace. If she would discard the dirt this girl could be rated as a first-class comedienne. Buster West has a good looking redhead with him. Her first dress was blue of a torquois shade made very plain with but a diamond ornament. A lavender dress was trimmed with violets.

Code Field Day

(Continued from page 7)

have to be submitted at the fall sifting.

Whatever else comes up will be based on the practical experience of zoning and grievances boards. Confusion in some instances of what seems like overbuying with quality product may raise the issue of right to buy, although majors, at least, don't see now what substitute can be offered for the established distribution system.

Code Authority is revealed to have few big worries ahead of it for the summer. If appeals get too heavy the authority, it is declared, can name committees to do the reviewing and sit in judgment as a body only to listen to decisions.

Independents, among the other benefits which they credit the code, see a partial victory in the Authority's Friday decision on zoning. The inside story on this was that some of the majors were trying to get clearance for 1934 to remain on the '33 basis. By the Authority's ruling, however, in territories where there are protests all exhibs are to be granted the right of filing opinions when they are affected. After a thorough threshing out of general territorial opinion the local board is to reach its decision, which is appealable. All decisions must be in by July 1 so as to leave an open road for the sales season. This means that the country will not be completely re-zoned until January 1 but that serious conflictions in various territories will be straightened out in time for the new sales year.

While grievance boards are being likened to old compulsory arbitration in set-up and routine, old exhibitor leaders are satisfied that the difference is a most important one. They are certain, judging from functioning of the boards to date, that the NRA's Government observer on each is the surest guarantee against partiality in the average decision.

Chi Expo

(Continued from page 1)

or having official Fair registers and cashiers on the door.

It looks like the Fair penalized those concessionnaires who had really gone out and hustled to have their places ready for opening day. Several spots spent extra thousands of dollars in working men overtime and in double shifts in order to be ready. But the Fair didn't care about that angle. The lucky concessionnaires are those who stalled and who won't be ready for another week or so.

It wasn't until late evening that the concessions as a whole were given the official right to get going but by that time the opening wallop had passed off.

So it was that the pitchmen working in and out of the grounds were the only ones to make any money. They were the only ones in a position to sell anything and with money in their pockets the public traded the coin in for kazoos, canes and what-not.

Night Club Reviews

(Continued from page 40)

Young, Blair and Page do plenty toward pepping the show. The gal duo of Bernard and Henry, known in Philly for frequent vaud bookings, twist the crowd around heavily to land a show-stop that drew four encores and had them yelling for more. Renoff and Renova, an adagio, and Violet Love, an okay warbler, round out the offering. Talent all gets two spots and show lasts a long 75 minutes.

Mickey Alpert's m.c.ing prevents the show from going sour in spots from too much of one thing or another.

Adelphia's touch of the cosmopolitan is what's still drawing the best business in town. Service is excellent, and Jack Lynch's personal supervision of the room will have them coming in all summer.

Vincent Rizzo's ork crew plays the show and dancing, but are more of a hindrance than a help.

Glen Island Casino, N. Y.

Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra are back for their second season at the Glen Island Casino near Larchmont, N. Y., on the Boston Post road. They first became famous here via the CBS broadcasts. The radio definitely put this unusual dance combo on the map, quickly building for it a young-people dance following which forced the band into N.Y. for the winter at the Essex House (Colonnades) room.

The degree of the Casa Lomaites' popularity was manifested at its opening Thursday night (24) when, in the midst of one of those downpours which monopolized most of last week, the turnout was capacity.

The band is the sole attraction and, from the first vamp-off, how they got for its rhythms! So much so that the dance floor is overflowing always and the house staff has its hands full shooing the kids out of the aisle spaces and back to the edge of the dance floor proper. That dancing-in-the-aisles seems to have become more of a habit of late with the showoff hoofers by the way; some exhibitionistic penchant makes 'em want to mooch off the floor into a minor limelight and demonstrate their prowess on the hoof.

Thursday night the Casa Loma's entire commercial program for Camel was picked up from the dance floor, with none participating, just to keep any disturbing noises off the air.

Glen Island Casino is on Westchester County park property, hence hard likker is taboo. Beer and wines are. Cocktails are sherry, port, Dubonnet and kindred concoctions, although setups for hard booze are served. That has created the now unusual bottle-toting habit anew. With repeal bringing it on the hip went decidedly out of fashion, but under the circumstances they still bring their own.

However, in the main it's a moderate crowd and nice young people. It's not unusual for the Westchester mamas to call up the G. I. Casino and inquire if Mary has arrived, or is still there, etc., with the house attaches knowing many of their young following personally, and likewise their families. Ed Doran still runs it, having a tieup with the Casa Loma combo. Abel.

Frolics, Cleveland

Cleveland, May 28.

Original idea was to make a cabaret-theater like the Casino de Paree out of the Frolics, which is housed in what used to be the old Terminal burlesk house, but too many cooks made most of their first dreams go up in smoke.

In appearance this spot is one of the town's novelties. All chairs were yanked out of theater's auditorium, the floor leveled for a dance floor surrounded by tables facing the stage, and the lobby turned into a long cocktail lounge with a 50-foot bar. Red wall decorations seem a bit too hot, however, for summer season.

After city officials banned shows on stage, Benny Cash's band was placed on it and revue held on dance floor. House invited press and rival nitery managers for pre-view party, but made mistake of slopping up a pick-up show filled with nobodies. Entire bill was yanked out on second night, with Irene Kessler, Al Casino and Foster Sisters pinch-hitting until new talent is brought in from out-of-town.

Although official first night had a $2 couvert charge, Frolics wil follow policy of no minimum or couvert except two-bits tax for entertainment. Spot has half-a-dozen managers, including Rubber Goldberger as night manager; Virgil C. Murphy as day manager; George Young as general manager; Warren Irons, entertainment director, and Ed Flannigan and Nick Pinardo as backers. If half of the managers keep their fingers out of the pie, and the other half willing to spend some dough on talent, place has a good chance of clicking by means of its novel set-up. Pullen.

Penthouse, Cleveland

Cleveland, May 28.

Swankiest nite spot Cleveland has had this season is how the Lake Shore Hotel's new Penthouse Club can be rated. It has half-a-dozen assets that make it a sure-fire draw: Location on fourteen-floor roof, overlooking Lake Erie; dignified Colonial decorations that are a relief to tired eyes; Johnny Quigley from the New York Ambassador behind the bar; an intimate revue, and Joe Candulla's swingy string ensemble.

Admission is by card only, thereby bringing in the smart set and celebrities while keeping out the rough-necks. Fred Joyce had to toss two opening night parties to accomodate dress-suit crowds, with Governor White, of Ohio, as guest of honor.

Candulla, who blew into Cleveland in November virtually unknown, is now the most popular bandmaster in town. Although he slipped in New York in recent years, he is building up a first-rate combination through sheer personality, good showmanship and a different brand of music. Has a six piece outfit, including brother Harry on bass fiddle, but it's Joe's unique, burn-'em-up technique on violin that is making him an idol among debutantes. And to live up to his new success, he's now putting on the ritz by spelling his name Can-Dulla.

Kellar and Fields, team of femme warblers, are the clicks of the small show and sufficient. They have a good repertory of botchs and character tunes, doing both with plenty of flash. Whitler and Ulrich do magic and slight-of-hand, nothing to burn up Rome, but intimate and amusing stuff. Band boys put on a travesty on football players and several other burlesques that are roars.

Drinks average 50-cents, with a lot of novel quenchers mixed up by Quigley, and nationality dinners are smart enough to attract out-of-town crowds. It looks like a gold-mine for the summer season, especially since hotel also has a swanky supper club downstairs for collegiates who have thinner pocketbooks. Pullen.

PEONY PARK

Omaha, May 28.

This spot was for several seasons just a summer resort and swim spot. But this season, after the expenditure of some dough, it has got itself into the night club class and still expenditures are underway.

Tables seating 1,200 persons have been placed around the floor, the largest in this section, and facilities for serving drinks and sandwiches have been put in operation. Where the other clubs have operated daily, taking their mid-week losses along with their weekend gains for an anemic average, this spot will operate only three nights per week until summer weather permits operation of the outdoor attractions. Caters only to coupls, and tax comes in the form of an admission tag with extra charge for the eats and drinks.

Management goes in for a regular, but not frequent, change in bands and floor shows, and keeps the customers coming on the scores of variety and satisfaction.

Attraction billed in for this last show previous to summer opening include the 10-piece band of Russ Henegar, and a floor show of 10 acts given once nightly. Band is a now one in these parts, coming from Carpenter hotel in Sioux Falls.

Floor show features Marshall and Short as a dance team, Alfreda as an acrobatic dancer, and a line in a special Carioca number. Marshall has class and is the goods in his specialties and in an eccentric with his pard. Alfreda rates the extra billing she gets, and these two acts are the cream of the show along with the Carioca routine.

Entertainment is composed entirely of dance acts and leaves the matter of music and vocalizing to the ork, which is not up to par of bands usually playing here.

Mayfair Gardens, Balto.

Baltimore, May 28.

This is Balto's approximation of N. Y.'s vaunted Casino de Paree, is frankly billed so and smartly; the rep of the Manhattan spot having so thoroughly saturated nite clubbers' consciousness in the hinterland. The Mayfair has been patterned as closely after the acknowledged parent as was feasible.

As opposed to other and familiar niteries in this town, it looks to locals as large as a convention hall. During winter it serves as an ice palace, for which purpose it was originally erected, but has been transformed for this venture with enough artistry to hide any arena suggestiveness. Plenty lattice work and prop verdure sprinkled around, and the lighting, entirely streamed from ceiling, is at once uniformly bright and eye-easy. Terraced tables, accommodating 1,500 with comfort, with a generous slab of pine whereon homage may be paid Terpischore. Ork is spotted upon stage built out from wall, flanked by rooms bearing outward vestiges of country cottage. These serve as dressing rooms and entrance chutes for acts.

Palpably, spot's aimed at masses; that's only chance for survival, considering how lightly spot taps purses. Extensive wine, liquor and chowr card, with prices equi-planed with those in force in downtown barrooms. No couvert or minimum just a door nick of 40 cents weeknites and 55 cents on week-end. Tabs are equal with first-run film houses and brings the Mayfair into direct competish with 'em. Cooling apparatus ready, but wasn't required opening nite, though capacity crowd was camped.

Floor show, booked out of N. Y. by Arthur Fisher, rolls thrice nitely. Four acts and weekly change. Size of spot necessarily largely limits it to eight acts.

Cleaner-upper on palm-pounding was Rosemary and Frasier, old faves here, with their Crumit-Sanderson type turn piped into mike from bandstand. The man m.c.'s, confining chore to mere introing.

Rest of show pitched from dance floor. Anita and Emanuel score solidly with pair of terp team routines, a Bolero and a sprightly gavotte. Al Stryker opens show with standard contortive exhibish; O. K. Legal follows with session of panto zany mad-cappery.

There's also a line o' lookers, lead by a classy tapster specialist, Edith Dell'arto. Gals have two stomp struts and close show with a beaut parade, during which curtains whip back from niches in wall above ork's stand and reveal posers as en deshabille as this burg's dads permit.

Bob Iula's 12-manned ork dishes high-grade dansapation and plays the show exceptionally well. Is etherized nitely over WFBR.

Spot is operated by A. J. Mullen, its owner; managed by Jack Menton. Looks a cinch to click.

Hotel Roosevelt, N. Y.

Reggie Childs and his orchestra is back at the Roosevelt, in the Summer Garden. The band is improved, and so has the room.

It's been shifted around a bit, with stereopticon cascades effect, simulating the Hotel Biltmore roof's Cascades Room, as the prime motif.

Band is okay for the young crowd it gets and fits well into the general atmosphere of the room, which is geared at a no-couvert, but $2 dinner and a $1.50 prix fixe supper. Drinks are moderate and better than averagely concocted, especialy for a hotel. Abel.

GRIFTING BASEBALL

Admi ion Is Free, But Girls Pass Hat in Tacoma

Tacoma, May 28.

Twilight baseball, of big time order with crowds each night ranging from 4,000 to 6,000, is making inroads on the night play of the local theatres.

No charge is made at these games, but comely looking girls pass the cigar box and it is not unusual for them to collect as much as $150.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Zeltner, son, in New York, May 23. Father is p.a. for Loew's, in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Garbutt, son, in Los Angeles, May 23. Father is a lab technician at Radio studios on the Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cook, daughter, in Los Angeles, May 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Shy, daughter, Medical Arts hospital, N. Y., May 22. Mother was professionally known as Dorothy Dell.

Havana Steps Into Divorce Market With 30-Day Law Listing 19 Grounds

Havana, May 22.

Reno, Paris, Mexico and all other happiness-returning towns will have a stiff competish now that Havana has decided to cut into their tie-severing racket with its new painless 30-day method.

The new divorce w signed by President Mendieta, which went into effect on the 18th, has been patterned so as to give foreigners all advantages. In fact, foreigners wishing to get rid of their headaches have more privileges than the natives, such as the right to marry again immediately after obtaining the decree. Cubans have to post notice of their intended marriage for 15 days prior.

Nineteen grounds for divorce are offered: mutual dissent; adultery; any act of one of the parties tending to prostitute or corrupt the other, or their sons; insults; beatings; any crime committed and penalized by law; prison terms; drinking; gambling; abandonment; absence from the home fires; non-support; disease; separation for six months; insanity; incompatibility; any vice or lack of morals tending to hurt the honor, credit or fame of any of the parties; drugs, and bigamy.

Only 30 days' residence is required of foreigners wishing to get back into circulation. If the party starting the suit forgets to bring along the marriage license, any notary public will take the oath, which will be as good as the original paper.

Cuban lawyers are re-decorating their offices in anticipation of the 'big boom.'

All Alone

Manpower for 15 to 20 gambling joints is now tramping Broadway, jobless. New city administration, with its avowed purpose of cleaning up the town from every angle, is held to be the cause of the widespread unemployment the ranks of the croupiers, dealers and checkers.

Previous to the entry of the Fusionist ax at least 10 gambling joints were in full swing in New York's midtown district, with probably four times that number of itinerant games on the move from hotel to hotel or in apartments. Nearly all of these have been shuttered in the past six months, either voluntarily or because of raids.

DRINKING IN ORE. OK, BUT CAN'T ADV. IT

Portland, Orre., May 28.

Another freak regulation has come forth from the Ore. Liquor Commission. There have been so many that the retailers have nearly given up in despair. Latest order is 'No More Signs' to lead the guzzlers to a haven of refreshments.

The commission informed law enforcement officers all over the state that the words 'beer, ale and wine' may not legaly be splayed in front of places where these beverages are sold. Only one sign, not larger than six inches high by thirty inches long and projecting no more than eight inches from th. building, is permitted now outside a dispensary.

The name of a beverage may be displayed on the one sign outside a retailer's, but the explanation that it is beer is not allowed. Neon sign companies who have leased many displays, and numerous dispensers who have invested money in electrical signs, are up in arms over the commission's order.

HUNT B'WAY CELEBS

Anybody Around Square with a Rep. Eligible on WMCA

Arline Black and Charles Martin on WMCA, New York, are launching this week a 'Broadway Celebrities' program.

It's very elastic. Anybody from a playwright to a star to a traffic cop on the corner of 46th street can presumably qualify as a Broadway celebrity. And of course, the usual dramatically-inclined members of th. journalistic craft will participate.

NEW STEUBEN'S BASE FOR B-B-B'WAY DRIVE

The 42d St. Country Club, which hasn't convened officially and regularly since the demise of the old Knickerbocker grill, will have a new home in the new Times Sq. Steuben Tavern, just opened. This is a three-story restaurant, costing around $250,000, on Broadway and 42d street.

All of 42d St. is co-operating with the new mammoth eatery as part of a bring-back-Broadway move. Arthur Mayer and Ed Lenihan, of the Rialto, particularly allied themselves with the Steuben Tavern, even turning over their entire publicity staff to see that the new venture gets off right. They figure it'll help business generally on 42d street. Simon Adler and Ben Harriman, latter figuring in show biz as Bobby Newman's financial backer on occasion, head the chain of Steuben Taverns.

John C. Ingelese is managing headwaiter of the new S. T., which features three horseshoe bars.

Bars Bar Femmes

Atlantic City, May 28.

Police are enforcing the ordinance prohibiting women to be served at bars.

While it may appear to be sex discrimination, bartenders as whole are welcoming the enforcement of the regulation. Helps eliminate fights, they say.

MARRIAGES

Charlotta Smith to Allen K. Waterous, in New York, May 21. Groom is a singer and bride is non-pro.

Arthur Roberts, owner of the Show Boat at New Lebanon, N. Y., to Leona Prindall, in New Lebanon, May 14.

Jane Lemont Buchanan to Robert C. Sinclair, New York, May 22. She's in 'She Loves Me Not.' Groom directed 'Dodsworth.'

Lola Lane to Al Hall, Las Vegas, N. M., May 26. Bride is the picture actress, and groom a director.

Clark Beidin to Irene Johnson, non-pro, in Portland, Ore., April 17. Beidin is emcee at Club Victor, Seattle.

Ivan Novikoff, Russian dance teacher, to Helen B. Juett, ballet dancer, May 20, in Seattle.

Henrietta Schubert to Alfred C. Goddard, in Yuma, Ariz., May 20. Bride is a picture player.

Jane N. Kiethley to Alfred Santell at Yuma, Ariz., May 26. Santell is film director; bride, non-pro.

Theatres, Niteries, Railroads Join Hands for Cutrate Jag in Paris

Paris, May 20.

Cut-rate whoopee is planned in Paris during a couple of Paris Weeks, planned to begin June 17, when all amusement forces here are getting together to make the season finish off with a flourish.

All theatres, legit and film, will reduce prices 15% for a fortnight. Night clubs and restaurants will give a similar cut to holders of coupons issued by the organizers of the celebration. A big free film show will be given in one of the big open squares of the town, to amuse the populace; where, and what night has not yet been set.

Railways will give fare reductions to hicks who want to come to town for the party. Flock of outdoor stunts, such as nautical fete on the Seine, June 17; swimming party at the Molitor outdoor pool on the 18th, women's automobile elegance contest in the Bois le Boulogne on the 22d are also planned.

Town's ears will be split from June 23 to 25, when military bands from all over France and neighboring countries will collaborate in a tooting contest.

June has always been the big Paris season, with emphasis on the outdoor stuff, such as horseracing, but it is usually exclusively for swells with dough. This is the first time any attempt has been made to make it popular, and never before have theatres sought to get the crowd in during the big outdoor season by cutting rates.

News From the Dailies

This department contains rewritten theatrical news items as published during the week in the daily papers of New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Hollywood and London. Variety takes no credit for these news items; each has been rewritten from a daily paper.

East

Park Commissioner Moses will try open air dances on the Mall at Central Park. If successful same feature will be installed in other park's in the city. G. A. Baldini, director of the concert division of the Department of Public Welfare, has three dance orchestras organized.

Vincente Escudero, Spanish dancer, engaged by Arch Selwyn and H. B. Franklin for a fall revue.

People's theatre, Bowery, rechristened the Bowery Gardens for opening of 'The Black Crook.' Nita Nalde in cast.

San Carlo Opera returned to New York Wednesday (23) after 10 weeks on the Coast.

Life magazine filed suit for $25,000 against Eddie Cantor, Standard Brands and NBC in Federal Court Tuesday (22). Suit alleged that in March, 1934, the mag printed a gag in which two dogs conversed and the line 'when a dog bites a man, that's news' was used. Life, through its attorney Henry M. Somers, alleges that after publication of the piece Eddie Cantor 'repeated substantially all the humor in it in a broadcast.' All three defendants held jointly responsible for infringement of copyright.

To permit members of cast of 'Men in White' to take vacations five changes have been made. Hildur Lanmark has replaced Eunice Stoddard, Roman Bohnen has taken over Clifford Odet's part, Alan Baxter subbing for Walter Coy, Herbert Ratner is playing in Mr. Baxter's former part and Elia Kazan is replacing Ratner.

Alderman Joseph E. Kinsley presented resolution for an investigation of taxi dancehalls. Resolution referred to the Committee of Public Welfare for action. N. Y. American has been carrying series of stories on dancehalls.

J. J. Vincent sailed for Europe Wednesday (23). Will negotiate for foreign plays.

Bobby Sanford has added Coyle and Worth, dance team, to his 'Show Boat Revue.'

Melbourne Players have been organized for Ellenville, N. Y. Season starts May 31.

Robin Hood theatre, Arden, Del., opens its fourth season June 27, under direction of Edwin Ross and Robert C. Schnitzer.

New Prospect Players will be housed at the Forman theatre, Mountaindale, N. Y., for the summer.

Ted Husing, radio announcer, appeared in General Sessions Court Tuesday (22) to deny that he was connected with the Harlem Broadcasting Co. Occasion was trial of Frank Gans charged with larceny of $648 from F. M. Webber under alleged representation that he would obtain broadcasting time from the Harlem station.

Marjorie Vonnegut, Vera Murray, formerly of the Dillingham office, and Leroy Bailey have taken a year's lease on a theatre at Dobb's Ferry, N. Y.

Gustav Davidson has sold a play, 'There Comes a Time,' to Gustav Blum.

Allen K. Waterous, singer, married to Charlotte Smith Monday (21) in New York.

Jane Buchanan left 'She Loves Me Not' Saturday (26) to join summer stock. Replaced by Jean McIntyre.

Elmer Rice arrived from Europe Tuesday (22).

Gustav Blum has taken the rights to a new musical by Joe Kopper and Con Conrad. Will try it out this summer with George Givot in cast.

Joseph Boyarsky, a plumber, suing Zimmerman Co., builders of the Hollywood theatre for WB, was surprised in court by a film of himself walking at a brisk pace, made by the defendant when he was supposedly suffering from the effects of an accident during the building of the theatre.

'Stevedore,' Theatre Union's offering playing at the Civic Repertory, is now off the nut on production cost. Profits will be distributed between the cast and a fund for future productions.

Larry Sullivan, guest at a birthday party for Mabel Limouze, singer and pianist, was shot and killed in home of Miss Lamouze in Cliffside Park, N. J.

In refusing Tom Mix a new trial Supreme Court of Pennsylvania ordered him to pay Col. Zack Miller $66,000 because he assertedly failed to fill a $10,000-a-week contract with the 101 Ranch Circus in 1931.

Mark Lachman and Monte Proser, newly formed publicity combine, have become affiliated with Donahue, Coe & Co., New York advertising agency.

Summer season at Akron, O., will open at Colonial theatre starting June 4. Edward Clarke Lilley will direct.

Westchester Grand Jury did not return an indictment of manslaughter against Milton J. Klein, manager of the Plaza theatre, White Plains, in connection with a fire at his theatre in which a child was burned to death. Klein had been held for the Grand Jury. Charges dismissed Wednesday (23).

Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, with the 'Follies,' left the cast last Friday (25).

U. S. Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter on complaint of Arthur Hoffman, copyright manager of Leo Feist, Inc., has issued warrants for the arrest of several unnamed persons for alleged infringement of copyright in reprinting on cheap song sheets the lyrics of popular songs and vending these sheets on streets.

Operators of Central Park Casino ordered to vacate by June 15. Park Commissioner Moses delivered an ultimatum several weeks ago demanding that prices be reduced at the Casino. Charles Tuttle, attorney for operators, declared that they intend ignoring orders.

Arthur H. Kudner (Erwin Wasey & Co.) elected chairman of executive board of the American Association of Advertising Agencies at Washington. He succeeds W. C. D'Arcy of St. Louis.

D. H. Lawrence, British poet and novelist who died four years ago left three plays in rough draft, it was announced from London Wednesday (23). While rummaging through his old home in Derbyshire, friends found the plays in a bundle of old papers in the attic. They are to be revised and produced. One a light comedy, 'Fight for Barbara'; second a drama called 'Married Man,' and third is entitled 'Daughter-in-Law.'

Felix Ferry, European producer, left for Hollywood Friday (25).

Chamberlain Brown's Players opening at the Earle theatre, Atlantic City, May 28. Irene Rich will star in opening production.

Steeplechase Park, Coney Island, officially opened Saturday (26).

Albert Masseroni, proprietor of the International Restaurant and the Alps Castle, roadhouses in Paterson, N. J., found drowned in a pond on his property.

Peggy Fears, recovered from her appendicities operation, left for Florida.

Because the cast objected and threatened to go on strike, 'Both Your Houses,' at the National, Washington, substituted by 'Jimmie's Women' for May 28. Actors refused to rehearse for roles in play declaring dialog was an affront and a reflection on the integrity of Congress.

Polish Government has barred all pictures produced by Warners, First National and Vitaphone because of a supposed slur on national honor. In two instances the producers gave the family names of men who were Polish heroes in the American Revolution, namely, Kosciuszko given to a gangster role in 'How Many More Nights,' the name of Pulaski to a prize fighter in 'Life of Jimmy Dolan' and 'The Life of Ivar Kreuger' was regarded as reflecting unfavorably on Poland.

Edward Kennedy, wrestler, died in the City Hospital, Atlantic City, from a bullet wound inflicted Thursday (24) during a fight in the Morocco Club. Harry Parzow, owner of the club, arrested on a charge of murder and held without bail.

Mayor LaGuardia appealed to public for contributions to be used for entertaining the 40,000 men and officers of the fleet when they arrive May 31.

W. Gilbert Patten, creator of Frank Merriwell, childhood dime novel hero, in court Thursday (24), obtained an order from Federal Judge Robert P. Patterson calling on Superior Talking Pictures to show cause why they should not be restrained from using the name Frank Merriwell in a series of shorts it has produced. Patten also seeking damages of $250,000 if any of the films have already been released.

Arnold theatre, Wilkinsburg, Pa., will house the summer season plays of the Pittsburgh Civic Playhouse group. M. E. Fierst will direct the 12-week season.

Maria Ouspenskaya forced to quit the cast of 'Dodsworth' because of illness. Her role assumed by Dorothy Raymond.

Playing a Tammany game, the New York G. O. P. held a three-day free circus in the 71st Regiment Armory, starting Thursday (24). Huge turnout of children, estimated at 16,000, not anticipated, nearly swamped the armory.

Rehearsals for 'Saluta,' by Will Morrissey and Frank D'Armand, started. Premire scheduled for late June.

Newman Levy revising the book of 'Caviar,' play of which opened last night (Monday) at the Shubert theatre, Newark, prior to New York engagement.

Joe Zelli will offer 'The Nudists Revue' this fall. Tom Waltham writing the score. Zelli angling for Josephine Baker for the lead.

'Marion Models, Inc.,' a drama of the needle trades, will be shown by the Theatre Collective for three performances, starting May 31, at the Labor Temple theatre.

Dramatic Art Class gave 'The Royal Family' Friday night (25), at the Christodora House. Mrs. Richard Mansfield directed the revival.

Richard B. Harrison arrived in New York Wednesday (24) enroute to Greensboro, N. C., where he will deliver the commencement address at the Agricultural and Technical College of N. C., and will receive the degree of Doctor of Dramatic Literature from that institution. He was drafted from that school in 1930, where he had been an instructor in the drama, to portray 'De Lord' in Marc Connelly's 'The Green Pastures.' On June 5 he will be recipient of an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters from Lincoln U., Lincoln, Pa.

Complete cast for the proposed 'Tight Britches' has been assembled and goes into rehearsal June 10. Play of the American Association of Advertising Agencies at Washington. He succeeds W. C. D'Arcy of St. Louis.

Ludwig Newmann and Herbert Korozi, Austrian motion picture photographers, who were held by the Brazilian police on the insistence of the newspapers there. Found doing dance, clad only in towels, which they filmed along the banks of the Amazon river and which, if shown, 'was not calculated to win admiration of the outside world,' is police statement. Released Thursday (24) and it is reported they were first suspected for political reasons.

Mrs. Emma Swift Hammerstein, widow of Oscar Hammerstein, suing her stepson Arthur Hammerstein for $100,000 for life support. Thursday (24) when trial was begun before Justice Salvatore A. Cotillo in Supreme Court, Mrs. Hammerstein charged her stepson broke an agreement made with her in 1931 to pay her $40 a week if she stayed away from New York. Trial temporarily terminated when defendent agreed to pay her $25 per week for one year.

Ben Stein announces that negotiations are under way for a London production of Rufus King's 'Invitation to a Murder.'

'Tragedienne and Harlot,' a new play by Philip Merivale, the actor, will have a tryout this summer at the Community theatre, Spring Lake, N. J.

Louis Simon, casting director for Frank Merlin, back at work after a brief illness.

Fritz Reiner sailed for Europe Saturday (26). He will be one of the conductors of the opera series to be given by the Philadelphia Orchestra when he returns in a fortnight.

Evelyn Brent declared a bankrupt in order issued in Federal Court by Judge Robert P. Patterson Thursday (24) and released from a total debt of $31,472 accrued by herself and her husband, Harry Edwards.

Friars Club opened their doors to women Sunday (27) for the first time in ten years. It has been decided that all Sunday nights will be devoted to the ladies in the future.

Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, assailed the vice in Hollywood and denounced film stars for 'their unutterable disregard of every decent convention and their lists of husbands ranging from one to six.' Address delivered to 1,000 members of the Catholic Forters of America at Swampscott, Mass., Thursday (24).

Federal tax lien filed in U. S. District Court for $382.19 against Robert Emmett Keane Friday (25). Only details given were that $274.57 has been assessed as an added tax Frank Merriwell in a series of for Keane's income for 1928, and that $107.62 was included in the lien to cover interest and penalty.

Bill Robinson, Groucho Marx and Myra Tartar, as well as the entire casts of 'Men in White' and 'Peace on Earth' will be among entertainers at dance to be given by the National Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners at the Renaissance June 1.

Cast of 'New Faces' guests of honor at formal opening of Riis Park, resort, Saturday night (26). Cast transported en masse from stage after performance to the park.

License Commissioner Paul Moss predicts drastic revisions in contracts issued to actors by booking offices. Statement made during a hearing on a complaint brought against Edward Sherman, agent by Jan Hickey and Harry Anger. The act charged that a contract for a week's work at the Hippodrome theatre, Baltimore, had been cancelled on less than a week's notice. Decision reserved on the complaint. At hearing it was brought out that for the past 16 years the License Department had not checked such contracts, as the law requires.

Financial statement issued by Howard S. Cullman, receiver of the Roxy theatre, to Federal Judge Caffey, reports an operating profit of $52,500 in 25 weeks from Nov. 10, 1933, to May 3, 1934, compared with an operating loss of $56,300 for corresponding period of the previous year.

Mme. Maria Jeritza sailed for Europe Friday night (25). She will spend the summer in Vienna and will return to the U. S. in October to resume work with the Metropolitan Opera.

Richard LaMarr and Norman Stein announce a producing partnership, the first presentation of which will be 'The Dear Queen,' by Julian Hellman and Louis Kronenberger, planned for fall production.

Max Hirschfield will direct the music for revival of the 'Black Crook' at the Bowery Gardens.

Campaign of the United Jewish Appeal for German Jewish Relief announces the formation of an amusement division of the drive. Nathan Burkan appointed chairman of the group which includes Abe Lastfogel and Louis Nizer.

U. S. Justice Department has issued a decree enabling independent radio manufacturers to acquire licenses under U. S. Patents owned by foreign corporations, a right previously enjoyed by the Radio Corporation of America. Statement issued by the Justice Department said, the decree entered by Federal Judge in Wilmington, Del., ended 'another phase of the litigation between the Government and the radio corporation.

Billy Rose's Music Hall will open June 5.

Josef G. Geiger's revival of 'Hedda Gabler' will be presented at the Roerich Theatre beginning June 4.

Grossinger Playhouse at Ferndale, N. Y., will open a ten-week summer season July 3 under the direction of Jack Mehler.

Young's Gap Players will open their summer stock season June 30 at Parksville, N. Y. First production will be 'Ear Rumors,' a musical. Music and lyrics by Joseph Holder and Harriet Gelberg.

Jack Benny to have the lead in 'Bring on the Girls,' which Kaufman and Ryskind are writing for next season.

Chic York has dropped idea of producing 'Frenchy.'

Bill Brady giving two previews of 'As Parents Sleep' for the fleet.

Alfred Holgerie, for many years rep of the Met. Op. in Philly, switches to Phila. Orch. Assn. on publicity.

Betty Lou Schoen, former showgirl, to sue her husband, Abner, for separation. Suit to be filed Friday (1).

Reported that Joe Penner will sell his ducks in Lew Browns' contemplated revue.

Thomas Mitchell, stager, to turn producer. Has a play by Sophie Treadwell.

Albert Bannister in the sticks looking for a summer theatre.

Jane Lamont Buchanan of 'She Loves Me Not,' married between matinee and night shows Saturday (26) to Robert C. Sinclair of 'Dodsworth.'

Mrs. Betty Tracy, sister-in-law of the Street Singer, awarded $20 a week temporary alimony, pending trial of her saparation suit against Albert Tracy.

Leonard Liebling, music crick of the American, to Euope June 13.

Gilbert Miller, Herman Shumlin and Lawrence Langner all interested in 'The Bride of Torozko,' which is to have a tryout at Westport.

Norman Stein and Richard LaMarr newest producing clinch. They'll start with 'The Deaf Queen.'

Rufus King, who wrote 'Invitation to a Murder,' now busy on 'Murder in Exile.' Not the same murder.

Clayton & Wauler option 'Life Wants Padding.' Tenth time Irving K. Davis has drawn money from the unproduced play. This time it's for London.

Col. Earle oothe, who directed the Players' production of Uncle Tom's Cabin' last season, will stage the old timer for CWA. Club will loan the scenery. Will probably be played only in Greater New York.

Heywood Broun, World-Telegram columnist, pinched in the Toledo labor strike. Sprung by local newspaper men.

Philip Room, Brooklyn band leader, arrested for illegal broadcasts. Used an amplifying set and ran broadcasts for three months before police located the wildcat station, which was interfering ith the radio cars.

Phila. Orch. Assn. adds Margaret Matzenauer and Cyrena Van Gordon to its list of artists at its outdor events in Fairmount Park. It will present eight operas during July and August.

'Stevedore' has regained its $4,600 production cost and is now in the clear, according to the Theatre Union.

Coast

Dispute between Preston Foster, Edward Davidow, Inc., and Edwar Small over payment of commissions has been settled out of court in Los Angeles.

Petition for a partial distribution of the $1,200,000 estate of Daisy Canfield Moreno, wife of Antonio Moreno, killed in an auto accident, has been approved in Los Angeles.

Elvia Allen, singer, and her husband, Wesley Tourtellote, radio organist, divorced in Los Angeles.

Barbara Bourjaily, fiction writer, obtained an uncontested divorce from Monte Ferris Bourjaily, head of United Features Syndicate, in Reno, Nev.

Gordon Wescott injured slightly in a Hollywood auto accident.

Phillip Norman, 29, employee in the Paramount studio music department, saved from drowning by life guards at Santa Monica.

Al Levy, vet restaurateur in Hollywood, found guilty of violation of that part of the California law pertaining to the serving of liquor by the drink. He appealed the case.

Angered because a group of youths heckled him during his act at a Los Angeles theatre, Lionel Kay invited one of them outside and assaulted him, according to the father of the lad, who filed a complaint.

Marriage of Mary Jane Temple, actress, to Crimen Zeidler, theatrical agent, in Mexico has been annulled in Los Angeles.

Sigrun Solvason Hessert, known in Hollywood as Greta Garbo's double, who committed suicide recently, left an estate valued at $6,000.

Stephen Ames, N. Y. broker, and his bride, Raquel Torres, have returned to Los Angeles from Hawaii.

Genevieve Tobin has asked Superior Court in Los Angeles to void the contracts she has with Frank Joyce-Myron Selznick, Inc., contending that she obtained valuable film work as a result of her own efforts and not because of the work of her agents.

Two unset pearls seized from Clarence Brown by the U. S. Treasury Department for customs duty penalty of $1,800 sold at public auction in Los Angeles.

Since Michael Farmer is in Europe, Gloria Swanson must wait at least three months before she can obtain a divorce by publication of notice in Los Angeles.

Lenore Keefe, Wampas baby star, had her contract with Mascot approved in court.

Frank Sebastian, owner of the Cotton Club, Los Angeles, underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Wallace D. Fenner arrested in Los Angeles for the holdup of the Pantages - Hollywood theatre. He escaped with $720. Cops recovered more than $400.

Pat O'Shea, actor and former major league ball player, slightly wounded by a drunk who went haywire with a gun at a Hollywood nitery.

Francis A. Mangan, theatrical producer, reported a thief took $150 from a trunk in his apartment and an hour later another one entered his car and took some clothes.

Asserting her arm was mangled by a police dog owned by Billie Dove and her husband, Albert Kenaston, last March 19, Ruth Roland has filed suit for $27,750 against the Kenastons. Miss Roland said she and her husband, Ben Bard, were entering the Kenastons home on invitation when the biting took place. Because of the alleged injuries, Miss Roland added she has been compelled to abandon her film and concert work. Bard joined her in the case.

Maurice S. Mirana, mag and trade paper writer, has filed suit for divorce from Veneda Greta Miranda in Los Angeles.

Fay Webb Vallee has been sued in Los Angeles for $10,600 damages over an auto accident involving her car.

New York Theatres

JOAN CRAWFORD and FRANCHOT TONE in "SADIE McKEE" On Stage—FRED WARING and His Pennsylvanians—with TOM WARING
B'WAY at 51st St. CAPITOL Starts Friday "VIVA VILLA"

LOEW'S B'WAY at 45th St. STATE 25 MON.-FRI. 10 A.M. to NOON
"20 MILLION SWEETHEARTS"
DICK POWELL—GINGER ROGERS
Extra! Walt Disney's "Big Bad Wolf" Stage—Thurston, the Magician—Others

RKO THEATRES
86TH ST. AT LEXINGTON — Wed. to Fri., May 30-June 1 — 'I'll Tell the World' and 'Murder in Trinidad'
81ST ST. ON BROADWAY — 'I'll Tell the World' and 'Countess of Monte Cristo'

CHATTER

Broadway

Elmer Rice back from Europe.

Jack and Jill's on 47th street re-opened.

Gertie Vanderbilt has opened a dress shop.

Marcel Lamaze's new dinery on Central Park S.

Buddy Fisher, Rubin's film double, in town.

George Nicholai hobbling around Plymouth with gout.

Marion Chase into the Hotel Plaza's Persian Room.

Fannie Brice going social, favorite of Park avenue set.

Beth Brown tearing off the last chapter of her next book.

Francis Martin, Par writer, in New York for a vacation.

Mary McCormic back from Paris for some picture house dates.

Sydney Howard in New York after some European roaming.

Murray Rumshinsky writing the Bobby Sanford showboat show.

Mack Millar into the Brooklyn Hosp for a weekend's overhauling.

Luise Squire's op at the 5th Ave. hosp a click; will be out next week.

Pola Negri trying to sell U. S. rights to a French picture starring her.

William Haines in New York after a couple of months in London.

Charlie Harris exhibiting 22-pound weakfish caught in Peconic Bay.

New show at the Kentucky, Jack Edwards succeeding Joe Lewis as m.c.

Alex Woollcott has dropped 25 pounds, aiming for the half-hundred mark.

Two best hostelry money-makers since repeal are the Waldorf and Biltmore.

Moss Hart, in new Ford, doing 60 around Westchester, even though a lousy driver.

Warner home office outi June 20 to Bear mountain. S. Peter Stuyvesant chartered.

Peggy (Par) Mahoney broke forth with a by-lined column in the last issue of New York Enquirer.

Lew Grotte, former manager at Loew's Fairmont, Bronx, is recovering rapidly at Saranac.

Sam Reiner, Boris Morros assistant, is the proud pa of an eight-pound boy.

Benny Serkowich saving his booze bills, planning to deduct taxes from his income tax this year.

Picture houses required patrons to check all packages at the door as a precaution during the ushers' strike.

Bob Hart has Longue Vue at Hastings-on-Hudson this season, with Vic Irwin and a floor show installed.

George Botsford, composer, rehearsing the 100 singing waiters for Billy Rose's Music Hall, skeded to open soon.

Sideshow on 6th avenue folded after trying to survive on the snack-dimes from the employment agency-layoff trade.

Wire received by Music Box's Bill Norton on occasion of his 48th natal day: 'Hope succeeding birthdays equal your present golf score.'

Scharles, who runs Thwaite's at City Island, N. Y., has a Show Boat Casino at the same resort this season with a floor show, band, etc.

Real reason for going to Newark is Zig's chop house on Central Avenue. Was formerly in vaudeville with Eva Shirley. He's Al Zigler.

Joe Frieberg, the former theatrical hotel man, now in the liquor biz as hotel rep for Anthony Cruso Co., the Old Roger agent over here.

Paul Yawitz's particular girl friend, Velma Forrest, still laid up from that auto smash while in company of former Health Commissioner Shirley Wynne's daughter. Both very seriously bruised about face and body.

Phil Rubinoff, brother and manager of the violinist, in from Hollywood to see the daughter born in his absence, Barbara Faith Rubinoff.

Jack Barry back in circulation after a brief trip on business, and pleased that the Nat. Board of Review used his censor argument verbatim in the May issue to oppose reform element.

Broadway newshounds hopped on Sid Solomon, of the Central Park Casino, with Park Commissioner Moses' ouster notice to Solomon. Scribes never went for Solomon's tactics to the press.

Everybody who's a Riverside Drive penthouse throwing fleet-reviewing cocktail parties. That beats the $10 admish some of the anchored liners now in port are charging for reviewing the fleet's arrival.

In a survey 140 New York hotels found that hotel drinkers consume 81% liquor and 19% wine. For the past four months the Waldorf-Astoria and Astor hotels have each shown a net profit on the drink concessions of $50,000 a month.

Boris Morros' father, of Petrograd, whom he hasn't seen for years, decided to return to his native Russia after six months in New York. He told the Par theatre exec that N. Y. is ok to make money, but you live longer on the other side.

Geo. Brown making the Columbia pix publicity dept. very ritzy. You gotta be announced now, and the employee you call on must see that you depart immediately without wandering around. Anybody that wants to see two different people must be announced twice.

Billy La Hiff of the Tavern, who has been seriously ill at the Medical Arts hospital, New York, was given two blood transfusions last week because unable to assimilate food for a time. His condition is fairly good and his mental state excellent. That was indicated when he telephoned the doctor before a transfusion and asked for a favor, the doc answering he'd do anything in his power. Cracked the patient: 'Well, then, please see that the donor today isn't a pansy.'

Vienna

Tibor von Halmay engaged to Grete Glogau.

Karl Schoenherr recovering from stomach operation.

Eugen Szenkar conducting 'The Flying Dutchman.'

Schnitzler's 'Daybreak' dramatized by Xenia Lowinsky under title 'Love or Money.'

Herbert Frank composing advertising fox-trot for Austrian Federal Railways.

Hans Chlumberg's 'Out of the Blue' to be revived by J. T. Grein in London.

New open air theatre with cheap admish seating 5,000 opened at Dreher Park.

Richard Strauss not to visit Vienna despite local celebrations for his 70th birthday.

Ivan Previch and Friedl Schuster to appear in 'Yellow Lily' at Theater an der Wien.

Atlantis Film Co. making talker of Franz Lehar's 'Frasquita,' starring Jarmila Novotna.

Werner Kraus playing 'Richard III' and getting ready for 'The Regent,' by Harold Bratt.

'Old Heidelberg' 25 up at Reinhardt's, which is actually regarded as first jubilee in Vienna.

Otto Tressler airplaning to Berlin to create leading part in Harald Bratt's Ufa talker, 'The Island.'

Burger Theater director, Hans Baars, imprisoned for swindling artists and stage hand out of $20,000.

Lena Marenbach signing two contracts, one with local management other for simultaneous engagement in Munich.

Local theatre directors negotiating for state subsidy in form of long period credit of National Bank for their enterprises.

Challapin contract with States Opera off on account of his demands for a percentage on the gross on top of fancy salary.

Toni Schiller eager to star Edmund Eysler operettas in London. Husband, F. W. Schiller, off to England to close contracts.

Bob Milton picking up option of his 'Francis Josephi' agreement with a view to launching this play on Broadway and in London.

Albert Bassermann no longer member of German Artists Union for reason that his wife is Jewish and he does not entertain divorce.

Edmund Eysler completed new Francis Joseph operetta, 'His First Affair,' and another one with 1870 Viennese setting, 'The Heavens Full of Fiddles.'

Professor Eugen Robert, ex theatre manager of Berlin, to go into management in London with Hermann Bahr's 'Napoleon play, 'Josephine' and Schnitzler's 'Liebelei.'

Panama

By Bea Drew

Bebe Connors left for Havana.

Atlantic bringing down an entire Russell Market unit.

Warner Bros. moved its office from Colon to Panama.

Achmed Abdullah here getting local color for stories.

Eddie Sutherland and Jack Paine, directors, here for a week.

Blanche Grant must go to hospital for another operation.

Louis Calhern and Mrs. Calhern paid a visit en route to Hollywood.

Ethlyn Claire, one-time Wampas baby star, opens a dress shop in Colon.

Miramar Club reopened for the fleet. May remain open if business warrants.

Johnny Stoffel, manager of the Ritz, left for California to look for new talent.

Mary Lee Kelly closed the Ritz cabaret in Panama City. The bar will remain open.

Dorothy Githens, who was a soloist at the Roxy, giving another concert at National theatre.

Josephine Baker dancing the Carioco at the Variedades, America and Palace theatres.

Benlamino Riccio, one-time singer of the Metropolitan Opera, giving a concert at the National theatre.

Government gave Fox permission to make 'That Girl,' but changes must be made favorable to Panama.

Twenty saloons in Panama claim they will have to close as they cannot pay the $150 monthly tax to the government.

London

John Van Druten off to Paris for couple days.

Sir Edward Elgar, composer, left around $70,000.

Carl Laemmle due here June 20, en route to Carlsbad.

Laddie Cliff at Homoepathic hospital with poisoned finger.

Noel Coward off to India to get atmosphere for new musical.

They are trying to get Teddy Brown on the Pathe News Reel.

Latest BIP flirtation is with Grace Moore for the 'Dubarry' role.

'Man in White' likely to succeed 'Reunion in Vienna' at Lyric in June.

'Little Women' is surprising disappointment on its English general release.

Will Hay to do a new one for British International, starting Aug. 20.

Glenn Ellyn rushing to keep appointment with Alexander Korda at Elstree.

Company in 'Why Not Tonight,' Tomson Brothers' Palace show, on 25% cut.

Real attraction at the Palace theatre backstage is Hughie Diamond's baby girl.

Harry Foster off to Le Touquet, to forget his 10% troubles for couple of days.

Lawrence Tiller giving up operating dance troupes after many years, and retiring.

Paul Kohner here lining up plans for dubbing new Universal pictures for continent.

'The Late Christopher Bean' celebrated first anniversary at the St. James', May 16.

Charles B. Cochran treasures a pass he holds of the Chicago World's Fair dated 1893.

Georgie Wood limping to the Holborn Empire to see his pal's, Sophie Tucker's, opening.

Gaumont-British latest, 'My Old Dutch,' is going to be a sort of Cockney 'Cavalcade.'

Three Carlyle Cousins, radio name over here, likely to go to America to play for Paramount.

Birmingham Repertory theatre closing, after 21 years under direction of Sir Barry Jackson.

Streatham Hill theatre to go over to vaudeville after several years' efrts to pay as a legit house.

Arthur Knorr here and going on the continent to line up some ideas for future Capitol presentations.

Surprise of the season is Martinus Poulsen's treat to Ted Shapiro of a whole bottle of champagne.

Tommy Rockwell here negotiating bookings for Arthur Tracy and return dates for Boswell Sisters.

Ann Todd, stage and film actress, presented at first Royal Court May 15, as Mrs. Victor Neil Malcolm.

Betty Balfour suffering from Kleig eyes during filming of 'My Old Dutch,' necessitating lay off.

Pat Hanna, Australian actor and head of Pat Hanna Film Productions, looking the field over here.

'Double Door' after transferring from Globe, closed at the Strand, May 12, making a seven weeks' run.

Avia Clifton, sister of Harry Clifton (Clifton-Hurst Film Productions), presented at Royal Court.

Oscar Denes due in town in couple of weeks, when provincial tour of 'Ball at the Savoy' is folding.

Max Milder an interested listener to a Hyde Park orator's boosting of 'Warner Brothers' American product.

G. Rhodes-Parry, Palladium manager, who has been dangerous ill for weeks, taking in the air at Hyde Park.

Mick the Miller, greyhound, to make a personal when his picture, 'Wild Boy,' gets pre-release at the Capitol.

Vivian VanDamm taking over the Prince of Wales' theatre in September, with similar policy as the Windmill.

The latest historical character prognosticated for George Arliss' forthcoming English picture is that of Nelson.

Hyams Brothers deal for H. A. Yapp's three picture theatres fallen through, just when deal was practically set.

Talk here of Ethel Barrymore doing a picture for indie producers. Subject to be a sort of modern Cinderella story.

Leontine Sagan producing 'Richard III' for Oxford University Dramatic Society—first woman to act in this capacity.

Miles Mander, stage film actor, dramatist, adopted as Labor candidate for Parliament for Putney (South London).

Wife of Sir Harry Preston, sportsman of Brighton, being presented at court this season. Also 21 American debs.

Columbia Pictures showing '20th Century' at Blackpool during Cinema Exhibitors Association's convention, June 11.

Eric Maschwitz, head of British Broadcasting Company's vaudeville department, at the 'Honey Dew,' without recognition.

Gina Malo to play in Gaumont-British film, 'A Song for You,' with Aileen Marson also in cast. Maurice Elvey directs.

Nancy Stewart, playing opposite Charles Farrell in Vogue Films' latest, was discovered by David Bader in a London eatery.

Jimmy Wilde wearing grey socks with evening attiure at Palladium Royal Performance. Says he's setting a new fashion.

After Glasgow production, 'Vintage Wine' comes to Daly's, May 29. Seymour Hicks, Clair Luce, Julia Neilson featured.

Paris

By Bob Stern

Tom Crane leaving for America, to stay.

Armand Bernard recovering from operation.

Herbert Marshall and his wife at the Regina.

'If I Were King' revived at Porte Saint Martin.

Lester Ziffren up from Madri to see Paris Fair.

Josephine Baker back Tuesday (15) from road.

Grand Guignol opening new bill Wednesday (16).

Walton's Marionettes playing Gaumont Palace.

Ambigu to put on 'The Toad,' by Louis Dacquin, on June 5.

Revva Reyes to play Vienna and Budapest this summer.

Gus Schaeffer and Harvey Ott of Paramount here from Berlin.

French Authors' League holding annual meeting Tuesday (15).

'Three Little Pigs' playing in a newsreel chain of four houses.

Ray Ventura, strictly French jazz band leader with a big rep, playing the Rex.

New film house, Cinema Vivienne, opening with dubbed version of 'Henry VIII.'

Gregory Ratoff here. He bought 'Laughing Women,' play by Emgenie Leontovitch.

John W. Harris, builder, at Ambassadeurs gala Friday (11). Also Frank Jay Gould.

'Constant Nymph' (British) at Raspail 216, getting good hand from local film critics.

Following an auction sale of sets from Stavisky's Empire, now come sales of those of the Antoine and the Capucines.

Champs Elysees havnig its own local black blizzard, due to sand spread on pavement which softens on hot days.

Gwen Lux, sculptress, breaking into Tuileries Salon. She's here from Vienna for the expo, on her way home to U. S.

Emile Fabre, director of Comedie Francaise, signing to put on a Shakespeare piece next year at Stratford-on-Avon.

Chorus of a thousand coal miners from north of France singing at Jeff Dickson's Palais des Sports for benefit of war wounded.

Cecile Sorel badly shaken up in taxi crash Saturday (12) in Bois de Boulogne while riding with her husband, the Comte de Segur.

Dingo, Montparnasse bar, inaugurating one-price policy—40 cents—for anything in the place. Hilaire Hiler master of ceremonies.

Hoffmann Girls grabbing publicity by going on Chi Trib's conducted tour of the Paris Fair for Americans desirous of sampling wines.

Pre-war Henry Bernstein play, 'The Assault,' showing timeliness in Gymnase revival because it's based on a financial-political scandal.

Ten-thousand-seater open-air theatre planned for Hyeres, on Riviera, for productions which will show glory of Latin civilization.

Feyder's 'Le Grand Jeu' ('The Full Deck') a holdover in Lyons. Par's 'Phantom President,' only American film in town in English, doing well, too.

Fox French narrator getting razzed for wisecracking on death in French version of Picture Chasers,' pic of newsreel auto race stock shots.

New Sacha Guitry play, 'My Double and My Half,' opening at Varieties with Sacha giving a pre-curtain speech on 'Women and Love.'

New Montparnasse nitery getting moniker 'Stage B', after the talker studios. Germaine de Castro singing numbers by Lucie Delarue Mardrus there.

Fernand Bessier, Albert Chantrier and Celestin Joubert elected to Board of Directors of Societe des Auteurs, Compositeurs et Editeurs de Musique.

Lily Pons getting big hand at her second concert in Paris. French soprano who made good in America is getting to be vogue here now for the first time.

Rene Lefevre suffering slight face injuries after fall from horse of his own racing stable which he was riding himself in a race for gentlemen riders at Lille.

Hollywood

Frances Stutz here for pix.

Jean Arthur heading for N. Y.

June Knight had her jerked.

Grace Moore and hubby yatching to Alaska.

Ruth Selwyn in from N. Y. on the S. S. California.

Richard Arlens back from their European trek.

Otto Kruger organizing a fencing team at Metro.

Earl Eby has changed his moniker to Guy Brooks.

Frank Borzage hopped to Boise, Idaho, just for a polo game.

Hal Roach has bought a nine-place Lockheed-Northrup.

Leo Bulgakov, Russian stage director, is in pix with Columbia.

Elizabeth Borton, of the Boston Traveler and Herald, interviewing.

John Barrymore in hospital for a going over before resuming yacht trip.

Afternoon colyumnist, male, got a fan letter addressed to 'Dear Lolace.'

Morris S. Schlesinger in from Newark, N. J., visiting his brother, Leon.

Lillian Ellis, Danish stage and screen star, has arrived in Hollywood.

Sid Grauman and his mother are leaving soon for a month's sojourn in Europe.

Gloria Swanson is back awaiting her divorce suit from Michael Farmer.

Frank Craven has traded his Great Neck, L. I., home for one in Bevhills.

Natalie M. Kalmus, of Technicolor, sustained bruises in an auto accident.

Shirley Temple has a stand-in and a downtown stairs dressing room at Par.

Earl Carroll back from his exploitation tour of keys for 'Murder at the Vanities.'

Mrs. C. K. Noble, rep of the Provincial Press in England, gathering material for features.

Doris Gilbert Felt in from New York visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Wolfe Gilbert.

R. Ross Lederman awarded judgment of $900 against Mascot for alleged breach of contract.

Edward and Victor Halperin and Richard Carroll pulling out for N. Y. on deal for major release pic.

Het Manheim, erstwhile rep of Tom Mix's circus, has joined Gardner 10%'ery. Also handles Mix here.

Charlie Butterworth recovering from an illness and is getting ready to report to Metro for work.

Fania Marinoff shocked in Los Angeles for a short time and talked of her husband, Carl Van Vechten.

George Raft has to pay the repair bill for his auto, damaged after it had been stolen, according to a court decision.

Warners is figuring on sending Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell and Pat O'Brien for 'Flirtation Walk' scenes to keep from processing.

Mary Pickford returned to Hollywood for a two weeks' stay at Pickfair and blushed when asked about her hubby, Douglas Fairbanks.

Frankie Lederer, Steffi Duna and Ralph Doyle, radio salesmanager in the Antipodes, entertained Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and Lady Smith at Radio.

Barcelona

By L. A. Farnsworth

La Argentina gave the first of two concerts.

Liceo Theatre has reopened for the spring season with the Russian Ballet of Monte Carlo.

Fantasio, picture house, has obtained exclusive first-run rights on all Walt Disney shorts.

J. H. Hoffberg, president of the N. Y. film company of the same name, is in Barcelona selling and buying pictures.

Excelsior, oldest nite club in Barcelona, has gone modern under new management. All new decorations, with a music hall added.

Iruste, Fugazot and DeMarre, tango trio, finished their picture, 'Aves Sin Rumbo,' and will sail soon for a holiday in Argentina.

Mariano Azores will bring his company here from Madrid to the Poliorama about the middle of June. No definite date has been set for the opening.

Senorita Matilde Vazquez was named Miss Theatre 1934 at a special performance held at the Comico on May 11. Contest was organized by the evening paper Las Noticias.

Company from the Theater Romea of Madrid opened its summer season at the Comico in Barcelona on May 9 with the musical comedy it had been playing all winter at the home theatre, 'Al Pueblo—Al Pueblo.'

Urquinaona, Metro house, gave a special performance on Friday night, May 4, in honor of Greta Garbo and the six-week run 'Queen Christina' had. Parts were shown from all the pictures Garbo made in America.

Benito Perojo has started directing a talking version of the picture 'El Negro Que Tenia el Alma Blanca.' A silent version of this picture was produced in Spain in.

(Continued on page 54)

CHATTER

(Continued from page 53)

1926, starring Conchita Piquer and directed by Perojo.

Vicente Padulla has sailed for New York where he will work in two pictures with Carlos Gardel. He just finished his work in 'Aves Sin Rumbo,' filmed in the Orphea Studios and featuring the tango trio Irusta, Fugazot and DeMarre.

Association of Impresarios of Public Entertainment sent a committee to call on the Governor with a complaint against the opening of the Hagenbeck Circus in Barcelona. Claim that the showing of this foreign circus will aggravate the crisis which the theatre in Barcelona already faces. Despite efforts, the permit was granted.

Principal Palace, which has been restored since the fire that gutted it last September, will reopen this month with musical comedy. Theatre has been rented for five years to Senor Casanovas, president of the Catalan Parliament. Star of the new company will be Margarita Carbajal, who last month retired from the stage and announced her marriage to Senor Casanovas.

The Hague

By M. W. tty-Leal

Circus Amar will pitch tent in July and August.

Scheveningen getting ready for summer season, but hotelkeepers sceptical, now that gambling has been stopped.

Open air theatre Frankendael, owned by municipality of Amsterdam, not open this year; city lost too much cash on this enterprise, now turning it into a park.

At big gala concert in Amsterdam to celebrate his return, William Mengelberg was distinguished by Minister for Arts with one of the highest Dutch decorations, bestowed upon him by the Queen.

Impressarid Dr. Krauss managing new Reinhardt tour in Holland. Opens with 'Maria Stuart,' drama by Schiller, staged in German by this company. Has also on repertoire a play by Pirandello, 'Six Persons in Search of an Author.'

Dutch playwrights think they have to bill their works under foreign names to get public interested in their plays. Leaked out that 'Ex-King Peter,' announced as a Hungarian play, was written by Mr. den Hertog, theatre critic of Haagsche Post, Dutch weekly.

Berlin

Elizabeth Bergner sold her real estate in Berlin-Dahlem.

Lorenzo Perosi has Pope's order to compose a new papal hymn.

Emil Jannings in Vienna during May and June to try two one-act plays.

Charles Kullman, American tenor at Berlin State Opera, engaged for picture.

German radio fans numbered 5,440,031 on May 31, 15,000 more than last month.

Jan Kiepura's brother, Ladis Kiepura, engaged at the Budapest opera to sing tenor.

Hans Albers on tour in Switzerland playing Sergeant Quirt in 'What Price Glory.'

RKO general export manager, B. Dowling, in Berlin for a few days to prepare distribution of RKO product here.

Reichs Theatare Week to take place in Dresden week of May 27. Reichsminister Goebbels will hold opening speech.

Dorothea Wieck arrives in Berlin in July to play main role in 'Der Stahlerne Strahl' ('The Steel Stream') for Europe.

Economic condition of films to be investigated by administration, is Minister's decree, to decide tax relief during summer months.

Hugo Thimig, former Vienna Burg theatre director, father of the popular local actors, Helen, Hermann and Hans Thimig, 80 years old.

E. G. Techow, Paramount publicity manager for many years in Berlin, on voyage to America, will visit Hollywood for several weeks. His young wife, a born American, with him.

Metro's Berlin publicity manager, Hans Lefebre, off on trip to Paris, Barcelona, Rome, Vienna, Prague and Budapest with Paris and Rome pub managers to prepare next season's publicity program.

Mexico City

By D. L. Grahame

Plenty heat and humidity.

Jose Iturbi, Spanish pianist, here for another concert series.

Theatre gallery occupants must behave or get the bum's rush, police warn.

Show biz being what it is, several actors have become candy butchers in the cinemas.

'Henry VIII' (U.A.) smash on the nabe circuits. Laughton most popular male screen actor here now.

Foreign wrestlers doing well. Watching big, strong fellas has become prime diversion in these parts.

Screen extras union burned because screen players' organization does not consider its members screen thesplans.

Star femme dancer at the Polli-teama theatre, local revue house, found all her costumes stolen when she went to dress for show. Refused to go on in street clothes, so no show.

Virginia Fabregas, Mexico's Sarah Bernhardt, who has played in several Hollywood Spanish talkers, plans to end retirement for a repertoire of heavy drama with Fernando Soler de la Vega, Mexico's ranking actor, at her name theatre here.

Honolulu

By Mabel Thomas

Ralph King making a return trip to the coast.

Frank L. Packard, author, and family here for one day.

Jean Harlow and her mother due in for three-week vacation.

Mitch Leisen, at the Royal for ten days, wondering when we work here.

Stephen Ames got badly sunburned while honeymoning at Waikiki.

Herman Mankiewicz and his bride, the former Elizabeth Young, at the Royal Hawaiian.

Mrs. John Ford, wife of the director, back again with Mrs. Ford Sterling as her guest.

Polly Moran, with her husband at the Moana, trying to be cheerful despite loss on shipboard of a $4,000 diamond brooch.

The Harry Joe Browns (Sally Eilers) arrived here for a long rest. Mrs. Brown to await the arrival of the stork in Honolulu.

Merlin C. Cooper left for California last week, leaving Mrs. Cooper (Dorothy Jordan) here for one more month with the baby daughter.

Cuba

By Rene Canizares

Carioca, the latest craze here.

Havana getting thrills with new radio cars.

Mayor will regulate noise coming from radios.

A bomb fou office of Havana Post.

Interpreter at Cafe Central got Jimmy Durante beat by two miles.

George Pineiro, local cameraman, thinking of importing a sound outfit.

Ed Chester, of AP, got in the losing end of an argument with soldiers during the high school shooting.

Sam Cohen, UA foreign publicity manager, cabled congrats to Teatro Nacional for tie-up with Precios Fijos fair.

Campoamor trying double feature bill. One first run and one second. Smith's idea of getting summer trade away from Nacional.

Station CMBZ started to insult Radio Commissioner on account new radio bill and Commissioner retaliated padlocking station 10 days.

Gov't After Butchers

Washington, May 28.

Formal complaints were issued today by Federal Trade Commission against two candy companies accused of distributing packages involving lotteries to carnivals, medicine shows, circuses, and burlesk houses. Commish alleges that practices induce public to buy candy in hopes of obtaining valuable articles of merchandise or prizes free.

Commish gave companies, Union Concession Co. and R. F. Keppel & Brother, Inc., of Chicago, until June 29 to show cause why cease and desist order should not be issued.

Wash. Winds Up; '33-34 Showed 10% Improvement

Washington, May 28.

Gayety, capital's only burlesque spot, folded for summer Saturday (26) with grosses for season approximately 10% up on 1932-33. Increase attributed to policy inaugurated in midseason of running two mats daily.

Spot goes over to combination of gal tableaux and sex films, ing Labor day.

Moss' Double O

(Continued from page 41)

an act with one week's notice in the event of 'an act of God,' 'strikes,' 'change of policy,' etc., will be out unless the act also is given the privilege to cancel with the same amount of notice. Commissioner Moss' determination for an equitable booking office contract became especially strong after Sherman's contract was reviewed by Broder. Although reserving decision on the case, Moss turned to Broder during the hearing and declared:

'I might say to you that this contract is not an equitable one.' This came after Michael Halperin, counsel for Sherman, had pointed out that the clauses contained in his client's contracts were also contained in the contracts issued by all of the major circuit booking offices.

Hickey and Anger complained that the 'Words and Music' unit was cancelled out of the Hippodrome Tuesday (22) by Sherman and Izzy Rappaport, latter the operator of the house, 10 days before it was scheduled to open there June 1, with a $3,150 guarantee and a 50% split on the gross over $15,000.

Three-Hour Notice

The producers objected because the cancellation came only three hours after they had gone to Rappaport to confirm a rumor they had heard that the house was going to close. They asked the theatre operator then to allow them to take the unit out so that they could accept another booking, but Rappaport denied the closing and refused to cancel. This, they allege was at one o'clock Tuesday—at four o'clock the same afternoon they received notice that the house was closing for the summer June 1. Meanwhile, the open date they could have obtained was lost.

Cancellation, the producers aver, cost them $700 in extra transportation costs.

Sherman denied that he was responsible for the cancellation, saying it was also painful to him inasmuch as he lost the commissions received in booking the theatre. While on the stand, Broder pointed out the inequitable clauses in his contract and Halperin admitted that he drew it up. Commissioner Moss asked Halperin whether he drew up the contract despite his knowledge of the Employment Agency Law, and Halperin answered 'Yes; it's the general custom.'

Protecting Mgrs.

When Broder made an issue of the clauses in Sherman's contract making an act liable to the theatre for the full amount of its salary if concelling a date, Halperin interceded again for the booker, declaring, 'That clause was put in to protect the manager—all actors are irresponsible and theatres must be protected.'

When Moss showed resentment at this, Halperin amended it by saying, 'Well, most of them, anyhow.' He is a member of the Wilzen & Halperin law firm.

It was also pointed out at the hearing that a $200 settlement offered Hickey & Anger by Rappaport to assuage the loss of the week was turned down by the producers. Latter admitted to profits ranging between $2,500 and $3,000 on the unit in the 12 weeks it's been out.

OBITUARIES

GUSTAVE SALZER

Gustave Salzer, 58, orchestra conductor, died at his home in Brooklyn May 23 after a brief illness. His start in the profession was with the old Grand Museum in Grand street as a pianist, and while working there was heard by F. F. Proctor, who engaged him as musical director at 23rd and 58th St. playhouses.

During his career he was associated with Chauncey Olcott, C. B. Dillingham, Victor Herbert, Charles Frohman and Flo Ziegfeld. He conducted 'The Enchantress' and 'Princess Pat' for Victor Herbert and later 'Going Up' for Cohan and Harris. Among other successes with which he was associated were 'Irene,' 'Sally,' 'Sunny,' 'Sweet Adeline,' 'Whoopee,' and irst Little Show.'

He is survived by his widow, a son and a brother, Gene, also a musician. Interment at Union Field Cemetery.

'JAKE' ADLER

Jacob Adler, 57, Chicago nite club operator, died in Chicago May 19 of a heart attack.

Adler was part owner of the Club Royale at the time of his death. Previously he had been associated for many years with the old Midnight Frolics on 22nd street from its earliest start, when it was known as Freiburg's Dance Hall.

In 1927 he and his partner, Frank Lawro, were kidnaped and held for six days before freed. Reported a ransome of $200,000 was paid but which rumor was always denied by Adler.

Survived by widow and sister. Burial in Chicago.

WILLIAM WARD

William Ward, 83, died in Philadelphia General Hospital May 23. He was a member of the minstrel and vaudeville team of Fox and Ward, known as one of the oldest teams in vaude, having been together for 60 years. Team originated in Chicago and played for 45 years on the Orpheum circuit.

His last public appearance was at the Earle theatre, Philadelphia, in 1927, when the act performed for benefit of the NVA Fund. Mr. Ward was separated from his wife several years ago. Only other known survivor is a stepbrother. Burial in Arlington Cemetery, Philadelphia.

GUSTAV HOLST

Gustav Holst, 59, English composer, died at a nursing home after an operation, in London, May 25. Illness caused by a fall while conducting recently. Among his compositions were 'The Perfect Fool,' 'Savitri,' 'The Mystic Trumpeter,' 'Dame Christian,' and 'The Planets.' He was for a time with the Carl Rosa opera troupe and was in the Scottish Orchestra. On the occasion of a recent visit to the U. S. he was guest of the Beethoven Association in New York.

MARK SULLIVAN

Mark Sullivan, 55, former vaudeville and legitimate actor, died May 20 at the Brunswick Home, Amityville, L. I. Mr. Sullivan had played with the Tony Williams troupe in Boston and later for Charles H. Hoyt. He also appeared for Reed and Collier in 'Hoss and Hoss,' in 'Natural Gas' and in 'Hitchy Koo'. He had played in several George M. Cohan offerings. Burial in the plot of the Catholic Actors' Guild in Calvary Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow.

JAMES C. KLINE

James C. Kline, 84, died at the House of Calvary, New York, May 22. He first appeared on the stage in stock at the Walnut Street theatre, Philadelphia, in 1870. He had played with Edwin Booth, E. A. Sothern and Edwin Forrest. Mr. Kline toured the West Indies with William Morris and Lole Fuller. He played in 'A Temperance Town', 'The Three Musketeers' and 'The Fool'. Interment at Mount Ararat Cemetery, Pinehurst, L. I.

JOHN HENRY

John Henry, 52, popular radio comedian, died through gas poisoning at his London flat, May 14. Depression through lack of work and the recent death of woman reported to be his wife, reason given for suicide. Real wife claimed he hadn't supported her since war and unpleasant publicity attached to story added to trouble.

ALBERT RUFFOLO

Albert Ruffolo, 44, electrician and stage manager for 25 years, died at the Onondaga County (N. Y.) Sanatorium May 21 following an illness of three months. Employed by the Shuberts, Dillingham, Ziegfeld and the Marx Bros., Ruffolo last was stage manager at the Syracuse (N. Y.) Paramount.

Survivors brother.

JACK BROCKLISS

Jack Brockliss, , only son of J. Frank Brockliss, who has been connected with the film industry for more than a quarter of a century, died in London, May 11, after a brief illness. Deceased was connected with his father's film equipment company.

MILTON GUNCKEL

Milton Gunckel, 84, retired theatrical manager, who once handled the affairs of James Whitcomb Riley, when the poet was touring the country giving lectures, and other theatrical enterprises, died at his home in Dayton, May 15. Burial was made there.

JACK RITCHIE

Jack Ritchie, 84, once prominent in Kansas City theatricals, died in Los Angeles May 13, following a stroke. He was once advance man ahead of such players as Edwin Booth and later his business manager.

He is survived by his widow.

TENNYSON STEELE

Tennyson Steele, 30, musician of Detroit, Mich., committed suicide in a Los Angeles hotel May 22. He had been unsuccessful in finding work on the Coast. His widow, Mrs. Dolores Steele, lives in Detroit.

GEORGE J. WARREN

George J. Warren, 28, chief engineer of station WEAN, Providence, died May 22 at the Waltham hospital, Waltham, Mass., of lukemia.

Also had worked for WNAC, Boston, and the Don Lee chain on coast.

JAMES BONNER

James Bonner, 46, London theatrical agent, killed in auto smash May 17, while returning with wife and daughter from his mother's funeral. Deceased, formerly connected with firm of Reeves & Lamport.

JAMES H. WALLACE

James H. Wallace, 73, projectionist at the Olympic theatre, Utica, N. Y., died suddenly May 17. He was born in Millbridge, Me., and also formerly lived in Providence, R. I.

PETE CURLEY

Pete Curley, 56, vaudeville and burlesque actor and formerly of Halliday and Curley, died in New York last week. Was the Jiggs i 'Bringing Up Father.'

EARLE D. LAROS

Earle D. Laros, 47, founder the Easton (Pa.) symphony orchestra, died there May 26, of attack.

Survived by his mother.

JOHN FORREST

John F. Stephenson, 31, Shakesperean actor, known on the stage as John Forrest, was stabbed to death in Louisville May 26. Robbery is believed to be the motive.

G. S. McMILLAN

G. S. McMillan, 43, cashier at Metro studio, Cuver City, was killed by a fall in San Diego May 27. Further particulars in the picture section.

ANTHONY L. SCOCCA

Anthony L. Scocca, 32, radio entertainer, died May 23 at his home in Albany.

Son, 39, of Herbert Watcrous, singer, died at Woodstock, N. Y., May 23, of a cerebral hemorrhage. Survived by mother, father and a brother, Allen, also a singer.

LETTERS

When Sending for Mail to VARIETY Address Mail Clerk.
POSTCARDS, ADVERTISING or CIRCULAR LETTERS WILL NOT BE ADVERTISED
LETTERS ADVERTISED IN ONE ISSUE ONLY

Costa John
Hill Joe
Kilbride Percy W
Miller Margie
Silverman Moe
Starr Fred

DOROTHEA ANTEL
826 W. 72d St., New York City
My New Assortment of GREETING CARDS is Now Ready. 21 Beautiful CARDS and FOLDERS, Boxed, Postpaid, for
One Dollar

I. MILLER
INSTITUTION & INTERNATIONALE
Shoes for the Stage and Street
SHOWFOLK'S SHOESHOP—1552 BROADWAY

Outdoor Show Reviews

TOL BROS. CIRCUS

Lincoln, May 26.

Probably the first and only circus to bill a fan dancer, Tol Bros., owned and managed by Tol Teeter, is a poor imitation of a circus. It is labeled the 'only Spanish-American circus now touring', but it doesn't look like there's a spick in the whole layout. It's a mud show, transported on five well-dressed trucks for baggage and the personnel loaded into a dozen accompanying cars. Top was set down here for an all-day play at the Capitol Beach (20), because Hoyt R. Hawke, park mgr. though it'd do some biz. Park gate admish let the natives into the tent, but most seats were reserved for 15c.

Organize in Oklahoma City, the outfit moved fast and with little money luck through Kansas and into Neb. with biz still bad. On the eve of playing the beach date, the Barrys, family acrobatic act, walked. A hurry call netted the Dudley Riggs Co. which handled all the sawdust work. A one-ring affair, the show jumps from the circle to the stage alternately. On the stage, Gene Fagan and Lester Morley, clowns, work with Oklahoma Nell (Mrs. Fagan) and her six dancing girls. Ed Holder and his trained biting and bucking mule were picked up here. Teeter announced the Riggs troupe will be replaced, since they were only in on the SOS. Lee Hinckley heads a seven-piece band.

Sideshow has Bobby Arnold and Blanche Ryan, marionettes; Rose Fagan, snakes; Madame Fay, hypnotist; Tol Teeter, sleight-of-hand; Marie Loder, accordion, and Vera, a five-ton elephant, billed as the largest one touring. Show has been having a tough time with the elephant, since she won't ride the trailer and she has to be walked. Was walked 32 miles into town before this opening and groaning plenty at the first show.

The circus isn't good for towns of less than 2,500, even since there isn't enough variety and too much obvious doubling. More than an hour of the same faces and the same technique. A merchants ticket is used as the advance billing, but the 'burgs aren't taking them so well. Staff, besides Teeter, includes Happy Loder, assistant manager; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wheeler, advance; Jack Arnold, sideshow manager; Dutch Weldon, boss elephant trainer; Harry Sells, boss topper, and Leo Powers, superintendent of transportation. There's no parade, just a bally car full of girls. Biz here—afternoon two-thirds, and nite capacity. Barney.

BEATING DOWNIE IN

Burlington, Vt., May 28.

Russell Bros. Circus will beat Downie Bros. into Vermont next month. Former is booked through the state for the first week in June. Other show will follow about two weeks later unless present route is shifted.

Gorman circus is also expected to make a couple of stands in Vermont later in the season. Last year this state saw only one circus.

OPERA IN AKRON

Akron, O., May 28.

There will be a summer season of light opera starting Decoration Day, when Geauga Lake Park, near here opens its 6,000 seated outdoor theatre, erected last spring for a beer garden, with Handel Wads, worth new opera company of Cleveland.

Troupe includes a chorus of 75 and a ballet of 20. It will give 12 operettas during the season of 14 weeks in the park.

HAMID LEASES FAIR

Charlotte, N. C., May 28.

George Hamid, of New York City, and Norman Y. Chambliss, of Rocky Mount, N. C., have leased the grounds and buildings of the Central Carolina Fair at Greensboro, for five years. The two men also operate the North Carolina State Fair at Raleigh.

LEGION BACKS CARNEY

Nashville, Tenn., May 28.

Dodson brothers shows which played here last year at the Tennessee State Fair, will appear all this week at the circus grounds on Twenty-fifth Avenue, South, under auspices of Nashville Post No. 5 American Legion.

CIRCUS OUSTS CARNEYS

Charlotte, N. C., May 28.

A 16-act circus has been booked for the annual Rhodendron Festival at Asheville June 12-15. This type of entertainment supplants carnivals, which have been used for several years past.

Russell Bros. Circus

New Philadelphia, O., May 18.

In eastern territory for the first time in its existence Russell Bros. circus, a motorized outfit from Missouri has been a surprise. Piloted by C. W. Webb, general manager, show is playing the smaller industrial towns not exceeding 25,000, with R. M. Harvey, veteran agent, blazing the trail. Russell show concentrates on its performance and at every stand comments have been favorable. Big top was originally 100 foot round, with three 40's, and will be replaced shortly with a new 120 with four 50's. Menagerie is 70 with three 30's and sideshow a 50 with three 20's. Fleet includes 22 company owned trucks, of the large semi-trailer type, also two large busses for bandsmen and performers, 32 privately owned trucks, house car trailers and automobiles. Show has its own light plant, in three units. Fair showing in the menagerie of truck animals, four elephants, ring stock and other attractions. No parade. Admission 35 and 15 cents.

Program: Grand entry; illuminated swinging ladders, Peggy Leonard, Mrs. Bob Fisher and Caroline La Venia; pony drills in rings 1 and 3, Frank Miller and Jewell Jackson; contortion in rings 1 and 3, Bert DeAro and Dad Whitlark, trained dogs in center; Three of Avalon troupe, comedy acrobats; aerial iron jaw, Gladys Eckhart, Pearl Harris and Peggy Leonard; trained elephant in center ring, excellent routine; contortion rings, Dad Whitlark, 79; single trapeze over all three rings, Gladys Eckhart; Caroline Hodgini (muscle grind) and Pearl Harris; seven Romanoffs, teeter-board acrobats, one of the bright spots of the program, juvenile top mounter a triple into a chair on shoulders; Pauline Webb's leaping greyhounds, on track; ring 1, Great Delbeanie, unsupported ladder (on pedestal); ring 2, Bert DeAro, slackwire; Liberty horses, presented by Frank Miller and Jewell Jackson; Modock, elephant in eccentric "makeup" and unattended, around the track; Athleta, hocks toes and heels catches on swinging trapeze including forward throwout to heels—specially featured and billed heavily; Webb's Military elephants (4) worked by George Frenchy; Menage number, horses trained by Frank Miller, whose accompanying riders were Hermine LaVenia, Peggy Leonard and Jewell Jackson; Six Avalons, tight wire, another good offering; riding dogs and monkeys on ponies handled by Frank Miller and Frank Sanders; double trips over two rings, LaVenia Sisters, and Aerial Fondaus; Great Delbeanie and his wagon wheel up steps and jumps from pedestal to table. Featured clown number, Fred and Doodles DeMars, Lawrence Ross, Jack Crippen and John Delmar. Closing number, Bob Fisher's Fearless Flyers.

In the band are L. Claude Myers, director and clarinet; Fred Du Pile, Charles Cook and Jimmie Hurtt, cornets; Frank M. Stephens, baritone; Rudolph Anderson, trombone; Frank Kalal, sousaphone, and Nick Rowland, drums.

Kay M. Speer is manager of the sideshow and Frank A. Golden, lecturer. Harry Williams and Jack St. Clair, tickets; Earl Wotz, air calliope in entrance; Sailor Wiggins on door; J. Baker, boss canvas; Pygmy Village, Johnny Walker and Joe Porter; Topsy, trained chimpanzee; Prince Omar, sword swallower; Frank Golden, magic and Punch; C. Tosh and W. Redway, Hawaiian guitar specialties; Madam Loray (Mrs. Ray Speer) mentalist; Princess Louise (Mrs. G. W. Hamilton) Buddha; Chief Jo Jo, double-faced pygmy; Central American sloths and other ground animals in cage; a four-legged girl is an added exhibit.

Staff: C. W. Webb, general manager; Mrs. Pauline Webb, treasurer; James H. Webb, auditor; Ray Blankenship, secretary; R. M. Harvey, general agent; Al Oake, contracting agent; Jack Osher, brigade agent; W. W. (Doc) Hamilton, legal adjuster; Frank La Marr, equestrian director; Jack Crippen, wardrobe; Ray Swan, front door, assisted by Harold Harris and Harry V. Winslow; Dan White, superintendent; H. Duffy, assistant superintendent; B. Lancaster, boss props; Bob O'Hara, charge reserved seats, with Les Hutchinson, assistant; E. A. Peterson, master transportation; Buddy Jenkins, electrician; H. R. Steinkamp, mechanic; W. H. McDaniel, steward Doran and Booth have candy stands and other concessions with eight assistants.

ROTON PARK OPEN

South Norwalk, May 28.

Roton Point Park, Connecticut's premiere resort, opened for the season last week with Casa Loma in the dance hall and a new half-mile roller coaster completed. Neville Bayley, owner, is again the manager, with Charles Pfahl, assistant manager, Harry Anshutz, secretary and Leo Miller, publicity.

Tough on Tooters

Lincoln, May 28.

Plenty of lads in this section who have been going home late with a repeal cargo aboard have been made hot and bothered by the spectacle of an elephant lumbering along the road with a red lantern tied to its tail.

It's all right, however, not due to essence of corn. A five-ton bull with the Tol Bros. circus, refuses to ride in a truck and must be walked between stands. Rest of the cavalcade soon leaves her behind so there's no visible explanation of her presence on country roads. Tail light is warning to automobilists.

SHOW BOAT GOES DOWN DURING SIXTH TRIP

Omaha, May 28.

Omaha's show tug, the Valley Queen, which only a fortnight ago opened the excursion season here, is on her way to a permanent resting place in Davy Jones' locker. On her regular evening trip Thursday (17), her sixth day of operation, steamer ran aground on a mid-stream sandbar while turning about below the city for to her Douglas street pier.

Immedi efforts to free the craft under her own power proved futile, as have subsequent efforts by the government barge H. B. Treadway and other river craft. Breaking up or capsizing only a matter of hours.

Craft newly painted, decorated and repaired, was brought here last year from the Ohio river and made regular trips all summer. Loss on the boat estimated at near $20,000, fully covered by insurance, though value on complete investment more than twice that amount.

Omaha owners include Clarence Hanfelt, Harold Lipp, R. E. Wade, manager of the enterprise, and Ray Marr. Hanfelt has called a directors' meeting to determine whether or not craft will be replaced, but definite that it will not be this season.

Circus Man Injured; Hit by Tent Pole

Portland, Ore., May 28.

G. Isaacson, 32, employee of the Al G. Barnes circus, was seriously hurt, May 21, when a steel tent pole fell on him at the show grounds. He was removed in an unconscious condition to St. Vincent's Hospital, where it was reported he had a fractured hip and possible internal injury.

BARNES COMING EAST

Canton, O., May 28.

Barnes circus will come east this summer for the first time in several years.

Reports from good authority say the show will come east as far as Ohio, after playing its regular territory west of the Mississippi.

Hagenbeck-Wallace will get a few Ohio stands this week including Cincinnati, Dayton and Columbus, and next week picks up its usual stands in West Virginia, returning to Ohio for a June 4 stand at Steubenville, then east over its annual itinerary.

TRUCK SHOWS PROSPER

Canton, O., May 28.

A half dozen motorized circuses which have been concentrating on eastern Ohio industrial towns since the first of the month are making a hasty departure from the Buckeye state with the first of the railroad shows invading this week. Practically every recognized good circus stand in this section has been visited by one or two of the truck shows in the past month, even to the larger cities which for many years have been regular stops for the Hagenbeck-Wallace and Ringling-Barnum circuses.

CARNEY MEN FINED

Massillon, O., May 28.

Edward Kline and D. B. De Loss, operating wheels with the Gloth Greater Shows, playing here were fined, when arraigned in municipal court on charges of suspicion. Kline was fined $50 and costs and De Loss $25 and costs. Police said complaints had been registered at headquarters against the pair by several men who lost heavily on the games of chance.

Carnie and Circus Pacts Drag; May Be Dropped by NRA Force

REVIVE DIXIE FAIRS

Chi Agent in South to Operate Closed Dates—Guarantees Cash

Irmingham,

Several dead fairs which haven't been in operation for several years may be brought to life this fall. Two such fairs are in Alabama while smaller ones are to be found in Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and Georgia. E. F. Carruthers of Chicago, of the Barnes-Carruthers Booking Office, has been the South looking things over and has gone so far as to promise civic leaders in Birmingham to finance the Alabama State Fair this fall. Date has been tentatively set for the last week in September.

Fairs which he develops will get away from the old style of fairs. The Chicago Exposition has changed all that. The new baby will be fed the Chicago diet on a smaller scale. In other words, Carruthers has hopes of changing the word 'fair' to 'exposition.'

With Carruthers on a tour through the South were P. T. Strieder of Tampa, general manager of the Florida State Fair and Exposition; C. F. Dufffield, president of Thearle-Duffield Fire Works Co.; Alex Sloan, Chicago auto race man, and Carl Sedlmayr, owner of the Royal American Shows, who are co-operating with the Carruthers organization.

MAYOR OK'S CIRCUSES, BUT BARS CARNEYS

ittsfield, Mass., May 28.

It's all right for the circuses to come to Pittsfield this summer, but the carnivals must keep out. That is the order issued by Mayor Allen H. Bagg, who already has rejected five applications for carnival permits.

Bagg declared he believes carnivals are fundamentally detrimental to the best interest of the city; they bring in little revenue although they take their share of the people's money before they leave. The mayor also said many of the carnivals are poorly equipped and without sufficient backing to provide any surety in case of trouble.

Outgrows N. Y. Lot

Hagenbeck-Wallace circus will not play New York City this season, stand nearest to the metropolis being Elizabeth, N. J., where it is dated for June 20. Last summer itinerary included the lower Bronx, show being tented on a lot opposite the Yankee baseball park.

While the same spot is available, show has been enlarged and it is claimed there is not enough ground for proper presentation there.

KRUG PARK'S OWNERSHIP

Omaha, May 28.

Krug Park opened Saturday (26) under new organization. Incorporated this year as United Amusement Co., but thought to be a part of the Castle Realty Co., managers of the Krug estate.

Lou Slutsky, who last year managed for the Fox Amusement Co., which also operated parks in Sioux City and Kansas City, is manager for the corporation.

Austin Bevans (Al Finkle) with a local 10-piece band opened the dance pavilion, and is in to stay for four weeks, at least. Band is same which just closed at the Midnight Frolic, indoor night spot.

FOUR PARKS OPEN

Easton, May

Park prospects look good.

Central Park, located between Easton and Allento has been renovated and many new amusements installed. A pet parade will be held on Memorial Day.

Dorney Park, on the other side of Allentown from Central Park, will feature orchestras. Both parks expect to present vaudeville shows Sunday nights.

Bushkill Park in Easton opened last Saturday (26) and Eddyside Park, also in Easton, opened on same day.

Washington, May 28.

Scrapping of delayed codes circus, park-pool-beach-pier and carnie industries appears distinctly probable as a result of tangle in NRA over matter of small business and enforcement of existing rules.

All these agreements remained stymied Saturday (26) not having progressed an inch during the week, due largely to absence of Deputy Administrator Farnsworth from his office. Prospects of action in the near future are not encouraging.

Official explanation forthcoming from NRA about continued delay is that job of getting circus and carnie people together to talk over disputed provisions and reach agreements is virtually impossible with all industry spokesmen on the road. Illness and absence from Washington of various consultants, advisers and experts has been a factor in the delay, while uncertainty about Gen. Johnson's policy changes has had a tendency to retard movement further.

Real answer is that instead of trying to work out separate detailed agreements for each of these branches of amusement industry, a changed type of blanket code will be used to cover labor and a few simple, essential trade practices. Modified President's Reemployment Agreement looks like final outcome.

Such a scheme would call for some exemptions and waivers in case of amusements because of peculiar problems of business, with a sort of credit allowance for food, lodging, etc. Trade practice clauses, it is believed, will cover fundamental matters like price-cutting, misrepresentation and advertising.

Johnson's shifting around has confused most of his subordinates to the extent that work of getting remaining small codes through the mill has been practically abandoned and pressure has been withdrawn for early completion of writing job. Difficulty of enforcing codes for service trades, which include crowds of small enterprises, has proved major peeve for Eagle chief and everybody at NRA would like to wash their hands of pending pacts for industries of this nature. Task of trying to work out differentials and exemptions for widespread industries composed of little establishments has been extremely pesky, and results are not worth the effort in minds of many NRA execs.

Circus code has been held up several weeks by difficulty of getting rail and motor shows into agreement on trade practices, and has been further obstructed by physical impossibility of staging a conference with all concerned. Same is true of carnie pact, which is much nearer Johnson's desk but has been collecting dust for a long period in Farnsworth's office.

Repeated statements that action would result by the end of the next week ended Saturday (26) when admission was made that obstructions have not been removed and hope for early conclusion of negotiations has been washed out. Farnsworth would not comment on the possibility that new policy will result in discarding of pacts but indicated that he will follow watchful waiting policy.

ATLANTIC CITY BARS ALL TENT SHOWINGS

Atlantic City, May 28.

Seven circuses, including Ringling Bros., that wanted to show here this spring have been denied permits by Mayor Harry Bacharach. 'They come here for a day,' the Mayor said, 'take away a lot of dough and kiss you good-bye.' Mayor is supporting the protest of merchants who contend that a circus, which usually makes the shore its Saturday stand, costs them about $50,000. The chamber of commerce was willing to let the bars down on the Hagenbeck-Wallace animal show in the interests of the children but the Mayor ruled them all out.

Circuses

Week of May 28

Al G. Barnes

Everett, Wash., 28; Bellingham, 29; Vancouver, B. C., 30-31; Kamloops, June 1; Vernon, 2.

Isn't she gorgeous!
Adolph Zukor presents MAE WEST in "IT AIN'T NO SIN" with Roger Pryor
John Mack Brown Duke Ellington & Band A Paramount Picture Directed by Leo McCarey

Scanned from microfilm from the collections of
The Library of Congress
National Audio Visual Conservation Center
www.loc.gov/avconservation

Coordinated by the Media History Digital Library
www.mediahistoryproject.org

Sponsored by

Department of Communication Arts
University of Wisconsin-Madison
http://commarts.wisc.edu/

A search of the records of the United States Copyright Office has determined that this work is in the public domain